Which shall come upon the whole world as a snare. NS564:2

When giant errors so boldly and defiantly stalk about. C212

This period of special trial of severe testing in the end of this age.

NS62:2,4, 389:4, 43:4, 12:4; SM291:1

A day of danger, of victory for the few, of disaster for the many professing the name of Christ. HG681:5

Those who successfully stand in this evil day will prove the mettle of their Christian character. HG717:2

For "a thousand shall fall at thy side, and ten thousand at thy right hand." (Psa. 91:7) A thousand to one shows a large discrepancy between professed followers of Christ and those who are truly his. R414:6, 36:6; NS95:6, 62:5, 38:4, 12:4; HG717:2

In which many shall stumble and fall from their steadfastness of faith. R2532:4

The Apostle Paul looked down prophetically to our day. R4077:3

All of the apostles pointed forward to our day--to the conclusion of the present age and inauguration of the new Kingdom. HG681:1

The apostles knew this day was in the future. Evidently, it was a part of God's plan to keep his people uninformed concerning the exact time of the day of the Lord, until due. R5678:4

These are the days when the whole armor of God will be necessary. R5184:4

A time of thorough testing, a time in which the separation of the wheat from the tares will be most absolutely accomplished. SM287:2; R3943:2, 1644:5, 414:6

The trials of the "evil day," while beginning with the Church, will go out amongst the people of every nation, especially to all parts of Christendom. R5718:4, 4583:3, 4293:2, 4077:3, 862:3; NS621:1

The Lord wishes none to stand in this evil day except those who are thoroughly consecrated to his will. R5184:4, 2275:6

The Church has already been in this evil day for some years, and it still continues and will merge into the evil day upon the world. The evil day upon the Church began before the evil day upon the nations. HG681:2

Arrows of sarcasm will pierce some, infidelity will waylay others, destructive teachings will sap the strength of others, causing wasting away. R862:3

In which those who have been lukewarm in their love for the Lord and the brethren, overcharged with the cares of this life or deceitfulness of riches, will be overtaken. SM291:1

If we would escape the delusions of this evil day, let us see to it that we are, in deed and in truth, lovers of righteousness. R2276:4

Jesus forewarned us that it will be difficult to stand in this evil day. (Luke 21:36) R425:3

The trial of our time would be so critical, so crucial, that it would deceive, if it were possible, the very elect. SM289:1; F657; R862:3, 475:6, 36:6; NS95:4

In the midst of this evil day, call to mind the gracious promises of our Lord--"Let not your heart be troubled." (John 14:1,27) R3331:2

God's provision for his saints is equal to the emergency. R2275:3

In the struggle of this evil day, we must depend upon the Word of God--"It is written!" F658

Our day is a blessed one in respect to its wonderful opportunities and privileges, but it is an evil one in the sense of being a time of great trial and testing of faith to Christendom. NS793:3

The persecutions of the Church in bygone times may properly enough be considered as shakings and siftings, but the siftings with which this age will close will be the most momentous of any the Church has ever known. NS95:4

Lukewarm Christians will surely be overthrown in this evil day. SM291:2

The lapping time by which the present age will merge into the Millennial age. NS95:4

Having done all -- That you can do, in the way of armoring, etc. R1659:3

Having reached the mark of love as quickly as possible. F190, 373

When we reach the mark of character which God approves. R5082:1, 4154:3

They make the Most High their habitation; they live in God; they abide under the shadow of the Almighty and trust in him, and not in self. (Psa. 91:9,1) R862:3

Do with your might what your hands find to do. R2143:4

Having fearlessly and clearly presented and defended the truth. C212

Having finished our appointed work. C230

Let your daily life be a witness for the Lord and an example of holiness. R2143:4

Doing perfectly is impossible, for there is none righteous, no not one. R2143:4

To stand -- The shaking, sifting and testing that is coming. NS563:6

In this time of general falling away. R1644:5

Complete in him. R475:6

Firmly, strongly, confidently, intelligently. Being earnest, vigilant, watchful. HG682:6; SM288:1

Stand fast in the faith of the gospel and in loyalty of heart to God.

HG717:2; NS62:5; SM288:1

Not in our own strength, but in the strength of our Redeemer's assistance. F190

Enduring opposition cheerfully. R4910:3

Stand at the mark, do not run away from it; the Adversary will try harder to put you away from the mark than he did in preventing you from getting to it. Q456:T; R2275:6

Having reached the "mark," it is required of us that we stand up to the mark faithfully, cheerfully, patiently enduring the tests which the Lord will even then see fit to have come upon us. R4910:3, 2755:5; F373; C230

The test is not whether one can reach the mark, but whether one will remain at the mark. R5082:1, 5172:2

While one stands at the mark of love, the tests grow stronger. R5172:2; F373; Q456:T

His grace will be sufficient, if we constantly apply for it. R5651:4, 5184:4

Perfect love is the mark toward which we pressed; we can attain no higher standard. R5172:2, 2143:4

At perfect love. Love shall grow more rooted and grounded in proportion as it is tested. R4154:5

The faithful, who will receive the Kingdom and be joint-heirs of it with Christ, alone will stand. R1644:5, 5802:1, 2554:4, 475:6

To stand the trials of faith, patience and all the elements of love, faithful and complete in Christ. F373, 369

To stand the final tests and be acclaimed "more than conquerors through him who loved us" and bought us with his precious blood. (Rom. 8:37) R3943:3

Clad in full armor. C212; R2755:5, 1995:4

As representatives of God and of the principles of righteousness. R2755:6

Successfully. These will prove the mettle of their Christian character, for strong will be the current against them. D66

Dwelling in the secret place (of consecration, communion and fellowship) of the Most High. D66; HG717:3

Through sanctification of mind and belief of the truth. R475:6

Stand firmly and valiantly in the battle, defending yourself and those of the household of faith within your reach. R1659:4, 2554:4

Possibly the saints may be compelled to stand in idleness long enough to let faith and patience perfect their work even after the appointed work is finished. C230

Only those with true Christian devotion to God, zeal, courage and fortitude will be able to endure to the end. D66; HG717:2

These will not fall, no matter what the trial the Lord permits, because fortified by development of character. R5678:3

Only those who faithfully walk with God, partaking of his Spirit, and humbly relying upon his precious Word, stand fast. D65, 66

One of the final and most searching tests will be love for the brethren--all who trust in the precious blood of Christ for forgiveness, and are fully consecrated to the Lord's service. Many will fail at this point. R2453:4

The Lord will provide assistance to the feet members of the Body of Christ through his messengers or servants, for they shall sustain, strengthen and uphold them by the Word of truth. R862:3

These must "earnestly contend for the faith which was once delivered unto the saints." (Jude 3) R2453:4

Be on guard against the spirit which is envious of honors, privileges and blessings granted to another. R4154:5

The very elect will not fall, "because thou hast made the Lord, even the most High, thy habitation." (Psa. 91:9) SM289:2

Before the sifting ends, a thousand will fall to one who will stand.

R1255:3, 1417:6, 862:3

A thousand shall fall into unbelief to one who will stand firm for the Lord and his Word. R3358:6; HG317:5

Our text indicates the fewness of those who will eventually stand. SM291:2

Not one grain of wheat will be lost. SM288:T

And be saved from falling with the great nominal church, Babylon. NS38:5

Those who fall are unworthy of the truth, unworthy of membership in Christ. R2275:6, 2453:2

The position thus suggested implies an attack, and the attack will surely come. R2275:6

Ephesians 6:14

Stand therefore -- The Apostle Paul urges. R5339:6

Loyal to the Lord. R5889:2

Unshaken, in the midst of the storms of this evil day. R3053:5

Maintain your standing. R388:3

Keeping on the armor. R388:3

Completely clothed with the truth. R2275:3

Stand your ground and battle for the truth. R2275:6

When you can do nothing more. R2143:4

And assist others to stand. R2554:4, 2453:5; NS38:5, 12:5; HG682:2

It is going to be hard to stay there. Q456:T

So that ye may be counted worthy to be a living stone in that glorious

Temple of God and an heir of that Kingdom which cannot be moved. R3053:5

Your loins girt -- With the precious promises of God's Word; the truth.

R684:4, 2275:3

Symbolizing consecration to the service of the truth. F657

To brace and strengthen you. R36:5

Girding up the loins of our minds with the girdle of truth. (1 Pet. 1:13)

R5925:6, 414:6

Become a servant of the truth, or, at least, have the spirit of service.

F657

About with truth -- Thus enabled to daily grow in grace and in knowledge of our Lord, Jesus Christ. R5678:5

A sustaining strength derived from an understanding of the Word. R36:5

Lest we become weary and faint. (Heb. 12:3) R684:4

And having on -- We must be buckling on. R5925:6

The breastplate -- Our dear Redeemer's death. R4042:6

Christ's merit recognized as covering our life, our vitals. R684:4 An appreciation of the covering provided in and through the merit of our dear Redeemer's sacrifice. NS98:4

To protect the heart. R2453:3, 3273:6; HG682:2

Purity of heart. R4077:4

His love provided the redemption which covers and protects us (without which we would be discouraged; our heart would fail). R4042:6, 3273:6

All need this righteousness, not only Christ's imputed righteousness, but also of the actual righteousness of heart, of will or intent, which alone can appreciate and appropriate the imputed righteousness of Christ.

Of righteousness -- Of Christ's righteousness. R684:4,5 475:6

Not the filthy rags of our own righteousness, but the righteousness of God in Christ. R3030:6

His merit recognized as covering our life, our vitals. R684:4, 2310:2

A righteous character, developed by the truth. R2275:3

And your feet -- Figuratively. B157

Not literal feet any more than in the passage, "His feet shall stand in that day upon the Mount of Olives." (Zech. 14:4) B157

All need the "sandals," consecration, patience and fortitude, in order to keep the narrow, rugged way and not become weary and faint of heart.

Shod -- For this narrow path. R475:6

Enabling one to walk firmly and upright. R192:6*

Prepare for the rough pathway by putting on the sandals of full consecration to the Lord, even unto death. R2453:4

Enabling them to triumph over adverse conditions of the present life with speed and comfort. HG683:1

Those who go unshod, go hunting trouble. F657

So as not to be a limping disciple. R192:2*

With the preparation -- Which is needful. R825:2

Meekness, gentleness, long-suffering, patience, love. R36:5; NS98:4

Which leads us to expect and enables us to endure the sharp difficulties of the narrow way unflinchingly, as good soldiers. R684:4, 3273:6, 2310:2, 825:2

The gospel of peace -- Peace of God. F657 The glad tidings. R475:6

To assist him over the rough places without compromising the truth. F657

For our work through life as valiant representatives of the Lord and his truth. NS98:5

Selfish ambitions will never carry us to the end of the narrow way. R4043:2

Taking -- Grasping. R5925:6

The shield of faith -- The shield is a symbol. R3518:6

Faith in Christ's blood by which we have redemption. R475:6

For use on all occasions as necessity demands. R2453:3

Full confidence in the wisdom and power of our God and full trust in his Word. NS98:4

Of trust, of confidence in him who has bought us and redeemed us. R2310:2

A trust in God which will protect. R1659:5

"Without faith it is impossible to please him [God]." (Heb. 11:6) F658

The love of God, the mercy of God and of our Lord Jesus is the basis of our faith. R4043:1

Which is indispensable for protection. F657

Sufficient to cover every circumstance or condition that may arise. HG683:4

The Christian who has not the shield of faith, and a large one, is continually at a disadvantage before the Adversary. R5425:4

Which grows larger in proportion as it is handled and used. R3273:6

With no thought of wavering. R4688:6

Be on guard and cast not away our shield. R684:5

"This is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith." (1 John 5:4) F658

"His truth shall be thy shield and buckler." (Psa. 91:4) R3332:1

Wherewith ye -- As an armed soldier of the cross. R1744:5

Fiery darts -- Arrows. R36:6

Fiery trials. R1744:5, 1659:5

Skepticism, higher criticism, evolution and demonology. F657

Anger, malice, hatred, strife. F658

The wicked -- The Adversary, Satan. F657, 658; R4215:1

The enemy. R1744:5, 1659:5

And take -- Taking a firm grip upon. R5925:6

We must be fastening. R5925:6

The helmet -- Knowledge. R3031:1, 4077:4, 4043:1

Our helmet is a faith-knowledge. R4043:1

An intelligent hope of salvation. R684:4

The covering of protection for the intellect. R5678:5, 5339:6, 3030:6, 2453:3, 684:5; HG683:1

Intellectual protection; our sanctified reasoning guided through the Word of the Lord. R3030:6, 2453:3, 2310:1; HG316:6

Intellectual appreciation of God's plan. R1659:5, 3273:6 3030:6; F658; NS98:4; HG683:1

An intellectual knowledge based not upon things that are seen, but upon things that are unseen. [Heb. 11:3] R4043:1

Which is indispensable because the Adversary is turning everything scientific and educational into a weapon of destruction. F658

Representing the truth. R3273:6, 5339:6

Do not allow your head to grow too big for it. R2275:5

Those who have put on the helmet only, who have merely a theoretical or intellectual knowledge of the truth, are in great danger. R1659:5

Less necessary in the past than now. F658

Of salvation -- The acceptance of Christ's atoning work. R36:5, 475:6

From the snares and delusions of error. R2275:3

Sword of the spirit -- Our weapons are not carnal. D542

In defense of the doctrines of Christ. R2275:4

Necessary to defend your shield and other armor. R36:5

Our weapon is always, "It is written." F658

Be not ashamed of the sword of the spirit, the Word of God; handle it with confidence, but not boastfully; it is not thine, but God's. R825:1

For both offensive and defensive warfare. It is sharp, and while one edge is presented toward the enemy, there is another toward him who wields it.

When we lose the sword of the spirit we lose our only protection against error. R5184:4

That we may be ready for service in protection of others and in defense of ourselves. R5678:5; C212

This can only be possessed by careful study and leading of the Spirit after consecration. F658

All this is the armor with which we are to withstand the attacks that appeal to the evil tendencies of the fallen nature, so that we may be more than conquerors through Christ. R5340:1

The sword is an aggressive weapon. R5889:2

Sharper than any two-edged sword. R3273:6

Which is quick and powerful; let it do all the cutting. R4803:6

Becomes stronger and larger in the battles for the Lord and the truth.

R3273:6

To be used in opposition to Satan and sin. R5889:2, 3030:6, 2453:3, 2310:2, 1659:5, 684:4

Refrain from using the Word of God in a belligerent manner. R3274:1

It is to be handled to accomplish good. R5889:2

The great weapon with which a soldier of the cross will prove his loyalty and strength. R5098:1

The Word of God -- The truth. B100; R2453:3, 2310:2

"Onward, then, and fear not, children of the day, for his Word shall never, never pass away." R5340:3

Absolutely indispensable for our protection. R3030:6

God has provided this armor complete. HG316:6

So as to defend themselves and others from the insidious attacks of the foe. R1659:5

"My word that goeth forth out of my mouth shall not return unto me void, but it shall accomplish that which I please, and it shall prosper in the thing whereto I sent it." (Isa. 55:11) SM51:1

The Word of God is the only offensive armor of the Lord's little band. F658
We need to especially listen to what God says to us through his Word. R388:4

Let us heed the sure Word and be loyal, steadfast and true. R4688:6

Be zealous to search the Scriptures, preparing for the battle. SM291:2

Let us learn how to use the Word of God skillfully. NS98:4

Would that all Christian people awake to a proper study of the Bible--to see the object of divine dealings with the Jews during the Jewish age, with Christians during the Gospel age, and with the world during the Millennial age. SM286:2

All who handle the Word of God are in great danger of doing injury to themselves, except as they speak the truth in love. R4043:2

Praying always -- The offering of a petition. R5835:4

A wonderful privilege. R5480:1, 5835:2

We need to have much and close communion with God. R388:3

To be always in the spirit of prayer. R5480:6

Because prayer is the Christian's "vital breath." R5745:6

We will need, with all our armor, to cultivate and to use the privilege of prayer. R5745:2

Only those prayers are acceptable to God which come from those in covenant relationship with him through our Lord, Jesus Christ. R5745:3, 5480:1

We must come only in the name of Christ, the only way of approach. R5835:3, 5745:3

"If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done unto you." (John 15:7) R5480:5

In harmony with the Lord's Word--in the interest of the new creature. R5746:5

One for another. R5901:5*

A good soldier of the Lord Jesus must keep in close touch with headquarters. This he is privileged to do by coming daily to the throne of grace. R5745:1

The Lord's people are to approach the throne of grace daily, hourly, if need be. R5745:6

God wishes us to come to him in faith, in simple, earnest prayer. R5835:6

We should pray, above all, for God's holy Spirit. R5835:4

We are to pray for the things which we believe are God's will, really desiring what we ask for. R5745:4

The object of prayer is to benefit ourselves, and to bring us into the attitude of mind which will be in heart-readiness to receive our Father's blessing. R5745:4

One of Satan's chief lines of attack is to cut off our communication with the Lord. R5746:1

We could not be on our knees always; the matter of praying is not so restricted. Q546:2; R5835:3

How we shall come to God in prayer, whether standing, kneeling or bowing the head, is left to our common sense, although kneeling is a very reverential posture. Q546:2

The children of God are not to "say prayers," they are to pray. True prayer is the language of the heart. R5835:3, 5480:1

Anyone may express thanks to God or render worship, adoration, homage; but none may come to the Lord with recognition, except those who have come into Christ. R5835:4

All prayer -- Any petition, great or small. R5480:2, 5745:3

Prayer is a necessity (for the Christian). R5382:4

Not just words, but from the heart. R5835:3, 5746:4

The prayers of the consecrated should be for grace to meet our various trials and difficulties. R5745:6

It is the prayer of a righteous man and the prayer of faith that is to bring results. R5901:5*

The greater our earnestness, the more acceptable will be our prayers. R5480:1

As new creatures, our requests should be for things pertaining to our spiritual interests. R5481:4, 5745:6

Our Father delights to give us his holy Spirit, his very best gift, if we pray for it. R5481:4

Secret prayer is absolutely essential to the life of a Christian, and the Scriptures commend both public and private prayer amongst the children of God. R5480:5

"Prayer is laying hold upon God's willingness." R5481:3

And supplication -- An earnest entreaty. R5745:3, 5835:4

A spirit of deep appreciation, of earnestness and humility and reverence. R5480:1, 5480:3

With strong supplication we cry to our Father. R4688:5

In the spirit -- With heart-appreciation of what we are doing; and concerning the needs of the new creature. R5745:3,5

Earnest and sincere. R5835:3, 5745:3

The Lord is specially pleased to have us pray for the needs of the new creature. R5745:5

Our prayers are to be along the lines of the spirit, and not of the flesh.

We are to pray only incidentally for the earthly things, because we have consecrated our bodies to God. R5745:5

Let us never come before him with vain, meaningless repetitions. [Matt. 6:7] R5745:5

Heathen prayers are formalistic, vain repetitions, not "in the spirit." R5745:2, 5746:4

Watching thereunto -- An attitude of mental alertness. R5480:2

After praying, be alert for answers. R5835:4, 5745:4, 5480:2
By watching and praying always (beside having on the whole armor), we will progress. R1802:4
Our Master's injunction: "Watch ye and pray, lest ye enter into temptation." (Mark 14:28) R5835:5
This will require our waiting on the Lord, which should be in perfect trust and patience for his good time. R5480:5
For fresh evidence daily of the love and special watchcare of our God over us. R5481:6
Perhaps there are lessons to be learned by the Lord's delay in answering our petitions. R5480:4
Perseverance -- Day by day. R5480:4
At times, there may be a speedy answer to our petitions. R5835:5,5480:4
Not just for a few hours or days, but until petition is answered. R5835:5, 5745:4, 5480:4
An essential quality in the sight of God. It includes patience, carefulness and interest. R5480:3
The Lord may defer to test our faith. R5835:5
Persistent, but not trying to force the Lord. R5835:6, 5481:3
We should not strive to induce the Lord to do anything that he is unwilling to do, but should wish that only his will be done. R5835:6, 5745:4
This is related to every fruit of the Spirit which the Lord's people are to cultivate. R5480:3
And supplication -- A special agonizing desire for a thing; entreaty with intense yearning. R5480:2, 5745:3, 5835:4
An intense form of prayer. R5835:4, 5480:2
All saints -- Do you pray in behalf of the brethren? Through prayer, we can serve the brethren by obtaining blessings, enlightenment and mercy for them. R5901:5*
And for the interests of the Lord's cause. R5480:5
The truly consecrated among professing Christians. R1139:1

And for me -- And, brethren, pray for me. R367:6
Mystery of the gospel -- The Church and her special call; to the privilege of sacrifice now, and the privileges of glory by and by. R4434:5

Tychicus -- Paul sent him to the Church at Ephesus to be their helper. R1570:5

Ephesians 6:24

In sincerity -- Greek, aphtharsia, incorruptly. E397; R204:1

Philippians

General

The epistle to the Philippians is one of the most loving of all the church letters written by the Apostle Paul. Apparently this little company of the Lord's people loved the Apostle as fervently as he loved them. His afflictions on their account bound their hearts to him in lasting gratitude. Evidently the Apostle needed some manifestation of affection and appreciation of his efforts on their behalf, for his own encouragement. R3127:2,3

Paul wrote this epistle in acknowledgment of a substantial gift from the church at Philippi, and took the opportunity to tell them fully of his own condition, the progress of the Lord's work, etc., and to encourage them to steadfastness to the end. R1827:2, R1703:3 Written while Paul was a prisoner at Rome. R1018:6*, R1570:5 He wrote to the Philippians about AD 62, when circumstances intimated that his death was imminent. R4536:3

The church at Philippi was the first ecclesia established in Europe. It had a very small and humble beginning. Philippi was one of the principal cities of Macedonia. In seeking an opportunity for service for the Lord in this place, the Apostle went on the Sabbath day down to a river bank, where a few women habitually resorted for prayer; and he spoke to them the Word of God. Dr. McLaren, commenting upon the small beginning of the church at Philippi, says, "...a few women and some worn-out travelers talking together by the banks of the rushing river. How scornfully the great folk of Philippi would have smiled, if they had been told that the chief title of their city to be remembered at all would be the presence in it of that one insignificant Jew, and his letter to the church founded on that morning!"

The general character of the Philippian church is revealed in St. Paul's epistle, written to them at a later period. We find in it nothing like correction or reproof, as we note in most of the epistles written by the Apostle to other churches. His Philippian letter is a particularly beautiful and loving one, and indicates a very close bond of sympathy between him and this church. On four different occasions that are recorded, this church rendered practical sympathy and service to St. Paul, by financial assistance, as well as by words of comfort and cheer. Twice he received gifts from them for his support while he was at Thessalonica. Again, while he was at Corinth, they ministered to him. When he was a prisoner at Rome, this loving church did not forget the Apostle. It was their messenger, Epaphroditus, who brought to him the last touching memorial of their love.

Epaphroditus, it will be remembered, was the brother who was brought "nigh unto death," for the Gospel's sake--because of his faithful service in the assistance of the Apostle in the work of the Lord when there seemed little help coming from other sources. Upon his recovery from this severe illness, the Apostle Paul sent by him to the church at Philippi this beautiful letter known to us as the epistle to the Philippians. R5810:1,2, R4399:3, R3122:2, R2227:3, R2176:4

All the saints -- Applicable to all the saints everywhere, the well-developed, who have already made considerable progress; not applicable to the worldly, nor any not fully consecrated, nor to "babes in Christ." R2891:2

With us, as with the apostles in their writings, the word saint is used to designate the truly consecrated among professing Christians. As the church began to grow popular, this Scriptural use ceased. R1139:1

Spirit-begotten ones, the smallest section of those who profess Christ, are the only class addressed throughout the New Testament prospectively "the saints," the "elect." SM628:1

With the bishops -- The word "bishop" signifies "overseer," and is evidently another name for the elders mentioned here. R1957:1

Philippians 1:4

In every prayer of mine -- Paul's two years in Rome, awaiting the due processes of the law, were years of special advantage to the work of the Lord. He was safe from his Jewish enemies. He prayed for the churches. R1570:5

Philippians 1:5

From the first day -- A few women and some worn-out travelers talking together by the banks of the rushing river. The chief title of Philippi to be remembered was one insignificant Jew and his letter to the church founded there. R2227:3

Philippians 1:6

Being confident -- Full assurance of hope and faith are the proper conditions for the Lord's people. (Heb. 6:11; Heb. 10:22) R2642:1
Lay hold upon the exceeding great and precious promises. We must draw our supplies of strength from above: they are not within us except as implanted there by the Spirit of God. R2154:3

He which hath begun -- Whatever our endeavors, success is not brought about merely by our own aspirations. We are not alone in working out our salvation. R4796:2

A good work -- Of developing character. (Heb. 12:6-8) R1721:2

As Zerubbabel laid the foundations of the temple, he would also complete it. As Jesus founded the house of sons at Pentecost, he will chisel, polish, shape, prepare, complete the good work. R3651:4

Will perform it -- Is both able and willing to complete it. R5425:2, R5118:5, R4133:5, R3651:4, R3155:6, R2738:4, R2642:2

The only condition is our own faithfulness. God will never fail. He never makes an arrangement which he would wish to abrogate or amend. There is no changeableness with God. R5855:6

The few who enter fully into sympathy with Paul and David (Psa. 23:6) in their expressions of confidence have therein a great joy, a great blessing, a great rest of heart which none others possess. R5425:2, R2642:2

We are as dear to him as the apple of his eye. Any whom he accepts as his children will have divine love and care in the supervision of their affairs, making all things work for good to them. R5118:5

A realization of the grace of God should lead us to that faith in him, that confidence in his Word, which would believe in him to the extent of accepting all of his gracious provisions with full confidence. R4133:5

We are fully assured that he will finish it, if we let him. R2154:3

"The steps of a good man are ordered of the Lord. Though he stumble, he shall not be utterly cast down; for the Lord upholdeth him with his hand."--Psalm 37:23, 24; R3155:6
Continue to submit our wills, our lives, our all, to his wisdom and loving care. Look up, lift up the head, realizing that our deliverance is nearer than when we first believed. He will complete the good work. R2738:4

Paul speaks of the full assurance of hope (Heb. 6:11) and of full assurance of faith (Heb. 10:22) as being the proper conditions for the Lord's people. "I SHALL dwell in the house of the Lord forever." R2642:2

It is a great perversion of language to apply to the world of mankind the promises which are intended for the Church: divine assurances of God's present interest, care and faithfulness toward them. R1298:1

We rejoice that there is hope for the Great Company. He who began the good work in them will continue it and perfect it for even these who really love and trust him. They still wear the robe, though soiled. R2160:6

Until -- In. R5118:5

The day of Jesus Christ -- The Millennial age--early in the morning of which the Church is to be helped, delivered, "changed." R4133:5; HG315:3

The crowning day. R1721:2

The Church's trial or judgment, which has been going on during this age, ends in this day of the Lord. Paul points to this day as the time for the consummation of the Church's hope. R593:2

The Millennial Day was specially preached about by the Apostles as "The Day of Christ," "The Kingdom of God." It was the earnest faith of the early Church. HG315:3

This "day of judgment" is not to be understood as a 24-hour day, but as a day on a larger scale--"a day with the Lord is as a thousand years." (2 Pet. 3:8) NS329:3

He who began the good work in the Great Company will perfect it--even though it be completed in the great tribulation at the inauguration of the Millennial or "the day of Jesus Christ." R2160:6

In my bonds -- Paul was then a prisoner in Rome. R5846:2, R1018:6*, R831:2*

Paul's epistles to the Ephesians, Colossians, Philippians and to Philemon were all written from Rome. R1570:5

And this I pray -- "We have a care for the churches and the scattered sheep, and continually bear you before the throne of the heavenly grace, and watch as well as pray for your interests and welfare." R2576:2

Awaiting the arrival of witnesses from Jerusalem and the formulating of charges, Paul was relatively free to preach and teach and write and pray. R1570:5

In knowledge -- Whoever has little knowledge of God and His character and His Word has proportionately little of the sanctifying power of the truth. "The excellency of the knowledge of Jesus." (Phil. 3:8) NS505:6-506:3

In all judgment -- To exercise human judgment in condemning others would be wrong, but to apply the judgment of God as expressed in his Word, we are commanded to do. Even here, love must abound. R664:4*

Philippians 1:10

The day of Christ -- The Millennial age, the day of glory. R5538:5

The new dispensation is also styled "The times of restitution" (Acts 3:21)--the Millennial day. R5378:2

The seventh day of a thousand years. In it Satan and sin are to be overthrown; righteousness is to be established by the Redeemer. R5139:5

Philippians 1:11

Being filled with the fruits of righteousness -- If we would have increase of the spirit of Christ and bear much fruit, we must be particular to have pure seed--following only our Master--letting the sunlight of heaven and dew of truth into our hearts. R455:3

Philippians 1:12

The things which happened -- Those who tread the same narrow way as Jesus refuse to ask for earthly blessings; but, without asking, some have been relieved of maladies to enable them to accomplish further labor in the Lord's vineyard. R749:5

Philippians 1:13

In all the palace -- "Throughout the whole Praetorian guard." (Revised Version) R831:5*

Philippians 1:14

Without fear -- Disciples of Christ, by example, had been confirmed in their faith and emboldened to speak the Word. R1018:6*

Philippians 1:15

Some indeed -- Enemies (seeing his liberty for two years-- Acts 28:30) were explaining Christianity, hoping thereby to add affliction and perhaps death to Paul's bonds. F672; R1827:4

Preach Christ even of envy and strife -- Many thus have their attention called to certain truths, which we would never be able to give them: the nominal church is Babylon, our Lord is present, the end of the Gentile times will come in 1914. R5412:1

Preach Christ of contention -- We can only rejoice if some are brought to a proper knowledge of the Lord even though we must greatly regret the improper motives of the presentation. F317

Seems to refer to those who have not known Christ, but who nevertheless draw attention to the fact that they had heard that there was such a claim--that there is a Christ. They are opponents. R5259:2

To my bonds -- Paul was a prisoner in Rome, at times well treated by some of the emperors, yet constantly liable to be put to death on some caprice, which affliction or death his enemies hoped to accomplish. F672; R1827:2

Every way -- The scoffing author of the drawing "Blasphemous Graphite" (on the guardroom of the Imperial barracks of the Palatine) only intended to cast ridicule and contempt, but notwithstanding Christ was preached. R831:5*

Christ is preached -- The Lord has not given any of us a right to supervise his work nor to forbid another to preach the Gospel. The disciples of old did this and Jesus rebuked them. (Mark 9:38-40) R5122:2

"We have never offered objections to the many who have quoted at length from our writings without mentioning them. Yet our observation is that those who are ashamed of the channel finally lose the truth." R1537:4

Therein do rejoice -- We rejoice in the hope of coming glory, not only because it means blessing to ourselves, but because also it means participation with the great Messiah in extending blessings to the world. HG374:3

We think it unwise for a brother to hold meetings during the regular hours of class meetings. However, even though this were done, rejoice to know that the Gospel of the kingdom is being preached. R5122:1

Philippians 1:20

Christ shall be magnified -- Whatever might be his own lot, Christ would be honored, and in this Paul rejoiced. R1019:1*

Philippians 1:21

For to me to live -- For me to live in the world is for a member of The Christ to be living here. R4526:3

In this sense, Christ is still in the world as its teacher and reprover--illustrating the word and love of God. All the body following the Leader have been "despised and rejected of men." R455:5

Is Christ -- "Is (to live) for Christ." (Diaglott) F670;

Paul remained, by God's grace, that he might further serve the Lord's flock. R4526:3

For those who are dead to self, to live is for Christ to live; and in them Christ is still present in the flesh, they being his representatives before men. R1008:2

Christ in the flesh is still in the world as its teacher and reprover--illustrating the word and love of God. R455:5

As a member of the Body of Christ. OV317:2

And a member of the Body of Christ. That is the only standing I have. Q390:T

To die is gain -- For Paul to have died and rested from his labors, to await the resurrection morning, would have been gain. He did not expect his reward until the morning of the Millennial day. R4526:3; R4527:1

Philippians 1:22

I wot not -- "I do not exactly know." (Diaglott) F670;
R1827:1, R284:5

Philippians 1:23

For -- Having reached the mark of perfect love. R4050:1,2

In a strait betwixt two -- "Hard pressed by the two things." (Diaglott) F670; R1827:4, R284:5

Paul was in a strait of indecision as to his own preference of the two possible things--to live and serve the Church in suffering, or to die and rest from his labors. F672; R5133:4; R1827:5, R284:5; Q751:2; HG586:5

He was full of joy in the assurance that whatever might be his own lot, Christ would be honored. If his imprisonment and ill treatment had magnified Christ, how much more his death as a martyr. R1019:2*, R284:5

Having a desire to depart -- "I have an earnest desire for the returning and being with Christ." (Diaglott) F670;

Greek, analusai; loosing again or returning. F670, R1827:1, R1019:3*, R284:5; HG586:6

Plato sometimes used the Greek word analusai to mean depart and sometimes used it to mean return. F671; R1827:2

Also occurs in Luke 12:36--Diaglott footnote. F670;

R5133:4, R1827:1, R1019:3*, R284:5; Q751:2; HG586:6

It could not mean depart (death) here because life or death seemed a matter of indifference to Paul. F672; R5133:4, R1827:4, R1019:2*, R284:5; Q751:2; HG586:5

He had a longing, an intense desire for a third thing: a thing he knew was impossible, a thing he knew and had taught the Church was a long way off (2 Thess. 2:1-8)--the returning of Christ and being with him. F672; R5133:4, R1827:4, R1018:6*, R284:5

In coming again, Jesus would "depart" from the Father and at the same time "return" to his disciples. Q751:2

Which is far better -- "Since it is very much to be preferred." (Diaglott) F670; R1827:1,4, R284:5

Far better than either living under the present trying conditions or dying, sleeping, resting and waiting for the Kingdom. F670: R5133:4; HG586:6

To abide in the flesh -- "To remain in the flesh."

(Diaglott) F670; R1827:4

Tradition declares that Paul was acquitted by Nero and had some five years of liberty and service before being rearrested and executed. F672; R1827:4

Is more needful for you -- "Is more requisite on your account." (Diaglott) F670; R1827:1

It is the mission of the Little Flock to lay down their lives as human beings, but sometimes their lives are prolonged to enable them to accomplish further labor in the Lord's vineyard. R749:4,5

Philippians 1:25

I know that I shall abide -- Satan's power does not extend to the Church. Paul's confidence here supports the thought that Satan does not have the power of death (Heb. 2:14) but that his dominion is the dominion of death. R1779:6, R1271:3

By my coming -- Greek, parousia; presence. B159

Philippians 1:27

Let your conversation be as -- Out of the good treasures of the heart we shall speak the words of truth and soberness, and honor our Lord by a godly walk and conversation, subduing the tendencies of our fallen nature. R4805:5, R1938:6

We know of no evil to which God's consecrated people are more exposed than to doing injury with their tongues to their fellow-creatures while offering praise to God. R2443:5

I may bear of your affairs -- Paul was desirous that these disciples should continue to manifest the fruits of the spirit and to grow in grace. R1703:3

Stand fast -- To stand is to adhere to fixed principles. We are frequently exhorted to stand, to be steadfast, to continue. No one can stand in his own strength; we are admonished to stand fast in the Lord. R90:1

With one mind -- The Greek word psuche, (sentient being) is translated "soul" fifty-six times, "mind" three times, "heart" once, "life" forty-one times. E335

It is given -- It was graciously given. (Diaglott) R4491:1*

In the behalf -- On behalf. (Diaglott) R4491:1*

On him -- Into him. (Diaglott) R4491:1*

To suffer -- The Church's sacrifice is not to get the world free. Christ's sacrifice is all that is necessary for that. Our sacrificing is that we may suffer with the Lord; and, consequently, reign with him. R4765:3,4

This epistle is one of encouragement and wise counsel--to learn more fully how to deny ourselves even as Christ did. R1703:3

Paul's life was a practical exemplification of his teaching in this text. One example: Although forewarned of persecution at Jerusalem, he was willing to be bound or to die for the name of the Lord Jesus. R1559:2,5

"All that will live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution." (2 Tim. 3:12) Faithful Jeremiah, typifying the faithful of the Gospel age, was persecuted because he boldly declared the word of the Lord. R1372:2

The flesh of the goat was treated in the same manner as the flesh of the bullock. It was consumed with fire outside the camp. Jesus' sufferings when ended resulted in death of the flesh. So should ours. R80:3

We are living in the period of Christ's parousia, so it comes to us with peculiar force that we should "not be ashamed before him at his presence." R51:1,4*

Philippians 2:1

If there be therefore -- They should be on the alert to appreciate true quality and character wherever found--generously looking for noble qualities in others. R5846:3
If you have found these fruits to be a part of the character-likeness of Christ, let these be more developed in you. R5810:3
It is as though Paul would test them whether or not any would deny that these graces appertain to all who have come into Christ. R2227:6, R5810:3

Consolation -- Comfort. Let us be more worthy of the name Barnabas--Comforter of the brethren. R3436:6

Comfort of love -- Service, when love prompts, is pleasant, and renders the most arduous task an easy one. R31:6*

If any bowels -- The bowels were formerly considered the seat of the tender emotions, pity, compassion of heart. R5810:3

If they have any heart. R2227:6

Fulfil ye my joy -- "Complete my joy." (Diaglott) R309:4*

The Epistle to the Philippians has been styled an epistle of joy. Paul's joy would be filled full in proportion as he could realize that the brethren had the proper mind of Christ, its love and harmony. R5846:3, R5810:4, R2228:1

Paul's joy would be full by knowing that they truly loved, sympathized with, and consoled one another. Mere professions were not enough. R5810:4, R2228:1

Be likeminded -- By being thus minded toward each other--a spirit of perfect unity and fellowship. R5810:4, R2228:1
"That you may think the same thing." (Diaglott) R309:4*

Of one accord -- The comfort and peace of the Church are dependent largely upon unity of the spirit of the Lord in the various members. R3436:5

"United in soul." (Diaglott) R309:4*

Of one mind -- It is one thing to love all God's children though entangled in sects, and another to avoid the meshes of their captivity. R1130:6*

"Minding the one thing." (Diaglott) R309:4*

Philippians 2:3

Let nothing be done -- "Preserve the unity of the spirit in the bond of peace." (Eph. 4:3) F282

"Do all to the glory of God." (1 Cor. 10:31) R5956:3

When we come together to study the divine Word and to help one another as members of the Body of Christ. OV426:T

"Doing nothing." (Diaglott) R309:4*

In the Church nor in the home. R3940:1

Through strife -- "From party-spirit." (Diaglott) R5842:3, R309:4*, R69:5*

Our conduct should be as peaceable as loyalty to righteousness will permit, but not lacking firmness nor combativeness when suitable. HG471:3

Or vainglory -- "Self last" is the very essence of this admonition. The apostles had to learn the lesson. The principle extends to the ecclesia. R5958:6

Self-laudation and strivings for preeminence are the greatest enemies to the Spirit of the Lord and to the attainment of his blessing. R5810:5, R2228:1

Lowliness of mind -- "Humility." (Diaglott) R5842:6, R309:4*

God cannot exalt any who are not humble. Submission indicates faith. We look for his providential detailed guidance daily. R5844:2

Considering the evil results of the pride of Lucifer and Mother Eve, and the beautiful example of the Logos, we find humility is basic. R5843:3

We should think soberly of ourselves. All our powers come from God. The fact that God has given us a gift indicates that we lacked it. R5843:4

The most submissive will receive the greatest blessing. If we would make true progress, we must say from the heart, "Thy will be done." R5843:6

A mental quality which enables its possessor to look up with appreciation, not only to God, but also to good earthly qualities. R5842:3

Some of the Lord's people may be proud of having the truth or of their ability to serve the truth. Such pride indicates a very small mind. R5842:3

This does not signify an ignorance of talents which we possess, but no one person would have developed all the graces of the holy Spirit. R5810:5, R2228:1

Even if born with humbleness of mind, we should need to take care that self-conceit and pride do not come in. R4928:2

Christian humility is one of the most important graces, requiring continual cultivation. R2227:6, R4928:2

Let each esteem other -- Discerning the good qualities of others; noting wherein others were superior to themselves. R5846:3, R5810:5, R2228:2

Considering the interests of the Lord's cause, and ignoring self-will or pride. R5846:3

Though they may have less than I have, they may be using all they have with more resolute purpose to succeed than I am with what I have. R5843:1

God may esteem that brother more highly than he does us. Since God is dealing with this one as a son, he is therefore to be so esteemed. R5843:2

Not considering our own good qualities so much as those of others. R4928:3

We should not be envious. If we cannot speak well of our brother, do not let us speak evil, for God will bring all things to light. R31:6*

Better than themselves -- More important. R5901:1

"As excelling yourselves." (Diaglott) R5842:6, R309:4*

If we look at our own imperfections and the good qualities of others, we shall find ourselves more and more appreciative of others. R4928:3

Greater in saintliness. R2407:4; OV426:T

"In honor preferring one another." (Rom. 1:10) R2011:4

Philippians 2:4

On his own things -- Troubles and interest. R1676:6

Interests, welfare, talents. R2228:2, R69:5*

To look merely on his own interest or welfare or comfort or talents, and to ignore those of others would be a manifestation of selfishness. R5810:5, R4928:5, R2228:2

On the things of others -- The rights of others, the ability of others. R5846:3

In proportion as we are filled with the holy spirit of love, we shall find ourselves interested in the welfare and happiness of others. R5810:6, R4928:5, R2228:2

The principle of love. R1213:2*

Not education, but supreme love for God, will solve men's problems. R1190:5*

Philippians 2:5

Let -- Permit. R5844:5; CR444:3

Have. R316:1*

God was not seeking to force this mind upon Christ, nor is he seeking to force it upon us. R5844:5

It is a call for sacrificers. R5324:1

This mind -- The Father's Spirit was communicated to our

Lord Jesus, Luke 4:18, Isa. 61:1, Isa. 11:2,3. E169

Only the humble-minded are prepared to learn the great lessons which must be learned before they will be ready for profitable exaltation. R5847:5

One of the qualities necessary to the Church in order that they could be acceptable to the Father is an eager desire to please God. R5844:4

The most wonderful demonstration of humility, meekness and obedience to God ever manifested or conceived. R4929:1, R2228.3; CR402:6

Because the Lord will thus equitably adjust human affairs in his own due time, we can afford to endure hardness now, as Jesus did. R2613:5

This disposition of heart and consecration of will. R1563:4

He became obedient unto death. We are to be crucified with him, baptized into his death, dead with him, offering our all. R328:3*

"Disposition." (Diaglott) R309:4*

A desire to do only the Father's will. R35:3

Be in you -- Work out in us the character-likeness of our Head. R5844:5, R5810:6, R4929:1, R2228:2

Not only crucify our own wills, but fully accept of and use the Lord's will. "Let the word of Christ dwell in you richly." (Col. 3:16) R962:5

It is for us to follow the leadings of the Lord and the arrangements he has made that we may obtain the spirit of the Master. CR444:3

Which was also in Christ Jesus -- "Not my will, but thine, be done"; "I came not to do mine own will, but the will of him that sent me"; "My Father is greater than all." R5846:6

The Heavenly Father set before his son a great proposition. The Logos, full of faith and obedience, heartily entered into the proposition. R5352:4

"The Son of man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister." (Matt. 20:28) "He began to wash the disciples' feet." (John 13:5) R1987:3

The Lord gave words of warning against pride, but also gave words of encouragement to strengthen them. R1988:1
Jesus Christ was sanctified, and sent into the world for the good of the human race; and his body or bride are for the same purpose. R69:5*

Philippians 2:6

Who -- That we may discern how our Lord exemplified the spirit of humility, the Apostle sums up the story of his humiliation. R2228:2

Being -- Existing. R5767:6, R1337:1*, R316:1*

In the form of God -- There are different orders of spirit being. Some are: the angelic nature, different from the Logos, both different from Jehovah. A178

As the Logos, he was in the form of God--the spirit condition. R5844:4, R802:6, R725:6, R316:1*, R280:4, A178

A spirit form, a high and glorious condition. R4928:6, R2228:2, R547:1; CR451:5, A178

A likeness of Jehovah. R2408:2

A mighty one. R1686:2, R1337:1*, R422:4

Unitarians take away from the dignity and honor of our Lord by denying that he had an existence before his conception in Mary. R505:2*

It is strange that Christian leaders question the miraculous birth of Jesus and his being our Redeemer and reject his pre-human existence. R5767:6

Although a spiritual being, he was not equal with God. If he had been immortal, he could not have become a man.

Thought it not robbery -- Even the King James version does not teach the doctrine of trinity. A being does not rob himself, nor think about being equal with himself. E79

This opposes the Apostle's meaning. Could be translated "Who thought not by robbery to be equal with God," or other accurate ways. E80; R5748:3, R2408:2, R1515:1, R422:6

"Did not meditate a usurpation." (Diaglott) E81; R2408:2, R1686:3, R725:6, R422:4, R369:6, R306:2; OV306:2

"Counted it not a thing to be grasped to be on an equality with God." (Revised Version margin) E81, R5767:6, R2408:3, R802:6, R316:1*

Thought it not robbery to speak of himself as being a member of God's family--the Son of God. R280:4

To be equal with God -- The Apostle is urging the Christian to have a mind of humility like Christ, not to consider being equal with God. E80

No translation save our Common Version gives the thought that Jesus considered himself equal to the Father, but all are to the contrary. R5748:3

Not selfishly, ambitiously, grasping higher things than God conferred upon him--not seeking to set up a rival empire, as Satan did. R4928:6, R2228:2

Satan's course: "I will be as the Most High (his peer, his equal)." (Isa. 14:12-15) R2228:3, R1515:2, R725:6, R490:2; E80

"The condemnation of the devil" (1 Tim. 3:6)--the ambition to be great--is a warning against having novices as elders. R1892:3

But -- On the contrary. R1686:3, R1515:2, R725:6; OV306:2

Made himself -- Our Lord's change of nature is represented as a voluntary act on his part. R5128:1; CR451:6; HG309:2; OV407:2

Of no reputation -- "The oil of gladness above (his) fellows"--holy joy, holy prospects--sustained him when he made himself of no reputation and became poor. R5847:2
Divested himself of his former glory and honor. R5844:4, R1686:3, R1515:2

Stooped from his high position. R5352:2

There are sons of God on the heavenly plane who were never given an opportunity to manifest such a zeal as this, given to the Logos. R5250:3

To humble himself, to take a lower nature, and to do a work which would involve humiliation, pain and suffering. R4928:6

This humbling was no part of the ransom nor of the sin-offering.

It was a preparatory work. R4535:6

Typified by Moses leaving the Egyptian court and taking his place amongst the Israelites. R4058:2

His sacrifice began with his riches, heavenly glory and subsequently human talents, his reputation and will; it ended with his life. R2761:4

Took upon him the form of a servant -- "Taking a bondman's form." (Diaglott) R4058:2, R5352:2, R1686:3, R490:2, R422:5; E394

All Christians must be servants, if like their Master. R2725:2

An inferior one. R1337:1*

He had none of this world's goods. The wealth which he left was the glory he had with the Father before the world was.

Taking the form of a bond servant. R316:1*

Our High priest had a body prepared for him, and this body he offered. This change in condition is what the apostle meant in this Scripture. R144:6*

God gave his Son. The Son gave himself. The love of the infinite God was shown; part of the work of the Son was to reveal the Father. R9:3*

The likeness of men -- "Was made flesh." (John 1:14)

The divine, angelic, and human natures are separate and distinct. A178, R122:2, R89:1

Our Lord left his glory and came down two steps to become a man, the same nature as the sinner whose substitute in death he was to become. A178

Not a sinful man, but a perfect one, in the image and likeness of God, as was the first Adam originally--"holy, harmless, undefiled." R5846:6

A perfect man had sinned, only a perfect man could pay the price. R4535:6

The form or condition of a man--the human condition.

R1603:6, R709:4, R482:2*

As the man Christ Jesus, the Son gave himself a ransom for Adam and his race. R1230:6, R1228:4, R709:4

It was not a pretense but an actuality, that he was a man, tried and tempted like as we are, weary, hungry, sorrowful, praying, dying. R809:3

Although human and spiritual beings are dissimilar, some during this age are offered a change of nature. Jesus changed natures twice. R547:1

Becoming in the likeness of men. R316:1*

The ransom cannot call for a God to redeem a man, nor any spirit being to do so; for there could be no correspondency between them. SM659:T

And -- Afterward. R1515:2

Found in fashion as a man -- "A little lower than the angels." (Heb. 2:9) A179; R5830:1, R4098:2, R1278:3, R1228:2, R463:1

"Verily he took not on him the nature of angels." (Heb. 2:16) A178

A human soul. R5578:6

Took the bondman's form, "the seed of Abraham." (Heb. 2:16) R5578:6, R5352:2; Q447:3

If the Father had been incarnated in a fleshly body, he could not have done his own will more perfectly. But Jesus was not incarnated. R5292:5, R5157:1, R5064:3

The first step toward the achievement of the Father's will was the taking of a nature lower than any on the spirit plane.

"He was rich, but for your sakes he became poor." (2 Cor. 8:9) R1879:3

He who had a higher form became a man--not an imperfect man, but a full, perfect representative of the highest order of earthly beings. R463:1, A178

Thirty years old. R314:5, R1385:4

"Holy, harmless, undefiled, separate from sinners," no need for imputation of merit as we require it, a full offset for Adam. SM667:2

He humbled himself -- This one, found so humble, learned his lessons well: "He learned obedience by the things which he suffered." Heb. 5:8; E51

Satan thought to exalt himself (Isa. 14:13-14), Jesus to humble himself. R5981:3, R5186:2, R1515:2; E80;

NS16:5

This involved a great humiliation--leaving the dignity of the chiefest on the spirit plane, the chiefest of all God's creatures.

R5846:6; E81

Not for all eternity, but merely "for the suffering of death." (Heb. 2:9) R5622:4, R2317:4

He humbled himself unto death. He did not humble himself before he became a man, but afterwards. R5128:2, R101:4*

He left the glory which he had with the Father and humbled himself to the human nature. R4964:3, R3378:3, R2981:1, R1603:3, R1278:3, R810:4, R482:2; E81; SM67:T

"In him was life." He did not receive his life from an earthly father but was begotten from above his life transferred from a higher plane. R4154:3

Humility is the underlying principle of the divine government.

Jesus' example of humility provides lessons for us. R3537:2, R1487:5; NS16:5

Cain is an example of Satan's folly and ambitions, contrasted to Jesus' quenching all ambition in devotion to God. R2777:3

Our Lord's perfect humility demonstrated that he was loyal to the core to the heavenly Father; he shared the Father's love for the race. R2228:4

Humbled (sacrificed himself during 3 « years). R314:5, R1385:4; E394

Obedient unto death -- It was needful that Jesus be perfected in experiences through things which he suffered. (Heb. 2:9-10) E51

All who would share with him the divine nature must also share with him in trials and sufferings and testings, proving faithful. F66; R456:6, R314:5; CR274:4

As a child he said, "Wist ye not that I must be about my Father's business?" As a man, he promptly testified his consecration to death. R5847:1

The Lord's hand may be heavy, as in the case of Jesus. But it did not crush him. It was the hand of love, testing his obedience. R5844:1

His death was the antitype of the serpent raised on the pole by Moses, of the bullock of sin-offering slain by Aaron, of the Passover lamb. R5847:1

He surrendered his will, and with it everything and every power he possessed. He zealously carried out his covenant unto death. R5690:5

It was the Father's proposition that the Logos should demonstrate his faith and loyalty by becoming man's Redeemer at Calvary. R5352:4; HG309:2

The Messiah had to demonstrate his worthiness by humility, obedience, loyalty, even unto death. R4964:3, R4494:6; E81; SM67:T

Humility enabled our Lord to render perfect obedience. R4929:1

Moses pictures the unselfish Jesus when he tells the Lord that if Israel's sin could not be forgiven he would desire to be blotted out. R3048:4

He tasted death for every man. (Heb. 2:9) R1278:5

Death in no sense had any claim upon Jesus. He offered himself, a man for men. He became obedient. He was free from sin and its wages. R573:3

The divine nature was being perfected by the obedience of the already perfect human nature. R456:5

If he had been immortal as a man, he could not have died. R316:2*, R280:4

His last act was as much and no more, a part of his obedience, than his first. He kept giving until he had given all he had. R157:6

Death was the last act of his humiliation, not the first. R145:1*

The order of this text teaches that Jesus left the glory of his pre-human existence, but he did not die until he died as a man. R106:3*, R47:2*

By one man's obedience the world is justified unto life.

(Rom. 5:19) R37:3, R676:6*, R430:5

To demonstrate his love and loyalty. SM67:T

Even the death of the cross -- The life Jesus now has on the spirit plane was a reward from the Father for his obedience unto death, "even the death of the cross." R5946:6, A178

The Jews expected the promised kingdom of Messiah, but failed to realize the need for a ransom-price, and that Messiah must die. R5761:3

It was necessary that Jesus should suffer the death of the cross, in order that he might redeem the Jew. R5421:6

The most ignominious form of death--dying as a culprit, crucified between two thieves. R4964:4, R4098:2, R2775:2, R2316:2, R1879:3, R1515:2; E37, E394

It was not the pain, not the agony, which constituted our ransom-price; it was our Lord's death. R4929:1, R2316:3, R1231:1, R75:4*

Jesus' disgraceful death demonstrated his loyalty so that angels and men would know that the Father was just in rewarding him so highly. R4171:2

The shame of crucifixion as a malefactor was probably kept hidden from Jesus until just before it happened. He prayed this might be removed. R2467:4, R981:2

When it pleased the Father to require that the death should be an ignominious one, Jesus did not draw back, but said: "Thy will be done." R2228:3

Jesus was begotten at age 30 when he consecrated himself wholly to God, even to death. R1385:4

As our ransom, death in any form would do; but as proof of his obedience to the Father's plan, the shame of the cross was added. R1231:1

The obedience implied in becoming a man was great, yet the trial was severer still and would lead to death as and for the sinner. R981:2

Jesus' death on the cross was the one righteous act that made it possible for all men to be justly entitled to life--resurrected. R676:6*

Philippians 2:9

Wherefore -- He was not exalted to the divine nature until the human nature was actually sacrificed--dead. A179

Because Jesus was found so loyal to Jehovah, he was entrusted with great honor and power. E51

On this account--because of his exhibition of loyalty, humility, and obedience even unto death. E82; R5180:6, R5055:1, R4929:1, R4855:4, R2228:4, R1985:1, R1278:4, R667:5, R422:5, R280:4, R61:3*; CR462:5; Q657:5 Jesus' previous station had been second only to Jehovah. He exchanged that nature for an earthly one, to give his flesh for the world. R5748:5

Had Jesus failed to faithfully keep his covenant of sacrifice, he would not have been exalted, but lost life itself. R5078:6

The Lord was first of all a spirit-being; secondly, he was made flesh; thirdly, God rewarded him personally with a high exaltation. R4905:3, R875:1*; A178, Q443:1

His glory and honor, influence and power, will be proportionate to the sufferings and ignominy which he experienced. R3590:1

He was only made flesh so that he should taste death for every man (Heb. 2:9). When he had finished that work, he was glorified. R3476:5

By virtue of his sacrifice of riches and honors and will and life itself. R2761:4

"Blessed are the humble-minded (poor in spirit) for theirs is the kingdom of heaven." Our Redeemer was thus, the adversary the opposite. R2585:5

Because of our Lord's obedience in laying down his life as our sin-offering. R2519:2, R1278:4

As a reward for his atoning sacrifice. R1829:3, R667:5

The humiliation and vicarious sacrifice of Christ is the cause of his present exaltation and glory and power. R1599:5

Jesus was, because of the sacrifice of his humanity, endowed at his resurrection with the divine nature, the express image of his Father. R1592:1

Because he did not attempt to usurp, but on the contrary was humble. R2761:4, R2046:4

"Therefore will I divide him a portion with the great, because he hath poured out his soul unto death: and he was numbered with the transgressors." (Isa. 53:12) R1360:4

Because the Lord Jesus was put to the severest possible test, and the test proved his loyalty and faithfulness, God exalted him. R1252:4*

The ransom given in the person of Jesus, the willing sacrifice, is made to redound to his higher exaltation far above angels. R872:5

It had been Jehovah's power, delegated to Jesus, which performed miracles. Because of Jesus' obedience he was now given this power. R810:4

As the sacrificing of the human rights progressed, his right to the divine increased; at Calvary, the right to divine nature was secured. R456:5; A179

Because of his obedience, one of the joys set before Jesus was to be accounted worthy of more intimate relationship with Jehovah. R418:1

Because of this obedience--death on the cross. R280:4; E37

Because of his obedience to death, he had immortality and more glory and honor than that which he had with the Father before the world was. R233:6; A178

The ransom price was paid; then Jesus had to be exalted to present it to the Father. Then the divine nature could come to his church. R182:4

Our glorified Lord was once the man Christ Jesus. The new creation consists in making the old man new by the power of the spirit. R66:5*

Because Christ is our ransom to redeem us, our example of voluntary obedience, and he consented to the crucifixion, God exalted him. R51:3; HG309:2

Rewarding our Lord for what he was to do for mankind, the Father gave him the promise of the divine nature; and our Lord has attained it. SM668:T

God also hath highly exalted him -- "Humble yourselves therefore under the mighty hand of God, that he may exalt you in due time." (1 Pet. 5:6) A84; E151; R5666:5, R51:3* His pre-human existence was not as high as he is now. He is now of the highest order of spirit being, a partaker of the divine nature. A178

He is now highly exalted to the divine nature and likeness. B108

Clothed with all power. B238

The Father exalted Jesus to his right hand, giving him, beyond what he had resigned, glory and immortality--the divine nature. R5847:2

Jesus is a spirit being of the highest order who sat down at the Father's right hand, on the Father's throne. R5830:1, R667:5, R329:3

Making him partaker of the divine nature and inheritor of all the promises of glory, honor, immortality. R5761:3, R5690:5, R5250:4, R3048:4, R2317:5, R1879:3

What contradiction to say that Jesus is God! The Father has always been immortal, whereas our Lord attained his present status. R5749:2

Raised to the highest position. (Strong) R5684:4

Jesus was the first one who descended to the tomb, and was raised from the dead, and who has ascended far above every name that is named. R5612:5

The Lord of Glory in heaven is not flesh. If he were, he would be "a little lower than the angels." He has ascended far above the angels. R5579:4, R5223:1

The fleshly nature was only for the purpose of giving man's redemption-price; afterward, Jesus surrendered that ransom-price. R5578:6, R1873:4, R1278:4, R709:4, R329:2

To assume that Jesus is now a fleshly being with wounds and scars, is to suppose that the Father never really exalted him. R5416:2, R1952:5

He was raised from the dead by the Father, more highly exalted than in his pre-human existence, to the divine nature with its glory. R5352:4, R1278:5, R329:3

All mankind shall see him with the eyes of their understanding. Like God, he is one "whom no man hath seen nor can see." R5269:2, R242:3

The Captain of our Salvation, the Redeemer, has already reached his destiny of high exaltation, "at the right hand of God." R5263:5

As Moses illustrates the principles of God's dealing with those whom he would make his special servants, he reminds us of Jesus. R5252:5

Our loving Father highly honored and glorified our dear Redeemer and arranged to select a bride and joint-heir in glory for his Son. R4783:4; HG298:5

Christ became the express image of God; the Logos had been an express likeness of the Father's person; Jesus was in God's likeness. R4667:3

If Jesus was raised a human being, he would have been circumscribed in his powers, talents, dignities, honors-- forever humiliated. R4176:1

This means that here are two persons, for in no other way could one exalt and honor another. R4165:2

This text alone would be convincing that our Lord is no longer a man. R3378:3, R5416:2, R4176:1, R1873:4

It is gratifying to all who truly love Jesus to know that his generosity and obedience did not result in a permanent loss. R3378:3, R2479:1

The exaltation came to him in his resurrection change. R3376:2

God did not provide our redemption by an injustice to his Son; his full consent was first secured, and he has been abundantly rewarded. R3028:5, R387:2; HG309:2

"I, if I be lifted up, will draw all men unto me," John 12:32, secondarily applies to this exaltation. R2519:2

Justice might properly object to the recreation of Jesus as a man, but would have no ground for objecting to the creation of a new creature. R2477:4

Our Lord is the great example of a proper humility and obedience to God, and the reward of this obedience encourages us, his joint-heirs. R2228:5

With its companion texts, 1 Cor. 8:6 and John 5:23, this makes it clear that the Father and the Son are two different personages. R2199:4

Though highly exalted, Jesus' heart is never lifted up by pride, as have been the hearts of all human kings. R2046:4

Jesus is our exalted Lord with power to deliver us from the sleep of death and to train all the willing up to fitness for eternal life. R1849:3

We now know him as the King of glory, the same seen by Saul of Tarsus, a spirit being shining above the brightness of the noon-day sun. R1693:1

This exaltation was part of the scenario which the "spirits in prison" witnessed, and by which Jesus preached to them. R1679:4; HG728:2

God takes us into fellowship as co-workers together with him in the lifting up of the fallen world which he loved so much. R1670:2

He was highly exalted and given all power for the purpose of accomplishing the complete deliverance of all those whom he purchased. R1583:1

God inspired Paul to approach the truth reasonably, that we might have a reasonable faith. Jesus' high exaltation is a reasonable reward. R1566:1

Jesus was fully born by resurrection to the divine nature. R1385:4

God's justice did not compel our sinless Lord to suffer the penalty of man's sin; but it did permit and reward the Lord's willing sacrifice. R1286:6, R387:2

All men shall honor the Son even as they honor the Father. (John 5:23) "He is Lord of all." (Acts 10:36) R1278:5, R280:5

This is God's means of providing for the recovery to full harmony of whosoever will obey His representative, the Anointed. R1269:6

This is the "likeness of his resurrection" (Rom. 6:5), an exceeding high exaltation. R1262:6

He only asked to be restored to what he was before; but the Father exalted him beyond that previous glory. R1161:5

John 6:62 and Mark 16:19 testify that before Jesus' advent to earth he occupied the place next to the Father; later, he was highly exalted. R1059:3

If he had been equal to God before his earthly experience, he could not have been more highly exalted afterward. R803:1

"Though we have known Christ after the flesh, yet now henceforth know we him (so) no more." 2 Cor. 5:16. He is now exalted, spiritual. R578:2

Most Christians who consider the second advent think Jesus is now a glorified man, failing to see that he laid down his human nature. R546:3

Compare with Heb. 1:4. Now he is a new creature, a sharer in the glory of the divine nature; not the glory of a man, below the angels. R453:5

We are assured that Jesus did share in the Father's plan: "For the joy that was set before him, he endured the cross." (Heb. 12:2) R387:2; CR451:6; HG309:2

The additional honors and glory Christ has received will magnify and multiply with the revolving ages. R445:5*

What the sacrifice of Jesus did for him, our sacrifice is to do for us. Laying down our human nature, we partake of the divine nature. R382:6; HG298:5

Implies that Jesus' present glory is greater than that he possessed before becoming a man. R370:2, R280:5; Q448:T, CR413:5

One joy set before Jesus was to release humanity from death; one was to bring many sons to glory. Another was his exaltation. R164:3, CR451:6

Instead of pardoning sinners, instead of making new, imperfect laws adapted to human degradation, God's plan rewarded a savior. HG309:2

An assurance of the Heavenly Father's faithfulness in not leaving his Son on a lower plane. OV354:3

God commissioned Jesus to execute all the divine purposes; and to him he handed over the scroll with the privilege of comprehending it. SM489:2

Given him a name -- Authority above every name, next to the Father. A92; R2550:5, R710:4

A title and honor, a distinction, a place above all others.

R5847:2, R4213:3, R2819:3, R1515:2, R1278:5; E444

One name he shall be called is Wonderful, which describes his career, his character, his life among men, his resurrection, his exaltation. R3912:2

"His name shall be called Wonderful, Counsellor, mighty God, Everlasting Father, the Prince of Peace." (Isa. 9:6)

R3687:3

Honor, dominion and power above all others, next to his own.

Official position. R61:3*, R316:2*

Above every name -- "All power is given unto me in heaven and in earth." (Matt. 28:18) A289; B111; R1592:1, R1269:6

The Father's name only excepted. (1 Cor. 15:27) B108, E394, E444; R1879:4, R1252:4*

"That all men should honor the Son even as they honor the Father." (John 5:23) E83; R2199:4, R1278:5, R1231:4, R667:5, R418:1; HG298:5

Far above angels and principalities and powers and every name that is named in heaven and in earth. (Eph. 1:21) E393; R4929:1, R3378:6, R2761:4, R2408:2, R2228:4, R1262:6; OV407:2; SM74:1

After his resurrection to the right hand of the Father, he was glorified and received a name above every name. The angels sang. R2156:2

Lord of all. R1278:4, R709:4; OV307:6

The Greek word for "every" is also translated "all" elsewhere. R838:4

Philippians 2:10

That at the name -- Messiah's Kingdom must first enlighten the world. R5008:2*

Of Jesus -- Our Lord's resurrection was to glory, honor and immortality, far above human nature, angelic nature, principalities and powers. (Eph. 1:21) SM74:1; R5269:1
He has become the "seed of Abraham" which is to bless the race redeemed when Jehovah's "due time" shall come. R4929:2

Every knee -- Those who crucified him, yea, all the world of mankind, will know of his great sacrifice and of his high exaltation. They must bow to him. R5847:4

During his Messianic kingdom of a thousand years. R5587:6
Soon every knee will bow to God and every tongue confess his praise. All lovers of sin will be destroyed in the second death. R5286:6, R2972:5, R1057:2

All mankind will come into fellowship with the kingdom. It will spread for the thousand years, from one individual to another. R5183:2

Before the close of the Millennial age. R3687:3

All must hear the glad tidings: the living nations (to earth's remotest bounds) and all who have gone down into death. R2972:5, R331:5

The authority of Christ is not confined to the house of Israel nor to the land of Palestine, because all authority is his.

Because the sheep are more numerous than the goats, it would seem the obedient will outnumber the disobedient in the end of the Millennium. R1057:4

God's original plan (of peopling the earth with human beings in harmony with himself) will be accomplished. R1057:4

The second Adam's glory is so much superior to angels, as well as being superior to the first man, that every knee shall bow. R486:4

All will recognize the power of Jehovah's anointed. R331:5

After the thousand years in which Satan is bound, after the little season, the agency of evil being ended, then every knee shall bow. R255:1

Only Gospel age saints will share in the first resurrection, but vast multitudes will be saved in the earthly resurrection.

HG244:1

On earth, after the glorification of the Church, all men shall have a full opportunity to come back into full harmony with God. HG234:3

Offers of grace will no longer be held out, with reward for faith attached, for knowledge shall fill the whole earth. (Isa. 11:9) SM440:T

Of the heavenly and earthly families. OV307:6; R5292:5

Should bow -- The work of the promised Kingdom is not merely a work of grace in the hearts of believers. A282

The selection now of the "little flock" confirms these promises. A283

To the power then in control. D520

But not yet. Many fail to see God's purpose included a Church class. The Church must be completed and then inaugurated with Messiah. R5761:6, R4964:5

Recognize and render obedience. R5587:6

Testifying to the success of the blessing which will attend the work of the Church. R5057:3, R4534:4, R4527:6

In that great seventh day, the kingdom of Messiah will rule and reign in the world for its judgment, uplifting and blessing. R4879:6

That which will specially mark Messiah's kingdom will be that it will have perfect ideals and it will be backed by divine power. R4875:1

Joseph reminds us of the Lord Jesus: Pharaoh provided that he should be escorted before the people that they would bow the knee. R3979:4

First he appeared in the presence of the Father and presented before him his complete work; then he was glorified above every name. R2819:3

Because our Lord was found worthy to be the head of the "seed of Abraham," to him every knee shall bow. R2228:4

The stony and proud hearts will be broken. Humbled, mankind will be able and willing to appreciate the grace of God. R1466:1

Forced submission, by a rod of iron (Rev. 2:27). But, at the same time there will be a drawing of men's hearts--hearts cannot be forced. R1057:1; SM440:T

It is God's purpose, committed into the hands of Jesus Christ, to save a lost world. The end gained is the fruit of God's love. R99:2*

The Lord's people now recognize Jesus as their king: he is not yet the king of the world. HG663:5

As a result of the knowledge of the glory of God filling the earth. (Isa. 11:9; Hab. 2:14) SM130:2

In bowing to Christ and the Church the world will be bowing to Jehovah (Isa. 45:23); Jesus will forever be the representative of the Father. OV351:4

Of things in heaven -- Spiritual beings. A289

He was received into glory; and all the angels of God worshiped him whom the Father had thus exalted to his own right hand. R5847:2

Heavenly beings--angels. R458:1, R331:5, R61:3*

Already the heavenly hosts have bowed. CR435:3, CR452:1; Q394:T

"Let all the angels of God worship (acknowledge) Him." (Heb. 1:6) OV307:6

Things in earth -- Human beings. A289

It is by the Father's decree that our Lord Jesus will take possession of earth. (Psa. 2:8) R1385:4

Things of earth will bow during the Millennial age. Q394:T, OV307:6

Things under the earth -- Those now in the tomb, but yet to be raised to learn the truth as it is in Jesus. R5748:5, R458:1, R331:5, R61:3*

The duration of perpetual (olam) is determined by context. See Jer. 51:39 and Jer. 51:57. Paul does not here consider death perpetual. R3725:5

Neither death nor hades is an insurmountable barrier to this opportunity of bowing and confessing; the Lord holds the keys of both. R1283:3*

They that are in their graves--the dead. R280:4

Underground ones. (Diaglott) R69:6*

Philippians 2:11

Every tongue should confess -- To the justice of the arrangement. D520

The most wonderful thing that the Bible tells us respecting that new day is that it will bring enlightenment to every creature. R6013:5

At the close of the Messianic reign. R5927:6

For a thousand years the restitution privileges will be open to the whole world of mankind. All will know the Lord.

R5919:6

Will be heard praising God. R4974:2

The multitude, seeing the blind man had received sight, praised God. All spiritual blindness will change to spiritual sight, praise God. R3848:5

Knowledge shall fill the whole earth as the waters cover the great deep. (Isa. 11:9) All shall know the Lord. (Jer. 31:34)

Confess with joy. OV175:6

By and by Christ shall reign; he shall put down everything contrary to God. He will reign for a thousand years, but he is not reigning now. HG188:6

The jewels, the Messianic Kingdom, will bless the world.

Satan will be bound. Blinded eyes will be opened; deaf ears unstopped. (Hab. 2:14) SM130:2

Antichrists compelled each knee to bow, taught that they were God's kingdom, caused persecution of the saints, hindered truth-seekers. R321:2

That Jesus Christ is Lord -- He is to be the world's King of Glory and is to reign for a thousand years. R5847:4

That the Savior Anointed is the Lord. R1283:3*

Because he humbled himself to manhood, and then to disgraceful death in obedience to the Father's plan for our redemption. R810:4

Master, ruler. R458:1

Every inferior creature will recognize man as its lord, and every human being will recognize Christ as Lord. R419:2, R165:4

Let us not abandon hope of a Golden Age, the Restitution of

All things, or Future Probation, for they are taught by many scriptures. HG337:2

The Scriptures speak of our Lord as already the Mediator, because the Father has indicated him as the one who will later perform mediation. SM720:1

To the glory of God the Father -- All this glorifying of the Son will directly be to the Father's glory; the entire plan of salvation is of the Father and through the Son. R5847:4

Philippians 2:12

My beloved -- St. Paul dearly loved the Philippian brethren, and he had received many proofs of their love for him, aiding him in time of need. R5846:3, R5810:2
Not an exhortation to the world, but to the Church of Christ alone, sons of God, through consecration and spirit-begetting. R5758:3, R5304:1

The new creation, the spiritual new creatures in Christ, yet they are the same ego, the same personality, as before becoming a new creature. R5303:2

Let us apply to ourselves the loving exhortations of the Apostle to the church at Philippi. R4929:2

As ye have always obeyed -- The Apostle Paul pays a beautiful tribute to the church at Philippi. He refers in tender and loving terms to their obedience always. R5854:2, R2228:5

As in my presence -- Greek, parousia. One of two places in the common English Bible where properly rendered "presence." B158, B159; R2979:1; HG24:4

Work out -- We are under a solemn contract to see that the work of transformation steadily progresses. Our agreement was to be dead to the world. R5855:2

A work of sacrifice, a daily work of crucifixion of the flesh. This slow, painful, lingering process ends only with our death. R5855:4

Studying would not have made new creatures of us, nor any works. But after we have come into God's family through Jesus, good works show. R5759:2

We are to accept the Lord's providences as nourishments for the new creature, appropriating them to ourselves, that we may grow. R5759:5

This expression suggests something that is difficult, that requires time and patience; painstaking care. R5304:2

Treading the pathway of humility, continually checking human aspirations, keeping the sacrifice on the altar until consumed. R5186:4, R1920:3, R1487:5

Working out in ourselves through humility and obedience the character, the disposition of Christ. R4929:4, R2228:5

God does not purpose to take us to glory regardless of our own endeavors. The exhortation is to "work," to "labor," "to strive." R4796:2

No scripture implies we can be independent of our Lord. The perfect work of Christ, his merit imputed to us, is the basis of our own work. R4796:6

The new will must hold its dominating influence over the fleshly mind and body. R3986:5

Self-denial and self-sacrifice are works which must be performed if we would be of the elect--works not ours (as men) but as "new creatures." R3586:2

Those who are not up and doing are giving the enemy great advantage over them. R3150:1

Being justified, being called, we can make our calling and election sure. (2 Pet. 1:10) R2228:5, R4929:4, R2094:1*

A faith that Christ will save us in our sins is a misplaced faith. Rather, God will cleanse those who come to him by Christ and repent. R2154:6

The zeal which strives, runs, fights, and watches with vigilance that the sacrifice is kept upon the altar is regarded as extreme, peculiar. R2123:2

In the next age as in this age, it would be vain to expect eternal life because of Christ's righteousness and yet continue in sin. R2094:1*

It is BY our willing and BY our running that we obtain the prize; it is not OF our willing nor OF our running, but OF God's mercy. R2001:1

If you keep faith locked in your bosom and live as an earthly being, the works of earth will swallow up and destroy the faith. R216:4

God has placed you in the school of Christ, until you come to the full stature of Christ Jesus. Q619:4

We are to show our loyalty to the principles of God's Word and character by putting away all filthiness of the flesh and spirit. SM395:1

Your own salvation -- Salvation is "not of ourselves, lest any man should boast." It is through Jesus, our Savior; our salvation is by grace. (Tit. 3:5) R5854:3

We cannot work out our own justification; but being justified by the blood of Christ, we can do our share in this great work. R5854:3, R2228:5, R741:6

A salvation from death to life, from sin to righteousness--a transformation from human nature to divine. R5854:5, R741:6

No one has salvation now except in a reckoned sense.

R5304:1

The salvation peculiar to this Gospel age, "so great salvation" (Heb.2:3). R5304:1, R741:6

The great salvation to glory, honor and immortality which God hath promised. R4929:4, R2228:5, R741:6

Paul is addressing the Church, not the world. R5303:2

In this age and the next age, justification through faith in Christ does not insure eternal life; it secures legal standing before God. R2094:1*

With fear and trembling -- A most solemn matter. The Lord requires the fulfilment of vows. If death is not voluntary, he will destroy our flesh or our being. R5855:5
Showing need of great carefulness--responsibility, liability to failure and its serious consequences--not to be taken lightly.

Praying, watching, losing no time in retracing a wrong step and calling for forgiveness, never presuming upon God's mercy. R5492:4

A condition of great earnestness. There is no room for foolishness, or lightness, or frivolity. God is testing every power we possess. R5304:5

Lest we come short of worthiness for the prize promised to the faithful overcomers. R5186:4, R1167:1

Rebellion of any kind in our heart must be thoroughly killed, mortified, bringing our will into perfect submission to God's. R4910:4

Not the dread of Isa. 29:13, but like Jesus' fear of nonattainment of the promises. Not literal trembling, but proper fear of God is wisdom. R4796:3

Paul desired that these disciples should continue to manifest the fruits of the spirit, to grow in grace, and to learn self-denial. R1703:3

Philippians 2:13

It is God -- All evils permitted (sickness, pain, sorrow, trouble) shall by divine wisdom and love and power be overruled for good. E410, E411; R5855:5

By means of the promises in his Word. F71; R4929:4, R4790:1, R3586:2, R2879:1, R2228:5, R2123:4*, R597:6*; CR335:1; SM389:T

It is God who planned the whole matter and who has been working in us. We did not begin this work. It should never have occurred to us. R5855:5

It is encouraging for us to know that this warfare is not one which we must wage alone. All the powers of heaven are enlisted on our behalf. R5854:3, R2228:5

We could not do this work ourselves. The power that is working in us is of God. R5284:4, R2878:6

We may boast, but not of ourselves. Our boast is in God who is working in us. R5114:1

The Spirit of the Lord gives us a spirit of power, strength, courage, energy; we are able to do more than we could otherwise. R5094:2

We cannot work out our own justification. R4929:4, R3586:2, R2228:5

By means of the various experiences of life, its disciplines and humbling processes. We must take heed to each lesson as it comes. R4790:1, R2123:4*, R1920:3

By his indwelling spirit or disposition. R3251:6, R3586:2, R2123:3*

It is the Lord's part to provide the way, the truth, the life--the means. It is our part to use the means and thus to attain the prize. R3021:4

God works in us through Christ, while in his strength we work out our own salvation. R2123:4*

We are continually dependent on the Lord--for our first impulse toward holiness, and for the encouragement which his promises inspire. R1698:6

We can rejoice that our infirmities will cause God's power to shine forth the more brightly; our ability is from his favor. R1046:2*

Christian Sabbath-keeping is to refrain from doing our own ways, finding our own pleasures, speaking our own words, every day. HG583:5*

God's part is to forgive our past sins, cleanse us from past condemnation, cover our unintentional blemishes, and encourage. SM395:1

Which worketh in you -- The Church. R1175:3, R5303:6

The work of grace goes on in our hearts and lives by his providences and by the instructions, warnings and counsels of his Word. R5855:6

The Father works in us as New Creatures--as we exercise ourselves in the control of the flesh, we become strong. R5759:4

Not as soon as you were bought, but from before the time of your begetting and quickening. You were called of God before consecration. R5303:2

The willing comes first, then the quickening, energizing, doing. His promises help; and He provided the Advocate--we cannot do perfectly. R5303:6

It was God that worked in Jesus. It is God that is now working in us in the same manner. R4597:1, R1920:3, R164:6

After our justification, God's power begins to work in us, knitting us together, making us completely one with the Shepherd. R4321:4

God strengthens our new minds by revealing to us more clearly the significance of the exceeding great and precious promises of his Word. R3986:5, R2661:4

"Our sufficiency is of God." (2 Cor. 3:5) It is only as we become filled with the spirit of God that we can do these things. R2123:3*

We are continually dependent on the Lord. R1698:6

Let God speak and guide through his Word.

Search the Scriptures. Let us not magnify ourselves in relating our experiences nor in prayer. R317:4*

He will not work in us contrary to our will. CR444:4, CR335:1

Both to will and to do -- Our progress is gradual, growing in grace, in knowledge, into God's character-likeness. R5759:5

To do what he has given us in his Word as his will. R5728:1, R4910:4, R1175:3

The willing comes first, then the quickening, energizing, doing. R5303:6; CR458:1

To will--as when we made our consecration--is not enough.

To do--our good intentions must be brought into practice in our lives. R4796:2

Rather than only receiving more knowledge of God's plan, the facts of the Truth, we must permit the truth to work in our hearts. R2753:1

If you have been led of the Lord to will, to desire, to please him, you surely have a way to perform, to do, his pleasure. R548:6

From the time of his baptism, Jesus' words and works were of God. As we are led by the spirit, we will become sons and he will work in us. R418:4

His good pleasure -- Which is to carry out the work of self-sacrifice even unto death. R5720:1; Q264:5

Christian common sense notes the principles and precepts of the divine law and acts accordingly. R1781:4

It is God's good pleasure to guide those who are fully consecrated. R1272:6

Philippians 2:14

Do all things -- In following in the footsteps of our Lord Jesus. R4929:5, R5855:6, R5811:1

Without murmurings -- We are not to find fault with the difficulties and narrowness of the way. R5811:1, R5855:6, R4929:5, R2228:6

The murmurers and complainers in typical Israel were not permitted to enter into Canaan's blessings, for murmurs are against the Lord. R4502:4

And disputings -- Nor are we to dispute how or where we are to be led, nor to seek to have any other way than that which divine providence marks out for us. R5855:6, R5811:1, R4929:5, R2228:6

Work without complaining, without fault-finding, leaving to God the management of his work--realizing we would be unable to manage it. R4502:4

Philippians 2:15

That ye may be blameless -- Devoid of any disposition to do evil; not controlled by anger, malice, hatred, strife.

R4797:1

Not necessarily perfect--to be blameless in the sight of God is to live so that he may see one's intentions to be just, loving, kind. R4797:1

We cannot expect to please everybody. We are to be blameless in the sight of those who are recognized as having the best judgment. R4797:2

It is safest to suppose our flesh is not dead, to keep guard against every snare of the adversary. Danger lurks in over-confidence. R4191:4

The "Head" will present us before the Father "blameless," "irreproachable," with the evidence that we followed in his steps. R3710:4

Those who come unto the Father by the Son will not be fully, actually presented until the Son shall have cleansed and perfected them. R1713:5

Our Lord Jesus will present before the Father all of the world counted worthy to attain to the Millennial age and full perfection of being. R916:5

And harmless -- Not merely so far as God or the brethren would see, but in the sight of the world. R4797:1

The sons of God, without rebuke -- Not yet sons of God without imperfection; but in the future, in the moment of our "change," we shall be "sons of God without rebuke."

R5219:1

As such the Father received us the moment that Jesus applied to us his merit--when we accepted the Lord's terms and presented ourselves. R4578:6

Let not our former master, Sin, rule in us. We must overcome the world, throwing all our influence on the side of our new Captain. R1007:1

A crooked -- The life of the Jewish nation not always open wickedness, but a crookedness, doing right and wrong--ceremonies, hearts of unbelief. R4797:4

And perverse -- Implies unwillingness to be guided by the Lord. R4797:4

Nation -- Israel had continually gravitated toward idolatry. When corrected and brought back, their prosperity lasted until they strayed again. R2370:6

Ye shine as lights -- It is the light of God's truth shining in our hearts which shines out upon the world. (2 Cor. 4:6) E293; R375:2

"Let your light so shine before men." (Matt. 5:16) E293

"Now are ye light in the Lord: walk as children of light." (Eph. 5:8; 1 Thes. 5:5) E293

In the world -- The Lord's people are to seek to walk in his ways, that they may "show forth the praises of him who has called them out of darkness." R4797:4

Whatever light the world gets from the Bible reaches them indirectly, as reflected from the children of God. R3646:3

The world will fail to apprehend the light until "the heavenly city" is as a "city on a hill" which "cannot be hid." R421:6, R338:5

Philippians 2:16

Holding forth -- The work of the Church during this age (the Golden Table in the Holy) has been to feed all who enter the covenanted spiritual condition. T115

The word of life -- We preach not ourselves, but Christ,-- the power of God and the wisdom of God. R1536:5
Represented by the shewbread. T115; R4782:4

In the day of Christ -- When our "change" shall come. R5811:4

A period, not a 24-hour day. R2836:1

Paul urged the Church to so run, that they might share in the rejoicing in that day. R593:2

Philippians 2:17

I joy -- Paul was glad to pour out his own life on their behalf (margin) that they might attain unto the fullness of the likeness of Christ. R5811:1

Philippians 2:19

To send Timotheus -- From Rome, Paul sent messengers and helpers to distant churches. R1570:5

Philippians 2:25

Your messenger -- Epaphroditus had brought the memorial of the love of the Philippian church. Paul sent back with him this beautiful letter. R2227:6
From Rome, Paul sent messengers and helpers to distant churches. R1570:5

Philippians 2:27

Indeed he was sick -- Upon Epaphroditus's recovery from his severe illness, the Apostle Paul used him as messenger to take this epistle to the church at Philippi. R5810:2
Epaphroditus, arriving at Rome in the malarial season, took dangerously ill, probably with what is termed the Pontine, or Roman fever. R3127:2, R2227:6

Sick nigh unto death -- Divine power, so far as we are informed, was neither invoked nor exercised on his behalf. F653; R4980:1, R2838:1, R2364:6, R712:6
For the Gospel's sake--because of his faithful assistance in the work of the Lord when there seemed little help coming from other sources. R5810:2

Usually, saints have only received the healing of spiritual blindness and faltering; now, restitution healing of men (not saints) begins. R712:6

But God had mercy -- It was of divine mercy and not of prayer that the recovery took place. R2838:2
God sometimes grants his "New Creatures" special favors and manifestations of an earthly sort in their hours of need. R2009:2

Philippians 2:29

Receive him -- An introduction by letter, as a safe-guard against "false brethren." R1707:1, R1720:2

Hold such in reputation -- Paul wrote not commandingly but entreatingly; not arbitrarily, but giving the reasons why those commended should be held in esteem. R1822:2

Philippians 2:30

For the work of Christ -- Epaphroditus's sickness was of the same class of afflictions as the sufferings of Christ, aggravated by activity in God's service. R2007:3

Not regarding -- Not sparing. R2007:3

His life -- Greek, psuche; soul, being. E338

Philippians 3:1

Rejoice in the Lord -- The grand climacteric of Christian experience is this ability to rejoice in all affairs of life; they are under divine supervision. HG374:4

We rejoice in our privilege of election to the high calling, because it means the privilege of sharing in the uplift of the non-elect. NS653:2

Philippians 3:2

Beware -- Be cautious, careful and watchful--a wholesome dread should keep us continually on guard. R1670:6, R1671:1

The church militant has almost accomplished her warfare; her great foe, seeing his time is short, is industrious to foil God's purpose. R1661:6*

If you find any dogs, don't rub them the wrong way. Q227:2

Of dogs -- "His watchmen are blind: they are all dumb dogs. Yea, they are greedy dogs." (Isa. 56:10-11) F287

The great Adversary will oppose our progress, and his emissaries will slander, backbite, and generally seek to injure us. R1751:3

In the Scriptures dogs are generally used as symbols of evil. R1671:1

Apt symbols of a dangerous and wicked class of people--the idler; the filthy, breeding spiritual contagion; the greedy, self-seeking; those that snarl, bite and devour, or treacherously lie in wait to deceive. R1671:1, R1661:6*

Quarrelsome, snappish dispositions, always selfishly seeking their own advantage. R1661:6

Not literal dogs, but figurative dogs--any that have the characteristics of dogs, snapping and barking. Q227:2

Of evil workers -- Those given to evil-speaking and evil surmising. R1671:2

Those who are injuring others. Q227:3

Do not have fellowship with them. Q227:3

Of the concision -- Those not fully and truly consecrated to God; but who stir up strife and factions in the Church. R1671:2

The influence of the semi-worldly mind is often more subtle, and therefore more dangerous. R1671:2

The dividing spirit, the spirit of contention, which genders unholy strife. R1661:6*

Those who were in opposition to circumcision. Q227:4

Philippians 3:3

For we -- New Creatures in Christ. R3200:2

Are the circumcision -- The real circumcision. R3200:2

Signifies a cutting off--a separation from the flesh, its aims, hopes, desires, etc. R3022:3; HG452:2; NS616:1

Whose circumcision is in the heart. R1671:2; HG452:2

Cutting away from our affections the injurious things.

Q227:4

No confidence in the flesh -- Or the fleshly relationships. R3200:2

We are to reckon the flesh dead indeed unto sin, and alive toward God and toward the performance of good instead of evil works; but we are not to trust it for a moment. NS174:1

Philippians 3:5

The stock of Israel -- Not just the "ten tribes," but "all Israel." C293, R1341:1

Philippians 3:6

Concerning zeal -- Paul had a religious zeal which led him to persecute Christ and his followers as heretics against the Mosaic institutions. R2823:3

Persecuting the Church -- The thought seemed to influence Paul to labor the more diligently. R1885:4

Blameless -- Paul was blameless in that he had been trying to keep the Law. As a member of the Jewish nation, he was not blameless because the nation was responsible for the blood of Jesus. Q601:3

Paul would not need to be baptized, for baptism was needful for an outward sinner who wanted to come back into harmony with God. Q602:T

Philippians 3:7

What things -- Ambitions, honors, position, power, etc.

R5319:2

His being a circumcised Hebrew, his zeal for God and his Law, etc. R1671:5

Home comforts, influence, etc. R832:5, R465:4*

Were gain to me -- Valuable. R1656:6

Paul was fitted for a high social and political position, both by birth and education. R133:6, R2729:2, R1656:6, R478:3

Counted loss -- He threw them all away after comparing them with the prize of the high calling. R5319:2

Paul's prompt transfer of his affections and desires and everything he possessed to the Lord is a beautiful illustration of those upon whom the Lord shines. NS159:3

I count all things -- The Apostle had learned to view the present existence as of small value--"Neither count I my life dear unto myself." (Acts 20:24) E337

Earthly favors and advantages. F467; NS79:3

As Jacob forsook his father's house so must we spiritual Israelites forsake all earthly hopes and aims. R5206:2

Earthly possessions and hopes. R4526:1; F467

Our time, our influence, means, opportunities--all earthly things which we have held most sacred and most dear--all we have sacrificed. R2268:4, R3001:4

But loss -- Paul counted every other interest and consideration as of no value. R4605:4

The apostles gladly paid the price of the truth. R4526:1

If we suffer losses or injustice in earthly matters let us remember that to us those things are already counted "loss and dross." R1037:6

Daily losing sight of these earthly things, considering them unworthy of notice, hoping they might never again have a place in his heart. HG452:3

Paul was willing to count everything of his previous hopes and ambitions as unworthy of the slightest notice. NS616:2
The heavenly, divine hopes and promises are so glorious that all earthly things fade into insignificance in comparison with them. NS270:6

The knowledge of Christ Jesus -- A knowledge of Christ's character, a knowledge of God's grace toward us through him, a knowledge of the plan which centers in him. R3001:4, R1656:6; HG423:5

Not only were the future glories worthy of loss, but even the knowledge of Christ was alone worth the price. R3001:4; CR320:2

Heart sympathy and communion with the Lord. R2037:2; NS616:3

Knowledge of the treasure hid in Christ Jesus. R1656:6

Growth in knowledge of truth is the privilege and the duty of the Christian. The education of the saints will not be complete until they have laid off the flesh, and been made like Christ. R127:3*

You cannot become a servant of the Lord without knowledge. CR320:2

As the Messiah. HG452:3; NS616:2

Far from ignorant of his Saviour, Paul intimates that the more he knew the more he realized the love of God, "manifested in Jesus." NS616:3

I have suffered -- In trials, besetments, burdens, sacrifices and sufferings. R643:3

The loss of all -- The apostles' preaching did not bring them wealth, but cost them much in self-sacrifice--convincing proof of their sincerity, their honesty. R4526:1

In espousing an unpopular cause, Jesus' followers became objects of hatred and derision and were boycotted socially and every way. R4526:1

Could imply that Paul had been disinherited by his father because of his acceptance of Jesus the Messiah. R2969:1

Every cross seems harder before than after we lay hold to lift it. The Master himself will come the closer and help us. R832:6

At great cost, Paul sought membership in that Body and the superior or chief resurrection it will enjoy. R827:6

Count them -- Honor amongst men, favor, influence, etc. R5978:2

All earthly glories and honors and gains. R366:5

Earthly wealth, influence, pleasures. R245:4

Dung -- Those who see the prize may count all other hopes as but loss and dross in comparison. A218, NS467

Vile refuse. R5978:2, R478:5, R245:4

If we do not consider it a privilege to experience earthly loss, it must be that we lack the love of God. R245:4

Gladly sacrificing earthly conveniences and comforts that they might have a share in the great work of proclaiming the message of the King. NS467:4

That I may win Christ -- Gain a place in the everlasting kingdom of Messiah. R5720:2

Attain divine favor and chief blessing as heir of God and joint-heir with Jesus Christ. R3965:2, R5206:3, R4526:1

Win a membership in that glorious Body. R1512:5, R133:6; HG668:1

Let not this greatest of all gifts slip from us, but let us hold fast to that which we have already attained, and onward press our way. NS339:4

Philippians 3:9

And -- "That I may win Christ and (abiding in him to the end) be found in him" complete at last. R1008:2

Be found in him -- A member of the Anointed One. R2729:4; HG230:2

The robe of Christ's righteousness is provided for him who abides in Christ, was chosen in him, walks in him, is built up in him. R1008:2

As members of the Body of Christ. R361:3, R4680:3, R3001:4, R1656:6, R827:6, R643:3; NS214; CR320:3

In the anointed--membership in the Body of that Great Mediator. CR328:6

As a member of the glorious Body beyond the veil--the Bride--the Lamb's wife, who shall sit with him in his throne. HG230:2

The Father has promised and provided glorious things for Jesus, the great Sacrificer, and all who walk in his footsteps as members of the Royal Priesthood. NS214:2

Which is of the Law -- Of the Law covenant. R4680:3

But that which is through the faith of Christ -- Where entire consecration to the will of God exists, based on the ransom here expressed, such consecrated ones are in the right way. R479:5

Our standing in God's sight is no longer as sinners, but as sons in Christ. R193:4

Righteousness which is of God -- The righteousness of Christ which God imputes to us. CR320:4

By faith -- Not by the New (Law) covenant. R4680:4

Philippians 3:10

That I may know him -- Fully. R361:3

That I might be raised as he was raised. R277:4

Paul was desirous of realizing God's love fully, of having intimate heart communion with him, of copying the Son in acts and viewpoint. HG452:4; NS616:3

Might be identified with him. HG230:2

Signifies an "intimate acquaintance" with him--to enjoy more and more of fellowship with him--to really know him, not merely know about him. CR320:4,5

And the power -- Sharing it. R4177:5

Experience the power. R2138:2, R672:4

"All power in heaven and in earth." (Matt. 28:18) R1692:1

Sharing in the power of HIS anastasis--raising to perfection. R361:3

If we are submerged into the will of Christ, we lose ourselves, and the only controlling authority, the power, in this body is its Head; raised in his likeness, we shall know the power of his resurrection. R132:3

The power that not only raised Jesus from the dead, but far above all others--to experience the power, not merely by and by, but now, to rise with Christ, walking with him in newness of life, a New Creature. CR320:6

Of his resurrection -- The Church's part in his resurrection will be effected at the second advent of her Lord, as the completion of his resurrection. HG299:5

Our grand hope is that we may share with our Lord in his resurrection of perfection of being on the highest of all planes. NS534:3

After the true Church has finished its course, and been made sharers in his resurrection, their probationary membership in the Church of Christ will shortly be changed to actual membership. E230

As a member of his Body, his Church. F441; R4680:4, R3174:4, R3132:1, R2795:2, R2318:3, R1642:4, R1204:2; NS616:5, R339:1, R52:5

The special resurrection--to the divine nature. R4964:6, R4504:1, R1179:6, R1437:1, R930:4; HG333:6, HG299:5; NS534:3, NS341:3

"Christ's resurrection," the "first" or "chief resurrection."

R4588:1, R5105:2, R2797:2, R2138:2, R2051:2, R1642:4, R1260:1, R1179:5, R827:6; E230; F699; HG299:5; NS616:5, NS534:3, NS341:3; Q309:T

His Body, the Church, is now being born in the end of this Gospel age. R4464:2; CR59:2

"We shall be like him" (1 John 3:2)--our resurrection is a part of "his resurrection"--raised in glory, power, a spiritual body, immortality. R1857:1, R4549:1, R4545:5, R4534:1, R4527:5, R3376:1, R2618:6, R2477:2, R2318:3, R1656:6, R729:5, R206:1, R133:6; CR316:1; NS341:3; Q179:5; SM143:1

The resurrection of the just (Acts 24:15)--"THE resurrection" (Emphasis in the Greek--1 Cor. 15:42; Phil. 3:11)--"the resurrection of (or to) life." (John 5:29) R1854:4, R672:4, R277:3, R205:6; HG334:1

The faithful, overcoming Bride and joint-heir will share with Christ Jesus this resurrection to the highest station. R1642:4 All who share "his death" will also share "his resurrection." R1542:5, R1437:1, R930:4

The resurrection. R1512:6, R1204:2

The "first-fruit" class will be first in order and first in rank because they were associated with Christ in sacrificing now. R1511:2, R1204:2

The first fruits include the Redeemer and all of the Gospel age overcomers. R1437:1; NS341:2

Immersion manifests one's desire to symbolize his death with Christ, his begetting to the new nature, and his hope of full birth to the divine likeness as sharers with Christ in his resurrection. R1302:3, R930:4, R396:2

Fulfilling the exceeding great and precious promises, this resurrection, on which all else depends, occurs during the sound of the seventh trumpet (the last). R1260:1

This first resurrection will precede the general resurrection of all mankind, and have preeminence over it. R1204:2, R1179:6

The choice resurrection. R1179:6

According to the Greek, the "out-resurrection," exanastasis, the selected-out ones, out from among the dead. R1179:6, R672:4, R624:3*; HG230:2

As we review the closing hours of our Redeemer's ministry, we would be profited by a fresh examination of his resurrection, "the firstborn from the dead," "the firstborn among many brethren." R850:3

A resurrection to spiritual being. R729:5, R672:4, R277:3 Called "his" resurrection because he was the first so raised. R277:3

We prefer to sacrifice our humanity because of our faith in God's promise of a higher nature, rather than to share with our human father Adam a restitution to human perfection. R382:6

Jesus' resurrection was the first to be raised completely out of death's control. Will God deliver the Head and not complete the work? (Isa. 66:9) R361:2

Experience the same resurrection as Jesus. R133:6; NS341:3, NS339:1

Different from the human race generally, who will rise to human perfection. HG452:6; NS616:5, NS341:4

Only those who are called of the Lord here in this Gospel age are invited to suffer with him, and then share in his resurrection. HG230:1; R1437:1

The Body is counted as participating with their Lord in the glorious things of his resurrection, which is so different from the resurrection which will come to the remainder of mankind. NS637:3, NS341:3

As we endeavor to walk contrary to the world, temptations will come; and our glorious Master thus fits and prepares us for participation in the first resurrection, "his resurrection." NS228:6

The Church shall share our Lord's reward of glory, honor and immortality and with him shall be the Mediator between God and men. Q179:5

The elect Church, the Royal Priesthood, are to enter upon their priestly office after sharing with Christ in his resurrection. SM143:1

The Great Company will have no part whatever in the first resurrection. R5105:2; Q308:4

Fellowship of his sufferings -- The members of his Body fill up the measure of the sufferings of Christ which are behind (Col. 1:24; 1 Pet. 4:13; 2 Cor. 1:7)--these sufferings require all of the Gospel age to complete. T50

Our Lord's Church is to share his reward on condition she share in his cup of suffering and self-sacrifice--share in his baptism into his death. R4549:1, R4680:4, R4504:1, R478:5

The worthiness of consecrated believers to share Christ's name and coming glory depends upon their faithfulness in suffering with him. R827:6

Because glory with him is dependent upon suffering with him, the consecrated will not ask for physical healing. R379:1

The necessary condition of the higher life is the death of the lower one, by the crucifixion of its evil affections and desires. R145:5*

Suffering with Christ involves more than a simple separation from the world. We must be dead to the world; then we shall not love the world or worldly things. R127:3*

While doing the work of Christ during the fifth and sixth thousand-year-days, the Church has also been called upon to suffer with Christ. R92:4*

As Jesus suffered without the gate--"Let us go forth therefore unto him without (outside) the camp, bearing his reproach."
R80:3

The fellowship in his sufferings and his death and his resurrection are some of the ways that show our unity with Christ. R30:6*

If you managed to avoid all suffering it would mean that you were not living as you might. CR320:6

Paul considered these sufferings of the present life a privilege.
HG452:3

The learning of valuable lessons to fit and qualify us for the work of being kings, priests and judges with our Lord in his coming Kingdom. Q429:4

Being made -- By being made. R2138:2, R4964:6

Conformable unto his death -- Not only a passive conformity to his disposition or spirit; also an energetic zeal in the promulgation of his truth at all hazards. C207

Not a different death from his, but a similar one--not a death as a sinner, but a sacrificial one. R4680:4; NS339:4

Such full surrender is possible to those only who know him well and have drunk in his spirit. R2138:2

If we suffer with him and endure afflictions even unto death for righteousness' sake, we are counted as sharers of his death. R1542:5

Immersion in water is the beautiful and appropriate symbol of burying the will into the will of Christ, living only unto him.
R1278:6

The blood, the wine, the cup, represents death, of which the Church partakes. The flesh is for all the world. R1015:6

As grains of wheat, believers (reckoned perfect by his sacrifice) are invited by Jesus to do as he did, to sacrifice, to lay down all their human rights and privileges, to be made conformable to his death. R729:5

We rejoice to be delivered from Adamic death, but we seek and rejoice to be dead with him. R382:6

During this age, so many of the believers as desire may join themselves to Christ in sacrificing their humanity, and become thereby sharers with him of divinity. R364:1

"Present your bodies"--powers, talents, reputations, all.

(Rom. 12:1) The glorious resurrection is only attained by those who consecrate themselves entirely to God's service.

By giving up things not sinful and to which you have a right.
R133:2

From the moment we enter into this covenant of death and life, we begin the work of crucifying the human nature, and God begins to develop in us the divine nature by imparting to us the holy spirit. R131:5

To die with him. R117:2*

Paul does not mean that he must die on the cross, but that he must die a sacrificial death; he must lay down in his life in God's service. HG230:3; R1542:5

Philippians 3:11

By any means -- At any cost--any sacrifice. The prize offered during the Gospel age is so infinitely sublime that it is priceless. The advantages of the next age will be favorable, but the prize less valuable. R643:3

By fellowship in his sufferings. R1512:6; NS616:6

By all these earthly sacrifices. R361:3

If seeking truth, and through it the crown, you must come prepared to pay for them. Many desire these things, if they could get them cheap. R672:4

Unto the resurrection -- The first or chief resurrection to glory, honor and immortality--divine nature. R1642:4, R4534:1, R4527:5, R1511:2, R1260:2, R277:3, R131:4, R80:3; NS341:3

The world will be granted full opportunity for life everlasting in and by a judgment-resurrection after the special resurrection. R1512:2

One of the most prominent doctrines of the New Testament. R1508:6

Greek, exanastasis, the out-resurrection, the resurrection of the selected-out ones, the chief or choice resurrection.

R1179:6, R672:4, R624:2*, R361:3, R131:4

Emphatic article in Greek--the special or chief resurrection.

R672:4, R1854:5, R1512:2, R277:3, R205:6; NS616:6

Blessed and holy are all they--the church--the new creatures--the "little flock"--his Body--that have part in the first (chief) resurrection--the first saved from death--raised spiritual.

R364:4

The chief perfecting of the chief class is a special thing which began with Jesus, the Head of The Christ, is shared by the "little flock." R361:2

We know little about the perfection and grandeur and powers of the resurrection, but the second death will have no power on those priests reigning with him a thousand years. (Rev. 20:6) R277:4

Of the dead -- Greek emphatic--the special dead.

R1854:6, R1881:4

Because Christ redeemed us from the penalty of Adam's death, we can be counted as crucified with Christ, a voluntary sacrifice for the world in him. R128:1*

The resurrection of "the dead in Christ"--provided only for the spirit-begotten members of the Anointed. HG453:1

Philippians 3:12

Not as though I had already attained -- Our present union with Christ's Body, though precious, is probationary, and will be confirmed at the close of this life. R1570:3

Apprehended of Christ Jesus -- The Lord has laid hold upon us--neither will he let us go so long as our hearts are loyal to him. R4100:5

One object of knowledge is to enable us to "apprehend that for which Christ apprehended us." R85:5*

The Lord laid hold upon Saul (Paul) when he was in a hopeless position--because he was honest-hearted though wrong-headed. HG451:6; NS615:5

Character development and sacrifice are necessary to attain that for which we have been apprehended of the Lord (to show forth his great character to the world of mankind, and to bless them). NS373:2

Philippians 3:13

I count not myself -- At the time Paul wrote he had not yet reached the standard of character-development. R2753:5

To have apprehended -- Grasped the prize to which God called me, and for which I, with you, am running. R1457:6
Paul counted not that he had already attained the mark for the prize, nor that he was already perfect. R1884:3, R1885:3
Though Paul already had this pledge of the inheritance, he said, "I do not reckon myself to have attained it." (Diaglott) R494:1*

To have grasped or taken possession of. NS615:4

This one thing I do -- Full consecration will not permit one to study every truth. As those who seek for earthly prizes must give their whole attention to that, so the winning of the heavenly prize demands complete concentration. F139

That was the secret of the Apostle's power. That is why the Lord has used him so much. R5968:1; HG453:2
Paul had one mind or will--he was not a double-minded man. R5081:3

Relaxing our efforts in various directions in order to concentrate our energies upon those things which we can best bring to perfection. R5044:3, R2466:2; F139

Only one real aim or purpose in life, bending all energies to serve the Lord, the brethren, the truth. R2951:2, R5044:3, R2466:2

The fruit-bearing of works is not to be understood as the principal thought; the first thought is that we should have the fruits and graces of the spirit brought to maturity. R2466:2

The Father's business. R2222:2

In this singleness of purpose, Paul was relieved of many temptations. R1885:4, R478:6

We are not to be distracted by modern theorizings, fancied new light, prosperity, or the cares of this world. R526:1

Doing the will of God. R479:1

"Seek ye first (chiefly) the Kingdom of God." (Matt. 6:33)
R479:4

"No man can serve two masters." (Matt. 6:24) "A double minded man is unstable in all his ways." (Jas. 1:8) R478:2

Implies: (1) There was one all important thing which was worthy of his whole life, of his very best endeavors. (2) Any division of his interests, a scattering of his powers, would be detrimental. CR35:1; F139

All Paul's energy was applied to God's service out of a faithful heart, not from slavish fear; and the goal became ever brighter. HG453:2

Forgetting those things -- Forgetting my former ambitions as a student, my former hopes as a Roman citizen. F139; R5319:2

We forget the things that are behind because God forgets them. R3306:1

Let us not over-estimate the earthly. He that putteth his hand to the plow and looketh back is not fit for the Kingdom. (Luke 9:62) R1263:4

No "looking back" like Lot's wife, forgetting old hopes, aims, ambitions. R478:6, R901:6

However unwisely, however foolishly, we have neglected the heavenly calling in the past, there is still time to run in the race. NS265:5

Let the old nature with all its interests, die daily. Q613:3

Our father's house is the world. As the Lord's Bride, we join a new family. We must forget our old family. SM261:T

Which are behind -- There are some who weep for the past, when they should be rejoicing for the future. R3649:3
The lessons we learn from experiences should be kept in memory, but need not be mourned over, for the merit of Christ's sacrifice covers all unwilling blemishes and mistakes. R3649:3; HG453:5

The treasures of the past or the blindness. R1885:4
If we keep looking at the things behind, we lose sight of the heavenly things. R1263:4
The house and family to which we formerly belonged. SM261:T

Reaching forth unto those things -- Seek new conquests over the world and flesh and devil. R901:6
Fill our minds only with those aims and hopes which are laid up in reservation for us. R478:6
The heavenly glories which belong to the future are made so real, so precious to the truly consecrated, that they more than fill the losses and sacrifices of this present time an hundredfold. NS271:1
Think mostly about the blessings and the glorious hope. Q613:3

Which are before -- Joint-heirship with the Lord in the blessing of the world. F140
In the promises of God's Word. R5968:1
Paul's faith took hold of the promises of God with such tenacity that to him they were living realities. R1885:5
The real work of bruising the serpent and blessing the nations belongs to an age after Christ comes and gathers his Church to himself and to a share of his glory. R99:5*
The better things, the things of God--seeking a place in the divine favor. NS265:6

Philippians 3:14

I press -- Along the "Narrow Way." A218
It will encourage us to note the marks on our way, and to perceive our progress--if we are coming nearer to the mark which wins the prize. R2754:1
As runners must positively declare their intention, so must we make a covenant with the Lord. As it is not the prize toward which racers run, but the mark, so too the Christian. R2753:5
The Apostle has in mind foot-races. As racers must enter in a legitimate manner, so must we get on our race-course through faith in the precious blood. R2753:6

By: (1) avoiding self-satisfaction, (2) singleness of purpose, (3) forgetting the things behind, (4) good habit of thought (Phil. 4:8), (5) energetic zeal. R1885:2-6

The narrow way leading to the royal priesthood is a difficult way, and few have ever found it; but they will in due time receive the crown because they have pressed forward for the prize of the high calling. R33:5*

We are not to content ourselves as babes in Christ, nor with the milk diet suitable to that age, but should go on unto perfection. R1906:6

Toward -- Down upon. F140

Those who turn aside from the true and only Gospel are quickly turned out of the way, or else are hindered in their course toward "the prize." R5126:5

We are going on. We have no disposition to go back. R1071:4

The mark -- Of perfect love, where our Lord always stood--attained by us by making a consecration and passing through the four stages of: (a) duty love to God, our Lord Jesus, and man; (b) love for God because of his glorious character; (c) love for the brethren, which overlooks their imperfections; (d) perfect love, toward God, our brethren, all men--which includes even our enemies. F187-F189, F369-F371; R2879:5, R2755:1,2, R2754:3-6

Few have reached the mark; the measure of our zeal and love will be indicated to God and to brethren by the speed with which we attain it. F373

We attain the mark of perfect love gradually. R5172:2, R3645:4

Having reached this character-development, it is for us to stand faithful--"having done all, to stand." (Eph. 6:13) R5081:2, R5082:1, R2755:5; F369; Q456:T

Heart-likeness to God's dear Son; perfection of intention; love for righteousness, for God, for the brethren, for the world, even our enemies. R5080:1

Crystallization of character in the likeness of our Lord. The mark of crystallized character is not attained so early as is the mark of character-development. R5080:1

This mark of perfection is not a mark of fleshly perfection. R4470:1; Q458:T, Q449:3, Q50:3

No Christian should be satisfied with a long delay in reaching the mark. R4470:5; Q456:T

Our Lord was tested at the mark of perfect love. The severest temptations come after we have reached the mark. R4470:5; F373; Q456:T

The same character or disposition of love that God possesses and that was manifested by our Lord Jesus. R2754:1, R4837:2; Q456:T

That holiness which brings every thought into captivity to the will of God. (2 Cor. 10:5) R1885:1

The line marked out by our Head and Fore-runner. R965:4

When we reach the mark of perfect love, a crown is ours, we are overcomers. Q50:3

Keep your eye on the mark. R99:5*

The mark of character development, the mark of perfect love, once attained must be maintained. A deviation might be restored to the prize, but could lead to the Great Company or second death. Q455:2

Whoever will receive eternal life on any plane will have to come to the mark of perfect love--the Little Flock, the Great Company, the restitution class. Q449:3, Q50:3

For the prize -- The "Narrow Way" is a special way leading to a special prize. A218

Those who strive to live in full harmony with God, seeking by prayer and study to ascertain his will, shall win the promised prize. R5687:3

Some will be more than overcomers and will receive the prize. R5319:2

If we fall away from the condition of perfect love, we shall lose the prize. R5172:2

It is not the prize that we run toward, but the mark. The prize is entirely beyond our grasp. R2753:3,6

Joint-heirship with God's Son. R2753:6, R2755:2

The true Church is laboring not merely for a blessing, but for the blessing. R2415:6

"Press toward the mark (of character) for (the attainment of) the prize." R1886:4, R2754:1, R2138:2

Press on for the heavenly prize. R99:5*

Of the high calling -- A call to glory, honor and immortality. (2 Pet. 1:3; Rom. 2:7) F92,91; R5459:1, R4855:4

The calling of this present Gospel age is a "high calling," a "heavenly calling." (Heb. 3:1) F67; R5772:2, R5459:1, R211:1*; CR392:1; HG333:5; NS340:6, NS69:4; Q436:1

All the Gospel Church are called to heavenly conditions; and therefore they are cut off from their earthly rights as men.

R5023:2; Q436:1

The condition upon which it is offered is the giving up of everything that we have. R4796:2

The Church is called to a high station--now to suffer with Christ, that she may in due time reign with him. R4616:3

"Partakers of the divine nature." (2 Pet. 1:4) R1585:3,
R4855:4

The "holy calling." (2 Tim. 1:9) R659:5*, R447:5*;
HG333:5; Q436:1

Oh! that all Christians might have "the eyes of their understanding enlightened," that they might "know what is the hope of his calling." R25:4*

The high calling is a part of God's loving plan of the ages, a part of his systematic work which reveals his wisdom, power and love. R21:6*

A special salvation, a "high calling," is referred to as "so great salvation," which our Lord provided for the "elect." NS652:5

This call, privilege, is offered during the entire Gospel age, and to each faithful one, not just the clergy. NS615:6

God during this Gospel age has proclaimed a special calling for a special class of the human family, called a little flock, to whom is specially granted the hearing ear and the understanding heart. NS340:5

The book of life now open is for the overcomers of the present, called in advance of the world; the world of mankind during the Millennium will also be interested in a book of life, but not the same one. NS69:4

In Christ Jesus -- The result of belief in Christ as the Redeemer is justification. The justified human nature must be presented to God a living sacrifice. This is the basis required to seek the high calling. R659:5*, R447:5*

Philippians 3:15

As be perfect -- Perfect-willed, at the mark of perfect love.
R4153:6, R1892:3

Perfect in heart, will. R1892:3

Standing complete in Christ. R479:4

The "Body" figure shows the possibility of the perfect thing growing or maturing in perfection. Thus, as members of the Body we are perfect in Christ from the very first. R398:1

Be thus minded -- Seek the "one thing" (vs. 13)--the prize;
forget those things behind. R479:4

"As many, therefore, as are perfect should be of this mind."
(Diaglott) R478:6

If in any thing -- "If in any other thing." (Diaglott)
R479:4, R478:6

Ye be otherwise minded -- "You think differently."
(Diaglott) R2755:6, R479:4, R478:6

Paul seems to mean that though consecrated ones might hold minor errors, it was only a question of time when they would come to appreciate the truth. R479:4, R1573:1

All led by the same Spirit may and do come to a knowledge of the same truth. R458:5, R1573:1

Reveal even this unto you -- If one is honest--if he has become dead to self, to the world, and alive toward God.

F449

In due season. F449; NS54:6

Philippians 3:16

Let us walk by the same rule -- Under our Captain, all the truly sanctified are closely united by the spirit of Christ in faith, hope and love; and are moving in solid battalions for the accomplishment of his purposes. R458:5

Mind the same thing -- If any differ in their judgment of the Lord's will, they should differ in love, and endeavor by prayer and study and by earnest endeavor to purify their hearts to come speedily to the unity of the faith. R1892:3
Even if some see and believe more elaborately than others. R1573:1

It is one thing to love all God's children though entangled in sects, and another to avoid the meshes of their captivity.

R1130:6*

Paul urges all to unity of the faith and purpose. R458:5, R1130:6*

Philippians 3:17

Be followers together of me -- "Become joint-imitators of me." (Diaglott) R2755:6, R914:6

None should follow us, except as they discern that we are following the Master. R2433:5

"Be ye followers of me, even as I also am of Christ." (1 Cor. 11:1) R1886:4

It would be well for each to examine himself to see how like, or unlike, his course is to that of Paul. R478:3

Paul sets himself as at the head of those who are living properly, and exhorts all to follow and imitate him. R366:5

Mark them -- "Watch those." (Diaglott) R2755:6, R914:6

The Apostle recommends us to observe those who walk according to Scriptural rules--properly combative, properly meek. R1041:1

For an ensample -- "Pattern." (Diaglott) R2755:6, R914:6

Every Christian should strive to be a pattern worthy of imitation. R1886:1

So assured was Paul of his own continuous faithfulness he could say this. R1884:6

The apostles were noble examples of faithfulness, zeal, patience, endurance, and true Christian fortitude and heroism. R1884:6, R641:5, R463:6

Jesus' life and death were much more than valuable examples for us to follow. The prophets and apostles were examples but could not redeem. R463:6

Philippians 3:18

Weeping -- Paul's grief was of an unselfish heart yearning over the salvation of others. R1886:5

True love was the cause for Paul's comment here--love for truth, love for God, and love for the people who were being deceived by the error. R439:2

If Paul had covered the truth, shielded error, or failed to warn an erring brother against the encroachments of the enemy, he would have been an unfaithful steward and lost his stewardship. R416:1*

The enemies -- They have gone into error, out of the court condition. R5259:1

All under-shepherds who do not echo the Chief Shepherd's words and do not have his spirit of meekness and simplicity. R1536:5

To exercise human judgment in condemning others would be wrong; but to apply the judgment of God as expressed in his Word is right. R664:2*, R416:2*

False Christians. R366:5, R2135:3

The cross of Christ -- Denying a ransom from the condition and penalties of a fall, they are denying the very center of the Gospel--the very essence of Christianity. R2135:3, R2147:3, R423:1

Philippians 3:19

Whose end -- There surely will be some lost as well as some saved. R3083:2

If they pursue that course to the end. R914:6

Is destruction -- "The wages of sin is death." (Rom. 6:23) R1085:5, R1298:2*

The penalty of wilful sin is death--destruction. HG305:6
Not everlasting life in torment. R1085:3, R1298:2*;
SM314:2

Not eternal torment, but destruction. Compare 2 Thess. 1:9, Rom. 9:22, 1 Tim. 6:9, 2 Pet. 2:1, 2 Pet. 3:16, and John 3:16. HG163:1

Whose God is their belly -- Suffering because of gluttony is not suffering because of Christ. F634

Their appetite. R366:5

Living for earthly honors and the good things for their stomachs. CR297:5

There is a blessing in self-denial--self-restraint--fasting. Even worldly intelligent people eat and drink in harmony with their ambitions. Gluttony stupefies intellect and higher goals.

NS453:4

Glory is in their shame -- No man can make commendable progress toward perfection in any direction who does not recognize his shortcomings. If we say we see, our blindness remains; if we say we are wise, our ignorance remains. R2094:4*

Who mind earthly things -- We are not to expect this class to appreciate holy, heavenly things. R2589:6

Giving effort, time, attention, and interest to them. R1103:6

Which they covenanted to sacrifice. R1041:1

Who are engrossed with earthly things. R914:6

Who make the earthly interests the chief concern of life.

SM329:1

Philippians 3:20

For our conversation is in heaven -- As representatives and ambassadors (2 Cor. 5:20) we should feel both the dignity and the honor of the position and the responsibilities. R3330:2

While still living in the world we are not of it (John 17:16), but have transferred our allegiance and citizenship to the heavenly Kingdom. R3330:2, R1096:5*, R424:3, R362:5

"Your citizenship is in heaven." Revised Version (et al) R3179:6, R2039:3, R1103:5; NS102:2

Therefore, under the kingdom of this world the saints have a right to expect only such rights and privileges as are accorded to aliens and foreigners. R1103:5

Literally, community--the government or polity in which we are sharers. R1102:1, R1096:3*

We who have consecrated our lives to God must be about our Father's work. Going into politics is to enter a crooked path of the enemy. R1096:5*

Our citizenship is of the heavenly Kingdom, therefore we should be diligent to learn its language. R1062:6*

"Our concern (interest) is with heaven; [We are not minding earthly things]." (Murdoch's translation from the Syriac.)

R366:6

The Church should stand aloof from governments and their opposers. "We are not of this world." (John 17:16) God is raising up his great army, the masses of the world, who know him not but who will overturn evil. R362:5

"Set your affections on things above and not on things of the earth." Am I living for the flesh, or for the spirit? Am I ignoring or neglecting the interests of the spiritual existence? NS102:2

We look for the Saviour -- "And so shall we ever be with the Lord." (1 Thes. 4:17) Diaglott footnote on Phil. 1:23. Paul was looking for the Savior's return from heaven. F671; R1827:1*

"From thence we expect our vivifier, our Lord, Jesus the Messiah;" (Murdoch's translation from the Syriac.) R366:6

Philippians 3:21

Who shall change -- Transform. R1096:4*

The natural body is changed by the power of the spirit indwelling. R66:2*

"We shall not all sleep, but we shall all be changed." (1 Cor. 15:51) The contrast between the two conditions is great and clearly marked. R41:3*

Our vile body -- Both individually and collectively the Church in the flesh is now "in dishonor," (1 Cor. 15:43) in disesteem--our body is at present a "body of humiliation." (Diaglott) F728, R2064:5, R1768:5, R1102:2, R315:6* Our ignoble body. R1102:4, R1103:4

"The body of our abasement." (Murdoch) R366:6

The natural body. R66:2*

Refers to the Church as a whole, not to individuals--a body, or company, that is despised of men, a humiliated body--"We are counted as the filth and offscouring of the earth." (1 Cor. 4:13) R5579:5, R1103:4, R1102:2, R827:6, R366:5

Now the Church is merely the "espoused virgin," called to Brideship, in her body of humiliation--not yet the Bride in glorious garments. HG448:6

Like unto his glorious body -- Paul desired to be with the Lord at once, but knew the second coming could not occur soon. F672

At the second coming the humiliation of the Church will cease--it will no longer be reviled, but glorified. R5579:6 We shall be his glorious Body, or his Body in glory. R4602:2

Not the body that died, with wounds and imperfections-- "We shall be like him, for we shall see him as he is," 1 John 3:2, not as he was. R2479:4, R277:4, R206:1; HG513:6

The reward of "overcomers," those who delight to do God's will, who do not need to be whipped into an appreciation of right and wrong. R1669:3

With Christ in his Kingdom, kings and priests unto God, the "seed" of promise through whom all the families of the earth shall be blessed. R1505:5

A condition suitable to its real character, and the high position it is destined to fill as the Bride of Christ. R1102:2

Joined in dominion and heirship with Jesus to partake of his divine, immortal nature, being raised spiritual bodies.

R569:3, R4071:3, R18:2

"That it may have the likeness of the body of his glory."

(Murdoch's translation from the Syriac.) R366:6

He comes at his second advent in a glorious body, and his Church will have a second birth of the same kind as his.

R261:2

As the risen Christ was invisible to mortals except when he appeared for special reasons, so we will be likewise invisible.

R237:1*

We are thus changed in order that our installment in official power with him may follow--symbolically called marriage.

R172:3

This will be when we shall be exalted to his throne and sit with him. Jesus cannot appear with us in glory until we are glorified with him. R169:3*

There is a distinction between the terms "nature" and "form."

Those who in this age become partakers of the divine nature have the assurance that we shall be like him. R89:2

The espoused virgin shall be "changed" in the First Resurrection, and thereafter be the "Glorious Body," the Glorious Bride. HG448:6, HG802:6*

According to the working -- According to the energy--God given. R1768:5*

By "a process of divine chemistry which, we may not fully understand." R146:1*

Whereby he is able -- By virtue of the power vested in him. A92

Subdue all things -- With the power, authority, and rulership meant by sitting at Jehovah's right hand, Jesus will come for the purpose of subduing all things. A92

All the families of the earth shall be blessed. (Gen. 28:14)
R1505:4

Jesus and his Church will doubtless be the active agents of Jehovah. R286:2

Clad in his robes of glory, the high priest of the Tabernacle represented Messiah, empowered to bless mankind. PD36/47

Philippians 4:1

Therefore -- In consideration of this coming change from a condition of degradation to glory. R366:6

My joy and crown -- The Apostle addressed the Philippian church with affection. R4827:2, R1703:2

A close and dear relationship--these words are fragrant with the very essence of Christian love and fellowship. R3127:3

Stand fast -- They had reached a considerable attainment in the graces of the spirit--they must needs be tested, however. R3127:3

In the Lord -- Trusting in his power, in his grace. R3127:5

No one can stand in his own strength. R90:1

Philippians 4:2

Euodias, and beseech Syntyche -- Two sisters of this congregation who appear to have been prominent helpers in the work. R3127:5

Of the same mind -- Implies that in some respects these two were at variance. R3127:5

In the Lord -- Preserve a unity of heart and head in all things relating to the Lord and his cause, not necessarily in everything else. R3127:5

Philippians 4:3

And I entreat thee -- The apostles issued neither bulls nor anathemas. F232

There are times when it is appropriate to introduce brethren and commend them to others. R1721:4, R1707:2

Yokefellow -- Apparently the proper name of a brother in the Philippian church. R3127:6

Dear "Yoke-fellows" in foreign lands and pilgrims and colporteurs, we offer our cooperation as we see the harvest work, and that the time is short. Let us draw closer, and pray and assist one another. R3288:6

Help those women -- Over their difficulties--helping them to preserve the unity of the spirit. R3128:1

Paul mentioned with evident appreciation the activity of certain females in the early church. R1549:3, R1076:5*, R766:5*, R227:3

Which laboured -- Women did a work which was approved and appreciated. R227:3, R1076:5*, R766:5*

Fellowlabourers -- Who supported his work by their influence and by their means. R3152:3

The book of life -- Christ and the apostles rebuked sectarianism and declared it an evidence of carnality. The church which they loved was the one Church whose names are written, not on earthly scrolls, but in heaven. R1309:2 Those who secure the divine favor have their names written in God's remembrance, the "book of life," as his friends. They enjoy his love and his blessing. NS69:1

Rejoice -- The Christian's life is not a sad or morose one, but a most joyful one. He can even be joyful in tribulation. R4592:4, R3305:6; NS633:5, Q613:2

To the true followers the light of the Lord's kindness shines through all earth-born clouds and troubles to bring joy and peace and blessing. R3305:6

In serenity, happiness, peace, pleasure of soul, not necessarily with noisy demonstration. R3128:2

While the flesh suffers, the spirit should rejoice--we rejoice because God's favor and blessing are with us as New Creatures. Q613:2, Q579:6

The exultant songs of the prophets and the apostles sounded through trials, difficulties, and persecutions. They were joyful in the house of their pilgrimage, and a note of triumph is found in their messages. NS633:5

We are anointed with God's holy spirit, the spirit of gladness, the spirit of joy, which drives away much of the spirit of mourning--not only in the blessings that are ours, but in tribulations also. NS224:1

Alway -- The only ones who can rejoice alway are those who are living very near to the Lord. R3128:2

Philippians 4:5

Let your moderation -- Reasonableness, gentleness--the spirit of a sound mind, of gentleness, meekness. This attitude of mind comes in large measure as a result of knowledge of God and his plans. R5840:3, R3306:2

Surely there never was a time when this counsel was so much needed as now! The very air seems charged with some exciting, nervous force. R5249:2, R2460:5

Let the fact that we know only in part and understand only in part keep us humble and moderate in word and deed and thought. R5249:6

The promises made to us tend to make us sober--the truth is a restraining influence. R5099:2

Temperance, self-control--let men see by our thoughtful (not rash and hasty), careful and considerate demeanor in every affair of life, that we honor our profession. R4809:1, R2460:4

If we feel the leader of a meeting is not following the best Scriptural course, we must show moderation in our approach--approving what we can, objecting in kindness, meekness, and brotherly love. R3866:2

The Greek seems to carry the thought of reasonableness, of not exacting our rights too rigorously--mercy and leniency. R3128:2

Keep yourselves well in hand, subject and obedient to the will of God. 2 Tim. 3:3 warns against incontinence in the last days--lacking self-control, led of passion, rash, impulsive. R2460:4

As you make decisions in your consecrated life, such as baptism, who should baptize you, where you should be baptized. R396:5

We are all in danger of going to extremes--immoderate statements may arouse a spirit of antagonism. CR415:4 Moderation in balance of thought, in word, in action; probably considered extremists in our faithfulness to the Word and to our covenant of self-sacrifice--as Jesus and the apostles were. HG447:4

While wars are maneuvered by selfish, depraved minds, the Christian must use the wisdom from above, rejecting the greed and aggressiveness of nations, trusting God's promises to bless in his due time. NS132:5

Be known -- Even in discussing the time of trouble, emphasis should be laid upon the glorious Kingdom which will be inaugurated. R5716:4

In faith and conduct in all matters--including chronological forecasts of the future. We should be using the knowledge we possess, doing with our might what our hands find to do.

In eating, drinking, clothing, pleasure, sorrow. R3455:1, R4808:6

Be specially on guard that the influence of every word and act should be in accord with law, order and peace--"live peaceably with all men." (Rom. 12:18)-"In your patience possess ye your souls." (Luke 21:19) R3242:2

The Lord's Word counsels the wisdom of moderation; let us not suffer because we do not heed this counsel. R2493:3

Unto all men -- Would begin at home--more particularly in the Church--but should be manifested toward all with whom we have dealings. R5840:6

The Lord is at hand -- Messiah's Kingdom is shortly to be established--this should help the Lord's people in living an exemplary life. R5840:6

This clause implies the exhortation belongs specially to the closing of this Gospel age--to the opening of the new dispensation. R5249:1

We are expecting great changes soon and can well afford to be generous and liberal in our sentiments toward others.

R3128:3

The doctrine of the second advent is the motive for moderation in all things, patient waiting, divine hope, and heavenly-mindedness. R298:2*

Philippians 4:6

Be careful for nothing -- Be not over-anxious--an anxiety which would rob the soul of rest and peace, and would indicate a lack of faith. R5874:6

"Take no thought" (Luke 12:22; Matt. 6:25-34)--be not anxious, burdened, full of care. R3128:4

"Be not anxious about anything." (Diaglott) R1046:4*

Be worried, harassed and overcharged on no account. R874:5

Critics assail the Scriptures as being opposed to progress; but there is a difference between Christian contentment (based on godliness) and worldly contentment (slothfulness, love of ease, selfishness). NS63:2

But in every thing -- In today's household or business cares, in the guidance of wayward children, in the pinch of poverty; all of earth's trials and cares; its wants and woes; its disappointments, calamities, failures, etc. R1865:5,6

By prayer -- Communion with God is a great privilege and an evidence of his favor. R4983:1

Acknowledging our own lack of wisdom. R3128:5

And supplication -- Supplicating his promised providential care. R3128:5

Earnest pleading. R1865:5

With thanksgiving -- "Continue in prayer; watch in the same with thanksgiving." "Offer the sacrifice of praise to God, giving thanks to his name." "I will offer the sacrifice of thanksgiving." "Magnify him with thanksgiving." R5381:4

The thankful heart will conclude that he who favored and redeemed us will much more favor and do for us now we are his. R3128:6

Requests -- "Petitions." (Diaglott) R1046:4*

Philippians 4:7

And -- If we have the spirit of rejoicing and trust, and make our requests in harmony with his promise, and accept with gratitude and thanksgiving whatever his providence may send, then the peace of God comes to us. R3128:6

The peace of God -- This peace depends to a considerable extent upon one's clear understanding of what is meant by the witness of the Holy Spirit. E226

Not the peace of the flesh, but the peace of heart. F602

This peace should have such control of all who would represent the Lord that a hallowed influence would go with them. R5980:2

This peace can come only to those who have given themselves unreservedly to God. It is the direct result of a close personal relationship of the soul with God. R5432:1, NS66:5

A peace which none of the changes and vicissitudes of this life can take and which enemies are powerless to touch. With it we can endure all things which the Father's loving providence shall permit. R5432:4, R5879:2

This peace can look up through its tears with joyful expectancy for the glorious fruition of our hopes. R5432:6, NS435:3

The rule of this peace in their hearts is one of the grand blessings enjoyed by the embryo Kingdom class. R5097:4; HG720:3

The perfected peace imparted by the holy Spirit, which results from a full consecration to the will of God. R4901:2, R4579:3; NS66:5

Not our own peace, but the peace of God, the peace which comes through a realization of God's power, his goodness and willingness to hold us by his right hand as his children.

Peace centered in God, by faith. R4818:2

God's peace reigning in a heart would control ambitions and energies. R3306:3

A peace which springs from God's inherent wisdom and power. A peace that coexists with much disorder and trouble.

Peace is defined to be a state of quiet or tranquility, freedom from disturbance or agitation, calmness, repose. R1832:3

Our Lord spoke gracious words, the apostles did not preach fear; we, too, should spread the Gospel of peace, glorifying the Father and blessing our fellow man. R1502:4

It seems peculiar to those asleep in Zion that a man would leave the pastorate of a church, and search from denomination to denomination for truth, but the Lord guides such a one and gives him peace. R1237:6*

Also, our Master said, "My peace I give unto you!" While temptations and "fiery trials" are permitted to develop our character, we are offered peace in our hearts and grace sufficient. NS597:1, NS66:,5

A rest from the worrying cares common to the world, often bringing a measure of health as faith in Christ removes anxiety. HG720:3

Many know an outward peace when all is favorable, yet an inward unrest and unhappiness; but the peace of God can be maintained through outward disturbances, conflicts, and distresses. NS594:4

This peace rules in the hearts of the "brethren"; it is not a transient guest. We must continue to cultivate it, but we leave all to the Master, with hope and sympathy for the world.

NS525:1, NS435:3

"There is no peace unto the wicked," Isa. 48:22. "The wicked are like the troubled sea when it cannot rest, whose waters cast up mire and dirt," Isa.57:20. Neither can the ignorant have the peace of God. NS524:2

Fearsome teachings of eternal torment or esthetic, hollow formalities are offered in churches, so that discontented, nervous, worried congregations know "a famine for the hearing the words of the Lord." NS522:4

"Man cannot live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God." (Matt. 4:4) For this reason, man's prosperity has not brought peace and his more humble, godly ancestors had greater peace. NS521:3

Enjoying God's peace and favor and glorious hopes, the Lord's people will communicate them to all, with zeal in the service of the Lord. NS67:6

This peaceful condition is to be the rule; anything else is to be the exception and more and more the rare exception. NS66:5

Which passeth all understanding -- All human understanding. R5591:3; NS594:5

All worldly understanding. R1652:3

"Which surpasses all conception." (Diaglott) R1046:4*

It is a rest of heart by faith. In this peace lies a satisfaction for all the various qualities of the mind which none can comprehend save those who possess it. R4818:2, R1652:3

Even those who possess the peace can with difficulty understand, fully comprehend the philosophy of it, so contrary is it at times with the outward experiences upon which human peace generally depends. NS594:5, NS24:6

God's dealing with us, and also the love of God, "passeth all understanding." R4972:3

Shall keep -- From worry, anxiety, etc. R3129:1

"Shall guard." (Diaglott) R1046:4*, R3306:3

Your hearts -- Peace promised the Christian is to rule and keep his heart, not applying to its outward life. "In the world ye shall have tribulation" (John 16:33), but in me ye shall have peace (in your hearts). R1652:3

The Lord's people should enjoy the Lord, rest their hearts with contentment on him, study and rejoice in the glorious "things which God hath in reservation for them that love him." NS67:6

And -- The Apostle differentiates between the mind and the heart. The heart represents the affections. Not only should we have good feelings, but our minds should be at rest. R4898:1

Minds -- Thoughts. R3305:6, R3306:3

"Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on thee." (Isa. 26:3) God gives quietness. We have a refuge which none but his own can know. No harm can reach us. R5879:4

This peace stands guard continually to challenge every hostile or worrying thought or fear. It keeps the Christian's mind, so that he at heart has peace with the Lord, fellowship, communion. R3129:1, R4898:4

Through Christ Jesus -- Suggests that, as we entered into this peace through our great Advocate, so we can continue in this peace only by his continuing to be our Advocate.

R4898:4

His worthiness, his sacrifice, his aid. R3129:1

Finally brethren -- This lesson is not specially applicable to any but the most advanced Christians--those who are seeking to perfect holiness. R2891:2; SM256:T, NS638:2
The Apostle sums up this advanced position of grace as the finality or finish of the argument, and of the process of character-development. R2891:3

If the begetting to the new nature, the heavenly nature, is in us, there should be correspondingly an interest in and a longing for the heavenly things, the higher things, the things above. NS638:2

Things are true -- The truth of a thing is but one of the tests to which we should subject every matter. R4827:2, R2891:4

Is this true, or is it false? is the first question to be asked in the consideration of any matter. Love for the truth lies at the very foundation of a righteous life. R4827:2, R3306:5, R2891:3; NS638:3

"Thou desirest truth in the inward parts." (Psa. 51:6)
R3306:5

Whoever sympathizes with falsehood or exaggeration is more or less defiling himself. R3129:2

God's Word of law, prophecy, precept and promise, and the open book of nature. R1703:6; NS638:2

If we be without love for righteousness and truth and without hatred of iniquity, it would be a sure evidence that we were not new creatures at all, that we were not risen with Christ. NS638:3

Excludes: indulgence in visionary and foolish fiction, all idle speculative theories of men, vain philosophies of the creeds of "Christendom," all idle gossip and evil surmisings. R1703:5, R3306:5

Things are honest -- There are many things that are true, yet dishonorable, not worthy of our thoughts--such as the errors, follies, of our neighbors, our brethren. R4827:3, R2891:4

The test of honor is to be applied after the test of truth. The thing might be true, but is it honorable? R3129:2

Honorable, noble. R3129:2, R3306:5

Excludes: all deceit and hypocrisy, all evil scheming and intrigue, thoughts of deliberate plunder, falsehood, evil speaking. R1703:6

Things are just -- That which is just is that which is right. Justice and righteousness are synonymous terms. R4827:3

The Golden Rule is not the rule of love, but of justice. We have no right to do unto others anything that we would not that they should do to us. R4827:3

No one can cultivate justice until he gets some appreciation of what it is. This necessary knowledge is obtained through the Scriptures. R4827:4

The injustices practiced about us and elsewhere should not be the subject of our general thoughts. R4827:4, R2891:5

Things might be true and honorable, yet not be just or equitable to others. Such must not be entertained, but must be repelled. R3306:6

We are to apply this test of justice to every thought and word and act. R3129:2

No vain philosophy of men which suggests another scheme of salvation can claim the attention of those whose habit of thought is just and to whom the divine plan has been revealed. R1704:1

This would discard all unjust weights and balances in estimating the character and motives of our fellow-men. R1703:6

Things are pure -- Not sensual, not selfish. R5908:6; Q643:8

We are to love that which is pure to such an extent that that which is impure will become painful to us, distressing. R4828:2, R3129:3, R1704:1; NS638:3

We should consider, first, the nature of the thoughts; second, their influence upon others. They should not excite others to impurity. R4827:6

We can overcome evil surmisings and evil speaking by purifying the heart, by prayer, and by keeping the mind filled with holy thoughts. R3783:6

Pure body, clean clothing; pure, good society pure literature and art. Vile insinuation, rude jest, unchaste art, are an abomination. R1704:1

The Apostle urges pure love among the saints, and the conduct consistent with trust in God "abhor evil, cleave to the good," "abstain from the appearance of evil," even think on the "pure." R1586:6; NS638:3

Whoever maintains purity of thought will have comparatively little effort in maintaining purity of word and of action. R2891:6

The new creature will disesteem more and more whatsoever things are vile, impure, ignoble, slanderous, and all evil speaking. By our progress along these lines, we may evaluate our resurrection progress. NS638:3

Things are lovely -- Things that are lovable--does it excite lovable influences, or is it identified with hate, resentment, anger, malice? R5908:6, R3306:6, R2891:6; Q643:9
Not only the thoughts relating to the beauties of nature, but also and chiefly the things of character. R4828:1; NS638:2
The loveliness of the perfect character of our God, our Lord Jesus, and the followers of Jesus--the lovely perfections of the truth. R3129:3, R4828:4

Amiable, lovely, lovable, kind, gentle thoughts, not gendering anger, hatred, strife--not vexatious, quarrelsome, vindictive thoughts. R2891:6

In everything that is beautiful, the awakened, quickened soul finds a hint of the grander, nobler things which God hath in reservation for those that love him. NS638:2

Thus our faces will show joy, peace, patience and love. Our spiritual and physical health and strength will prevail more and more. SM338:1

Things of good report -- Not by the world, but by all reputable people, if they knew and understood everything connected with the thought. R5909:1; Q644:T

Implies only things that could be profitable should be entertained, considered, discussed. Frivolous things would be excluded. R3307:1

Things of good repute--the noble words or deeds or sentiments. R3129:3, R3307:1

The world does recognize to a considerable extent a right standard, even though it does not follow that standard. R2892:1

Worthy of praise. R1704:4

This is learning to speak evil of no man, to have no sympathy with slander, backbiting and evil surmisings, to rejoice in the truth. SM372:T; R1938:5; NS638:3

With tender conscience, those who are particular about the spots and wrinkles on their robes love things that are lovely, of good report. SM256:T

Any virtue -- Any value. R3129:3, R5909:1

Any praise -- In any sense praiseworthy. R5909:1, R3129:3; Q644:1

We should not think to praise ourselves nor strive to obtain praise; we should strive to be praiseworthy. We should think about the praise of God. We should note in others praiseworthy elements of character. R4828:4

Think -- Comparatively few, even of educated and scientific people, seem to appreciate the great power of the mind and its potent influence upon all the affairs of our lives. R5908:2

"As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he." (Prov. 23:7)

R5908:5, R4826:3

"In his law doth he (the godly man) meditate day and night."

(Psa. 1:2) R5518:5

"Mine eyes prevent (anticipate) the night watches, that I may meditate in thy Word." (Psa. 119:148) R5518:5

If every mother realized that during the period of gestation her mental moods were blessing or cursing her offspring, how carefully she would guard her reading, companionship, mental reflections! R5251:2

The religion of the Bible is the only one that lifts its standard far above all baseness and demands the highest ideals.

By filling the mind with the divine plan and will, the transforming influence may extend into every avenue of life.

"Be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind." (Rom. 12:2) R2890:3, R3129:3

Our love for mankind will go further than the Golden Rule and take hold upon our thoughts and intents of the heart. The Lord takes notice not merely of the Christians' actions and words, but of his thoughts. OV368:2

On these things -- With which God's anointed are brought into harmony by the purifying influence of the "new heart." E282

To keep our companionship with those in harmony with the new mind, will help us to keep our minds on the pure and noble things. F588

We desire to have in our hearts and minds things that are positively good, helpful, beneficial in some way. R5909:4, R5518:6

Restraint of conduct and of word is difficult unless the mind, the will, be brought into line with the will of God. R5908:5

All who are eager to be in harmony with God will think upon things that are good, pure, holy. R5518:6, R3783:6

Give the message of hope and joy and peace. Draw attention to the blessed privileges, rather than trials and hardships. As God's promises abound in our hearts, we preach the Gospel of hope. R5214:4

As we continue to recognize the commendable things in our lives and in the lives of those about us, we shall become the more God-like. R4828:4

The thoughts must not be neglected and permitted to browse in every pasture, but must be disciplined to feed upon pure and healthful food. R4827:2

Holy thoughts produce holy words. R4805:5, R1938:6

"Out of the abundance of the heart (the mind) the mouth speaketh." (Matt. 12:34) R3307:1, R3305:5

It is one evidence of the possession of the holy spirit when we rejoice in all good things, including God's grace operating in ourselves and in others. R2998:1

In mankind during the Millennium, and in the saints at the present time, noble thoughts have an invigorating influence upon the physical system, and ignoble thoughts germinate seeds of physical disease. R2014:6 to R2015:5

Those who are thinking on these things will speak to each other of the same. R2588:3, R5214:4

And stir up each other's mind with these, not delving into psychic phenomena. R2540:1

We now stand before the bar of judgment, and must daily settle our accounts with the Lord, making sure that no record of idle words stands against us--that we have only spoken words honoring God. R1938:5

As he advised others, Paul's mind dwelled on the heavenly things--his faith took hold of the promises of God with such tenacity that to him they were living realities, inspiring zeal and faithfulness. R1885:5

Not to think of self too highly, but to think soberly, measuring by the divine standards, living apart from and far above the spirit of the world. R1767:2

If the thoughts be impure, unjust or unholy, the power of the will becomes more and more impaired. R1703:3, R4828:4

The Apostles do not ignore or belittle the necessity of knowledge and faith, but they do exalt the importance of holiness of heart and life and thought. R121:5*

Undoubtedly a poisonous effect upon the system is engendered by thinking about sinful or injurious things of any kind. SM338:1

Philippians 4:9

And seen in me -- This should be the standard of every Christian--all are ambassadors for the Lord. R3129:4

Philippians 4:10

Your care of me -- The Apostle labored at tent-making when it was necessary; but he also recognized the Lord's judgment that a laborer in the ministry is worthy of his keep. R2514:2

Hath flourished again -- "Ye have revived your thought for me." Implies their earnestness to serve relaxed for a time. R3129:4

Wherein ye were also careful -- "Ye did indeed take thought, but ye lacked opportunity"--Paul apparently added these words fearful that his previous words might be understood as a reproof. R3129:4

Philippians 4:11

Not that I speak -- Paul was not in want, for he was satisfied that the Father would provide the things which he really needed--and more he did not want. R3129:5

Whatever state I am -- Whatever condition in which duty required him to be. R946:6

To be content -- The example and counsel of the saints should be that of contentment, joyful anticipation, cheerful submission. A341

Not after the manner of the indolent and shiftless, but after using our talents and opportunities to the best of our ability we should be content with the result of such efforts. R3129:5

Even if the results should be the barest necessities of life--if such be the best obtainable from a reasonable and judicious use of opportunities and talents. R3129:5

Philippians 4:12

To be abased -- Be ready to receive humiliations as necessary for your discipline and the proper balancing of your character. If you fret under humiliation, beware; you are not as roundly developed spiritually as you should be. R1920:6

To abound -- If the Lord gives you a little exaltation today, a little encouragement of success in his service, receive it humbly, meekly remembering your own unworthiness and insufficiency apart from God. R1920:6

To suffer need -- Let us learn also how to be in want (need) and yet not to want anything beyond what the Lord sees best to give. R3129:6

Philippians 4:13

I can do all things -- Through consecration and spirit-begetting we can do acceptable works as New Creatures. R5759:2

"This is the victory which overcometh the world, even your faith." (1 John 5:4) R3088:4

God will so fortify and equip those who depend upon his grace--"It is God that girdeth me with strength." (Psa. 18:32)
R2154:3

All the things of verses 11 and 12. R1920:6

It is by the spirit that we can overcome and reach glory.

R160:2*

Our sufficiency is of God's providence--our Advocate is able to succor us, provide ways of escape, strengthen us, give us the "meat in due season," make us strong, remind us of his promises. NS755:5

Through Christ -- His is a power sufficient for us.

R5330:1

Confidence in God and reliance upon his promised grace maintains the desirable humility and meekness, yet gives the courage and force suggested by Paul--"our sufficiency is of God." (2 Cor. 3:5) R5113:6

In proportion as consecration, the full submission of our will to the Father's, is attained--in such proportion we may be used of the Lord as his mouthpieces, his instruments, ready for his service. R4458:5

"Without me, ye can do nothing." (John 15:5)

"All things are yours, for ye are Christ's and Christ is God's."

(1 Cor. 3:23) In the strength of these promises, we receive courage, and enter into the blessings of the Lord. R4064:1

"If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you." (John 15:7)

What we are to do is clearly indicated in the divine Word.

We are not to look for divine aid beyond those limitations.

Our source of strength in battling with the current of life is never to be forgotten. R4005:1

It was the power of Christ that rested on Paul. (2 Cor. 12:9, 10) R1558:5

Through Christ's strength freely given into us for the seeking. R772:5*

It is only by the Spirit that we can overcome and reach glory.

R160:2*

Philippians 4:15

Giving and receiving -- The Apostle gave his entire time to the ministry of the Gospel, and did not request assistance; but he did recognize as the Lord's judgment that any laborer is worthy of his keep. R2514:2

The traveling "Elders" were sometimes supported in part by the voluntary contributions of those previously served with the truth. R1822:4

But ye only -- Apparently other churches missed a great opportunity. R5810:3, R2227:6

Ye sent once and again -- The special assistance from the Philippian brethren is mentioned--twice in Thessalonica, once in Corinth, and now at Rome. R5846:3, R2227:3
Whenever one has special talent for the ministry, others should take pleasure in assisting and thus be reckoned as having a share with him. R2514:2

Philippians 4:17

Not because I desire -- Although Paul urged brethren to send relief to the church at Jerusalem during a period of famine, he would not make a request for personal assistance, however much he may have been in need. R2227:6

Fruit -- A richer spiritual growth. R1486:5, F346

To your account -- Because it will assist in their development, God permits his work to be in such condition that it will have need of all the efforts of those who are truly his. F346

The Apostle was specially sent forth. Others less qualified in this ministry could support him, and thus have a share with him in the fruit of what would then be considered their combined labor. R2514:2

Epaphroditus -- Upon Epaphroditus's recovery from severe illness ("nigh unto death"), Paul sent this faithful brother with this beautiful letter to the church at Philippi. R5810:2

See Phil. 2:25, 27, 30. Epaphroditus was Paul's "companion in labor and fellow soldier," who ministered to Paul's wants. By God's mercy he was restored to health, to continue to serve Paul and the brethren. R3127:2, R2227:6, R5810:2

Sent from you -- Their gifts expressed their love and sympathy and care for Paul's temporal welfare. R1703:2

An odour of a sweet smell -- Our humble efforts are spoken of in this way. NS214:6

Philippians 4:19

God shall supply -- "He careth for you." (1 Pet. 5:7)-- illustrated by the feeding of Elijah by the ravens. R3400:4
When tempted in any line or to any degree, "Let us fly to the Word" for "exceeding great and precious promises" (2 Pet. 1:4) such as this, upon which we may stand. R1802:5*

Your need -- The absolute necessities, not luxuries.
R3400:4

Your ability to present the truth to others in the most effectual manner. R415:5

Philippians 4:22

All the saints salute you -- Even with their limited means of communication, whenever there was opportunity the churches were prompt to send Christian greetings and benedictions. R1895:4

Colossians

Colossians 1

Colossians 1:2

The saints -- A specific class, who have taken two steps of grace: justification from Adamic sin and death, and full consecration "even unto death." R2479:2

Colossians 1:6

In all the world -- Evidently not fulfilled at that time, else the end of the Gospel age should have come at that time. R2518:5

Colossians 1:7

A faithful minister -- Used as endorsement for travelling speakers in 1894. R1721:4

Might be filled -- The truth on every subject necessary for us will be given as the Lord is pleased to reveal it. R5570:4

With the knowledge -- So we will know how to form character and bring forth spiritual fruits; and our spiritual might, received from God, will be the power to bring about our spiritual works. R4093:5*

The treasures of wisdom and knowledge divine which are hidden in Christ and intended for those who come unto the Father through him. NS506:4

In all wisdom -- Christ, "who of God is made unto us wisdom." (1 Cor. 1:30) R2263:2

The acceptance by these (the meek, the poor in spirit) of Christ as their wisdom makes them really wiser than others, not only in spiritual matters, but in respect to the most ordinary affairs of life. R2263:3

Spiritual -- Greek, pneumatikos, understanding--of all matters connected with your new spiritual relationship to God and his plan. E313

Understanding -- The Bible yields its treasures to the consecrated, the studious. R654:4*

Colossians 1:10

Might walk worthy -- Such rightly feel that to serve so good a King is an inestimable privilege: and hence, to them his Word is law, and it becomes their very meat and drink to do his will. R2020:1

Colossians 1:11

Patience -- Greek, makrothunia, long-suffering. R2790:6

Colossians 1:12

Made us meet -- Fit. R5072:5; OV201:T; NS19:2

Worthy. R942:2

By voluntary and willing endurance on account of the Lord and his Word and people. E121

These sons of God whom he is now receiving must be tested in respect to their humility--their submissiveness to the divine will. R5252:6

The call of this Gospel age is to select the Bride class and to develop them, with the proper tests, chiseling and polishing. R5097:1, 5482:1

In proportion as we learn to appreciate the Father's will and to copy the principles underlying the divine character, we are "changed" in our hearts, minds, wills, conduct. R5072:5

Whoever seeks for the heavenly things must plant, or set out in his mind, in his affections, those qualities and graces which the Lord marks out as essential to the development of character. R4828:5

Each should see that he has not received the grace of God in vain, and that this well-spring does not become choked with the rubbish of this world, its aims, hopes, ambitions, pride, desires of the flesh. R2508:6
If we submit ourselves to him, he will perfect in us his spirit of love, righteousness and holiness. R4664:4

Let us humbly and patiently seek to profit by all the discipline and teaching necessary. R1842:4

Reckoned so of God. R1340:4

If we prove our earnestness, and love and zeal for God and his truth. R1007:1

Christ is teaching us about God's character and plan for our admonition, that we might be prepared for our glorious inheritance. OV424:2

He is bringing us to that condition of heart and character which he can approve as worthy of life eternal. SM746:T

By putting away the fruits of sin and darkness, and by an appreciation and stamping on our thoughts, words and deeds the characteristics of divinity. NS621:6

Let us not be surprised that we need chiseling and polishing. NS604:5

Self-sacrificing serves to develop faith, obedience, gentleness, love. NS19:2

To be partakers -- A positive decision to join oneself to the Lord and become a follower of Jesus is essential to proper Christian progress and to an inheritance with the saints under the terms of the Gospel age.

R5614:6

Prepared for the glory, honor, immortality and the divine nature which God has promised to his faithful, elect Church. R5252:6 Let the Lord's people edify one another, building one another up in the faith, encouraging one another, helping one another to put on the wedding garment and to be meet for the inheritance of the saints. R2707:6

Of the inheritance -- Joint-heirship with Christ. R1340:2

The glorious hope set before the consecrated saints of the Gospel dispensation. R1598:2

Reckoned as having passed from death unto life, to which they will be actually received in the first resurrection. SM166:T

Colossians 1:13

The power of darkness -- Original. R875:6*

With something of earthly loss as a consequence. D620

We who were at one time in darkness are now enlightened by the Lord. R2712:2

The power of Satan is the power of ignorance, superstition, sin and death. R1340:1, 1233:3

Under which is the rest of the world. SM242:T

Translated us -- Lifted over, by faith. R1340:1

During this life by enduring trial and temptation. R1149:2*

Men may be translated or changed from one condition to another. R167:4*

Into the kingdom -- In its embryonic state. F594

All who will have a share in the Kingdom must be copies of God's dear Son.

R4198:6

"Pre-Millennialists" believe the majority of mankind will not be benefitted by it. R3074:5

Those who heartily submit to the authority of Christ are said to have been translated into the Kingdom. R32:3*

It should constitute the very center and essence of our expressions of faith and hope and trust. NS268:6

His dear Son -- "The only begotten of the Father." (John 1:14) R944:4*

Colossians 1:14

In whom -- We are baptized into Christ. HG251:4*

God honored his Son by making him his instrument or agent for the accomplishment of all his grand designs. HG297:2

We have redemption -- Greek, apolutrosis, deliverance. E434, 436

Not through his example, but "through his blood." R1810:4*

The ransom. R687:5

Through his blood -- Redemptive blood. Also explained by Matt. 20:28.

R1336:2

In shedding of blood Christ made atonement for the sins of the world.

R1299:1

Which became the basis for the forgiveness of our sins, made peace for us, opened the way of reconciliation, and transferred us back to the family of God. R1230:3

Basis of our reconciliation. R1058:6

"Being now justified by his blood, we shall be saved from wrath through him." (Rom. 5:8,9) Compare also Eph. 1:7. R866:4

Could only be justly accomplished by a ransom--therefore, Jesus' blood.

R324:5

The doctrine, forgiveness of sins through his blood, is the one on which all our faith and hopes as Christians is built. R94:4

Forgiveness of sins -- All his grace is extended to us through our Lord Jesus' sacrifice; we are "justified freely by his grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus." (Rom. 3:24) E461

Through faith in his blood. R1231:2

Through faith in his blood. R1231:2

If we are not forgiven, we cannot approach God as "our Father." R94:4

The death of Jesus cleanseth us from all sin. (1 John 1:17) R93:6

Evidence of the complete forgiveness of all those who are truly repentant and who draw nigh to God through Christ. Q832:4

Colossians 1:15

Who is the image -- Leader and chief of the other stars of the morning.

R1686:2

We see the Bride "made like him." (1 John 3:2) R1210:6

He only asked to be restored to what he was before; but the Father "highly exalted him" far beyond that previous glory. R1161:5

The express image of the invisible God. R361:6

"As we have borne the image of the earthly, we shall also bear the image of the heavenly." (1 Cor. 15:49) R41:3*

To us. R1340:5

Invisible God -- The Heavenly Father had no beginning, but is from everlasting to everlasting the same. R1514:6

Clearly implying that as soon as creatures are born of the Spirit, they, too, become invisible. R237:1*

Firstborn -- The only direct creation of the Father. R5992:6, 4107:2, 1599:1, 1278:3

As the Logos, "the beginning of the creation of God." (Rev. 3:14) F18; R5972:3, 1642:1, 1609:3, 1247:2, 1125:3; SM659:T The "Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end, the first and the last," of the Father's direct creation. (Rev. 22:13) R5748:1, 4098:1, 1599:1

The very beginning of the divine operation was the Logos. R5351:3

After God created the One Great Being, he rested. All his power has since been exercised through the Lord Jesus. R5239:1

He did all the great work of creation; but he himself was the first of all God's direct creation. R4964:3

Jesus was simply what he claimed to be, the Son, the sent of God, the only begotten of the Father, the firstborn of all creation. R2773:3

Literally, "First brought forth of all creation." R1904:5

That our Lord Jesus existed prior to his incarnation, in a more exalted nature and condition, is clearly stated in the Scriptures. R1673:3

The great Messiah was with the Father before the beginning of creation. R1583:1; SM483:2

He was not only the first of God's creation, but the last. R1514:6; HG297:1

The one who had known God's character longer, more fully, and more intimately than any other being. R1125:3

Born before all creation. R1060:4, 446:5

Chief. R803:1

Does not support Trinitarian dogma. R560:3*

The Unitarians deny that he had an existence before the conception in Mary. R505:2*

Who afterward became the man, Jesus. R421:3, 338:2

Jesus in his pre-human condition. PD54/67

The Psalmist refers to him as Jehovah's "firstborn, higher than the kings of earth." (Psalm 89:27) SM491:3

Jesus was the one first created. HG292:3

This agrees with John 1:1-3, that his career dates from the beginning.

NS257:1; Q374:6

The Only Begotten appears not to have thought particularly of the promised glory. NS438:6

Not in accord with the theory that Jesus began his existence as the Son of Joseph. OV328:8

He precedes all things. Q746:3

Of every creature -- Of all creation. E86; R1063:5

"Every," from a Greek word meaning "all." R838:3

By him -- All things are the Church's, for they are Christ's and Christ is God's, who created all things by and for his well-beloved Son. R1617:4

His agent in the creation of all things. R1266:1

This great being, Jehovah's Prime Minister and next to himself in dignity, the Almighty entrusted with the work of redeeming and restoring mankind.

R1125:3

The plan and all things were formed not only by him, but for him. R21:4

All things created -- The first and only begotten Son of Jehovah was given an exclusive place, so that "all things were made by him, and without him was not anything made that was made." (John 1:3) R5351:6, 2985:2

Thus highly did the Father honor him as his agent in all the creative work, both as respects angels, cherubim and men. R5351:6

Invisible -- To us. R1063:4* Principalities, or powers -- Jehovah is the head of Christ, but he has honored him by making him head of all principalities and powers. R1550:1

Created by him -- These words are not in accord with the theory that Jesus began his existence the same as others. R5767:6

Our Lord was the honored agent of Jehovah in all his mighty works. R1247:2

The only begotten. R2431:3

And by him -- Agrees with John 1:1. R2985:2

By him were all things created that are in heaven or that are in earth.

(John 1:3) R2431:3, 1247:2; HG297:1

As Jehovah's agent. R490:2

Colossians 1:18

And -- He is also the first to partake of the divine nature. R446:5*

He is the head -- The new creation is represented as a man of full stature. F362

Our Redeemer was raised up first to be Head. R4354:4

Christ (Head and Body) is the Mediator of the New Covenant. R2709:2

The first; the principal one. R2479:2

He is the first to partake of the divine nature. R446:5

Jesus never gave this office to any one, but claims it himself; and any others who claim it are usurpers. R320:4

The only controlling authority for those who are members of that Body is the will of Christ Jesus the Head. R132:3

He opens the way and himself is our Leader. R89:4

Jesus is the Head over the seed that will bruise Satan. R11:3

As man is head of the woman. HG99:3

Jesus alone would have been a grand antitype of Moses without the association of any of his faithful ones, but it pleased the Father to have it otherwise. NS142:1

The Body and Head must cooperate, are intended to cooperate, must be together in every respect. NS341:3

Of the body -- "Our inglorious body," as viewed by the world. R827:6

At great cost, Paul sought membership in that Body; he was anxious to be "found in him." (Phil. 3:9) R827:6

If we have been baptized into Christ, it is that we may be members of his Body, the Church; it follows that the only controlling authority for us is the will of Jesus Christ the Head. R132:3

The church -- Prepared for joint-heirship with him in his Kingdom. R2479:2

Who is the beginning -- Of the new creation. R5580:4

The firstborn -- Greek, gennao, born (also begotten), relates to the entire process of bringing forth (spirit-begotten, then spirit birth).

R5580:1

As our Lord was born from the dead a spirit being, he must have been previously begotten of the spirit, as birth is always preceded by begetting. R5580:4

Jesus was begotten of the spirit at consecration, and three and a half years later, in his resurrection, he was born of the spirit. R4544:2

Since then the members are being raised up from the world, separated from the world to the Lord and the Millennial work. R4354:4

"The firstborn amongst many brethren." (Rom. 8:29) R3912:2, 3793:3, 2618:5, 2573:1, 2422:2

Jesus was the first to be raised completely out of death's power (resurrected), to perfection of life, of being, on any plane of existence.

R3912:2, 3563:4; HG136:2; NS284:3

Therefore Moses and Elias could not have literally been on the Mount of Transfiguration; it was a vision. R3793:3

Our birth will be in the first resurrection. R2630:1

"The first-fruits." (1 Cor. 15:20) R2467:3, 2461:3, 2288:6

At his resurrection. R2422:2

The first one fully and perfectly released from death. R810:4

It was his birth to a new nature. CR401:4

If we are faithful and become members of his Body, in the resurrection we shall reach the glorious condition of birth. HG132:5, 229:4; NS101:3

From the dead -- The birth of the new creature is in the resurrection. A197

As the resurrection of our Lord was his birth from the dead to the full perfection of spiritual being, so the resurrection of the Church is here and elsewhere referred to as a birth. B134

Lazarus and others who were raised to a measure of life only, did not experience a resurrection; it is never so called in Scripture. R413:3

Christ, at his resurrection, entered on the higher life and work of the second Adam, as the life-giving spirit. R42:2*

The preeminence -- "God hath put all things under his feet, and gave him to be head over all things to the Church, which is his body." (Eph. 1:22)

A82

He had already had preeminence and having used it faithfully, he was first in order of advancement to whatever higher honors and dignities the Father had to give. F64

The honor of being the first that should rise from the dead. F676

Not preeminence over the Father, but above all others. R5418:4

Lord of all; the first place. R4964:3

Christ is to be enthroned in our hearts preeminent over all things. R2986:3

In all of Jehovah's creative work on every plane, the Logos had preference. R2408:3

In his life, death, resurrection, the process of development from the lower to the higher, from the natural to the spiritual, he is the Forerunner of his saints; the Head. R89:4

Colossians 1:19

In him -- In Christ the Spirit of God dwelt richly and without measure. R2064:2

All that God does is through Christ, as Mediator, and all that Christ does is by the power of the Father given him. R27:2*

He is the word, the truth, the personal embodiment of all that is good and true, and emphatically the revelation of God. R9:3*

Should all fulness dwell -- In the sense that he should have complete authority--not merely over man, but over all things--both heavenly and earthly. R4665:1

Fullness here means unlimited or complete power. R1063:6*

Colossians 1:20

Having made peace -- Propitiation--satisfaction. R1680:4

The death of Christ was necessary as the payment of the penalty before any could be pardoned, granted liberty to become sons, or be resurrected.

R1392:4

Through the blood of his cross -- It was necessary for proving our Lord's faithfulness unto death, whereby he was demonstrated to be the right one to accomplish all these things. R4665:4

Redemptive blood--death. R1336:2

So it was by his death on the cross, in the shedding of his precious blood, that Christ made atonement for the sins of the world, and through it men obtain forgiveness and salvation. R1299:1

His blood became the basis for the forgiveness of our sins, made peace for us, opened up the way to reconciliation, and transferred us from the domain of sentenced culprits, back to sonship in the family of God. R1230:3

It was because the penalty of our sin was death that "he became obedient unto death, even the death of the cross," that we might be forgiven.

(Phil. 2:8) R94:1

To reconcile all things unto himself -- Jehovah has entrusted all to Christ to set right, as if to say, "Now you attend to this whole matter, putting down all insurrection wherever it is; see that no rebellion is left; bring everything into subjection, so that there will be peace and order throughout my entire domain." R4665:4

Jesus is appointed to establish peace and righteousness throughout the universe. NS823:3

Things in earth -- Earthly transgressors. E424; HG729:2

Things in heaven -- Fallen angels. E424; HG729:2

We do not understand this passage to intimate, in any sense of the word, that "the blood of the cross" had anything to do with the salvation of the angels. R4665:1

Colossians 1:21

You -- Have been reconciled by Jesus' death. R37:1

Sometime alienated -- It is reasonable that God's friends, adopted into his family as children, should be blessed, while others, aliens, strangers, foreigners, are not. R2760:3

Enemies -- By reason of ignorance and the fall, they were violators of the divine law. R4516:5

Some who had become saints had been liars and abominable persons. R4341:3

Many of the children of Adam today have attained marked characteristics of goat nature (enemies of God through wicked works), because they have been deceived by Satan. R2707:2

Wicked works -- A former condition of alienation; under condemnation of death. R5431:3

Reconciled -- God was not reconciled by permitting his mercy to overrule his justice, thus excusing sin, but by providing Christ as the sinner's substitute. R37:2
Atonement. R37:2

Colossians 1:22

Body of his flesh -- Human nature. R611:2
Christ, the Priest, sacrificed the flesh. R106:5*
No one can stand in his own strength. R90:1

Through death -- The reconciliation is complete, from God's standpoint, ever since Christ made reconciliation for iniquity in his death. The alienation of man has yet to be removed. R37:2

To present you -- The Church will need Christ continually as their Advocate, down to the very last, when he shall present them blameless and unreprieveable before the Father in love. R5120:4

If they would maintain Christ as their Advocate, all who are of his Church must also be advocating his cause amongst men, not ashamed of him, his doctrine or his words. R5120:4

They will not be fully and actually presented until the Son shall have cleansed and perfected them. R1713:5

Yet in the fullest sense God will not recognize us as sons until our Lord shall present us actually perfect before the Father in the end of the Gospel age. R916:4

Unreprieveable in his sight -- In the image of God's Son. E395

Before the Father in love; at the end of the Gospel age. R5120:4

As long as our hopes, aims, objects of life are centered in heavenly things, we need not fear; the Lord will keep us from falling. R2480:2

After all willful sinners have been destroyed, all the remainder will Jesus present before the Father, perfect and unreprieveable. R1601:5

Colossians 1:23

Continue in the faith -- The faith of the Church should not stand in the wisdom (the vain philosophies) of men, but in the power of God. R1719:6

Settled -- Settled convictions of truth, so rooted and grounded in God's Word that we cannot be moved therefrom--a condition of uncertainty is not a condition of faith. R1218:4

Not moved away -- And so pander the popular craving for something new. R1719:6

The Apostle guards the Church against the Adversary's beguilements, by which he would have them "move away" their faith-building from the true foundation. R652:1

Hope of the gospel -- Not man-made substitutes for it. R2692:2

It is not some general hope, but this particular hope--the one comprising the specified elements. R1435:2*

Which was preached to every creature -- The expectation that the world was to be converted by missionary effort, before the Lord's second advent, was a mistake. R2872:1

There is no longer any restriction of it to the Jews. R5101:1, 2518:6
Whoever has an ear to hear. Q287:2

Colossians 1:24

Who now rejoice -- St. Paul counted it all joy to have tribulation, knowing that it would work out the fruits of the holy Spirit in his character, and thus prepare him for the Kingdom. R5951:5 Instead of Paul saying to himself or others, "I am doing more than my share of the gospel work; some of you should come and help me," he took another view. He declared himself anxious to fill up as much as possible that which was behind of the afflictions of Christ. R5951:5

In my sufferings -- "Joint-heirs, if so be that we suffer with him."
(Rom. 8:17) E146; F632; R5079:4, 2787:2, 2511:1

We, his "brethren" are privileged to fill up a measure of his sufferings, as "members of his Body." T42

Paul desired to be a participator with the Lord in the present sufferings in order that he might also be a participator with him in the coming glories. R5951:5

Ignorance and blindness of heart and mind are at the bottom of all the sufferings of Christ until the Body has filled up that which is behind of the sufferings of their Head. R5872:2

"If we suffer, we shall also reign with him." (2 Tim. 2:12) R5392:1, 5192:6, 5079:3, 2787:2

The suffering which we bring on ourselves through faithfulness to our covenant. These experiences are not for Adam's sake. R5117:4

Remembering Christ's headship, caring and interest in even the weak and humble, we would improve the opportunity to suffer with him and the fellow members of the Body, assisting in bearing their burdens. R2824:2

Give thanks that we are counted worthy to suffer some of the reproaches of Christ. R2782:1

The glory shall follow the completion of the sufferings. R2373:5

Jesus' act of handing the cup to the disciples, and asking them to drink of it, was an invitation to them to become partakers of his sufferings. R2272:2, 1637:2

While the Church is still in the flesh, the sufferings of Christ in the flesh are still in progress, and will not be finished until the last member has been glorified. R2201:2

Surely the Bible gives no suggestion that the Body will be free from like sufferings with the Head. R2000:3

When all the sufferings of Christ (Head and Body) are ended, then will flow forth streams of water of life, and whosoever will may drink freely and live forever. R334:4

The Gospel age is an age of suffering, beginning with the personal sufferings of Christ and not being complete until we, as members of his Body, have filled up what is behind. R157:2

For you -- Christ's sufferings and self-denials were not for his own sins, but for the sins of others, and so it is with the members of his Body. E234

And fill up -- We tender ourselves to the Lord, and he, as God's High Priest, offers us up as a part of his own sacrifice. Ev
It is part of our covenant. F466; NS78:5

We are privileged to enter the same covenant of sacrifice which Jesus entered. R5690:5, 218:4

An invitation offered to the Church who are now qualifying to be members of the Royal Priesthood in the work of blessing and uplifting mankind. R5079:4

Christ's parousia had begun, even though this is not finished. R4543:3

God foreknew the share he had provided for the Church. R4495:6

When the last member of the Body of Christ shall have suffered with the Lord, the Gospel age will close and the antitypical Atonement Day will end. R4397:3

Laying down our lives in his service, for the brethren. R3526:5

By presenting their bodies living sacrifices. (Rom.12:1) R3318:6; NS475:1

Ye shall die like Prince Jesus, in sacrifice. (Psalm 82:6,7) R3175:3

Christ must needs suffer and enter into his glory as the Melchizedek

Priest; and his faithful followers must walk in his steps. R3115:5; SM144:T

The world must wait to be benefitted by Christ's death until this is finished. R3088:6

As representatives of Christ in the flesh. R2924:2

By being obedient "even unto death." R2778:1

As a member of the Body of Christ; a new creature. R2908:4, 2434:5, 2373:5

The members of the Body of Christ must finish their course and lay down their lives, before the great work of this Atonement Day, the Gospel age, will be accomplished. R2511:1

There is a part of the sin-offering that is waiting to be finished for the Church to fill up. R2474:6

As with Christ, so with the members of the Body, it is part of the divine plan that it must needs be that offenses come. R2469:4

It is our blessed privilege to comfort one another, in the trials incident to our "filling up that which is behind of the afflictions of Christ."

R2448:6

This has been in progress throughout the Gospel age; Jesus was crucified by the forces of evil, yielding himself up a sin-offering; and the members of his Body are suffering with him. R2434:5

This is our mission. R2415:4

While our sacrifice is not part of the ransom price, it is on behalf of the dead and dying world. R1987:1

Sharing now the reproaches of them that reproached him. R1911:3

Thus, now, the consecrated, espoused ones while in the flesh represent Christ in the flesh; and in their daily sacrifices they are filling up that which is behind. R1387:1

To share with Jesus in making the sacrifice for sins, being first ourselves justified through his sacrifice. R648:6

Jesus' asking the disciples to drink of his cup was an invitation to become partakers of his sufferings. R540:4, 467:1

Effect of Satan's reign on the saints. R492:3

We eat of our Lamb with the bitter trials and afflictions of evil in the present age. R467:4

The reason the Gospel age intervenes between the death of Jesus and the blessing of the world. R283:2

Completing the work of the head "for the people"--the world. R150:2

As the sacrifice of the goat filled up the sacrifice of atonement and sin-offering in the type, so our Head, having suffered, left some little (compared to his) suffering to be shared by us as his Body. R80:4

Though at times it might be grievous. R28:1*

Whatever Christ suffered for was what Paul wanted to share; Jesus died as a sin-offering. Q676:3

One of the invitations offered to the Church who are now qualifying to be members of the Royal Priesthood. Q376:3

If the Church clearly kept before her mind in the present life the glorious things which God hath in reservation, how she would rejoice to share in his sacrifice. CR39:3

The agreement is that if we suffer with him, not differently, or something else, we shall reign with him. CR49:4

The experiences of the consecrated have been their communion, their fellowship in the blood of Christ. NS298:2

The great High Priest accepts us as members of his Body, and counts our suffering for righteousness sake as part of his own sufferings. NS421:4

Reasonable service. NS501:1

By sacrificing earthly interests and rights and, being accepted of the Father, finishing his share in the sacrifice of Christ. NS698:1

Our Lord began the sacrificing and, in accepting believers as his members, it is on condition that they will be sacrificed. NS716:6

By participating with Christ in the work of sealing the New Covenant. NS289:5

Experience the baptism of his will, his heart, into death with Christ and be inducted into membership in his Church. NS53:4

That which is behind -- As the goat filled up that which was behind of the sin-offering, completing the sacrifice begun by the bullock, so does the Little Flock, following after Jesus. T66; R4475:5, 1871:6, 729:6

The Church, as well as their Captain, should be made perfect as spiritual beings, by suffering in the flesh as sin-offerings. T80

Paul declared himself willing and anxious to fill up as much as possible of that which was behind of the afflictions of Christ. R5951:5

Being accepted by the imputation of Christ's merit, we enter into the same covenant of sacrifice as Jesus. R5690:5

Thus, suffering with him in this present time, they will shortly be glorified with him in his Kingdom. R4832:5

The participation of the Church in the sin-offering for the world is not due to any necessity that has arisen, but owing merely to the divine arrangement. R4747:6

Where the sufferings of Christ, the Head, ended, the sufferings of the "Body of Christ" began. R4710:5

This shows the participation of all the members in the Body of Christ in the suffering of our Head. R4475:4

Jesus is now imputing of his merit to a small class, so that they may be acceptable to the Father, and have the privilege of participating in his sufferings. R4747:2

Whatever was the divine program for the Master is the divine program for his members. R4398:5

From this standpoint the first advent of Christ--in the flesh--has been a gradual one, covering a period of nearly nineteen centuries. R3192:6

In the daily sacrifices of the espoused ones who, in the flesh, represent Christ. R1387:1

The work will progress among the people of the world after all the members of the "Body" have filled up that which is behind of the afflictions of Christ. R1364:2

To be "saved" is to have all the desires of the flesh (proper as well as sinful) under subjection, and laid daily on God's altar, that we may fill up that which is behind in the sufferings of Christ. R1151:4*

Most clearly shown in the Day of Atonement sacrifices of Leviticus 9 and 16. R514:1

With Christ, the Bride bears a cross here, and when every member of that Body is made "a living sacrifice," then the atonement sacrifice will be finished. R252:6

As the goat followed the bullock in the sacrifice, does not the Church follow her Head? R245:3

Adam and Eve were one in the transgression; Jesus Christ and his Bride are one in the redemption of the world. R150:2

Soon the Body will have finished its work. R147:3

As the sacrifice of the goat filled up the sacrifice of the atonement and sin-offering in the type, so our Head, having suffered, left some little to be shared by his Body. R80:4

If we suffer with him, we shall also reign with him. (Rom. 8:17; Col. 3:4) SM783:1

The flesh of the consecrated having been counted as the flesh of Jesus, has been suffering all down the age. SM360:3

Of the afflictions -- Self-sacrifice, self-denial, cross-bearing. R4434:3

The Church shares not only her Lord's sufferings for righteousness, but is also promised a share in all the glories of her Lord. (1 Pet. 5:9) E42

One must have experienced baptism of will and heart into death with Christ and thus been inducted into membership in his Church, which is "filling up that which is behind of the afflictions of Christ." F446

If we desire this privilege, we must present our bodies living sacrifices, as he presented his. R5392:1

The privilege of sharing the Lord's cup is not for the world; all opportunity to share in his sufferings and glory will have ended when the Church is glorified. R5342:3, 2201:2

Since our Lord adopts the flesh of his followers as his, the Church is said to be filling up that which is behind of the afflictions of Christ. R5173:4

With those who are to be exalted to the divine nature and glory, it is necessary that they make special manifestations of loyalty, of self-abasement and of self-sacrifice. R5147:4 Since he must suffer, the just for the unjust, so his members, being justified through faith, must similarly suffer, the just for the unjust. R4352:6

When all of those afflictions shall have been filled up, the glorious work of the Millennial age will follow. R4310:2

When the sufferings of Christ are ended, the glory will follow. R3683:3, 2373:5, 1364:2

Those antitypical sufferings occupy the entire Gospel age. R3318:6

Very shortly now, under the sounding of the Seventh Trumpet, the atonement for the sins of the world shall be proclaimed with a full emancipation proclamation to all people. R3115:4

When persecutions come in the line of duty, we are to esteem them as part of the cup, giving thanks to be counted worthy to suffer. R2782:1

The Body as well as the Head must be subjected to the discipline of suffering and thereby be proved worthy to reign with him. R1988:2

The sufferings of Christ, to a share in which all believers cleansed by his blood were invited during the Gospel age, will soon be filled up or completed. R1231:4

By sharing the communion of the blood and body of Christ. R611:6

Sharers in sufferings of Christ and not in any other kind of suffering; laying down our lives in showing our loyalty for the brethren. Q10:2

Whoever gets a large share of the afflictions and sufferings of Christ is going to have a large share in the glory that shall follow. CR172:5

The Head or Chief Priest and the underpriests delight to so do. NS625:2

Of Christ -- Because God has accepted you through Christ, your sufferings are counted as a part of his sufferings. Q678:T

We must present our bodies living sacrifices as he presented his. R5392:1

Our physical infirmities which are of heredity are not the sufferings of Christ. Rather we should speak of the sufferings of Christ as being voluntary and not involuntary. R5117:4

"Buried with him by baptism into death." (Rom. 6:4) F446

"Dead with Christ." (Rom. 6:8) "Made conformable to his death." (Phil. 3:10) C239

The Church with their Head is the "one loaf" being broken during the Gospel age. R5192:5

Because God has accepted you through Christ, your sufferings are counted as part of his sufferings. Q678:T

We fall like one of the princes--like the second Adam, as members of the Body of Christ. C239

In my flesh -- Our Lord adopts the flesh of his followers as his. Ev; R5173:4

As the consecrating of the antitypical priesthood requires the Gospel age to complete, so also the sin-offering: it commenced with the Head, and the members of his Body fill up the measure of the sufferings left behind. (2 Cor. 1:7) T50

For his body's sake -- "We ought also to lay down our lives for the brethren." (1 John 3:16) F633; R4492:2, 4128:5, 2824:2; NS254:4

The Heavenly Father purposed not to have Jesus alone, but that he should be the Head of the Church, the Body. R5391:6

The measure of our love for the Lord will be indicated by our love for the fellow-members of his Body. F468

The High Priest, after offering his own sacrifice was to "offer the offering of the people [the goat], and make an atonement for them [all Israel] as Jehovah commanded." T80

For the Body of Christ; we are serving the Church, not the world. R3586:3; Q11:T

Who have taken up their cross to follow in the footprints of the crucified One--the Body of Christ. R1964:3

Legitimate children of God can be identified by their sacrificing for all who love and serve the truth. R985:4

Note Paul's anxiety to be "found in him" (Phil. 3:9), and at what cost he sought membership in that "Body," and the superior or chief resurrection it will enjoy. R827:6

To the Church, Jesus is called the Head. The Head suffered first, then the Body follows--"considers him" and his example. R218:4

All united to him through faith and consecration. NS210:5

Evidence that we pass from death unto life is that we love the brethren. NS79:4

Which is the church -- Jesus was the Head and Forerunner of the Christian Church, which is his Body, consequently none preceded him as members of the Church. B202

Whose names are written, not on earthly scrolls, but in heaven. R1309:2

Which represents him. R1171:6

Jesus did not lay down his life day by day in the service of the world, but in the service of God's peculiar people, Israel, and especially of those who were Israelites indeed. R4492:3; Q676:3

Jesus applied his earthly life rights on behalf of the Church. They will then pass through the Church to Israel and through them to the world.

Q676:4

Jesus laid down his life for the Church. Q677:T

There is but one true Church; other organizations called churches are not so recognized by God. R1102:6

In the most restricted sense, it is those who fulfill their covenant and accomplish the sacrifice. R581:5

Colossians 1:25

According to the dispensation of God -- Pushed to the front as the Lord's mouthpiece to the Gentiles, St. Paul's mind grasped more quickly than did the minds of the other apostles the things pertaining to the new dispensation. R5941:6

Given to me for you -- Paul perceived that the Gentiles were to be fellow-heirs with the Jews in the Kingdom privileges. R5941:6

Even the mystery -- Who the Deliverer of mankind should be. A77
That the Messiah was to be, not an individual, but a company under one Head. A82; R5549:2; HG275:1, 274:6; SM246

God's plan a secret until the due time for revealing it should come.
R5391:3

The Church is not a supplemental and additional part of the divine plan.
R5054:6

That God was in Christ reconciling the world unto himself. R4841:3
During this Gospel age, a saintly Little Flock would be selected from amongst men to be Messiah's Bride and joint-heir with him in his Messianic reign. R4715:2; CR460:4

Revealed only to the saints and hidden from all others. R4452:5, 4053:6;
CR46:1

That the Gentiles also were to be fellow-heirs with the Jews in these special blessings of Messiah. R4366:6

The Church, selected from both Jews and Gentiles to be the Body of Christ, are joint-heirs with him in the Abrahamic Covenant and in his entire inheritance. R4310:1

Participation with Christ in his sufferings, and by and by in his glory.
R3152:6

An exceedingly precious favor not before made known. R875:5
It will not be finished until the end of this Gospel age, under the sounding of the Seventh Trumpet. R368:3

We have a society in which nobody can give away its secrets--the mystery of God. CR52:3

Neither Abraham, nor any for four thousand years, knew anything about a spiritual seed. CR98:6

Messiah would first make use of his "restitution" authority for the gathering of a special class of people, "a holy nation, a peculiar people, a Royal Priesthood." OV251:2

It is the divine purpose to have two Israels--both of them specified in the promise to Abraham. OV71:4

The divine program included a Christ of many members. OV28:13

That Jesus should be the Head or High Priest and that God would draw out and sanctify, through Jesus' sacrifice, an under-priesthood. NS625:2

Comparatively few who have named the name of Christ have any knowledge of it. NS624:5

Hid from ages -- As God covered the type and hid its beauty under curtains and rough, unsightly skins, so the glories and beauties of spiritual things are seen only by those who enter the "Royal Priesthood."
T127

The arrangement for our having part in the sacrifice of atonement was a part of our Father's command or original plan. T80

When God had through the prophets spoken of Messiah as a King upon his throne, he had declared that which would be mysterious to the people--would not be easily understood. R5391:3

The due time for revealing to the Church the divine plan respecting its participation with Christ in the blessing of all the families of the earth having come. R2490:2

To be made clearly known. R2070:1, 368:2

God has kept his plans covered and hidden from the world and has revealed them only gradually to his Church. R368:3

From generations -- From all previous ages, and is still hidden from all except a special class. A81

Greek, genea, people living contemporaneously, as in "This generation shall not pass." (Matt. 24:34) D603

Dispensations. R5549:2, 4715:1, 4334:3, 4310:1, 4053:6, 4034:5, 2490:2

But now -- The due time for revealing to the Church the divine plan.
R5391:3, 2490:2

Since Pentecost. R368:2, 179:4

In this "good-news" age. R179:4*

Is made manifest -- Began to be clearly revealed after the resurrection of Christ. A77

The time for the holy Spirit to reveal to the Church what had previously been a mystery. R5391:3

The Gospel age is to be seen as a parenthesis. R4646:3

Revealed. R4492:1, 4310:1, 368:3

The Gospel invitation was entirely a new proposition. CR98:6

To his saints -- Us. R4841:3

His Church, the holy ones taught of God. R4452:5

And none others; and if the saintliness be lost, the understanding of the mystery undoubtedly goes with it. R4334:3

To his Church. R368:3

In proportion as they are saintly. OV5:2
His people, but not for the world nor for the merely nominal Christian.
CR10:4

It is proper that the saints should know this, for now the strength of this knowledge will be of special value to them in the special trials and difficulties immediately before them. SM246

Colossians 1:27

Would make known -- When the Body of Christ is complete, the mystery will be finished in both senses; the secret features of God's plan will be made known, and the Church will be complete. A87

God had purposely kept his plan a secret until the due time for revealing
it should come. R5391:3

God during this period will finish the mystery by letting his saints come to a full appreciation of his glorious plans. R368:6

This mystery -- The secret. R5391:3,6

That the Gospel age has been devoted to the development of the Mediator.
R5300:5

Share with him in present sufferings and future glories. R4495:5, 4415:3, 3152:6

That the Lord is now seeking for and electing a special class to be joint-heirs with his Son--joint-sufferers with him in his sacrifice and joint-sharers in his Kingdom glory. R4398:2

Those accepted by the Lord are sacrificed by him as parts or members of himself; and their blood (death) is counted in as a part of the blood of Christ. R4397:6

The call of the Body of Christ to another plane of being as the associates of the great Messiah. R4388:5

To the nominal Christian. R4334:4

That Christ is the elect class; Jesus, the Head and the Church, his Body.
R4034:6; OV77:4; CR460:3

Until its fulfillment began. R902:6*

Began in our Head--Jesus--and is being added to by every true member of the vine or Body whose names are written in heaven. R368:6

The Lord's saints constitute the most exclusive and most secret society on earth. CR11:4

This election or selection of the saints of this Gospel age as the spiritual seed of Abraham. OV77:4

Among the Gentiles -- Paul perceived that the Gentiles were to be fellow-heirs with the Jew in the Kingdom privileges. R5941:6

Christ in you -- The word "Christ" signifies "anointed." "The anointing which we have received abideth in us." (1 John 2:27) "Now he which stablisheth us with you in Christ and hath anointed us is God." (2 Cor.
1:21) A81; R4841:6

The spirit of God in Christ, and the spirit of Christ in us--God manifested in the flesh. A87

The anointing which we have received. R5229:4, 368:6

Christ signifies anointed. All members of the Royal Priesthood will be anointed collectively. R5227:3, 368:6

The Church. R4647:5

You are his "members," and this is the only ground for your hope. R4535:5, 1273:3

By the begetting of the holy Spirit. R4415:3

The "hidden mystery" is "Christ in you, the hope of glory." (Col. 1:27) R4334:3

The overcomers of the Church. R3916:3

All the members of Christ are counted as one. R3710:4

Is Christ formed in you so fully that no one else can, however much they grieve you, affect your spiritual life? R3251:1 Not that Christ personally comes into the consecrated soul and uses that soul simply as a machine. R3251:1

The new nature. R237:2*

If Christ be not formed in you, then indeed is your hope vain, no matter how much truth or how many advantages you may possess. R1273:3

The spirit of truth manifested in the Church is Christ's representative. R160:2*

The blessings and favors thus conferred upon us no man can take from us, and they shall continue to have fellowship in this mystery. NS400:3

God's plan includes first of all the selection of the Church. NS295:6

The hope of glory -- "We know that when he shall appear, we shall be like him." (1 John 3:2) A211

Honor, dignity, brightness, shining. R5229:1

Above that of angels, principalities and powers, next to that of the Lord. R5229:4

To this Christ, God has promised glory, honor and immortality, the divine nature. R4841:6

Your membership in the Body of Christ. R4495:5

It is not some general hope, but this particular one--the hope comprising the specified elements. R1435:2*

The only hope of success. R160:2*

Colossians 1:28

Warning every man -- To take heed not to accept any theory that does not prove itself from God's Word. R1223:1

To be very certain that his heart is entirely emptied of self-will. R1223:1

While hoping and believing the number of willing rejectors will be small. R883:4

Every man perfect -- Whose names are written, not on earthly scrolls, but in heaven. R1309:2

Colossians 2

Colossians 2:1

At Laodicea -- Colossians 2:1-8 forms an appropriate message for the Laodiceans--the Lord's children still in the "spewed out" nominal church. R494:5

Colossians 2:2

Hearts might be comforted -- By the mystery or secret of the Lord, intended for his people, but not for the world, nor for the merely nominal Christian. CR10:4; NS398:5

Knit together in love -- Members of the Body cheerfully contribute that which would be for the growth and perfection of the whole. R449:2*

The mystery of God -- The Church. R5928:1

Not only is the message itself called a mystery, but the Church class, the Little Flock, now being selected from the world, is Scripturally designated "the mystery of God." CR11:3

Colossians 2:3

In whom -- Christ as God's Anointed. R5557:3

We must come into Christ, as members of his Body by sacrifice, before finding any of the hidden treasures. R2762:5

Treasures -- Yea, I count all things but loss for the excellency of the knowledge of (the treasure hid in) Christ. (Phil. 3:8) R1756:6

Wisdom and knowledge -- Knowledge of divine good things in reservation, and the fellowship with God which permits us to enjoy those blessings in a measure now. R2762:5

Colossians 2:6

As ye have therefore received -- It is important to receive his message in our minds, and to appreciate his love and what he has done for us. CR99:3

Christ Jesus the Lord -- With the understanding that Jesus is Christ's representative as the Redeemer of the race of Adam and the Deliverer of mankind from the power of sin and death. R5557:3

The robe of Christ's righteousness. R1008:2

So walk ye in him -- Make a full and definite consecration to him. CR99:3
The path that leads to glory, honor and immortality. R5557:3

Continue in Jesus. Do not combine earthly philosophy with the heavenly message. R5557:3

The great test of our Lord Jesus was his loyalty to the Father's will. The various tests permitted to come upon the Church of God will be tests of heart loyalty. R4647:1

Obedience to the Lord in thought as well as in deed means overcoming selfish propensities. The fight is against the old nature with its perverted tastes, appetites, and will. R4647:1

Colossians 2:7

Rooted and built up in him -- Roots of faith push down deep into the knowledge of the divine plan, while the tree of character grows higher, developing and maturing rich fruits of the holy Spirit. R5557:6

The rooting process is unseen and can only be judged by its outward manifestations. And so the spiritual life of the child of God will manifest itself by the fruitage that is borne. R5558:3

Paul urged all to examine and prove themselves, whether they were in the faith, grounded and settled, and not moved away from the hope of the Gospel. (Col. 1:23) R1719:6

Trees also need sunshine and rain to develop fruits of holy Spirit. R5558:2

Any endeavor to incorporate theories of men with God's plan will result in spiritual death. R5558:1

A tree that is well rooted is hard to uproot; it has a wonderful strength. R5557:6

Stablished in the faith -- So established in the promises of God, that no wind of doctrine could overturn his faith. R5557:6

Present truth. R1536:4

As ye have been taught -- By us, the apostles. R3215:3

Colossians 2:8

Beware -- The divinely inspired words of warning are very explicit, instructing us all to be ever on the watch that we be not caught in any snare of the Adversary. R1661:6*

Any man -- The wisdom of men as compared with the wisdom of God. SM19:1

Through philosophy -- The Lord would have us cautious, careful and watchful of all the deceptions and dangers that beset our day. R1670:6

Wisdom of earthly science. HG470:5

Greek philosophy and science falsely so called. R2611:3

Not to waste valuable time in investigating "the errors of the wicked." (2 Peter 3:17) R3215:3

The tradition of men -- Which have come down to us from the Dark Ages. NS368:6

Errors, the doctrines of demons. NS301:3

Plato taught the theory of human immortality. SM19:1

Not only was Jesus displeased with the observance of the traditions of men, but the Apostle to the Gentiles strongly warned his converts to beware of the same, among other injurious things. R1011:5*

Colossians 2:9

In him -- Christ. R249:1

All that God does is through Christ, as Mediator, and all that Christ does is by the power of the Father given him. R27:2*

He is the word, the truth, the personal embodiment of all that is good and true, and emphatically the revelation of God. R9:3*

Dwelleth all the fulness -- He represents to us the very fullness of every divine provision for our eternal welfare. R5927:6; HG593:1

The Spirit of God dwelt richly and without measure. R2064:3

Dwelleth all the completeness of the divine nature in a body. R249:1

Godhead -- A meaningless word, and merely a bad translation. It should be rendered divinity or deity. R1515:4; E71

Fullness of the divine nature (Rotherham); so that the new seed was sown in a natural body (earthen vessel); and raised in a spiritual body. (1 Cor. 15:44) R340:6*

Colossians 2:10

Ye -- Believers in the Lord Jesus Christ, and thus accepted with the Father through the Beloved One. R2671:5

Invited to become under-priests, sharers both of the sufferings, and also later on, if faithful sharers of the glories of Jesus, the Chief Priest of this order. R2671:5

Complete in him -- "Not having spot, or wrinkle, or any such thing." (Eph. 5:27) R2587:6

Christ's merit gives us association and cooperation with him; gives us weight and influence and power for God and his cause. "Accepted in the Beloved." (Eph. 1:6) HG387:3; R3149:4

"Without me ye can do nothing." (John 15:5) R5902:2

The head of all principality and power -- A statement of the glory of our Lord Jesus' Kingdom given him by the Father. E79:2

Although Jehovah is the Head of Christ, he delights to honor his Son, making him, in turn, Head. R1550:1

Buried with him -- With Christ. HG248:2*; NS326:3

Death to self will, earthly hopes, aims and prospects. R5063:5

Thus baptism is placed in contrast with the ceremonies of the Law. R1540:3

Our earthly nature has been given up, deprived of life, and is taken without the camp to be destroyed, while our new nature is within the first veil as members of the High Priest's Body. R154:3

Baptism -- We Christians apply to ourselves the baptism of Rom. 6:3-5. R1542:2

Not only does the Greek word signify to bury, immerse, or cover, but the connected Scripture narrative of itself, without the particular strictness of the Greek word used, would imply that the baptism was one of immersion and not of sprinkling. R1541:2

Baptism was not a feature of the Law Covenant; hence it was not at all a part of that which our Lord ended and cancelled at the cross. R1540:1

Wherein -- Even if Jews formerly under the Law Covenant. R1540:2

Risen with him -- We are counted as new creatures the moment of consecration, and the new creature arises from the old dead creature, so that the resurrection or raising up begins, and progresses in proportion as the new creature grows. Q588:3

Through the faith of the operation of God -- God does not count Christians in the flesh, but in the spirit through faith. R237:1*

Who hath raised him -- Hence no agency of man, nor even of the angel Gabriel, was permitted in the work of our Lord's resurrection. No agencies great or small were employed. R1005:4

God the Father raised him. (Gal.1:1; Acts. 2:24, 32; 3:15; 4:10; 10:40; 13:30, 34; 17:31; Rom. 4:24; 8:11; 1 Cor. 6:14; 15:15; 2 Cor. 4:14; Eph. 1:20; 1 Thess. 1:10; Heb. 13:20; 1 Pet. 1:21) R2795:2

Quickened -- Made alive, resurrected. NS326:3

The flesh is not the new creature, but the old, which is reckoned dead, and is also reckoned alive as revived or quickened. R5197:4

We are begotten of the holy Spirit at the time we give our all to the Lord. By and by comes the next step, namely, quickening, which means to make alive. The begetting is the beginning of life, but the quickening comes a little later when there has been some development. CR2:1

After you had presented your body a living sacrifice, and God had accepted that sacrifice, and given you the holy Spirit, then came the time, perhaps longer for some and shorter for others, when you began to be active; you were quickened, you were energized. CR2:1

The energy that you manifest on behalf of righteousness and truth, on behalf of the service of the Lord, and the service of the brethren, is part of the quickening. CR2:2

Our quickened flesh, by the grace of God, is represented as pure, desirable in his sight, and in proper condition for the marriage, the union with Christ. R5197:4

When that quickening comes in, you will not only see it, but your neighbors will see it and your friends will see it; it will manifest itself. CR2:3

If you are never quickened, if you are never energized, if you never come to the moment where you have such a desire to serve the Lord as will lead you to do with your might what you have opportunity to do--if you do not reach that point, you will be "still born"; it will be an abortion. CR2:2

Having forgiven you all trespasses -- Those believers who had been Gentiles were pardoned fully and freely from all condemnation. R1734:6, 975:1

Blotting out -- Christ blotted out the written Law. R1734:6

Handwriting of ordinances -- Or decrees of the Jewish Law. R1527:3

Originally written dogmas of the Law. R974:4

Still over the Jews, and they are still obligatory. Q176:2 Baptism is not one of the ordinances. R1540:1,2

Against us -- Condemning us to death. R1205:5

Which was found to be only unto death. (Rom. 7:10) R1527:3

Unfavorable, disadvantageous to the Jew. R1540:1

Against all Israel. R5047:2, 4505:4, 1767:3, 1734:6, 1729:6, 975:1

To us -- Those who have accepted Christ. Q176:2

To those in Christ there is no law on the subject of the Sabbath except that of love. R543:4

Took it out of the way -- Admitting Gentiles to favor. R4341:2

The covenant the Jews could not keep was fulfilled by our Lord and passed away. R1231:2

All these typical Law Sabbaths ceased, at or before the death of Jesus, who made an end of the Law which commanded the types. R314:6

Christ blotted out the written Law. R975:1

By the vicarious sacrifice of Christ Jesus. R1527:2

This signifies, not that the Law Covenant was abrogated or done away, but that so far as the Jews who had accepted Christ were concerned, the demands of all of the Law's ordinances were fully met for them by the Lord Jesus when he was nailed to the cross. R4505:4

Nailing it to his cross -- The Law Covenant did not pass away until Christ "nailed it to his cross." R4013:3, 3831:4, 3752:6, 2121:5, 314:6; B85; NS362:1; Q135:2

The Mosaic Law ceased when Christ died. R3843:2, 1454:1

But not the divine law of the Universe, forbidding sin.

That law has been over men and angels and all others of God's intelligent creatures since they came into existence, and it will never cease. R1724:6

The Ten Commandments were not nailed to the cross. Q134:1

Colossians 2:15

Spoiled principalities -- Having stripped away from the original Law all obscurities. R1734:6

And powers -- The Law's authorities. R1734:6

Made a shew of them openly -- This spoiling of principalities he openly showed in his resurrection. R669:2

Made a public illustration of them (the Law and its authorities) in his life of obedience to them. R1734:6, 975:1

Triumphing over them in it -- In obedience unto death, even the death of the cross. R1734:6, 975:1

Let no man -- Because our Lord has made both you Gentiles and us Jews free. R1734:6

Therefore -- Many Christians seem to be mixing the Jewish Covenant with the Christian. Many feel a heart-condemnation with respect to Sunday as the sabbath because they rarely live up to the requirements of the Law for that day. R2119:3

The new creation is not under the Law, but under grace. F382

We are to appreciate and guard our liberty in Christ. R974:4

The Mosaic Law Covenant, with all its forms and ceremonies has passed away: no one is longer under its dominion. R1499:2

Judge you -- All who are in Christ have liberty with respect to the festivals, new moons and sabbaths of the Law. R975:1

If anyone presumes to judge another in these matters, he is violating a direct command of the Lord. Q824:T

An holyday -- The Law's sacred days, its times and seasons. R598:6

Typical of spiritual truths belonging to the Gospel age. F228

The Apostle was not anxious to use his liberty except as between the Lord and himself. R2118:6

New moons and Sabbaths surely would prove no hindrance to Christians in any physical flight in winter. (Contrasting Matt. 24:20-22) D579

Sabbath -- The Christian, free from the Law, esteemed every day alike. R1557:3

The fourth commandment in the Law given by Moses was that this day of rest shall be kept holy unto the Lord. R1499:4

This term "sabbath" signified rest. R1499:4

We observe this day as a law of the land, and with rejoicing and thankfulness for so favorable a time for worship and study. But we do not keep it for a Jewish Sabbath. R812:1*

The spiritual Israelite, while he is free from the Law, nevertheless rejoices in and should avail himself of any arrangements favorable to his spiritual resting, Sabbath-keeping. R2534:5

Cannot mean some of those yearly occasions also called sabbaths, for Paul had already included these under the words, "holy days." HG582:1*

Colossians 2:17

A shadow -- Or picture. Q746:1

Or reflection of the things future as the moon's light is the reflection of the rays of the sun. R5420:2

The Jewish holy days and sabbaths were merely shadows. R404:2, 310:3

The Jewish sabbath is typical of some higher blessing. R1499:4

The Tabernacle, as well as the whole nation of Israel, its laws, its religious services and ceremonies. T11

Things to come -- The antitypes will be laden with blessings for mankind. B173

The substance, or antitypes, of which appertain to the anointed. R1734:6

Body -- Substance. F382

Of Christ -- Head and Body. R1734:6

Colossians 2:18

Of your reward -- The prize. R4547:2

In a voluntary humility -- Without reason submitting to. R4547:2

Many think it is a mark of humility to discard reason and blindly follow others. R496:6*

Worshipping of angels -- Reverencing as messengers of truth those who thus far have given no evidence of teaching ability, in that God never sent you any message through them. R4547:2

The temptation to man-worshipping will come insidiously, craftily, and not by brazen demands for reverence. R2080:1

Vainly puffed up -- They fail to hold the headship of the Lord and the membership of the Church as his Body. R4547:2

Colossians 2:19

Not holding the Head -- By quietly submitting to and doing reverence to those who usurp the Lord's place in his Body. R3613:2

By exalting ourselves, usurping our Lord's place in the Church, ignoring his words and arrangements, and being puffed up as his servants. R3613:2

Such who lose sight of their personal unworthiness and seem to see something wonderful in their own little self-denials. C278

The poorest, weakest and most insignificant of the Body is, in the Lord's estimation, better qualified to teach than one who vaunteth and puffeth up himself and affects to take in the Church the position of the Head. R3613:4

Recognition of Christ as not only the Redeemer from sin, but as the Head, representative, guide, instructor, and preserver of the Body, is essential to each member of it. F120

And render him supreme reverence and obedience. R1571:4
Acknowledge in every thought and doctrine the pre-eminence of our Redeemer. R1386:4
Jesus. R2461, 247:6
Peter, in his love for the Master, and intoxicated somewhat by the honors bestowed upon him already, undertook to be the teacher--"not holding the Head" in proper reverence. R3790:2
The body -- The membership of the Church. R4547:2
Having nourishment -- Eating of the living bread and drinking of the cup. R4547:2
Increase of God -- In grace and knowledge. R247:6

Colossians 2:20

Ye -- Gentile converts. R5047:2, 1729:6
Be dead with Christ -- Self, with its own selfishness, or depraved desires, is reckoned dead. R1861:3
"For if we be dead with him, we shall also live with him." (2 Tim. 2:11)
R80:3
Thus Jesus and his Church are being presented during the Gospel age before God on the altar--the Head was laid there first, and since, all who are "dead with him." R73:2
We are not reckoned in the flesh, because we have crucified the flesh. R192:2*
Self with its own selfishness, or depraved desires, should be reckoned dead. D476
Only such could possibly have right to be at the great banquet. R4525:5

Colossians 2:21

Touch not; taste not; handle not -- The unclean thing. R127:3*

Colossians 3

Colossians 3:1

If -- I hope then that as you consider this text, you will say to yourself, "Where does the if come in my case?" CR3:2
Ye -- A special class, a peculiar people, a Little Flock, some who have been called out of the world. CR173:1
The class begotten of the holy Spirit. CR173:2
Risen with Christ -- We could not rise with Christ unless we be first dead with him. CR173:3

The resurrection of the Church begins in the present life with believers, who in their minds rise in newness of life into Christ. R5440:5, 5354:1, 3132:3 We are not risen with Christ as yet, except by faith, and shall not be until we pass beyond the veil into the antitypical Sarah's tent.

R4490:4*

None of us could have such a transformation of character except as we should receive the begetting of the holy Spirit, the Spirit of Christ.

NS670:3

The new creature, the new will, acting in and through these mortal bodies, is declared figuratively to be risen with Christ and living for, seeking, those things which are above. F487

The Apostle is not speaking of the future resurrection. He is speaking of the figurative resurrection which the Lord's consecrated people experience in the present time. R3203:3 Many eyes of understanding have been opened, deaf ears have been unstopped, morally halt and lame have been cured, many have been raised from the dead (reckonedly). R3756:5

Our hopes, aims are linked with the resurrection of Jesus, and our endeavor is to live dead to the world's interests, alive toward the spiritual interests, heavenly promises through Jesus Christ. NS325:3

As the Apostle suggests we are risen to walk in newness of life--our resurrection is already begun. R5440:5, 3132:3

The inward man is renewed day by day. NS637:6

The Apostle is addressing the class that is buried with Christ by baptism in death--figuratively, reckonedly, their hearts given up, their wills given up. CR1:1

We are begotten of the holy Spirit at the time we give our all to the Lord. CR2:1

Ask yourself, "Am I risen with Christ?"

Not in the actual resurrection--am I risen now in the same sense that I am dead now? According to the will of the flesh I am dead." CR2:5

New creatures. R5325:3, 5089:2, 3132:4, 2479:5, 914:2

The risen Body of Christ is invisible to mortals. R237:1

Seek those things which are above -- Seek chiefly the Kingdom of God, to make our calling and election sure to participation with our Lord in the Kingdom honors and glories to which he has already attained as a reward for his faithful sacrifice. R2479:5

To seek to have a share in them, to avail ourselves of the glorious opportunity and invitation to become sharers in his throne. CR174:4

By seeking to follow the example and precepts of their Lord. NS235:1

Not merely in prayer. R2479:5

From begetting of the holy Spirit, the Christian begins the resurrected life. His "change" to a spirit body at the second coming is dependent upon the maintenance of this resurrected life. NS637:6

Seek the higher things, the things that are not of sin. CR3:2

Colossians 3:2

Set -- This word indicates continually setting. Q158:4

Implies a repeated setting, as though the affection might slip from the heavenly things or had already done so. NS638:6

More than ever at this time. R5062:6

For your citizenship is in heaven. NS102:1

Each who finds the spirit of worldliness growing upon him should feel that he is losing ground, should seek afresh to set his affections on things above and to grow in grace. R3203:2

Your affection -- Keep setting your affections, and if they slip off a thousand times a day, set them back a thousand times, and by and by they will begin to stick to the heavenly things better. CR5:3

The word of Christ has entered into our hearts. Our minds, aims, ambitions--everything--are being transformed, are being set on heavenly things. (Rom. 12:2) OV429:4

At the opening of a New Year we afresh set our affections, expecting trials not to have the effect of discouraging us, weakening our faith, but to increase our love, trust, devotion, zeal, conformity to Jesus. NS448:2

On things above -- God intends not that his people have heart-satisfaction in anyone earthly, but that loyalty to him make us realize our responsibility, that in him we may find the companionship, joy and peace all crave. R5248:6

Those who do so become correspondingly heavenly, spiritual, blessed, generous. R4567:2

The things of earth are all blemished, have lost their attractiveness to those who have a knowledge and appreciation of the better glories. They have the eye of faith to see things before not discernable. NS451:2

We are to strive to have our minds pure, to cast out everything sympathetic with sin. We are not to permit ourselves to ruminate on what is sinful. R573:1

If you have wealth, beautiful things, wonderful arrangements and comforts of an earthly kind, they draw the heart more in that direction, and it is all the more difficult to leave them. CR5:3

Would signify so loose a handling of worldly riches as would hinder the accumulation or preservation of great wealth. R4567:2

Set them on the very highest things, the high things that are spiritual. R5889:5

Even husbands and wives should not set their affections too much upon each other. R5906:2

Heaven is to be our eternal home; all the precious promises center there. R5906:6

Heavenly promises. R5859:3

Reckoned as though they were in another land. CR1:1

Not on -- There should be a natural love for husband, wife, children, parents; and the Lord would have this continue, but in full subjection to the heavenly things. God should be first. R5906:6

Whoever sets his affections upon earthly treasures will become sordid, selfish, earthly. R4567:2

Things on the earth -- We are, so far as possible, to cut off every earthly tie. CR174:4

There are many things on this earth that are attractive, that are beautiful; but we need not set our hearts upon them. R5906:

We have certain impulses of affection, certain powers that go out toward other creatures; and it is very important that we see where they are tending, otherwise they will lead to idolatry. R5906:3

We should not reckon our earthly relationships as being the highest and best of all things. R5906:3

Colossians 3:3

Ye -- The Church of Christ. Q760:2

The new creature. Q411:1

Are dead -- As a human being. R914:6

There is no you. You are out of the question. Q389

From the divine viewpoint, so far as the earthly existence is concerned, reckoned dead. Q760:2; CR1:1

These are the "dead who die in the Lord"--dying daily in the Lord's service, and in the service of the truth. (Rev. 14:13; 1 Cor. 15:31) See also Rom. 6:8; Col. 2:23. Q764:4

The only condition upon which we are accepted of the Lord is a full surrender of our wills. And this surrender of the will is reckoned as the death of the old will. Q679:3

The new will conquers; and self, with its own selfishness, or depraved desires, is reckoned dead. R1861:3

This death, this burial, is our baptism into Christ's death. F436

The old creature is counted dead, and God looks at you that way. CR454:2

It was not the new creature that died, but the old creature. R5325:3

So that we are dead to ourselves, dead to the world and all of its ambitions. To us all things have become new. CR6:4

You have died to yourself, died to the world, died to the flesh, died to sin, died to everything of the earthly kind. CR1:2

These are reckoned as though they were in another land; as though they were not living in the world; as if the new nature had already commenced. CR1:1

Speaking of our death to sin. R180:5*

Deadness to earthly things. R2480:2

When the sacrifice of those who are of the consecrated class is accepted of the Lord, then it is true of this class, "Ye are dead." R4865:1

As men. R154:4

Our flesh, which is reckoned justified fully and freely through faith in Christ and consecration, is considered dead. R4656:1

The old body is dead because it has been devoted to God in connection with the sin-offering. R5101:3

Your life is hid -- Our vitality, which by fellowship with Christ in sacrifice has become hid with Christ in God's design. R875:6

Not manifest to all, nor upon all occasions to any. R4829:1, 2480:1

From the time of begetting onward. R180:5*

We have not the life in ourselves, nor in any sense separate and apart from our glorious Lord. NS336:2

Men can kill the body but no man can take from us the right to live.

In divine power and promise. R3028:4

As associate members of his Body. R1264:1*

They are reckoned as having risen to newness of life in Christ. CR1:1

Represented by our endeavors to follow the new will of Christ. R2480:2

So long as our hopes and aims and objects of life are centered in the heavenly things. R2480:2

Now, in God's promises. R1077:4

Bury past experiences and let them remain hidden from sight forever. Q613:4

At present, like all other New Covenant favors, the life is possessed by faith and hope only. R1179:4

This new life that you have with all its new hopes and new prospects and new ambitions, is all centered in Christ. It is a life of faith. R4829:1, 4865:1

Which the world can neither see nor appreciate. R2480:1

With Christ -- The Anointed One. R914:6

It is "with Christ" in the sense that God's plan is being accomplished through Christ, who ransomed and justifies all. R666:6

Thus every suggestion of God's gift is bound up similarly in Christ; only as we become united to him, related to him, can we have this gift of God, this unspeakable gift. NS516:2

To have your life hid with Christ in God implies that you have that absolute trust in God that he has provided the Redeemer in Christ, and that all of the promises of God's Word will be fulfilled in him. CR6:3

The germ of life through which man shall be restored to being (whether of earthly or heavenly nature) is "hid with Christ in God." R666:6

As underpriests. CR407:6

It is then "Christ in you" that is the only actuating or controlling principle. R80:1

In God -- It is "in God," in the sense that it is decreed in God's plan and possible through God's power. R666:6

Colossians 3:4

Christ, who is our life -- The Scriptural testimony points in every instance to the second advent of Christ and to the resurrection as first, the hope of the Church, the new creation, and second, the hope of the world. F664

He must raise us from the dead before we can have eternal life. CR321:3

If we suffer with him, we shall also be glorified together. Then shall the righteous shine forth as the sun in the kingdom of their Father. (Rom. 8:17; 2 Tim 2:11, 12; Matt. 13:43) A86

The delay of the Kingdom's coming was for the purpose of selecting a Bride for Christ. CR268:5

Shall appear -- Shall be manifested. R914:6, 616:1*

Then -- Then, the Church shall in reality be a glorious body, a body suitable in every way for the high position she shall fill as the Bride of Christ--the companion of the Son of God for all eternity. R1102:3

His members must be completed before he will officially take his position as the King of the world. Ciii

Ye -- Overcomers. R1669:3

The Church, the sheep of the present age. R4784:6

The Bride class. R4693:1

Also appear -- The gathering of the saints to Christ must precede their coming or appearing with him. R206:6

For this glorious appearing of the divine sons and heirs of God the groaning of creation must wait. R616:2*

This appearing or revealing will be to the world. R5008:2

Immanuel's epiphania, revealing, showing forth. R5523:1

In glory -- We shall be glorified together if we suffer with him as his members. R4398:4

And the purpose of that glorious appearing, and that Kingdom, will be not for the injury of mankind, but for the blessing of the whole world. CR269:2

We know that Christ could not come in the glory of his Kingdom (Church) until he has first gathered it from the world. R579:5, 263:2, 19:2

Our vile body shall be made like unto his glorious body. R2064:5

It is the divine nature which our Lord has that he has been privileged to give to his followers. R4155:1

The Lord's Kingdom will not be fully manifested until the Church is with her Lord in glory. R5567:1

Is Christ to come in glory?

We also shall appear with him in glory. R30:6*

Note Paul's anxiety to be "found in him" (Phil. 3:7-11), and at what cost he sought membership in that "body," and the superior or chief resurrection it will enjoy. R827:6

The apostles did not expect glory at death, but at the second coming of Christ. HG334:3

The New Testament clearly locates the appearing in glory after the resurrection of the saints. R56:2*

As the whole Christ has thus been manifest and has suffered in the flesh, so they shall also be "glorified together" before the world. T84

The Church will be with him in his throne. SM224:2

It should be noted that when the Lord occupies his throne, the Church reigns with him. HG336:5

At his second advent. R2958:6, 1102:3

The revelation of our Lord's glory is not another coming, but another step or development during the same coming or presence (parousia). R2303:6

As foreshadowed by the transfiguration. (Matt. 17:1-9) R32:6

It is after the sacrificing is all finished and the Church glorified that he comes forth the second time unto salvation, saving and blessing all the people. R5655:6 The epiphania or apokalupsis of the Lord in power and great glory is not to the Church nor for the Church, but to the world and for the world. R4543:6

To the world. R5399:5

"It doth not yet appear what we shall be: but we know that, when he shall appear, we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is." (1 John 3:2)

R1881:6, 98:5*; NS338:4; HG334:3

Mortify -- Deaden, kill. R5486:5, 2336:3

Put to death. R1214:6, 112:4

Surrender your human will to death, that you may have no will of your own. SM632:2

Grapple with every organ of our mortal bodies and not only to render them dead to sin, but to quicken and encourage them with the holy Spirit of the new creature. SM632:2

All our mortal members are to be dead to everything except the new mind, which is to use them in the service of God, Christ, the brethren, and the truth and, as opportunity may afford, in the service of humanity. SM632:3

Flesh insists that things are not wrong, but natural, that its rights should be conserved, and sometimes insists that the new creature would commit a crime in mortifying the flesh, with its affections, desires.

R5248:3

The Lord's followers have to some extent lost the esteem of their friends and neighbors; they have been counted as the offscouring of the earth.

The putting away of sin. R1594:3

The purity of the Church demanded that the transgressor (1 Cor. 5:5) be dealt with rigorously; and his own future depended upon whether or not the animal nature which was ruling him should be put to death. (Rom. 8:13)

R1699:1,2, 1698:1

Your members -- Your fleshly mind. R5486:5

Kill the old man. R4349:3

Your mental members, your depraved tendencies. R2336:6

Those members on the earth. R1214:6

These evil members must be lopped off, else they will choke the life of Christ commenced, and prevent your entrance into that everlasting life and render you a vessel fitted to destruction. R112:5

Uncleanness -- Impurity. R1214:6, 914:6

It means anything that is not pure, not chaste, not holy, not clean. R2480:3

Inordinate affection -- Passion and inordinate lust. R1214:6

Evil concupiscence -- Evil desires. R4070:6, 1857:6, 1214:6, 914:6

In "View From the Watch Tower," ecclesiastics warn of loss of moral virtues among coming dangers. R2768:2

Covetousness -- Covetousness is an inordinate desire, whether for wealth or luxuries or what-not. R2459:5, 1214:6

Greed. R4070:6, 1857:6

Covetousness and Jezebel's methods adapted to today, prevail much more generally than the majority of people suppose, and chiefly among the very rich who covet their neighbors' stocks, bonds, gold, silver, etc. R4742:1

One of the most crying evils of our day. It is causing more heartaches and trouble of every kind, perhaps, than any other sin. R4742:4

Sharp practices in business, selling commodities below cost, interfering with another's credit at the bank, slandering. R4741:6

Money loving. R914:6

The covetous person is a mammon-worshipper. R2459:5

Not applicable only to the wealthy. R2459:5

"Ye cannot serve God and mammon." (Matt. 6:24) R3047:4, 2459:5, 1836:1

Is idolatry -- The Apostle designates covetousness as idolatry, which gives us the thought of false worship. R2459:5

Idol worship. R1214:6 The sin of covetousness, the worship of mammon, the idolatry of money, is the great sin of "Christendom," the antitype of fleshly Israel. R1836:1

Colossians 3:6

Children of disobedience -- Disobedience is a cause of failure among the Great Company. R4079:4

Colossians 3:8

Ye -- Those who have put on Christ. R2688:6

Put off -- All Christians should know that the Scriptures direct that their minds should be transformed. SM336:1

Less than one percent of the millions in Christianity would make any claim to be Christians seeking to cultivate the spirit of meekness, gentleness, patience, long-suffering, brotherly kindness, love. The great majority manifest the reverse spirit. SM128:3

A Christian is no longer a slave of sin, controlled by the desires and weaknesses of his fallen flesh and its spirit of the world, bearing fruits unto unrighteousness. R2444:6

Special testings along these lines are now permitted. R4521:3

Fiery trials are now on the Church, of faith and practice. R4521:3

Put these away as you would put away a contagious thing. CR447:2

All these -- These things more or less attach to you. R5756:3

Works of the flesh and of the devil. R5756:3

The Apostle has really taken into his list nearly all the weaknesses of the flesh which beset those who have become "new creatures in Christ." R4829:2

The works of unholiness, the works of the flesh and the devil. NS603:2

Anger -- The Greek word used is orge, the same exactly as used in reference to the "wrath" of Jehovah, and the "anger" of Jesus. We, as imperfect in judgment, are admonished to leave it for him who cannot err. R787:4

Malice -- Old leaven. R2283:4

Blasphemy -- Evil-speaking, slander. R4829:2, 1214:6

Evil-speaking. It has seemed too as though some who profess relationship to Christ do even more of petty evil-speaking, slandering and busybodying than do the worldly who make no profession whatever. NS714:2

Busybodying--thinking and talking about the private affairs of others, with which we have no direct concern--leads to evil speaking and backbiting, and engenders anger, malice, hatred, strife, etc. F585

Filthy communication -- Vile words. R1214:6

Impurity of language and falsehood in its every form. R4829:2

If all evil and impure language were avoided, what a wonderful world this would be! R4829:3

Put away all filthiness of the flesh and of the spirit (mind), perfecting holiness in the reverence of the Lord. (2 Cor. 7:1) R2390:5

Colossians 3:9

Lie not one to another -- All our conduct with our fellow-men should be characterized by sincerity and truth. R1594:3

Do not speak falsely. R1214:6

Neither falsely misrepresent the teachings of another nor our own. Let us be thoroughly honest, beginning with honesty in our own religion, allowing this quality of faithfulness to pervade all life. NS446:2

Not only of having good intentions in the heart, but also of expressing those good intentions truthfully one to another, without deception, without hypocrisy. R4829:3, 2481:2

Put off -- We have put off the old man, the natural, fallen man, with his privileges as the successor of Adam, in the same sense that we put off the old will and have received a new mind in Christ. R5221:1

Putting out, as illustrated in Congress. One party which has been in control is to be superseded by the other party. R4894:3

Old man -- Or outward man. R2231:6

The old nature. R1214:6

The old will is reckoned dead at the time of our consecration. R5103:4

The old will; he is to be dead. Q605:T

The human will, which once dominated the being. R5685:3 New creatures have an old man, an outward man, that is perishing, and a new man, inward man, a hidden man of the heart, who is being renewed day by day. (2 Cor. 4:16; Eph. 4:23,24; 1 Pet. 3:4) F675

All the justified and consecrated, notwithstanding their imperfections and short-comings through inherited weaknesses, are acceptable to God through Christ, whose robe of righteousness amply covers us. R1295:6

The old defilements. R1214:3

With his deeds -- With his practices. R1214:6

Put on the new man -- The new character. R1214:3

The new nature. R1215:1

The inward man or hidden man of the heart, who is being renewed day by day. R2231:6

The renewed mind or begotten life. R191:6

The old nature is repudiated, and is no longer to control the life of the individual. The new will is now master--a will to do God's will. R5685:3

It means the laying on the altar of our every power, every ability, strength, time, pocket book, and influence. R5686:1

Renewed in knowledge -- Or refreshed, built up, made strong. R4894:6

Knowledge is the basis of faith and obedience. R5686:1

It shows us the Lord's character that we are to imitate. R5686:2

As we have come into Christ, we have an increase of knowledge, coming to a clearer knowledge of the new will in proportion as we seek to put down the old man, to be directed by the holy Spirit. R5221:4 Our knowledge is increased in proportion as we give heed to the things which God has spoken; in proportion as we set our affections on things above and not on things on the earth. R4895:1

Colossians 3:11

Christ is all, and in all -- Those who accept Christ are all one in Christ Jesus. R3043:1

Colossians 3:12

Put on -- This is needful if we would stand complete in the will of God.
R1781:5, 1273:2

Such should put off the old estimate of things, put on a new one which would recognize members of the elect, not according to nationality nor denomination, but recognize all in Christ as being the elect. F191
Those who receive the holy Spirit feel the love of God shed abroad in their hearts producing in them love of the brethren and all the good fruits of the Spirit. R2456:1

Bowels of mercies -- A heart of compassion. R3586:4

A disposition of largeness and generosity of heart toward everybody and everything. R4829:4

Kindness -- Kindness toward all. R4829:4

Humbleness of mind -- The reverse of boastfulness, headiness, arrogance.
R4829:4

Humility. R3586:4

Meekness -- Gentleness of disposition. R4829:4

Longsuffering -- Greek, makrothunia, means merely long-suffering. R2790:6
Patient endurance with the faults and weaknesses of others. R4829:4

Forbearing one another -- We should exercise a spirit of forbearance and of forgiveness toward the erring. R1594:3

Colossians 3:13

Forgiving -- The Greek word karazomai signifies, to forgive freely.
R1058:6

Even as Christ forgave you -- And still forgives you. R5603:6

Above all these things -- And thus overlook much of what others do.
R4984:2

Charity -- Love is pictured as the "girdle" which binds and holds in place the folds of the robe of Christ's righteousness with its various graces. R4829:5, 2426:2

Jesus said love is the fulfilling of the divine Law. R1330:2

Lacking this, we would be as sounding brass and as tinkling cymbals. (1 Cor. 13:1) R1330:3

Bond of perfectness -- It is the girdle which binds and fits them all close to the person. R1215:4, 3080:1

Bonds of the completeness. R1215:4

The very Spirit of the Lord. R4829:5

Colossians 3:15

The peace of God -- The peace, joy, and comfort resulting from a completeness of consecration to the Lord. R5571:6

To sway all our actions. R1594:3

Many have never learned it, and do not apply it to their outward lives.

R1652:3

Rule -- Preside. R1215:4

"Let the peace of Christ be acting as umpire in your hearts." (Rotherham)

R2358:4*

Let God's will direct and rule all our course of action according to his plan. R1563:4

Rule in your hearts -- The lives of God's people should in every case be "living epistles, known and read of all men" (2 Cor. 3:2), especially by their own families. R5571:6

Let our wills remain dead to self and subservient to God's will. R1563:4

Ye are called -- The members are being raised up from the world, separated from the world to the Lord and the Millennial work. R4354:4

One body -- There is but one prize offered by the Scriptures during this age, as there was a different one held out previously, and as there will be a still different one held out during the Millennial age. R1668:5

One corporation, one Church--the Body of Christ. R2482:1

Be ye thankful -- Thankfulness will make every trial and sacrifice on our part seem small, and thus easy to be offered, and will make all of God's mercies and favors toward us proportionately grand, great and inspiring. R2723:4

Thankfulness of heart is a very sure sign of the character God is seeking--especially in matters pertaining to our great salvation. R2722:6

Thankfulness of the Christian must continue--daily, hourly; its loss even for a moment should be deplored as evidence of spiritual sickness. The afflicted should go for healing in the divine Word. R2076:3

Unthankfulness is unholiness. R2723:1

Let -- We should not only crucify our own wills, but fully accept of and use the Lord's will instead. R962:5

Dwell in you richly -- By bearing in mind Christ's teachings and endeavoring to apply them in our daily life. R1594:6

By being filled with his Spirit. R1594:6

To have and to keep his commandments, that the abiding presence of the Father and the Son may be with us. R3251:6

Paul prayed for his converts. R653:6

Hymns and spiritual songs -- All are able to unite their hearts in prayer and to lift their voices in praise, in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs. R1890:3

Colossians 3:17

Whatever ye do -- As representatives and ambassadors we should feel both the dignity and honor of the position and the weighty responsibility. R3330:2

With the hope that by thus doing things well we shall obtain salvation. R3331:4

Every Christian is privileged to spend as much money for tobacco as to eat and smoke as much of it as he sincerely believes will do him good physically and spiritually and result in the Lord's glory. R1849:4

In the name -- As his ambassadors. R3331:4

Whether he realizes it or not, each who professes to be a Christian speaks and acts in the name of the Lord Jesus. We should endeavor to keep this fact continually before our minds. R3329:3

Our actions and words should properly represent our Lord and honor the name he has permitted us to bear. R3329:3

We represent the heavenly Kingdom and its King of kings and Lord of lords before the "children of this world." R3330:1

We should say to ourselves, "I must see to it that I have not taken the name of the Lord in vain." R3331:1

The holy name of the Head belongs to all the members of the Body. R3331:1

We have taken the name of Christ as our name. R3331:1

An erroneous custom amongst those who have named the name of Christ is that of ignoring his name in favor of some sectarian names. R3330:5

Many are unauthorizedly using the name of the Lord in combination with the name of some earthly institution. R3330:5

Colossians 3:19

Be not bitter -- Any one of the Lord's people who thus practices injustice is not making progress as a new creature. R5168:4

Colossians 3:21

Fathers, provoke not -- It is important that parents exercise temperance, self-control in their own discipline, as well as toward their children. F526:1; R3573:5

Colossians 3:22

Servants -- The servants addressed by Paul were bond-servants or slaves, and not employees. R2037:6

Obey -- Paul cannot have meant that they should violate their consciences in obedience to the commands of their masters. R2037:6

Colossians 3:23

Whatsoever ye do -- Servants are specially addressed by the Apostle. All service should be good service, and whether the person served be one of the Lord's people or an enemy of the truth, the work should not be slighted. R2343:1

Heartily, as to the Lord -- The person who is earnest and zealous to serve the Lord, so willing and so anxious for the opportunity that he will do what his hands find to do. R2344:2

Thus the name of Christ would come to be respected among the intelligent, and the inquiry would naturally be, What is there about these Christians or their teaching that makes them more capable and efficient as servants? R2343:2

All who would be followers of him shall be servants, not merely in name, but in deed and in truth and in spirit. R2344:4

One is your Master (Lord), even Christ. (Matt. 23:8) R1769:4

Oh to measure fully up to this experience! R1802:4

Colossians 3:24

Of the Lord -- The Church of Christ are granted fellowship with the Father Jehovah from the time of their begetting of the spirit, when they consecrate themselves, being previously "justified by faith." (Rom. 5:1) R1768:6

Reward of the inheritance -- Christians are not expecting earthly rewards, but heavenly rewards. R2343:2

He received from his Father and our Father, his God and our God, all that he has given or will give to us. (John 20:7) R1769:4

Ye serve the Lord Christ -- The slightest service done to the least of his brethren is accepted as done to himself. R2343:6

There is nothing inconsistent with being his brethren and still his servants. R2343:6

The Bible, the Old Testament as well as the New, has fostered the spirit of liberty, not directly, but indirectly. D306

Colossians 4

Colossians 4:1

Give unto your servants -- Serve them with kindness and compensation, and do it with good will as unto the Lord. R1464:2*

Ye also have a Master -- The Bible, the Old Testament as well as the New, has fostered the spirit of liberty--not directly, but indirectly. D306
In the Bible, masters were restricted in the interests of the servants, assuring them that injustice would be recompensed by the great Master of all. D306

Colossians 4:2

Continue -- We are to recognize a distinct difference between the "vain repetitions" of the heathen, which our Lord condemned, and continuing instant in prayer. R5020:1; Q539:2

To grow faint or grow weary in prayer would not be right. R5020:2; Q539:4
We are not to give up nor to become weary, but to be constant in our prayers. R5020:4; Q539:5

In commenting on the course of the importunate widow (Luke 18:2-5), our Lord said that if an unjust judge be moved on account of importunity to do justice, how much more a just judge. R5020:1; Q539:2

In prayer -- Communion with God is a great privilege and an evidence of his favor. R4983:1

Colossians 4:3

Praying also for us -- For what should we pray? For one another. (1 Thess. 5:25; John 17:20; Eph. 1:16) R3715:5

That the word of the Lord may have free course and be glorified. R585:5*
Pray for opportunities of service, for wisdom in presenting the message to others, for the Lord to assist in inculcating meekness, humility and gentleness. CR440:3

A door of utterance -- Not praying for each other that he make his calling and election sure. But pray for opportunities of service. Pray for wisdom in presenting the message to others. Pray for assistance in inculcating meekness, humility and gentleness. CR440:3

Mystery -- Intended for the Lord's people, but not for the world nor for the merely nominal Christian. CR10:4; NS398:4

Paul says that God's grace in Christ "abounded toward us in all wisdom and prudence; having made known to us the mystery of his will according to his good pleasure which he had purposed in himself." (Eph. 1:8, 9) CR10:4; NS398:4

Redeeming the time -- Greek, exagorazo, to publicly purchase and take possession of. E430

We are to purchase and to secure out of the evil time as large a proportion of time as may be possible for devotion to higher interests--our own and others' spiritual sustenance. E431

Securing the season--Diaglott; buying the opportunity--Rotherham. R756:4*

Securing the opportunity for sacrifice, remembering that it is a great privilege because of its great reward. Secure the opportunity and with it the great prize of our high calling. R756:6*

Seeing the reward as we do, we should wisely secure the present opportunity which can never again be enjoyed. R756:5*

Christians are in the midst of evil, the tendency of which is to use energy, influence, time, in things sinful, foolish, or unprofitable compared with more weighty interests closest to their hearts. E431

Colossians 4:6

Alway -- Let the spirit of the glorious truths so fill your heart that out of its fullness your mouth may speak to the Lord's praise and to the enlightenment and profit of your opposers as well as its hearers. R698:2

Study and apply the principles of the divine law in all its bearings, both on the present and the future, and let your course be ruled accordingly, and your counsel to others be drawn from it. R1118:4*

With manifest love and kindness. R1937:3

Does self-control apply to language? (Jas. 1:19,26; Eccl. 5:2) R3573:1

The Christian is to be temperate in his language, not given to exaggeration or misrepresentation. He is to speak forth words of soberness, making sure that he speaks the truth in love, and not in severity or bitterness. R2355:2, 3573:1

How necessary that all the tongue-servants of the Lord's Body be only such as are of his spirit, wielding an influence for good and not evil, for blessing and upbuilding rather than injury and cursing. R2447:4, 3573:1

How few have conquered the tongue to the extent of bringing good, and only good, to all with whom they come in contact! R2447:4, 3573:1

Evil-speaking is slander. R2443:5

Grace -- Liberality, favor. R756:3*

Seasoned with salt -- A purifying and preservative influence. R1937:3

Not only should our speech be liberal ("with grace"), but also "seasoned with salt" (well established in the truth of God's Word). R756:3*

The quality of salt to preserve and to arrest the spread of corruption rendered it a fit symbol of an everlasting covenant and a significant type of true Christians in the midst of sin and vice. R84:6*

The first duty of everyone who would obey the call to preach is to become an earnest, faithful, diligent student of God's Word, that he may be able to minister grace to the hearer. R646:3

The appetizing salt of purity, righteousness, truth. R2099:3*

In reproof, warning or counsel, a spirit of liberality will not lose sight of commendable features in those opposed, nor fail to commend it. R756:3*

Truth, like salt, has the power of preserving from decay that which is good and pure. R756:5*

Marcus -- John was his Hebrew name and Mark his Latin name. R3003:6
Mark seems to have ultimately become a true yoke-fellow, very highly appreciated by the great Apostle. (2 Tim. 4:11) R2141:3, 3009:3
John Mark eventually restored to Paul's favor. (Col. 4:10; 2 Tim. 4:11)
R4364:2

Sister's son -- Should read cousin. R3003:6

Received commandments -- In introducing brethren to the churches, the liberty of all is respected even by the apostles, who write not arbitrarily, but giving the reasons why those commended should be held in esteem. R1822:2

If he come -- When the apostles called or sent any of the younger brethren in the ministry, it was not as of arbitrary authority, but as of request. R1822:2

Receive him -- Introductory letters as a safe-guard against "false brethren" and "wolves in sheep's clothing" were the custom of the primitive Church, practiced by the apostles. R1707:1 4:14

Luke -- Luke wrote not only a version of the Gospel, but also the Book of Acts and nearly all of St. Paul's epistles. R4399:3

Colossians 4:15

Salute the brethren -- Whenever there was opportunity, the churches were prompt to send Christian greetings and benedictions to those in other places. R1895:4

Which is in his house -- In the primitive Church the congregations were small, and usually met in private houses. R2941:6

Colossians 4:16

Epistle -- The letters of the apostles, claiming divine authority equal to that of the Old Testament Scriptures, were treasured and guarded with special care by the various congregations of the early Church. R1146:1

1 Thessalonians

General

When released from prison at Philippi, Paul, Silas and Timothy went about a hundred miles direct to Thessalonica, the largest commercial city of that district--Macedonia. Nothing daunted by their experience at Philippi, Paul at once began a vigorous presentation of the Gospel. The result of his labors was the nucleus of a flourishing church, to which two of his epistles were addressed. R3130:1,2

Written from Corinth during the year and a half in which St. Paul labored with his associates there, the first epistle to the Thessalonians is credited with being the first of the New Testament writings which have come down to us, AD 52. The epistle is a very fatherly one, very gentle and loving. When we remember that the believers addressed were merely "babes in Christ" less than a year old, we are inclined to amazement that the Apostle should consider them prepared for teaching on so high a plane. Let us recall to mind the setting of this epistle. Less than a year before its writing, the Apostle and Silas arrived from Philippi bruised and haggard, surely, as a result of their experiences. It will be remembered that they had peace but a short time at Thessalonica, during which they made known the Gospel of God's grace. Then the Apostle was obliged to flee again, but subsequently heard from the believers at Thessalonica through Silas and Timothy. With a fatherly love he assayed several times to revisit the believers, but was always providentially hindered. Possibly these hindrances led up to the writing of this epistle, more profitable for them, as well as advantageous to all of the Lord's people throughout the world during eighteen centuries. R4417:2,3

Although the church at Thessalonica was composed of those who in respect to length of Christian experience were but "babes," yet very evidently the persecution which had come upon them had caused them to grow very rapidly. It was but a year since they had received the Gospel, and yet the Apostle witnesses to their rapid development, as evidenced by their love one for the other, and not only love for the company at Thessalonica, but the breadth of their love extending to and manifesting an interest in all of the household of faith throughout the province of Macedonia. R2196:2

Knowing -- By means of the various evidences that we are the children of God, namely our begetting, quickening, and sealing of the Spirit, and by which it may be discerned, not by oneself only, but ere long by the brethren. F191

Gospel -- Message of good tidings. R1419:3; HG311:6

1 Thessalonians 1:6

Followers of us -- The under-shepherds do not own the flock, and their value to the flock as overseers consists in their faithfulness in making known to the sheep the message of the great Shepherd and, to the extent of their ability, communicating his tone and his Spirit with his Word. R4278:3
The view that the apostles were exceptions, and their sacrifice and suffering were not intended as examples for the remainder of the Church, would hinder us from obedience to this apostolic injunction. NS591:5; SM628:2

To wait -- There is no more practical doctrine than the second advent. It is the motive for patient waiting. R298:2*
Implies that the Kingdom was not already here. NS677:1
We cannot hope to bring the Kingdom to pass of ourselves. While continuing our missionary exertions, let us tie our faith to the Apostle's words. OV246:7

Each system knows that the marriage of the Lamb is to take place at the second coming of Christ. They have lost sight of the fact that the true virgin Church must wait and keep herself unspotted, a virgin. SM408:2

His Son from heaven -- "If I go I will come again." (John 14:3) F671; R1827:1

Whom he raised -- If, as the Scriptures declare, it was his soul that died, then Christ could have no power to resuscitate himself. R2795:2
No agency was called into service to accomplish his resurrection, but, as when first created, he was the direct workmanship of Jehovah. "God hath both raised up the Lord, and will also raise up us by his own power." (1 Cor. 6:14) R1005:5

The Father raised up Jesus from death. If the Father and Son are the same being, then the Father was dead. R370:3

Us -- Such as now accept of Christ and become his obedient followers. R787:3

Wrath to come -- The great time of trouble in the end of this age. Even now, though not delivered from present wrath and penalties of sin, we are assured of a full release shortly from every vestige of the curse and wrath now resting on all. R787:3

1 Thessalonians 2

1 Thessalonians 2:2

Shamefully entreated -- Paul and Silas' clothing was torn from them, and the command was given that they should be beaten with rods and imprisoned. R3123:1

1 Thessalonians 2:6

We might have been burdensome -- The Apostle might have said you owe me, to care for my temporal necessities, but the Gospel message is not given along lines of justice, but along the lines of love and compassion. R2500:5

But we were gentle -- Paul did not act as a lord or master amongst slaves or subordinates. R3130:2

The apostles issued neither bulls nor anathemas, but loving entreaties. F232

The apostles never claimed a monopoly of the teaching or of the pastoral work of the Church; nor did the Lord ever intimate that they should do so. R1524:1

1 Thessalonians 2:9

Labor and travail -- The Apostle did not belong to a paid ministry. He had a message to deliver which he appreciated so highly to spend his life in its promulgation--using for other purposes only so much of time and energy as necessary to procure necessities. R3157:6

Laboring -- Working with his hands, as well as preaching and expounding the Scriptures. R3130:2

Some missed a grand opportunity when Paul needed to make tents to support himself. R733:2

He neither coveted their silver and gold, nor asked for it or their praise. R2500:5

We behaved -- Paul lived an unblameable, unselfish life in their midst, giving them the Gospel, and with it his very life. R3130:2

1 Thessalonians 2:11

And comforted -- Not harassed, threatened and upbraided. This spirit in the apostles as fathers and brethren in the Church should be a guide to all who would be sons of consolation. R3435:6

1 Thessalonians 2:12

Who hath called you -- The new creature is to remember that he has become a representative of God and his righteousness. "As he that hath called you is holy, so be ye holy." (1 Pet. 1:15) F91

Unto his kingdom -- "Whereunto he called you by our gospel." (2 Thes. 2:14) R1419:4

1 Thessalonians 2:15

Persecuted us -- Largely by those who had some light, but whose light was darkness in comparison to the great light of the holy Spirit shining in and through the Lord's fully consecrated ones. R2415:2

The persecutors of the "Body," like the persecutors of the Head, are cooperating to fulfill the divine plan in a manner they little suspect. R2415:3

For the wrath -- The wrath of God which entirely swallowed up the nation and left the land almost desolate, scattering the people amongst all the nations. R3292:5

If all the woes purposed of God upon the Israelites in the conclusion of their age were fulfilled, then none of those woes belong to the future. CR423:1

Is come upon them -- The fire of trouble through which fleshly Israel passed when Jesus was present, has already come upon the Jewish people. A229; C300; E357

All the woes purposed of God were fulfilled. CR423:2; R5505:4

The "wrath to come" (Luke 3:7) did come upon the nation because of its rejection of Messiah. R2564:1, 4656:4, 4172:6, 2786:4

The Jews had experienced great blessings and privileges, and these being misused brought great darkness and a terrible national judgment. R1983:2

History estimates the trouble which came upon Israel, within forty years of our Lord's utterance, as the most awful that had thus far occurred amongst men. R1702:2

After the holy Spirit coming upon the infant Church at Pentecost, had searched, sifted and winnowed out of the Jewish dispensation all the wheat, then the fire came upon the chaff. R2927:2

The curses mentioned by Moses (Deut. 28:15, 46, 49, 63-67) that would befall Israel seem to have had a very literal fulfillment upon the Israel of our Lord's day. C300

"He shall baptize you with fire" (Matt. 3:11) F445; NS21:2, 626:4
Their national sin--expiated by their punishment in the past 1,800 years, as Paul foretold. R4612:3

To the uttermost -- In their complete ruin as a nation in the time of trouble at the close of the Jewish age. R2599:4,
During those forty years ending the Jewish age. At the close of 70 AD the nation went to pieces. R5470:6, 5505:4, NS218:2, 305:4
They have been under that wrath and unable to reestablish themselves as a nation from that day to the present time. R2564:1
They have been cut off completely from favor. R4656:4
Divine anger burned against fleshly Israel and did continue until as a people they had suffered for their national sins. After divine wrath has burned out their national transgression, he will speak peaceably toward them. E357; R2599:4

Satan hindered us -- The Apostle was a firm believer in a personal devil. R3165:6

We are sure that the Lord would overrule the machinations of Satan and cause them to work out his own glory. R5712:4

1 Thessalonians 2:19

At his coming -- Greek: parousia; presence. R223:2, 2978:6, 1693:1

1 Thessalonians 3

1 Thessalonians 3:2

To comfort you -- Signifies and implies establishment in the faith once delivered to the saints. All the terms and conditions of our covenant should be held in mind, and the promises of reward at the end of the journey. R2665:2

"Comfort all that mourn," (Isa. 61:2) "Through patience and comfort of the scriptures." (Rom. 15:4) "Wherefore comfort one another with these words," (1 Thess. 4:18) not only with respect to the things promised, but with respect to the loving compassion and sympathy of him who promises them. R2665:1

Faith -- Faith, like steam in an engine, is a power either for good or for evil. Hence, the importance of a correct faith, grounded and settled, and not moved away from the hope of the Gospel, rooted and built up in Christ. R1719:6

Appointed thereunto -- The prophets foresaw and foretold "the sufferings of Christ (Head and Body) and the glory that should follow." (1 Peter 1:11) R147:5

Our affliction -- Paul was apparently considerably cast down with discouragement and possibly sickness. R4416:1

And distress -- If Paul needed such experiences to bring out the best that was in him and to make his epistles the more useful to the Church, possibly the Lord's dealings with us at times may be with the same end in view--our preparation for further usefulness in his service. R4416:2

The Lord make you -- Not to sinners are these words addressed, but to saints. Not those who have not the spirit of love does the Apostle exhort, but those who have been begotten of the spirit of love. Who are the "you"? Members of the true Church. R4662:2, 4663:2

It is not what we can do, but what the Lord can do in us and for us. It is the Lord's doing; we can accomplish very little for ourselves. He has various agencies through which he is pleased to increase our love--the word of God, divine providence, fellowship of the saints. R4662:5

Increase -- Signifies love already has attained an ascendancy in the heart, and is progressing, conquering and bringing into subjection all the thoughts and conduct of life. R4662:2

Approaching more and more and attaining and maintaining the "mark" which God hath set before us as the standard of character for which he will be pleased to award the prize. R4662:2

And abound -- The Lord's people are to increase in love continually, until the love abounds or overflows in all the thoughts and words and conduct of life. R4662:2

One reason why love does not abound more thoroughly amongst God's people, is that so many of them have been blinded by the Adversary to the real character of God. R4662:3

In love -- We began to receive of God's spirit of love from the time we made our consecration to him, and began to live unto him, and not unto the flesh. R4662:5

One toward another -- The Apostles exhort fellow Christians to follow after them in the same way of self-sacrificing, loving obedience, as imitators of Jesus. R4662:5

Toward all men -- This presupposes the love which, first of all, is due to God our Father. Nor is it to be expected that any man will love his fellow-creatures to the extent indicated, unless he has first learned to love his Creator. R4662:2

Even as we do -- They were exemplifying in their daily course of life this very abounding love which, overflowing, was leading them to sacrifice their own interests and rights and privileges for the sake of the Lord's people everywhere. R4662:3

To the end -- With the object in view. R4663:5

He may stablish -- Fixed, settled, rooted, grounded, thoroughly established, firmly fixed in love for righteousness; so that all unrighteousness would be an abomination to them. R4663:5

Your hearts -- To have a heart that is blameless is a very different thing from having flesh that is blameless. The heart, standing for the will, the intention, the desire; represents the new creature. R4663:6

At -- In. R4662:4

The coming -- Greek: parousia; presence. B159; R4664:1, 2979:1, 1693:1, 223:2

From this the Thessalonian brethren seem to have drawn a wrong conclusion, supposing the Apostle to intimate that the Day of the Lord would surely come in their day. To meet their difficulty, Paul wrote them the second epistle, in which the main thought is the correcting of this error. R665:3

We are now in this time of Christ's presence, and it behooves us to inquire carefully of our hearts to what extent we are established in righteousness, in love for it. R4664:4

Do we find that with the brighter shining truth our hearts are being established, our faith well founded and settled? If so, it is just what Paul expected. R349:1

1 Thessalonians 4

1 Thessalonians 4:1

Abound more and more -- As your capacity increases. F133

The will of God -- His desire, his design. R5876:3

Concerning you. R5427:6, 5332:3, 5130:4, 5126:3, 4335:3, 2412:1
Thus our personal salvation comes first in God's order. We then inquire,
What is the next step? R5427:6

In the nature of advice, rather than command. R5126:3

The great work is not for others, but a work in ourselves; subduing, conquering, ruling self. R5127:1, 2412:1; SM581:2

Heart loyalty; our first duty, continual duty, and the end of our duty.
R5127:4

The acceptance of us by the Father is only the beginning of the sanctifying work. It is his will that this work should continue and progress in us, to its full completion. R5877:3

Your -- Addressed only to the saints of God. SM578:1; R5876:3

Sanctification -- The complete devotion of your will to God. F136;
R5126:6; SM582:2

Full setting apart from the world to himself and his service. R5876:3,
3655:6, 200:2, 50:2; SM578:1

Through the truth, which becomes illuminated to us through the holy Spirit. R5878:1, 5877:6

Progresses throughout the Christian course until the character is fully developed and ripened, and it must then be maintained until the end of the way. R5877:1

This work should affect our minds, our hands, our eyes, our ears, our tongues, our all, that we may be fully used of the Lord. R5877:3

Walking after the Spirit, which leads to everlasting life with our great Redeemer. R5100:5

There are two parts to sanctification; the first is our own, the second belongs to God. "Sanctify yourselves," and "I will sanctify you." SM581:4; R5332:3; 200:2 If God's will is really our will, we have a clearly marked pathway. R5127:5

Our sanctification is effected not when we are "called," nor when we begin to turn from sin, but when we come to the point of full consecration.
R4592:1

1 Thessalonians 4:7

But unto holiness -- "Be ye holy, for I am holy." (1 Pet. 1:16) F92
Her righteousness is that to which the Bride is called. R50:2*

1 Thessalonians 4:10

Brethren -- Fellow-servants. R2196:2

More and more -- In love and service one for the other, which implies a growth in all the graces of the spirit. R2196:3

Study to be quiet -- Might be rendered literally "that ye be ambitious to be quiet," or that ye have a quiet ambition, not a restless zeal for notoriety and great exploits, but a quiet, earnest perseverance in well-doing. R2196:3

The Lord's people are to study to have a mind that is well balanced; this is not natural to the majority of people, and is, therefore, something to be studied and attained. R5167:3

Quietness that appertains to peace--a composure which is the opposite of nervousness, giddiness and childishness. R5167:3

This desirable quietness represents the graces of the holy Spirit; meekness, gentleness, patience and brotherly kindness. R5167:3

Your own business -- "Let none of you suffer as a busybody in other men's matters." (1 Pet. 4:15) F583

A busybody is a person who meddles with the affairs of others with which he properly has nothing whatever to do. R5167:6

One who spends considerable time in correcting others is prone to forget himself. R5168:1

With your own hands -- Not to be dependent upon charity, so far as possible. R2196:6

Home and family duties were not to be neglected. R2196:3

That are without -- In darkness, out of Christ. R2196:6

1 Thessalonians 4:13

Which are asleep -- All our sleeping friends. R4793:5

Which have no hope -- No such substantial hope. E328, 329

No hope of the resurrection. OV333:1

That Jesus died -- For us; a ransom for all. E444; R4793:5, 3529:6, 2197:3,5

The Adamic death penalty was to perish; but it has been cancelled by Christ's ransom. R1126:2

And rose again -- To be the Deliverer of the race from the bonds of sin and death. R4175:1

That he might be Lord and life-giver to all. R4793:5, 3529:6, 2197:2

Our faith is built upon this fact; it is an evidence that his sacrifice was acceptable. R2197:4

Even so -- Let us believe as true. R4793:5

Them also -- All mankind. E328; R4793:5, 4160:5, 3529:6, 3436:5, 2528:2, 2197:2

Which sleep -- Not which have gone to heaven. R1591:5

Referring to the dead, both good and bad. R3027:6, 5059:6, 5166:4, 4794:2, 4793:5, 4633:1, 3529:6, 3063:4

Whose death through Jesus' merit has been changed to a sleep. R4175:1

By reason of his death our souls do not die in the full sense of the word, but are Scripturally said to fall asleep. R4956:1

In Jesus -- In the sense that the hope of an awakening centers in him.

The word Jesus means "Savior." R2197:5

It is through Jesus that the race previously extinct in Adam has hope of an awakening. R5107:3, 4956:1, 4633:1, 3063:4

Will God bring -- From the sleep of death. E346; R4793:5, 2197:5, 1881:1

All who sleep in Jesus will God bring from the dead through him. SM740:2

This was the comfort the Apostle set before the early Church. OV213:4

With him -- By. R1881:1

Through, his instrumentality. R2197:5

The coming -- Greek: parousia; presence. B159; R2981:6, 2979:1, 2198:4, 1881:2, 1693:1, 473:2, 293:2, 223:2

Of the Lord -- If Jesus can be present, and not seen, the dead in Christ could be raised and not seen, because when raised they will be like Jesus.

Prevent -- Precede; go before. R5166:4, 2981:6, 1881:2, 473:2, 170:1; F663; C233

Hinder. R4794:2, 2765:2, 293:2

Them -- The saints, the Church. C233; F663; R2528:2

Which are asleep -- Those of the Church already dead. R2981:6

The dead saints were raised spirit beings in 1878. C234

Descend from heaven -- He comes unknown to the world. R579:3

"If I go I will come again." (John 14:3) F671

With -- In, or during. B149

A shout -- Greek: keleusma; a shout of encouragement to all men to wake up to a sense of their rights and privileges. B146

The shout of encouragement should be understood to be the people's response to the Jubilee trumpets blown by the priests. R2026:1

With the voice -- With the authority and command. B147

Of the archangel -- Michael. R668:1, 152:6

The chief messenger, "The Messenger of the Covenant," (Mal. 3:1) Christ. B147; R490:1

The trump of God -- The seventh trumpet, the last trump, covering the entire Millennial age; typified by the Jubilee trump. B148, 149, 197; OV386:T

Paul's "shout" and "trumpet" corresponds in every way with those used by John (Rev. 11:15), and the same event in Daniel's prophecy (12:1) is called the standing up of the archangel Michael. R668:1, 845:2, 579:6, 263:3

The dead in Christ -- Applicable only to the elect Church. R5107:3, 2528:3, 2197:5, 152:3

They are reckoned as dying with Christ their Redeemer. R1454:4

The death of the flesh being fully accomplished; they are to have the first resurrection, the chief resurrection. R5107:6

They will receive new bodies like unto the Lord's glorious body. R5108:1, 3106:6

The scene described here is the same event of 1 Cor. 15:51, 52 of our change to a spiritual, immortal, powerful, heavenly body. R152:2

Shall rise first -- The faithful sleeping in death will be resurrected, reckoned with, rewarded; before the reckoning with and rewarding of the living members of the Church begins. R2981:6

Each receives life in complete measure instantly. R1854:5

We will from that instant be as invisible to fleshly beings as he is, and as angels are. R152:3

Then we -- The ones left over of the same class. R1260:4

Which are alive -- The Lord's people still on the earth after the time of the beginning of the first resurrection. R5566:5

Some are still in the place of polishing and preparation--the Temple is not complete yet. CR457:1

Shall be caught up -- Caught away, changed in the moment of death. F663; R667:6, 152:3

Their taking will be unseen by the world. R35:3

As Moses was lost to the sight of the people below, so the entire Church will be gathered to the Lord. R2709:6

This change will take place in the end of the Gospel age, at or during the sounding of the seventh trump. R1260:4

As the type of the passover night in Egypt, without the tasting of death. R212:2*

Together -- Or also. R293:3, 473:2

As a class, not separately as each may die. R5132:4

With -- Or to. R293:3

In the clouds -- In the time of trouble. B138; R191:1

Into obscurity. R1260:4

To meet the Lord -- During the gathering of the trouble, before the storm bursts. R153:5

That will be the first meeting of the Church with her Lord. R5132:2

In the air -- In the spiritual rulership of the world, now controlled by the present "prince of the power of the air." (Eph. 2:2) C238; R1260:5, 191:1, 152:6

In the realm of spiritual control of the earth--in kingdom power and great glory. R5771:6

Symbol of the spiritual throne from which Satan is to be deposed, and to which our Lord and his joint-heirs are to come. R153:2

This does not necessarily mean that they will occupy Tartarus. R5182:1

Some expect to meet in the immediate presence of God, and others associate the meeting with earthly conditions, while we believe the meeting will be in a condition midway between the other two. R167:1*

Be with the Lord -- "Whom he hath appointed heir of all things." (Heb. 1:2) F70

1 Thessalonians 4:18

Comfort -- Of the Father, through the Son, by the holy Spirit, communicated through the Scriptures; also communicated by the members of the Body of Christ one to another. R2665:1

1 Thessalonians 5

1 Thessalonians 5:1

Times and the seasons -- The world moves on in ignorance of the fact that the Lord is again present. Those who are faithfully watching unto the sure word of prophecy will know of his presence. R598:2

Only such as are living up to their consecration vows will be granted Divine assistance in the understanding of the present situation. The others of the consecrated will go on in partial or complete ignorance until brought to their senses by the complete collapse of present institutions. SM700:3

The great Millennial morning of blessing is nearing, yet a dark period, a short season of terrible trouble and anarchy intervenes. SM700:3

Ye have -- The Lord speaks directly to his Church as thou or you, but of the world as they or them. R359:6*

No need that I write -- We are granted a clear understanding of "the deep things of God" (1 Cor. 2:10), some features of which were never revealed until the present time, even to the most faithful of the Lord's saints. R5489:6

Day of the Lord -- In which we live. R310:5, 402:4; Bx

The day of the Lord's presence, the "harvest," or end of the age. R2198:5

Its dawning cannot be discerned with the natural eye. If the second advent were to be an open, outward manifestation, would not the world know of it just as soon as the saints, the watchers? R2973:3

From this, the Thessalonian brethren seem to have drawn a wrong conclusion, supposing the Apostle to intimate that the day of the Lord would surely come in their day. R665:3

So cometh -- His second coming. R1416:5

As -- Like. R2973:3

A thief in the night -- Gradually and stealthily, taking the world unawares. SM789:3; R2973:3, 2693:5, 2504:4, 1923:3, 1416:5, 665:4, 593:6, 579:3; Q91:3

Quietly, stealthily, and after it has come, many for some time will not know they are in it. B21; R5256:3

Not to sound a trumpet before him, calling the world's attention to his work. R1742:6

Even at the second coming of the King there will be a night time. R2504:4

The secrecy observed respecting the time and manner of the second coming of Jesus will be a strong test. R5400:4

Throughout this entire age the Lord's people have been left in uncertainty as to the time of the Master's second coming. R5735:3

Only God's fully consecrated Church would not be taken unawares. R5917:4, 1416:5

They -- The world, not the saints. B22; R5400:4

Peace and safety -- We think that this saying of "Peace! Peace!" has been going on for some years, since the first Peace Conference at the Hague. Real peace can come only by Messiah's taking full control. He will bring in the peace. Q529:3

"Peace, peace, when there is no peace." (Jer. 6:14, 8:11) D242, 238, 241

Sudden destruction -- Sudden or rapid compared with the slow processes of the past six thousand years. B21

The Scriptures do not say that the trouble will come in an hour, one day, or in one year. The intimation is that the catastrophe coming upon our civilization will be a very sudden one. But it will be very sudden if it comes within twelve months. R5328:2

The world will not escape certain overthrow of their systems and politics. R2693:5

This comes as a just retribution upon those who, having had a knowledge of God and his righteousness, appreciated more the things of mammon. SM700:3, 701:T

The world will be taken unawares; and many of the Lord's servants having fallen asleep, are not watching as commanded. R593:6

When anarchy has accomplished the complete destruction of the present order, it will be time for the setting up of the Kingdom of Christ, and he will bring the whole trouble to a sudden termination. Q529:3

It is only "ye brethren" who are privileged to have clearer light respecting present and future conditions. SM187:1

As travail upon a woman -- The catastrophe will come suddenly, at a moment as unexpected to the mother as to others. R5449:2

Each succeeding spasm will probably be more severe until the final one. D284; R1923:3, 707:2

The relief from present conditions will come only with the birth of a new order of things. A334; R1607:5, 621:2, 357:1

And they -- The world, unbelievers. R2198:4, 5400:4, 2972:3, 1923:3, 513:4

But ye, brethren -- All the faithful in Christ Jesus, who wait for his kingdom and watch thereunto and seek to be prepared for it. R2303:4, 5479:4, 2513:4, 1785:4, 601:6*, 384:3; SM414:T

It is not intended that this prophetic knock should be heard by the world; it is intended only for the virgin class, wise and foolish. R4185:4

Are not in darkness -- With the world--and so may pass through much of the trouble with a happiness based on this knowledge. R1470:5

Concerning the times and seasons. C139, 215; R2979:5, 2765:1

Respecting the dawn of the Millennial morning because taught thereof by the Comforter. R1760:1

Truth will be revealed to those fully loyal to God. R5545:1, 3822:2, 2973:3, 1063:4*, 289:2; CR438:5

One evidence of faithfulness today, would be a knowledge of present truth. R2942:4, 5479:4

This does not necessarily mean all the truth, but enough to sanctify; certain basic principles that the Lord's people have at all times grasped--one God, the penalty for sin, etc. R5479:4

"The Spirit will show you things to come." (John 16:13) B121, 169; R1948:1, 402:4, 310:5

You have your lamps trimmed and burning. R2693:5

Yet they were not to know the hour, i.e., the exact time of his coming, yet if they were to watch closely they would not mistake the signs of his presence. R326:6*

That day -- The great seventh thousand-year day. CR438:5

The day of the Lord's presence. R189:4, 173:1

The time of trouble. SM414:T

The Christian who does not watch will be overtaken of that day just as the world is overtaken. R598:3

Overtake you -- Though it will thus overtake all the world. R3784:6, 326:6*

As a thief -- It will come upon the whole world as a thief and a snare. R5715:6, 5765:6, 5632:6, 4185:2,4
It shall not so come upon God's children who are living up to their privileges. R5735:2, 1785:4

Children of light -- All the children of God, so far as they have received the holy Spirit of begetting. "Let your light so shine before men." (John 15:19, Matt. 5:16) R5099:5
Having laid down their lives in consecration, for the purpose of becoming servants of righteousness, they are the enemies of sin. R5098:1
They will be watching and be enlightened and taught of the Lord. R2972:3, 5735:2, 5256:6, 5595:5, 513:4, 237:5*
"For God has shined into our hearts." (2 Cor. 4:6) E293
"Thy Word is a lamp unto my feet, a lantern to my footsteps." (Psa. 119:105) We belong to the new dispensation and are therefore counted as children of the light even in the present darkness. R3686:3, 5256:6
Children of the day -- We are God's representatives and ambassadors. We are to tell the people about the light and knowledge and glory of God that is to come so soon, so that all who love the light may take heed to the Word of God and get ready to be members of that Kingdom class. R5339:6
Darkness -- Superstition and ignorance; the world's condition. R5098:1, 3686:4
The educated of the world are rapidly dropping the thought of a personal God and a divine plan. SM700:2

Let us not sleep -- Be awake, and keep active, lest you become drowsy with the lethargy which pervades all around you. R173:4
Such a period of drowsiness and non-alertness as respects the truth, prevailed amongst the Lord's people for centuries. Many of the Lord's true followers have been dreaming about the conversion of the world, while Satan has been sowing tares with liberal hand in their very midst. "While men slept his enemy came and sowed tares." (Matt. 13:25) R3769:6
As do others -- They have not watched to catch the foregleams of the new day. R5256:6
The world knows not of the Bridegroom's arrival, intoxicated with the spirit of this world and false doctrines. R2693:5, 5256:6; Q663:6
Let us watch -- For the day, for Messiah's Kingdom, which will produce that day. R5256:3
Let us be alert, watching our own hearts; watching the trend of times, and for opportunities of usefulness in the proclamation of the Kingdom message; also watching for the interests of the Church, seeking to build one another up. R5400:5, 2303:4

Watch ourselves, to keep ourselves from the snares of the present time. Watch the fulfillment of Scripture, fully awake, and watching to see what is the duty of the hour, and then to be diligent in doing it. R5633:4, 2303:4, 87:2

Those who are alert should call the attention of others to these wonderful things. R5257:1

As we watch we shall be putting off anger, malice, hatred, envy, strife. R5257:4

Taking careful notice of all the directions which the Lord our God has given us respecting what would not be acceptable service to him; striving to walk as nearly as possible in the footsteps of the great High Priest. R3056:5

Does not the command "watch!" imply that at the proper time the watchers will be rewarded by a knowledge which the un-watching will not have? R1873:3

And be sober -- Not referring to the use of intoxicating liquors; not frivolous, but in the sense of being earnest, appreciative of present opportunities and privileges in connection with the Lord's service. R3056:5, 5633:1

Have the spirit of Christ, the spirit of a sound mind, of meekness and gentleness, love for God and man, not intoxicated with the spirit of the world or of Churchianity. R3056:5, 5632:6

Sober in mind, not excitable, not carried about by every wind of doctrine. R5257:1

Be drunken -- Intoxicated with the spirit of the world. Q663:6

1 Thessalonians 5:8

The hope -- It is not a hope, but the hope, not some general hope, but the hope of the gospel (Col. 1:23), the hope of eternal life (Tit. 3:7), the hope of glory (Col. 1:27). R1435:2

Of salvation -- This salvation reaches no one until the end of the Gospel age, except believers, who (in a reckoned sense) grasp the hope of salvation and anticipate it by faith. R2051:1

The apostles declare that we are "heirs of salvation" and point us to the fact that it "shall be brought unto us at the revelation of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ"; and tell us that "now is our salvation nearer than when we first believed" and that meantime we are "kept by the power of God through faith unto salvation, ready to be revealed in the last time." (See Rom. 13:11; Heb. 1:14; 1 Pet. 1:5, 13; Heb. 9:28) R2051:1

The completion of salvation is called resurrection. R2051:1

1 Thessalonians 5:10

Who died for us -- The Adamic death penalty was to perish, but it has been cancelled by Christ's ransom, so far as it relates to those who, when brought to know the Redeemer, shall forsake sin. No longer should it be regarded as a perished condition, but as a "sleep," from which the Redeemer will awaken all. R1126:2; E446

Sleep -- Referring to the dead. R3027:6

Comfort yourselves -- Of the Lord, through the holy Spirit, through the agency of Paul and Timothy. All the Lord's people need to remember that in the present life they have a ministry of comfort to perform toward all who mourn in Zion. "Comfort all that mourn." (Isa. 61:2) "Through patience and comfort of the scriptures." (Rom. 15:4) R2665:4

Edify one another -- Encouraging one another, building one another up in the most holy faith; helping one another to put on the wedding garment and to be meet for the inheritance of the saints in light, as joint-heirs in the Kingdom (Jude 20; Col. 1:12; Rom. 8:17) R2707:6

"Inciting one another to love and good works." (Heb. 10:24) F311

The Lord never intended the meetings of his people to be all of the preaching kind. An effort should be made to develop whatever talent there is in any little company--to incite and draw out thought and expression respecting the divine plan as presented in the Word. R3014:5

1 Thessalonians 5:12

You, brethren -- When we consider that the believers addressed were merely "babes in Christ," less than a year old, we are inclined to amazement that the Apostle should consider them prepared for teaching on so high a plane. R4417:2

To know them -- To acknowledge them, and to look to them to preserve order. R1895:3, 4418:3; F301

Not only recognize them personally, but in their capacity as servants in the Church, and of divine appointment through the Church. R4418:3

Which labor among you -- The service of the Church is not merely an honorary one. The word minister signifies servant. R4418:3

Over you in the Lord -- Those whom God hath set in the Body to have a supervision and measure of control of the interests of the work. R4418:3
The recognition of the Lord and the watching for his guidance through his Word and his promises will enable the Lord's people to discern the ones he has set over them in the Lord. R4418:2

1 Thessalonians 5:13

Esteem them very highly -- They who serve you most, you must mark as your chief ones. The Son of Man came to serve others. Esteem and honor one another in proportion as you find in each other unselfish, sacrificing love and service. R2278:6

Those who are noble, humble, self-sacrificing, cannot be too highly esteemed nor too loyally supported. If the position of an elder and teacher is very full of temptation, the Church should sympathetically be very watchful not to increase the temptation. Instead of being fault-finding, they should be so appreciative as to let trivial and unimportant matters pass unmentioned and indeed unnoticed. R4503:4 Permit no rivalry of spirit, no unkind word of criticism. Honor them, as their position requires, for in a measure they represent the Lord. And honor them in proportion as their labors of love in the Church seem to merit. R4418:3, 844:1

While there is danger that some will fail to render "honor to whom honor is due," (Rom. 13:7) there is danger also of man-worship; rendering too much honor to human instruments, whom God is pleased to use in connection with the service of the truth.

(Rev. 22:9) All servants of God are fellow-servants, regardless of the time or extent of their service. R2079:5

They are to be loved, to be upheld, to be appreciated; and if they have some imperfections, like other men, they are no less worthy of sympathy and forgiveness and exoneration. R4772:5

While human teachers are necessary, they are to be respected and heeded only so far as they can show us a thus saith the Lord for their teachings. R397:3

In love -- The law of love should be used to measure our every act, our every word, yea, our very thoughts. R4772:5

For their work's sake -- Because of loving, faithful service, but for no other reason. R1137:3 The instructions to the Church are often applicable to the world in general. As the Church is to esteem and honor its members according to their ability and usefulness, so with mankind in general, in the world each should be esteemed as he has and uses his abilities, even though there be other qualities or weaknesses which you may neither admire nor endorse. R1163:2

We may and should honor his servants and count those who serve well as worthy of double honor; but we must always "hold the Head," and render him supreme reverence and obedience. R1571:4

And be at peace among yourselves -- Harmony; peace, joy, comfort, under the great Shepherd's Son and his appointed under shepherds. R4418:4 Because all are harkening for the voice of the Shepherd and striving against the self-seeking spirit; and the voice of the Master has been heeded in the choosing of elders, deacons, etc. R4418:4

Because general discontent prevails in this our day, it becomes daily more necessary that each child of God be on the alert to keep his body under, keep his tongue from murmuring, to be filled with thankfulness and gratitude to God in appreciation of all his benefits toward us. R4772:3
There is a great need for patient forbearance, one with the other. With the truth, therefore, to this class God proposes there shall also go the spirit of the truth--otherwise serious friction and damage would result. R4772:3

Brethren -- Not the elders alone are exhorted by the Apostle, as though they were a separate class, exercising control; he addresses the "brethren"--the entire Church, including the sisters also. R3136:1
Although addressed to the saints at Thessalonica, these noble words have been a source of strength, encouragement and discipline to the faithful in Christ Jesus from their writing to the present time. R3135:3

Warn them -- Admonish. R4418:4

Do not mistake the disorderly for the weak, and comfort them; but patiently, lovingly warn them. R1893:6

Not comfort, support and encourage them in their wrong way. F298, 299; R1575:2, 295:6

Show them that their course is contrary to the spirit of the Lord and all the arrangements instituted by the apostles, his representatives. R3136:2
Even when the disorderly need correction, it requires to be wisely done, else more harm than good may result. R4418:5

That are unruly -- Self-conscious, thrusting themselves forward, without the request of the Church. R3136:2

The unruly, the anarchists, were to be admonished. Let us remember that while the Lord deals with us as individuals, he deals with us also collectively. No man liveth to himself nor dieth to himself and no member of the Church is privileged to ignore the fellow-members of the Body of Christ. R4418:5

Disorderly. F299, 302; R4418:4, 3136:1, 1893:6, 1575:2, 295:6

Those who are drifting away from the true spirit of Christ. R295:6, 1575:2

Comfort -- Encourage. F305; R4418:4

The feeble-minded -- The faint-hearted. F304; R5644:2, 4418:4, 3136:1

The backward, diffident, those lacking in combativeness and self-esteem. R3136:2

Support the weak -- The spiritually weak; by such promises as the one; "My strength is made perfect in weakness." (2 Cor. 12:9) F306

Those not strong in the faith, comparatively undeveloped. R5644:2, 2163:4*

The weak were to be assisted. R4418:5

Naturally backward, diffident, lacking in combativeness and self-esteem, they need to be pushed to the front a little, in order to bring out what talents they really possess, for their own encouragement and for the blessing also of the entire household of faith. R3136:2

Patient toward all -- Seems to imply that the better balanced amongst the Lord's people should look with sympathy upon and exercise patient forbearance toward all the classes above mentioned. R3136:2

Not only toward the weak and those who lack courage, but toward all, including those who have too much courage and self-push. Growth in knowledge helps us to grow in this grace of patience. R3136:2

The groaning creation is under the delusion of the "god of this world." (2 Cor. 4:4) F306, 307

See that none render evil for evil -- Each is to see for himself, first, that he renders no evil to others, but secondly, the Church should see to it that none of its members in fellowship so do without being admonished. This is specially the duty of the elders--to watch out for the relationship between the Church and others. R4418:6

This principle is to govern each one. R5644:3

Elders should kindly admonish any who are guilty of such a wrong course. F307;

The Lord's followers are not to attempt to retaliate upon their enemies by doing them evil in return, or in any manner to "get even with them." It includes also our thoughts, not to return anger for anger, malice for malice, envy for envy. R3136:4, 5898:4

If we were to exact justice from everybody, we would be losing our privilege of sacrificing for righteousness' sake. R5897:3

Follow that which is good -- Pursue. R3136:4

This will mean that each member of the Royal Priesthood will pursue righteousness to the extent of his ability, seeking to return good for the evil we receive, exemplified absolutely in our Lord. R3136:4

To all -- This expresses a higher principle and more exalted character than generally prevails. "Love your enemies; do good to them that hate you." (Matt. 5:44) R4419:1

1 Thessalonians 5:16

Rejoice evermore -- The Christian's rejoicing is not hysterical, but founded on established principles, upon promises and comforting assurances of the divine Word, which stands firm amid all the storms and shocks of life. R3136:6

The world knoweth us not, and it knows not the mainspring of our joy and peace. We have a continual source of refreshment, not only in the divine providential care in all of life's matters now, but additionally the inspiration of the "exceeding great and precious promises." (2 Pet. 1:4)
R4419:2

Pray without ceasing -- "Prayer is the soul's sincere desire, uttered or unexpressed." R4883:2

Constantly in an attitude of prayer, mentally, spiritually, looking to the Lord for guidance in all the affairs of life. The spirit of prayer, in every perplexity, looking to the Lord regarding all daily interests, would be a life of prayer without ceasing. R4883:5, 5480:6, 5203:5, 4983:2, 4883:6, 3351:5, 1802:1

In the sense of not being discouraged when the good things promised us and asked for do not come quickly. We pray unceasingly "Thy Kingdom come" by continuing the thought, the expectation, the waiting for it, and by laboring in the interests of that Kingdom and in the preparation of our characters in order that we may have a share in it. R5709:5

That we may be prepared to listen for God's answers and advice through the Word. R4983:1

The entire life should be a prayer and a song in respect to every affair of life. R3806:1, 5833:5, 4883:5

We should pray for strength to overcome the flesh, and to develop the fruits and graces of the holy Spirit; and for wisdom to know how to deal with ourselves and to understand the Word of God and the spirit of the truth. R5708:5

We should pray that we may have God's sentiment, mind and will; as our sentiment, mind and will. R5709:2

To some, prayer at any time is irksome, tedious, but to the true Christian prayer constitutes one of the greatest of God's blessings. R4419:2

The life of an advanced Christian should be a life of prayer in the sense that a desire to know the Lord's will should be continually before his mind; and in every stress of life, in every undertaking, the will of the Lord should be sought and accepted and thanks given. R4419:2

Only somewhat advanced pupils in the school of Christ are prepared clearly to comprehend this exhortation. Having set their affections on things above, their prayers are in respect to those things, less disposed to pray for earthly good things. R3136:6

We should ask for only such things as God has already declared himself well pleased to grant. R4983:2

To break off this communion would be like stripping a tree of its leaves. To suppose that Christian life depends solely upon prayer without earnest study of God's Word, is like supposing that a tree could flourish from its leaves only, without roots and soil. R4984:1

Prayer is absolutely indispensable to Christian growth, to spiritual existence. R5709:4, 2004:6

In everything -- Such experiences as our gracious Lord may deem best for our spiritual development. R3136:6

This signifies that our Heavenly Father is deeply interested in everything that relates to us and ours. R1865:5

Give thanks -- Whoever loses the desire to thank and worship and commune with the Father of mercies, may rest assured that he is losing the very spirit of sonship. R2004:6

Quench not the Spirit -- The holy Spirit. R4419:4

"The flame of sacred love," the holy Spirit of the Father and of the Son, was enkindled in our hearts through the word of Grace. But how easily such a holy flame may be extinguished--a sufficient draft of the spirit of the world might extinguish it, or by putting it under a bushel, or by the Adversary. Yet the Apostle intimates that we alone have the determining of the matter; whether the holy Spirit in us shall be quenched or not.

"If the light that is in thee become darkness (be extinguished), how great is that darkness." (Matt. 6:23) E264; R371:6

To quench signifies to extinguish, as to extinguish a fire or a light.

R371:6

Quenching and grieving are not instantaneous works, but they are the paths which lead to second death. R5391:1

We should be as careful of our spiritual condition as of our physical.

R5130:1

The light can be extinguished by: the spirit of worldliness; selfishness or thoughtlessness; indulging in the pleasures of the flesh; weariness in well doing; or it may be permitted to die out for want of replenishing.

We might let it die out by failure to keep our covenant faithfully. R5489:3

If this light be in us we should not keep it secret, not put it under a bushel. R4993:1

A flame might be revived, even after having been wholly extinguished.

R5130:4

May surely be applied to a proper missionary spirit, as well as in other ways. R4359:3

1 Thessalonians 5:20

Despise not prophesyings -- Be not above hearing what any one may publicly utter as a child of God in the Church of Christ. Nevertheless, prove all things and hold fast that which stands the test. Because a brother is sincere, is earnest, does not prove that he is right in his Scriptural expositions. R4419:5

Our Lord was a preacher, the apostles were preachers, and the Lord has since raised up instructors among his people. Hence, such services should not be ignored. R3137:3

We live in a time when the very reverse is true; the danger is rather that too much time and attention may be given to preaching--when too much reliance is apt to be placed upon a leader and a connected discourse. R3137:3

1 Thessalonians 5:21

Prove all things -- Individual Christians cannot shirk their responsibilities by placing them on pastors, teachers, councils or creeds. D66

The Lord's people should not receive what they hear without proper examination; they should use good judgment as to what is supported by the Scriptures. R4750:2

Is it possible for a plain Christian, without any special learning, to comply? Yes, we reply, it is possible. If the desire for truth is paramount to every other desire, so that the inquirer will so bend his circumstances as to make opportunities for study and investigation, he shall find and rejoice in it. R1205:1

The early Church sat at the apostles' feet as learners, yet not with blank, unquestioning minds, but with a disposition to try the spirits and to prove the testimony. F232

It is the duty of every child of God to judge what is right and what is wrong, what is true and what is false. R416:2*, 1777:1, 664:4*

Searching of the Scriptures in proving, may be of lasting benefit to yourself, establishing you more than ever in the truth. R4419:6

Each individual should prove his own work; his faith in the doctrines, and his conduct in life, by the square and compass of God's Word. R1788:5

Remembering as you do so that "He that doeth truth cometh to the light, that his deeds may be manifest that they are wrought in God." (John 3:21) R2532:5

That which is good -- That which stands the test of the divine Word, and shows itself to be in accordance with the holy Spirit. R3137:4

Not with enticing words of man's wisdom (of human philosophy and theory), but in demonstration of the spirit and of power, that the faith of the Church might not stand in the wisdom of men, but in the power of God. (1 Cor. 2:4, 5) R1524:5

Abstain from all appearance of evil -- This is to abstain from every form of evil. (Revised Version) The first step in abstaining is to resolve or vow so to do. The fixing of the will must come before successful battling can be done. R4419:6

The beginning of any sin is the first yielding to its intoxicating influence. David's sin, like that of all other sinners, began in giving heed to the first suggestions of evil, and having done this, the subsequent steps were easily taken. R2017:1

It is possible for us, to abstain, as new creatures, to be out of sympathy with all forms of evil--to be antagonistic thereto. But on account of the imperfections of the flesh, we may not always be able to do this actually. R4728:6

Every form of evil is a form of selfishness. R4728:3

Evils may be summed up into three forms-- actions, words, and thoughts. R4728:3

A different thought from what the Apostle's words in the original would warrant, nevertheless representing a sound principle, we should avoid not only evil in its every form, but also everything that has an evil appearance; which our friends or neighbors might misunderstand and consider to be evil, that our influence for the Lord and the truth may be the greater. R4728:5, 4420:1, 3137:5, 1789:4

Evil thinking is one of the greatest evils with which God's people have to contend. R4728:5

"Adultery, fornication, uncleanness, lasciviousness, idolatry, witchcraft, hatred, variance, emulations, wrath, strife, seditions, heresies, envying, murders, drunkenness, revellings." (Gal. 5:19-21) R4728:2

God of peace -- God is not a God of confusion, anarchy, turmoil and disturbance, but a God of peace, and in proportion as we are taught of him in the school of Christ, we will become lovers of peace, and the peace of God will dwell in us and abound more and more. R3137:5

Sanctify you -- Set apart for a special work or office. It is partly our work and partly God's work. R441:3

If we follow the course outlined by the Apostle (verses 12-22), God himself will sanctify us. R4420:4

Sanctification is of God by Jesus. "Sanctify them through thy truth." (John 17:17) R4528:3, 69:1; E242

Wholly -- Completely. Let us seek to have this sanctifying power of God, fully in control of every power in us. R4420:4

This condition of complete sanctification is the divine ideal, and God will complete it in you if you will but follow the directions prescribed. R4417:6

I pray God your -- The terms body, soul and spirit are figuratively used of the Church collectively. E353; R1881:3

The Apostle prayed that the spirit, soul, body of the Church (at Thessalonica) might be preserved without blame to the coming of Jesus. R4420:4

Undoubtedly it would have remained unto this day had it maintained its early and proper relationship to the Lord. But departing from this the Church at Thessalonica was not preserved. There is no trace of it today. R4420:4

Whole spirit -- The true spirit has been preserved in the Little Flock. E353

That the Church might be preserved entire, without schism, in the unity of the spirit. Q837:2; R4420:4, 3137:6, 1881:3

And soul -- Soul of the Church. R4420:4, 3137:6

The Church's activity, intelligence, sentient being. E353; R1881:3

"The multitude of them that believed were of one heart and one soul." (Acts 4:32) Q837:2

And body -- "One body and one spirit." (Eph. 4:4) Q837:2

However people may differ respecting the preservation of individual spirits and souls of the people addressed, all will agree that their bodies have not been preserved. E353

The number three is surprisingly prominent. Man, in his composition, is spoken of by Paul as having three elements. R197:3*

Not of each individual Christian at Thessalonica, but in other words, his desire was that the Church at Thessalonica might continue to the full end of the Gospel age as a noble and faithful congregation of the Lord's Body, full of his spirit and courageous in the work. R3137:6

The Church as a whole, the elect Church, whose names are written in heaven, discernible even now, notwithstanding the multitude of tares that would hide as well as choke it. R1881:3

Be preserved -- All will agree that their bodies have not been preserved, but have returned to dust, like those of others. R1881:3

This good wish of the Apostle was not realized, for the congregation at Thessalonica did die out, ceased to be. R3137:6, 4420:4

Unto the coming -- Greek: parousia; presence. B159; R2979:1, 1693:1, 223:2, 197:3

1 Thessalonians 5:24

Faithful is he -- What God has promised, he is able also to perform. R1142:1

Our Father mocks none with a call which they cannot attain. R200:1 Who (God) also will exalt you in due time, according to his promise. R946:5 Faithfulness on our part is also required. R1211:2*

If anyone breaks the contract, it will be ourselves. God will surely carry out his part. OV422:4;

God promises us succor and every needed assistance in this way. His grace is sufficient for us. F374

If we are obedient to the Word of the Lord and are properly exercised by the experiences which are given us in the school of Christ, we shall gain his approval. R5460:2

Who also will do it -- Will keep his promise. R225:4

He will do for us exceedingly, abundantly, more than we could have thought or asked, or expected. CR274:5; R3660:1

The fact that the Thessalonica Church has not been kept in accordance with the Apostle's prayer is not to be charged to unfaithfulness on God's part, but to neglect and unfaithfulness on the part of those whom the Apostle addressed. R3138:1

The imperfect service of those whose hearts are fully set to do his will, is well pleasing unto God. And the Lord who discerneth the thoughts and intents of the heart, will make no mistake, nor will he be slack concerning his promises. R1018:5*

The promise is to the called and chosen (accepted) and faithful. R1142:1

The only question is whether we shall do our part faithfully, for God will surely do his part. R5907:1, 4420:4

1 Thessalonians 5:25

Brethren, pray for us -- Those who are praying the Lord's blessing upon his cause are seeking to serve it and are proportionately blessed; those who are indifferent to the welfare of Zion and the Lord's cause are in great danger. R2576:2

Not that the apostles could not pray for themselves, nor that Paul had lost fellowship with the Father, but that a door may be opened unto us whereby we may have opportunity of spreading the gospel of Christ. Q541:2

Not just a formality, but a blessing would come through remembering the apostles in prayer. Q541:2

With an holy kiss -- In spirit, but not in letter, the courtesies and civilities of our times being somewhat different from the customs of that day, although equally hospitable. R1550:5*

The ancient form of salutation between men, and still used in some countries. R3138:2

The Apostle's thought is that there should be thorough cordiality amongst all who claim membership in the Body of Christ, and that this fellowship should be manifested by the accustomed form of greeting--whatever reasonable form that might be. R3138:2

1 Thessalonians 5:27

I charge you -- You elders, preachers, teachers, leading brethren who first receive this. R3138:4

That this epistle -- Should not be considered as a private message or letter to those in whose care it was sent, but as his address to the entire company of the Lord's faithful. R3138:4

The apostolic epistles were carefully preserved and were appealed to as authority in matters of doctrine. They were directed to be exchanged among the various congregations, and publicly read. R1146:1

Be read unto all -- The Apostle seemed to fear a spirit of censorship among the leading brethren--to dole his letter out secondhand, or such parts as they judged prudent. Such a spirit on the part of the elders in any church would be reprehensible. R3138:4

2 Thessalonians 1

Be counted worthy -- In spite of the fact that no human being actually is worthy. R3002:2

We are not worthy of the Kingdom of God; but the Lord purposes to (count) his faithful ones worthy, through the merit of the atonement sacrifice, which permits the acceptance of our wills, intentions, instead of the perfect works of righteousness. R3002:2

Ye also suffer -- Strive in a reasonable, rational manner, according to the divine Word and plan, to suffer for the Kingdom's sake. R3002:2
This loyalty should be put to the test. CR80:3

2 Thessalonians 1:6

Tribulation to them that trouble you -- It will be but a just thing for the Lord, at the second coming of the Lord Jesus, to render a recompense (purgatorial punishment) upon those who have been opposers of the truth and of the saints. Their punishment or tribulation will be just, and not an unjust one. R1471:2,4

To you -- The saints, whose enemies are allowed to prosper and oppose. R356:2

Who are troubled -- We are enduring tribulation, until he come. R3652:6

Shall be revealed -- Greek: apokalupsis; revealment, uncovering, unveiling (as of a thing previously present but hidden). R2979:2,3, 580:5, 264:2, 20:4

The revelation of Christ to the world will be subsequent to his revelation of himself to the "wise virgin" class. The world will know, not by seeing Jesus in the flesh, but by seeing the great time of trouble. R5523:1

Angels -- Agencies. R764:6

In flaming fire -- Of righteous purgatorial judgment. R1471:4

In which Christ's presence will first be revealed to the world in the great day of trouble which will introduce the new dispensation; and will continue to burn throughout that thousand-year day against all evil-doers. R1471:4, 5527:4

Symbol of the destructive force which will be exercised against everything that shall oppose the laws of Messiah's Kingdom. OV324:1; B151

Gradually, the world will come to understand that the great King is identified with the trouble. R5830:5

Judgments against all unrighteousness. R2979:3

Trouble, judgments--consuming destructive to evil and ignorance and wrongs of every sort. R764:6, 5527:4

In the time of trouble. R5456:1 After 1914. Q98:T; R5567:1

Melting of the social fabric. R668:1

Anarchy, bringing retributive justice preceding the blessings of the new Kingdom. R5567:1, 5586:6

Outward manifestation of judgment, which will come on men in a natural way. It is their own fire that they built. Q98:T

Trouble--great anarchistic blaze--destruction, leaving present institutions in ashes. R5058:6, 1040:1

The outward sign by which the world will know that Messiah has accepted his throne. CR291:4

That know not God -- Who acknowledge not God. T86

The ignorant who do not appreciate God's character and plans, and obey not the gospel. R764:6, 356:2

On them who are not really acquainted with God, but who nevertheless fail to obey the light of conscience, which all to some extent possess. B152

And that obey not -- And also on those who, while knowing God, yet obey not the gospel. B152

The gospel -- Glad tidings. R1471:4

Who -- Willful sinners against full light. OV363:T

Class of incorrigibles. R4973:5

Disobedient lovers of evil. PD95/109

Including Satan and all who follow his way. E392

Shall be punished -- Divine vengeance or retribution against sinners.

R2858:4

With -- Or by. R926:1

Everlasting destruction -- The second death. E330; R5344:1, 5314:6, 5286:6, 2972:5, 2690:4, 2657:4, 2607:6, 1882:4, 1878:6; OV363:T, 333:3; CR279:3, 338:2*; SM167:T

Beyond all hope of recovery. R2858:4, 2972:5;

Greek: aionion; not limited, i.e. upon which destruction no limit has been placed. R764:3, 719:4

Not preservation in torment or otherwise. R3947:2, 4973:5, 4881:6; OV373:5

From it there will be no redemption, no resurrection; Christ shall die no more, perish like natural brute beasts. (2 Pet. 2:12) R5314:6, 1882:4,

1878:6, 926:1; CR350:1, 338:2

Only the willingly obdurate shall be lost, and their loss will be the loss of life. R4702:4

"Destroyed from amongst the people." (Acts 3:23) E193; R4140:4; SM767:T

"Be as though they had not been." (Job 10:19) E387

"The wages of sin is death." (Rom. 6:23) R4618:4, 1882:4, 1085:5, 926:1

When he shall -- Messiah--Head and Body. OV119:4; R2407:4

Come -- Have come. R764:3

When he comes it will be privately. He comes to organize the Church as his Kingdom, to set it up. R579:6, 263:3, 19:3

To be glorified -- Recognized as glorious, and to manifest his glory in his saints. R582:2*

That coming glory was foreshadowed in his miracles, "manifested forth his glory." (John 2:11) R526:5

In his saints -- In the first resurrection. F161

And to be admired -- Respected, obeyed, worshipped. R774:1

Wondered at. R582:2*

In all them -- Who desire fellowship with God will come to him through the Royal Priesthood, who will offer their sacrifices for them. R1732:5

All who come into harmony with God, through Christ, under the terms of the New Covenant sealed by the precious blood. R2407:4

Those who choose the heavenly portion and the sacrifices necessary to obtain it should be admired by all mankind. OV119:4

In that day -- In the Millennial day. R1732:5, 2407:4, 1176:1, 765:1, 764:6, 356:2

"The last day" of sin, in which it will be forever wiped out. R356:2

Of this calling -- The great high calling of this Gospel age--to joint-heirship with his Son in the Kingdom. R3002:4
Present and future--now to suffer with Christ to cultivate his spirit, to bear much fruit and thus be fitted for a share in the work of the incoming age--for the blessing of the world. R2414:6

The work of faith -- These are not things which he offers us grudgingly, but things which he is well pleased to bestow. R3002:5

2 Thessalonians 2

2 Thessalonians 2:1

Besech you -- Entreat you. R665:4

By the coming -- Greek: parousia; presence. B159; R2979:1, 1693:1, 223:2

2 Thessalonians 2:2

Not soon shaken -- Not quickly agitated, nor alarmed. R665:4

The day of Christ -- Period of Messiah's glorious reign. SM151:1

Is at hand -- Greek: enestemi; is present. B269; F226; R665:4

"Has set in." (Rotherham) R519:4*

For it was yet a long way off. F672

2 Thessalonians 2:3

Let no man deceive you -- "Beguile." (Revised Version) R519:4*

Jesus knew the enemy's subtle power, and that he would deceive the very elect, if possible. (Matt. 13:24-43) R632:1

That day -- Could not come until after the great falling away, and the manifestation of the Man of Sin. R3128:4

Until the abomination of desolation has been set up. R5339:3

We are now living in "that Day of the Lord." (1 Thes. 5:2) R305:1, 54:2

Not come, except -- Paul did not use arguments such as some today are disposed to use against the claim that the Day of the Lord has begun. He did not say when Christ comes your eyes shall behold him and your ears hear the trump of God. B270

Come a falling away -- The apostasy--from the true faith. B269; R1093:4; 665:4

From the truth. R306:1, 980:2, 55:1

In the Church before the great Day of the Lord could come. R5769:1, 306:6, 55:5

A spiritual defection. (Used one other place in New Testament, where Paul is charged with teaching apostasy from Moses by abandoning circumcision.) R638:6*

A false system that would develop in the Church. R305:1, 54:2

As one error after another crept in, the Church fell from her position of trust in and support of the promises of her absent Lord, and began to love the world and the things of the world. R305:1, 54:2 A falling away into formalism, the development of a clergy, and a desire for worldly power.

B286, 287

During the "Dark Ages" of Papacy's reign, from about the year 300 to 1600 A.D. During that carnival of heresy several portions of the Bible were altered as to appear to give support to Papacy's teachings. R278:2

That man of sin -- An apostasy; the system of error. R980:2; B267-361

The kingdom of Antichrist. R1093:6

In the Dark Ages there was quite a clear understanding that the Papacy was the Man of Sin. R5339:5

The Antichrist; the abomination of desolation, the beast, the little horn, the Papacy. B271, 277; C95; D32; R1775:1, 1526:4, 606:4, 402:1, 310:2, 305:2, 54:3

Son of perdition -- The son of destruction, the opponent. R665:4

2 Thessalonians 2:4

That is called God -- That is called a mighty ruler. B269

That is worshipped. R304:3, 54:1

So that he as God -- As a mighty religious ruler, A theos, not THE theos, Jehovah. B275

In the temple of God -- A religious ruler, claiming and exercising authority over and above all other religious rulers, even to the extent of exalting himself in the Church, which is the true temple of God. B275; R305:6; 638:3*

Greek: Ton naon; here translated "temple," never means in six other usages a literal temple, but is always applied to the Church of God; "Which temple ye are." (1 Cor. 3:17) R638:1*

Withholdeth -- Prevents, hinders, comes between. R665:5

Interposes. B270

That he -- Christ Jesus. R665:5; B270

In his time -- In his own due season. B270

Now you know why I so positively declare that we are not yet in the Day of the Lord. R665:5

2 Thessalonians 2:7

Mystery of iniquity -- Began in Paul's day, and developed into Papacy and her daughter organizations. There is a sense in which the word mystery is used in Scripture in the same sense as the word church. (Col. 1:27; Eph. 5:32; 1 John 3:1) R368:6, 711:1, CR11:3

Insubordination to Christ. B270

The body of Antichrist, Babylon, Christendom, particularly the Papacy. F201; R767:1

Only he who now letteth -- The thing which hindered a rapid development of Antichrist was the fact that the place aspired to was already filled by another, the Roman Empire. B288

2 Thessalonians 2:8

Shall that wicked -- System. R307:2

The Lawless One. (Diaglott) R1977:2

The Man of Sin. R1363:1

The Antichrist; "Even now there are many." (1 John 2:18) E286

Be revealed -- Greek: apokalupto; to uncover, to remove a disguise. R307:3, 711:1

By Luther and others, even though many do not even yet see it. T86, R307:3

Spirit of his mouth -- His Word--the truth. This agency for the consuming of Papacy has progressed for about three hundred years, or since God's Word began to be published--AD 1526, and particularly since 1801 when the "two witnesses" were exalted to heaven and the "dominion" or temporal power began to be taken away. R307:3, 815:4, 287:5, 55:6

Truth, the spirit of the Lord's mouth, may come through a thousand channels. Even blasphemous infidelity may be one of the agencies and we believe it is the truth uttered, though mixed, which is the secret of power against Babylon--with respect to human rights and equality. R757:4

And shall destroy -- All willful sinners, and all who will not hear his voice, his command, his instructions. F398

Let no one hastily infer a peaceable conversion of the nations, for this and many scriptures teach the opposite. (Rev. 19:15; Rev. 11:17, 18; Dan. 12:1; Psa. 149 and 47) B101

With the brightness -- Greek: epiphania; bright shining; manifestation. C39; R2979:2,6, 307:4

Light and knowledge will so increase that all forms of error and evil will be finally dispelled by the bright shining of the present one. We may expect vengeance to begin in October (1881). While it will not be hindered after October, yet great results need not be looked for in a day. R247:6

Of his coming -- Greek: parousia; presence. B159, 270; C39; R3082:3, 2979:1,6, 2001:5, 1363:1
Of the present one. R711:2, 247:6, 124:1

Even him -- These words, supplied by the translators, and not in the original text, tend to obscure the sense of this passage. R1363:2

Whose coming -- Christ's parousia (presence). R1363:1, 1693:1

Is after -- Greek: kata; is with, or accompanied by, as the same word is rendered in Mark 1:27; 1 Cor. 2:1; Eph. 6:6. B359; R1363:1,2

The working -- An energetic operation. (Satanic energy and action.) B359

Of Satan -- One of many scriptures which refer to this Adversary whose very existence is now denied by many. F609

The Apostle was a firm believer in a personal devil, and a Bible study of his teachings on this subject would be profitable when Christian Scientists and others deny the existence of the Adversary. R3165:6

The prime mover in the evils of this present time, and especially active in this hour of temptation. R2793:2

He will not yield peaceably to the new rule; but must be overthrown by Christ after a violent struggle. R3119:6

And lying wonders -- Healing and miracles. F639

The fallen angels, spirit mediums. R3742:4

Out of the church of Rome have sprung the various minor systems. R767:1

"Seducing spirits and doctrines of devils." (1 Tim. 4:1; Eph. 6:11-13; 2 Pet. 3:17; Matt. 24:24) R2189:3, 2173:4, 1643:2

Of unrighteousness -- Untruth. R2891:3

Satan will be granted by the Lord special power in the end of this age, and as a result there will be special, severe testings upon the people of God; many will fall away from a Christian profession and a nominal faith. SM325:1

Satan himself is aware that nothing that is wholly false could succeed. (2 Cor. 11:14) SM323:1

The first question to be asked respecting any matter is: Is it true or is it false? To tamper with error after we see it to be error is to lay a trap for our spiritual feet. R2891:3; F264

Received not the love of the truth -- With a proper zeal. R4194:3

But in the love of self. R3138:5

Loved the error rather than the light. SM326:1; R1643:2, 1356:3

Rather the love of building up a denomination; the love of soliciting money for a denomination; and the love of certain ideas of their own. R5800:4

After coming to a knowledge of the truth, they do not love it so as to be willing to die for it. R1356:3

They that receive the truth in the love of it will surely serve it with all the decision they can command. R2950:4

They who on receiving truth ponder long whether it will cost too much, give evidence that their love for the truth is not great enough. Such must cultivate love for the truth until it outweighs all other things else they will not be fit for the Kingdom. R2950:4

The Lord will not permit those who receive the truth in the love of it to be turned aside. But he would send strong delusions to those who receive it from any other motive, or for any other reason. R5800:4

If sincere love for the truth, honesty of thought and deed, be yielded, sacrificed to pride, ambition, vain-glory, or any other thing, the result will be a loss of Present Truth. R3847:4

They are not worthy of it. R2275:1

To the listless and selfish who are not grossly wicked, the truth is only made a minister to pride and selfishness, and hence it is the will of God that all such should lose it. R1950:1

And for this cause -- Evidently these words were a prophecy concerning the present Harvest time. Doubtless they apply primarily to the Church and will later apply also to Babylon and the unregenerate world. "Judgment must begin at the house of God." (1 Pet. 4:17) R4514:3

Shall send them -- Permit to come upon them. R2274:6 Speaking of this evil day, a certain class may believe a lie, because they were not honest, but acted deceptively, hypocritically. Probably the most valuable trait of character is honesty. R5098:3

The Harvest time, especially the closing years of the Harvest. R4583:2

All, in the end of the Gospel age, who, having been favored with the Word of God, have failed to appreciate and use it. R2174:4, 3847:5, 3490:3

For the purpose of sifting and separating the true from the false among those who have named the name of Christ. OV294:1; R3209:3

To gather the tares. OV297:4; R3209:3 Upon many in the nominal church. R2540:1, 3490:3, 2274:6

The church in general. R4167:5

Not only nominal Christendom, but upon those who have been specially favored with the light of truth now shining. R4583:2

The intimation is that the severity of the testing will come first to the saints. R4583:3

Strong delusion -- That which, from certain standpoints, has the appearance of truth. R2274:2

Literally, a frenzy of delusion. R4514:2

Of Satanic wrath and power. R1949:3

God not only permits, but also desires, that the faith of his professed people should be severely tried. R1949:6, 5990:4, 5800:4, 1280:1

A working of deception--Spiritism. Fallen angels transformed to appear as angels of light and progress. F639; R2174:5

The success of strong organizations; such as Papacy, Methodism, Spiritism, Theosophy, Christian Science, Church Federation. F200; R4583:2, 1736:4

The modern Satanic gift of tongues is one of the many delusions of our day. R3941:5

Putting light for darkness, and darkness for light. R3119:6

Christian Science, mind-cure teachers, Satan masquerading as the champion of pure thoughts and righteous living. SM326:1

Giving them over, permitting them to believe, the lie which they preferred, and to suffer for missing the Truth which they did not love.

SM238:2

Persistence in that which in the beginning, at least, was clearly recognized as wrong; but which, through self-will persisted in, subsequently became a gross deception. F166

Because the Christian world received not the truth in the love of it, God sent these delusions that it should be condemned thereby. R5652:4; OV294:1

The pestilence (moral and spiritual) that walketh in darkness that spreads and makes its victims among those who are ignorant of the truth, or who are unfaithful to it and hence unworthy of it. (Psa. 91:6) R3332:1

The Adversary is permitted to bring strong delusions upon the Lord's people for the very purpose of sifting out all not truly his. (Mal. 3:17)

These delusions will have wonderful power upon the world of mankind and especially in Christendom, which will gain power during the next few years. The delusions will have their power because God's people have not been sufficiently awake to the privileges of Bible study. R4583:2

Great delusions are just before us, and some of these may come closest upon those possessing the most light of Present Truth. (Matt. 24:26, 27)

Had it been foretold precisely what form these deceptions would take, this would have somewhat hindered their deceptive power. D581

Surely the proposed union--vitalizing the Protestant image and bringing it into accord with the Papal (beast) system, is a master-stroke of Satan and one of the strong delusions of this time foretold by the Apostle. R1474:6

That they -- A certain class, who acted deceptively, hypocritically.

R5098:3

Those who, having been brought in contact with the truth, either resist it, or by failure to follow the true light loyally, show that they are unworthy of it. R2033:5

No doubt some who will be of the Great Company will be more or less deceived of the Adversary by the strong delusions of this hour. R4583:6

Should believe a lie -- And depart from the truth. R3125:2

A disloyal condition of heart may be meant which would apply to every form of truth and correspondingly apply to various lies. R4514:3

The demons are constantly striving to perpetuate the lie of Genesis 3:4, "Ye shall not surely die." They will now be permitted to personate the dead so successfully as to be a strong delusion. R3490:4, 5909:6
Whoever would come under the influence of the teaching of Satan and his fallen host would think of a dead man as really advanced to a higher station instead of having fallen into death. Other errors could be introduced, such as purgatory. OV301:3
The poor world, lacking wisdom from on high, misled by its trusted scientific and theological teachings, is rapidly coming under the power of the evil spirits. R4404:4

2 Thessalonians 2:12

They all -- Those who having once heard and understood the truth, turned from it, rejected it. R2274:6

Those who fall. SM567:2; R3941:5

Might be damned -- Condemned. SM326:1; R3941:5, 3490:3, 3125:2, 2274:5,6, 2174:5, 1869:5, 1766:4, 606:4; Q166:2

Might be judged unworthy to share the Millennial Kingdom, as joint-heirs with Christ. B359; R2813:3, 2274:2; Q166:2

Be manifested as not right--as out of harmony with God. SM567:2; R3941:5, 1766:4

Who believed not -- Manifesting that they were not worthy of the glorious things which God has in reservation for those who love righteousness and hate iniquity. SM326:1

Had pleasure in unrighteousness -- The preceding verses show that the reference here is to the development of the Man of Sin--Papacy. Those who were instrumental in introducing this system sought to pervert the truth for their own selfish ends. R606:4

Greek: adikia; untruth, deception, hypocrisy, two-facedness. R1363:2, 3181:3, 3941:5; SM105:T

Injustice. R1766:4

Doctrinal or practical. R2174:5

Not necessarily in gross unrighteousness, such as crime, but often a desire for a little more liberty of self-will instead of close conformity to the divine will. R2274:6

The great majority have followed Satan, the opponent of God. R5910:1

2 Thessalonians 2:13

From the beginning -- God foreknew and fore-arranged that those should be chosen to this high calling who, believing the truth, would be sanctified by it. This implies the searching for truth as for hid treasures. R475:6

Chosen you -- The saints, not the nominal church. A299; R2538:5, 25:1*

This peculiar people is a new and chosen generation. Or in other words, having believed the message of salvation and gratefully accepted, they were chosen of God. R1567:2, 3621:2

Through sanctification of the Spirit -- The sanctification movement among Methodists is not the same as the high calling. Sanctification means, set apart, or, separated. The only sanctification recognized in Scripture is a sanctification of the spirit (mind) through the belief of the truth. R377:3, 475:6

Consecration of their hearts or minds. R831:4

A complete setting apart to the divine will and service. R1950:5

The divine spirit is the sanctifier, and the Word of Truth is the instrument. R197:3*

Gospel -- It is the voice of God by Jesus Christ proclaiming glad tidings of the coming Kingdom. R810:3*

Of the glory of our Lord -- Pre-eminence over all other classes, all other stations, in earth or in heaven. Exalted far above angels and granted the divine nature. (Rom. 2:7; 1 Cor. 15:53; 1 John 3:2, 3; 1 Cor. 1:26, 27; 2 Peter 1:4) This is the glorious inheritance of Zion, and this promotion can be received from no other quarter than God himself, on his own terms. R5711:1

"The far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory." (2 Cor. 4:17; 1 John 3:2; Col. 1:27; John 17:22; 1 Peter 5:10) R5684:5; A211

"Partaker of the divine nature." (2 Peter 1:4; 1 John 3:2; Rev. 21:2, 9; 22:17; 1 Cor. 10:16, 17; 12:12, 13, 27) R5748:6

Referring to our intimate relationship to our Head. "If we suffer with him we shall also reign with him." (2 Tim. 2:12) T80

Traditions -- Teachings of the Scriptures and Paul's own instructions. Q747:2

2 Thessalonians 2:16

Hath loved us -- God's special love and provision for his saints as distinguished from the world. R1254:5

2 Thessalonians 2:17

Word and work -- Give earnest heed to opportunities for service, and consider that the information has been given us that we may impart it to others--to those brethren and sisters of the Lord's family, some of whom are in Babylon yet. R4685:5

2 Thessalonians 3

2 Thessalonians 3:2

Have not faith -- The New Covenant was made necessary as a supplement to the Faith or Abrahamic Covenant because, as the Apostle declares, "All men have not faith." R4515:6

The great majority of Adam's race are so fallen as to be unable to approach God as Abraham did. R4515:6

And the Lord -- The love of God is a different kind than is common to the natural man, and we need to be directed into it through the divine Word. R2648:2

Direct your hearts -- The Lord demands the absolute cleansing of the will, the heart, the spirit. "Blessed are the pure in heart, for they shall see God." (Matt. 5:8) F409

The love of God -- The love that is gentle, meek, patient, long-suffering--that thinketh or speaketh no evil, but trusteth and is kind and considerate according to the golden rule. F409

We need to have our hearts directed into this love, for as a new creation we are walking in a new way--not after the flesh but after the Spirit. F409

Waiting -- Waiting for the actual salvation. R604:5*

Brethren -- The oneness of thought, mind and action required of the Church of God. R1130:6*

Withdraw yourselves -- He warns us against immoral and unjust persons, and those who wrest (twist) the Scriptures, and thus turn the truth of God into a lie. And in the Apostle's estimation, doctrinal disorders are among the chief. R1575:3

From every brother -- We have no evidence that the early Church ever regarded the apostles as lords in the Church; or that the apostles ever assumed such authority or dignity. F230; R1523:5

Brother was the common term of salutation. Even the Lord himself was not ashamed to call them all brethren. (Heb. 2:11) F230; R1523:5

Walketh disorderly -- Wolves in sheep's clothing, selfishly seeking their own temporal advantage. The Apostle did not counsel the handling of these wolves very gently, as some teachers of today advise. R1559:1

After the tradition -- The Lord's plan, of which the atonement, the ransom, is the center, or hub. F630

2 Thessalonians 3:9

Power -- Authority as the appointed apostles of the Lord to demand support. R2500:6

2 Thessalonians 3:10

Would not work -- Many are bold to pray for what they will not work for. F651

2 Thessalonians 3:11

Working not at all -- This passage does not authorize begging or idle waiting for the Lord's people to supply one's needs. R2805:1*
There are many ways of walking disorderly (1 Thes. 5:14). Some work not at all. R1575:3

Busybodies -- Some are trying to attend to the affairs of others, and feeling responsibilities that the Lord has never put upon them. This is an indication of spiritual weakness, for these are surely neglecting their own nourishments and exercises, else they would not have so much time to spare in finding fault with others. R4376:1

"Let none of you suffer as a murderer, or a thief, or as an evil-doer, or as a busybody in other men's matters." (1 Peter 4:15; 1 Tim. 5:13) R4376:1

2 Thessalonians 3:14

Obey not our word -- If he be disorderly, unwilling to submit himself to sound reasoning, and loving, generous, rules of order. F303

The apostolic Scriptural directions in respect to their conduct. R3034:6

Have no company -- After you have faithfully warned such a one, if still he obeys not the truth, note that man. But not until it becomes manifest that the Lord has cut him off, may we cease to feel a brother's interest in him. R1893:6

2 Thessalonians 3:15

Not as an enemy -- But as misguided brethren for whose recovery we are to be willing to lay down even our lives, an hour here, another hour there, an effort for this one and an effort for another one, because they are the Lord's. R3092:4

Admonish him -- This does not mean to denounce roundly and severely; it does mean to admonish in a spirit of love, gentleness, meekness, patience, and with a sincere desire to help the brother to see the fault which we are certain exists, and which we are sure is not evil surmising on our part. R3034:6

As a brother -- All the Church were similarly greeted--as brothers and sisters in Christ. R1523:5

1 Timothy

General

Timothy was an elder in the church, though young in years; R5493:3, one who had labored much with the Apostle in his work of the ministry. On one occasion Timothy was referred to by the Apostle as "my son Timothy." This was due no doubt to the fact that it was through St. Paul's instrumentality that the truth had reached Timothy. On account of his youth he may not have realized his responsibility. He might have felt that many others in the church were older than himself and would therefore be better examples to the brethren and better representatives of the Lord before men. R5860:1

The first epistle to Timothy was to instruct him relative to false teachers. R868:5

1 Timothy 1

1 Timothy 1:1

God our Saviour -- Author of the divine plan. E35

1 Timothy 1:2

Timothy -- The name "Timothy" signifies "honor of God." R1127:3

1 Timothy 1:3

I besought thee to abide -- Even when the apostle called or sent any of the younger brethren in the ministry, it was not as of arbitrary authority, but as of request which they were likely to follow, because of their confidence in Paul as a faithful and experienced servant of the Truth. R1822:1

Teach no other doctrine -- The oneness of thought, mind and action required of the Church of God. R1130:6*

Neither give heed -- Our time is not our own if we have dedicated all to God; and consequently we have none to spare for the investigation of fanciful false theories, built upon other foundations than that laid down in the Scriptures. R5970:3, 5045:3, 3199:3

The end -- The purpose. R4153:6, 5757:1, 5756:1; CR60:6
Ultimate object. R2733:3

The first consecration to holy living and obedience to God, which all believers make, is justification of life and peace with God; the second consecration, which is unto death, is the end toward which our justification looked. F124

The commandment -- A law imposed by rightful authority; a rule of conduct which we are bound to obey. R5755:3

The very keynote of Christ's instruction to his followers is love, out of a pure heart. OV196:5

Is charity -- Greek, agapee, disinterested love. R2807:5

An unselfish love, as is the love of God. R5756:2

A love which inspires to the willing, joyful sacrifice of every earthly hope and ambition, and which gladly lays down even life itself for the brethren. R5757:6

Love for God's truth, love for his holy law, love for his creatures. R5756:2, 5757:1

Love can be entertained in a heart not altogether pure; this is very generally the case with fallen humanity. R5756:2

Love which will not wait for commands, but which appeals for service. F124

Out of a pure heart -- In full accord with the Lord; wholly antagonistic to the Adversary. R5123:6, 2735:1 All who start in the Christian life do so with a good intention; but they must be instructed and educated. They must develop to perfection this purity of heart. Hence the experiences of the Christian are for the very purpose of bringing his heart into this condition of pure, unselfish love. R5756:3

Pure intentions, motives; seeking first, last and always the will of God. R2734:2

That would fulfil all the requirements of God's Law; has no selfishness in its motives. R5756:3

Putting off more and more the things of selfishness and putting on more fully the Lord's spirit. R5756:3

Good conscience -- Moral quality of the mind which admonishes in regard to right or wrong. R5756:4

It is the duty of every Christian to get his conscience made right, to educate his conscience to discern correctly. R5756:4

A conscience regulated by the divine Word. R2735:2, 5123:6

A good conscience is one which can determine the slightest deviation from God's Law. R5756:5

Rightly educated; properly balanced; not always accusing its owner, making him feel that he is always doing wrong. R5756:5

Faith unfeigned -- Undissembled. (Diaglott) R5756:6

Faith properly presented to others, not deceitful, not misrepresented. R5756:6

Some dissemble by professing something which would be for the good of someone else, even though it would not be true. R5756:6

We must be honest with respect to our faith and in respect to our life. R5756:6

One who believes differently from the denomination with which he is connected and yet continues his connection with it is not conscientious in respect to his faith, does not have faith unfeigned. R2735:4

Having swerved -- Having failed to discern the true idea of religion. R2733:3

Vain jangling -- Foolish talking. (Diaglott) R2733:6, 2735:4

Love is cast out of the heart, and selfishness takes its place, and from it flows works of bitterness, anger and evil. R2735:4

To be teachers -- They have a greater responsibility than if they were not teachers. R2156:3

What he has to say concerning the great influence of the tongue is directed largely to those amongst believers who attempt to be teachers. R2156:2

For honor and praise among men, as great teachers. R3215:2

Vain philosophers. R1443:5

"Be not many teachers." (James 3:1--Revised Version) R2156:2

Understanding neither -- Who think it is not either necessary or advisable to be established in the faith. R3215:2

Counted me faithful -- At heart, though wrong in action. R1444:5

The Lord counts us according to our intentions, according to our wills. R3002:1

The ministry -- The word "ministry" signifies service and the word "minister" signifies servant. R3002:1

All of the truly consecrated church of God are ministers, servants of God and of each other. If we neglect our ministry or service, it brings a corresponding loss in spiritual progress and character. R3002:2

Paul forgot the good things he left behind and did not dwell on his persecutions of the church. He labored to be long-suffering with others as God had been with him. R1885:4

1 Timothy 1:13

Injurious -- Of the saints. R2823:3

1 Timothy 1:15

Christ Jesus -- Jesus humbled himself in becoming a man; the object of so doing was to redeem men. R507:1

Came into the world -- To taste death for every man. R507:1

To save sinners -- The Gospel of Christ is the message of divine compassion toward sinners. R5032:1

I am chief -- He had been an open opposer of the truth. R5843:1
Saul's transformation, from an enemy of Christ and his Church to a friend and zealous servant, is generally termed his conversion. (But we do not so consider it.) R2117:1

Longsuffering Patience. R2790:6

To life everlasting -- To all who will exercise obedient faith in him. R5768:4

Now unto the king -- Jehovah. E389

Eternal -- The word "eternal" merely expresses duration, nothing more. R252:4

Immortal -- Greek: aphartos, incorruptible. R2339:3, 204:1

The fullness of life which could not cease under any circumstances.

Death-proof. R715:1*

Invisible -- "Whom no man has seen nor can see." (1 Tim. 6:16) F722

The world will not see the Lord and the Church; they will be spirit beings and of the divine nature. R2289:2, 4071:3, 2983:2

Charge -- Message. R1127:3 War a good warfare -- Against the natural inherited weaknesses of his old nature, his flesh, typified by Israel's warfare in the flesh. R5947:3, 5605:4

It will show the degree of your loyalty and submission to the will of God. CR455:5

1 Timothy 1:19

Holding faith -- Let our faith be honestly held and honestly acted upon. R1128:6

Good conscience -- To study the Word of God with a clear conscience is to study it with the single and only purpose of knowing and doing God's will. R1128:1

Which some -- Paul was often in perils among false brethren (2 Cor. 11:26). R1319:3*

1 Timothy 1:20

Hymeneus -- At times it seems absolutely to the interest of the Lord's flock to identify persons with false teachings. R2837:2

And Alexander -- Possibly a convert to Christianity who subsequently apostatized. R2207:4

False teachers who arose in the Church of Ephesus. R2221:4

In their attempt to be leaders, they had manufactured a different Gospel, built upon a different foundation than the only true foundation; the death of Christ as man's ransom price. R3820:5

Examples of "grievous wolves" who bite, devour, and scatter the flock. R4459:3,4

Delivered unto Satan -- Whose very existence is now denied by many. F609
The apostle was a firm believer in a personal devil. R3165:6
Earthly disciplines, that the spirit may be saved (1 Cor. 5:5). R2295:5

1 Timothy 2

1 Timothy 2:2

For kings -- That God will overrule and direct among nations in harmony with his plans and for the benefit of the Church, that its piety and growth may be conserved. R5205:4, 799:1

We are to pray God's blessings upon these kingdoms because we are interested in mankind in general, and wish to live a peaceful and godly life. R5205:1; HG570:4

Not that kings may be continued in power and control. R798:6

Kings and princes do well to accomplish so much with sin in every direction. We pray such wisdom as God sees best. R5205:1; HG570:4

Are in authority -- Our prayer for them should be along the lines that would be most helpful for the interests of the Church. R4516:3

That prayers be offered, on proper occasions, on behalf of any one, including kings and all in power, as well as on behalf of the Church. R1235:1, 3600:3

And peaceable life -- That we may have the peace of God ruling in our hearts, not fearing the hateful spirit of the world. R3600:3

1 Timothy 2:3

God our Savior -- Since God is the originator of the entire plan of salvation, from start to finish he is thus the Savior. R3172:3; E35

1 Timothy 2:4

Who will have -- Here is a salvation which is clearly unconditional and depends alone on the will of God. R630:2*

Not "desires," but who has willed or determined they shall be saved. R630:2*

No-one can make his word void: "My counsel shall stand and I will do all my pleasure." (Isa. 46:10) R630:5*

Wishes. R5277:1

Desires. (Diaglott) R1781:6, 1253:3

And he wills to restore all who shall prove worthy. To prove who are worthy will be the object of the Millennial reign. R1125:4

All men to be saved -- From Adamic death. R5801:4, 4629:2, 1359:2, 770:3, 753:1, 694:5, 412:6

Recovered out of the death state, the tomb. R5372:5, 630:3*; Q824:2; NS506:4

Saved signifies to deliver. R630:1*

Redeemed. R332:6, 4702:4

Because all were ransomed. R1265:2

A thing saved is a thing once possessed and then lost, and finally recovered. R603:2*

Recovered from the disadvantages of the fall. R4516:4, 4902:4, 493:5*

Saved from ignorance, blindness and deafness. E468; R1674:2 Saved from destruction, from the grave. HG351:2

The death of Christ secures for Adam and all of his race one full opportunity for salvation and no more than one. R4594:4, 4629:2

When the New Covenant shall be sealed and its beneficent arrangements inaugurated. R4364:6

Christ, a ransom for all (verse 6), is the explanation of this statement. R2127:3

While this Scripture teaches a universal salvation, yet there are other Scriptures which speak of the ultimate destruction of a certain class. In seeking to harmonize these we note that there are various salvations. R5372:2

When the testimony is given to all, some will accept and others will reject it. R691:5*

All who will be obedient shall be saved. R5301:2

To live. R623:2* And -- Then. R332:6, 753:1, 387:4

To come -- During the Millennial age. T95; R2519:5, 2435:1, 2375:2, 2059:5, 1438:4, 1253:4, 1015:4

During the reign of The Christ. R331:5

God has made full provision for the enlightenment of all. R5301:2

Requires the awakening of the dead to bring them to a position where they can receive the knowledge. HG344:4

Unto the knowledge -- Greek: "an accurate knowledge." R3279:5, 5372:5, 3023:6, 2059:5, 3243:3, 1311:4, 1273:4, 1180:4

Knowledge in general is not meant; nor a mere hearing of Christ and his work. R3127:1, 1311:3

All shall have fullest opportunity to make a choice between the law of God which leads to life, and the law of sin which leads to death. R1224:6

There can be no salvation without knowledge. None will ever be saved by ignorance. R5575:4

The wicked shall be brought to a full clear knowledge of the truth before being sentenced as wicked. R1106:4

Not until brought to the knowledge of the truth are any on trial for eternal life. R259:2, 630:3*

Bringing every member of Adam's race to a full knowledge of God and to full opportunity of recovery from sin and death. R5427:4, 5276:3, 4629:5

Thus all eventually are to have an opportunity for life everlasting. R2851:3

Even Sodom, a nation long since destroyed, shall come and worship. R497:5

Under the favorable circumstances of the reign of Christ. R412:6

Messiah will accomplish the blessing of humanity by the spread of the knowledge of Jehovah's character. R5575:4

Whether in Christian or heathen lands, all shall come to a knowledge of the truth. This knowledge will not be theoretical, for mankind will be brought to it through practical experience. R5186:5

The knowledge of the Lord shall fill the whole earth. (Isa. 11:9) E20; R1043:3*, 790:6

Includes restoration to mental and physical perfection for all who shall delight to serve and obey Him. R1166:6

They must know the truth before the truth can cleanse and sanctify them, and free them from the bondage of sin and death. R3243:2

Because God purposes that none shall perish because of ignorance or misunderstanding, He has made full provision for the enlightenment of all. R5301:2

Knowledge of truth is light, and Christ is "the true light, to lighten every man that cometh into the world." (John 1:9) R33:2*, 3475:6

There is one God -- One just and merciful God--who cannot tolerate sin.

R1618:3

Not three. R981:1; Q824:2

He accomplishes salvation through the Son. R3172:3

And one mediator -- Greek, mesites, middle-man, reconciler, go-between.

R787:1, 4340:6; Q824:2

The Scriptural usage of the word Mediator confines it to a Mediator of a Covenant between parties who are alienated. R4437:3, 4340:6

A mediator is one who interposes between two persons who are at variance, with a view to reconciling them. He is our Advocate now, and by and by he will be the world's Mediator. R3915:3

The Christ of glory, in the Millennial Kingdom; Christ the head, and the Church, his body, when the sacrificing is finished and the entire Church glorified. R5928:4, 4591:3, 4437:6, 4367:6; Q364:5

Jesus will not be the Mediator till the time the New Covenant is ushered in. Q468:2; R4437:5

No mediating can be done until the Mediator of "many members" has qualified for the office. That qualification consists of sacrificing according to a covenant of sacrifice. R5928:4

The members of the great Mediator will be associated with every feature of the work of mediating during the Millennium. R4515:5

Moses, as the Mediator of the Law Covenant, was a type of Jesus, the Mediator of the New Covenant. R788:4

The mediator Moses and his covenant had not power to grant mercy or justification, as can be done under the New Covenant by its mediator, Christ Jesus. R2150:4

At the close of the thousand years the Mediator steps out from between God and man and leaves the world exposed to the full demands of divine justice in letter and spirit. R4999:2, 5000:4

It is proper to speak of Jesus as Mediator now; to speak of the things which are not yet as though they were. This in no degree contradicts the thought that this Mediator is growing day by day--adding members. R4341:1

And men -- Fallen, sinful men. R1618:3

The world of mankind. R4537:4, 4781:1, 4516:2

Church class not included; they share in the work of reconciling men to God. R4341:2, 4591:3, 4437:5

The man -- Greek, anthropos, human being. R787:1

Not before he was made flesh, when he was a spirit being; and not since his resurrection, for he is a man no longer. R1228:2

"The Man who gave himself" seems to be the particular point--the anointed Jesus, who finished the giving of himself at Calvary, is the "Mediator between God and men." Q560:5

The merit, the value, all proceeded from the one man. R4536:4

The philosophy of the ransom is that all mankind were included in one man's sentence, to the intent that in due time the penalty of sin could be paid by the one sacrifice. R2713:1

He finished the sacrifice at Calvary. R4340:1, 4780:6

Refers to our Lord Jesus personally, and not at all to the church, his body. R4495:6

This points back directly to Jesus our Lord when he was a man. At his baptism he gave himself up, and God accepted him as the Mediator. But he did not do the mediating work there. Q451:7

Messiah; Michael the Archangel; the antitypical Melchizedek, Priest as well as King. R4715:3, 5031:2; Q422:3

Jesus has not yet done the mediating work; he is the one who purposes to do the work. Q467:4

Not a divine being; nor part human and part divine; but "made flesh." E95, 428; R1952:3

A perfect man had sinned. Only a perfect man could pay the price. Only a tested, proven, perfect man could be the world's ransom-price. R4535:6; SM660:1, 68:T

It was not the pre-existent one who shared the glory of life with the Father, but the one who became a man and gave himself a ransom. R106:3*

Christ Jesus -- The word Christ signifies "the anointed." R5120:6

The name Jesus is but another form for Joshua, which signifies Deliverer.

The name Christ is the Greek equivalent for the word Messiah. NS851:3

The Redeemer of the world. R4781:1, 5120:5

Adam's death-sentence was a real sentence, a genuine penalty, and the ransom by which we are made free from sin was a no less real sacrifice, which our Lord gave on our behalf. R2409:6

A perfect man, in the image and likeness of God, as was the first Adam originally. R5846:6

He was to surrender himself to death; this would be the basis upon which he might become the great Mediator between God and men, the great Restorer of mankind, the promised seed of Abraham that is to bless all the families of the earth. SM664:T

The death of the animal could at most only typify the death of the man Christ Jesus, who gave himself a ransom for all. (Heb. 10:1-10) R1724:2

Who gave himself -- As the man Christ Jesus when he presented himself at Jordan and surrendered all to the Father's will. R4633:4, 4340:1

Finished at Calvary. R3710:1, 5873:2, 5046:6, 4864:1, 4747:2, 4633:4, 3106:6

When, on the cross, he cried, "It is finished." R4515:1, 5621:1

He died for our sins, the just for the unjust, for Adam and his race.

R1230:6

Jesus humbled himself in becoming a man, and the object of so doing was to redeem man. R507:1

He surrendered perfect human life--to which he had a full right. R5621:1
His humanity, for "flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God." (1 Cor. 15:50). R507:4

All of himself, his human rights, privileges; the full equivalent of Adam's life and perfection. R1228:4, 5621:1, 776:2

He permitted the Jews to take away his life, but he had neither surrendered nor forfeited his right to life. R5621:2

By his willing sacrifice of himself for men he bought Adam and the entire race. R1278:3

He has not yet made application of this human life to Adam and his race, but has merely put it into the Father's hands. R5621:1

The giving of something for a particular purpose and then its application are two different things. Q391:3

Our Lord's sacrifice was necessary before he could mediate the New Covenant. R4515:2

He kept the Law perfectly, and additionally laid down his life sacrificially for Adam and his race. R5396:2

The Bible teaches universal redemption, not universal and eternal salvation. R5925:1

To carry out the program of atonement. E17

In accordance with the Father's plan. R1618:3

In loyalty, humility and obedience even unto death. E82

Christ was both Priest and Sacrifice, illustrated by the high priest under the law offering the beast--a lower nature--as a sacrifice for sin. R144:6*

A ransom -- Signifies a price, as an equivalent. R4855:3, 3621:6, 726:3, 513:2, 432:5, 392:6, 324:4, 62:1*

A corresponding price, a substitute. R5822:4, 5152:4, 4734:4, 3694:4

Anti-lutron, a corresponding price. R5972:2, 5925:2, 5622:6, 5372:5, 5120:5, 4905:1, 4780:3, 4340:1, 3088:2, 2052:2, 2051:1, 1965:2, 1719:4, 1572:3, 1256:2, 1230:5, 1228:4, 1177:6, 1058:5, 709:5; SM658:2; Q657:3; A178; Eii, 428

All of Jesus' disciples renounced their share in the ransom blessings that are coming to the world that they may have a share in a still greater blessing. Eiii

God will let the prisoners out of death because he "has found a ransom." (Job 33:24) E462

Webster's Dictionary: To redeem from captivity, punishment or forfeit, by paying an equivalent; to buy out of servitude or penalty; to rescue (by giving a ransom); to deliver (by giving a ransom), as to ransom prisoners from an enemy. R1590:2

The price paid to redeem from captivity or punishment. R689:6

To buy man back from death. R9:6

Human life (given by Christ Jesus) for human life (Adam) is the legal ransom. R62:1*

The object of the ransom was not to justify sin, nor to bring back the sinner to continue a life of sin, but to afford each an individual trial for life in hope that all might return to harmony and communion with God.

R408:3

To ransom means, not only to purchase, but to receive or to recover the thing that is purchased. Q111:5; R867:3, 145:1*

The ransom-price was furnished by the man Christ Jesus. R4747:2

A price sufficient to ransom Adam and all his race. R5873:2; SM29:1; OV152:T

A Redeemer was necessary for Adam and his posterity, and Jesus became that Redeemer. R5284:6

God has not annulled the death sentence, but he has provided a ransom for all--to make possible the resurrection of Adam and his race. R5083:3, 5120:5; Q179:2

The basis of hope, for the Church and the world. R5822:2

Jesus was the only one who could be the corresponding price for Adam. R5622:6

He laid down his life during the three-and-one-half years. He applied it to the Church class when he appeared in the presence of God for us. He has not yet applied it for the whole world. R4747:2, 4633:4

A ransom is not applicable to fallen angels because they were not condemned to death. Q20:1

If the "ransom for all" is denied, then logically "times of restitution" to a former estate (Acts 3:19-21; Ezek. 16:55,61) must be denied also. R2639:6

This, from the divine standpoint, is the full offset to father Adam's transgression. SM306:2

The doctrine of the ransom is thus shown by the apostle to be fundamental to a proper conception and appreciation of God's character. R1583:4

A ransom was necessary to man's recovery from the Adamic condemnation. R1633:3; Eiii; PD55/67; OV143:1

To admit that the ransom has been paid by Jesus' death is to admit that the penalty was death and that restitution is assured. R856:3

The church is not a part of the ransom-price. R4864:1

Because Christ gave his human nature as a ransom, his heavenly Father gave him the divine nature. R316:5*

The ransom is the center and essence of the gospel. R1877:5

For all -- All the souls of the human family, who were begotten by Adam and Eve. R3063:2

Including the Sodomites and all other sinners. R1618:4

Not only Israel, but the entire race of Adam. R5003:3

In the sense that eventually its benefits will extend to every member of the Adamic race. SM663:1

This does not give or guarantee everlasting life or blessing to any man; but it does guarantee to every man another opportunity or trial for life everlasting. A150

This was the purpose lying behind the sacrifice of Christ Jesus. SM663:3
Through the resurrection, God has arranged to show his love for the world.
R5166:3

He did not at once apply it for all, but merely for the Church, the household of faith. R4428:2, 4998:6

Has not yet been so applied. R4519:1, 4747:2

"That he, by the grace (favor, bounty, mercy) of God should taste death for every man." (Heb. 2:9) E451; R507:1, 42:2*

"For our sins; and not for ours only, but also for the sins of the whole world." (1 John 2:2) E328; F334; R33:2*

"Good tidings of great joy which shall be to all people." (Luke 2:10) A131

To be testified -- To all. R923:6, 632:4*

During the Millennial age. R4633:5

When the merit of Christ's sacrifice is applied on behalf of the world of mankind. R4637:3 To every man, that all will have the fullest opportunity to believe and thus to come into Christ and through him inherit eternal life. R1438:4; E420

The testimony began when Jesus brought life and immortality to light through his Gospel. R5354:4

To give the "knowledge of the truth" mentioned in verse 4, a work that began with our Lord. R2127:3

The full benefit of this ransom-price will not have been given until the work of the Millennial age shall have been finished. R4633:5

Upon God's terms, as God never intended to give his blessings to any but those who desire to be in harmony with him. R4633:5

To testify is to give testimony for the purpose of communicating to others a knowledge of something not known to them. R33:2*

In due time -- God's due time for the testimony to reach the world evidently has not yet come. R5354:2; SM785:1

The knowledge of the Lord will fill the whole earth--during Messiah's mediatorial reign. R1425:4, 3915:3, 5372:5, 4780:6

God has a due time for everything. OV225:3; R659:1*, 545:1

For those who will be of the Church, the present is the due time to hear.
OV225:3; R1337:4*, 691:5*

The knowledge and blessing flowing from his redemptive sacrifice shall be made effective to all who will accept this favor under the terms of the New Covenant. R2490:1 Millions of the race for whom Christ died will be brought to a knowledge of the truth after their awakening from death.

R3016:6, 1478:5

During the Millennium, after our Lord's second advent. R3016:6, 4633:4, 3026:2, 3025:6, 1015:4; HG16:3; Eiii

Under the reasonable terms of the New covenant. E394

When the elect "little flock" have been exalted to reign with Christ in his Kingdom. R1585:6, 779:1

The due time for some is now, but the due time for the great majority of mankind is in the future--Messianic age. R5301:2; A105

The Church first, next the Great Company, the Ancient Worthies, and at the end of the Millennial age, the remainder of the race. R4633:6

God's love, held in abeyance, has bided its time to manifest itself to our race. R5979:1

"The desire of all nations shall come." (Haggai 2:7) R4715:6

The Scriptures never intimate that the Gospel age is the due time for the world to hear, and be blessed by Christ. R698:5

The telegraph, telephone, improved printing presses and rapid mail service will each have their part in testifying to all the ransom accomplished, the reconciliation possible, and conditions of the new covenant. R1155:3

When released from the condemnation of Adamic death and brought to an accurate knowledge of the truth, the masses of mankind will be on trial for everlasting life or everlasting death. NS310:4

Whereunto -- The apostle himself was even then engaged in giving the testimony (of verse 6). R2127:3

I am ordained -- Greek, tithemi, ("And he ordained twelve" Mark 3:14);

"An apostle, not of men, neither by man, but by Jesus Christ, and God the Father, who raised him from the dead." (Gal. 1:1) F276

And an apostle -- Paul taking the place of Judas. R1148:4

Chosen and ordained of God. R1461:4

1 Timothy 2:9

Modest apparel -- Clothing should be neat, comfortable and becoming, "decent" but not "costly." R874:1

1 Timothy 2:10

With good works -- The duties of Christian women wherein they find themselves when called, do not really conflict with other duties of the Lord's service. R1084:1*

1 Timothy 2:11

Learn in silence -- Adam, under God, was the teacher, and Eve the learner. And it was right and proper, in this instance at least, that the woman should "learn in silence with all subjection." R1549:5

There would be no violation of the Apostle's injunction in the sisters' taking part in a Berean study. R5922:5

Suffer not a woman -- Who symbolizes the Church, is not to attempt to teach a man, who symbolically represents the Lord. F270

If women in the Church pray or prophesy, it should be with their heads covered. R2222:4

To teach -- In the Church. T102; R4798:4

Sisters are not to teach in public. R5588:2

Meaning--"I never sanction a female elder in the Church." R4122:4

Literally, because she is a type of the Church; because it would make her masculine, and because of the generally larger approbateness of the gentler sex. F265, 266, 267

Typically, because the Lord is the only teacher of the Body. F270

This should not be understood to hinder the sisters from participating in meetings not of the teaching kind (e.g., prayer and testimony meetings and Berean studies). F272

Usurp authority -- Sisters might lead a Berean study if no consecrated or competent brethren are present. R5922:5

Over the man -- Who symbolically represents the Lord. F270

It does not say a sister might not instruct sisters, or children. Q472:6

The woman is not to usurp the natural position of the man as leader and teacher, to take that attitude herself. R1550:3

In the Church, it would be improper for the woman to teach, implying the Church was teaching Christ. Q472:6

To be in silence -- Greek, hesuchia, quietness. R1549:4

Quiet. R766:2*

Paul does not mean that a woman's lips must be forever sealed, that she may not declare the good tidings of great joy to others. R766:2*, 1076:2*

1 Timothy 2:13

Adam was first formed -- Authority to rule is naturally implied in the headship of the man. R1548:5

Adam -- All the human race, from Adam down, came under condemnation through his wilful sin. R1005:5

There was no death in our race until the divine sentence fell upon Adam as the penalty for his sin. R2395:3

Was not deceived

Wilfully shared Eve's disobedience, incurring its penalty rather than live without her. A123; E22; R1108:1; Q7:1

Adam knew that God had put a penalty of death on the eating of that food. Q706:T; CR425:2; E408

The sentence of death was pronounced because of father Adam's sin, which was committed with full knowledge. R5603:2, 4019:1, 2395:3, 871:3, 866:1; PT387:3*

Some today would likewise be willing to sacrifice their eternal interests for the joys and pleasures of earthly companionship. R3926:2

We could conceive of no other motive on the part of a perfect man in disobeying the Divine mandate, than that of love for his bride. Q741:4

Woman being deceived -- Contrary to the teachings of many modern theologians. A61

It was not because mother Eve was deceived that the sentence came upon the world. R5603:2

Although deceived, she was a transgressor, though not so culpable as if she had transgressed against greater light. A123

She shall be saved -- Be relieved from much of the anguish incident to motherhood. R3032:4

1 Timothy 3

1 Timothy 3:1

Desire the office -- Service. R1891:6

Classes should elect only a consecrated, spirit-begotten child of God as an elder. R5941:4

In seeking this position let each one remember that there is danger of the development of pride, and the assumption of power. R5185:3

Not for personal glory, but to further the Lord's Cause. Q120:4

Of a bishop -- Shepherd, overseer. R4502:6, 5185:3, 1891:6

Elder. R5793:4

Not an exalted position; a humbled, untitled servant of the church, caring for the interests of the sheep. R5793:3

The Apostles never used this term as an honorary title. R1523:6

If one properly attends to the shepherding of the flock, he will not have time for other interests. Those who have been called to the position of eldership amongst the Lord's people should consider this an honor and a privilege from the Lord. R5185:3

A good work -- Any service we can render to the body of Christ is a blessed service. R1892:1

It is a noble service. R5793:3

If he approach this service from the standpoint of earnest desire to serve the flock, he should not be ashamed to rejoice that he has, to this extent, the spirit of the Lord. R4502:6

1 Timothy 3:2

Blameless -- Of good character. R1892:1

In sympathy with high ideals, such as those represented in the Vow. R5983:4

Husband of one wife-- Not more than one. F249

Not necessarily a married man, for both the Lord and the Apostle recommend the celibate state as preferable. R1892:1

Hospitality -- Present day arrangements for public hotels, lodgings, etc., are calculated to hinder the development of the spirit of hospitality. R3432:1

"Be not forgetful to entertain strangers; for thereby some have entertained angels unawares." (Heb. 13:2) R3432:1

Apt to teach -- To have the teaching ability. Not all have the ability, the gift, of making things plain to others. R5699:4, 2741:5

Have ability as a teacher, explainer, expounder of the divine plan, and thus be able to assist the Lord's flock in word and in doctrine. F249

Ability to impart the truth to others in its own power and simplicity (not necessarily an orator.) R1720:5

Especially qualified; ensamples to the brethren in word, in conduct. R5940:2

Never manifests haughtiness, nor assumes an air of superiority. Is meek, lowly of heart, humble. R5699:4

A congregation should elect a brother as their representative, in the name of the Lord; when they recognize the Lord's authorization of him, and that he has the qualities fitting him for service according to the Divine Word. Q521:6

"Able by sound doctrine both to exhort and to convince the gainsayers." (Titus 1:9) E284

Having his children in subjection -- If someone has been derelict in his duty toward his children, he probably would be unwise or derelict in his counsels and his general ministries amongst the Lord's children in the ecclesia. F249

Take care of -- Preside over, look out for its interests, assisting as faithful stewards of God. R1892:1

Not a novice -- A beginner, one young in the truth. R5956:5

An inexperienced or untried person. R1892:3

Some elect novices, contrary to the direction of the Lord's Word, thus doing harm both to the novice and to the class. Q519:3; R3012:2, 5941:4 Elders must be sufficiently well known in advance of selection to justify confidence in them. F248

A student of the Word, of cultivated thought, well founded and settled. Not a teacher of speculations and fancies, nor of Anglo-Israelism, Socialism, politics, astronomical theories, or other questions not of spiritual profit. R1720:6

No novice, either in doctrine or in speaking should be employed in any of the class extension work. Q526:4

Pride -- Spiritual pride. R5956:5

Of the devil -- Whose very existence is now denied by many. F609

Paul was a firm believer in a personal devil. R3165:6 Become, like Satan, ambitious to be great, thereby necessitating his abasement. R1892:3

Have a good report -- As respects honesty, uprightness, morality, truthfulness. F249; R1892:3

Into reproach -- The reproach of hypocrisy. R1892:3

1 Timothy 3:8

Deacons -- Assistants. (Diaglott) R1892:3; 1891:6
Servant, or helper. F253

The Apostles never used this term as an honorary title. R1523:6

To be grave, not double-tongued, not given to much wine, not greedy of filthy lucre -- To be serious, not deceitful in speech, not being addicted to much wine, not eager for base gain. (Diaglott) R1892:3

Mystery -- Secret. (Diaglott) R1892:3

Deacon -- Signifies runner, attendant, servant. R2951:6

Found blameless -- Of good reputation. F249

1 Timothy 3:12

Ruling -- Presiding. (Diaglott) R1892:3

1 Timothy 3:13

A good degree -- A good reward. Q473:2

The confidence of the class. Q477:5

Deacons are elected for a special kind of work. If they have other talents, they should be encouraged to use them--and in time the class might choose them as elders. Q478:5; 473:2

A good degree of liberty, privilege, opportunity, preferment, and honor in the church by their faithfulness as deacons. Q244:T

1 Timothy 3:15

The house of God -- Not the meeting-house, but the assembly itself. R4008:2

Church of the living God -- Only one Church, not sects and parties, but this includes the saintly in all of these. "The Lord knoweth them that are his." (2 Tim. 2:19) R5067:1; Q755:4

Whom the Apostles styled saints. OV187:6

Christ is the Head, and every truly consecrated one who believes in him as his Saviour is a member. R1420:6

Not instituted until Jesus had presented himself as a sacrifice, that the merit of his sacrifice might be made applicable to all who would become members of his body. R5392:4

Pillar and ground -- The pillar and support of the truth, the ground-work of the truth, is that on which the truth is based, and by which it is supported. Q719:5

The mission of the Church is to be a supporter of the truth, acting as pillars, now--and we shall ultimately be the foundation and agency of God's truth, in the Millennial Age. Q719:5

Was manifest -- Rendered apparent. E77

God gave his son. The son "gave himself for us." Truly they are in harmony. The love of the infinite God could neither be created nor purchased but it could be shown through the work of his son. R9:3*

Our Lord when on earth was in the fullest sense the Representative of the Father in the flesh. R5834:4

The Spirit of the Father was manifest in Jesus. R4306:6

In the flesh -- There could never be a more complete manifestation of God to man than in the person of Christ when he was made flesh. E77; R5291:1

Jesus had the glory of the only begotten of the Father, full of grace and truth. R5291:1

God was manifest in the flesh; first, in Adam; secondly in Jesus; and thirdly, He will be manifest in the ancient worthies. R5291:4; B136

The ancient worthies being resurrected perfect men, will be perfect images of God. In each one of these ancient worthies God will be manifest in the flesh. R5291:3; NS459:5

At the end of the thousand years all mankind loving righteousness will be fleshly images of God. R5294:2; B136

The Greek word sarx means flesh, simply and only. It does not mean sinful flesh. R1223:2

God is also manifest in the flesh of all consecrated believers. R455:5

Justified in the Spirit -- Jesus was proved right--proved perfect; not made right. R5960:1

He was vindicated as being right. R440:3, 660:1

Making manifest God's justice, or righteousness. R1246:3

Seen of angels -- The condemned angels have been learning much since the first test and sermon such as the lesson of Jesus' obedience and exaltation. (1 Pet. 3:18-20) R1679:6

1 Timothy 4

1 Timothy 4:1

The spirit -- Of God. R266:4

Of truth. R371:2

In the latter times -- This refers not to the very last times, but to the times subsequent to those in which the apostle was writing. (See Alford.) R639:1*

Particularly in the times in which we are now living. R2189:3

"In the last days perilous times shall come." (2 Tim. 3:1) C200

"The time will come when they will not endure sound doctrine. (2 Tim. 4:3) C200

Some shall depart -- From the truth. R371:2

"A thousand shall fall at thy side, and ten thousand at thy right hand; but it shall not come nigh thee." (Psa. 91:7) R2770:5

Seducing spirits -- Satan and his fallen angels. SM676:1; CR429:1; OV415:4; R2179:1, 2173:4

That would lead any astray. R5362:6

Deceiving. R266:4

Evil spirits have a way of drawing the unsuspecting on, little by little. R5085:1

They gain the confidence of their victims, and in a plausible manner break down their willpower and make slaves of them. R2179:1

They have been successful throughout the entire world in deluding and ensnaring humanity and especially active and seductive in their methods during the harvest. R5800:4

Through dreams and revelations they have brought into the church various doctrines of devils. R5673:6

These are on the alert to ensnare humanity through spirit mediums, spirit rappings, tippings, clairvoyants, ouija-boards, etc. God's people should warn the world of the great danger resulting from any association with these fallen angels. R4769:5, 5378:1

The Apostle tells us that the heathen sacrificed to these demons. R2173:4

Doctrines of devils -- Teachings, or doctrines of demons. SM19:1; R5485:3, 5443:4, 5406:6, 171:2*

False doctrines. R5406:6, 5445:6

Deceptions from Satan. R5851:3

Various doctrines which are the reverse of the truth. R5485:3

Error could lead only into trouble and darkness. R632:1*

That the dead are not dead; that eternal torment is the wages of sin; that there is to be no resurrection of the dead because no one is dead; transmigration of soul; Spiritism; Christian Science; Theosophy; Evolution. F622, 623, 624, 629; R2499:5

That man cannot die, but must live somewhere to all eternity. SM540:3

The great mass of mankind are under the influence of these doctrines today. F377; CR429:1

Such heathenish doctrines as purgatory and eternal torture. OV161:2, 203:4; R5314:6, 3963:1; CR20:1

Deluded ones teach "Ye shall not surely die!" (Gen. 3:4) and that death is only a process of evolution; man is his own savior. R5801:1

Creeds of the Dark Ages. R5406:6, 5468:5; SM421:3, 365:1; OV401:1

Christendom is still holding up those terribly slanderous creeds (of an unjust, unloving Father) before the world, hindering them from getting even a glimpse of the length, breadth, height and depth of the "love of God which passeth all understanding." R5353:3

Many of the teachings of the past, both Catholic and Protestant, were not only irrational, but most positively unscriptural teachings of men.

CR78:1; OV246:4

They were looking for devilish things and made them out of Scriptural statements which had no such significance. OV385:T

The outcome of wrong belief, the wrong faith, is wrong doing. Many believing in purgatory and eternal torment, tortured others horribly thinking they were copying the Almighty. R4527:4, 4533:6

Every feature of present truth is promptly counterfeited to deceive if possible the very elect. (Matt. 24:24) R5800:5

False doctrines are what are troubling the people of God today. R5406:6

The god of this world has blinded the minds of the majority of all nations with ignorance and superstition. R5769:6

New "garments of light" are assumed continually by Satan. R5800:5, 3119:6

These false doctrines are gathering out of God's Kingdom "all that offend, and them which do iniquity." (Matt. 13:41) After this separation is complete, the fire of the great time of trouble will destroy all errors and falsehoods in religion. R5802:1

Lies in hypocrisy -- Describes Satan's work concisely. SM132:3

Hypocrisy on the part of seducing spirits consists of personating "angels of light" and pretending to bring in "new light." R5800:4, 1643:1

Their -- Ministers; who outwardly pose as God's servants, but who in reality are hypocrites. SM134:1

Conscience -- The majority of people have as good as no conscience, for they are blind to the principles and laws of God given to guide conscience. R3596:5, 4803:6

Do not trust your conscience. If it were a sufficient guide you would have no need of the Scriptures. R3596:5, 4803:6

Seared -- Toughened; hardened. OV390:1

Forbidding to marry -- None are forbidden to marry. Marriage is still honorable (Heb. 13:4) when the relationship is sustained in purity and holiness, as God designed; when two are equally yoked. R1554:1

This prohibition by Papacy upon its priesthood has brought upon it one of the foulest stains that have blackened its baneful history. R1554:1

Abstain from meats -- We note a similar delusion and false conception of holiness creeping in amongst vegetarians. R3098:3

Who can fail to recognize the Papacy in the description here given?

R662:5*, 639:1*

Everything that can be eaten with thanksgiving to God is proper and not to be despised. R1856:1

We offer no objection to those who claim that they have better health as a result of a purely vegetable diet. But we do object to the claim of special sanctity because of it. R3098:3

Judge for yourself how much is good for you, and the kind that agrees with you best. Q463:3

1 Timothy 4:7

Old wives' fables -- Higher critics regard as "old wives' fables" much of the Word of God, including the record of miracles, the story of Adam and Eve, and their fall, the story of Jonah and the great fish, etc. R5800:6

1 Timothy 4:8

Is profitable -- Our hope serves as a spiritual nerve tonic; it stimulates the mortal to divine service. R5114:5

We cannot expect to become strong in the physical lines by subsisting on chaff. The New Creature, in order to develop along spiritual lines, must breathe deeply of the holy Spirit of the Lord. R4245:3*

Life that now is -- The effect of these new ambitions, hopes, aims, upon our physical health is often marvelous. R5114:5

The living God -- Jehovah. R1437:2

Who is the Savior -- Author of the divine plan. E33; R3172:3

He accomplishes the salvation through the Son. R3172:3

Not that he saves all men eternally; but he will save all men from the Adamic fall. HG14:6; R778:3*

God was back of all and the cause or mainspring of all that our Lord Jesus has done and will do as his agent and representative in saving men. R1253:3

He is not now the Savior of all men, nor indeed of any as generally taught--a Savior from famines, pestilences, earthquakes, cyclones, etc.

R778:3*

Of all men -- In the sense that all are to be brought out of their graves and given a knowledge of the truth. A108; R5372:3, 1437:3, 779:2*

The Savior of only those who accept his grace and become "his people" under the New Covenant. R3280:1

To natural life; the common salvation. R352:4*, 742:2, 611:5

"All" means every member of the human family. R838:1, 1218:4

Each is saved from the condemnation to destruction which Adam's sin brought upon all. R1218:4

Specially -- Chiefly. R1149:4*

A special salvation for those called to be saints. R611:5

The Apostle declares that in one sense the salvation which God has promised is to be universal, while in another sense it is to be restricted to believers. R1437:2, 603:3*

The Apostle speaks of the two salvations in the same sentence. R742:1

To the uttermost; most fully and everlastingly. R1278:4; A106

During this age, they are privileged to become sons of God on a higher plane, even to be partakers of the divine nature. R545:2, 1642:4, 1442:2, 611:5, 1337:4*, 779:3*

This salvation is only for the "little flock." (Luke 12:32) R779:2*

Faith is the dividing line between "all men" and "a class." R691:1*

Those who will share in the "great salvation" and be "especially" saved to heavenly conditions, must first share by faith in the common salvation.

R742:2

Those that believe -- Now. R603:6*

Greek: pistos, meaning trusty and trusting. It is to the trusting ones that God shall work out special or lasting salvation. R1218:4

1 Timothy 4:11

These things -- The divine plan, not human wisdom. F255

1 Timothy 4:12

Despise thy youth -- Young elders should conduct themselves so none will have cause to slight the message they bring, or to think of them as immature and unfit to lead the flock of God. R5494:5

According to the flesh, both Timothy and Titus were young men. R2655:1, 1894:3

Be an example -- In his Christ-like character. R5860:1
Worthy of imitation. R5494:5

Striving to show forth the praises of our Master. R5494:1

In every sense, Paul would have Timothy be a worthy example, so that all who took note of him would see how they ought to deport themselves. R5860:5
Not only to fellow-workers in the Gospel, but especially to the world.

R5494:1

By his spiritual development and knowledge of the divine plan, and aptness to teach. R2655:1

Of the believers -- Does not say, be thou an example to the believers. R5493:6

What they believe, what they teach, and how they live. R5494:1

So that not only the Church, but others, might see this example, and thus have a greater interest in the Lord's cause. R5860:1

In words -- He was to glorify the Lord in his words, in what he would say, in how he would say it, in wisdom of speech. Whoever would be careless in his language would reveal a careless heart. R5860:2

In conversation -- Has the significance of conduct, manner of life. R5860:2, 5494:1

In every way, we are to be gentle and kind and considerate and not rude. R5494:1

Whatever you do, be a worthy exponent of the doctrine of Christ and of the effect of his spirit in the heart. R5860:2

In charity -- Love. R5493:6, 5860:2

Love would not wish any harm to his neighbor, but would manifest interest in everybody, and even in the brute creation--wishing to do right, to be kind. R5860:2

Love would serve the interest of others in spirit; it would come from the heart, from the inward disposition; not merely in word or in outward conduct. R5860:2, 5494:2

In spirit -- Not found in the original, but the thought seems proper enough. R5494:2

In faith -- Never murmuring against the experiences of life as they come. R5494:2

We should not merely say we have faith, but should manifest it in our lives. R5860:4

In purity -- A loftiness of standard not to be found elsewhere; everything impure is contrary to God. R5494:4

As the typical priests and Levites were instructed to wash and keep themselves continually clean, so the spiritual Israelites today should be pure, clean, in words, in action, in thought. R5860:5

By prophecy -- By prediction, indicating that the apostles were led thus to approve Timothy, by the Lord's direction. F284

Laying on the hands -- It was the custom in those days for the apostles to lay hands upon all who believed, and thus to communicate to them the gift of the Spirit. R1957:2

The laying on of hands was also used to indicate consent; as, for instance, in the case of the Church at Antioch when it chose Paul and Barnabas to be its missionaries and representatives in Gospel work. R1957:4

Of the presbytery -- The elders. R3172:1

A company of elders; from the Greek word which signifies "old man." R1957:1
Upon Timothy; the eldership in this case probably referred to the apostles who were still living. R1957:2

Meditate -- To the very end of our days. R2146:6*

The elect have been receiving their education by giving themselves wholly to studying the Scriptures; and being led into all truth by the spirit of the truth. R33:5*

May appear to all -- The profiting will certainly not appear if the means are not used. R2146:5*

1 Timothy 4:16

Unto thyself -- Thy walk and conversation before men. R1569:6

Unto the doctrine -- Declare it and defend it on every proper occasion. R1570:1

That hear thee -- Saved from sinking into error and sin and reaping its bitter consequences. R1570:4

1 Timothy 5:1

Rebuke not an elder -- An elder is not appointed in the Church to brow-beat or to trample down the liberties of others. R4977:5
The apostle did not refer to an elder of the congregation, but a person older than one's self. R4977:5
An aged brother, even if he has erred; have respect to his years. R1586:5

1 Timothy 5:2

As mothers -- There was a family sympathy in olden times that we do not see exemplified today. R4977:6
With all purity -- With no semblance of undue familiarity. R1586:6

Piety at home -- By caring for their dependent relatives. R2513:5

1 Timothy 5:5

A widow indeed -- Whose trust is in God and whose conduct is consistent with that trust. R1586:6

1 Timothy 5:8

If any -- This relates primarily to a Christian husband and his duty toward his wife and his children. R4854:1
Provide not -- Careth not; neglects. R5229:2
Our own family should be our first charge or responsibility. Charity begins at home. R5376:2
God knows your circumstances and necessities; he declares it to be his will that you care for those whom his providences has placed under your care. R479:2
The husband is not obeying the divine law if he does not provide for his family, no matter for what reason; unless it be disability through sickness. R2488:3
The parent should have something laid up for the necessities of his family in the event of his death. R4854:2
This passage would not apply with the same force as when the apostle spoke these words. One would be making proper provisions, sometimes, when he paid his share of the taxes toward the general weal. R4854:4
"Provide things honest in the sight of all." (Rom. 12:17) F578; R873:3
For his own -- Those dependent upon him. R4854:1, 2474:3; F589

As he may be able. R1828:4

God expects of us that we will make reasonable provisions for ourselves and for those for whom we are responsible, our families and our relatives.

R2689:1

We are required to put matters in such shape that those dependent on us shall not suffer want. R1280:5

None should make the mistake of supposing that the responsibilities of a family already incurred can be ignored and set aside. R901:4

Insurance of life and property, like poorhouses and hospitals, is merely the putting of the teachings of Christ into a business form. R521:2

There is danger that our necessities be too liberally considered, thus tending to cultivate pride and desire, and to hold us back and hinder our race. R479:4

But when parents attempt to become rich and to leave their children rich, they specially err. R1828:4

His own house -- Household; kindred. R4854:1,4, 5229:2

Our own households are our first charge and responsibility. They must have reasonable attention before we could hope to apply the Golden Rule for our neighbors. R2689:1

Communism is not the Lord's arrangement. D479

The members of the body of Christ would be members of our own household, and their temporalities would be in some measure our responsibility.

R4854:4

Provide things honest, neat and comfortable for the temporal necessities, and then give them no further thought. R901:6

Denied the faith -- "The faith" includes thoughts of love, sympathy, interest and care for others, especially for them of the household of faith. R2474:3

God wishes his people to make reasonable provision for those depending upon him. CR311:6

There would be a lack of love, of sympathy, regarding the interests of the ones neglected. R4854:5

To live contrary to the doctrine one professes would be to deny his faith.

R4854:5

Denying their share in Christianity in a most practical form. R2293:3

The New Creature must in certain matters be governed by the obligations of the flesh. F488

1 Timothy 5:9

Taken into the number -- Enrollment as a permanent or life pensioner.

R2293:3

Under threescore years -- No widow was to be enrolled as a regular beneficiary of the church's bounty under 60 years of age. R2293:3

1 Timothy 5:10

The saint's feet -- The open sandals worn in Bible times made the washing of the feet after a journey a necessity for personal comfort.

R3543:1, 5091:3

It became a synonym of service and kindly hospitality. R1101:3, 1293:1, 2293:6, 3543:6

A custom in Palestine. R5091:4

If a widowed sister had shown a humble disposition, Paul would advocate a special care for such a sister in need; for she had manifested a loyal and true spirit. R5091:4

1 Timothy 5:13

Busybodies -- One who busies himself in the affairs of others, with which he has properly nothing whatever to do. F583

An indication of spiritual weakness, else they would not have so much time to spare in finding fault with others. R4376:1

1 Timothy 5:14

I will therefore -- I will advise therefore. F557

The younger women -- Believers, but not consecrated. F557; R1554:2

Marry -- Because if they conclude to learn the lessons of life by experience rather than by precept, they will learn faster by marital experiences than in any other way. F557, 558

Marriage is still honorable when two are equally yoked (2 Cor. 6:14) and toil together as true yoke-fellows for the spiritual family of God. Yet, with rare exceptions, the consecrated can best fulfil their covenant by walking alone with God. R1554:1

Bear children -- It is a serious error to suppose parentage to be dishonorable or sinful. R4090:6

After Satan -- The apostle was a firm believer in a personal devil.

R3165:6

1 Timothy 5:16

Church be charged -- Who should not be made financial burdens to the Church. R1554:2

May relieve them -- The church help was specially for the real widows--those bereft, and particularly the aged. R2293:3

The elders -- The power rested with the congregation to reject any teacher according to their judgment of the Word and will of God. R1848:4

That rule well -- The prominent elders, especially those bending down through hard work in preaching and teaching. F252

Double honor -- So long as teachers were recognized as having been God-provided, and so long as they approved themselves by their conduct and the Word of God, to the congregation, they had more honor than others, and their opinions were given proportionately more weight. R1848:4
Our esteem for others should be "in the Lord." R1571:4

Word and doctrine -- Preaching and teaching. F252

1 Timothy 5:18

Of his reward -- The apostles were to expect to find a home and the necessities of life wherever they went, giving back, in exchange for these temporal blessings, the blessings they had been empowered to bestow. R2261:5

1 Timothy 5:19

Against an elder -- Because the Church has approved his character and because Satan marks him for attack. F293

Accusation -- If any brother or sister brings to you an evil report of others, stop him at once, kindly but firmly. R4803:2, 3595:3

Or three witness -- Who might be obtained from those who go with the accuser for the second interview; this means that an elder is granted no immunity, but is entitled merely to every right or privilege granted to other brethren. F293

Them that sin -- That commit a public sin of a grievous nature. F301

1 Timothy 5:22

Lay hands -- May possibly be to ordination by laying on of hands; but this is uncertain. R1957:1

The early Church had a ceremony of formally laying hands on the heads of their elders, deacons, etc. When the apostles did this, it was the indication of the impartation of the Holy Spirit. Q517:5; R5809:1

Suddenly on no man -- Caution should be exercised in giving anyone a letter of recommendation or a public endorsement. F285

No longer water -- Exclusively. R2007:1

Use a little wine -- Paul, who sent handkerchiefs and napkins to the sick, sent no napkin or handkerchief, or anointing oil to Timothy, but advised the use of wine medicinally. R4980:1, 2364:6, 2007:1, 1689:4; SM576:1

Its limited use as a medicine is warranted. R1695:6

There is no record of any faith-healing or miracle for the recovery of physical afflictions of the saints, who have been treated physically, much as other men. R712:6

Paul did not advise Timothy to pray for his own healing, nor advised others to pray for him, but advised certain medicines. R4980:1, 2007:1; F653

We, the consecrated, are not authorized to call upon divine power for the healing of our own infirmities. R1689:4

Saints may pray for and be the instruments in healing others, but themselves they cannot heal. R712:6, 1689:4

Often infirmities -- Chronic dyspepsia or indigestion. F653; R2364:6

1 Timothy 5:24

Some men's sins -- The "very elect" have all their sins up for judgment beforehand, before the general judgment time for the world. Q833:5; R5318:5, 1471:1, 1397:4, 527:4

Afflictions often come upon the Lord's most devoted saints to try them and prove them, to test their loyalty, zeal and faithfulness, and to refine and cultivate the Christian graces and establish character. R1773:3

Usually those of the Lord's consecrated saints. R1471:1

The Great Company will have its sins up for judgment after the Little Flock. Q833:5

Since nations will have no resurrection as nations, it is but justice that the reaping as well as the sowing should always come in "this present evil world (age)." R2305:3

To judgment

Greek: krisis. Includes the thought of trial culminating in a decision that is final, irrevocable. R2430:2

As the sins of Sodom, Gomorrha, Tyre and Sidon. R1618:5

Receiving a measure of punishment in the present life. R5318:5, 4856:4, 1471:1, 1397:4

And some -- In some instances. R1618:5

They follow after -- As in the more wicked sins (because more enlightened) of Judean cities. R1618:5

But in any event they receive a just recompense of reward either now or hereafter. A145

The punishment of evil doers tarries until the appointed time, the Millennial age. R1618:5

Often the punishments are not meted out in the present life. R5318:5
Into the next life, when some shall be beaten with many and some with a few stripes. R1397:4, 527:5

1 Timothy 5:25

Good works -- Whether good works are rewarded now or hereafter, our Lord's assurance is that even the gift of a cup of cold water to one of his disciples shall have its reward. (Matt. 10:40-42) R1655:3

1 Timothy 6

1 Timothy 6:1

Their own masters -- Communism is not the counsel of God for this age. D480; R1862:4

Worthy of all honor -- Treat them with respect and Christian courtesy. R1464:2*

1 Timothy 6:2

Do them service -- Not as men-pleasers; with singleness of heart those who serve should render service as unto the Lord. Service rendered in such a spirit is always dignified and ennobling. R1464:2*

1 Timothy 6:3

Doctrine which is according to godliness-- Will provide the oneness of thought, mind and action required of the Church of God. R1130:6*

He is proud -- "Vainly puffed up by his fleshly mind." (Col. 2:18) F412

Evil surmisings -- "Love thinketh no evil." (1 Cor. 13:5) F406;
R5123:2

Consists in imagining evil intentions and motives behind the words and acts of others. It is contrary to the words of our Lord Jesus, and opposed to godliness. R5122:6, 3594:1

Those who practice evil surmising have never entered the school of Christ, or are in the infant class. R5123:1

Love filling our hearts will not only hinder evil conduct and injurious words, but will prevent evil thoughts. R5123:2

Whoever neglects the Lord's commands along this line weaves a web for his own ensnarement; for a heart impregnated with doubt and suspicion toward fellow creatures is more than half prepared to doubt God. R3594:2

The saints have probably the most to dread from the inoculation of their minds with evil surmisings. R4312:4

1 Timothy 6:6

Godliness -- God-likeness. R613:1

"Ye cannot serve God and Mammon." (Luke 16:13) R2259:1

With contentment -- Absence of covetousness. R3046:1

This blessed state of godly contentment cannot be reached in a moment. It is a result of growth in grace and in the knowledge and love of God.

OV200:6

With intelligent people there can scarcely be contentment without godliness. OV200:3

The example of the saints should be that of contentment and cheerful submission to present trials. A341

We commend this thought to socialists and everyone else. R5155:4

Christian contentment is based upon godliness, worldly contentment is based upon love of ease and selfishness. NS63:3

Great gain -- True riches, not earthly prosperity. R2520:3

1 Timothy 6:8

Having food and raiment -- Needful or necessary food and raiment. A340; R873:6

Provide things honest, neat and comfortable for the temporal necessities, and then give them no further thought. R901:6

Be therewith content -- We should not seek to compete with the world in a race for the luxuries of the present time, but we should use our time and energy in the service to which we consecrated it. R873:6

1 Timothy 6:9

That will be rich -- That will to be rich, whether they succeed or not. A340; D524

Who are determined to be rich at all hazards. D283

It is when parents attempt to become rich and to leave their children rich that they especially err. R1828:4

And a snare -- Of the Adversary. R2054:4

Lusts -- Desires and habits. R2259:2, 3083:3

Which drown men -- Which sink men. A340

1 Timothy 6:10

The love of money -- Whether in rich or poor. A340

We should distinguish between money and the love of money, or making an idol of it. R5552:2, 4023:1

Money represents toil, labor, accumulation; and as such it should be valued for the good it can do. R5552:2

This might include not only money, but wealth of honor, name, influence or power. R3878:6

Some have sold the truth for money believing that they would prosper in business better by advocating error. R5552:2

The injury comes not so much from the money as from the love of it, hence money lovers without the money are in as great danger as those who possess the wealth. NS67:4

Root of all evil -- But the spirit of a sound mind forbids the opposite extreme of slothfulness in business. (Rom. 12:11) E259 Some coveted after -- Any appropriation of wealth for selfish uses brings a curse, as illustrated by the sin of Achan, who appropriated some gold, silver and a fine Babylonish garment for himself. This covetousness resulted in his own destruction. R4071:1

Covetousness is sure to blind us to the true situation and to make us unwise as respects the highest interests. R3939:6

Erred from the faith -- The spirit of Mammon crowds out the spirit of love and wisdom from above, and leads to losing the spirit of the truth, the letter of the truth and the faith. R2259:2

Fight -- The world, the flesh, the devil. R2309:5, 5432:2

Battling for the Lord, the truth, the brethren. R2878:3

The battle with self is the greatest battle. R2878:1

A battle for victory over our own weaknesses. R2310:1, 4810:2, 2878:3; SM394:T, 430:3; OV356:4; Q603:5

Our fighting is on our own behalf, and on behalf of each other. We are fighting to the death in self-defense, to maintain our own liberty, and that of each other. R2310:2

Our battle is not against our fellow creatures nor with carnal weapons. R2309:2, 4527:2; OV356:4

Those who are naturally combative may think they are fighting the good fight when in reality they are only cultivating a quarrelsome disposition. R1040:3

Battling against all "the wiles of the devil," "for we are not ignorant of his devices." (Eph. 6:11; 2 Cor. 2:11) R2878:3

A continual warfare between the old nature and the new; the final victory of one means the destruction of the other. SM631:2; R143:5

Against pride, ambition, discontent, money-loving, selfishness, unrighteousness. R1042:5, 3273:1,5

Our defense of the character and Word of God. R3274:3

How different all this appears from that easy-going Christianity which seems but a very little removed from the spirit of the world. R2123:1

Soldiers fighting in this battle for the truth win not by injuring others, but by showing to others such noble examples of fidelity to the principles of righteousness even unto death as will commend them to the Lord and his cause. R3274:4

Not fighting the brethren. Nor exactly fighting the devil, because we are not able. CR314:2

Not with the world and not with the world's sins and immorality. OV155:3

Not with carnal weapons, but with the whole armor of God's word. NS61:4

Good fight of faith -- Against sin, primarily in ourselves. R4803:5, 4728:6, 3273:1, 2878:1, 2309:3; SM180:1

The Church's warfare in the present time. PD93/108

Under an unseen leader, against an unseen foe, for an unseen crown of life. R2312:1

A conquering fight. R5432:2

Implies that we have a faith for which to fight. No man can fight who has not come to some knowledge of the truth sufficient to awaken his sympathies and enlist his energies in its propagation and defense. R1041:5

Faith in the Lord, and in the promises, must be the power that will move and energize the Lord's people. R2878:6, 4810:2

Faith in the Lord, not faith in men, or creeds, or ourselves. R2878:6

Faith means some knowledge upon which faith may rest; without it, we can never come off conquerors. R2312:2

A good fight is in the interest of that which is good, true, noble, pure, godly; for righteousness. R2309:1

We fight for a liberty and a glory of the verity of which we have no knowledge, except as we accept it by faith. R2312:1

Lay hold -- And thus lay hold. R715:4*, 279:4, 142:5

By acceptance of Christ and consecration to his service. R1878:6

On eternal life -- The prize of life eternal. R3273:2

Eternal life must be grasped; it will never be forced on anybody. E386; R1878:4

Art also called -- Addressed only to the body of Christ, the consecrated Church. R2309:1

And hast professed a good profession -- And didst make a noble covenant. A341

1 Timothy 6:13

God -- The great life giver, Jehovah; we are his representatives in the earth; the honor of his name is to be vindicated in the presence of his enemies and before many of his deceived children. R1128:3

Pontius Pilate -- The Roman governor of Judea; he had in his hands the power of life and death. R2470:3

A good confession -- It was the Lord's witness to the truth that cost him his life. R2471:6

This commandment -- Greek, entole, meaning "this thing given in charge," this doctrine given by divine inspiration. R1127:6

Without spot -- Untarnished in its glorious simplicity and purity unmixed with human theories and false doctrines. R1127:6

The appearing -- Greek, epiphania, signifies bright shining or manifestation. R2979:1

Of our Lord -- The salvation we are looking for is at the appearing of our Lord Jesus Christ. R4298:5

Does not point to a special moment, hour or day, but to the period of his presence (parousia), during which his harvest work will gather and glorify his saints and establish his promised kingdom. R3652:6

Which -- Good confession or sound faith. R1127:6

In his times -- Greek, kairos, meaning fixed times, as "the time is fulfilled and the kingdom of God is at hand." (Mark 1:15) B78
The Millennial age; the thousand year judgment day. A139, 210

Show who is -- Display himself as. E136

Only potentate -- Who will then be known as the "Everlasting Father." (Isa. 9:6) R4411:5*

The King of kings -- "And the Lamb shall overcome them for he is King of kings and Lord of lords." (Rev. 17:14) R2747:6

Lord of lords -- Greek: kurieno, meaning to be lords. E71

1 Timothy 6:16

Who only -- Christ; the Father, as always, being excepted. (1 Cor. 15:27) E79, 392; R2747:6

To apply this text to the heavenly Father would not be consistent with the testimony of Scripture, that the heavenly Son possessed immortality at the time these words were written, as well as the Father. R2747:5

This passage is somewhat ambiguous--we would have no special controversy with those who claim it refers to the heavenly Father--our own view is that it refers to our Lord Jesus, as the Apostle explains, God is always excepted. (1 Cor. 15:27) Q337:2

God. R2339:2, 1879:1, 1642:4, 632:2*, 252:4, 44:4; OV138:4

Hath immortality -- Greek, athanasia, meaning deathlessness, that which cannot die. E397; R2339:2, 204:1

Not mortal; death-proof; indestructible; imperishable. R1879:1, 715:1*;
OV139:1

Inherency of life, requiring no sustenance. R4775:1, 2747:5, 252:4

Immortality belongs exclusively to the divine nature. R2747:4

The fulness of life which could not cease under any circumstances. R279:2, 142:3

This quality inheres in Jehovah God alone, as it is written, "The Father hath life in himself" (John 5:26); i.e., his existence is not a derived one, nor a sustained one. Immortality is an innate or original quality of His being. R1879:1, 715:1*

When Jesus was highly exalted, he became partaker of the same divine, immortal nature, "...that he should have life in himself." (John 5:26)
R233:6, 1642:4, 715:1*

Now also possessed by Jesus, and promised as a special reward to the saints, the elect bride, the "body of Christ." OV138:4; R4955:6, 4071:3, 3774:1, 2747:4, 1052:5*

In the light -- The light of which is above the brightness of the sun.
CR467:6

No man hath seen -- Jesus as the perfect New Creature; he comes in power and great glory, the express image of the Father's person. R348:4, 5269:1, 1692:1, 558:6, 361:1

No man ever saw the person of God. Q360:2

Men can only see God as manifested through his works and revelation. R558:6

"No man hath seen God at any time." (1 John 4:12) B132; T85

Christ and the Church, the real spiritual rulers of God's kingdom, will be unseen. R1872:5

Nor can see -- Personally. R4966:4

Christ and his glorified Church will be as invisible to men as are Satan and his angels now; or as are God and the angels. R3075:3, 2289:2, 598:2, 546:3

But we [the little flock, when glorified] shall see him as he is, for we shall be like him. (1 John 3:2) T86; R3075:3

The Bible makes no attempt to describe heaven itself, nor its inhabitants.
Men must discern God in his works. R4966:4; CR117:4

Charge -- Warn. R5243:4

Them that are rich -- These words of the apostle never were more in season than now. R5243:4

It is when parents attempt to become rich and to leave their children rich that they specially err. R1828:4

There were both rich and poor in the assemblies of the primitive Church.
R2932:4

In uncertain riches -- If we would win the prize and the Kingdom, we must not set out hearts upon earthly things. R5004:2

Those who trust in riches find in the end that their trust has been misplaced, and that life as a whole is a failure, that it brings discontent, disappointment, strife and unhappiness. NS106:5

Who giveth us -- All his people. R2763:5

Richly -- "No man that hath left [all] for my sake and the gospel's but he shall receive an hundredfold now...and in the world to come." (Mark 10:29,30) Our Lord could truthfully have said that we receive a thousand-fold more than anything we have sacrificed for His sake. NS107:1,4

Things to enjoy -- All things (needful) to their rich enjoyment. R2763:5
We are to see our liberties and to use them according to our judgment of the Lord's will. R3667:2

We can enjoy the rich works of art and beauty displayed in the shop windows without any desire to have them under our special care. R3734:6

1 Timothy 6:18

Ready to distribute -- Liberal, ready to bestow. R2763:5

1 Timothy 6:19

Laying up in store -- The Ancient Worthies have thus "laid up in store," as a result of their fiery experiences (represented in the ashes of the burned heifer), characters precious in God's sight, which he intends to use for the blessing of the world, after the Day of Atonement is ended. R1872:4

Good foundation -- Good preparation. R2763:5

Lay hold on -- It will not be forced on any, but must be grasped. E386; R1878:4

By acceptance of Christ and consecration to his service. R1878:6

Eternal life -- The real life. R2763:5

1 Timothy 6:20

Science -- Human theories and philosophies. F138

The word means knowledge or wisdom in a more general sense. R299:1*
Particularly the Grecian philosophies current in Timothy's day. R5910:3, 2611:2

Which acknowledged Christ as a teacher, but not as a pre-human Son of God and a Redeemer. E285, 296

All fanciful speculations and philosophies should be disesteemed and discouraged. R1892:4

A guess is not to be set down as scientific truth. Q633:T

The same God made both the world and the Word, so that there can be no contradiction. R3420:2*

Close students of the divine Word are prepared to quickly detect error, even though it lurk behind a very plausible semblance of truth. R1206:4

True science has never contradicted the Bible; has never touched it but to confirm. R3420:2*, 299:2

The danger to faith arose not from real science, but from that baseless and pernicious gnosis, unworthy of the name of science, that was already on the way to its full fruition in the Gnosticism of Marcion and Valentinus that at a later day so cursed the early church. R3420:1*

Science may be wholly vitiated by a superficial knowledge of the facts, by false generalization from them, by irrational and unwarranted explanations of them, or by failure to make proper application of the principle of causation in dealing with them. R3420:5*

Falsely so-called -- Because not absolute truth, and hence not science.

So-called science is changeable. F138

Pseudo-science. R3420:2*

Science may become false by the narrowness that fails to take in all the range of facts involved, and thus leaves it incomplete; or by incoherency that shows itself incapable of grouping facts into unity, and thus results in merely a disjointed mass. R3420:6*

It is only science falsely so called that has ever been made to appear to discredit the Word of God--Positivism, Darwinism, Spencerism, and all similar "isms." R3421:1*

The theory of Evolution; Christian Science; Spiritism; Theosophy; New Thought, etc. R5816:1; A172

Christian Science denies the personality of God, deifies man, degrades Christ Jesus into merely a good man, relegates the account of the fall to mythology, teaches salvation entirely by works, and claims that death is an illusion. R3186-3187

600 denominations with 600 different professions. R5016:6

2 Timothy

General

Four years, after writing the epistle to the Philippians, AD 66, St. Paul wrote his last epistle to Timothy, who was then Pastor of the Ephesus church. The Emperor Nero was showing greater hostility than ever against Christians, and circumstances indicated that St. Paul was to be a martyr very soon. He evidently felt great confidence in Timothy as a sort of successor in a general "care of all the churches." Hence to him he now wrote special warnings and commendations and prophecies respecting the Church's future. R4526:3

It was probably during a second imprisonment in Rome that the Apostle wrote this epistle to Timothy. R3209:6 These words were addressed to Timothy when the Apostle Paul was an old man. Nor was Timothy a child in years at the time this epistle was addressed to him. Timothy's mother and himself were converts to the Gospel of Christ presumably at the time of Paul's visit to their home at Lystra during his first missionary tour. It is presumed that at the time of his receipt of this letter Timothy must have been forty years of age. Tradition has it that he was about sixteen years old at the time of his own and his mother's conversion to the Gospel. When he was about 21 years of age he, with Silas, accompanied the Apostle Paul on his second tour through Asia Minor, and from that time on for some sixteen years he was closely identified with the Apostle in his service of the truth, until left by the Apostle Paul with the church at Ephesus, that he might help them over some difficulties into which they had fallen. It was while Timothy was thus serving the church at Ephesus that he received the two epistles which bear his name. We note with appreciation the Apostle's care over this younger brother in the service. He remembered that heretofore Timothy had been so close to himself in the work that he had been measurably shielded from many trials to which he would now be exposed; and yet, no doubt he realized that, if Timothy would be prepared to take the work of a general minister, which Paul, the prisoner and growing old, must shortly lay aside, it was time that he was learning how to stand, complete in the strength which God supplies through his Word, without leaning so particularly, as heretofore, upon any earthly prop. R2165:2,5

Paul was in prison in the city of Rome, and is supposed to have been 63 years of age at this time. What else than the power of God could so sustain an able and cultured man under the various trials and vicissitudes through which he passed, including this his last imprisonment and final execution, which followed shortly after the writing of this epistle to Timothy? In the light of the foregoing circumstances, Paul's charge to Timothy is, so to speak, his dying message; and so regarded, its solemnity and impressiveness are increased before our minds. R2229:1,3

The second epistle to Timothy was to instruct him relative to false teachers. R868:5

2 Timothy 1

2 Timothy 1:1

Paul -- Wrote this last Epistle in 66 AD to Timothy, who was then Pastor of the Ephesus Church. R4526:3

Paul had lived for a while in a house in Rome, was released for about three years. He revisited some of the churches, and took the gospel to Spain. He was again arrested, and put into prison in Rome, where he wrote this Epistle. Nero raised a terrible persecution against the Christians at this time, apparently to cover up his setting the city on fire. Paul was beheaded shortly after. R2229:1-3, 3210:2

2 Timothy 1:2

To Timothy -- It is presumed that at the time of his receipt of this letter Timothy must have been about 40 years of age. Tradition has it that he was about 16 years old at this time of his own and his mother's conversion. R2165:2

Dearly beloved son -- Although Paul had no natural children, his tender address to Timothy, his invocation upon him of a divine blessing, shows that he lacked none of those fine, noble and endearing sentiments which belong to a true parent. R2165:3

Because Paul felt great confidence in Timothy as a successor for the general "care of all the churches," he sent him special warnings, commendations and prophecies respecting the Church's future. R4526:3

Of thy tears -- When they parted at Ephesus, in the interest of the truth. (Acts 20:37) R2165:3, 1886:1*

In thee also -- As a result of favorable parental influence. R1671:3

Stir up -- Re-ignite. R2165:6

The gift -- The gifts of the Spirit, common in the early Church, followed the laying on of Apostolic hands. F284

Of my hands -- The fact that the apostle Paul had this power to confer the gifts of the spirit is proof that he was the Lord's choice for Judas' place, as none but the apostles could confer these gifts. R1433:3, 1419:2

Us -- Children of God, who have left the world, who have been begotten of the holy Spirit. R5093:3

The spirit -- Disposition. D326; R3325:6, 2560:5, 1737:5, 1693:2, 1414:1, 1412:5, 1081:1, 1079:3

Of fear -- The new creature must repel every attack of servile fear and must cultivate trust in the Lord. R5977:3

Doubt, lack of faith, lack of the holy Spirit. E249

Spirit of dread; spirit of timidity. R5093:6, 4378:3

Servile fear, which belongs to the flesh, the fallen condition. R5977:3

We should not be fearful, men-pleasers, or sycophants. R2263:4

All fear, being a manifestation of one form of selfishness, is made up of the elements of self-love. The spirit of fear does not come from God. R5094:1

The "spirit of fear" may be made a valuable servant of the new creature, but it is an intolerable master. Make it your watchdog, kenneled just outside the door of your heart, to guard your treasures of holiness, joy, peace, love and fellowship. E197

But of power -- Courage. R4378:6

Strength, firmness for everything that is right. R5094:2

Energy, zeal, awakened by love. R2166:1

Making us "mighty to the pulling down of strongholds." (2 Cor. 10:4) E250

In proportion as we get this spirit, we get this power, or spirit of assurance that God is able and willing to work things together for good. (Rom. 8:28) R5094:2, 5977:6

"Othodoxy" fails to see that the spirit of love and of a sound mind is a power. R1122:2

Power to govern the whole being as we grow up toward the stature of the fullness of Christ--complete in him. R1414:1, 1081:2

Not begotten of self-esteem but based upon faith in the Lord. R4378:3

And of love -- Not "natural" love, which is largely selfish, but a generous self-sacrificing love. E250

Inspired by a true knowledge of God. R5977:6, 4379:1

The spirit of kindness and gentleness, enabling the Christian to have more and more compassion for those who are out of the way. R5977:6, 5094:4

Forgiveness should be prompted by the spirit of love and brotherly kindness and not forced out of us by importunity nor by pity for the wrong doers' suffering or sorrow. R1693:6

In proportion to the measure of the holy Spirit which we have, we shall have love--first, toward God; secondly, to the children of God; thirdly, to our neighbors and friends; and lastly, to our enemies. R5094:3

And of a sound mind -- Implying that the world in general does not have such a mind. R3773:2

Only those who are begotten again of the holy Spirit have this spirit. R3972:2

From God's standpoint, this is a new mind. E257; R5093:3, 3773:2, 1414:1

The mind of Christ, his spirit, his mind. R3325:6, 5888:3

A mind that is fortified and strengthened by the Word of the Lord on every subject; wise in judging of times, seasons and methods for using the energy of love which burns as a fire within the consecrated heart. R2166:1

The spirit of a sound mind is the most desirable thing in the world.

R5099:3, 1414:1, 1081:1

A mind in a sound healthy condition, and in full possession of all its faculties. R1412:6, 1079:3

Enabling its possessor to view things more correctly, giving wisdom and grace for the affairs of life far beyond any that they would have had without it. R2263:3,4

An unsound mind results from the mental and moral unbalance brought about through sin. R1080:4

Strictly speaking, there is not a perfectly sound mind in the world.

R1412:6, 1080:1

The right attitude of mind. R2685:6

Free from bias or prejudice in any direction. R1412:6, 4407:5

This spirit leads us to consider what is right and what is wrong in all the affairs of life. R5094:5

The spirit of reason and justice. R5942:6, 4485:2

The spirit of love and reasonableness. R5417:6

As we grow in the spirit of a sound mind, we learn better how to deal with others, so as to be in harmony with the divine will, the divine spirit.

R5417:2

In choosing a means of livelihood, the decisive question would be, In which avocation can I best serve the Lord? R5358:2

We are to discriminate between those who are good subjects for the truth, and those who are not. R5376:4

A spirit so necessary to a clear understanding, and to obedience, of the truth. R1412:5

Our minds are all imperfect and unsound. When we are guided by the Lord's will as expressed to us in his Word, then we come to have the spirit of a sound mind. R5726:3

Our minds become more and more sound by reason of their harmony with God's mind, and as ours become submissive to His. Q452:3; R5843:5, 5978:1; Q44:7

Under the guidance of the holy Spirit, Christians learn gradually to rectify the errors of their own judgments in respect to all the various questions which come before them. E253

"If any of you lack wisdom, let him ask of God who giveth to all liberally, and upbraideth not, and it shall be given him." (James 1:5)

R1777:1

Gossips and busy-bodies in other men's matters give one evidence of an unsound mind--a measure of insanity. R1413:2, 1080:2

The spirit of devils produces the spirit of an unsound mind. R2185:2

2 Timothy 1:8

Be not thou ashamed -- The truth is to be spoken humbly, yet fearlessly.

R5978:1

2 Timothy 1:9

Who hath saved us -- From Adamic sin and its penalty through Jesus our propitiation. R643:5

Called us -- The fore-ordained church is now being called, and tested, and selected, for participation in the divine nature--and joint-heirship with Jesus Christ. R1642:3, 3282:4

An holy calling -- All the Gospel church are called to heavenly conditions and are cut off from their earthly rights as men. R5023:2, 1881:4; Q436:1

Our works -- We are called not by any past evidence of our worthiness. R1642:2

His own purpose -- That this new order of beings should be selected from among the human order. R1642:3

That the overcomers may be joint-heirs with Jesus in his coming work of judging the world. (1 Cor. 6:2) R2990:3

God's purpose was to make a "new creation," of his own nature--the divine nature--and his beloved Son, our Lord, was to be the chief, or head.

R1642:3

2 Timothy 1:10

Now made manifest -- God's purpose and grace is now made manifest. (See verse 9.) R625:6

By the appearing -- Life, immortality and sonship have only been since the Holy Spirit came upon the disciples. R530:3*

Jesus Christ -- We are dependent on Christ for both life and immortality. R27:5*

He came to give his life a ransom-price, to give life that corresponded to the life that Adam lost. R5418:1

Abolished death -- Vanquished death. R194:2

Obtained the right to do so by giving his life a ransom for all. (1 Tim. 2:6) R252:3, 726:3, 62:4*

Broke death's hold on man. E393

Death is not a friend, but an enemy. God regards death as the penalty, the wages of sin. R625:6

Hath brought life -- A restitution from destruction for those who shall attain to life as perfect human beings. A204, 206; E393; R4155:5, 422:2, 339:4

Life everlasting. R1655:5

Knowledge and opportunity for eternal life did not obtain in the world until our Lord came. R4598:2, 5775:3, 5507:2

Represented by the Queen's chamber of the Great Pyramid. C368

"If a man die, shall he live again?" (Job 14:14) E383

And immortality -- Greek, apharsia; meaning incorruption. It is the death-proof condition of the divine nature and the "prize" for which the Body of Christ is running. A204, 206; E397; F727; R3175:2, 2339:4, 1641:5
Represented by the King's Chamber of the Great Pyramid. C368

The high calling for believers. R422:2, 339:4

Immortality is a quality only of the divine nature and was originally possessed only by the heavenly Father. Whoever will attain to this highest order or degree of existence, will obtain it as a reward or gift. R1641:6

An indestructible existence, not dependent upon food or drink, or conditions of any kind. R1641:5

"God having provided some better thing for us, that they without us should not be made perfect." (Heb. 11:40) R1095:6

Life everlasting for the world, and immortality for the Church. SM545:T; R5608:3, 5088:6

The narrow way to life was not opened up until Jesus came. T28

The offer of immortality is exclusively confined to those who are associates with Jesus and will now suffer with him. CR444:1

The immortality class is the little flock, the joint heirs who shall be associated with Christ as members of His body, those to whom it will be His pleasure to give glory, honor, and immortality. HG132:3

To light -- Clearly to light. R1655:5

It is the gospel, not the Lord's living, dying, or resurrection, that brought this to light. This gospel was not fully understood by the apostles until they had received the Holy Spirit. Q335:4

Before Jesus Christ the future life was not made known, not brought to light. R5772:2, 217:5; Q12:2; SM43:3, 538:1

There was no kingdom seed, no kingdom promises and hopes planted, until Christ came. R3769:3, 637:6*

The fact that our Savior brought these to light demonstrates that they were not seen before. Although there had been an intimation given to Abraham, yet everything looked contrary to this. R5608:3, 1095:5

The first feature of God's plan of salvation began to be manifested when our Lord Jesus came into the world. R5275:5

Neither life nor immortality had been disclosed or made accessible previous to the gospel--the "great salvation which began to be preached by our Lord." (Heb. 2:3) E393; OV43:2

Through the gospel -- The voice of God by Jesus Christ proclaiming glad tidings of the coming kingdom. R810:3*

The good tidings of blessings for all of humanity who would seek him in honesty and earnestness of heart. R5275:5

2 Timothy 1:12

I am not ashamed -- From the worldly standpoint the true follower of Jesus is branded a fanatic, a fool, unbalanced. But from the Christian's standpoint, the view is reversed. R4501:5

Persuaded that he -- Christ. E346; R1881:2

That which I have committed unto him -- Referring to life. Paul does not fear losing the Divine nature and eternal life. R140:2

Against that day -- The day of Christ, the Millennial day. E346

2 Timothy 1:13

Form of sound words -- Ignoring the traditions and creeds of uninspired men and corrupt systems. R369:3

2 Timothy 1:15

Which are in Asia -- Evidently including even the Antioch church. F277

Phygellus and Hermogenes -- False teachers who arose in the Church of Ephesus. R2221:4

2 Timothy 2

2 Timothy 2:3

Endure -- Bravely and cheerfully. R3069:3

Patiently endure afflictions to the end. R1823:4

Willingly, gladly, under the guidance of the Captain. R5404:5

Do not become weary; consider what the Lord faithfully endured of opposition. R4804:1

Hardness -- Hard, distressing conditions; unpleasant, difficult circumstances; experiences designed to work out for the Christian's good. R5404:5

Humiliation and self-sacrifice. R1708:5

The Christian enlists in this warfare, knowing that it means his death--the death of the flesh, of the human nature. R5404:4

Poverty, scant rations, and hard service. R3162:6*

As a good soldier -- Representing the Christian. R5403:3

Of the cross; foregoing the rights and privileges of the present time. R5404:2

Having a soldierly bearing, as a proper representative of the King; battling against Satan. R5404:4,1

Not merely outwardly loyal, but having the full spirit of the cause; not ashamed of the garment of Christ's righteousness. R5404:4

Assisting and setting an example to the other soldiers. R5404:2

Some of a Christian's greatest difficulties are right in his own person; the chief battle is with himself. R5404:2

Unless we are willing to learn lessons through experience and to endure hardness, we shall not be prepared to enter the eternal glory. R5147:6

Even though Paul had received rough treatment and was beaten by the mob, yet he asked the commander for the privilege of speaking to the people.

R4485:3

A vow of complete, unquestioning obedience to the orders of superiors--the entire suppression of every selfish interest for the advancement of the supreme cause one has contracted voluntarily to serve, to follow, and for which, if need be, to die. R3162:4*

The true soldier does not debate his cause. He is rightly supposed to have settled upon its justice and righteousness before he enlisted to serve it--he is ready to spend all and be all spent in its defense. R3162:6*

Not trembling before the certainty of hunger, thirst, nakedness, wounds or death. R3163:1*

Using the term soldier to represent the Christian has a great deal of meaning because there is a war going on here on earth. R5403:3

Of Jesus Christ -- There was no organized undertaking for the overthrow of sin until Jesus came. His mission was to overcome Satan, overcome sin, and to bring everything into full harmony with God's arrangement. R5403:6

Lawfully -- Justly. R1312:3

In harmony with our Lord and the arrangements he has provided. R4129:5
However good our intentions, none will be crowned for striving unlawfully. R4282:2

2 Timothy 2:7

Consider -- Reflect, think, study, ponder--study the revelation which God has made respecting himself. R3312:3,6

Consider the natural things of the Lord's provision, and read in them certain great lessons--consider the ravens; (Luke 12:24), the Lord has made provisions for their necessities without barns for the winter time.

Consider the lilies of the field; (Matt. 6:28), their beauty teaches us that the Lord has a keen appreciation of the beautiful, and that the Lord is able to produce the beautiful without our aid, and that if necessary he could likewise clothe us miraculously. R3313:1,2

How the Lord suffered in every sense unjustly and for righteousness' sake. R3313:5

The heart that fails to consider the little things fails to be able to appreciate the larger things, and thus is hindered from a proper appreciation of God's plan and character. R3313:3

The Scriptures invite the faithful to consider, to search, to prove, saying, "Come, let us reason together." (Isa. 1:18) R3312:3

And the Lord -- Whose assistance is necessary in order to make our study of his Word profitable. R3313:6

2 Timothy 2:9

The Word of God -- It is a great mistake to affirm that the Bible is the product of the church; those who make this claim do not know where to look for the church. R1584:3

2 Timothy 2:11

If we be -- If we become. R297:4

Dead with him -- Dead to the world and to our own will--alive to the will of God. R297:4, 4616:3, 4453:2, 127:3*, 121:3

Faithful in laying down the present life for the Lord's sake. R2615:5

Only if we suffer with him shall we reign with him. R5621:3

Counting ourselves dead with Christ as actually we were dead with Adam. R914:3

Sanctified believers are reckoned as dying with Christ their Redeemer. R1454:4, 5342:1 Christ and his Church die to human hopes and interests, present and everlasting--laying down their lives, suffering for righteousness' sake. R5495:5

If we have our earthly natures consumed, then we shall get the divine nature. R5250:5, 4784:3, 4525:5

Means the consecration to death of all the members of the body of Christ. R4980:5

Live with him -- Be partakers of his divine nature. CR348:6; R4398:1, 2615:5, 121:6

Share with him in the heavenly part of the blessings of the Abrahamic Covenant. R4453:2

Neither the fear of death nor the appreciation of the crown must be our controlling motive but an appreciation of what he has done for us, our love to him, and our desire to please him. R3561:4

Which can be only if we receive the same resurrection change which he experienced. R1260:2

2 Timothy 2:12

If we suffer -- With him. R5739:6, 5546:6, 5421:5, 5420:6, 5196:6, 5108:4, 5090:5, 5079:3, 5051:4; T26

As his members. R5180:4

For right doing; gladly and joyfully we drink whatever cup the Father may pour for us. R5739:6

Drink of his cup of suffering and death. R4547:4, 5643:4, 5420:6, 5192:6, 4147:5

Only those who suffer and die with him will share Messiah's throne of glory. R5180:6, 5638:3, 5622:2, Q610:4; SM144:T

The call of this Age is for sacrificers only--to follow our Redeemer's footsteps of self-denial, even unto death. R4920:3, 5392:2, 5090:5, 5067:3, 5063:5, 4453:2; OV189:T

Only those who will stand the test of faithfulness under sufferings, trials, crosses, self-sacrificers, have the promise of sharing with Christ in the glories of the Church Triumphant. OV188:4, 379:4; CR80:1, R30:6* "Heirs of God and joint-heirs with Christ, if so be that we suffer with him." (Rom. 8:17) A212; E144, 146; F439; T50; R5677:4, 5643:1, 5192:6, 5079:4, 2787:2, 1782:6, 1574:1, 1566:1, 1372:3, 623:6

This feature has not yet been fully completed. CR93:6

These sufferings are not such as are common to humanity--sickness, etc.--but sufferings for Christ's sake, which means activity in Christ's service. R1782:6

Jesus' sufferings were sacrificial, not for any wrong-doing; hence if we share in his sufferings, our sufferings must be sacrificial. R4616:3

This willingness to suffer is the covenant of sacrifice that we make with our Lord. R5108:4

By being made conformable to his death. R4964:6

Suffering which we bring on ourselves through faithfulness to our covenant. R5117:4

The favored of the Lord are required to pass through experiences of suffering more than others. These adversities should be accepted by them as marks of divine favor, fitting them for their future positions. R2761:1

It is one sacrifice in the sense that it is all one body of one Priest that is offered. R4965:3

As soon as the sufferings are ended the glory will begin. CR327:5; R157:2

The glory of the great Christ, Head and body, cannot be ushered in until all of its sufferings are at an end. R3683:3

This thought should be before the minds of those who participate in the Memorial. R5643:1

In the close of this Age the Lord may take away his people in a fiery trouble; but as with Elijah, it will be a chariot to carry them home, to glory, honor and immortality. R5677:4

Those who anticipate that the followers of the Lamb are to be borne to Paradise on flowery beds of ease are surely mistaken. R4138:4

Reign with him -- Sharing the glories and honors of our Head on the spirit plane. R4398:1, 5392:2, 5196:6, 5180:4, 5067:3, 4855:6, 4547:4, 3709:3, 1176:3; A196

When he has established his kingdom on earth. R1151:5

Participate in the inauguration of the new dispensation, and in dispensing its blessings. R5421:5

During the Millennial age. OV254:4; R3683:2

Participation with Jesus in the divine nature--glory, honor and immortality. R5677:4

If we miss the persecution we shall also miss the blessing. CR493:1

Made possible by the permission of sin. God could justly permit members of the fallen race, of the same disposition as Jesus to lay down their lives by suffering, to be accounted worthy of also reigning with him. SM67:1

"He called you by our Gospel to the obtaining of the glory of our Lord Jesus Christ." (2 Thess. 2:14) T80

"Then shall we also appear with him in glory." (Col. 3:4) A86

If we deny him -- Disown. R1139:4*

God gave to man full freedom of choice to do good or evil, that they may, like himself, do right because it is right. R725:5

He expects of us courage to confess him. SM182:3

"They profess that they know God, but in works they deny him." (Titus 1:16) E490

He also will deny us -- Will then deny us. E490

2 Timothy 2:13

Cannot deny himself -- God cannot do wrong. "It is impossible for God to lie." (Heb. 6:18) A118; R1177:1, 250:3, 14:1

Because it would be inconsistent with his righteous character. A126

Study -- Study to know what God would approve. Study the Revelation he has made. Study the nature of everything that we come in contact with, as to whether it is good or evil. R4838:2

Study the doctrine, study your course of conduct, study to shield yourself and others from error and from a worldly spirit. R3097:1

Study the Word; study to avoid error and to shun all foolish questions and profane and vain babblings. R4839:1, 3097:4

Make yourself thoroughly familiar with the truth, that you may indeed be a living epistle, known and read of all men. R5045:4

Study our hearts to see that we are striving daily to cast out all the old leaven of sin. R4839:2

Study your weak points and how they may be guarded against, that you may know your talents for service. R3097:4, 1638:2

Study yourself; that you may know both your abilities and your shortcomings. R4839:1, 3097:4, 1083:3*

The knowledge of the will of God does not come to us in a supernatural way, but through the study of the Bible. SM351:T; R5511:3, 5203:2

Not a mere formality of thoughtless reading. R5511:3

Find it, mark it, and make sure what you believe. Q487:T

Be not only a student, but a doer of his will. R349:4

We are to give all diligence to the work of studying to make this reckoned cleansing, this imputed righteousness, an actual thing, to the extent of our ability. R4839:1

Those who have only a partial understanding of the divine plan will find it difficult, if not impossible, to stand in this evil day the assault of the world, the flesh, and the Adversary. But if they have proper zeal for the Lord and a proper love for the plan, they should manifest that zeal by thorough and persevering study of the volumes. They cannot afford to do less. R4930:5

The elect have been receiving their education by giving themselves wholly to studying the Scriptures of truth, and were being led into all truth by the spirit of truth. R33:5*

Shew thyself -- Paul was not writing to all the class; he was writing to a leader, Timothy. Q475:T

Approved unto God -- Do not mind so much what men may say or think, but seek the approval of God first. R5512:4

A workman -- Suggests the thought of being engaged in service. R5511:6

Those who are willing to serve under disadvantageous conditions. Idlers and drones will not have a place in the kingdom. R5512:4

They must be wise and faithful servants--servants who study. R1797:1

Not to be ashamed -- The true Gospel cannot be put to flight. CR64:2

Rightly dividing -- Bringing the matter out properly, rightly divided. Q475:T

The proper application of the Word of Truth; the understanding of how and when and where it should be applied. R4838:3

Which scriptures belong to the present time and which to the future.

Q518:4; R4966:1, 4675:1; OV236:4

Which portions of the word refer to natural Israel and which refer to spiritual Israel. Q518:4; R5808:6

The study of the Bible along dispensational lines clears away all difficulties. R4966:1, 4675:1

To make such a prayerful study of the Word of truth as will enable us to place things where they belong. R5512:2, 2957:3

Truth rightly divided and fairly presented commands the respect even of its opponents. R646:4

Apparently this was not possible during the Dark Ages. R4588:3

The word of truth -- Which was given by inspiration. R4242:5*

And see that our lives are in harmony with the word. R5512:5

Wisely present it in such manner as to avoid choking the babes in Christ. R806:2

2 Timothy 2:16

Shun profane -- If we have consecrated all to God, our time is not our own; and consequently we have none to spare for the investigation of theories built upon any other foundation than that laid down in the Bible. R5970:2, 5045:3, 3199:3

And vain babblings -- Close students of the divine Word are prepared to quickly detect error, even though it lurk behind a very plausible semblance of truth. R1206:3

And their word -- What is true of one error is true of another; it is the duty of teachers to defend the hearers by defending the truth. R59:1*

Eat as doth a canker -- Into the heart. R1800:5

Hymeneus and Philetus -- False brethren, from whom will come the church's greatest peril. R1319:3, 1664:1*

False teachers who arose in the Church of Ephesus. R2221:4

At times it seems absolutely to the interest of the Lord's flock to identify persons with false teachings. R2837:2

Forerunners of the Papacy. F201

2 Timothy 2:18

Have erred -- The Thessalonian brethren seem to have drawn a wrong conclusion, supposing that Paul taught that the day of the Lord would surely come in their day. R665:3 The resurrection -- One of the most prominent doctrines of the New Testament. R1508:6

In this text anastasis has the Greek article, showing emphasis and indicating that the first or special resurrection is surely meant. R1512:1

Overthrow the faith -- To tell fairly what another believes and to show that it is wrong is far from evil speaking. In many instances it is a duty to speak. R4524:3

2 Timothy 2:19

The foundation of God -- The ransom provided. R566:6

The Word of the Lord. R4826:1

Standeth sure -- All other foundations are worthless--all other theories must come to naught. R4839:1

The Lord knoweth -- No one but the Lord certainly, truly, knows which are the true sheep. OV123:1; R5707:4

It would be impossible to establish a communism of saints only, because we cannot read the hearts. R1861:6

Them that are his -- The true Church. D158; R3156:1, 1103:3

All the saintly in all sects and parties. R5067:1; CR268:6, 252:1

And will care for them regardless of denominational lines. OV239:7

We may hope for a large number who are not bowing either to sectarianism or to the golden calf of mammon. SM702:1

Those who manifest a reverence for the Lord and to whom he correspondingly manifests his favor in various ways in various ages, co-operating with them for their present joy and their everlasting welfare. R3964:1

The Lord will find and will feed and will strengthen those who are his.
R3781:2

He is acting as advocate to these, representing them before the Heavenly Father. CR472:1

The Lord is not at all dependent upon us for the carrying of the present truth to the hungry multitude, but for our advantage he has given us the privilege of becoming co-laborers with him. R3781:2

Members of the true church know each other wherever found, by the description which God has given. R1103:3

"They shall be mine, saith the Lord." (Mal. 3:17) F76

"The Lord knoweth the way of the righteous." (Psa. 1:6) R3155:6

"He calleth his own sheep by name." (John 10:3) R2441:6

We are not to identify the Bride class with the nominal Christian Churches of today any more than we would identify the Apostles with the Jewish Church of their day. SM206:1

He also knows those who are not His, those who are merely deceived tares. NS94:4

Nameth the name -- "Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain." (Exod. 20:7) R1527:3

Of Christ -- Jehovah's representative. R1527:3

Depart from iniquity -- Inequity, injustice, and from everything that is unrighteous. R4335:3

Everything wrong in respect to faith, conduct and customs. F83

2 Timothy 2:20

In a great house -- The household of faith, the house of God. HG750:6

Vessels of gold -- The Little Flock. HG752:4

And of silver -- The Great Company. HG752:4

Wood and of earth -- Those on the human plane. HG752:6

Some to dishonor -- Less honor. (The Great Company.) CR325:4; R5759:1, 5493:3

The vessels for less honor were selected first, until John the baptizer, who was one of the chief of the Ancient Worthies, the house of servants. R1872:2

2 Timothy 2:21

Purge himself -- A purifying of the thoughts. SM337:T

To purge out the old leaven of sin. (1 Cor. 5:7) R3096:6

From these -- Purge out the old leaven of hypocrisy, envy, and self-exaltation. R2279:5

Foolish questions and strife about words to no profit--especially from the false doctrines of those who would subvert the faith of the church. R3096:6

A vessel unto honor -- We should be on the alert to win the very best offered. R5759:1 Given special assistance and special opportunities of service which would not otherwise be his. HG751:4

2 Timothy 2:22

Flee also -- Fleeing from temptation. R3973:1

Follow -- Pursue. R2517:6

Righteousness -- Purity of heart--freedom from unrighteousness. R2518:1
Whatever it may cost, justice and righteousness must be followed. R2517:6

Faith -- Fidelity. R2517:6

Charity -- Love is purity of heart--freedom from selfishness. R2518:1

A pure heart -- The more pure our hearts the less will they be affected by slanders and backbitings and evil-speakings. R2518:1

2 Timothy 2:24

Servant of the Lord -- To be proper servants of the Lord, we must not strive, must not argue or quarrel. R5698:6

Be gentle -- Cultivate the love which is forbearing, forgiving and kind. R5912:5, 4803:5

Let the sword of the spirit do all the cutting. R3596:4

Apt to teach -- To have the teaching ability--able to present the message in a way that will be assimilable to the minds of others, making it clear, plain and logical. R5699:4, 733:3

Also to be meek, loyal of heart, and humble when presenting the truth publicly or in private. R5699:4

Not all have the ability, the gift, of making things plain to others. R5699:4

2 Timothy 2:25

In meekness -- Not in bitterness, nor in wrath, nor with sarcasm. R2757:5

Not in a combative spirit or with a show of gratification over the defeat of others. R1920:5

Without strife. R3185:3*

When presenting the truth, never assume an air of superiority, nor manifest haughtiness. R5699:4

Put character and principle first, then patience, gentleness, meekness. R4391:1

Instructing -- Teaching. E284

Correcting. R4391:1

If the truth is attacked and honest souls are in danger of being stumbled, we must, "contend earnestly for the faith once delivered to the saints." (Jude 3) R5699:1

One should never lose his head--the more cool, calm, and self-composed we are when opposed, the better we can defend the message we bear. R5699:2

2 Timothy 2:26

The devil -- Whose very existence is now denied by many. F609

The Apostle was a firm believer in a personal devil. R3165:6

At his will -- If they yield themselves to his control. R2179:1

The world's experience under the delusions of the Adversary will, during the Millennial age, be thoroughly exposed. F627

2 Timothy 3

2 Timothy 3:1

In the last days -- Of this age. R4438:3, 3347:3, 968:3, 760:4, 352:6*

In the harvest, or end of the Gospel age. R4438:3; SM697:3

In the very end of the age. A75

In the close of the present age before the dawning of the new dispensation. R3898:5

In the dawning of this new dispensation and the closing of this Gospel age. R4976:5

In this harvest time when the reign of righteousness is about to begin. R5413:1

The great seventh day, the thousand-year day of his kingdom. R5696:2

We are now living in the very time referred to by the Apostle. R1319:1, 5696:2

"Now the Spirit speaketh expressly that in the latter times some shall depart from the faith." (1 Tim. 4:1) C200

Therefore we need to be fully established in the faith, and able to fully trust the Lord. R5678:5

Not the middle ages. R968:3

Perilous times -- Not the conversion of the world, expected by many. A90

At the time of our Lord's second coming the world will be far from converted to God. OV222:4, HG341:3

It will not be so much a perilous time for the world. It will be a time of great peril to the Lord's people--selfishness will be rampant--the spirit of the world surges all around them. R5413:1,2,4

Due largely to the evil spirits, just as in the days of Noah. R4976:6

When error is taking on its most baneful and deceitful forms. R1320:6

Such conditions especially characterize this harvest period. R1664:1*

Subtle influences are now at work seeking to dwarf and extinguish the spiritual life and to rob the saints of their glorious hope. R1319:2

Shall come -- Greek, enistemi, be present. B158

Because the prince of darkness will make every possible effort to retain his power and dominion; and ignorance, error and superstition are his strongholds. R1362:6

2 Timothy 3:2

For men -- Professed Christians, Christendom. R2459:1, 1319:6

This is a graphic illustration of present-day conditions in the Christian world, so called. R5652:4

Of their own selves -- Selfish. R1319:5, 1870:5, 1320:1, 846:5

Selfishness is the peculiar characteristic of our day. R2459:4

Love of dress, love of show, love of honor and position. R2459:4

Covetous -- Of honors and distinction and the praise of men--ambitious. R1320:1

The love of money, honor, luxuries. R2459:5, 3613:5, 3343:3

The covetous person is a mammon-worshipper and has abandoned the proper worship of God. R2459:5

The way in which other people spend time and money is a temptation to the Lord's people which must be steadfastly resisted. R5413:5

Boasters -- Boasting accompanies pride and is the opposite of meekness and humility. Was there ever a time when people were as boastful as they are today? R2459:5

As though the credit of the truth was in some way due to them, and as though they had a right therefore to alter and amend it at their pleasure.

R1320:1

Proud -- Of wealth, family, sect, self. R2459:6

Of that knowledge which should be received with humility and thankfulness, and which can be retained only under these conditions. R1320:1

Blasphemers -- Railers. R3613:5, 3343:3

Greek, blasphemos, one speaking injuriously, or an evil-speaker. R1319:4, 1320:1

Misrepresenters of God's plan and character, and slanderers of one another. R2460:1

Evil speakers against the doctrine of Christ and those who believe and teach it. R1320:1

God's character is blasphemed by attributing to him evil deeds, evil motives, and evil purposes. R2459:6

Disobedient -- Greek, apeithes, not persuaded, not of the same mind as. R1319:5

To parents -- And higher authority in general. R3613:5

In our day the divinely arranged family order seems to be entirely lost sight of with the great majority. R2460:2

Disrespect for the experiences and advice of parents and seniors. R2074:2

Lack of reverence for parents leads on to that careless condition which fears not God, neither regards man, in its selfish wayward course. R4522:2

Not sufficient time is given to instructing youth respecting the necessity for law and order. R4522:3

Unthankful -- Lacking gratitude to God and man; attributing prosperity to one's own ability or luck. R2460:2

Unholy -- Not fully consecrated to the Lord. R2460:3
Greek, anosios, unkind. R1319:5, 1320:2

2 Timothy 3:3

Without natural affections -- It is not the province of true Christianity to destroy the natural affections, but rather to deepen them and lift them to a higher plane. R2460:3

These words are omitted in the Sinaitic manuscript. R1319:3

Trucebreakers -- Greek, aspondos, irreconcilable, implacable, stubborn, constant in enmity. R1319:5

An unwillingness to make a truce, or to live in harmony and abandon hostilities. R2460:3

False accusers -- Willing to accuse enemies falsely, even when the charges are known to be false. This surely indicates a very evil condition of heart. R2460:4

Slanderers. R3343:4

Enticers to strife. R5652:4, 2793:2

Incontinent -- Greek, akrates, without self-control, rash, impulsive. R1319:5, 3343:4, 2460:4

Not under restraint; impetuous. R5652:4, 2793:2

Despisers of -- Greek, aphilagathos, not friendly to the good. R1319:5, 1320:2

Those that are good -- Who hold fast the truth in righteousness. R1320:2
The nominal Christian despises the true saint and tries to believe that his professions of entire consecration to the Lord are hypocrisies. R2460:5

Traitors -- Cannot be trusted; would sell out their best friends for selfish considerations. R5652:4, 2793:2

False accusers. R1320:2

Ready to break contracts whenever it can be done profitably. Persons controlled by the selfish spirit can never be trusted. R2460:6

Heady -- Head-strong; full of self-will; not subject to the mind of Christ. R2461:1, 3343:4

A loss of respect for authority--as people lose faith in the Bible and in God, they become more selfish and self-willed. R5413:2

High-minded -- Puffed up. R3343:4

Having a high opinion of their own talents. Probably half of the hopelessly insane have lost their reason because of self-conceit. R2461:2

"Every man that is among you [ought] not think of himself more highly than he ought to think, but to think soberly." (Rom. 12:3) R2461:2

Lovers of pleasure -- The world's pleasures and honors. R2461:3

Pleasure is their aim in life. R5413:4

Love of money, and that which money will purchase--pleasure, power, influence--have driven the world mad. Money is worshipped as an idol.

R5696:6

Than lovers of God -- Preferring their own wills to the will of God.

R1319:6, 1320:2

The general tendency of today is toward a lack of reverence for God and for the order and arrangement which he has established. R2053:5

This condition is to be a sign of the end of the age. R5413:2

A form of godliness -- Being great sticklers for days, forms, ceremonies and ecclesiastical authorities. F248

This form of godliness has spread to such an extent that the whole world is styled Christendom--Christ's Kingdom. OV371:4

Must be professed Christians. R171:2*

Outwardly Christians, but inwardly skeptics, covetous, extortionate, unjust. R5389:6

Tares. R5049:1, 2277:3

Those who should have been humble followers of Jesus were misled into pomposity. SM549:2

Which if possible would deceive the very elect. R365:4

The nominal Church contains much of the world and its spirit. Outward ceremony flourishes. R2091:2

The mind of the flesh will seek partnership with the new mind under certain conditions, but would prefer to recognize love in words, in profession, in manners only. R5123:5

A combination of religious sentiments in sympathy with "political reform" movements, preparing for the predicted politico-religious "confederacy" (Isa. 8:12) give evidence of this. R2091:2

But denying -- By their course in life. R2461:4

Walking contrary to godliness. CR494:5

The power -- The only power by which any of the fallen race can be reckoned godly or righteous in God's sight is the precious blood of Christ which cleanseth us from all sin. R1319:6

From such turn away -- False brethren. R1319:3

Those who deny the very foundation of our faith. R1453:5

Now that the harvest time has come. R2461:5

"Come out of her my people." (Rev. 18:4) R5696:6, 2461:5

"Have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather reprove them." (Eph. 5:11) R1320:5, 1321:2

For of this sort -- Crafty, deceitful, sly, seductive. R1320:3

2 Timothy 3:7

Ever learning -- Seeking by various human philosophies, which ignore or pervert the Word of God. R5508:2, 3153:4

Devouring one error after another to feed their curiosity, deluding themselves, supposing they are feeding upon truth. R1530:6

Never able -- Not rooted and grounded in faith. "Carried about with every wind of doctrine." (Eph. 4:14) R651:2

To come to -- Arrive at. R651:2

Of the truth -- Divine truth is never found except in the divinely appointed channels, and those channels are the Lord and apostles and prophets. R3153:5

One of the most serious and dangerous besetments of the adversary is an exaggeration of the truth. R651:2

"If ye continue in my Word ye shall know the truth." (John 8:31,32)

R5508:2, 3153:5

2 Timothy 3:8

Jannes and Jambres -- Pharaoh's magicians. R3994:5, 171:3

They opposed Moses by doing something similar to what he did, thus confusing the people. R1320:3

Withstood Moses -- Opposition to the truth will be manifested in a subtle, deceptive course similar to that used by those who opposed Moses. R1320:3

So do these also -- Types of theologians of today. R4060:3

Christian Scientists. R867:5

False Christs; magicians of Egypt--the world. R171:3*

Satan seeks to draw attention from the truth by counterfeiting it. R867:5

Of corrupt minds -- Corrupted or turned aside from the truth. R1320:3, 4438:3

Concerning the faith -- The apostle did not say reprobate as respects morals, but reprobate as respects the faith. R4438:3, 4060:3

Shall be manifest -- By their failure to hinder the Lord's work. R4439:4

2 Timothy 3:10

My doctrine -- That which the most thorough investigation of the Scriptures most clearly proves and establishes beyond all peradventure. R1320:6

Manner of life -- Consistent both with his faith and with his consecration to the Lord. R1320:6

Purpose -- The building up of the Church in the most holy faith. R1320:6

Faith -- Positive and clear--not mere guesswork, but knowledge, based upon the sure Word of God. R1320:6

Charity -- His great love for the Church. R1320:6

Patience -- Greek, hupomonee, cheerful, constant endurance. R2791:1,3
The Apostle puts this quality of patient endurance in the place beyond love. R4910:2

We need patience at the first quarter mark, at the second and at the third quarter mark, and still with us at the fourth quarter mark, the mark for the prize--perfect love. R4910:3, 2791:6

We need this important grace more and more near the end of the way. R5651:3

The final test of patient, cheerful endurance must be passed before we can be accepted of the Lord as members of the very elect. R4910:2

2 Timothy 3:12

Yea, and all -- During this present evil world or epoch. A68; R5252:2, 2251:4

Under present conditions. E191; R2251:4

Both the old man and the new man suffer some. Their interests are so closely related that if one suffers they both do. Q534:2

All who can be good and noble, even though not in Christ Jesus, in the restitution time will have fewer steps to retrace. R5395:1

That will live godly -- Live to please God. R1467:4 To live in opposition to the course of the world and of our own flesh--actuated by the principles of righteousness. R5117:1, 5394:6

Living righteously, in sympathy with Christ Jesus--faithful even to the laying down of life itself. R5116:6, 5118:1

They see more clearly the principles of God's justice by which their lives are governed. R5394:3

These should not be the cause of suffering to others. R5117:2

By letting our lights shine faithfully, we shall bring upon ourselves persecution. R5544:3

To live godly means not merely to abstain from vicious and overt sin, but to be a hero in the strife--a defender of the right and an opposer of the wrong--a servant of righteousness, a soldier of the cross. R4866:4

We must go in the opposite direction to that of the world. R5117:1

These should expect from the world opposition, misrepresentation, slander, opposition of every kind. R3801:3, 5094:6

Includes the development of love in our hearts and our dispositions.

R5116:3

Under present conditions faithfulness means faithfulness even unto death.

R4897:4 There is no other way to enter the Kingdom than by self-sacrifice, deadening of the flesh. R5118:2

The heavenly things are to be attained only by those who sacrifice earthly things. R4902:4

In this present evil world or dispensation. R1652:3

Primarily those who are in Christ Jesus; secondly those who live righteously, but shrink from suffering; thirdly the ancient worthies.

R5116:6

In Christ Jesus -- Members of his mystical body. R5116:6

These have an intelligent knowledge that they have entered into a covenant of sacrifice. R5394:3

They must uphold the principles of righteousness, and not compromise with sin, nor with the world. R5394:6

Shall suffer -- In this life. R3223:2

The Lord's children suffer now while evil doers prosper. R569:2

"Because ye are not of the world." (John 15:19) E235

Contrary to the general thought that it is the wicked upon whom distress and trouble come as a punishment for evil-doing. B137

The systems of rewards and punishments, which justice would indicate, are not now being enforced. R4730:3

God allows his people to suffer for right-doing. R5778:3

To the extent that we are out of harmony with present evil conditions.

R5117:2

God permits the church to suffer in order to develop and crystallize character. R5117:5

"If any man suffer as a Christian, let him not be ashamed." (1 Pet. 4:16)

R5117:6

The promised blessings of the Scriptures are to these. R5117:2

The sufferings which we bring on ourselves through faithfulness to our covenant. Our physical infirmities which are of heredity are not sufferings of Christ. R5117:4

No one could suffer as a Christian unless he had become a Christian.

R5117:3

If suffering should come upon us justly for our faults, we could not glory in it, but rather be ashamed. R2782:1

Persecution -- Be misunderstood; slandered. R5094:6

Evil speaking, etc. CR35:4

The experience of every true teacher. R1320:6

There is no exception to this rule. R5778:3

From zealous sectarians whom Satan has blinded with his false doctrines.

R5441:6; PD86/99

In a Christian's own home and family, or in the church, or from the world; he will not escape if he is faithful. R4407:2

Comes from the world--those having a form of godliness. R5395:2
The prophets and worthies of old endured much for righteousness' sake.
R5547:1

From an opposing world and from false brethren arising in the midst of God's people. R1320:6

Because the world is traveling in the opposite direction to righteousness--in the way of selfishness and gratification of the flesh.
R5218:2

Nine-tenths of Jesus' persecutions came from professors of religion. R374:3

Are we willing to bear the hatred and scorn, which loyalty to the truth brings? If so, we can go forth in his name, rejoicing as we go. R5441:6

If any man suffer as a Christian--for the truth's sake, for righteousness' sake--let him not be ashamed. (1 Pet. 4:16) R2782:1

An evidence of our faithfulness and sonship. R5544:3

Especially has this been true of these last days. R5773:3 The path to glory, honor, and immortality, in the footsteps of Jesus, is a very rugged
one. R5465:6

If any of us is escaping persecution, he should feel fearful of his condition and make careful examination as to whether or not he is faithful to all the privileges and opportunities he can find. R4407:2, 5227:5;
OV438:1*; Q740:4, 361:6

The Lord's followers in the present time are called to suffer persecution for righteousness' sake, not because it is either reasonable or proper, but because the Lord, wishing to test, prove, and polish his people, is willing to permit the evil. R4813:6, 2415:2

If we know that we are suffering for righteousness' sake, then we know the spirit of God rests upon us. R5395:5, 5227:5

We are still in this time of persecution; the great Adversary is not yet bound. R2437:3

In proportion as he receives the truth and faithfully declares it. R1467:5

Those faithful to God during this age will have more hardship than have those who are unfaithful. R5294:5

It has been a part of the divine will throughout this Gospel age to allow his faithful servants to suffer reproaches and losses to demonstrate their loyalty to God. R5189:3; SM451:4 Fully exemplified in Paul's own experiences and in the Master's. SM217:1

Sometimes causing excruciating pain, sorrow and heartache today, even though more refined, more civilized than in times past. SM630:T

A succession of unkind words and acts with a view to punishing someone for adhering to an opinion or course of conduct; something that is intended and pursued. R5395:2

We cannot be members of the same body and persecute each other. R5395:2

The world cannot endure the searching light of the true Gospel. R2415:2

"Because ye are not of the world, therefore the world hateth you." (John 15:19) F628; R5441:5, 5189:5, 2501:2, 374:3

"They shall say all manner of evil against you falsely." (Matt. 5:11)
F464; R5294:5, 3223:2, 1790:3

It is plain to be seen that earthly prosperity in the present age does not attend the Spiritual Israelite. R4051:3

2 Timothy 3:13

But evil men -- In the Church. R968:3

And seducers -- Deceivers and leaders astray from the truth. B259;
Q853:2; SM697:3

Wax worse and worse -- Waxing more and more bold and aggressive as they receive encouragement from that rapidly increasing class that will no longer endure sound doctrine. R1320:5

At the second coming the world will not be converted. OV155:3

These words of the Apostle describe our day. SM697:3

Deceiving -- Others. R1320:5

Gentle manners may be exercised by a selfish heart, deceiving itself and seeking to deceive others. R5123:6

Being deceived -- There is such a thing as deceiving one's self by repeating a sentiment until one believes it. R5098:5

A man may deceive himself, but he cannot deceive God. R589:4

Becoming more and more firmly entrenched in the snares of their own weaving, so as to make it impossible to extricate them. R1320:5, 2219:5

By their sophistries. R968:3 Satan's devices and snares are operated by moral men who have had some character or standing in connection with the cause of Christ. R1217:3

Continue -- Abide. R3210:6

2 Timothy 3:15

From a child -- Paul was also endowed from his birth and was zealous toward God long before his conversion from Judaism to Christianity.

R1671:6 Holy Scriptures -- Referred chiefly to the Old Testament, since the New Testament was not yet completed. R3210:3

These writings collectively were termed "The Law and the Prophets," and the Hebrews were taught of God to esteem them of divine authority and authorship. R1145:3

Which are able -- Beyond what is written we need nothing. A21, 25

To make thee wise -- Search the Scriptures daily and critically and abandon everything which conflicts therewith. R5097:1

The elect have been receiving their education by giving themselves wholly to studying the Scriptures of truth, and were being led into all truth by the spirit of truth. R33:5*

A very large majority of Christians have never searched the Scriptures which are able to make them wise. R362:3

Unto salvation -- Great salvation--the high calling. R200:5

We must have reverence for Christ Jesus and obey him to the extent of our ability, else there can be no salvation. R3210:3

2 Timothy 3:16

All scripture -- Holy writings. R3210:5

The teachings of Jesus, the apostles and the prophets--the only inspired authorities. R5406:6

The Word of God which liveth and abideth forever. R2240:6

Covering every knowledge necessary to man. SM109:1

The Bible is the most wonderful book in existence. R1145:1

The Old and the New Testaments form a perfect guide to faith. R2163:1*, 1158:6*

Composed of sixty-six separate books, written by about forty different writers, living centuries apart, speaking different languages, subjects of different governments, and brought up under different civilizations.

R1145:1

All the books of the Old and New Testaments as we now have them appear in the Greek, in the Sinaitic manuscript, the oldest known Greek manuscript, whose date is about A. D. 350. R1145:6

The Bible is generally accepted by Christian people as of divine authority, but few are able to state clearly why. R1144:3

We still have the apostle's instructions as fully as the early Church.

R5067:4; F216

By inspiration of God -- Those men were, in some way, inspired by, or brought under the influence of God; so as to be used by him in speaking or writing such words as he wished to have expressed. R1148:1

We need no further doctrinal utterances; no more apostles than the original twelve--Paul taking Judas' place. SM673:T

That there would be some who mistakenly would claim to be apostles, the Lord Jesus clearly indicated, declaring that there would be false apostles, "who say that they are apostles and are not." (Rev. 2:2) OV396:1

The decisions of the councils of the Dark Ages are injurious in proportion as they are out of alignment with the words of Jesus and the apostles.

OV163:1

And is profitable -- Sufficient. R5588:1, 5406:6, 5355:1

They are in error who think that the sanctifying work can go on better without the truth than with it. R1528:2

For doctrine -- Theological instruction. R678:6

Containing the full statement of the divine plan; and no human authority is competent to add thereto. R2166:2, 1867:2

There is nothing to hinder God from using a dream to instruct us. Nevertheless, there is but one sure way of receiving dreams: to interpret them only in accord with the Scriptures. To direct us continually by dreams would be to interfere with our walking by faith. R5714:5

For correction -- Literally, to bring up and establish one in the right. R2166:4

Of error. R664:4*, 416:2*

For instruction -- For holy living. R1528:2

All the instruction which we receive from the Lord comes to us through the written Word. SM584:2

2 Timothy 3:17

That the man of God -- Those who, by acquaintance with God, are able to recognize his characteristic methods. B39

May be perfect -- Perfectly informed. R5082:5, 2466:6

Perfected in knowledge and conduct. R1867:1

Complete. R3210:5

Perfect in heart, in character, in will; not in the flesh. R2166:5

"Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect." (Matt. 5:48) R76:5*

Thoroughly furnished -- Paul declares the Word of God is sufficient.

R5714:5, 4878:4, 2835:1, 2452:6, 2419:3, 2179:3, 1149:4; SM550:T

We need no special message or revelations--nor any occult powers. R2980:6, 5637:5

We are not to expect visions or revelations or any kind of communications from the Lord or the holy angels. All such attempts to communicate with us are of the Adversary. R5355:1

There is no need of any manifestation of spirits--his "elect" shall walk by faith and not by unusual manifestations or sights or sounds. R2179:3

There is no need of the speculations of good people who are dead, or of good people who are living, or yet of our own. E167

Needing no supplements of visions or dreams. R2166:2, 3278:1

The divine Word is to be the great talisman, test, standard, for everything for the Christian. R5714:6

We are continually urged to search the Scriptures, that we may know the will, the counsel of God. R2240:6

That we may be able to speak the word of the Lord freely. R4685:5

That we may be able to connect the different parts of the truth into a harmonious whole. R5558:5

That we may be armed against every attack of skepticism. R1144:3

The Bible furnishes merely a basis for faith. PD6/11

Worldly men admit that no man's education is complete without a considerable knowledge of this wonderful Book. R3210:6

Modern history bears testimony to the fulfillments of prophecy. R1314:4

God's times and seasons are given in such a way as to be convincing only to those who, by acquaintance with God, are able to recognize his characteristic methods. R5368:1

Nothing of importance in Christ's words or deeds has been omitted. F218

There is no need of any more apostles. F209, 210

Yet the Scriptures nowhere instruct the Church to undertake the world's moral uplift and regeneration in the present time. R2414:1

Unto all good works -- By the knowledge of the Word of God. R5088:4

To the apostles was given the great work of inaugurating the church. R5588:1

The information given us is for the purpose that we may impart it to others. R4685:5

"The Spirit shall guide you into all truth." (John 16:13) E204, 205

2 Timothy 4

2 Timothy 4:1

I charge thee -- Adjure thee--"I most solemnly urge upon you." R3210:6
Paul's dying charge to Timothy was that he should be diligent and zealous in preaching the Word of God. R2229:3

Before God -- He who does not believe in God and in his Son could not preach the Gospel at all. R2229:3

The Lord Jesus Christ who shall judge -- No man can really preach the good tidings intelligently who does not believe also that the Son has been appointed by the father to judge the world in the appointed Millennial day. R2229:3

The quick -- The living nations first. B145; R568:3

The fallen angels, who have never fallen into death, but are restrained in chains of darkness. R3211:1, 1853:6

And the dead -- The race of mankind, all of whom are under the sentence of death. R3211:1

At his appearing -- Greek, epiphania, bright shining or manifestation. R2979:2

During his manifestation, at his second advent. R2229:3

It is evident, then, that the Kingdom promised is future, that its work of blessing all humanity is future. HG368:6

The Church hopes to share with him in those future glories and grand opportunities. R3211:1

2 Timothy 4:2

Preach the Word -- Teacher and hearer should see to it that it is not man's wisdom that is proclaimed. F255; R4526:3, 2229:4

As long as there are hungry hearts to receive the message--until the Church is complete. R5602:1

All the Lord's people are teachers--it is the chief business of their life. R3211:1

Before we begin to preach, we should be acquainted with the Word, and have a clear, definite understanding of its "good tidings." R646:3

We find Paul exhorting Timothy to preach the word without fear of man. R552:2

We suggest that if the teachers be of divine appointment, those taught are divinely taught. R380:1

Be instant -- Always ready to declare the truth. R3211:2

Unceasingly. R3208:3

In season -- When it is convenient for you. R4526:3, 3726:6, 1892:5, 1433:4, 731:1, 552:2

Out of season -- When it is inconvenient for you, as illustrated by Paul's sermon to the Jews after their attack upon him in the temple at Jerusalem. R3189:2, 4526:3, 3211:2, 3208:3, 2229:3, 1892:5, 1433:4, 552:2

Reprove, rebuke -- These words are to be understood as particularly applicable to Timothy as an experienced elder in the church. R3211:2

It is safe to caution all the Lord's people against a too liberal use of reproofing and rebuking. R4977:6, 3211:2

Our reproofing and rebuking, of teachings and teachers, should be done from a Scriptural standpoint--with brotherly patience, without bitterness, harshness or unkindness, and without arrogance. R2969:6, 646:2

In order to reprove properly, the heart should be very full of love and sympathy; else the reproofs and rebukes might be sharp and possibly do more harm than good. R4977:6, 2229:4

This should be done with patience, gentleness, forbearing and doctrine, showing clearly wherein the principles of righteousness were infringed and pointing out distinctly the Word of the Lord concerning the same. R3211:3

We can judge only by men's words of profession and their course of action; we must leave the rest to be revealed by the great judge. R882:3

Experience has proved that some of the Lord's people are in need of words of warning in order that they be not deceived. R1480:4

Exhort -- Exhortation is the form of service which quite evidently can best be used by the majority of the Lord's people, but even this should be characterized by patience, long-suffering, brotherly-kindness. R4978:1, 2229:4

Never degenerate into mere coaxing without sound reason or doctrine.

Exhortation without sound reasoning and the strong support of the inspired Word is weak and is not lasting in its effects. R646:2

All long-suffering -- Patiently. R4526:6, 4978:1, 2229:4, 646:2

And doctrine -- Instruction; explanation; teaching. R4526:6, 2229:4

2 Timothy 4:3

The time will come -- Foretells a future day. Prophetically, he points out the great falling away--the organization of papacy--"the dark ages."
R2229:5

In the end of this age. R3347:3

Particularly in the latter part of the harvest of the Gospel age, as illustrated by the closing days of John the Baptist. B263, 264

"Now the Spirit speaketh expressly that in the latter times some shall depart from the faith." (1 Tim. 4:1) C200

When they -- The people. R676:5*

Will not endure sound doctrine -- Wholesome teaching. (MacKnight's translation) R310:3

The Church nominal will not endure preachers who ignore their creeds.
R968:2; B258

Though the denominations are willing to make any sort of combination and union to oppose the truth. R1090:2

The reason would be an unsatisfactory condition of heart in the Church, a lack of faith in the Lord's supervision. R4526:6

Their own lusts -- Desires or liking. R730:6, 676:5*

Their desires for something new. R1320:4

Shall they heap -- Accumulate. R730:6

Teachers -- Whoever exercises the gift of teaching lays himself open to increased responsibility in the sight of God. R2156:3

If teachers possess an eloquent tongue, it may be a channel for a great blessing; but if contaminated with error, the tongue can do almost untellable harm. R2156:3

"Be not many teachers." (James 3:1) R2156:2

Having itching ears -- Desiring something new and different from teachers after their own liking. R4073:5

Teachers that would tickle their ears. R4526:6, 730:6

For worldly praise or applause. R563:2, 365:4; F287

For something new and strange--for human speculations and vain philosophies. R1892:5, 4526:6, 4073:5, 2930:6, 1320:4, 968:2; B258

For a new gospel of education, refinement and wealth. R2930:6

Who would turn their ears away from truth to fables--more pleased with style and oratory than truth. R4526:6

Faithful servants will not seek to please the ear with soft words, nor to lull the drowsy, but will proclaim the unvarnished truth, exposing hypocrisy and deception. R563:3

And they -- The ear-pleasing teachers. R730:6, 676:5*

Their ears -- Understanding. R676:5*

From the truth -- Prophetically, Paul points out the great falling away which culminated in the organization of papacy. R2229:5

Turned unto fables -- Congregations moving from the hopes and methods set before us in the gospel to hopes and methods of their own misconceptions and unbelief. R1969:1

Turned from the study of God's Word to the doing of penances and vain repetitions of prayer; from faith in the precious blood of Christ, to the "mass" and its oft-repeated sacrifices for sins. R2229:5

Fables respecting sacred relics and wonderful cures wrought by nails from the cross, pieces of the cross, bones of saints, etc. This period is known in civil history as "the dark ages." R2229:6

Evolution theories and higher criticism unbelief. R2767:2

Such as monkey progenitors millions of years ago. R4073:5

Anecdotes, essays on science, politics, social uplift, etc. R3211:4

Thou -- Timothy, who was a public minister. R2229:5

In all things -- Against these evil influences and tendencies. R1892:5

Endure afflictions -- Suffer hardships. R3211:4

They are sure to come to all who are faithful in the service; such are sure to incur the wrath of the adversary, who will actively oppose them. R1892:5

Of an evangelist -- A teacher and expounder of the Gospel and not of human tradition. R2230:1

Make full proof -- Demonstrate what you have professed and what you know to be the truth, that you are a servant of God and not of man, that you are a loyal ambassador in delivering the message he sends. R3211:4

2 Timothy 4:6

Ready to be offered -- Having reached the mark of perfect love. Q274:3

Time of my departure -- That is, from life. R700:2*

Is at hand -- These words form a part of the last charge of the great Apostle to his son Timothy. R4240:1*

2 Timothy 4:7

I have fought a good fight -- Paul had fought in defense of the Lord's testimony to the end of his course to the best of his ability. R2230:4

Against every pernicious influence, doctrine and practice. R4527:2

Paul was the greatest Apostle and, next to the Lord, he is the most perfect model of a self-sacrificing spirit that shines on the sacred records. R552:4

Was there ever a nobler soldier of the cross than St. Paul--the Redeemer alone excepted? R4533:2, 4240:1*, 2229:2

He did not boast of his knowledge, nor of his abilities, nor of his accomplishments, nor of his sufferings. R2230:1

Paul wrote, not egotistically, but for Timothy's encouragement. R4527:1

Paul left an indelible mark on the pages of history. R4533:2

God is seeking only for heroes now--the "elect" must all be courageous, heroes. R4533:3

We must fight against selfishness in its every phase, especially in ourselves. R2230:4

Not with carnal weapons. R4527:2

Finished my course -- Paul wrote these words shortly before he was executed. R4050:1

Not merely in theory, but also in practice. R4527:3, 4533:3

It was probably during his second imprisonment that the apostle wrote his epistles to Timothy and Titus. R3209:6

Paul realized that the close of his career was near. R4533:3

He was spared from crucifixion by reason of being a Roman citizen; instead he was beheaded, says tradition. R3209:6, 2229:3

Kept the faith -- The true faith once delivered unto the saints. (Jude 3) Faith in the Redeemer's sacrifice; in its application on our behalf; in our justification; in the promises of God's Word; in the Lord and in the brethren. R4533:6, 4527:4

Which God through his Word had inspired, the faith which Paul had received, and was given to all of the Lord's people. He had kept it obediently, faithfully; had not denied it for any consideration, nor bartered it for earthly advantage. R2230:4

Courageously, at the cost of self-denial, of self-sacrifice, hardships and persecutions. R3211:5

And the faith had kept him. R4533:6, 4527:4

A grand testimony, at the conclusion of a grand life, nobly sacrificed. R4527:1

How important are knowledge and a correct faith. R4533:6, 4527:4

This is not merely keeping the faith in us, but in the sense of faithfully declaring it; for whoever does not declare the good tidings to others will soon lose the faith himself. R3211:5

Satan is on the alert continually to take our faith from us--to turn or twist it to our loss or injury. R4534:1, 4527:4

2 Timothy 4:8

Henceforth -- For some time before Paul wrote these words, he was standing at the mark for the prize--perfect love. R4050:1

The trial of the majority of the individual members of the church ends, and the decision of their case is reached, long before the end of the age. R2606:2, 654:3

There is laid up -- In reservation, in waiting. R2765:2, 1598:2, 1458:4
Awaiting him, not at death, but at his resurrection. R4534:4, 4527:5, 702:1*, 700:2*

He did not claim to possess his crown at the time, except by faith. R3211:6
The earnest of his inheritance; a foretaste, a firstfruit, a pledge of that blessedness. R2064:5

For me a crown -- Representing a position in the glorified little flock.
C215

Glory, honor, immortality; association with Christ in his Millennial
Kingdom. R4527:1

Paul had absolute confidence in the Lord and in the promise he had received from him. That crown had been his cause of rejoicing for many years. R4534:1, 4527:4

The secret of Paul's labor was the divine approval, to be manifested in granting him a share in the first resurrection. R4527:1, 1106:1

Paul esteemed that crown because it would afford him untold opportunity of blessing his fellowman during the Millennium. That crown would also be the mark of divine appreciation and love for him. R4534:1, 4527:5

Of righteousness -- Of life. R5407:3, 2426:5, 1258:3

"The crown of life which the Lord hath promised to them that love him."
(James 1:12) "Be thou faithful unto death and I will give thee a crown of life." (Rev. 2:10) "When the chief Shepherd shall appear, ye shall receive a crown of glory that fadeth not away." (1 Pet. 5:4) R3211:6; A215

Only those who are approved of God as righteous will thus be rewarded and glorified. R3211:6, 5499:3, 4534:4; OV185:1

The righteous judge -- The Church, the Lord's body, is being judged now.
R2426:5

He will reign in power and great glory. R1316:1

Shall give me -- Paul did not expect to go to heaven at his death.
R1378:4, 4534:1, 4527:5, 3212:4

At that day -- The day of the Lord. R274:6

The day of his appearing and Kingdom. R1378:4, 569:4; C133; NS497:1

There is no kingdom until the King comes. Paul pointed to the second coming of Christ. Now there is no need of sleeping saints to wait for a future time. A288, 287; R3212:4, 1316:2, 845:5*, 475:4, 304:5, 274:6

In the first resurrection at the close of the Gospel age. R4793:4, 2765:3,
OV185:1

In the first resurrection, the morning of the Millennial day. R4527:1

Unto all them also -- The church. R1258:3

All of the faithful ones of this Gospel age. R3212:5

Paul did not expect to go to heaven, but to await the Lord's return when he and all the faithful would be rewarded by having part in the "first resurrection." R1450:6

The number who love the Lord's revelation in Kingdom glory is comparatively small. R4527:2

Love his appearing -- Greek, epiphania, bright shining or manifestation. R2979:2

"Paul excludes from the number of the faithful those to whom Christ's coming is a source of terror."--John Calvin. R3212:5

The early Church lived in joyful anticipation of this longed-for event. R1796:2

His revelation at the second advent. R4534:4, 4527:5,2; 1598:2

In the beginning of the Millennial age. R1105:6

None but this class will receive the crown. R4527:6

Some prefer that he delay his appearing so they may accumulate the wealth they covet. R4527:2

2 Timothy 4:10

Demas -- In his attempt to be a leader he had manufactured a different Gospel, built upon a different foundation than the only true foundation--the death of Christ as man's ransom. R3820:5

This present world -- Giving evidence that they had departed from the faith and from all relationship to Christ as his disciples. R4196:2

2 Timothy 4:11

Luke -- A man of education, a scribe, as well as a physician. R4399:3

Mark -- The same who on Paul's first missionary tour left him at Perga. (Acts 13:13) R2141:3

He seems to have ultimately become a true yoke-fellow, very highly appreciated by the great Apostle. R2141:3, 4364:2

Paul made acknowledgement of appreciation of his faithfulness. R3009:3

2 Timothy 4:14

Alexander -- Paul clearly exposed unholy motives of pride, ambition, and envy, which scrupled not to make havoc of the Church and of the truth. R3820:5

Possibly a convert to Christianity who subsequently apostatized. R2207:4

Much evil -- Much harm. R552:2

The Lord reward him -- During the Millennial age. R1469:5,6

2 Timothy 4:15

Greatly withstood our words -- Paul's efforts to build the church in the most holy faith. R1319:3

2 Timothy 4:16

At my first answer -- In his trial before Nero. R4534:4, 4527:6, 2229:2

No man stood with me -- In defending the truth against the assaults of the Adversary to overturn it. R552:2

The fear of the people was so great, and quite probably the Apostle's language so bold, that he was forsaken of all. R2229:2

All men forsook me -- Some who did have confidence in him had lost their confidence, and in the heat of trial had deserted him. R3212:1

2 Timothy 4:17

Preaching -- Paul spoke the Word with a boldness which permitted the Gospel to be fully known to the Gentiles. R2229:2

2 Timothy 4:18

Shall deliver me -- From all the machinations of the Adversary and his blind emissaries. R3212:3

Every evil work -- Including the last enemy, death, when we participate in the first resurrection. R3212:6

Will preserve me -- In this way the Apostle expected the Lord to preserve him, to keep him unto his heavenly kingdom. R3212:6

His heavenly kingdom -- "Partakers of the heavenly calling." (Heb. 3:1) R1881:4

"As we have borne the image of the earthly, we shall also bear the image of the heavenly." (1 Cor. 15:49) R1881:4

It is a heavenly kingdom not because of its locality, but because of its nature. "Heavenly" simply means spiritual. HG33:5, 75:5

2 Timothy 4:19

Prisca -- Priscilla. R1549:3*

Trophimus -- There is no record that the Lord or the apostles ever healed the infirmities of the consecrated ones. R2364:6, 1689:4

At Miletum sick -- The consecrated are not authorized to call upon divine power for the healing of their own infirmities. R1689:4

The saints have been treated physically, much as other men. R712:6

The saints may pray for, and be the instruments in healing others, but themselves they cannot heal. R712:6

Titus

General

Tradition tells us that the Apostle Paul was liberated at the end of the two years of imprisonment in Rome, that he again visited the churches of Asia Minor and, subsequently, made a visit to Spain, preaching the Gospel, and that later on he came to Rome again a prisoner without favor, and that he suffered martyrdom after spending a considerable time imprisoned in the Mamertine prison, a dread dungeon in Rome. It was probably during this latter imprisonment that the Apostle wrote his epistle to Titus. R3209:6

The term "elder" seems to be applicable to any or all of those servants whom the Lord sets in his Church for its edification, some of them having a principal service while others are assistants. Thus the apostles classed themselves as elders. The term "elder" would signify an elder brother, not necessarily in years, but matured in Christian character. Titus was probably young. R1894:3 The Apostle Paul penned the words of our lesson instructing Titus, an overseer (bishop) of the Church--ministering to the believers in the island of Crete. The instructions are not intended for, nor applicable to others than consecrated believers, and refer specifically to six classes in the church at Crete. (1) The elderly men--not merely the aged, but rather the advanced, the matured, who doubtless oftenest would be also advanced in years. (2) The aged women--advanced, matured. (3) The younger women. (4) The younger men. (5) Those who, though freemen in Christ, were bondmen according to the flesh--servants. (6) To Titus himself. (7) The lesson ends with an exhortation applicable to all classes in the Church. It has been claimed by some that the people of Crete were specially degraded and lacking of good character, and that this thought is necessary to the Apostle in giving such an exhortation to those who had left the world and joined themselves to the Lord as his Church. We shall see, however, that every word of the exhortation is quite applicable to the Lord's people today, even though they live under the most enlightened conditions. R2723:1,2 This epistle was to instruct Titus relative to false teachers. R868:5

Titus 1:1

To the faith of God's elect -- A special, peculiar faith, not shared by others, neither can others know it, for "it is spiritually discerned."
(1 Cor. 2:14) R3586:5

Titus 1:2

God, that cannot lie -- It would be advisable to accept the Lord's Word.
Q765:3

Titus 1:3

In due times -- Israel did not have an accurate chain of chronology.
There were certain broken links supplied for us in the New Testament, to be connected up "in due time." R5769:2

God our Saviour -- Jehovah is the Saviour, the author of the divine plan of salvation, and the executor of it. E33

Titus 1:4

Mine own son -- Titus was probably young but matured in Christian character. R1894:3

Titus 1:5

Left I thee -- As a general overseer. F249

Ordain -- Greek: kathestemi, to place or set down. F277; Q811:1

It is on this text the Episcopal theory of church order rests. It provides weak support. F277

Appoint. R1890:3

Elders -- Not necessarily an elder in years, but advanced, matured in Christian character. R1894:3; 2723:1

Not Lords, nor Masters, nor Reverends. Q844:2

In every city -- To organize and lay the foundation for an age of work just beginning. R536:3

To take the oversight of the Lord's flock in their vicinity, to feed them with the truth, to guard them against the wolves in sheep's clothing, and in a general way to act as their representatives. R1890:3

Otherwise the Lord's people would not make the proper progress in knowledge and in the graces of the Spirit. R3745:6

As I had appointed thee -- The Apostle would surely not give Titus
"charge" or instruction to do differently from what he (the Apostle) did in this matter. (Acts 14:23) F278; Q811:1

Titus 1:6

If any be -- The Apostle judged fitness of an elder in the same manner that we now should judge. (vs. 6-11) R1822:1; 1890:4

Husband of one wife -- An injunction more pertinent in those days.
R1892:1

Not necessarily a married man; for the celibate state is preferable.
(Matt. 19:12; 1 Cor. 7:32,33) R1892:1

Titus 1:7

Filthy lucre -- The spoils taken by the clergy from the laity--(filthy lucre), honors, reverence, titles, etc. R1895:6

Titus 1:9

Holding fast the faithful word -- Searching the Scriptures daily and critically, and abandoning everything which conflicts therewith. R5097:1
To exhort and to convince -- To teach, "to feed the flock." (I Pet. 5:2-4) E284

Titus 1:11

Whose mouths -- "Be not many teachers." (James 3:1, Revised Version)
R2156:2

If contaminated with error, the tongue can do almost untellable harm--injury to faith, to morals, to good works. R2156:2

Which they ought not -- Faithful elders will be quick to discern and prompt to warn and defend the flock against all such influences. (Acts 20:28-30; 2 Pet. 2:1-3) R1890:5

Titus 1:12

Even a prophet -- A public expounder, a public teacher. A55

Titus 1:13

Rebuke them sharply -- Leave no doubt with any as to just where you stand on the ransom. R1453:4

As soon as we see that any teacher or paper is wrong on the one, central and vital point--"a corresponding price" for all--we should have nothing further to do with such until it fully and openly acknowledges the error and retracts it heartily. R1453:4

Titus 1:15

Unto the pure -- Those who are pure can see the true, pure hearts of God's sincere "little ones," in spite of the weaknesses of the fallen flesh. R5746:3

All things are pure -- They can see righteousness in the divine law and arrangement. R5746:3

Them that are defiled -- Some who identified with the cause of God, but whose doctrines and manner of life were in conflict with the Gospel--fault-finders. R5746:2

And unbelieving -- "And unfaithful." (Diaglott) R5746:5

The unfaithfuls' consciences become perverted, so that they are unable to see anything or anybody in a proper light. R5746:3

Having lost the spirit of love which thinketh no evil. R2516:3

Is nothing pure -- Unable to think of love and benevolence as motives for conduct. R2516:3

Being impure themselves, they attribute impurity to others. R2516:3

The minds of such become corrupted, seeing nothing pure, good or right in others. R5746:3

Even to the extreme of impugning the motives of Jehovah, our Lord Jesus, and the angels. R2516:3,6

Mind and conscience is defiled -- They become blinded, self-deceived. R2516:6

They have permitted ill-natured thoughts to enter the mind and lodge there--suspicions, evil surmisings. R5746:3

Their consciences become corrupt and hardened. They are prevaricating, misjudging; do not see how unjust, impure and blind they have become. R5746:3

To avoid such a terrible condition, the Lord's people should maintain pure hearts and minds, keeping consciences very tender. R2516:6

Titus 1:16

They profess that they know God -- Knowing something in an intellectual way about his plan and Word. R5746:3

Those who have enjoyed the truth, enjoyed at least the first step in heart-purification. R2516:3

Satan has driven far away from God nearly all, even of those who profess church membership. SM131:1

In works they deny him -- "By their works they renounce him." (Diaglott) R5746:5

If we deny him, he will also (then) deny us. (2 Tim. 2:12) E490

Their works are contrary to God's Word, which instructs that all should seek to do all the good they can, to see all the good they can, and to give generous judgment to others. R5746:3

Not that such have necessarily become immoral and vile. R5746:5

Every good work reprobate -- "To every good work worthless." (Diaglott) R5746:2

Spoiled by the spirit of pride, selfishness, malice, and envy--worthless as bad salt: "If the salt have lost its savor...it is thenceforth good for nothing." (Matt. 5:13; Luke 14:34,35) R2517:3

So far as any good work is concerned they will defile it, injure it. R5746:5

Instead of fault-finding, tearing down, we should give our time, hands, feet, tongues, to blessing and upbuilding. R5746:6

Titus 2

Titus 2:1

But speak thou the things which become sound doctrine -- The charges of Paul to Timothy (2 Tim. 3:16,17; 4:1-5) and to Titus (2:1,7,8,11-15), and of Peter (1 Pet. 5:1-11), might be read to the chosen elders in presence of company, followed by prayer that God would add his blessing upon them, and upon all the company as they shall co-operate together in the service of the Lord. R1892:4

Titus 2:2

The aged men -- The elderly men, the advanced. Not only their years of natural life, but also their years of experience in Christian life should bring them to conditions of maturity and sobriety. R2723:2

Temperate -- Moderate--not light, frivolous and excitable. R2723:2

Sound in faith -- A sound faith is all-important, not only in shaping conduct, but also in inspiring it. R2723:3

In charity -- The patience which will last and become an integral part of character must result from a change of heart: the mainspring of love must first replace the mainspring of selfishness. R2723:4

In patience -- Greek: hupomonee, constancy --the thought being an endurance of evil in a cheerful, willing, patient manner. It represents therefore, an element of character, and not merely a temporary condition of restraint of feeling or action. R2791:1,5

Paul places patience above and beyond love. This final test of patient, cheerful endurance must be passed before we can be of the elect. R4910:1, 5651:3, 2791:5, 2723:3

Titus 2:3

The aged women -- Matured, developed. R2723:5

As becometh holiness -- "Reverent in demeanor." (Revised Version) They are supposed to have professed holiness, full consecration to the Lord, full desire to know and to do his will, and such consecration is to show out in their lives. R2723:5

Not false accusers -- "Not slanderers." (Revised Version) On the contrary, they will be examples in the matter of minding their own business. R2723:5

Teachers of good things -- By precept as well as by example, to all with whom they have an influence. R2723:5

Titus 2:4

That they may teach -- Naturally their influence will be greatest over the younger women, and it should be exercised as becometh women professing godliness, professing to be guided by the Word of the Lord, and the spirit of the Truth. R2723:5

Titus 2:5

To be discreet -- Soberminded--not too emotional;--to do some sober thinking along sober lines, and thus to cultivate both heart and head. R2723:6

Chaste -- Modest, pure--an instruction deep and powerful in its influence for good. R2723:6

Keepers at home -- "Workers at home." (Revised Version) R2723:6
That the home is her workshop and her pulpit, where her influence should be greatest and most valuable. R2724:1

Obedient to -- "Submissive" (Diaglott)--not attempting to usurp the place of. R2724:1

Not blind obedience or dumb submission. R2724:1

She shall use proper liberties and privileges with propriety, so as to make life a blessing and not a burden to her husband. R2724:1

The word of God -- The Scriptures, divine revelation. R1584:3

Titus 2:6

To be sober minded -- Not rash, thoughtless, conceited--that they exercise self-control. R2724:2

Titus 2:7

Uncorruptness -- Not permitting his teachings (doctrine) to be corrupted either with vain imaginations of his own or those of other people. R2724:2

Gravity -- The opposite of frivolity, levity. R2724:3

Sincerity -- Greek: aptharsia, incorruption. E397; R204:1

Titus 2:8

Sound speech -- Conversation that will exert a truly helpful, strengthening influence--to mind and heart and character. R2724:3

Cannot be condemned -- By anybody, friend or foe, heathen or Christian, saint or sinner; and such a course will be a constant reproof to those enemies who must always be expected; in the face of such noble living they of the contrary part must surely be put to shame eventually. (Jas. 3:13)
R2724:3

Titus 2:9

Servants -- Though freemen in Christ, bondmen according to the flesh.
R2723:2

To please them well -- To take as much interest in their master's goods as though they were their own; they were to do their work as though they were doing it to the Lord himself, faithfully, well. (1Cor. 10:31) R2724:5

In all things -- In the little things as well as the great affairs.
R2724:5

Not answering again -- Not gainsaying nor quarreling with their master over his methods and ways and work. R2724:6

Titus 2:10

Not purloining -- Secretly appropriating to themselves the master's goods. R2724:6

All good fidelity -- By his own strict integrity even in the smallest things he shall do his preaching and exercise his influence upon his master--faithfulness to his master's interests. R2724:6

That they may adorn -- By the exercise of a living faith in life's affairs, they show that it is not a doctrine of strife, but of peace and good-will toward men, not a doctrine merely of personal rights and of selfish strife for their attainment, but a doctrine of love, joy and peace in the holy Spirit. R2725:3

God our Saviour -- Jehovah is the Savior, the Author of the great plan of Salvation. E33

Titus 2:11

For -- "For (because) the grace of God hath appeared, bringing salvation to (for) all men." (Revised Version) R2725:3

The grace of God -- Divine grace signifies God's unmerited mercy and favor--it is not a reward. R2284:2, 4576:1, 2283:6

Relates primarily to the mercy which he purposed to extend to Adam and all of his posterity through our Lord Jesus Christ. R4576:1, 2725:5, 2284:3

God's grace in the present time is manifested in connection with the "high calling" to the divine nature and the life immortal connected therewith. (Phil. 3:14) R2725:4, 2284:4

To abide in God's grace we must turn from sin to serve the Lord. R4576:2, 2725:5

While justification is of grace, our presentation of our bodies living sacrifices (Rom. 12:1) is not grace, but of our own volition. R4576:5
The "new creature" (2 Cor. 5:17) has need of grace and mercy because it has for its expression only the frail "earthen vessel" (2 Cor. 4:17).

R4576:2

Which God's people have through Christ for the justification from their sins on the basis of obedient faith (Rom. 4:25, 5:1). R4576:2, 2286:1
His favor, based upon Jesus' payment of a "ransom for all" (1 Tim. 2:6).
R2284:3, 2725:4

God's grace in the Millennial age will be manifested in the "restitution" blessings which will be offered to all mankind (Acts 3:21). R2725:5, 4576:1, 2284:5

No one can intelligently believe in divine grace who holds the theory of evolution or any other theory of salvation than the Scriptural one.

R2284:5

That bringeth -- That leads to. R2283:3

Salvation -- The opportunities afforded by grace make possible our salvation from sin and death conditions. R4576:1

Hath appeared -- It has been manifested to some and the information has been given that ultimately it will be extended to all, so that all may have a share in it. R4576:1, 2285:5

To all men -- For all men--the dead as well as the living. R2285:5

Since it has been provided freely for all, so ultimately it shall be extended to all, that all may avail themselves of it. R2285:5

The earthly life-everlasting which will be granted to all those who then come into harmony with the terms of that grace. R2725:5

The grace of God can never disappear until it has accomplished its mission. R691:1*, 1436:6*

Titus 2:12

Teaching us that -- It has many teachings or lessons, but one of these is paramount, namely, that in God's sight sin is exceedingly sinful and must become so also in our sight. (Rom. 7:13) R4576:1

That the way of reconciliation back to God's favor is a way of self-denial. R2725:5

Denying ungodliness -- "Renouncing ungodly desires." R2283:6

Forego the weakness, the tendencies of the flesh and resist them and show our preference for righteousness by our zeal in fighting against sin.

R4576:1

Denying everything that is contrary to our highest conception of the divine character and will. R2725:5

Righteously -- All who will get God's blessing on the earthly or the heavenly plane must come to the standard of loving righteousness and hating iniquity. R4576:1

In this present world -- "In this present age." R2283:6, 2725:5

The world that now is is already being violently shaken, and is beginning to crumble away financially, politically, socially, and ecclesiastically. Q853:1

Titus 2:13

Looking for that blessed hope -- He holds up before us the grand consideration toward which all of our ambitions are to turn, in which all of our hopes are to center, and in which our hearts are to find their treasure, outweighing and outvaluing every earthly consideration. R2725:6
The second advent of Christ and the resurrection, the hope of the Church, and the hope of the world. F664, 665
Of the Gospel. R2146:4

The object of the hope is the appearing of Christ to receive his Bride, and transform them into his likeness. R471:4, 1893:4, 1105:6

Neither prohibition, female suffrage, free silver, protective tariff, communism, anarchism, socialism, nationalism, general mechanical education, single tax, nor other human scheme. D470-515

The only hope for the world is in the Kingdom of our Lord Jesus Christ--the Millennial Kingdom. D517

We shall be satisfied only when we get those eternal verities of which now we have only the promise, or hope. But what a hope is ours; what a glorious hope! SM739:2

The second advent is the motive for divine hope. R298:2*

Our salvation continues as day by day we abide in the Lord and grow in grace, knowledge, and the holy Spirit. Eventually our salvation will be complete. (1 Pet. 1:13) R5920:4

Watching implies hoping, and it also implies waiting. R2973:2

And the glorious -- "Even the glorious manifestation of our great God and Saviour Jesus Christ." R2283:3

Appearing -- Greek: epiphaneia, bright shining or manifestation. R2979:1

Of the great God -- Our Lord Jesus is a mighty one, a great one amongst the mighty ones. R2726:1

Our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ F673

Who shall transform his Church to his own spiritual image and likeness, in order that we may be associated with him in his great work of bringing in the Millennial blessings. R2973:2

Titus 2:14

Who gave himself for us -- Christ, who, through the eternal spirit, offered himself without spot to God, and for this cause he is the mediator of the New Covenant. (Heb. 9:14,16) E450

He might redeem -- Greek: lutroo, "to loose by a price," to set free by the payment of a price. E431

Not only from the tomb in the Millennium, but also those who now hear the message and obtain relief from the thralldom of iniquity. E432

From all iniquity -- Sin and iniquity are two names for the same thing.

R710:4

Not merely a redemption from the power of the grave. R2517:6

A peculiar people -- The Lord is seeking specially a people peculiarly cleansed, purified. R2517:6

Not striving after the things of this world. R2146:4

Different from others, possessed of a special love for that which is just, pure, noble, good; and are striving to cultivate these graces more and more in their hearts. R2726:4

Separate from nominal Christians as well as the world, having higher hopes, aims and ambitions and with a clearer insight into the deep things of God. R5970:1

A people bought back from sin and death, different from others. They are new creatures in Christ. (2 Cor. 5:17) They have new hopes and new aims; namely, to be made associates in the government of Messiah. R5461:5

Not on outward looks, not by wearing peculiar clothing, nor by talking in some peculiar way. CR333:2, 408:6

A faith-full people, peculiar in this respect from the majority; not many great, not many wise, not many learned according to the course of this world have and exercise this faith--chiefly the poor, rich in faith, may be heirs of the kingdom. R3944:6

The Gospel Church, "a holy nation, a peculiar people" (1 Pet. 2:7,9).

R2604:3

Zealous of good works -- "Devoted to good works." R2283:6

Willing to lay down their lives in God's service. E30

One particular work given them of the Father; hence they cannot give their attention to political or social reform, etc. The Lord's people are eager to do good, but in the way that will be most effective. (John 9:4) R5462:1

The same kind of good works the Lord himself was engaged in. CR333:3
God's work now is to bring to a knowledge of the truth those who have an ear to hear. CR334:1

Earnestly desirous and striving to do good unto all men as they have opportunity, physically, mentally, morally, and, especially, to do good to the household of faith (Gal. 6:10). R2726:4, CR333:4

For that which is right, loving the right, the truth, and loving God's way so that we will be glad at any cost to serve His cause. CR408:6

Zealous for the Kingdom, zealous for the Lord's Word. R2510:5

Titus 2:15

Let our sentiments and our course of action always be noble and pure, and on the right side of every subject that comes forward for ventilation and investigation. R3068:4

These things speak -- Let those who seek to serve the Lord know that his truth is his representative, and let them cast their influence, all of it, on the right side of this momentous question of the ransom. Leave no doubt with any as to just where you stand. R1453:3

Exhort, and rebuke -- Not the pleasantest part of our duty, but some need words of warning in order that they be not deceived. R1480:4*
In love and gentleness. R2726:4

All authority -- Full authority, not doubting as to the meaning of the divine instruction. R2726:4:

The authority of God's Word, not Titus' own. R1892:6

Despise thee -- Titus was probably young. R1894:3

Declare these principles of righteousness governing the Lord's people in a plain, positive and authoritative manner. Speak with authority not as with uncertainty and questioning. R2726:4

Titus 3

Titus 3:1

Be subject to -- The spirit of submission, rather than of contention, is enjoined upon the whole Church in its relationship to civil ordinances of men. R1553:2

"Submit yourselves to every ordinance of man, for the Lord's sake." (1 Pet. 2:13) R1553:2

Implies not merely a willingness to serve under compulsion, but implies also that we will not oppose earthly governments in any public manner. (Rom. 13:1) The public reproof and overthrow will come from the Lord. R5716:4

While our citizenship is in heaven, nevertheless, like all other foreigners, we are to be subject to the laws of the country in which we may be living. But obedience to the laws on the part of Bible Students does not imply military duty. R5928:3

Our allegiance to earthly lords and powers and their commands is merely to the extent that they do not conflict with the commands of our Over-Lord. R5929:2

Titus 3:2

Speak evil of no man -- To speak that which is injurious; therefore one should say nothing that would injure any man. R5529:1

Evil speaking is to say anything derogatory respecting another, to tell things uncomplimentary, to speak anything that is prejudicial to the character of another, whether it be truth or falsehood. R4281:2, 5471:5

Strictly forbidden to God's people as wholly contrary to his spirit of love, even if the evil thing be true. R4803:1

We should say nothing contrary to the Golden Rule. R5529:1, 4283:5

How much more evil in the Lord's sight must it be if any of the Lord's brethren should speak evil of one another--speak evil of a member of the Lord's Body! How terrible is the thought. (Psa. 50:19-22) R3275:6

This is an absolute command--not only of no man in the Church, but of no man outside the Church. R4616:4

How much more will love insist that a brother's weaknesses or blunders or sins be carefully covered. F290

Some of the most conscientious Christians have difficulty along this line.

Any who ignore it prove their own lack of development. R5529:1, 5530:4, 4803:1, 4281:5

The disposition that thus exposes the imperfections of the brethren is surely not the love that covers. (1 Pet. 4:8) R5530:4

The sooner every follower of Christ comes to see that defamation is the theft of another's reputation, the sooner they will see this subject as it really is, in all its hideousness--as it must appear in the sight of the Lord. R5530:4, 4283:4, 3275:5

A slander is equally a slander, whether it is true or whether it is false, and is so regarded not only in the law of God, but also in the laws of civilized men. R2444:4, 5573:1*, 4281:2, 3030:2

Slander and evil speaking are assassinations of the character of another. R3275:5

Those who listen to slanderers are partakers of their evil deeds. R4803:2, 4281:6

An exception would be if you were a witness to a murder, theft, or any other heinous crime, it would be a duty to society to speak of the evil, to report it to the proper authorities. R4281:3, 2445:1

It is not evil speaking to report violations of rules of house or office.

R5529:2 We may properly set forth that there is but the one true Church, organized by our Lord, and that all other churches, therefore are merely human systems. But it is not our privilege to tirade against these churches. R4433:1

Matt. 18:15-17 should be used with our brethren. R4281:5, 1575:3; F289

It is not our duty to speak evil in the interests of the Church. R5530:1

Do not render slander for slander. R5639:3

"Let no corrupt communication proceed out of your mouth, but that which is good, to the use of edifying." (Eph. 4:29) R2588:2; SM183:1

Do we always follow this Scriptural rule? Or do we find ourselves possessed of a mean disposition, which takes pleasure in gossiping to others respecting what we know, or what we have heard derogatory to others? NS590:4

He does not say, Speak evil of no creed. Some of the creeds should be very evilly spoken of! He does not say that we are not to speak evil of an evil principle, but brings the matter down to personality. R5471:1

Titus 3:3

For we ourselves -- Paul sums up the disciple's transformation from selfishness to the love of God in a few words of verses 3 to 6. R2648:5

Malice and envy, hateful -- Beware of all thoughts, feelings and conditions of heart directly or remotely connected with these, for they will surely do great injury. R4803:6

Kindness -- Goodness. (Diaglott) R2648:5

God our Savior -- The great Jehovah himself is the author of the salvation brought unto us by our Lord Jesus. E35

Titus 3:5

He saved us -- Delivered us from this evil condition of heart. R2648:5

By the washing -- The bath of a new birth. R2422:6, 1768:3*

The purifying of regeneration. OV379:T

The cleansing power is "the Blood of Christ." (1 John 1:7) E445, R5854:3

Our regeneration or begetting again of the holy Spirit and our renewing by it comes to us in conjunction with the washing or cleansing which is effected in us by the operation of the truth--the divine message. R4125:1
Symbolized by the priests first washing at the laver before entering the Holy and thus typically becoming new creatures. R4125:1

Of regeneration -- Begetting again of the holy Spirit. R4125:1

The reforming and justifying influences of faith in the Redeemer. Q822:3

The regenerating processes of the present time are with a view to bringing the Church class to a new nature. Their regeneration began when God imparted the holy Spirit, following consecration, and continues during lifetime, a transforming and renewing work. OV378:4

And renewing -- Renovation of the holy Spirit. R1768:3*

The making new by the holy Spirit. R2422:6

Titus 3:6

Shed on us abundantly -- Poured out on us richly as typified by the anointing of the head of the High Priest (Psa. 133:2), representing Jesus the Head and the Church, his members. R1768:3*; T29, 37

Titus 3:7

Justified by his grace -- Down under all is the ransom--Jesus' death--the basis of all justifying faith--the channel of God's grace. (Rom. 3:24, 25) R441:2, 660:3

There was no obligation upon our Creator to do anything whatsoever for our recovery from the just penalty which he had placed upon us. F105

Be made heirs -- Our Lord Jesus is the only heir under the Sarah Covenant. It is our coming into betrothal and union with him that gives us a share in that name and the honors and glorious future which it implies. (Gal. 3:28, 29) R1386:6

The hope of eternal life -- The one hope--the resurrection of the dead. R1435:1,6*

By a resurrection. The ground of this hope is found in Jehovah's promises, confirmed unto us by the death of our Lord Jesus as the ransom price for our sins, and by his resurrection from the dead for our justification. (1 Pet. 1:3; Acts 17:31) R1278:2

Titus 3:9

Avoid foolish questions -- Let the world speculate as it may about its own themes of interest, but let us devote ourselves to the one thing at hand. R3200:6

And contentions -- The contentious spirit is generally to be found among those who are not living up to the spirit of the truth which they have already recognized. They have been attempting to grow in knowledge without growing in grace--in love, in kindness, gentleness, meekness, patience, etc. R4009:1

An heretick -- Those who wrest (twist) the Scriptures, and thus turn the truth of God into a lie. R1575:3

Doctrinal disorders are among the chief. R1575:3

Reject -- If any come and bring not this doctrine (the ransom), receive him not. (2 John 10) R1453:4

Titus 3:15

Salute thee -- The churches in one place were prompt to send Christian greetings and benedictions to those in other places. R1895:4

Them that love us -- We are to recognize as "brethren" those who have only the phileo degree of duty-love; but we are to see to it that we "love the brotherhood" (1 Pet. 2:17) with agape or higher love. R2807:5

Philemon

Philemon 1

Philemon 1:2

The church -- Any number of the living church assembled together in any place may properly be called the church of that place. R1893:5

The church may be considered as counting a part as though it were the whole. R1893:5

The early churches were "associations" rather than "organizations"; bound together with love and truth, not creeds and traditions. R984:1

In thy house -- The congregations of the primitive church were small, and usually met in private houses. R2941:6, 984:2

Philemon 1:7

By thee, brother -- The apostles addressed or referred to one another simply by name or else as brother; and all the church were similarly greeted--as brothers and sisters in Christ. F230, R1523:5

Philemon 1:10

I beseech thee -- A letter of introduction (verses 10-17) as a safeguard against "false brethren" and "wolves in sheep's clothing" was the custom of the primitive church, practiced by the apostles. (Matt. 7:15) R1707:1

Philemon 1:12

Receive him -- In introducing brethren to the churches, force and authority are ignored, while the liberty of all is respected even by the apostles, who write not commandingly but entreatingly, not arbitrarily, but giving the reasons why those commended should be held in esteem. R1822:2

Philemon 1:15

Season -- Greek, hora; same word as for "hour" in Rev. 17:12. HG22:4

Philemon 1:16

A brother -- A common term of greeting in the early church. See comment on verse 7. F230; R1523:5

Receive him -- See verse 12.

As myself -- Probably a letter of commendation from St. Paul would have had a greater influence than if from some others, simply because of the unbounded confidence of the churches in his judgment and carefulness of their interests. R1822:2

Hebrews

General

The epistle to the Hebrews was written to the "twelve tribes instantly serving God" and hoping; especially such as were Israelites indeed and had accepted Christ: it is applicable therefore also to all those who from among the Gentiles have been grafted into the promises of God to Abraham, by union with Christ, the true, faithful "seed." R2085:6

To appreciate the necessity for the book of Hebrews, we must mentally take our stand back in apostolic days and get our bearings as though we were living there under those conditions. The question of the Law Covenant was a burning question in the early Church, not only with the Hebrews, but also with the Gentiles. It seemed impossible, especially for the former, to learn that the Law Covenant was not necessary and that a Gentile could really have access to the Abrahamic Covenant through Christ easier than could a Jew. It was to counteract this powerful error of that day that St. Paul wrote the epistle to the Hebrews. It certainly has been a valuable epistle to the Gentiles, but it was written specially to the Hebrews, and because of their tenacious adherence to the Law Covenant, from the dominating influence of which they seemed not to be able to free themselves. The epistle to the Hebrews was written to prove that a totally new dispensation of grace, and not of works, had been ushered in through Jesus at Pentecost. R4510:1,6

Paul, or whoever wrote this epistle, addressed it to the Church. It seems peculiarly adapted to converted Jews, who were familiar with the writings of the Old Testament. We have in this epistle some of the most earnest exhortations to be faithful to the Lord, and the very best reasons and motives given for our encouragement. R78:2

No signature is attached to the book of Hebrews, nor does the writer of it in any way identify himself, except as we see in its style, close reasoning, deep penetration, and wide knowledge of the divine plan, strong evidence that it was written by the Apostle Paul. Who but he could have written it? It is not addressed to Jews, as if with the intention of converting those who did not believe in Christ--but to the Hebrews--to those who were the children of Abraham according to the flesh, but who had accepted Christ. The Apostle would strengthen and establish the faith of these (and indirectly of all others who would come to a similar knowledge of God's dealings with Israel). In this epistle he seeks to show that, so far from the new dispensation repudiating the old one, it was merely an advance step which was being taken because its due time had come. The Jewish system was not being repudiated as a divine institution, but was being established as such, everything in the new dispensation having an analogy to the things in the old one, but on a higher plane. Hebrews 1

Unto the fathers -- To his people Israel. R2407:6

By the prophets -- Old Testament Scriptures. R1146:1

Hebrews 1:2

Spoken unto us -- The same authority claimed as that which was accorded to the Old Testament Scriptures. R1146:1

By his Son -- A different manner from that in which he spoke in olden times. R4092:4

Our Lord Jesus and his testimonies were but further developments of the great divine plan. R2407:6 The Son declared that those who received the apostles received him. (Matt. 10:40) R3764:1

God has closed the canon of his revelation by speaking to us through his Son and the apostles. R2400:5

Heir of all things -- Promised. E38

Not the "man Jesus," but the "new creature" Jesus who became heir of all things. R4440:5

As heir of all things he will be the representative of the Father to all eternity. R5086:4

He became heir of all the gracious promises of God's Word. R5186:4

The Lord Jesus is the heir, and the only heir, under the covenant typified by Sarah, who died before the bride of Isaac was called. R1386:6

Those who are Christ's are heirs together with him. R1617:4, 458:1, 398:4

All men should honor the Son--not as the Father, but as the Father's direct representative. OV351:4

"I shall be satisfied when I awake in thy likeness." (Psa. 17:15) "We shall be like him." (1 John 3:2) T67

Of his substance. R316:2*

The glorious body which belongs to the divine nature. R1806:2, 2600:6, 2318:2, 1262:4, 546:3, 279:2, 142:3

Which we cannot suppose to be marred by the scars of thorns, spear or nails. R2479:4

Purged our sins -- When he ascended up on high he presented his merit as satisfaction for the sins of his followers. R4667:3

The basis on which divine justice and love may operate toward fallen mankind. R2407:6

By humbling himself to become a man and die the ignominious death of the cross. R5430:1

Made purifications of sins by his death. R316:2*

Which he could not have done had he partaken in any sense of his mother's imperfections. R776:2

Sat down -- Not literally, but in the sense that he is next in honor and dignity to the Father. Q72:T

On the right hand -- Higher than all other planes of spirit being.

R5181:6

Justice provided a great reward for God's faithful Son. R5430:2

Hebrews 1:4

So much better -- Superior to. R486:4

As the divine nature is superior to the angelic nature. A176, 203; R453:5, 616:2*

Jesus was in his resurrection made better than angels, as he had in becoming a man been made a little lower than the angels. R856:6

Having become, by so much, better. R316:2*

Glory and honor far superior even to the excellent glory he had with the Father before the world was. R872:5

Than the angels -- Other spiritual beings. R458:1

"Far above all principalities and powers." (Eph. 1:21) F65

By inheritance -- Inherited. R316:2*

Hebrews 1:5

Unto which of the angels -- To none of the angels was such a message sent. CR316:3

Said he -- The Father. R279:2, 142:3

My Son -- My special Son. R1005:3

Have I begotten -- Greek, gennao. When used in connection with God, it should always be rendered beget or begotten. R837:1

Born. SM141:T

And again when he bringeth -- After his resurrection and ascension. R2156:2

When he again bringeth. (Revised Version and King James margin.) R4695:4*

The firstbegotten -- The firstborn--Jesus--firstborn from the dead, to the divine nature, at his resurrection. R458:1

All the angels of God -- At the time of his resurrection. R4668:5

All of God's holy ones. R2156:4

Myriads of myriads sang a new song. R2156:2

Giving fallen angels a chance to prove whether they are willing to become angels of God once more. R4695:4*

Worship him -- Acknowledge him. OV307:6

Render the homage due to his nature and office. R458:1

While our Lord was glorified at his ascension, the full demonstration that all the angels of God worship, reverence and obey him will be at his second advent. R2156:4

Reverence him as Christ shall forever be associated with the Father in the everlasting Kingdom. R3683:5

Hebrews 1:7

His angels -- The word angel is Scripturally used in a broad sense as signifying the exercise of divine power in connection with human affairs. R5278:1

Spirits -- Greek, pneuma, meaning invisible power. R18:5, 579:2

His ministers -- Or servants. Any and every agency and power that divine providence uses is a part of that care over his people. R5257:5

Thy throne -- Authority and rulership. A92

O God -- Greek, theos. Used of any mighty one, the same as Elohim in the Hebrew. R5749:2, 354:1

A sceptre -- Right to rule. B83

Hebrews 1:9

Loved righteousness -- All God's work is perfect, and every variation from that perfection must be the result of disobedience; the unalterable law is that the disobedient shall perish. SM65:3

Christ's Kingdom will cooperate with all in their endeavors for righteousness. R5057:5

Eventually none will have life on any plane except those who have learned to love righteousness. A303; R4999:3

Hated iniquity -- Wickedness. R1151:5*, 1335:3*

All the brethren of the Lord Jesus must take the same stand regarding sin, especially sin in ourselves. R5702:5

Even thy God -- The mighty One above even thee. R354:1

Christ never claimed to be "one in person." E49

Anointed thee -- Jesus was anointed to be the Head of the church class. R5359:4

The oil of gladness -- The holy Spirit. F131; R4341:2

Above thy fellows -- As head over his brethren and fellowheirs. F131; R4341:2, 354:1

Head over all things to the Church--all the angels shall worship him. CR395:4

Hebrews 1:10

And -- Verses 10-12 are quoted from Psa. 102:25,26. R4222:2, 448:3

Laid the foundation -- Jesus was used in the creation of the world. R448:6, 370:4

Of the earth -- The present social order. R3154:6, 1814:1,

And the heavens -- Powers of spiritual control. A318; R3154:6

Shall be changed -- Rearranged; made over. R3154:6

Some change will take place in the near future, making the earth more fit for kingdom conditions. R3154:6, 4222:6

A new order, social and religious--the new heavens and the new earth.

R1814:2, 3154:6, 4222:3,6

They need a change, not because of any imperfection in the original arrangement, but because it was departed from through sin. R4222:6

Thou art the same -- Superior to all change. R4222:2

Hebrews 1:13

Which of the angels -- Unto none of the angels, but to Him who was superior, chief over the angels; the only begotten of the Father. R490:4
He brings forward the angels, but only to set them aside in the presence of Jesus. R174:2*

Said he -- Jehovah. E49

Quoted from Psalm 110:1. R2935:1

On my right hand -- In the place of highest favor and power. A92; R2935:2

The Lordship of Jesus after his suffering and trials were ended. R810:4

Hebrews 1:14

Are they -- The holy angels. R2179:3, 4214:4; Q437:4

Ministering spirits -- Servants. CR316:6

Ministers of mercy. R99:5*

Spirit beings continually surround the "elect"; divine power surrounds God's people. R2377:6, 4214:4; CR314:4

Spirit beings can be and frequently are present, yet invisible. A182;

R2974:3, 348:3, 261:5, 18:3

These holy angels are looking out for the Church's interests, and are reporting us if we are not in the right way. They shield us from harm; they assist us, or give us stripes, according to our need. Q437:4;

R4823:5, 657:2*, 143:4

The angels are present as the representatives of the Lord to do any needed work for us according to his will. R2140:5

Creatures of God, full of loving benevolence, esteeming it a privilege to serve those who will be highly exalted above them. R1478:6

These do not operate in darkness, nor through "mediums." R2179:3

Doubtless the angels of the Lord are as present with his people as ever.

R5606:1

"The angel of the Lord encampeth round about." (Psa. 34:7) F76; R2974:3, 578:6, 265:2, 18:3

"In heaven their angels do always behold the face of my Father." (Matt. 18:10) F76; R5634:3, 4214:4, 2377:6, 657:2

Sent forth -- In this dispensation Christ controls the angels. R61:5*

To minister -- To serve. R3798:1

To oversee our interests. R4823:5

Any departure from the reverence of the Lord, on our part, would cause a corresponding separation from this holy protecting influence. R4218:4

We have very little reason to expect that God will use any of the spirit beings to do a service that may be done by his people. R5816:6

For them who shall be -- Unto those who shall be. R3004:2

Heirs of salvation -- Each one of the Church. Q437:4

The saints. R657:2*, 3965:1

Hebrews 2

Hebrews 2:1

More earnest heed -- Study the doctrine and get a clear understanding of every element of the truth--become rooted, grounded, settled, and established. R5114:3, 1823:1

The hearing of the Word of the Lord brings with it responsibilities.

R3164:5

Especially at the passover season. R3178:3

The things -- The precious things of the divine Word. R2532:4

The divine credentials. R1823:1

Which we have heard -- "The words that I speak unto you they are spirit and they are life." (John 6:63) E204; R371:5

We should let them -- Let spiritual things. E205; R371:5

Slip -- From our marred and leaky vessels. E245; R3617:2*, 371:5

There is danger of losing what we have received, unless we give heed. R78:2

Should forget much of the truth. R1025:3*

Forgetful hearers and readers of the Word. R2093:3

All which God's Word testifies as truth should be held fast and not allowed to slip. R1206:2, 2389:1

"Take fast hold of instruction; let her not go: keep her; for she is thy life." (Prov. 4:13) R2389:1

Hebrews 2:2

Spoken by angels -- Those in charge of the first dispensation. R1677:6
God's direct messages in the past to Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, Moses, etc., including the giving of the Law--the angels representing God, as his mouthpieces. R3764:1

Every transgression -- Under the law. R3052:6

Just recompense -- A reward of blessing or of stripes which will be proportionate to the individual efforts of each to come into harmony with God and his holiness. R2734:1

God will neither over-punish nor under-punish. SM117:T

Whoever has wronged one of the least of them shall receive a just recompense for the evil deed. R1469:6, 724:1

Those having degraded themselves seriously with a measure of wilfulness, will have the correspondingly more steps to retrace. SM146:2

Hebrews 2:3

How shall we escape -- Destruction. R1951:3

The wrath of God. R2093:5

People of so-called Christian lands, having had more light, more privilege, more opportunity, and sinning against greater knowledge, have seared their consciences more deeply. R5225:6

If we -- Christians. R78:2

The "we" class is the Church class, the believers only, who have the light and the knowledge at the present time. NS237:1

Neglect -- Causing truths to gradually slip away from us. R78:2

Simply to neglect is fatal. We must stand, or progress. R1802:4*

Our appreciation of the value of anything is shown by the earnestness with which we strive for it. R78:5

So great salvation -- That a special class, who would manifest special love for the Lord, might become heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Jesus Christ, his Son. R5275:6

Which comes only through faith and obedience to the Word of the Lord. R2093:5

Which began to be applicable to his Church at Pentecost. OV252:3; R4769:5

Peculiar to the Gospel Age. R5304:1, 5775:3

Love is the crowning excellency of Christianity, and is necessary to fit for the Great Salvation. R78:5

More than an "elect" few are eventually to reach eternal life through the Redeemer of mankind. SM42:2; R5063:6; Q619:2

At the first -- The message of the Kingdom (the Gospel) was planted by our Lord and the apostles. R2276:5, 3769:3

All that ever went before our Lord's preaching was not the Gospel, but merely foreshadowings of it. R2595:6

Began to be spoken -- The proclamation of the Gospel could not be made until the ransom was paid. R2847:6

No one was saved before Jesus came. R5179:4

When Jesus came, he threw light upon the entire subject of God's plan for human salvation from sin and death. R5608:5

The due time for the testimony to reach the world has not yet come.

R5354:2,4

By the Lord -- The terms of the heavenly calling are not stated in the Old Testament. F86; R4820:5

"He brought life and immortality to light." (2 Tim. 1:10) E393;
R5354:4, 5291:2, 5179:4, 4785:5, 3447:4

Confirmed unto us -- The secret of the Gospel was not fully revealed until after Pentecost. R5507:3

Hebrews 2:4

Signs and wonders -- These demonstrations of divine power supplementing Paul's faithful use of his natural abilities were the Lord's endorsement of all he did. R1745:4, 1695:4

Miracles, and gifts -- Intended to assist in the establishment of the Church--all such gifts ceased and were supplanted by the fruits of the spirit. R5831:2

Hebrews 2:5

For unto the angels -- The angels were permitted contact with the fallen race to prove whether they could bring mankind back to God. PD15/24
Who were evidently the unsuccessful rulers of the first epoch. A220;
R1677:6, 1154:6

Put in subjection -- Infers there was a time when the world was in subjection to the angels. Q16:4

The world to come -- The third world or epoch, "wherein dwelleth righteousness." (2 Peter 3:13) A67; F609; R4908:6, 1809:5

The grand era from the time of the sounding of the seventh trumpet. R256:5

The Gospel church then glorified will be "The kings (rulers) and priests (teachers)" (Rev. 5:10) of that new age. R545:4

Which shall be more righteous and successful than the rule by angels.
R1677:6

Hebrews 2:6

Art mindful of him -- God's original purpose concerning man has not been abandoned. A175

Hebrews 2:7

Thou madest him -- Man, originally. A175; R419:2, 219:2, 165:4

A little lower -- Less some little. (Rotherham) A175

In degree or nature, but none the less perfect. A175

Than the angels -- Man, the highest of the earthly creatures, is lower than the lowest of the spiritual beings. Q502:6; A177; R916:1

Glory and honor -- The glory and honor of perfect manhood. A175

Set him over -- The Heavenly Father made man king of earth. R5377:1

Hebrews 2:8

Thou hast -- In thy plans concerning man. A175

Put all things -- All earthly things. A174; R419:2, 165:4

Under him -- Under man. A174; E427; R419:3, 165:5

But now -- Since the fall and forfeiture of man's estate. R1267:6, 419:3, 165:5

Not yet all things -- Restored again and subjected to him. R1267:6

We see not this promised restitution yet, but we do see the first step God is taking toward its accomplishment. A175

But we see Jesus -- The ransom of all. R4629:2

"We look not at the things which are seen, but at the things which are not seen." (2 Cor. 4:18) "Every eye shall see him." (Rev. 1:7) By mental perception. T85

The beginning of God's work. R4973:4

Made a little lower -- And therefore lower than his pre-human state. B108; R329:3

Humbled himself and took the earthly nature. OV353:4

The human body of Jesus. "A body hast thou prepared me." (Heb. 10:5) R5748:2, 5064:1, 5053:3, 5027:3

Not like angels, nor in any sense a being of their order and nature. R329:3

Than the angels -- Greek, angelos. E67

"He took upon him the form of a servant and was made in the likeness of men." (Phil. 2:7) R4098:2, 2075:5, 329:4

Suffering of death -- For the purpose of being man's sacrifice. R5917:4

The ransom-price for the sins of the whole world. R5053:3, 4966:1

Had it not been necessary for Jesus to suffer death, "the just for the unjust," (1 Pet. 3:18) he would not have come into the world. OV151:5

It was necessary that a perfect man should die and remain dead everlastingly, that Adam and the race condemned in him might be released from death by a resurrection. R2477:1

When he had accomplished that purpose, he no longer had need of human nature. R5416:1

There is no reason for Jesus to be made a little lower, or even as low as the angels again. R197:1

The death of our Lord in his prehuman condition could not have effected the payment of man's penalty and the consequent release of the condemned race. OV354:1

The suffering of death on the part of our Lord Jesus constituted the ransom price for the sin of the whole world. Q68:2

With glory and honor -- The perfection of human nature. E427; A175; R5873:1, 5291:5, 5222:6, 1810:3*, 1267:6, 573:6, 463:1

Showing that Jesus did not take our fallen nature. R316:4*

That he -- He left the glory which he had with the Father as the Logos, and was made flesh and became the man Christ Jesus. SM73:T

As a fitting ransom or substitute. A175

The whole merit of the world's salvation was through Jesus, centered in his death. R3701:1

The divine law of a life for a life was to teach us a great lesson; that perfect human life having been condemned to death, it would require a perfect human life to redeem it. R4964:4

By the grace of God -- Favor. A175; R5291:5, 556:4*

Favor, love, bounty. R685:5; E451

The divine arrangement whereby God could be just and not repudiate the rulership of his own court and yet recover man from the death sentence. SM171:2

Should taste death -- And thus make possible human restitution. E427

There is a broad basis of God's Plan laid in the redemptive work at Calvary. R5291:5 Eventually all of Adam's children will come forth from the tomb. R5179:2

The basis of hope, for the Church and for the world. R5822:2, 4734:2, 4372:2, 3694:1, 2750:1, 1750:1

That was the only object for our Lord becoming a man. R3476:6

The privilege to return to the image of God with his law rewritten in their hearts, was secured for all by the sacrifice at Calvary. R5286:6

"Poured out his soul unto death." (Isa. 53:12) R3025:6

Sacrificial death. Jesus voluntarily met the penalty for man's sin.

PT388:3; R4982:3

The race was not condemned individually, but as a whole, in one man, Adam. Similarly, the race has been redeemed as a whole, by the "man Christ Jesus." (1 Cor. 15:22) SM68:T

Proves the character of the one who will be autocratic in the extreme in Messiah's kingdom. R5646:6

Not only has Jesus tasted death, but a great many have been going into death in answer to the call to be of the bride of Christ. R4973:4

The apostle does not say, tasted eternal torment for every man. SM29:1; CR278:1

For every man -- Jew or Gentile, bond or free, of every nation and race, color and sex; all are included. CR430:3; A97; R4982:6, 2396:5

It does not leave out any, not one. Q592:4; R4633:5; OV237:4

The divine provision of a remedy for sinners is co-extensive with the blight of sin. R3066:1

So that every man might have a judgment or trial, to determine whether he is worthy of this blessing. SM150:2

For those already enlightened as well as for the millions who have never heard of the only name whereby we must be saved. A104; R4633:5; OV197:5; SM539:2

Universal redemption--not universal salvation. R5925:1

This work of redemption covers centuries. R4998:3

Jesus' mission at his first advent was to save in the sense of redeeming, while his second advent will complete the work by restoring to perfection all the redeemed. R604:1*

"He gave himself a ransom for all." (1 Tim. 2:6) A344; F668; R5166:3, 1478:3, 779:1, 623:6, 145:1; OV182:4

But not for himself. R47:2*

A salvation brought about by the death of Jesus is contrary to the evolution theory. R881:3

For it became him -- The Father. E118, 144; R1267:6, 393:1, 280:6

Whom are all things -- All things as they shall ultimately be re-united under Christ in God are to be so for God's sake. R1778:5, 1270:1

Bringing many sons -- Of God, not of Christ. E144

The Lord is giving his brethren necessary experiences to lead them to God, to glory. R5579:6

The human race. R1267:6

Unto glory -- "Glory, honor and immortality." (Rom. 2:7) E395; R1879:4

They are not on an equality with their elder brother; he is their Head, their Chief, the Captain of their salvation. R5215:3

The glory of the restored perfection and dominion. R1267:6

The captain -- Jesus. R393:1, 281:1

Princely Leader (Rotherham). R1778:5, 1270:1

Make sure we are fighting as our Captain would wish. R5427:6

Perfect -- As a spiritual being. T80; R393:1

Not as a man, for as such he was perfect. R456:2

In experiences for his future office. E51

Worthy to be granted the power and glory which Messiah will exercise. R5090:2

Made a perfect New Creature of the divine nature. R795:4, 1830:4

Through -- By, or, on account of. R361:2

Sufferings -- Sacrifice of earthly hopes, aims and ambitions; suffering unto death. R5778:1, 795:4

To prove his character, his loyalty, to manifest to us, the angels, and all creatures, his wonderful obedience and worthiness of the divine nature. Q559:2; R4618:3, 5472:5, 965:1, 456:5

Tested to perfection, to the last degree, that when he commands obedience of all to Jehovah, it is not more than he yielded. R965:1, 281:1

A less painful death would have been our ransom price, but Jesus was not only to be the Redeemer, but also the Restorer of men. R393:1

Hebrews 2:11

Who are sanctified -- Set apart, consecrated. R489:4*

The Lord's body members. R4399:5, 297:2

Are all of one -- One spirit, one mind, begotten of the spirit of the truth. E244

By reason of our sanctification of the spirit, we are one. R375:1

Complete sanctification in Christ constitutes the perfection and unity of the church. R69:2*

This unity was illustrated on the great day of atonement by the burnt-offering of two rams. T73

For which cause -- If we would follow Christ, we must suffer. R811:6*, 469:2*, 285:5*, 210:4*

He is not ashamed -- So far is the Lord from any domineering attitude in the exercise of his Lordship or authority. R1523:5

To call them brethren -- Not children. E144; R1359:6

Usual term of greeting in the early Church. F230

Like him they have consecrated their lives to the Father's business, the service of the truth. SM705:1

Those who seek, love, and do the will of the Father, in preference to their own. R964:5

The many brethren that compose the body of Christ are like Christ in worldly circumstances. R811:1*

As our Advocate, our Lord stands with us as our Elder Brother, as Chief Priest over his own House of Priests. R4584:6

If this thought of intimate relationship could always be before our minds, we would assist bearing one another's burdens. R2824:2

Saying -- As it was prophetically written. R964:5

My brethren -- Who have received the spirit of adoption. E109

The "little flock," the bride class. R5007:1, 964:5

Hebrews 2:13

I -- The entire head and body--one. R964:5

And the children -- Of God. E144; R1359:6

Hebrews 2:14

Flesh and blood -- Human nature. E448; R164:4

Part of the same -- The same flesh and blood, human nature. E425; R2794:5, 578:5, 474:4, 261:3, 68:4*, 18:2

Thereby becoming the Branch out of David's root. E136

Not that he might die for himself, as one of us. R726:6*

That through death -- As a substitute, or ransom-price before God's Law. R1685:4

He might -- Legally. R1685:4, 485:2

Destroy -- Greek, katargeo, render powerless; the only way of rendering Satan absolutely powerless would be by his destruction. R2001:4

Ultimately, Satan is to be destroyed, together with all who have his spirit of antagonism to God. OV306:4; R5603:3

In due time. R1879:1, 485:2

In the lake of fire. R655:6, 701:2

As the enemy of God and righteousness. R1253:1 After being loosed in the end of the Millennial Age. R1233:5, 725:3

Satan has become inseparably connected with sin, and his destruction is plainly declared. R5896:1, 255:1

Christ became flesh for the express purpose of destroying the Captor and effecting the deliverance. R30:4*

Jesus is stronger than the "strong man armed" and competent to bind and destroy him. R632:4*

Not preserved in any sense or condition. R2609:5, 696:6

Proof that angels are mortal. A187; R1879:1, 673:5

"Into everlasting fire, prepared for the devil and his angels." (Matt. 25:41) F619; R2608:6, 725:3

Him that -- It is an under or subordinate power which he has grasped as a usurper. R452:4*

Had the power -- The empire; the dominion. C315; R1779:6, 1271:3; Q620:T "Holding the dominion of death" (Rotherham). Not the eternal dominion to which he aspired, but an ignominious dominion amid sin and death, over poor fallen humanity. R1687:5

The dominion lost by Adam and to be restored by Jesus. R269:4

Satan does not have this power unlimitedly, but can exercise it only under restraints and restrictions, as with Job. R2668:5, 2180:1, 1684:6

However great a power Satan may exercise over the world, we know that his power does not extend to the Church. R1779:6, 1271:3

Authority or control. R964:6

Had the keys of death. R145:1*

Of death -- Death, as well as Satan, is our enemy. R2599:6

This penalty was inflicted by God (no matter into whose hands he commits the power of death as his executioner). R911:4

Within limitations, fallen spirits can closely approximate the time of future deaths. R2180:1

This power extends also to storms, hail, drouth and pests. R1685:6, 1771:6

Including disease and sickness. D612; R2189:2, 1684:5, 451:6*

Satan undoubtedly has the power to relieve the sick, when his doctrine will be best served thereby. R3187:3, 5802:1, 1685:6, 1644:3

The fact that Satan has adopted "mind cures" to draw the attention of the world and to keep them blinded proves that our great foe is put in straits to continue his hold upon mankind. R2014:5

That is, the devil -- Rightdoing and rightdoers, only, shall continue forever. A121

The executioner of the sentence pronounced. E449

And thus release from his grasp all of the race. R417:5

"For this purpose the Son of God was manifested, that he might destroy the works of the devil." (1 John 3:8) R2610:3

When the typical lamb was slain the power of Pharaoh was broken; so the power of the devil was broken when the antitypical Lamb was slain, and complete deliverance became a mere question of time. R1322:2

Satan turns the grindstone on which the jewels are polished. SM324:2; Q23:6

And deliver them -- The Great Company as typified in the "scape-goat."

T60, 70

Those who compromise with the world and its spirit. R5864:6

Release the children of God and bring them into life. R964:6

Jesus does not use the power to deliver from death (except in a few special cases) until the Times of Restitution. R47:5*

Fear of death -- Fear of sacrificial death. R5270:2

The death of the old man, the death of the flesh. CR348:2

For fear of the cost the Great Company holds back their sacrifice until too late. R4648:1, 828:4; CR102:1

The Great Company's lack of zeal leads them to hold back from sacrifice, although they do not draw back to wilful sin. HG668:6

Fear of the world, fear of mankind, fear of the reproach borne by the bullock and the goat beyond the camp, in the wilderness, the separated or dead condition. T70

Cowards who turn back and never really take the vow of consecration. R5607:4

Same kind of death as verse 14. R101:2*

Subject to bondage -- Fear of men and men's traditions and opinions, which always keep back from full obedience to God, even unto death. T70

In Babylon. R694:5

To the flesh, to the customs of society--fearful of the sacrificing experiences which they covenanted should be theirs. R5232:4, 4921:1, 4665:3; Q24:3

Hebrews 2:16

The nature of angels -- The death of an angel could not have redeemed man. R5429:6

Angels were not condemned to death, hence needed no ransom. R1680:4

As though referring to the angels which sinned. E425

But he took on him -- Our Lord stooped from his high position. R5352:2

"For the suffering of death." (Heb. 2:9) E138

The seed of Abraham -- Human nature. Q769:5

This evidently refers to his birth of the flesh, as the son of Mary.

R3513:2

Not one step lower than his own, but he came down two steps and took the nature of men--he became a man; he was "made flesh." A178

"The Word was made flesh" (John 1:14) and that flesh he gave forever for the life of the world. A178; E151

Divine justice required that a perfect human life must be given for a perfect human life. R5429:6, 5128:1

Our Lord will exercise both the kingly and priestly office in his great work of the oath-bound covenant. R3513:4

Hebrews 2:17

It behooved him -- It was a necessary part of his preparation for the work of redeeming and blessing mankind. E128

Made like unto -- Tested, tried and proved obedient to his covenant of consecration. R963:6

Not as a sinful man for this would deny the ransom. R951:3

His brethren -- Who have received the spirit of adoption. E109

Those who seek, love, and do the will of the Father, in preference to their own. R964:5

"Whosoever shall do the will of my Father which is in heaven." (Matt. 12:50) R963:3

High priest -- For the world. R3192:5 Make reconciliation -- In the end of the antitypical Day of Atonement, the blood will be applied to Justice on behalf of the whole world. Q444:1

When the people shall have been released from their death-condemnation, they will be in a position to receive blessings. R4905:6

The people -- For the whole world in due time. R677:4*

Hebrews 2:18

Suffered -- Likewise, the body is to be trained to perfect sympathy and obedience through suffering. R405:4*, 12:5*

Being tempted -- As recorded in Matt. 4:1-11. R2243:5, 4969:3

He is "touched with a feeling of our infirmities." (Heb. 4:15) E52; R1829:5

One feature of Jesus' work since his resurrection is to give us the benefit of his former experience, by giving aid to the tempted. R77:6*

Trials of all kinds, apart from those arising through sin. R1335:3, 4544:4

Of the weaknesses of the flesh, he had none. R4544:4

He is able -- "To save to the uttermost." (Heb. 7:25) F162

As our great Advocate. R4545:5, 1829:5

Our High Priest is not one who is cold and indifferent, but full of sympathy. R5585:6

To succor -- Assist, comfort, relieve. R1807:5

To deliver from temptations which otherwise might overpower. F161; R28:4*

We must apply for succor at the throne of grace. R4545:5

Jesus' sufferings and temptations prepared him to be able to succor the tempted. R31:1*, 4545:5

His sacrifice is efficacious for forgiveness of unwilling faults. R4544:5

This great antitypical priest, whose priesthood is continual, is not only able to take away sin, but is able to sympathize fully with those for whom his "better sacrifices" have been made. R5777:2

Them -- His spirit-begotten disciples. R4545:5

That are tempted -- The trials which Jehovah permits to come upon his consecrated people are the same kind that he permitted to come upon our Redeemer. R4970:3

For the testing of our character. In every case behind the temptation is the Adversary. R4545:4,5

Who are tried, but who are not in affiliation with sin. R1335:3

Hebrews 3

Hebrews 3:1

Holy brethren -- The Royal Priesthood. T27, 22; A222; R1101:1; NS598:3; PD68/81

The consecrated Gospel Church. SM139:2; R399:4

The saints. SM359:1

Justified. R714:1

All of the Lord's true people, begotten of the holy Spirit, are beautiful characters as new creatures. R5958:2

Partakers -- With Christ Jesus. R964:6

Heavenly calling -- The high calling; (Phil. 3:14) to share with Jesus in his glory, honor and immortality. R5459:1, 5926:4, 5023:2, 965:1, 361:5; F67; CR34:5

These are called to heavenly conditions; therefore they are cut off from their earthly rights as men. R5023:2; Q436:1

The heavenly nature, or body, is promised to the overcomers. R454:1; PD8/15

The promises to the saints of the Gospel age are heavenly. R1881:4; HG333:5

After we have accepted the call upon the Lord's terms, there is a great work to be done in us. And God is doing the work. R5759:4

While the Old Testament says nothing about any invitation for anybody to go to heaven, the New Testament assures the Church of this. R5772:2

Requiring that our justified human nature shall be presented to God a living sacrifice. R659:5*, 447:5*

The call is not the decision in the matter; it is merely an invitation with certain definite conditions. We are called, not only to righteousness, but to suffering and self-sacrifice. R5459:1

The true footstep followers of Jesus are running for the office of joint-heirship with Christ. The chief duty of the Christian is to avoid entangling alliance with worldly, political systems. Q850:1

God at the present time does not desire the entire world to hear and understanding respecting his plan. He is choosing a special class for the Royal Priesthood. NS340:6

Consider -- Think of, notice carefully. Consider the necessity of Jesus being tested before being so highly exalted and you will not wonder that you should be severely tried that you may be worthy to share his glory. R964:6, 4553:3

Let his faithfulness encourage our hearts in all our weary work, and his success be the assurance of our rich reward. R31:4*

From the standpoint of his being the Church's Apostle and High Priest. R3313:4

Had more consideration been given by the Lord's people to these matters, a larger number would undoubtedly be much farther advanced than they are today, in the knowledge and love of God. R3313:4

As our example, that, as members, we may present our sacrifice as he, our Forerunner, presented his. R4553:3

Apostle -- Special teacher sent of God to specially guide and instruct the Church. R3313:4

High Priest -- The Chief Priest of our kind or order of priests. R4553:3, 2309:5; A222; T27

The Head. R600:2, 5341:6; T26

Typified by Aaron. R4352:3, 714:4; NS598:3

Consecration as a priest preceded Kingship and its Mediatorial work for men. R4537:4

If Christ is a High Priest and the Church his underpriests, there must be some future greater blessing all the families of the earth. R3313:4

Melchisedec being the type of The Christ. T26; R714:4

Our profession -- Order. R4397:3, 4537:4; CR434:3

Our order of priesthood. T22

Christ Jesus -- To be Christ Jesus. T27

Hebrews 3:4

Is God -- In dealing with the house of sons, God has set up a new law, the law of love. R5405:2, 5663:6

Moses -- The head. R224:2, 3268:3, 3476:2, 2542:1
A prophet. R435:3

The Mediator of the typical or Law Covenant. F432
Represents the human element of the Kingdom. R559:4
Israel was in Moses except as they had neglected the Law Covenant, which he established. R3712:4
Was faithful -- Not a fraud. R3177:5
The faithful servant carried the Lord's message as it was laid upon him. R370:5
The prophets and patriarchs laid hold of the earthly promises. R361:5, 5170:3
"Faithful servant" and "Friend of God" was the dearest name then possible, because fallen from the likeness of sons of God and not yet redeemed. R1005:2; NS662:6
God considered Abraham and all the faithful of past ages as the servant class. R5207:3
The Hagar Covenant brought forth some noble servants. R1389:2
In all his house -- The house of servants. R5859:1, 5838:1, 5250:2, 2071:3, 1389:2, 435:3; A145; F177; NS626:6
Fleshly Israel; a family of servants. B204
Natural Israel. R2405:3, 3476:2, 505:4*, 175:2
The Jewish house. R1457:1, 600:1
The typical house, the servant house. HG114:4
The Levitical tribe. R4537:2
From Moses down to John the Baptist, there was a house of servants under Moses. R5682:4, 5613:1, 5582:6, 5405:2, 1389:2, 219:1
Faithful overcomers who preceded the Christian dispensation. A145
Moses delivered to this "house" the divine Law, by the keeping of which they might be blessed and used in the divine service. R5003:3
Aaron and the underpriests and Levites all assisted Moses--were his servants and under his direction in the mediating in the various services incidental to the satisfaction of justice. R4537:2, 714:4
The prophets belong to the preceding house of servants. R4958:2, 5775:2, 1389:2
Every Jew was counted as a member of the house of Moses, bound to him unto death, and merely needing repentance to be transferred to Christ, whom Moses typified. F432; R3712:4; NS662:3
The very elect of natural Israel at the close of the Jewish age, were permitted to enter the higher dispensation--passing out of the house of servants into the house of sons. F177; NS626:5; PD58/70
As a servant -- We never find Israelites referred to as sons of God. There is no direct statement that he was their father, or they were his children. R5219:1, 5663:6
The Jews never thought of speaking of themselves as sons of God. When Jesus declared himself to be the Son of God they were indignant, said that he blasphemed, and took up stones to stone him. R5663:6, 3476:2
The servants belong to the house; but not in the very special sense as do the children. R5424:5

It is proper to give servants commandments. R1543:3, 3030:1, 1729:2
Commands were given to servants without explanation, why or wherefore.
R5405:2

The Jews were promised temporal blessings as a reward for faithfulness; while Christians are promised spiritual blessings, with temporal adversities. R5613:2

The Ancient Worthies' loyalty to God and to righteousness is to be abundantly rewarded, but theirs is to be an earthly blessing in the paradise to be established in the earth. R5772:3

The terms of the high calling are not in the Old Testament. F86

The Jews who were not faithful were not even servants. R5310:3; A145

For a testimony -- The fleshly house were the honored servants of the spiritual house, chiefly in that they unconsciously furnished pantomime illustrations of spiritual things, to greatly bless and enlighten the house of sons. B205

Hebrews 3:6

But -- In all things Jesus has the preeminence. Moses is brought forward, but only to set him aside in the presence of Jesus. R174:2*

Christ as a son -- Christ was faithful as a son. R1729:1

The Head of the house. R5405:2, 5838:1, 5170:3, 3476:2, 3268:3, 224:2
Chief. R3223:5

The antitypical Moses, the Messiah. F432

The Sarah Covenant began to bear. R1389:2

From Adam's fall no other human son was recognized. R5831:2, 5859:1,
1005:1; NS662:6

Over his own house -- The house of sons. R5859:2, 5663:6, 5250:2, 3539:2, 2071:3, 1389:2, 435:3; A145; F177; NS626:6

The Gospel house. R600:1

Spiritual Israel. R175:2, 3476:2, 505:4*; B205

The elect Church. R2405:4, 831:4, 600:1; A145

Those overcomers tried and found faithful during the Christian dispensation. A145

During the Gospel Age there is a house of sons, begotten of the holy Spirit, under the Lord Jesus Christ. R5682:4, 179:6*

The privilege of becoming sons of God was given first in Jesus' day. All who had previously exercised faith were friends or servants. R5775:3,
5170:3; HG114:5

A remnant of Israel had the privilege of passing from servants to sons.
R3476:2, 5817:5, 4108:1; PD58/70

The Pentecostal blessing was the beginning of the recognition of the followers of Jesus as sons of God. R5831:2; PD58/70

At Pentecost the holy Spirit of adoption and begetting was first given; without that none could occupy the plane of sons. R5069:6, 5817:5, 5207:3,
4939:6; NS662:3

None could be of the house of sons until Jesus sacrifice had been presented to the Father and accepted by him. NS662:6

The harvest of the Jewish age and preparatory work for the Gospel age, opened the new dispensation; and all Jews or Gentiles who received Christ, were accepted as members of the new house of sons, which took the place of the old house of servants. NS626:5

The twelve apostles, the seventy, the "500 brethren" (1 Cor. 15:6) and those Jews subsequently reached on the Day of Pentecost and afterward during the entire harvest of their age, became sons of God. R4108:1, 3476:2

The fact that God has received Jesus and the Church as sons, signifies that they are in covenant relationship with him. R5163:5

From the time that sin entered the world, God recognized none of the human family as his sons--all were sinners--until Jesus died, to bring us back to God, and open the door of sonship. R5859:1, 5831:2

During the Jewish age there was an election or selection of a "house of servants"; during the present Christian age a "house of sons" is in progress, yet neither of these selections was arbitrary on individuals.

R1457:1, 831:4

Whose house are we -- We belong to the house of sons--spiritual, not the natural seed. CR215:5

The house of God; the Church (1 Pet. 4:17). R569:2, 1915:2, 179:6*

A house of sons, under Christ. R5405:2, 2071:3

The Kingdom of heaven class. R4958:2

"The mountain of the Lord's house." (Isa. 2:2) R269:2

Whose house are we to be. R175:2

God deals with us as with sons. R5405:2

As sons, it is all the more necessary that we learn the lessons of obedience to the Father. More is to be expected of a son in his father's service. He requires more training and discipline. R2405:4

Sons need not be commanded or threatened. No self-denial is too great, and no act of respect and obedience too small. R1543:3, 3030:1

Jesus tells us of our special privileges over the prophets and others in Matt. 13:11, 17. R435:3

Each, to be a member of the house of sons, must be joined to the Lord, to Christ, and through him to the Father. R5614:6

When the typical house of servants was left desolate it furnished the opportunity for the installation of the antitypical house of sons.

R3539:2, 3712:4

If it was a favor to natural Israel to be adopted as the Lord's peculiar people, as the house of servants, how much greater is the blessing to spiritual Israel, adopted of the Lord. R3223:5

This includes propitiation offerings, and later the blessing and teaching of the world, for a renewal of covenant relations with God as before the fall. R4537:5

The Lord has placed no restrictions in regard to tithing. Whoever has become a partaker of the spirit of the Lord, has a mind not merely to give a tenth, but to consecrate all. R2542:1

During this age of trial and development, all professors are reckoned as part of the nominal house of sons, and the distinctions between the true and false are not to be manifested until the end of this age. R175:2

Since the two houses of Israel--the Jewish and the Gospel houses--stand in relation to each other as type and anti-type, there are some parallels.

R600:1, 245:2*

The Church is not better intentioned or less sinful by nature than were the patriarchs and prophets; but the opportunity of sonship came to us and not them because their day was not God's "due time." R5775:2

If we hold fast -- If we pass the trial successfully. HG40:5

The present state of our membership is not final, but a probationary one. R1698:5

Of the hope -- Not in our own righteousness but in Christ and his redemptive work. R2532:4 Firm unto the end -- Those who overcome the temptations of the world, dying daily; shall dwell in the house of the Lord forever. R1915:2

Let us remember the importance of patient endurance, constancy, that we may take joyfully every trial, every persecution, every difficulty, which God may permit for testing and ripening of character. R5497:6, 5170:3; CR215:5

To the end of the Gospel age, when the house will be finished. R297:4

The Holy Ghost saith -- God, who spake unto the fathers by the prophets--hath in these last days spoken unto us by his Son. (Heb. 1:1,2) R810:6*

Your fathers -- Israel represented God's chosen people of the Gospel Age, and their journey from the bondage of sin into the blessed Canaan rest of justification by faith in Christ, a foretaste of the heavenly Canaan. R1841:3

Forty years -- The period in the wilderness. B48

Typifying the nineteen centuries of the Gospel Age, the period of Jewish disfavor. R3079:3, 3064:4

We are now living in this "Day of the Lord," beginning in 1874, a day of forty years duration, as was "the day of temptation in the wilderness."

R410:4, 26:6

That generation -- Greek, genea, people living contemporaneously, as in "This generation shall not pass." (Matt. 24:34) D603

Hebrews 3:11

Shall not enter -- Not because God did not perform his part, but because they murmured and failed to exercise the proper faith in the Lord. R5388:1
This was a prophecy of the end of the Jewish Age; as a nation they would fail. R5388:5

Hebrews 3:12

Heart of unbelief -- In unbelief, Israel murmured against the divine leading and their carcasses fell in the wilderness. R1841:3
They failed to exercise the proper faith in the Lord. R5388:2
For one who has known the doctrines of Christ, to lose them, the heart must first have been separated from the Lord. R5948:3,5

Hebrews 3:14

We are made partakers of Christ -- "We have become associates of the Anointed." (Diaglott) R3952:4, 714:1

Stedfast unto the end -- "Firm unto the end." (Diaglott) R714:1, 3952:4, 3476:2

"Stand fast in the Lord." (Phil. 4:1) R90:1

Hebrews 3:15

It is said, To day -- The present limited time beginning with our Lord Jesus, in which any may obtain the heavenly salvation. F94

Harden not your hearts -- The Church is warned against failure to enter into the heavenly Canaan, by the example of fleshly Israel in its wayward course from Egypt to Canaan. R1841:3

Both individuals and the great nominal church systems who despise God's word and cast it from them shall feel his hot displeasure, while those who humbly hear and heed shall be blessed. R1372:1 3:16

Did provoke -- Those who accept God as their guide and leader, should never murmur, nor complain. To do so is to dispute the divine wisdom and promises, and to that extent to break their covenant of faith, obedience and loyalty. R5306:2

The Lord's dealings with the Israelites show us that justice, love, mercy, loyalty to God and to principle are in the divine estimation the highest qualities, and violations of these the most serious crimes. R5306:2

That had sinned -- A whole generation. R1841:3

Whose carcasses fell -- They forfeited the privilege of entering Canaan , and died in the wilderness, because of unbelief and departing from the ways of God. R1841:3 At various intervals the nation of Israel was shaken and sifted by captives and otherwise, that only the loyal and true might remain. R3052:6

Hebrews 3:18

They should not enter -- Not that no Jew will enter into the true rest of God, but rather, this was a prophecy of the end of the Jewish age--as a nation, Israel would not be ready to enter into the rest of faith which was then offered. R5388:5

Hebrews 3:19

Because of unbelief -- The Jew saw only the letter, and nothing to which the Law pointed. He saw nothing that, in and of itself, was of any value. HG58:4

Hebrews 4

Hebrews 4:1

Let us therefore fear -- The Church, not the world. NS310:1

The fear of reverence; the fear of trifling, of offending our gracious Father and Lord. R4318:5, 5094:1

He who loses the fear of God, and the fear of losing the great prize is in a very dangerous position. R2289:5, 5652:5

Nearly all who "fall away" first lose all fear and become self-confident. Partly because of the loss of this proper fear, it is impossible to renew them again unto repentance. R3596:5

There is such a thing as having too much confidence. CR448:6

"Let him that thinketh he standeth take heed lest he fall." (1 Cor. 10:12)

R4311:1, 3667:5

Perfect love casts out slavish, but not reverential, fear. R2986:6,

3726:2, 2289:4,5

Take heed, or we will fail to enter the eternal rest of God. R5388:2

Let us fear the loss of such a wonderful prospect of glory, honor and immortality, in the sense that we will seek constantly to fulfill our covenant and to abide in the Father's love. R3886:5, 5094:1, 4796:3

Lest the present condition of divine favor and blessing should give place and some earth-born cloud arise to hide the Heavenly Father from the eyes of faith. R2487:4

We should fear for ourselves that we are at the mark of perfect love toward God and our fellow-beings. R4479:5, 4841:5, 3667:5

For our own acceptance and our own attaining of eternal life. R4401:1

The feeling of responsibility. R2102:6

It is a holy fear that actuates us, altogether. R5304:2

Not an anguishing, distracting fear, but a rational one, helpful to the Lord's people in preserving sobriety and balance of mind everywhere inculcated in the Word. NS300:3

We shall watch and pray, and guide our course with the greatest carefulness that we may make our calling and election sure. R5990:4, 3929:4

This proper fear the Master had. He never became discouraged, never held back from the work which the Father had given him to do. R5712:6

Our Lord feared lest he should come short of the full requirements of his office as a priest to render acceptable sacrifice. R1806:5

"He was heard in that he feared." (Heb. 5:7) R1807:1, 4841:4

God has provided an abyss of fire and brimstone for all who willfully, intelligently, repudiate his government. NS310:1

We must "fear" for those that have left the "holy," and the "Court," and gone outside of all relationship to God, into "outer darkness." T63

Not the fear of torment, begotten of ignorance and misunderstanding of God. R5304:2

A promise -- The precious promises vouchsafed to us, on conditions that are unalterable. R1807:1, 613:5

Into his rest -- The heavenly rest. R3913:5, 4401:4, 4275:3, 1841:6; PD8/15

Divine rest. R4996:3, 2487:4

Sabbath. F392

The glory of the Kingdom. R1914:4, 1575:5, 296:4

Of becoming joint-heirs with our Redeemer. R4275:3

Into life eternal on the highest plane, the "divine nature." NS314:6

By full consecration and perfecting holiness in our hearts and conduct and thus developing our characters and being changed from glory to glory into the likeness of God's dear Son. R4782:6, 1842:6

The great Sabbath, the Millennial kingdom, the seventh-thousand year period. R4015:1

Come short of it -- Miss it, fail to make our calling and election sure.
NS187:4

All who would share the predestined honors, must fulfill the conditions of the call--faithful unto death. A195; R4810:3, 1699:6

The slightest intimation that we are coming short of the glorious divine standard should fill us with fear lest we miss the great salvation. R5304:2

That we should find the slightest indifference in our hearts, that we should not get all that God is anxious to give. CR301:2

Any feeling of hatred, anger or malice against a brother, or any approximation of such. R3930:5; HG482:6

St. Paul had no thought of coming short himself, but he urged those to whom he was writing to make "their calling and election sure." (2 Pet. 1:10) R4810:3

Some will be lost, as well as some saved. R3083:2

As Nadab and Abihu, the sons of Aaron, in the type. T41, 63; R3055:4

"Take unto you the whole armor of God, that ye may be able to withstand in the evil day." (Eph. 6:13) R3331:3

Hebrews 4:2

Did not profit them -- The law provided for the Jew a physical rest for the seventh day, seventh year, the forty-ninth and fiftieth years; and these Sabbaths were typical of a better rest. R5433:1, 5405:5, 4015:1, 975:3

Although the Jews had observed the seventh day, they did not really enter into the rest which it typified. R1446:3

They saw nothing that, in and of itself, was of any value. HG58:4

Not being mixed -- The Jews merely held the outward form or shadow and did not mix it with faith so as to discern its antitype--the rest of heart. R1446:3

The Jew in his unbelief saw only the letter, and nothing to which the law pointed. HG58:4

With faith -- Israel did not enter into the real rest or Sabbath, although they zealously observed the seventh day. They did not exercise the faith by which alone the rest can be enjoyed. R1731:3

Faith is necessary to rest. It is for faith to triumph and to realize that God can bring us to that glorious condition which he has promised.
R5433:1,4

Which have believed -- In Christ. R5433:1

Belief in the good tidings, the Gospel. R5433:5

The most learned and most ignorant can have this rest if only they believe. R5433:4

The belief having reached the heart, will thus affect our course in life.
R5433:6

If we truly believe, we will manifest our belief by works in harmony therewith. R5433:4; NS489:6

Partial belief, partial rest; perfect belief, perfect rest. R5433:5,1, 2534:4

Intellectual belief is not enough. R5433:5

He who trusts in Jesus as his justifier, rests from attempting to do the work for himself. R543:5; HG583:3; NS489:5

None could enter into the true Sabbath rest until Jesus had opened the way. PD72/86

Do enter into rest -- Have entered into rest. R5360:4

A perpetual Sabbath. R5405:5, 5406:4, 4996:5, 4015:1, 2534:4, 1731:3;
OV281:1

A continual Sabbath. R5433:1

The keeping of the Sabbath. F392

Sabbath signifies rest; the antitypical meaning to the Christian is the rest of faith. R5027:6, 5388:1, 4600:1, 4015:1, 1841:6

The keeping of the antitypical Sabbath, the rest of faith, consecration, when we rested from our own works in the merit of the work which Christ has accomplished. F394; R3039:1, 2534:4, 975:3

Rest of heart, rest of mind, the peace of God which passeth all understanding. (Phil. 4:7) R5360:4, 5405:5, 5345:5, 3039:1

A present rest; a rest of faith in Christ. R1841:6, 2737:1, 975:2

The faith in our hearts, the consecration and obedience, with the begetting of the holy Spirit, usher us into the rest in the heavenlies, the holy place. CR322:1

Each in proportion to his knowledge and faith will have rest--much faith, much rest; little faith, little rest. R5433:4,6, 5345:5

Our rest in the Lord is as complete as is our belief in him. R2534:4, 3753:4, 543:6

As we grow in grace and in the knowledge of God, the more firm and established does our faith become, and our rest is proportionate. R5433:6

By coming into the attitude where we can believe, where we can and do exercise trust in God. R5879:1

The rest comes gradually to the believer as his faith grows stronger.
R5433:6

When we made a full consecration to God. R5509:6

By faith we rest in God. We rest in his promises. We are not moved away by any of the adverse conditions of the present time. R5388:1

In faith, in hope, in trust that Jesus will eventually deliver the groaning creation. From feelings of responsibility and worry on account of the world's salvation; the same way that the Heavenly Father rests.

R4996:4, 4015:2

The time for entering by faith into the real rest came to the Church at Pentecost, when the spirit dispensation began. R1446:3

"Take my yoke upon you and learn of me and ye shall find rest to your souls." (Matt. 11:28, 29) R2534:4, 315:2

The most happy condition of mind conceivable is the one of full rest and confidence in the Lord. R5306:6

As New Creatures we rest all the time, if so be we abide in the Lord and in his promises. R5433:1; OV282:3

We have reached that place where we have the peace of God ruling in our hearts. R5405:5

We enter into a deeper, more intelligent rest if we avail ourselves of the helps which the Lord has provided for us. R5433:4

If our hearts are disturbed and we cannot enter into this rest of faith, the proper course is to seek the throne of grace that we may overcome the difficulty. R5388:4

The works were finished -- God rested because in his plan everything was fully arranged for so completely. R975:4

Hebrews 4:4

Of the seventh day -- The 7000-year day ending with the close of the Millennial age. R2837:4, 1731:5, 975:4; Q759:2

At the close of the 7000 years the Son will deliver up the Kingdom to the Father. Q759:2

God did rest -- God rested from his work of creation when man became a transgressor. R2434:5; PD8/15

He rested the matter in the hands of the Redeemer, Jesus, to be accomplished through his sacrifice for sins, and his glorious reign for the release of mankind from sin and death. PD8/15; R1685:2

From all his works -- His work of creation. Q759:2

Hebrews 4:5

Enter into my rest -- Israel's entrance of Canaan, under the leadership of Joshua, typified the entrance of the Church into the rest of faith and special privilege under the leadership of Jesus. R5345:4, 3087:1, 3064:3

Hebrews 4:6

Entered not in -- If, during the Millennial age, "everlasting destruction from the presence of the Lord" (2 Thes. 1:9) shall be visited upon all who shall then refuse to obey, what would be the result of refusal to obey during the Gospel age? R3164:4

Because of unbelief -- The place or condition of Israel after the flesh, and the mass of mankind. R3087:1

To day -- Before this age of sacrifice ends. R5134:1, 790:6

Mercy is confined to this life. HG110:4

It is the privilege of all who come into God's family to proclaim the terms by which those who receive the call may accept it. R5134:4

We cannot tell how distinctly we will hear the voice of the Lord's providence speaking to us tomorrow. Spiritual as well as natural ears soon become accustomed to calls and alarms. R2950:6

If ye will hear -- If ye shall hear. R790:5

"He that hath an ear, let him hear." R790:5

Hebrews 4:8

For if Jesus -- For if Joshua. (margin) R3064:4, 5388:4

Greek, Jesus; savior. R5388:4

Another day -- Millennial day. R342:5*, 5388:4, 3064:3, 975:4

There remaineth -- A future rest. R5405:5, 975:2; CR17:1

Still more complete--to be attained in the resurrection change. PD72/86; SM339:1

Perfect and everlasting rest. R3187:4; OV281:2

A different one from that which we now enjoy. A rest from all labor while our works will follow us. The glorious blessings of the resurrection state. R4996:5, 5548:6, 5388:2, 5345:6

The Sabbath years and Jubilee which could be celebrated only in the land of Israel, represented the rest which remains for us when we shall enter into our promised heavenly inheritance. R975:3

A rest -- Beyond the Jordan of death; the final rest, the heavenly Canaan, the glorious spiritual condition beyond the veil of the flesh.

R1841:3

Entered by the perfecting of the New Creature in the first resurrection.

R5345:6, 5405:5, 5388:1

Our rest is the reality; the rest of Israel was the type. R5388:1, 4015:1

Sabbath signifies rest; the Church keeps the sabbath every day. R5412:5, 4996:4, 315:4

The Sabbath day typified the rest experienced by spiritual Israel. R1733:4

The rest in Canaan was a type of the rest of the people of God in this Gospel age. R5388:1

The eternal life condition to be entered into on the great seventh day.

R3039:1

Represents the Millennium, secured to all who accept it through the merit of Christ's sacrifice. PD64/74

The time for entering actually into the real rest is just at hand, at the ushering in of the new dispensation. R1446:3

Rest from sin, our own weaknesses and imperfections. The new creatures will be beings without flaw, blameless and irreprovable. R5345:6

God has given us assurance of this in that on the first day of the week he raised up Jesus from the dead. R2737:1

The Church will enter into it first; next the Jew; and finally, all the world. R5072:1 The people of God -- Complete rest when the Church is changed to immortality. R5548:6

Entered into his rest -- Now. R5388:1, 975:2

The rest of the heart, the rest of faith. R1731:3, 1580:4

Whoever abides in Christ is a Sabbath-keeper. R5071:6

From his own works -- From attempting self-justifying works. R1731:3, 5405:5

As God did -- Confident of the final glorious outcome of his plan. R975:4

God avoids interference with the operation of the laws under which originally he placed all his earthly creation. R1609:6

Leaving the entire matter to Messiah to accomplish. F393

Committed all judgment to the Son. (John 5:22) R975:4, 2430:4, 315:4

"The Father worketh hitherto, and (now) I work." (John 5:17) R1685:2, 2430:4, 975:4

The resemblance is between God's rest and our real rest of faith, not the Jew's Sabbath rest. R975:3

He was not weary of labor, and did not rest in the sense of recovering from fatigue. R975:3

From his -- Works--God left the work of redemption for Christ. R1731:3, 1685:2, 1609:6, 975:4, 543:6

Direct work--for 7000 years since the creation of man. R975:4, 1609:6, 543:6, 315:4

God rested from his work of creation when man became a transgressor. R2434:5

Hebrews 4:11

Let us labour -- Endeavor; strive. R1886:1 Not let us cease from labor, but labor to put down selfish propensities which would lead us contrary to God's will. HG583:3

Enter into that rest -- Greek, Sabbath-keeping. R1446:3

A rest of faith; not actual. CR17:1

It is theirs so long as they abide by faith, in Christ, in God. R5405:5

By trusting in the finished work of the Lord Jesus on our behalf. CR17:1;

R4015:2, 3039:1, 1731:4, 975:3, 543:6; NS489:5

That no man taketh from them. R5405:5

Sabbath--the actual rest of the perfected condition. R2534:5

Example of unbelief -- Of fleshly Israel. R2534:5

Set by the Jews who kept the seventh day, but never knew what it meant.

R1446:3

Unbelief led to disobedience and perversity of natural Israel, causing their rejection. R5548:5

They did not exercise faith. R1731:3

Paul warns spiritual Israel; not to fall in this way, and lose the chief place of favor, as natural Israel did. R5548:5, 1731:3

The great mass of spiritual Israel are falling--they too will lose the chief place of favor. R5548:5

Word of God -- The Scriptures claim this; though their authority by no means depend upon finding that expression. R1584:3

Quick, and powerful -- Let the "sword of the Spirit" the Word of God, do all the cutting. R4803:5

Rather than debating, it is preferable to present the message of the Lord's Word orally or in print before those who desire to hear. R5685:5

Nothing can take its place; all teachings, whether oral or printed, should be recognized as secondary to the inspired Word and should be appreciated only as they unlock its treasures of wisdom. R2532:2

The teachings of all the Lord's representatives should be the Word of God, not human speculations and philosophies. R3726:6

Let us, in our intercourse with others whom we would lead into the truth, pay less attention to self-defense than to a presentation of the divine Word. R2958:1

Twoedged sword -- Words of purification. R5119:4

The sickle of present truth. R1362:1

Separating and casting out. R1279:6

The Truth itself needs no unkind language, no epithets, to drive it home. R4329:1

The Word of God--we can scarcely imagine the saints beyond the veil as handling the Word of God. R5451:2, 359:3*

This weapon is formed both for offensive and defensive warfare. While one edge is presented toward the enemy, there is another toward him who wields it. R359:3*

Dividing asunder -- It shall separate, shall discover, shall manifest who have the spirit of the Lord and who have not. R2709:4

Separating worldly life from divine life. R508:5*

Soul -- The human nature. R549:1

Spirit -- The new nature. R549:1

A discerner -- Manifester. R1279:6

Of the thoughts -- Heart-loyalty to the Lord will mean continual effort to bring all the conduct of our lives, the very thoughts and intents of our hearts, into subjection to the divine will. F136

Hebrews 4:13

Naked and opened -- The discovery of the X-ray makes it clear how this is possible. R1935:2

That the eyes of the Lord are in every place, beholding the evil and the good, is unquestionable. R1778:6, 1270:3

If we have any secret fault, and are lovers of righteousness, we will want the cleansing power of the Word applied. R2094:4

In far-seeing wisdom God has permitted all the present disorders. R1408:5
"For God is in heaven, and thou upon the earth, therefore let thy words be few." (Eccl. 5:2) R1938:1

Hebrews 4:14

High priest -- After the order of Melchisedec. (Heb. 7:21) R1101:1; T26
Jesus, as our High Priest, makes good our unintentional shortcomings, and also stands ready to succor all his consecrated members. R1490:6

Into the heavens -- Into the closest favor with the sovereign of the entire Universe. R1829:4

Hold fast -- Do not allow the truth to slip. R1206:2

Profession -- The Royal Priesthood, of which the Jewish priesthood was but a type. T26

Hebrews 4:15

We have not -- The Apostle Paul has led his readers up to the point of appreciation that, although Jesus was not a priest according to the Jewish arrangement, he was a Priest according to special divine arrangement. R5965:2

He had been speaking of the antitypical priesthood, that Aaron had been only a typical priest, that a better priesthood was necessary, and that this higher priesthood was represented in Melchizedek. R5585:1; T26
He brings clearly to view the effect of the Lord's suffering, the just for the unjust, in qualifying him for his work as Mediator, High Priest and Leader. R1335:3*

Whoever loves and approves wrong, gives evidence of not having the mind of Christ and would not properly be one of the "we" class referred to here. R5965:3; Q707:1

High priest -- Jesus entered upon his priestly office at the time of his begetting and anointing of the holy Spirit. His work as High Priest will not be complete until the close of his reign of a thousand years. R5965:2
This great antitypical Priest's priesthood is continual. R5777:2

A heavenly, not an earthly High Priest. R5585:1, 5472:2

Cannot be touched -- His perfect mind would make all his sensibilities more active than ours; his sympathy would be stronger, his sense of pain keener. R5103:6, 5090:4, 4804:1, 4161:4; E160

That he might be able to sympathize with those who are in trouble.

R5090:4, 4161:4

Although at his resurrection he became so great, so highly exalted above mankind, he realizes our imperfection, trials difficulties, for in the days of his flesh he had similar trials and difficulties. R5965:2

By reason of his losing vitality on the occasion of each miracle. R5104:1

"Unable to sympathize." (Diaglott) R1335:3*

Of our infirmities -- Man's infirmities. F632

"With our weaknesses." (Diaglott) R1335:3*

Greek, astheneo, a word derived from asthenes, meaning without strength (a, without; sthenos, strength). R4099:2*

So he is able to be long-suffering toward us. Q611:T

If we have tried to do our best, and have been overtaken in a fault, he knows how to make allowance for us and to be very sympathetic. R5966:5; Q709:2

As Christ was touched with a feeling of the infirmities with which we have to contend, so we also must be touched with the feeling of the world's infirmities. R3067:1

It is expedient that the Bride members should be touched with a feeling of the world's infirmities, and have sufficient sympathy to voluntarily bear some of the sorrows and griefs of those about them. R4138:4, 3067:2-6
Priests of the Aaronic order, the Levitical priesthood, could not properly sympathize with the people. R5777:2

The Royal Priesthood, who were once in the same plight as the rest of humanity, will know how to deal with the sin-sick world; and the world will find comfort and consolation in the realization of such sympathy.

R3067:1

The Scriptures amply prove that Jesus Christ was sick, and so able to sympathize with us in our sicknesses. Being without sin, personal sin could not have been the cause of his illness, and, therefore, may not be of ours. R2767:4*

But was -- But one who was. R1829:5

In all points tempted -- Tried. R408:3

"Tried in all respects" (Diaglott) R1335:6*

Proven by certain crucial tests. R5943:3

In respect to his obedience to God, and to trust in the Father's providential care. R5702:4

As a New Creature, not in the manner that the world is. R5585:1, 5965:3, 3717:4, 1689:4; E110; Q706:2

He was not subject to every temptation which assails us from the fallen tastes, appetites and tendencies, which come to us as members of the degenerate race of Adam. R5965:3; Q706:2

He could not be tempted as a drunkard, or in many ways as fallen humanity are tempted; or as a mother or a father, never having been one. R5965:3, 5585:1; E117; Q706:2

As Jesus was tempted three times in the wilderness, so can we be--to selfishness--to foolhardiness--to compromise. R5965:5; 3717-3719, 1689:2,4; 1688:5; E110-117; Q707-709

To a deceitful handling of the Word of God. To gain present power and advantage. To take the sacrifice off of the altar. R1689:4, 3717:6

By the world, the flesh and the devil. R963:6, 5585:2, 3717-3719, 1689:5

All of our Lord's trials were from the flesh, the world, and the Adversary, and so it is with his followers. R3717:4

Our Lord did not give way in any manner to the tempter. We too are to resist and to watch and pray that we yield not to temptation. R5202:1, 1689:5

To draw back from Covenant relationship--to withhold truth and give something desirable--to do what others would applaud instead of what God would approve--to take an easier way--to escape or lessen suffering.

R5585:2-5

We also have temptations to return evil for evil and railing for railing.

Our Lord was so tempted before his crucifixion. R5966:4; Q708:4

For three and a half years this testing continued. R4612:1

It required some time to develop patience and to be tested along all the necessary lines on which his Church was also to be tested. Q52:3

Our Lord's experience in Gethsemane is an illustration of one of the most severe trials which come to the Lord's people. R2774:5, 5585:6

Our Lord was perfect as a human being. But humanity has its limitations of knowledge and endurance. His new creature lived in and operated through the human body. R5702:1

Our Lord's sufferings were expedient and wise for the assistance of those who would be his followers. R5090:4; E128

"For in that he himself hath suffered, being tempted, he is able to succor them that are tempted." (Heb. 2:18) E128; F162; R5585:6, 1829:5, 1335:3*, 146:4*, 106:4*

Does not refer to the ordinary temptations experienced by our Lord in common with others before his anointing. R3715:6

Like as we are -- "Like ourselves" (Diaglott) R1335:6*

His brethren. R3717:3, 2774:5

His disciples. R5702:1

The Church. R5585:1, 4804:4

New Creatures. R3715:6, 3717:4; Q706:2

Signifying that the temptations or trials which Jehovah permits to come upon his consecrated people are of the same kind that he permitted to come upon our Redeemer. R4970:3, 3715:6

We also are tested for loyalty to God, loyalty to principles of righteousness, loyalty to the truth, loyalty to divine methods. R4970:3, 5030:2

He wants to have a Bride class who can endure temptation, and endure hardness, and show loyalty, and manifest that they are really overcomers, laying down their lives. Q160:T

That we should be fully tested after we become New Creatures. R4612:2

These peculiar trials and temptations which come to us as the Lord's followers do not reach us until after we have attained the point of full consecration. R3717:2

We must not expect to escape temptations, trials, difficulties, perplexities, because only through these can we be developed, perfected in character. R3715:6, 405:1*, 12:3*

What a source of comfort and joy it is to realize that our Master knows the power of evil by experience, and so can fully sympathize through knowledge in all our temptations. R1335:3*

He is able to sympathize with us and assist us in our efforts to be dead to every worldly ambition. R964:6, 5777:2

We have the benefit resulting from his experience. R5090:4, 405:4*, 77:5*, 12:5*

We are tempted (a) to use spiritual gifts to further temporal interests; (b) to recklessly and unnecessarily expose ourselves to danger in the Lord's name, and (c) to cooperate in other plans than God's for the world's uplift. E110-116

We should never voluntarily go into temptation. Reverence, humility and caution should deter us. R3715:6

Yet without sin -- "Apart from sin" (Diaglott) R1335:3*

Without yielding. R964:5

He steadfastly refused to yield to any appeals from his flesh to escape or to lessen his sufferings. R5585:5

Jesus was not tempted because of sin or weakness, for he had neither. R5702:4, 929:2

Having met trials and temptations of all kinds, apart from those arising through sin, he is able and willing to succor those who are tried, but who are not in affiliation with sin. R1335:3*

He was able to do what no imperfect man had done or could do. R776:2

Yet bearing away the sin of the world. (Isa. 53:11-12) R1063:2*

Being without sin, he was also without sickness and pain, except as he "took" and "bare" it from others, that he might be touched with a feeling of our infirmities. R2028:6; F632

Let us therefore -- Members of the new creation; no others have access. F680; R4932:1

The spiritual sons of God. R5200:6, 4615:6, 2070:5

The consecrated class, the under priesthood, the New Creation. R5201:4, 5200:6

Those who have not made a consecration to God have no Advocate through whom to approach him. R5200:6

The household of faith. NS674:2

The people of God; but especially important to us now who are living in the evil day. R5744:3

The only ones who have a hearing with God are those who have become disciples of Christ and who have been accepted by him. R5962:5, 5420:4, 3805:3, 3802:2, 2024:4

With the Tabernacle picture before our minds, Paul points out that our Lord Jesus has made atonement for the sons of all believers, who may come to the heavenly Father, nothing doubting. NS674:2

Come -- Greek, Proserchomai; to approach, or come toward. B158

To our great highly exalted High Priest. R5966:4, Q709:1

It is to our advantage that, when we trespass, we might have the humiliating experience of being forced to come. R4615:5

The earnest Christian should see to it that there is a direct and continual communication between his heart and his Lord. R5744:6, 5746:4

Daily. A good soldier of the Lord Jesus must keep in close touch with headquarters. R5745:1, 5586:4

If we would contrast the privilege of approaching God with that of approaching earthly potentates, we would see a marked manifestation of God's favor in us. R5745:1, 5201:1

Before approaching the throne of grace, we should seek to know what things are approved or disapproved of the Lord. R5745:2,4

If we abide in the Lord and his words abide in us, we shall know what to ask for; and we shall be so careful about our asking that we shall not ask amiss. R5203:3

The saints cannot properly pray for their own health now, any more than could their Master. They cannot properly ask restitution privileges which they have consecrated, nor for their sacrifices to be nullified. R5204:3

Boldly -- Courageously, confidently. F145; R5745:1, 5472:2, 5420:5, 5201:4, 5200:6, 5073:1, 4932:1, 4615:6, 2848:3, 1865:1; NS226:4, 674:2

With holy courage and confident faith. R5492:4

Full of faith. R5041:5, 2848:3; Q654:2

Not doubting. R5585:6

Go freely. R5123:5

By faith. R2004:3

With humble boldness. R469:4*

With an appreciation of our own inability to overcome. R2878:2

"We have an Advocate." (1 John 2:1) R1829:5, 5089:3, 4898:5, 4875:4, 3255:5; OV181:4

With such urgent and loving invitations let no child of God hesitate to come often. R1865:3

We should never grow discouraged, but come to the Lord again and again, remembering that he is never weary of our coming and that he will not turn us away empty. R5966:5; Q709:3

If we have not sinned willfully, if our sins have been imperfections of the flesh through besetment, we may come with courage, knowing that the Lord understands. He remembers that we are but dust. (Psa. 103:13, 14) R5585:6, 1984:1; Q655:T

Any that have difficulty in keeping the mind concentrated in prayer should intensify and shorten their petitions. R5746:4

Our prayers and supplications should be in the Spirit, and not perfunctory, nor formalisms. R5746:4

There is a difference between "saying one's prayers," and praying. In prayer, we should have some definite request before our minds, in order that we may look intelligently for an answer. R5203:4

We may pray for the holy Spirit, for more love, gentleness, patience, wisdom; guidance from the Lord. But we may not tell him what to do; for we have no means of knowing what is his will in matters in general. R5203:2

Not only should we pray frequently and with regularity, but we should be always in the attitude of prayer. We should be in that attitude of heart which looks to the Lord for guidance in every perplexity and experience. R5203:6

If we are submissive, our prayers will become more and more messages of thanksgiving. We shall increasingly desire to walk in the Master's footsteps. With his petitions he said, "Not my will, but thine be done." R5203:2

When opportunities of service seem to require more strength than we have, we should go before the Lord in prayer and say that we are trusting that the necessary strength and all else would be provided. R5202:6

"Praying always with all prayer and supplication in the Spirit." (Eph. 6:18) R5745:2

While only the consecrated class may come boldly, all who belong to the "household of faith" may to some extent enjoy the privileges of prayer. R5201:4; F681

Throne of grace -- Divine grace. R1984:1

The Savior's throne--Jehovah's throne is a throne of justice, but Jesus' throne is a throne of mercy. R5966:4; Q709:2

Provided by our Father's love--how undone we should be without it. R5492:4

We need divine grace to forgive our daily, unintentional, unwilling trespasses. R5420:4, 5745:1, 4932:1

All Christians keep daily record with the Lord and never retire to rest without obtaining this grace of forgiveness and help. R4932:1

Obtain mercy -- Not for original sin--but for our daily trespasses of ignorance or weakness. R4354:2, 5103:4, 5089:3, 4898:5, 4615:5
Forgiveness. R1984:1, 5586:4, 5492:4, 5073:1

In respect to our failures to live up to the high standard which our hearts acknowledge and to which we strive to conform. R5123:5

In respect to our shortcomings or trespasses. SM725:T; NS358:1

For the shortcomings of daily life. R5103:4

Let us never presume upon the mercy of our God by being careless of our steps. R5492:4, 5586:4

We shall receive mercy when we are truly striving to be faithful to the Lord. He knows that we cannot fully control our imperfect bodies. R5586:1
The Mercy Seat is for the very purpose of showing us mercy. R5966:5, 5586:4; Q709:2

Provided by God in the great sacrifice of Christ. R2004:3, 5103:4, 4796:6
Availing ourselves of these mercies and privileges provided through our great High Priest, we are enabled to fight a good fight against sin. R5123:5

Not to see some progress in overcoming inherited blemishes, should be a cause of disappointment, and should lead to self-examination at the Mercy Seat. R3168:5

Although our Savior is greatly exalted and seated upon the throne of glory, yet his throne is also a throne of mercy, but Jehovah's throne is a throne of justice. R5966:4; Q709:2

Find grace to help -- Merit to help. NS737:4

And forgiveness of sins. R5745:1

Supplied mainly through God's Word, in the precious promises. R1007:3, 5744:6, 5586:1, 5123:5

The Lord will give us succor. R4488:6

It was evidently because the Lord foresaw that his people might become so abashed by their repeated failures through inherited weaknesses that he provided this special exhortation for their encouragement. R4932:1, 5746:1

To meet in a faithful spirit our various trials and difficulties; to resist the Adversary, and the foes entrenched in our own flesh; to be rightly exercised by the trials and assaults of the enemy. R5745:6, 28:2*

The object of prayer is to benefit ourselves and to bring us into that attitude of mind which will be in heart-readiness to receive our Father's blessing. R5745:4

Our prayers are to be along the lines of the Spirit and not of the flesh.

As new creatures, we are to pray always in harmony with the interests of this new nature. R5745:5

"Shall he not with him freely give us all things" needful to us as new creatures. F411

We may not pray for the Lord to hinder others or ourselves from having trials or tests for it is for divine wisdom to determine what these shall be. R5928:6

In time of need -- In every future time. R3255:5

In times when we are cold or overcharged or neglectful of spiritual privileges--lack of faith, or of restitution for wrongs done, or of full consecration, may hinder the blessing desired. F145, 148

When we realize that we are not always successful in resisting temptations. R5966:4; Q709:1

Although our Heavenly Father knoweth what we need, and has made abundant provision for us, yet he will be inquired of, solicited, by his people.

R2004:3

It was because of our needs that God made this arrangement for us.

R5420:5, 1802:1

Not before we need it, but in the very moment of trial. R2249:5

Hebrews 5

Hebrews 5:1

Taken from among men -- All the Jewish priests were taken from amongst their fellows. R5472:2

Ordained for men -- Set apart for their work to represent their people before God. R5472:2

Offer -- Any man who does not offer is not a priest. Offer up yourself, "present your body a living sacrifice." (Rom. 12:1) CR49:4

Gifts -- See Heb. 8:3

And sacrifices for sins -- In this arrangement the priests were able to sympathize with the people, because they were subject to the same weaknesses, and also had need of the forgiveness of their own sins. R5472:2 5:2

Have compassion -- He was touched with the feeling of our infirmities. (Heb. 4:15) F162; E128

Hebrews 5:3

For himself -- The sacrifice of atonement was offered by the High Priest and represents him alone. R17:5

Hebrews 5:4

Taketh this honor -- God must call or invite. R3282:4, 5472:2; F94

Our Lord Jesus did not appoint himself High Priest. "God hath given him to be the head over the church, which is his body." (Eph. 1:22, 23) R3276:5; SM141:T

No one can have a right to serve in the capacity of a priest unless he be anointed of the holy Spirit. SM600:T; R4494:4, 3951:3

He that is called -- Speaking of our priesthood. R3634:4

The priestly or teaching service. R4122:4

No man takes this step of consecration unless he is called--through the proclamation of the Gospel. R5134:1, 5472:2, 4477:1, 3282:4

"No man can come unto me except the Father which hath sent me draw him." (John 6:44) R4516:3

The receipt of the holy anointing is their call to the Lord's service--a service of self-denial and suffering in the present time; a service of glory and honor hereafter. SM600:T; R4494:4

The place to ascertain what is God's call is not in our feelings but in God's own Word of revelation. R3634:4

Of God -- No man can sanctify himself in the sense of causing himself to be accepted and adopted into God's family of the new creation, begotten by his Spirit. F120

The begetting of the elect class with their Head, Christ, and the honorable position to which they have been called, is "not of blood, nor of the will of the flesh, nor of the will of man, but of God." (John 1:13)

F77, 120

As was Aaron -- God called Aaron to be the head priest. R5472:2

Type of Christ, Head and Body. T38; R5472:2

The anointing of the High Priest in the type represented the divine appointment to office. R5424:4

Although typified by Aaron in respect to an earthly sacrifice, Christ is really a glorified priest, not after the order of Aaron, who was never glorified, never a king; but after the order of Melchizedek R5472:3

Hebrews 5:5

Christ -- "The Anointed One." (Diaglott) R713:3, 3951:3

Glorified not himself -- Greek, doxazo, honored. A194

He was called of God. OV402:T

Even Christ took not this honor upon himself. God appointed him. R5424:4

Christ and his elect Church must also be called of God. R5472:2

To be made -- Christ did not glorify himself to make himself a High Priest. R5472:3

High priest -- A heavenly, not earthly, High Priest. R5585:1

He that said -- God honored him, saying to him in the prophecy of Psalm 2:7. R5472:3

My Son -- My special Son, pointing out our Lord's superiority. R1005:3

Begotten -- Greek, gennao, when used in connection with God, should always be rendered beget, or begotten. R837:1

Born. SM141:T; NS101:3

This is a quotation from the Psalms, and that it refers to our Lord's resurrection is evident from the Apostle's explanation in Acts 13:33.

NS101:4

Hebrews 5:6

He saith also -- God intended another order of priests. (Psa. 110:4)

R4867:6, 5472:3, 3951:5; Q692:6

Jehovah honored Jesus by inviting him to the position, and giving him all power to fill it. R3951:3, 713:3

Not only has Jesus, God's Anointed One, been chosen as the chief priest, but the "Little Flock" who follow him in sacrifice now, are called to be joint-heirs with him in the same honor. R3951:3, 713:3

A priest -- There is but the one way of approaching God--through the great Advocate he has appointed. R4786:4

Melchisedec, who was a priest upon his throne, represented The Christ in glory and power. R3951:5

For ever -- A priest ever; a lasting-priest; not one who would drop his office in some unsatisfactory manner, nor pass away by death: but one who would fully accomplish all for which he was appointed. R4668:6; Q551:1

Our Lord entered into his priesthood individually, personally, at the time of his resurrection. Q550:5; R4668:5

This office will end with the Millennial age--there will be no need for a priest of any kind, sacrificing or reigning. Q551:1; R4668:6

Order of Melchisedec -- A grand character who lived in Abraham's day. He was King and Priest at the same time. OV402:1; Q182:T

Type of Christ in the Millennial age. F72; OV387:4

Christ is not a priest after the order of Aaron, but after the order of Melchizedek, who was a king, and a priest at the same time--not a sacrificing priest, but a reigning priest. R5472:3, 3951:5, 713:5

If Christ was to be a priest after the order of Melchizedek, he would not be a priest after the order of Aaron. Aaron was of the tribe of Levi, an earthly priesthood, and Jesus was of the tribe of Judah. R4867:6, 3951:5, 713:5; Q692:6

Who -- Coming back to his argument, the Apostle shows us the connection between the glorified kingly priest beyond the veil and the suffering Jesus in the flesh. R5472:3

In the days -- The limited time, now forever ended. R1806:1, 5472:4
His humiliation was not an eternal humiliation, but was followed by a glorious exaltation, even to the divine nature and to the glorious body which belongs to that nature. R1806:2

From his baptism, to the culminating point in the garden of Gethsemane. R1806:3

With him, as with us, they were "few days and full of trouble." (Job 14:1) R1806:3

Of his flesh -- The suffering Jesus in the flesh. R5472:3

Surely this proves that our Lord Jesus is no longer flesh. R5025:4, 1806:1

"He was made flesh and dwelt among us." (John 1:14) "My flesh I will give." (John 6:51) "A body hast thou prepared me." (Heb. 10:5) "Though we have known Jesus Christ after the flesh, yet now henceforth know we him so no more." (2 Cor. 5:16) R1806:1

"He was put to death in the flesh, but quickened in spirit,"--in his resurrection. (1 Pet. 3:18) R5472:4

Offered up prayers -- His prayers to God in Gethsemane. R5472:4; HG459:6
We cannot come too often or stay too long. R1865:3

Cryings and tears -- The Gethsemane experiences the night before our Lord's crucifixion. R5403:3, 5551:5, 5472:4, 4841:4, 4437:6, 3885:6, 2773:3, 1806:3

Fearful lest in some particular he might have failed. R5871:6, 5642:5, 5403:4, 4437:6, 3886:1

Not caused by timidity in respect to the impending crucifixion, or by anything that man might do unto him; or doubt respecting the divine power or the divine faithfulness. R5472:6

The Apostle seeks to give us, as the followers of Jesus, confidence in his ability to sympathize with us in all of our troubles. R5472:4, 405:4*, 12:3*

Unto him -- The Father. It would have been a mockery of prayer if Jesus was his own Heavenly Father. R2773:3

He took these human fears to his Heavenly Father, in order that his human will might be reinforced by divine grace to go forward and complete his sacrifice acceptably to God. R1806:6

Able to save him -- Jesus realized that if he failed it would mean eternal death. Q363:5; R5472:6, 3367:2, 1806:5,4

He realized that he had a perfect life, unforfeited, and realized that he was about to part with it. It would be a very different matter for our Lord to lay down his life from that of any of his followers. R4804:2, 3885:6

He saw himself about to suffer according to the Law as an evil-doer, and the question naturally arose, was he entirely blameless, and would the Heavenly Judge thoroughly acquit him whom so many were disposed to condemn? R4804:4, 3367:2

From -- Greek, ek; out of. R5585:6, 4804:3, 3885:6, 3367:3, 2774:3

Death -- Not to save him from dying, but to save him out of death by resurrection. R5585:6, 5551:5, 3886:2; Q272:1

Typified in the Jewish High Priest when he passed under the veil with the blood. If he had not followed every instruction of the Law in the offering of his sacrifices he would have died under the veil. R5585:5, 1806:4

Was heard in that -- In respect to, or concerning, that extinction. R4804:2, 4796:5, 3367:3, 2774:3

In regard to the thing which he feared. R4437:6

His prayers to the Father were not in vain. Though his words were few his chastened spirit was all the while making intercession for him with groanings that could not be uttered. (Rom. 8:26) R1806:6

An angel was sent to give him assurance of his acceptability. R4796:6, 5403:4, 4804:5, 3367:3; Q272:1

And he was strengthened and comforted. (Luke 22:39-45) R5585:6, 5551:5, 4804:5, 1807:1

He feared -- The very thought of extinction would bring anguish, terror of soul. R4804:4

That unintentionally he might have made some error, might have failed to perform some portion of his consecration vow. R4428:6, 4796:5, 4804:3,4, 4707:6, 4683:5

One slight infraction of the divine law or of his covenant would have dashed the whole matter. CR149:4

Had he done everything in exact accordance with God's will? In full view of the agony it would cost, was he able to drink the bitter cup to its very dregs--endure not only the physical agony, but also the ignominy? R1806:6

Not fear of dying, but fear of remaining dead, fear that he would not be accounted of the Father worthy of that glorious resurrection which had been promised to him on condition of absolute obedience. R5551:5, 5472:6, 4804:2, 4796:5, 3886:2, 2774:3; Q272:1

Lest his death might be second death. R4796:5

The great mental conflict through which the Lord passed on our behalf. R1806:3

He received the assurance that he was well-pleasing to the Father. R4708:1

He was delivered from the fear of death. R5472:6, 3367:3

He was delivered from death by a resurrection. R3367:3

The fear on the Lord's part was not a sinful fear; it was a fear such as we are told to have, lest we fail to realize the precious promises vouchsafed to us upon conditions that are positive and unalterable. R1807:1

He never feared the Father in the sense of experiencing dread or terror. R4796:6

It was a filial fear, a fear entirely compatible with his relationship to God as a recognized Son. R1807:2

Doubtless the powers of darkness were busy in that awful hour, taking advantage of the circumstances and of his weakness and weariness to discourage his hope and to fill his mind with fears. R1806:6

Perfect loves casts out slavish, but not reverential, fear. R2986:6, 4841:4, 2289:5

If the Master feared, so should his followers. R4841:4

Hebrews 5:8

A Son -- The sufferings of Jesus, the Apostle points out, came not to him because he was a sinner, but because he was a Son and because as a Son, the Heavenly Father would prove, test, his loyalty unto death. R5472:5 His continual recognition by Jehovah as a Son was a guarantee of his perfection; and to sin at any time would have been to forfeit that relationship. R1807:2

Yet learned he -- Christ never claimed to be "equal in power." E120 Thus Jesus received the great illumination which was so powerful an addition to him--just as it is a great illumination to us to see the terms and conditions of our calling--if we would reign with him. R5064:6

Obedience -- Our Lord, already fully obedient to the Father under favorable conditions, learned what it meant to be obedient under most adverse conditions. E120; R5890:2, 5712:3; CR158:4, 145:3
Under the Father's guidance, he was humiliated. R5186:3
To the perfect will of God down to the lowest depths of self-abnegation. R1807:3, 2439:4

The Master's obedience to the covenant of sacrifice would bring him the life immortal, divine. But any failure would cost him his all; for his all was staked in that covenant of sacrifice. R5472:6

He was thereby prepared for his exaltation, his glorification, which he received when he had finished the work which the Father gave him to do. R4107:6, 5252:5; HG624:1

The plan of human salvation was all made dependent upon the obedience of the anointed High Priest to every jot and tittle of the Law concerning him, as shown in the typical service of the Tabernacle. R1806:4

Obedience is what we have specially to learn. God looks for obedience. CR145:3

Which he suffered -- Which were written in the Book. R5421:6

The things which Jesus endured, not only were to constitute a sacrifice for human sin and to make possible human restitution through the Messianic Kingdom, but they were necessary to the Master himself. R5472:5

In the first "Holy," Jesus had to tarry and offer his incense upon the fire of trial--he must demonstrate his loyalty to God and righteousness by the things suffered as a begotten Son. T56; R5080:5

Even as the experiences of Joseph--all of his humiliation--prepared the way for him to be succored and honored by Pharaoh. R5215:2

Our High Priest is one who is full of sympathy and has had the largest kind of experience. R5585:6 The great fight of afflictions through which he passed--the subtle and deceptive temptations of the wilderness, the contradiction of sinners against himself; his poverty, loss of friends, labors, weariness, homelessness, bitter and relentless persecutions, and finally his betrayal and dying agony. R1806:5

Being made perfect -- In this lesson of obedience. R1807:3

As a new creature, through trials and sufferings. D621; E120; R5472:6, 5215:2, 1807:5, 314:5

In the resurrection as a new creature. SM140:T

Made acceptable to the high station to which he was called--the divine nature. R2439:3, 314:5

Being made perfect through the painful discipline of suffering, he is now a suitable one to fill the office of High Priest, a mediator between God and men. R1807:5, 1335:3*

Perfected in some sense through a process of experience of humiliation and suffering. R1807:2; E51

Perfection of being and perfection of character are two different things.
R1807:4

Jesus was not imperfect at any time in the sense of being sinful. His sufferings did not make him perfect in the sense of making him sinless. The perfecting was of another kind. R5472:5

The new nature, begotten at baptism, needed development, or perfecting; and it was for this purpose that the trials, difficulties and buffetings were permitted to come to him. R5472:6

He was not counted perfect in the sense of that established and demonstrated character which was the necessary requirement for the priestly office to which he was called. He must be proved. R1807:3

As with the Head, so it is God's design for each member of the Body. D621
Became the author -- Source. E386; R1878:4

On the basis of his own victory and exaltation. R5473:1, 314:5

As our great High Priest. E386; R1878:4

As the purchaser of Adam and his race, Christ became a hope of salvation. R1251:4, 1265:4

Every exhibition and testimony of his character inspires the fullest confidence, so that obedience to him signifies progress toward perfection at every step of the way. R1808:1

Shall we not, as sons, share with him as the author of eternal salvation?
R51:4*

Of eternal salvation -- Because of his faithfulness he was rewarded with life on a still higher plane. SM31:2; E120

He has not only redeemed man from what was lost in Adam, but has made higher attainments possible, brought salvation near, within reach of all men. R9:6*

Unto all -- He gives life to all--is Lord of all. R62:4*, 726:6*

The first salvation which this antitypical priest effects is the salvation of his Church; additionally he is the author of salvation to as many of mankind as will obey him during his Messianic reign. R5473:1,4; E120

That obey him -- When brought to a full knowledge of the truth. R1259:2; E120

When the work of giving knowledge and discipline to all the race, and selecting those who, by hearty obedience, shall be commended as lovers of righteousness, worthy of life everlasting. R1251:5

His followers must demonstrate the same heart loyalty that Jesus manifested--the same willingness to do the Father's will and to sacrifice every other interest. R5473:1, 1808:1

Who take up their cross and follow him; walk in his footsteps through evil report, through good report, faithful unto death, as he was. R5473:1

The absolute perfection of our great High Priest, and the fact that he was ordained of God for this office, is the strongest possible demand and incentive for the church's obedience. R1807:6

The disobedient and wilful, who do not love the right ways of the Lord, and who have no desire to walk in them, will receive none of the benefit of his mediation. R1807:5

Called of God -- "Declared by God." (Diaglott) R3951:3, 713:3

An high priest -- Through bitter experiences he was perfected--to mediate for us; (1) by presenting to God an acceptable sacrifice, making our salvation possible; (2) by undertaking to cleanse, purge and purify us. R1807:6

"A merciful and faithful high priest; for in that he himself hath suffered, being tempted, he is able to succor them that are tempted." (Heb. 2:18) R1807:5, 1335:3*, 405:1*, 12:5*

For this office he must be proved beyond all peradventure by the severest tests. R1807:3

The Heavenly Father knew through what suffering, ignominy, shame and sorrow, Jesus' beloved followers must pass. His omniscient eye foresaw the fagot, the torch, the rack, and the thousand refinements of cruelty with which Satanic ingenuity would fight the Church. R1807:5

By God's grace our Lord Jesus not only bought us by the sacrifice of his life for ours, but he became our great High Priest. R1878:4; E386

After -- "According to." (Diaglott) R3951:3, 713:3

Order of Melchisedec -- A King of Peace; a Priest upon his throne. T50

In the case of Melchizedek as a type nothing is shown respecting sacrifice. He was not a sacrificing priest, but a blessing priest, empowered by his kingly office to give his priestly blessing. SM139:3
Jesus in the flesh, in providing the ransom-price, would have had no life for himself that he might become the King of Glory, unless God had begotten, quickened and raised him to the higher, spirit nature. R5226:6

Hebrews 5:11

Hard to be uttered -- There are many deep truths of God's plan difficult to express; and impossible to be understood by those who have not a clear understanding of and implicit faith in the foundation principles. R679:5*, 179:1*

Dull of hearing -- Such a condition is a dangerous one, especially in this evil day when the sophistries and snares of the Adversary are more subtle. R679:5*

When for the time -- For the time spent. R3622:2, 1568:2, 1549:1

For the time you have been in the truth. F257

In which you have had these privileges. R1894:4

After being a long while in the school of Christ. R4207:6

Ye -- Making no distinction of sex. R1549:1

Ought to be teachers -- Paul is criticizing some who had for quite a time been Christians and who had been granted large opportunities for growth in grace and knowledge. SM177:2; R1894:4, 1549:1, 865:4

A reproof to some who, considering the length of time they have been in Christ, should have been strong in the faith, in doctrine, in spiritual life, and should be qualified to teach others. R5688:3, 2052:3, 1568:2

God wishes all of his people to be qualified for telling forth his truth to others as they have opportunity. R5313:1, 4968:4, 1524:2; F257

All the members of the new creation, should become skillful in their Father's Word to the extent that they will be "ready always to give an answer to every man that asketh a reason for the hope that is in them. (1 Pet. 3:15) F257

Those who would give proper instructions to others must be qualified to teach. The Lord has placed the various members in the Body of Christ "as it hath pleased him." (1 Cor. 12:18) R5689:4, 4122:4, 1524:2

All the spirit-begotten are members of the Royal Priesthood, and ought to be teachers--if the time of persecution comes again, let all continue to preach. R992:6

Teachers in the various denominations, while not devoid of good intentions as respects the babe in Christ, lack the knowledge they should inculcate--are babes in spiritual matters themselves. R2967:1; D577

Failure of teachers in the systems to discriminate between who are Spirit begotten and who are not, is starving, stunting and poisoning the true "babes" under their care. D577

Suck givers. R229:6; Q842:5

Ye have need -- In consequence of a lack of zeal for the Lord and a spirit of worldliness. F257

The majority of Christian people of today, just as in the Apostle's day, have this need. R5327:1, 230:1

We are sometimes surprised at others, and ourselves, that we have gained so little victory in character building and appreciation in the principles which should govern amongst the Lord's anointed. R4207:6

Teach you again -- They had gotten entangled with vain philosophies, and their spirituality was at a low ebb. Conditions are very similar today. SM178:T

The ecclesiastical systems are not sufficiently developed in knowledge and grace to assimilate the strong and important doctrines. Q842:5

We ought to go from grace to grace, from knowledge to knowledge. R4628:6, 3622:2, 2052:4, 1568:2, 974:6, 229:6

First principles -- The milk. R229:6

Rudiments. R2967:1

Foundation doctrines. R3622:1, 1568:1, 865:4, 679:5*

Mentioned in chapter 6:1,2. R2052:3, 23:5*

Redemption through the precious blood of Christ, and his remission of sins through faith in his blood, is the only solid foundation on which our faith can rest. R679:6

Many of the Lord's people do not know what justification by faith means, nor understand what consecration or sanctification, means. R5313:1

Many professing Christians have never intelligently received the first principles. R865:4

Too many Christians are content with simply diluted first principles of the doctrine of Christ. R5938:2

Those whose minds are on an earthly plane and cannot appreciate simple matters, are not in the condition to be inducted into the deeper things of God. R2422:5

Those who have been for some time drinking from the fountain of truth, and feeding at the table of the Lord, where the food is pure, unadulterated, nourishing, should be fully established in the first principles. R5689:5

As a general thing there is not sufficient care on the part of the babes in Christ about seeking the pure milk of the Word; and many of the adults are too careless about setting the impure milk before them. R3622:2, 1568:2

Oracles of God -- Doctrines. R4628:6

The doctrine of Christ. R5938:2, 5688:3, 1894:4, 23:5*

The doctrines (teachings) of Christ. 4207:6, 679:5*

Have need of milk -- Simple truths--the foundation doctrines: The original perfection of man in God's image, the fall, the death penalty, the redemption of Adam and the race represented in him, the actual deliverance in God's due time. R3621:6, 3622:2, 1567:6, 1568:2

Not the diluted and adulterated kind being fed to groups of babes and tares. D575-577

"Desire the sincere milk of the Word, that ye may grow thereby," and become strong. (1 Peter 2:2) R4817:6, 5327:1, 3621:6, 1567:6, 118:5*, 23:5*; E238

As human babes would be choked or have their digestion ruined by the stronger kinds of food, spiritual babes have need of the simpler truths, to grow and develop character and appreciate the divine plan. R5326:2, 3622:2, 1568:2, 118:5*, 23:5*

Few Christians have even used the milk of God's Word, and grown thereby to the use and appreciation of the "strong meat" of present truth. R5801:4, 1644:1 Amongst true Christians, few have gone beyond the infantile stage of development. SM108:1; NS507:1

Not yet able to assimilate "strong meat." R5688:3

A teacher must be wise and give only the kind, and quantity, that will nourish. R5146:3

It is not improbable that an occasional cup of milk is good even for grown folks. R23:5*

Strong meat -- Present truth. R5801:4, 1644:1

Advanced truth. R566:3

Deeper truths. R3622:2, 1568:2

Our Lord's presence and the harvest work now in progress. R1496:5
Many forget when telling God's glorious plan that their hearers are comparatively ignorant of it--one must teach them again the rudiments. R5146:3
The Word of the Lord is adapted to the varied necessities of all grades of Christians. R118:5*

Hebrews 5:13

That useth milk -- Only. R3622:2, 1568:2, 229:6
The first principles of the doctrine of Christ. R4968:4, 229:6
The true children of God, still fettered in the sects are merest babes, fed on skimmed milk, never on strong meat. R730:5
Spiritism, Swedenborgianism, Christian Science, Theosophy, etc., have great power to delude many, because few are "weaned from the milk." (Isa. 28:9) R1644:1, 5801:4, 2669:2
Unskillful -- In the use of God's Word and ignorant of his doctrines. R730:5
Have not the fullness of joy which would be theirs if they progressed in grace and knowledge to the full stature of a man in Christ. R5938:2
We are not to live continually on the milk diet, "but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God." (Matt. 4:4) R3622:2, 1568:2
The thousands who shall fall for every one able to stand in the evil day, is not out of proportion to the large number of unskillful babes, compared to the few who have grown up into him in all things. R862:6
A babe -- One begotten of the spirit of God is at first only a babe. R4968:4
"Babes in Christ." (1 Cor. 3:1) R5938:2, 5688:3, 1358:2
Nominal Christians. R2890:5, 5901:4
Liable to be carried about by every windy doctrine. R862:6
Among those who are real Christians, few are "weaned from the milk." (Isa. 28:9) Few Christians in the nominal church are mentally or spiritually out of their swaddling clothes. R5801:4, 1644:1, 230:1; C143; SM108:1; NS507:1
The spiritual babe that does not grow will never reach manhood's estate. He will never be a King and Priest. R5327:1
There are some now living--consecrated to God, and accepted, but not in the light of present truth. R5134:4
Some who have immature conceptions of God and his plan, who lack spiritual development. R5688:3
We should not confound these "babes" with the class referred to as babes by Jesus, unto whom he says God reveals his plans. There is a sense in which we always should be babes--in meekness and simplicity. R230:1

Hebrews 5:14

Strong meat -- Of present truth. R5801:4, 1644:1

The deeper things of the divine plan. R5941:3, 5688:3, 5327:4, 5088:4

"Meat in due season." (Matt. 24:45) R806:2, 2810:5

More and richer food is now necessary, to strengthen the Church for the peculiar conditions and testings of this day, and more has been supplied.

R5689:3

The "Tabernacle" study is strong meat even for those who have had their senses exercised, and requires thorough mastication. R346:4

A knowledge of Earth's Great Jubilee and all other precious and rich food from the storehouse which our Lord is now serving (Luke 12:37) is nourishing "strong meat" not especially intended for "babes in Christ."

B196

The International Sunday School lessons, in the use of the "milk of the word" (greatly diluted with the traditions of men), take away all appetite for the "strong meat" of more advanced truth. C143

Deeper truths are for those who, nourished by the pure milk, have grown and developed considerable firmness and strength of Christian character.

R3622:2, 1568:2

God's Word is a great storehouse of food for pilgrims on the shining pathway; not only milk for babes, and strong meat for those more developed; but food adapted to different seasons and conditions. A24;

R5689:2, 974:6

Seek to grow in grace and knowledge out of childhood's weakness into manhood's strength as rapidly as possible, being developed as we feed upon God's Word. R974:6; E238; NS507:1

Beginners who have not long known Christ, who are new in respect to the truths of God's plan, are not to be choked with strong meat. These may be fed upon the simpler truths, which they can assimilate. R5688:3, 806:2, 23:5*

Some who have been longer in the way, in talking with the newly consecrated unwisely begin to tell them the truths regarding immortality, trinity, etc., before they are able to digest them. R5388:3

For those who are only beginners in the good way, there is plenty of food in God's Word of the more easily digestible sort. R5688:3, 1496:5

But as he goes on, he should feed upon the strong meat of God's Word.

R4968:4, 5688:6, 4817:6

Some may need faith or patience or perseverance, etc. As each comes to a considerable development in knowledge and experience, he should be able to determine which features are necessary to supply his deficiencies. R5326:3

The Apostle uses a well-known physical truth to illustrate an important spiritual truth. R5326:2

Are of full age -- Fuller development. E238; A24; B196; R4817:6

The developed man in Christ. R5801:4, 5388:3, 1644:1

Mature in Christian attainment. R5688:3

The full stature of a man in Christ. (Eph. 4:13) R1906:3, 5938:2

This "solid food" is for adults. R3622:2, 1568:2

It is when grown to this full age and size of manhood in Christ that the bed is found too short--that a man cannot stretch himself on it. (Isa. 28:20) R229:6

By reason of use -- In connection with Scriptural subjects. R2669:2

Senses exercised -- Possessing faculties habitually exercised. R3622:2, 1568:2

Not merely the mind, but the heart also. R5326:6

It is well to urge the newly interested one to read and prove for himself, and not endeavor to explain too much through conversation. R5689:1

By systematic study, with Studies in the Scriptures and the Bible, taking up the plan step by step, proving every statement by the Word of God. R5688:6

To discern and appreciate the meat now in "due season." (Matt. 24:45) B196; R1496:5, 806:2

There are various degrees of development in the Church of Christ; and some have been accepted from the world in these latter days to take the places of some who have through unfaithfulness lost their crowns. R5689:3

Such as had their eyes anointed with the eyesalve of truth. (Rev. 3:18) R834:4

Their faculties exercised by practice. R653:5, 3622:2, 1568:2

Evolutionists are not thoroughly furnished in a knowledge of the Scriptures and have not reasoned out the matter. R2835:3, 2767:2

Some people of today have not their sense sufficiently exercised by reason of use. They charge the Almighty with something that no human being would even think of doing--eternal torture. R5326:5, 863:4

Very largely nominal Christians avoid thought of religious subjects, and especially avoid reasoning; they thus violate the divine arrangement and are to be esteemed, at very best, only babes in Christ. R2890:5

To discern -- To distinguish. R653:4

Discriminate. R3622:2, 1568:2

Adults may exercise discretion as to which foods would be expedient for their use--which would be palatable, which would be productive of the best results--that they may choose wisely. R5326:2

Good and evil -- What is true, right, profitable; what is comprehended in the glorious high calling of the Church, and what is included in full consecration to Christ. R5689:4

We should be able to discern clearly between truth and error on every important point. R5689:6, 653:5

A childish mind might misinterpret Scripture, or combine texts so as to arrive at erroneous conclusions. But a mature mind would see that such putting together of Scriptures would do harm. R5326:3

Calvin, instead of getting good out of the doctrine of election, brought out of it a very evil doctrine. R5326:3

Hebrews 6

Hebrews 6:1

Therefore -- In chapter 6-10 St. Paul points out the danger of falling back and away after we have become Christians. R5818:2

Leaving -- Being "weaned from the milk, and drawn from the breasts." (Isa. 28:9) C143

There should come a time in the experience of every healthy growing child of God, when he should be able to leave the foundation doctrines. R1568:1
Having them firmly established and settled in mind. R3622:1, 1568:1, 567:3
Not in the sense of abandoning them, but of allowing them to stand as tried and proved foundation stones. R679:6*

We should not have to learn all of these things over and over again.
R2052:3

It is a mistake to suppose that God's will is accomplished in the mere preaching of the first principles of the doctrines of Christ. NS658:1

The principles -- The foundation doctrines. R1568:1

The first principles. R2052:3*, 566:3, 217:2, 118:5*, 23:5*, 21:5*; SM6:1; NS658:1

Elementary principles--milk. R679:6*, 23:5*

Must be known to all who belong to "God's secret order." SM6:1

Doctrine of Christ -- Those doctrines by Jesus and his mouthpieces, the apostles. R5137:2

Teachings of the Bible. R5052:6

Relating to the Church and the world, and God's blessing for each; to sin and its forgiveness; the terms, and basis and hope of that forgiveness, and everlasting life obtained through resurrection. R5137:2

The doctrines are only a means to an end, and not the end itself. R2052:4

Let us go on -- Advance--building on the foundation which no one can do until they have accepted and obeyed the first principles. R23:5*

Grow in grace and knowledge. R3622:2, 2052:4, 1568:1, 780:1, 23:6*, 21:5*; C143

In full confidence in the foundation, we may proceed with our building.
R679:6*, 1568:1, 567:4

For this we are pressing along, forgetting the things that are behind.
R3306:1

With the wonderful Bibles now at our command and with helps for Bible study, what manner of Christians ought we to be--in faith, love, obedience and courage! SM178:T

A gradual change. The babe cannot be expected to grow up to manhood instantly. R118:5*

We would think a child either very stupid or careless in his studies to remain several years learning the multiplication table, how to add, subtract and divide. He ought to leave the first principles and go on.
R2052:4, 679:6*

Not forget the first principles or consider them errors or something to be despised, but remember and use them and add the higher branches. R2052:5

Unto perfection -- A thing not of the past but of the future. R3306:1

Go on growing in grace and in the knowledge of the truth. R3622:2, 1568:1; SM6:1

Cultivate our characters and endeavor to grow more like our Lord. R2052:4

Work out our own salvation as New Creatures. R567:6

Going on to complete the building of our faith. R679:6*

We need to be nourished, strengthened, developed to perfection, to the condition of manhood. Full consecration is a mere beginning of the matter and not the end of it. NS658:2

The perfection which will be attained only in the resurrection. SM574:1

If we go no further than the first principles, we will never reach perfection. R567:4

Not laying again -- Not halting to tear up, or to try a different foundation. R680:1*

Not needing to dig them up and lay them over again. R3622:1, 1568:1

If a man, after laying a foundation for a building, should always be digging it up and turning it over and trying to fit the stones in some other way, how soon would the building be completed? R567:4

The foundation -- A broader foundation, surely, than most Christians build upon. R137:5*

Not to be forever laying the foundation of Christian character. R566:6

There must come a time, and that before we begin to build, when we feel sure that the foundation is good and properly laid. R567:4

Of repentance -- By repentance. R566:6

From dead works -- All works are dead if without faith. R2052:3

Faith toward God -- Faith in the plan of God for redemption. R566:6

Hebrews 6:2

Baptisms -- We should not cease to believe in and practice baptism. R2052:3

Resurrection -- A hope of perfecting for many now ignorant, sinful, unjustified. R1512:1, 5137:3

Hebrews 6:3

This will we do -- We will try to help our brethren, even though we feel the task a hopeless one. R4391:2

Hebrews 6:4

For -- As touching those. SM773:2

For verses 4-6 see also comments on Heb. 10:26-31.

It is impossible -- Because this is an unpardonable sin. R260:6

"There is a sin unto death." (1 John 5:16) For wilful sinners "there remaineth no more sacrifice for sins." (Heb. 10:26) R3260:3, 5933:3, 4078:6, 5100:5, 2732:4, 2707:1, 1694:1, 1454:2, 1296:4, 1250:1, 1249:1, 918:4, 723:3

There will be no pass-over for those who have wilfully and knowingly gone out from under the blood of sprinkling. R2273:2, 5194:1; SM562:T

So far as willful ones are concerned, all our efforts to help such back will be in vain. R883:1

It is useless to spend valuable time and effort in the fruitless attempt to reclaim such. R567:3

It is not ours to judge, and we do well to seek to avoid passing judgment upon others. Q269:T

Contrary to the Universalist theory. R3083:3

For those -- The Church; because the Church alone is on trial at the present time. R5233:6, 5933:3, 5684:4, 5293:2, 3995:6, 1962:1

Only the Church have passed from death unto life. We made a bonafide contract with the Lord, and he will hold us to it. R5933:3

We may have no hope for these because at heart they have become sympathetic with sin; they are wilful sinners. R3260:3

With a thousand chances, they would probably be the same adversaries of God. R424:6

The world in general is still under the original condemnation, and hence not subject to second death. R3995:5, 5233:6, 261:4

Does not apply to infidels, nor to what are often termed back-sliding Christians. R567:3

Perhaps represented by Nadab or Abihu. R3055:5; T119

Once enlightened -- Clearly enlightened. R5896:2, 2698:1, 383:4

Of the holy Spirit. R5293:2, 1981:5

Sufficient enlightenment of the truth. R3725:3, 769:6; C204; F629

Come to a full knowledge of the truth. R891:6, 3260:3, 1467:1, 1454:2, 1336:4; A321; HG14:4, 160:4

Fully lightened. R424:6

Have seen God's grace represented in his Word and plan. R2670:1, 2698:1, 2338:2

By a knowledge of the plan of God. R1391:6

Extraordinary light and privilege. R1469:5

Whose eyes have been opened. R724:3

On the first principles. R566:6

So clear a demonstration of the divine power and goodness and wisdom and love operating through Jesus. R3756:5

Having turned from sin, having believed in Jesus as the Redeemer. Q640:5; R1459:2

The expiating penalty may be "stripes," for sins committed with considerable light, but not full light, but if committed against full light the penalty could be nothing short of second death. R2658:2, 2612:3, 1483:1, 1250:1; NS86:2

A full and mature development in the spiritual life. R260:6

Have tasted of -- Brought into full harmony with God, through the begetting of the holy Spirit. R5093:2

Not merely heard of Christ's sacrifice, etc., but tasted in blessed experience the results of that ransom in realizing sins forgiven, and communion and fellowship with God restored. R1459:2; SM715:1

Have once enjoyed and then abused the full measure of divine favor. R1426:2, 5452:5, 912:1

The heavenly gift -- Justification through the precious blood of Christ.

R5041:1, 1618:3, 912:1, 566:6; Q640:4 Divine grace. R2286:6, 1951:5

Realized and enjoyed forgiveness of sins through the redemption in Jesus whom God gave to be a propitiation for our sins. R724:3, 1250:2

Made partakers -- Coming into heart fellowship with God's plans and, for a time at least, being co-workers with him. R1459:2

Thus come to appreciate God's holy will and have full fellowship and communion with him as Adam had before the fall. R724:4

Of the Holy Ghost -- Begotten of the holy Spirit. R5041:1, 4628:3, 1459:2; Q640:4

The spirit of adoption--the spirit of Christ. R383:4, 566:6

The spirit of holiness. R1250:2

To fuller appreciation of the truth and to new hopes, aims, etc. R1459:2

Sanctified--God's evidence respecting justification. R5041:1; Q640:4

Implying that those who have not had the opportunity for development are not responsible and would not be liable to the second death. R5102:5

Those who were never begotten of the Spirit, never reach the depth of heart-defilement, as those who were. R4924:5*

Have tasted -- In blessed experience the results of the ransom in sins forgiven, and communion and fellowship with God restored. R1459:2; SM715:1

By experiencing the pleasures of the appreciated fulfillment of some of the statements and promises thereof, and recognizing a grandeur and beauty, in the as yet unfulfilled portions. R1459:2

Appreciating the richness and sweetness of its promises--which but few yet do. R724:4, 566:6; NS587:3

Brought to a knowledge, an understanding. R566:6; NS382:3

Good word of God -- The Scriptures claim to be this. R1584:3

Not a bad word said to be God's word. R44:1

Not its perversion. R1618:3

Very few Christians have ever tasted much of the good word of God; they have had considerable of the perverted word. R567:3

And the powers -- Restitution powers. Q639:T

Resurrection etc., tasted by faith. R1454:2, 912:1, 724:4

God's plan and power in the coming age. R566:6, 567:3

The blessings and powers that will then be brought into exercise for the blessing and restoring of mankind, all as the fruit and result of the ransom. R1459:2, 724:4

Privileges of the coming age. R4592:1

Experienced in our justification. R3164:4

Begetting of the holy Spirit. R5041:2, 3756:6; Q640:5

Advantages. R1426:4, 1618:3, 1186:5, 724:3

Privileges of divine instruction. R1981:5

Our Lord performed marvelous works, illustrative of the age to come. R4909:1

The world to come -- The age to come. C204; F166, 368, 630; R5293:2, 5041:1, 3995:6, 1426:4, 1250:2, 567:3, 424:6; Q640:3

Millennial. R1454:2, 1814:1

To lose all these would be to lose almost life itself. NS587:3

Hebrews 6:6

If -- Showing the possibility of Christians falling from divine favor.

R1698:3, 624:4

Shall fall away -- And then fell away. (Revised Version) R5293:2

A fall from favor. R1459:1; F368

Into sin. F167

Wilfully and persistently fall away from righteousness. R2099:5, 1178:5; F167, 368

From their condition as sacrificing priests to that of wilful sin--lose the new life begotten within them. T40; A196; F166; SM773:2

Reject the truth from its very foundation. R567:1

Renounce the Lord. Q653:1

So as to deny the very foundation of God's favor--the ransom-sacrifice of Jesus. R5684:4, 5315:2, 1459:4, 1250:3

These have committed the "sin unto death" (1 John 5:16)--second death--from which there will be no recovery. R5100:5, 3260:3, 2707:1, 1459:1; CR375:6; SM515:1

Such construct characters or will so out of harmony with God and righteousness as to be fit only for destruction. R3674:1

Persisting in a course of walking after the flesh and not after the spirit. R3034:1

A moral retrogression. Falling into sinful practices--giving way to besetting sin, ceasing to resist the Adversary and his works. SM773:2

Wilful sin, or apostasy, on the part of those who have enjoyed the privilege of consecrated believers. R4908:5, 1962:2, 1250:3, 44:1

Wilfully reject God's favors, whether by open sin or by a denial of the value of "the blood of the covenant." (Heb. 10:29) R724:6, 5391:2, 4835:2, 4435:1, 3202:1, 2698:1; F302

Wilful sinners against full light and knowledge. R5100:5, 1250:1

Their sin would be wilful, otherwise called "blasphemy against the holy Spirit." (Matt. 12:31) R5293:2

The alternative of going on to perfection. R78:2

If we should make a failure in our covenant of sacrifice, we would lose absolutely everything. R5818:3

Turning "Like the sow that is washed, to her wallowing in the mire. (2 Pet. 2:22) F302; R2099:5, 260:6; Q653:1; SM715:T; NS382:4

The fate of such would be destruction--second death. Q641:1; R5315:5, 4921:1, 3995:6, 891:6

Should the one whose spiritual life first nourished ours fall away, we would still appropriate for ourselves the spirit of truth. R3250:6

Not an act of ignorance or weakness. R3756:6, 2658:2, 1699:1, 1250:1; F167

Not merely by being overcome of the weaknesses of the flesh temporarily. R3202:1, 260:6; F167, 368

Probably few become subjects of second death. R2942:2, 1250:4, 875:6*, 281:1, 253:2, 44:1

Renew them again -- Restore R1459:1

To move them to repentance. R383:5

They can never be recovered. R4628:3, 2707:1, 872:2

In righteousness and holiness. R1426:2, 5093:4, 4908:5, 3674:1

They have misused their share in the great "ransom for all." R4908:5, 5093:4, 5041:2, 1962:2, 253:2; F167; Q641:1, 653:1

That some whose names were once "written in heaven" (Heb. 12:23) can have their names "blotted out" (Rev. 3:5) is evident. R694:6

It would not be appropriate that God should exercise his mercy toward those who, after having come to a clear knowledge of the Truth, wilfully, preferably, approvingly, delight in sin. R3260:3

The Scriptures abound in warnings as to the danger of coming under the penalty of death the second time, after having been released from the first death, either reckonedly or actually. R1442:4

God would have nothing further for us; our disregard of his mercy would mean that we would die the second death. R5641:2

It is for us to know the fulfilment of these Scriptures, and to have no fellowship with such unfruitful works of darkness. F630

Although the Lord's decision respecting the majority of the Church will not be manifested until the "harvest", the Apostle mentions the exceptional cases. R2430:4

Not applicable to many in Old Testament times, probably not one. R3725:3

The Scripture does not enumerate the only conditions by which any will die the second death--it will be inflicted on some in the Millennial age.

R5684:4, 5896:2, 383:5

Unto repentance -- Unto a proper course. R3543:5

By bringing to repentance. R1250:1

Because Christ gave no ransom for wilful sins on our part. F167; R1250:1

There could be no repentance of too hardened hearts. R5452:5

A terrible danger goes with spiritual pride, which, persisted in, would surely result in second death. R5957:5, 567:2

Wilful, deliberate transgressions cannot be forgiven, but must be expiated--if committed against full light, the penalty could be nothing short of second death. R2658:2, 5896:2, 4835:2, 1736:4, 1699:1; Q653:1
Sorrow for sin and a desire to return to divine favor, are proofs of not having committed the sin unto death, which cannot be renewed unto repentance. R2612:3, 1985:3, 1694:1, 1483:1, 1249:1

They crucify -- Those who sin wilfully and count the precious blood of the covenant wherewith they were sanctified (set apart) a common thing. (Heb. 10:29) R4909:3, 1951:5; Q25:1; SM358:2

Those who have enjoyed a full chance in this Gospel age and have wilfully rejected Christ, we cannot expect that they will get another chance to reject and crucify him. R2051:6; Q641:1

Having, by open profession, been marked as sons of God and representatives of Christ in the world. R567:1

"If we sin wilfully after we have received a knowledge of the truth, there remaineth no more sacrifice for sins." (Heb. 10:26) R2698:1 4908:5, 1962:2; F302, 368

Son of God afresh -- Typified by Moses' smiting of the rock twice. R4058:1, 5957:5, 5333:3, 5315:5, 3077:4

The first smiting of the rock typified the crucifixion of our Lord, so the second smiting of the rock typified the crucifying of the Son of God afresh and putting him to an open shame. R5957:5

For the comfort of those who may feel that they have done much worse than Moses, or been much less careful to honor the Lord, let us notice that the punishment here was severe because it was part of a type. R5957:5

Open shame -- Implies the same attitude of heart which the Jews entertained toward our Lord when he was with them. R3756:6

Having once professed him, and having plain instruction on the subject, they are reckoned guilty of ignoring the Lamb of God which taketh away the sin of the world. R567:1

Some of Jesus' professed followers denying or ignoring the value of the original sacrifice, denying the blood that bought them, are counted as committing the sin under death. R3077:4; F302

Moses' smiting of the rock represented the public, open repudiation of Jesus and his teaching and his cause. R5957:5

Judas' remorse led him, not to a renewed or reformed life, but to self-destruction. R4907:5, 2283:6

If Adam's knowledge and transgression were justly punished with death, Judas' knowledge and sin could bring nothing short of second death. R3127:4

Hebrews 6:8

Is rejected -- Moral force, the force of truth, is seen to be unavailing. R1459:4

Nigh unto cursing -- Greek, kataraoimai, condemnation--not ready for profanity, but for condemnation. R2443:3

To be burned -- Unfit for tillage, until burned over and its weeds exterminated. R2443:4

Divine wisdom has decided that all out of harmony, without possibility of reformation, shall be utterly destroyed. R1459:4

Fall into the hands of the living God (Heb. 10:31)--who is a consuming fire. R1336:4

But beloved -- This expression refers us back to the preceding verses and the latter part of the fifth chapter. Paul was disappointed in those he addressed, in finding less growth in grace and knowledge than he had reason to expect. R566:3; SM177:2

We are persuaded -- We have more confidence in each other than to surmise such an unworthy ending to our call, such an unworthy response to the mercies and favors which we enjoy at the hands of him who loves us and bought us. R3756:6; SM774:T

Better things -- That they will avail themselves of the opportunities provided them through God's Word, through the fellowship of the Spirit and the assistances of the brethren. SM773:3

The apostle believed they had not rejected the favor of God mentioned in the previous verses. R567:3

That -- Which must. SM773:3

Accompany salvation -- Without which salvation to life eternal would be impossible. SM773:3

We thus speak -- To guard them on a dangerous point and to show them the uselessness of constantly disputing with rejectors of first principles. R567:3

Hebrews 6:10

God -- Discouragement is a hindrance to growth in grace; St. Paul was seeking to encourage his readers in this exhortation. The context implies that they had experienced some setback, some discouragement. R5818:2
To our Father and his Son let us look for the reward of faithfulness, and not to our brethren. R1487:5

Unrighteous -- Unjust. R567:6

If we are humbly walking in the narrow way, these assurances are for our comfort and consolation. R957:1

To forget your work -- He is here addressing Christians, those who have become God's children by entering into a covenant with him. R5818:2
Sooner could a mother forget her infant child than could God forget these precious ones. R957:5

"Whosoever shall give to drink unto one of these little ones a cup of cold water only in the name of a disciple, verily I say unto you, he shall in no wise lose his reward." (Matt. 10:42) R1821:2

The hope of the high calling depends on our works built on the finished work of Christ. R567:4

Good works, if persevered in according to our ability and opportunity, will not fail of a blessed reward. R5819:4

Our little all, rendered with carefulness according to our covenant, and though imperfect, it is rendered acceptable through him whose imputed righteousness makes up all the deficiency. R567:4

"Be not weary in well doing; in due time thou shalt reap if thou faint not." (Gal. 6:9) CR13:1*

Neither is God unjust to credit us if we have done no ministering. R567:6

Labour of love -- God is not measuring us by the magnitude of the results of our labors, but by the spirit which we develop and manifest in their performance. R957:2

It is important for us to see to it that our motives are those of love toward the Lord, his cause and his brethren. R5819:4

Toward his name -- This honor toward God's name consisted in their ministering to the saints. Whatever is done for the saints is, therefore, done for God. R5818:5

Ministered -- Whether in temporal or spiritual things. R567:6

To the saints -- There is a distinction to be noted in the Bible as respects those who are in covenant relationship with God and those who are not in covenant relationship with him. R5818:5

"Especially to the household of faith." (Gal. 6:10) See also Matt. 26:7-13. R567:5, 5818:6

There will be abundant opportunity to do good to the world. The Body of Christ will not always be here to be ministered unto. Whatever we can do now for the Body of Christ, the Head will reckon as done unto him. R567:6

The saints represent God in the world. R5818:5

Those who cannot suffer personally and physically for the truth can sympathize with those who have such sufferings and can thus become "partakers," sustaining, encouraging and upholding. R2007:5, 2239:2; CR17:5; NS490:4

Do minister -- They were still in the proper attitude. Although somewhat discouraged in the good way, they were still helpful to one another. R5819:1

Whoever honors the saints and serves them, honors and serves God. R5818:6

If faithful stewards, we will endeavor to invest our talents to the best possible advantage. R957:4

Same diligence -- Let us ever remember the importance of patient endurance, constancy. R5497:6

The full assurance -- It is the privilege of Christians to have this confidence in their ultimate victory. R2642:1

Since our covenant is to sacrifice and spend ourselves completely, full assurance of receiving the reward can only come by diligence in self-sacrifice--ministering. R567:6, 5818:3

The end -- Death. R5497:6

Paul intimates that while they had begun well, their zeal had cooled to some extent. R5818:2

Hebrews 6:12

Be not slothful -- Do not, Paul urges, forfeit this reward by turning away from the Lord and becoming cold or lukewarm, which condition might lead on to entire rejection of God. Rather go on, and be of good courage. R5818:5

Followers of them -- Paul is urging the Israelites to faith and patience that they might inherit the promises. R4496:3

Patience -- Greek, makrothunia, long-suffering. R2790:6

Lessons of patience, of humility and of confidence in God, are requisite. R5636:2

Hebrews 6:13

Made promise -- The promise, particular and special above all promises; also called a covenant thirteen times in Genesis alone. R4496:3

An unconditional promise, one-sided, needing no mediator. R4319:2, 4681:3, 282:2, 110:6; Q185:2, 191:5; NS360:5

God's promise is most absolutely a covenant and binding agreement. All the weight of divine veracity binds it. R4496:2

Hebrews 6:16

End of all strife -- The Abrahamic Covenant was firmly bound in a manner that would be satisfactory even amongst men, namely, by an oath. R4496:5

Hebrews 6:17

Wherein -- In this matter. R4496:5

Willing -- Desiring. R4496:5

To impress the matter of the promise. CR48:5

More abundantly -- How much more convincing is God's oath, making sure, unchangeable that basic covenant made with Abraham, assuring us that ultimately all mankind will receive a blessing, and that it would come through us. R4496:5, 3946:4

The heirs of promise -- Our Lord Jesus and the faithful of his consecrated people of this Gospel age. SM529:1; HG388:6, 442:2; NS529:5

The Apostle's words imply that God's promise and oath were intended more for us, for our comfort, than for Abraham. SM528:T; R4496:5; HG388:3; NS529:3

The Christian who cannot understandingly call to mind this Oath-bound Covenant or promise, evidently lacks information very necessary to his spiritual growth. SM529:2; HG389:1, 442:2

The immutability -- The unchangeableness. R4496:5

The promise may be sure of its fulfillment. R5163:5; OV69:3; SM533:2; HG390:5; NS531:5

Of his counsel -- Or purpose. R4496:5

His plan. SM528:1; HG388:5; NS529:3

The Abrahamic Covenant that all the families of the earth shall be blessed in the seed of Abraham, The Christ. R2210:1; SM530:T; HG389:2; NS530:1

Confirmed -- Greek, mesiteuo, to be or act as a mediator; or, to interpose (as arbiter.) Q186:3; R4682:4

Instead of sealing the covenant, instead of having it ratified by blood, through a mediator. Q191:5

It -- The promise. R4496:5

By an oath -- It was sworn to by the Almighty. God wished us to know positively that he obligated himself. R2127:4

As God could not swear by any greater, so he swears by himself. R48:5

Taking the place which might have been occupied by a mediator, had there been conditions mutually binding upon the Almighty and upon some of his people. R4682:1, 4681:3; Q185:2, 186:2

Because it was unconditional, the Abrahamic Covenant had no mediator, neither did it need to be sealed with blood. God sealed it with his oath.

R5227:1, 4682:1, 4496:5; Q186:2

God's oath, attesting his word, served to ratify the covenant, to make it binding, to hold it sure. R4682:1; Q186:2, 191:5

Lest human weakness and unbelief should doubt the divine word, God condescended to make his promise a Covenant in the most binding and authoritative manner conceivable. He bound his promise with an oath.

R4496:3

We cannot but wonder at such condescension upon the part of the great Creator--that he should stoop to his fallen creatures, and above all that he should condescend to give his oath on the subject. SM528:1; HG388:5, 442:1; NS529:4

The Covenant was confirmed three times to Abraham with an oath--again to Isaac, and again to Jacob. R4496:3, 5913:2, 2210:1

The Church are the children of the oath. R5300:5, 4367:4

Two immutable things -- Unchangeable. R3946:1, 2127:4

Unalterable. HG441:6

Two unfailing testimonies. NS360:3

The Word of God and the Oath of God. Q191:5, 185:1; R5137:2, 5069:5, 4939:3, 4681:3, 3946:1, 2210:1, 2127:4; OV427:1, 69:3; NS360:3
The oath and the promise of God. R5163:4, 111:4; SM528:1; HG388:4; NS529:3
To show the strength and power of the Abrahamic Covenant. Q185:1
It was impossible -- "He cannot deny himself." (2 Tim. 3:13) A118;
R1177:1, 250:3, 14:1; HG392:6 Inconsistent with his righteous character.
A126
God does right, because it is right. R725:5
God created man in his own image--a free moral agent; he must have the power to will wrong as well as right. R5211:4
God to lie -- His promise cannot be broken. R4496:2
We -- The Church. R4939:3, 3946:1; HG388:3, 441:6; NS529:3
For our benefit. CR48:5
God's people from that day to the present time. NS360:3
God's oath was not necessary to Abraham. He confidently believed. R4939:3, 4496:5, 3946:2; CR48:5
God's special design in giving that Covenant and in binding it solemnly with an oath, was to encourage spiritual Israel--to give us a firm foundation for faith. SM528:1; HG442:1
God well knew that, although from his own standpoint, 3000 years would be but a brief space, to us the time would appear long, and the strain upon faith would be severe. SM528:1; HG442:1; NS529:4
Strong consolation -- Strong encouragement. SM531:T; HG389:5; NS530:3
Absolute confidence that in God's due time the promise will be absolutely and most literally fulfilled. NS360:3
In fleeing from sin, resisting its allurements, denying self, taking up the cross. OV9:3
When the glories of the future shall be realized, the trials, sufferings and difficulties of the present time will be found not worthy to be compared. SM531:1; HG389:5; NS530:4
Numerous repetitions and specifications of the Abrahamic Covenant, as well as God's oath attesting, were intended specially for us. R5177:3, 2210:1
The fulfilment of the promise would be so long deferred that we, who are so specially interested in it, might have feared some change in the divine program. R4939:3; HG113:4
All sincere seekers of divine favor have abundance of foundation for faith in their forgiveness and acceptance. R4133:5
In our ineffectual efforts to bring the majority of mankind to an appreciation of God's mercy and love now. SM537:T; HG391:6
For refuge -- To Christ. R4079:6; HG388:3, 441:6; NS529:3
The cities of refuge of the typical Mosaic Law strongly foreshadowed the refuge which the sinner may find in Christ. R4079:6
Hope set before us -- In that promise--the Abrahamic Covenant. R4496:5, 4367:4; SM529:2, 740:2; HG389:5; NS441:5, 529:5
That ultimately all mankind will receive a blessing, and that it would come through us. R4496:5; CR48:6; OV429:1; NS66:3

The hope of reigning with Christ as his joint-heirs, his Bride; of attaining the divine nature. OV427:3
To us belongs the very cream of the promise. "The riches of God's grace." SM531:2; HG389:6; NS441:5, 530:6
The hope of being of the seed of Abraham. (Gal. 3:29) OV428:2; SM530:T; HG369:3; NS66:3, 408:4, 530:2
In the Gospel. R5177:3, 4367:4, 2469:1; OV427:2
In "the good tidings," the promise. R4939:5
The basis is the Word of God. OV429:5
The hope that we by faithful perseverance may become joint-heirs with Jesus in all that glorious inheritance of the Messianic Kingdom. R5245:4; OV427:3; D517
An encouragement to take a firmer grasp of the divine character and plan. SM537:1; HG391:6; NS505:4
What believer, justified by faith, who has offered himself a living sacrifice, may not read his title clear to joint-heirship. R3952:1, 714:1

Hebrews 6:19

Which hope we have -- Expressed in the Covenant made with Abraham and confirmed with an oath. R5177:3, 5300:5, 5137:2, 4496:5, 4367:4, 3972:3, 3683:6, 3205:6

We are under a still higher and grander covenant than either the Law or New Covenants; we are under the Faith Covenant, the Grace Covenant, the Abrahamic Covenant, the Oath-bound Covenant. R4344:4, 4320:1; NS360:5

Thus the Apostle declares that this Covenant has not yet been fulfilled.

R5177:6, 3198:6; OV428:2; SM529:2; HG389:2, 442:2; NS529:3

The Hebrew Christian had no thought that they were living under the provisions of the New Covenant. They were all hoping in the Abrahamic Covenant. R4511:5

The basis of our hope is the Word of God. If we let go of our hope, we are letting go of everything. OV429:5

The hope of the spiritually minded new creature in the "Holy" looking forward through the rent veil into the "Most Holy" and catching glimpses of the glory, honor and immortality beyond the flesh. T21; NS488:4

It is the hope of natural and spiritual Israel. R3683:6; SM530:2; NS441:5, 530:3

Anchor of the soul -- This anchorage of hope in the future, in the Kingdom, will enable us to pass safely, and with comparative quiet, through trials and storms and difficulties of this present evil world.

R3352:4; HG442:3

The Abrahamic promise or covenant has not yet been fulfilled--it is still an anchor for our faith. R4939:5; OV429:5

Instead of laboring for earthly riches, the Lord's servants have learned of the true riches of divine blessings which are an anchor to their souls.

CR16:2

Paul suggests the picture of a ship at anchor during a storm--so in the storms of life the child of God has a firm anchorage--upon things within the veil. OV429:4

Sure and steadfast -- Unchangeable. R4496:5

God will never break his covenants; he will not even alter, or amend, or change them in any particular. R3109:3, 2210:1

"My covenant will I not break, nor alter the thing that is gone out of my lips." (Psa. 89:34) R3109:5

And which entereth -- By faith. R2163:6*

Within the veil -- The higher favor secured by our Lord Jesus through his own obedience unto death has been extended to the faithful whom the Father has drawn, but it is anchored to Christ, who is within the veil, a spirit being. R3946:4

When the last member of the body passes within the veil, all the sacrificing will be complete. R5776:3

Hebrews 6:20

The forerunner -- Jesus was the first to enter the antitypical Holy and Most Holy. R5815:3

Our Lord was the first to rise from the dead. The first one to arrive. HG136:1

Is for us entered -- Is before entered. NS441:5

When Jesus had finished his course victoriously, he passed beyond the second veil into heaven itself--the Most Holy. R5815:3

We have the true tabernacle, in which the true High Priest has entered for us. R600:1

The evidence of this came in the Pentecostal blessing. R5424:2

Even Jesus -- He is the Head of that seed of promise. We, the members of his Body, will shortly follow. R4496:5; Q550:5

Our Lord entered upon his Melchisedec priesthood individually, personally, at the time of his resurrection. Q550:5; SM137:T, 143:1

For ever -- Literally, "for the age." R5967:2; Q721:6

Order of Melchisedec -- A priest upon his throne. R5418:6; T50; SM136:1, 143:T

A kingly priest. R4528:5, 5460:6

A king and a priest at the same time--"King of Salem," which signifies king of peace, prince of the Most High God. R136:1

Type of the glorified Christ. SM136:1, 142:T; R5460:6; F72; OV402:1

A type of the greater Melchizedek, The Christ, Head and Body. R5967:2; Q721:4

Jesus is the High Priest of the Melchizedek Order of Priesthood, and the true saints of God from Pentecost are the underpriesthood. SM137:2

Melchizedek was not a sacrificing priest, but a blessing priest, empowered by his kingly office to give his priestly blessing. So Christ, as the antitype, does no sacrificing, but is merely a blessing Priest. SM139:3

A King to rule, and a Priest to instruct, bless, uplift and heal--combining the whole. CR459:6; Q550:5; SM143:1

The Aaronic priesthood was so well established that the Jews considered it the only priesthood. It was necessary that the Apostle point out a still higher order of priesthood than the Aaronic was recognized. SM136:2
Aaron and his sons did not typify the still higher priesthood which God had in mind when he established the Levitical priesthood. This higher order of Priests was typified by Melchizedek. R5460:6; SM137:T, 138:1, 141:1

There must be a Melchizedek Order of priests and it must be higher than that of Aaron because of God's oath and because it would be the successor which would endure. SM141:2

The divine arrangement takes cognizance only of the Aaronic and the Melchizedek priesthood. Any other priesthood is outside the divine ordination and consequently improper, misleading, dangerous. SM137:1

Hebrews 7

Hebrews 7:1

Melchisedec -- A priest upon his throne. R4553:3, 1063:2*

King of Salem and priest of the Most High God. (Gen. 14:18-20) R5549:1; Q484:5

Representing The Christ glorified and reigning. R3951:6; CR485:2; Q485:T; SM142:T; 600:1

"We shall be kings and priests unto God, and shall reign on the earth."

(Rev. 5:10) SM600:1; R195:4

Type of Jesus who combines the office of Priest and King in blessing the world. R5549:1, 4545:3, 195:4; CR485:2; Q484:5

Melchizedek is supposed to have been one of the shepherd kings who invaded Egypt and built the great Pyramid, about 2170 BC. PD25/36

Hebrews 7:2

Of righteousness -- To this end, to be a king and reign in righteousness, was Jesus born. R238:1*; NS463:6

Salem -- Before Jerusalem became a residence, its sacred hill was called "Moriah" (2 Chron. 3:1). Its most ancient name was "Salem." R1296:3*

Without father, without mother -- In the priesthood. R5967:2; Q721:6; SM142:1

The priestly office of the new nature does not trace its lineage to any human source. In the priesthood of Melchizedek, the lineage and death is not recorded. R3951:6

Melchizedek did not inherit the office from his father or mother--thus typifying Christ's priesthood, which came not of the lineage of the flesh, as did the Aaronic priesthood. R3951:6

Without descent -- "Without genealogy." (Diaglott) R195:1, 3951:6

In the priesthood. SM142:1; Q485:T

His priesthood did not come to him from his parents; and he had no children in this Melchizedek priesthood. Q485:T

Melchizedek did not inherit his priesthood and no record was made when it began, nor any provision made for a successor. PD25/36; Q485:T

A picture of Christ, whose priesthood was not inherited, and has no successors. R3951:6; SM142:1; Q485:T

Under the Law every priest of the Aaronic order was obliged to show that he had a right to serve because of his genealogy. SM142:T

Neither beginning of day -- His priesthood was without any beginning of time and without any ending of time. Q485:T

Nor end of life -- Term of office is not limited by years, but is everlasting. SM142:1

Not that he never died, but as a priest, was typical. Q485:T

He typified Christ whose office as a priest of the new order of the Millennial Kingdom is not a limited one. Q485:T

Made like -- "Having been made like." (Diaglott) R195:1, 3951:6

Abideth -- "Remains." Diaglott R195:1, 3951:6

Continually -- "Perpetually." (Diaglott) R195:3, 3951:6; SM141:1

Typifying the continuity of Christ's priesthood. R3951:6

He continued a priest to the conclusion of the type in its antitype. R5967:2, 195:4; Q721:6

An unchangeable priest--one that will be maintained in perpetuity until it shall have served its full purpose. SM143:T

The Melchizedek priesthood had no beginning and no ending; the order of his priesthood was to be perpetuated; consequently his priesthood did not pass away until the antitypical priesthood came. R5967:2; Q721:6

Hebrews 7:4

How great -- The divine Christ will be greater, and therefore able to bless every "friend of God" on the human plane. R3951:6, 713:6

Melchizedek's greatness was shown in that Abraham did him homage and paid tithes to him. R4511:2

The argument is a masterly one, and shows that as Melchizedek was higher than Aaron, much more would the antitypical Melchizedek be higher, more glorious, more powerful, more able to bless and forgive sins. SM142:T

Tenth -- The Aaronic priesthood acknowledged this higher priesthood of Melchizedek and gave tithes. SM142:T; Q486:T

Hebrews 7:5

Loins of Abraham -- Since Levi, the father of the priestly tribe, was in Abraham's loins at the time that the tithes were paid, he and his sons inferentially paid tithes to Melchizedek; thus recognizing the Melchizedek order as higher. R4511:2; Q486:T; SM142:T

Life is from the father, and by the mother. R776:5

Children were counted to their fathers, not their mothers. R776:5

Hebrews 7:7

Of the better -- In order to bless others, they must of necessity be the more highly exalted. R1422:2

Men -- The Levitical priesthood. R195:1

But there he -- Melchizedek received tithes. R195:1

He liveth -- This is a positive statement that Melchizedek did not die.

We must suppose that he was translated. R195:1

So when our priesthood reaches the plane typified by Melchizedek, we will never die, but abide a "Royal Priesthood" forever. R195:5

Hebrews 7:9

Tithes -- Abraham, who was the father of Aaron, according to the flesh, paid tithes to this Melchizedek priest. Q486:T; B47

Showing that from God's standpoint, the Melchizedek order is a higher order than the Aaronic priesthood. Q486:T

In Abraham -- The case is not altered whether we say that the tithes were paid by Abraham or in Abraham. R1516:1*

Yet in the loins -- Life is from the father, as illustrated in the divine begetting of Jesus in a human mother. E100; R776:5 As the souls of Adam's posterity yet in his loins, unborn shared in him the penalty.

Order of Melchisedec -- A priest upon his throne. R4553:3, 5776:6
That one priest represented all our Lord's members. R4619:6
The Great Priest will do his great work during the Millennial Age--what is done in the present time is only preparatory. R4620:1

Order of Aaron -- The Aaronic priesthood pictures the sufferings of Christ. R4759:3

Jesus, not being of the tribe of Levi, could not have served as a Priest under the Mosaic Law, which gave this office to Aaron and his sons forever; typifying the sacrificial preparation of Messiah's priesthood. R4759:6

Being changed -- The Aaronic priesthood is supplanted by the Melchizedek order. R3725:5*, 4511:2

Aaron's family lost the priesthood 1800 years ago. HG582:3

Hebrews 7:17

Thou art a priest -- In the sense of a mediator, who, having redeemed, is the advocate of the people and the dispenser of divine favor. D637

Order of Melchisedec -- A priest upon the throne--the Church triumphant--The Christ. CR80:5; R4553:3; D637; F72; T30; OV189:4, 402:1
A type of the new priesthood. R4511:1

The Melchizedek priest represents merely the future of The Christ, after the sacrificing is finished. R4759:3, 4511:1

Represented by the golden crown worn by Aaron. T30, 50

Hebrews 7:18

A disannulling -- It evidently was not God's intention to allow the Law Covenant to stand perpetually, nor to allow its priestly arrangements to continue forever. R4511:2

Commandment -- Law Covenant. R4321:2, 4511:2

For -- On account of. R812:2*

Unprofitableness -- It passed away; a failure. R4321:2

Hebrews 7:19

For the law -- Law Covenant. Could not refer to the Law alone, for laws never make anything perfect; they merely show the perfect requirements. It remained for the covenant to try to make the people perfect. R1724:4
Because no imperfect man could keep it because they were weak and depraved. R2611:4, 892:3, 812:2*

Made nothing perfect -- Accomplished only typical justification. A225, 229; R273:6

Because its mediator, as well as the people, were imperfect. R5300:2

It accomplished no real reformation or restitution. R4451:5

The blessings were only partial and typical. NS570:4, 533:4

In the fullest sense, no one ever kept the Law but the perfect man, Christ Jesus (Rom. 3:23); for it is the full measure of a perfect man's ability.

R1724:6

The Law Covenant justified none--conducted none to everlasting life. NS18:3

A better hope -- Jesus, the perfect one, in whom was no sin. R196:5

It evidently was not God's intention to allow the Law Covenant to stand perpetually. R4511:2, 4545:3

All that the house of Israel had and did was typical and was to be superseded by others. R518:3*

Those priests -- God indicated a change of priesthood from Aaron to Melchizedek. SM141:4; R4511:2

Paul brings forward Aaron, only to set him aside in the presence of Jesus. R174:2*

With an oath -- Implying a greater and more important priesthood (Aaron was appointed without divine oath.) SM141:1; R4511:2

The fact that God by his oath had recognized this higher order of priesthood, particularly implied that in due time a New Covenant would supplant the Law Covenant, which the Hebrews felt must be perpetual. R4511:2

Said unto him -- In Psalm 110:4. R3952:1, 713:6

The Lord -- The oath of Jehovah. R713:6

Thou art a priest -- Prophetically Jesus was made a priest by divine appointment long before he came into the world. R4511:2

For ever -- For the age. R4511:2; Q551:1, 721:6

This office will end with the Millennial age. There will be no need of a Priest of any kind, sacrificing or reigning. Q551:1

A perpetual priesthood, which should not be transferred to another.
SM141:1; R195:1

After -- Like. R1101:1

Order -- Manner. R714:1

Melchisedec -- A priest upon his throne. R4553:3, 4759:5

The Christ, after the sacrificing shall have been finished. R4759:3

Not after the order of Aaron. R4759:5, 4511:2

Would come after and supersede the Aaronic priesthood, inasmuch as the prophecy respecting it came after the Aaronic priesthood had been long established. SM141:1

A surety -- Guarantee for its later fulfillment. R4498:1, 4560:3*;
PT370:2*

From the first advent, the New Covenant may be considered as assured, legislated, or guaranteed, but not put into force. R4498:1

A New Covenant is assured by God's promise, which implied the doing away with the Law Covenant and its priesthood. R4511:3

Our Redeemer's death is the surety for us, his members, and for the New Law Covenant. R4438:4, 789:4, 772:2; E28; OV253:1; NS769:2

The Lord Jesus is not the surety for the blessings enjoyed by the Church today. PT370:2*

We are doing a preparatory work in the interest of the New Covenant, of which our Lord Jesus became a surety or guarantor, and which is soon to be sealed. R4494:5

The New Covenant is not yet sealed. A sealed Covenant needs no surety, but an unsealed Covenant does need a surety. R4477:2

The whole plan of reconciliation was of God, and is wrought out in Christ. R1829:5

A better testament -- Covenant. R4511:2

New Covenant. R4560:3*, 4511:3

Entirely separate and distinct from the high calling of this age. PT370:2*

Better than the Law Covenant. PT370:T*

Sealed with his own blood; "This is my blood." (Matt. 26:28) E28

Hebrews 7:24

Priesthood -- A higher priesthood; combining the priestly function of forgiveness of sin and instruction of the people, with the kingly function of dominion and power. SM141:1

Israel and the world needed a higher order of priesthood than the Aaronic to inaugurate the reign of righteousness under the New Covenant. R4511:3

Hebrews 7:25

Wherefore -- St. Paul is here contrasting the great Priesthood of our Lord with that of the Aaronic Law; for the Jews had difficulty in understanding how there could be a change of priesthood. R5776:3; Q486:T

He -- Christ. R3951:6, 713:6, 605:4*

Able -- And willing. R3282:1, 4783:3, 3279:6

To save them -- And only them. R1601:2

"He gave himself a ransom for all." (1 Tim. 2:5) R2051:1

To the uttermost -- By an everlasting release from sin, divine disfavor and death. R3279:6, 4783:3

Fully, completely, eternally. It will not leave out even one human being.

R5777:2, 3952:1

Because of the presentation of our Lord's merit on their behalf, the whole world will be in Christ's hands to be dealt with to a completion, to leave nothing undone that can be done. R5777:5

Able to deliver not only from sin, but from death; not only from the tomb, but from all the weaknesses of heredity, all the sin, the blemishes, which rest upon our race. NS639:2

The life-giver came to provide life everlasting for the dying race.

PD55/67; R5126:2

Not merely a restoring to each individual of the things which he once possessed, but a restitution of all that was his by right under the original divine arrangement, if Adam had not sinned. NS613:3

He is not only able to take away sin, but is able to sympathize fully with those for whom his "better sacrifices" have been made. R5777:2, 3912:3; E128

The Lord not only saves us from the sins that are past, but throughout our course he also covers with the robe of his merit those blemishes and weaknesses which result from the imperfection of our human body. R5777:2

Christ will yet save us in the fullest sense in the "first resurrection."

The saving of the world will then begin. R4634:5, 605:4*

God will save all men, but will not specially save any except those who come unto him through Christ. A106

"Having obtained eternal redemption for us." (Heb. 9:12) F159

That come -- Will come. R4634:5

Consecrates. R374:1

All who have the appreciative ear. R5126:2, 3952:1

Unto God -- Faithful believers. R1601:2

By him -- Through him. R4634:5; NS411:4, 551:4

Through his mediation. F162

By faith, and reformation from bad works and dead works, through Jesus.
E229; F162

An attempt to come to God by any other means, as, for example, the sacrifice of the Mass, is an abomination in the sight of God. C103; R3146:2

Ever liveth -- As our great Advocate because of the work done for us when atonement was made in the presence of God. (Heb. 9:24) R5777:4, 4546:2

The priests of the Aaronic order were not suffered to continue in their office, by reason of their death. But the great antitypical Priest is to continue always. He will never have a successor. R5777:1

Make intercession -- Throughout the Gospel age, the Lord's people, by the eye of faith, behold the great high Priest as their Advocate. R2823:4
It is because we recognize Jesus as our Advocate, that we may come to the throne of grace. R4597:4

Jesus does not intercede for his people every day; there are two general intercessions--the first applied at the beginning of the Gospel age for the Church class, and the final and complete one for the whole world. R5777:4

During the Millennium our Lord Jesus will not be making intercession for the world; for he will do this at its beginning when he applies his merit for "all the people," when the New Covenant is sealed. R5777:5

To deal, or to show cause. He ever liveth to deal or negotiate for them. R791:5

For them -- As New Creatures, his members. R4476:1

Hebrews 7:26

Such high priest -- "A merciful and faithful high priest." (Heb. 2:17)
E128; F162

He was not wealthy, and was considered a fanatic. R3776:6

When Jesus became the anti-typical High Priest the type must have ceased in God's estimation. R310:2

Became us -- Suited us, was necessary for us. R964:6

He is justifying and sanctifying the antitypical priests and Levites. R4528:2

Who is holy -- In order to be the Redeemer of Adam, and his race, Jesus had to be a perfect human being. R5830:1, 4587:6, 4546:1, 4049:4, 2772:3; E95; SM646:1; OV383:4, 150:2

Jesus possessed a refinement and nobility of soul which made his death as a blasphemer even more terrible to him. R551:4, 4964:4, 4804:1

"That holy thing that shall be born of thee." (Luke 1:35) E105

The "clean thing" (Job 14:4) came not out of the unclean race, but

"proceeded forth and came from God" and was merely developed and nourished in Mary. (John 8:42; Gal. 4:4) E105

Unblemished, undefiled, spotless. E97

Harmless -- Guileless. R5767:6

Innocent. R5053:3

Undefiled -- Without any contamination from Father Adam. R5870:6, 5223:6

By virtue of his special birth. R5768:5; OV330:2, 149:1

As a man, transferred from a heavenly to an earthly condition. R5003:2;
NS194:6

Although a member of our race according to the flesh, Jesus has an unimpaired life, transferred from the spirit plane to his virgin mother's womb. Thus he did not inherit sin or its condemnation. R5946:6, 5748:1, 4964:1; E106; Q226:4; NS460:1

He did not have any of the defilements common to humanity. CR453:3

His was not a condemned life, like the rest of the world. R5621:1

His will was to do good only, to honor God and to bless men. SM646:1

If the virgin birth is denied, this statement would not be true. R4763:1

Absolutely without imperfection. R5836:6, 4968:2

Perfect mentally, morally, and physically. OV149:1

Jesus was not tempted because of sin or weakness, for he had neither.
R5702:4, 5472:5

He could not have a sinful wish or desire. SM646:1

There was no reason why he should suffer. Every painful experience which our Lord had was suffering for righteousness' sake. R5117:3

Not personally worthy of death. NS346:5

Our Lord was not a member of the Adamic race in a direct sense. R5621:1

Entirely distinct and separate from humanity, so far as sinful features were concerned. R4964:1, 5064:3, 5352:2; CR195:4

Leaving the perfection of the heavenly nature and coming down to perfect human nature. R4587:6

Nevertheless, he was neither a giant in stature nor in physical strength.
R2787:2

If Jesus was the son of Joseph, he was not separate from sinners. R5767:6;
OV329:1

He alone kept the Law--thus he had the right to perfect human life, that he might be the Redeemer and Messiah. R5286:5, 5165:4; CR43:4, 48:6

His life was from God, and merely nourished by Mary. E105; R3938:6

Contrary to Higher Criticism. CR491:1; NS559:5

Made higher -- Exalted higher. E128

Than the heavens -- Powers of spiritual control. A318

Lifted higher than the highest--to the divine nature. R3952:1, 713:6

Hebrews 7:27

Who needeth not -- Paul was combating the prevalent thought that the Law Covenant and its priestly arrangements were divinely intended to be perpetual. R4545:3

He was discussing the change of dispensation and that everything pertaining to the Tabernacle and the "Most Holy" passed away to give place to the "better sacrifices" of the Gospel age. R4780:3

The divine intention of a New Covenant with a new High Priest and new underpriests and better sacrifices for its institution. R4545:3

A repetition daily and yearly of the sacrifices of the Law on a higher plane is not to be expected. R4397:3

Daily -- Continually. R4545:5

The typical High Priest needed once every year, repeatedly (not daily), to offer up sacrifices. R4965:2, 4546:5; Q67:1

As those high priests -- A type of the Royal Priesthood of the Gospel age. R5162:3, 4397:3

The Jewish nation, priesthood, sacrifices and legal code must pass away. R4545:3

Christ the new creature is the High Priest of a new order and we, "his members," are the underpriests, as spirit-begotten new creatures. R4545:3, 4511:1

First for his own sins, then for the people's-- Specifying two offerings. R4546:4

The offering of the bullock and the Lord's goat--separate sprinklings of blood--both parts of the one atonement day service. (Lev. 16) R4397:6, 4965:5, 4780:6, 4546:6, 4545:6; Q67:1

The one antitypical Atonement Day accomplishes the entire work which will usher in full forgiveness and reconciliation to all the people. R4397:3

Both sacrifices were made by the Priest, not by the bullock, not by the goat; and when our Lord shall present the blood of his secondary sacrifice, he will be presenting "his own blood"--not yours, not mine. R4546:6

One fulfillment of the one type. Our Lord offered himself at Jordan and he offered up all the members of his Body, the Church, at Pentecost. The presentation was at Pentecost, to be completed during the Gospel age. Q67:3; R4965:5, 4780:6, 4546:3, 4511:3, 4397:3

The antitypical atonement day sacrifices for sin have been in progress for 1800 years. R4965:3, 4546:4; Q67:2

The two sacrifices of Lev. 16. Our Lord will fulfil that Day of Atonement type by two offerings; first for the sins of those accepted during the Gospel age, and later for the world in general. R4511:3 The great High Priest will apply the blood of the antitypical goat on behalf of all the world of mankind under the terms of the New Covenant. R4546:6

This cannot mean the contrary to what Paul had just stated--that our Lord had no sins. The "Head" was perfect but the "Body" was imperfect. R4546:4

He -- The High Priest. R4780:5

Did once -- The sacrifice of Jesus needs not to be repeated. R4703:4

This he did already. When the Apostle wrote these words the High Priest had already made both sacrifices, and had sat down on the right hand of the Majesty on High. R4546:5

The once doing of this sacrificial work in the beginning of this antitypical "Atonement Day" is sufficient for all time. R4546:5

The one sacrifice of two parts. R4780:5, 4397:3

In the type these things were done year by year; but in the antitype the Great High Priest first offered the antitypical bullock on behalf of his Body, and then the antitypical goat on behalf of the world of mankind.

R4780:6, 4965:3, 4546:5

This entire work of sacrificing may have been said to have been accomplished at the time when St. Paul wrote the book of Hebrews. R4511:4

The ground of original protest was respecting the sacrifice of Christ.

Papacy held that Christ's sacrifice at Calvary was for past sins.

Protestants held that there could be but one sacrifice for sins forever.

R1775:6

Offered up himself -- Himself at Jordan--the members of his Body, the Church, at Pentecost. R4965:5, 4546:3

His personal sacrifice was finished at Calvary. R4546:2

The spirit-begotten Jesus, as the Priest, put to death Jesus in the flesh and made him a sin-sacrifice. R4545:3

His offering of himself at Jordan was accepted of the Father; the remainder was merely the fulfilling of the terms of the sacrifice. R4965:5

The Father's acceptance of his sacrifice was indicated by the descent of the holy Spirit upon Jesus in the water. R4546:3

The body which God prepared for sacrifice may properly be viewed from two standpoints--the human body of Jesus, and the Church which is his body.

R4965:2

Paul referred to the High Priest as a whole--Head and Body. "He (the Father) hath chosen us in him (Christ) before the foundation of the world." (Eph. 1:4) R4780:3, 5392:1

The members of the Body present themselves; but the offering must be done by the Priest, Jesus. R4965:3, 4546:6

One fulfillment of the one type--in the type there were two sacrifices offered, here called his sacrifice. R4965:3

The Leviticus account shows that the first offering was not for himself only, but also "for his house"--in the type the tribe of Levi; in the antitype the "household of faith"--the great company. R4546:2,6

His offering continues these 1900 years. Since Pentecost he has been accepting and offering as his members such as present their bodies living sacrifices. PD47/59

The true tabernacle -- The antitypical. B208

Typified by the Tabernacle in the wilderness. B208; R245:1*

Which the Lord -- Jehovah, the author of the divine plan. E38

Hebrews 8:3

Priest is ordained -- Consecrated for the priestly work, after having been already consecrated as a Levite. F124

To offer gifts -- The High Priest serves--is an offerer or sacrificer to God. R3265:3

Our Lord's consecration of his own life was a gift. Q609:4; R4915:1

The High Priest is ordained to make the ultimate offering of that gift as the sin-offering for the world. R4915:4

The gift of our Lord's consecration of his own life and our gifts of ourselves to God will constitute the great sin-offering which the High Priest gives for the world. Q609:5

And sacrifices -- Thus typifying Jesus who offered himself as an acceptable sacrifice for sin--that he might be the Deliverer of men from the curse of sin and death. R4715:4

That this man -- The man Christ Jesus. R3265:3

Also to offer -- Our Lord had himself, the Perfect One, to offer--a sacrifice well pleasing to the Father. R3319:4

The sacrificial work was a necessity before Christ could enter the still higher work of blessing. R4511:4

It is expected of all the members of the Body that they shall be joint-sharers in the sufferings and sacrifices of this present time.

R3265:3, 3319:5

The thing which each is to sacrifice is himself, his will, his life, his all. R2629:6

"I beseech you, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies living sacrifices." (Rom. 12:1) R3844:5, 2629:6

If he -- Our Lord. Q551:6

On earth -- Paul is contrasting the typical priesthood of the tribe of Levi, and the antitypical priesthood of our Lord, who sprang out of Judah. R161:1*

Jesus, being of the tribe of Judah, and not Levi, could not have served as a priest under the Mosaic Law, which gave this office to Aaron and his sons forever. R4759:5, 195:4, 161:4*

He should not be -- Melchizedek was only one Priest, and therefore represented all our Lord's members. His antitypical work is in the future and is why Aaron is not so particularly referred to in the type of the Great Priest. Q552:1

Gifts -- The Apostle puts the word first. There is a way the High Priest offers gifts now--the consecration of his own life and the bodies of his brethren. Q609:4

Of necessity -- Jesus also must offer both gifts and sacrifices in order to fulfil his priesthood. Q610:T

Shadow -- Type. CR485:2

Example. T82

Reflection of future things, as the moon's light is the reflection of the rays of the sun. R5420:2

Many of the things done for fleshly Israel were shadows of better things for spiritual Israel--but only to those who discern them. R2504:6

Of heavenly things -- Higher things. "The Law having a shadow of good things to come." (Heb. 10:1) B173; T11; CR485:2; Q746:1

Spiritual things. R294:5; T82

To the pattern -- All the minutiae of the service: every jot and tittle had to be exactly performed in the type, because it illustrated something greater and more important to come afterward. T12

Excellent ministry -- More exalted service than the earthly priests. R4511:4

Our Lord's sacrificial work needs not to be continued throughout eternity; but he has been exalted to the heavenly plane, and has another work to accomplish. R4511:5

How much also he is -- Accordingly, he is. R4511:4

For this cause he is made. R4321:5

Has acquired the right to become. E455

Our Lord had already begun the work necessary to his fulfilling this office of Mediator of the New Covenant, but he had not yet accepted to himself all the members. R4321:5

The mediator -- The word Mediator is carefully and exclusively used in the Bible only in connection with a Covenant. R4560:6

Moses, the Mediator of the Law Covenant, was a type of Jesus, the Mediator of the New Covenant. R788:4, 4511:5, 2838:4

God's dealing with the world will be through the Mediator, the Priest. R4528:5

A better covenant -- A better testament than the Law Covenant. R4511:5
The New Covenant. CR326:4

Under which all the people shall be blessed with restitution. T82

The blessing will begin with Israel; but every member of the human race will have an opportunity of coming to perfection. Q488:3

Not better than the Grace or Sarah Covenant, but better than the Law Covenant because of its better Mediator, the Messiah. R4321:5, 4320:1, 4309:6

All that the house of Israel had and did was typical, and was to be superseded by others--their Covenant pointed to a better Covenant.

R518:3*, 3364:5

The contrast is between the Law Covenant and its Mediator, Moses, and the New Covenant, superior because of its better Mediator, the Messiah.

R4321:5, 4309:6

At the end of the thousand years they are more directly in this Covenant relationship; each being required to stand for himself without a Mediator between. Q533:T

Was established -- This Covenant was established eighteen hundred years ago. PT371:1*

Better promises -- Than those to fleshly Israel. "Exceeding great and precious promises;" (2 Peter 1:4) heavenly instead of earthly. B207

Securing beyond the possibility of failure the eternal salvation of all his people. R174:5*

When the prince of this world shall be cast out. R518:3*

That first covenant -- The Sinaitic or Law Covenant. PT370:5* Of which the Ten Commandments were a part. R1732:1

Had been faultless -- If that first Covenant had been faultless, it would have done the work that the second Covenant is going to do, but it would not have taken anyone to heaven. PT371:T*

The fault was a lack of any mediatorial provision to offset the weakness and inability of the people to keep it. PT371:T*

Moses could offer only imperfect sacrifices. R4321:5

No place have been sought -- The second Covenant would have been unnecessary. PT371:T*

The second -- That New or Better Covenant will accomplish restitution, and nothing of a spiritual nature at all. PT371:T

Hebrews 8:8

Finding fault -- If God was not finding fault with the old Covenant, why make a new one? The unsatisfactory feature of the covenant was that it could not give life to Israel. R4961:2

The Apostle is endeavoring to prove to the Jews that they could gain nothing under the Law Covenant. R4319:6

He saith -- In Jeremiah 31:31-34. NS443:1; R4321:6

The days come -- The days will come. R4319:6

After the days of this Gospel age. R4321:6

The time when the price which our Lord laid down at Calvary will be made applicable to the world. R4998:6

I will make -- Greek, sunteleo, complete (Diaglott). Rendered in Authorized Version: end; finish; fulfill; make. PT372:2*

I will covenant a covenant with the house of Israel as a result of the sacrifices cut off. PT373:2*

It will go into effect just as soon as the Mediator is completed. Q186:5

A new covenant -- To be between God, and Israel and the world. R4388:6, 5226:3

Made with natural Israel first. R4998:6

As a measure for carrying out the blessings purposed in the Abrahamic Covenant. R5226:3

An unconditional covenant--without a solitary condition so far as the people to be blessed by it are concerned. R3108:6

The covenant is a conditional one, shown by the fact that it has a Mediator. Q187:2

Belongs exclusively to the coming age. R3916:4

Will proceed through the Ancient Worthies. R4389:1 The New Law Covenant cannot be introduced, sealed, made operative, until the Abrahamic Covenant shall have brought forth the seed of Abraham. R5301:6

To be a perpetual Covenant between God and men. R5000:4

The selection of the members of the Mediator of Israel's New Covenant is now in progress. R4388:6

The house of Israel -- The whole twelve tribes. C293; R1341:1

Clearly this does not refer to spiritual Israel. R4321:6

The house of Judah -- Which is mentioned by name, so that the prophecy might not be understood to refer to the ten tribes only. C297

The New Covenant belongs to Israel alone, including the two nations into which they divided at the death of Solomon. R4319:6

The covenant -- The Law Covenant. R4319:6; NS363:1

The Law dispensation began with Israel the night they left Egypt. R971:6

In the day -- The Passover was the first feature of the Law. R971:6, 1731:1

Out of the land -- The Law Covenant is continually referred to as dating from that time. R1731:2

Regarded them not -- The Law Covenant being a conditional one. R3108:5

The covenant -- The New Covenant provisions of the Millennial Age. R3649:1; Q189:T; NS363:2

After those days -- Of this Gospel Age. R4321:6

Gospel days. R4340:6; Q189:T

After the Gospel age has intervened, between Israel's casting off and their being received again. NS363:2

In which they would be disregarded, in the cast-off condition. PT372:T*

After the "seven times" of chastisement. B92

The blindness that has been on Israel during the selection of spiritual Israel will surely pass away. R3649:1

I will put my laws -- Gradually retrace and rewrite the divine Law. This re-writing in the characters of men is simply another method of telling us of the "restitution of all things." (Acts 3:21) F359

This is a description of what will take place during the Millennium, and not a description of what we see about us today. R4321:6; NS363:2, 290:3

Into their mind -- They will have Messiah's assistance in regaining the perfection of mind and body and a "new heart," which will enable them to obey in every particular the divine Law. R4821:1

Contrasting the Law written on tables of stone, with the better arrangement of the New Covenant, which will ignore a written language entirely. R1717:4

In their hearts -- When the Law has been written upon the hearts of all antitypical Israelites, there will no longer be any teaching, for none will be ignorant of the Lord. R1717:4

And they -- Primarily the Jews, later the world of mankind. R3108:6

All shall know me -- First to Israel, under Messiah's Kingdom; the blessing will be extended to every nation, kindred and tongue. R4821:1
They will have the assistance of Christ and of the glorified Church, the Royal Priesthood. R5639:2

"The earth shall be full of the knowledge of the Lord." (Isa. 11:9)
R2610:3, 2314:1; E20

The way will be so plain "that the wayfaring man though a fool need not err therein." (Isa. 35:8) A215

Some will refuse and die the second death. SM172:1

This statement is not true now, and cannot be true until the Lord's Kingdom is established. A75

Hebrews 8:12

Their sins -- The Deliverer will do no more than merely regather them; he will take away their sins. (Psa. 85) R4892:2; NS443:5

The whole world's sins and iniquities will be blotted out as far as God is concerned and the whole world will be turned over to Jesus. CR148:5

And their iniquities -- Which now rise up in judgment before them demanding their just penalty, death. R1654:1

I remember no more -- Having blotted out past sins and iniquities. F359
Because of the merit of Christ, applied to the sealing of the New Covenant. CR148:5

A glorious Covenant, for Israel, and through Israel, for the whole world. Q189:1

The divine agreement to be merciful, to forgive, to cancel sins that are past. R3597:3, 2328:3

Through the better sacrifices the antitypical Mediator will have the power to start the people with a clean slate. R5292:3

Hebrews 8:13

A new covenant -- Restoring that nation to the place of honor as the favored nation--through whom the blessings of redemption will extend to all nations. R4555:1

The Law Covenant was a foreshadow of the New Law Covenant. Fi

Implying that a preceding (Law) Covenant had become old. R4319:6

The Apostle is not saying that the New Covenant is for the Church. R4321:6

It will become operative as soon as the Church has been glorified. NS443:5

The first -- The Law Covenant. R4319:6; NS363:1

Old -- Valueless. R4319:6

Unprofitable. NS363:1

Paul is disputing the Judaizing teachers insistence that they must be under the Hagar Covenant, as well as the Sarah Covenant. R4322:1
Ready to vanish away -- Preparing to pass away. R4319:6
Be set aside, giving place to a new and better one. NS363:1
Paul saw the Law Covenant in Hagar's predicament, almost ready to die. PT372:1*
Lose its force entirely. But Paul did not say that it had passed away. R4505:2
The Law Covenant, not the oath-bound Covenant. R4440:4
The old Law Covenant would perish, and God would in due time provide a New Covenant to take its place with Israel. R4322:1
The Apostle is contrasting the New Covenant with the Law Covenant, which did vanish away. R3916:4

Hebrews 9

Hebrews 9:1

The first covenant -- Chapter 9 contrasts the typical Law Covenant with the arrangements for the New Covenant to make its blessings effective to Israel and all people who shall eventually avail themselves of its privileges. R4511:6

Also ordinances -- These ordinances went with the Law Covenant; but that the ordinances and ceremonies were not the Covenant itself is proved by Deut. 5:1-21. R974:2, 1726:2

Hebrews 9:2

A tabernacle -- Typical of "the true tabernacle, which the Lord pitched, and not man." (Heb. 8:2) B208

The candlestick -- Representing the complete Church of Christ selected throughout the Gospel age. T115

The table -- Representing the complete Church as a whole. T115

The shewbread -- Representing the truth, the Word of God. T22, 115

Hebrews 9:3

The second veil -- Representing the death of the human body. T22

Holiest of all -- The Most Holy represents the presence of Jehovah--heaven itself. R528:2; NS336:4

Which had -- With the "Ark" under the Propitiatory. T17

The golden censer -- The golden altar could not have been in the Most Holy. Either the Apostle had a slip of the tongue, or his amanuenses put in the wrong word, saying behind the veil instead of before the veil.

CR275:5; Q28:T, 702:3

See footnote on verse 2 in the Diaglott. R5961:2*

And the ark -- Representing the eternal purpose of God--his foreordained arrangement of riches and grace for mankind in The Christ. T121

When justice is satisfied, power starts upon its errand, which is co-extensive with that of love, using the same agency--Christ--the Ark or safe depository of divine favors. T126

Overlaid round about -- Covered around on every side. R641:1

With gold -- Symbol of the divine nature. T18, 121

Pot that had manna -- As a memorial, God miraculously preserved the manna from corruption. B130

Representing immortality, incorruptibility; "To him that overcometh will I grant to eat of the hidden manna." (Rev. 2:17) T122; R3283:2

Possibly representing our Lord's fleshly body, perhaps preserved somewhere as the grand memorial of God's love, of Christ's obedience and of our redemption. B130

A golden jar holding the manna. R641:1

And Aaron's rod -- Representing the acceptableness of the Royal Priesthood--The Christ. T122

That budded -- That sprouted. R641:1

A peculiarity of the almond tree is that the fruit buds appear before the leaves; so with the Royal Priesthood, they sacrifice or begin to bring forth fruit before the leaves of profession are seen. T122

A reminder that the blessing and fruitfulness and privilege of service belong to the antitypical Levite. R3283:2

And the tables -- Tables of the Law. R641:1

Representing that the Law was actually fulfilled in our Head and is reckonedly fulfilled in us who walk in obedience to the new mind; also that legal authority is vested in The Christ as the Law-executor. T121

These remained in the ark when it was in the Temple--the Law will still be an integral part of the divine covenant. R3283:2

Over -- Over-above. R641:1

Cherubim of glory -- Upon it and of the same piece were two cherubs of gold--beaten work. T17, 123

Representing divine love and power. T125

Neither divine love nor power can be exercised until justice is satisfied; hence they look inward toward justice to know when to move. T125

Shadowing -- Overshadowing the propitiatory. R641:1

The mercyseat -- So called because there, by God's arrangement, mercy was obtained. R420:6

More properly called the propitiatory, because on it the Priest offered the blood of the sacrifices which propitiated or satisfied the demands of divine justice. T124

Greek, hilasterion, place of appeasement. R420:6, 641:1; T124; HG54:1

The spot upon which the High Priest sprinkled the blood of the sin-offering, which God accepted as the satisfaction for sins. R420:6;

T125 The slab of gold forming the cover of the ark. R420:6, 641:1

The oneness the Son and his Bride, represented by the Ark, in harmony with the Father, represented by the cover--was shown in the fact that the Mercy Seat was the lid of the Ark, and hence the head of it. T126

Hebrews 9:6

The priests -- Representing the Royal Priesthood; the underpriests, the consecrated Body of Christ. T116; R1732:3

Typifying those who are seated with Christ in the heavenly. (Eph. 2:6) R4875:6, 1732:4; NS336:4

Went always -- Always had access. T116; R1732:3

Corresponds to our experiences of the present time. R4875:6

The first tabernacle -- Where were the candlestick, the table of shewbread and the golden altar of incense. R4875:6, 1732:3

The Holy, typifying the spiritually-minded condition. T75, 116; R4875:6, 1732:4

All of the antitypical Royal Priesthood have access to the Holy condition as soon as they consecrate themselves. R1732:3; T116

But into the second -- The Most Holy--type of the perfected spiritual condition. T75; R4875:6, 528:2

Went the high priest -- The High Priest passing under the veil typified the man Christ Jesus, pouring out his soul on Calvary, laying down in death the body which God prepared him. PD36/47

If he had not followed every instruction of the Law, he would die under the veil; likewise, if Jesus had come short in any way, he would have no resurrection. R5585:6, 5731:2; Q386:2

Alone -- Apparently the underpriests did not go into the Most Holy on this day. Q694:1; R4875:6; T74

They often went into the Most Holy in after days. T91, 92

Once every year -- On the Great Day of Atonement, representing the Gospel age. T50, 75; R4875:3; CR276:1; Q701:3, 702:1

The repetition was necessary to maintain the cleansing of the people and Covenant relationship with God. R4655:3

Not without blood -- The evidence of his sacrifice of his former self. R528:2

The Priest had to have the blood with him or he would die. R5961:4*
The blood (earthly life rights) must still be unforfeited in any way, as otherwise the antitypical Priest would not have risen beyond the veil in resurrection life and could not have benefitted the human race. R5961:4*

For -- Instead of their own natural lives. R147:2

Himself -- The bullock represented the death of the Priest, and thereafter the Priest represented Christ as a New Creature. R528:2, 1829:2
For the Priests and Levites--for himself and his house. CR276:1; Q701:3; SM69:4

For the errors -- The sins. CR276:1; Q701:3

Not wilful sins, but those which are committed through ignorance, superstition, blindness, etc., through heredity. Q701:3; CR276:1
Christ as the antitype presented the ransom-price for the people's sins. R528:2

Of the people -- All the remainder of the people. CR276:1; Q701:3
The remaining tribes of Israel. SM70:T

Hebrews 9:8

First tabernacle -- The purpose was to shadow forth "good things to come." (Heb. 9:11) R591:1*

Which was a figure -- Typical. R598:6, 715:6*

Typical of the real work to be done afterward by Christ. R528:1
The various features of the Tabernacle illustrated the most important features of God's divine plan. PD36/47
The millions of Jews who lived and died before Christ, who had only typical atonements for sin, yearly, did not have a chance for life under the New Covenant. R2116:5

Perfect -- Each Day of Atonement a typical sacrifice was offered which never actually put away sin. R528:1

Carnal -- Generally rendered "flesh." Does not mean sinful flesh. R1223:2

Hebrews 9:11

Good things to come -- Represents the glorification of the Church and the blessing of Israel and all the families of the earth. R4511:6
Coming restitution blessings. R2821:6
The antitypical High Priest has appeared. R4511:6

By -- Obtained of God. R2821:6

Perfect tabernacle -- The spiritual Temple. A301

A higher Tabernacle or Temple than the Jewish earthly one, the Holy of Holies of which is heaven itself. R2821:6

Not made with hands -- Not of earthly origin. A301

Neither by -- Contrasting the typical and the antitypical sin-offering. R5874:4

They did not see that their sin-offerings were merely typical. OV71:2

Of goats and calves -- They possessed no real merit. R5424:2

His own blood -- The sacrifices which the antitypical High Priest presents are of a superior character--his own blood, his own life. R2822:1; E446

He must first redeem them through the sacrifice of himself. OV71:2

Christ's death was typed for centuries in the Tabernacle services by the sacrifice of bulls and goats. R1336:2

The blood of Jesus and the members of his Body. R4366:6 He entered in --

The people had no evidence of divine favor resulting until he came out to bless the people. R2821:6

The holy place -- The Most Holy. R2821:6

Representing heaven itself--from which in due time our great High Priest comes forth with the promised blessings of restitution, etc. R2821:6

The evidence of this came in the Pentecostal blessing. R5424:2

The antitype of the earthly High Priests when they went into the Most Holy on the Day of Atonement to sprinkle the blood upon the Mercy Seat. R2821:6

Having obtained -- Procured. R2822:1

Eternal redemption -- Greek, lutrosis, everlasting, present and future, deliverance from bondage to sin and death. The Apostle is not referring to the method by which that deliverance was secured. E433; F159

Lasting ransom-deliverance for those whom he as High Priest represented. R2822:1

Christ's blood became the basis for the forgiveness of our sins, and transferred us from the domain of sentenced culprits, back to sonship in the family of God. R1230:3

Hebrews 9:13

Blood of bulls -- Before the Law Covenant went into effect, it was necessary that blood should be shed. R4624:1

The bullock represented Jesus as a man. R5731:1; Q385:8

Goats -- The goat represented the human nature of the Church. R5731:1; Q385:8

Figures or illustrations for the time of the real sacrifice. R528:2

Typifying the better sacrifices by which the New Covenant would become operative. R4624:1,6

The Atonement Day sacrifices. R1897:4

These could never actually take away sins. R4624:6

The basis for that reconciliation was the sacrifice represented by the blood. R4655:6

The ashes -- The knowledge and remembrance of their faithfulness unto death. T108; R1872:4

The red heifer was taken outside the camp of Israel, killed and burned to ashes, except a little of the blood taken by the Priest and sprinkled seven times toward the front of the Tabernacle. T105

The ashes were not brought into the Holy Place, but were left outside the Camp, and apparently accessible to any of the people who had use for them. T105

Like the ashes laid up in a clean place, the results of the painful experiences of the "worthies" will be a store of blessings, instruction and help to these "Princes." R1872:5; T111

An heifer -- The Ancient Worthies; a heifer instead of a bullock, to show that it was not one of the sacrifices of the Day of Atonement. T107, 111

A class which laid down their lives outside the Camp; in every way honorable, and yet not a priestly class. T107

No antitype is mentioned because it has nothing to do with our cleansing but relates to the world's cleansing in the Millennium. R1897:4; T111

A feature of the ceremonial law of Israel, related in Numbers 19. T105

Sprinkling -- Cleansing from sin, in connection with and based upon the Day of Atonement sacrifices. T108, 106

The ashes mingled with the water of truth, is valuable, purifying, sanctifying all who desire to come into full harmony with God. T108

The unclean -- Now; but particularly in the Millennial Age. T109

Purifying of the flesh -- The typical sacrifices had served in a measure for purification, and made the creatures represented thereby typically acceptable with God for a time. R2822:1

Hebrews 9:14

How much more -- Here is a contrast between the institution of the Law Covenant, and the institution of the New Covenant. R4624:2

If the typical arrangements of the Law Covenant needed a cleansing from sin by blood, how much more full of value should we esteem the sacrifice of Christ. R4511:6, 84:5*

How much greater must be the blessing which the greater, the antitypical High Priest would secure. R2822:1

The blood of Christ -- The death of Christ, paying the penalty for sin. F105

The better blood--the true sacrifice--which is to seal the New Covenant.
R4624:2; NS297:5

His better, more precious and wholly acceptable sacrifice. R2822:1
When the New Law Covenant will be inaugurated by Messiah's Kingdom, the blood of Christ, as represented in the blood of Jesus and the Church, will be used in sprinkling or satisfying divine law, first of all. R5874:2
The work of sprinkling all the people with the blood will progress--the work of cleansing mankind--giving all men the benefits secured by the redeeming blood. R5874:5

Sufficient to establish them fully and completely in the divine favor.
R4655:6

The merit of our Lord's sacrifice. "Which cleanseth us from all sin." (1 John 1:7) E445; F105; R1298:6*, 1293:5

Through -- By. R2822:2

The eternal spirit -- Of sonship. Q696:2; R4877:2

By which he had been begotten. R2822:2

Offered himself -- The man Jesus. R4877:1, 2822:2, 316:5*; Q696:2

His human nature and body. R316:4*; SM74:T

Our Lord, at Jordan, became dead as a man and alive as a New Creature.
Q696:2; R4877:2

An act of obedience to the Father's will. He did not appropriate his earthly rights to the world, or to anybody. R4546:6 To satisfy all the claims of justice. R4624:2

The offering took place at his consecration. His sacrifice began at Jordan, though it was not "finished" until Calvary. R387:3, 2822:1; NS425:2

The under priesthood must also offer up themselves to God. F122

Without spot -- Without blemish. R2822:2

A sacrifice well-pleasing. R3088:3

To God -- To whom the price was paid in sacrifice. The ransom price was paid to divine justice. R2822:2, 685:4, 387:3; E449

Purge -- Cleanse. R4624:2

Purify. R4511:6

Your conscience -- From all consciousness of sin. A permanent covering, through faith, of all of our sins that are past. R4655:6, 4624:2

A blood sprinkled heart, or will, that has been justified, not merely through faith, but also through the application of the blood. R2021:3, 4896:1

Consciences freed from a sense of guilt forever. R2822:3

Not for all Israel but for those Jews who had become Christians. R4624:2

"There is no condemnation to them that are in Christ Jesus, who walk not after the flesh, but after the spirit." (Rom. 8:1) R4656:1

Dead works -- The works of the old Law Covenant. R4322:1

As believers in Christ's merit, shall we not conscientiously drop dead works of the Law Covenant and trust to something higher, even to the merit of the antitypical High Priest! R4511:6

To serve -- Render acceptable service. R4624:2

The living God -- Become members of the Body of Christ, accept him as our Advocate and trust in his finished work on our behalf. R4624:2
The text from here on is missing in the Vatican manuscript. R1108:5, 434:4, 366:1, 71:5

Hebrews 9:15

For this cause -- To this end. R4512:1 Because his blood was sufficient to cancel all sin. R4624:2; E28

Showing a contrast between the old Law Covenant and the New (Law) Covenant. The original Abrahamic Covenant, under which Christ and his Body is being developed, is not in the discussion. R4548:3, 4309:6; Q178:7

This text has no reference to any except Jews who were under the old Law Covenant. It does not at all refer to Gentiles. R4548:6, 4512:1; Q178:9

He is -- Our Lord Jesus. R4625:1

Christ. R4623:3

Messiah. R4548:6; Q178:9

Has acquired the right to become. E455

From the time Christ took the first actual step towards making the New Covenant he was engaged in working on it--on its first feature, satisfying justice--illustrated in laying the foundations of a house. R4571:2*

The mediator -- The word Mediator is carefully and exclusively used in the Bible only in connection with a Covenant. R4560:6

Our Lord was this Mediator in God's purpose centuries before he became the man Christ Jesus. R4549:1; Q179:4

1900 years ago God chose Jesus to be the Mediator of this better covenant. PT375:1*

The competent Mediator, the Messiah of glory. R4548:5; Q178:8

God's provision is that Messiah is the Mediator of Israel's New Covenant. R4548:6; Q178:9

The antitypical better Mediator. R4624:1, 788:4

Who will have the power to confer the blessings. R4624:5

Secured by his own sacrificial death. R4549:2; Q180:1

Having by then paid over to Justice the ransom-price of the world. R4549:2, E28, 455; Q180:1

The Church, now called to be members of the Body of Christ, who, with Jesus her Head, will constitute the Mediator of the New Covenant. R4549:4, 4624:5, 4530:1*; NS364:4; Q180:3

There could be no blessing outside of this Great One, Jesus the Head, and the Church, his Body. R4624:5

God's dealing with the world will be through the Mediator. R4528:5

Our Lord has not yet acted as the Mediator of the New Covenant; he will accomplish this during the Millennial Age. R4549:1, 4571:5; Q179:5

Our Lord Jesus will give to mankind the human rights and privileges to which he had a right by virtue of his perfect obedience to divine Law.

R4625:1, 4547:1

Our Lord Jesus has already begun this work as a Mediator between God and man, but the great bulk of the work of mediation lies in the future and will be accomplished during the Millennial age. NS360:2

The new testament -- The New Covenant. F88; R4623:6

Israel's New Covenant. R4548:2-6; Q178:7

For the blessing of Israel and mankind. R4549:5; Q180:4

Having a better Mediator, The Christ. R4624:1

The New Covenant is not to be made with any others than the Jews. R4624:6,2

The repetition of God's favor to Israel under the better Mediator, who will bring the glorious blessings they had expected under Moses. R4624:6

Obedience to the New (Law) Covenant will hold the reward of eternal life.

R4549:4; Q180:2

The Apostle is not here saying that the New Covenant is operative now, nor that we are under this Covenant. He is speaking of the Jewish nation.

"This is my blood in the new testament." (Mark 14:24) E28; R4625:2; NS297:6

By means of death -- A death having taken place. (Revised Version)

R4548:2*, Q178:T*

As its Testator. R4548:6; Q179:1

God in justice cannot deal with a sinner through a Mediator except first divine justice be remembered and satisfied. E28

Christ's death on the tree was necessary for the Jews, because that was the special "curse" of the Law. R4512:1

The call of this Gospel age could not be promulgated until first our Lord had become "surety" for the New Covenant. F88, 87

It would not be necessary to render the typical sacrifices thereafter, year by year. R5119:4

For the redemption -- Greek, apolutrosis, deliverance from the curse of the Law. E437

The Jewish nation needed to be redeemed in a special manner before God could use it as the channel for blessing the other nations. R4624:4

Messiah's death will be sufficient to cancel the transgressions of Israel under their old Law Covenant. R4548:6; E437; Q178:9

Our Lord's death meant not only redemption from Adamic transgression, but additionally, to the Jew, deliverance from the "curse" or penalty of the Law Covenant. E437

The transgressions -- Their deserts under that first Covenant was condemnation. PT374:5*

First testament -- The Law Covenant. E437; F88; R4624:3, 4623:6, 4549:4

The First Covenant. (Revised Version) R4548:2*; Q178:T*

The precious Covenant. E437

Israel was unable to keep that Law perfectly in act, thought and word, reaping its condemnation of death, and not its proffered blessings of life. R4549:2,4; Q179:6

The Law Covenant had existed for more than sixteen centuries, and many of the Hebrews, after coming into Christ, felt that somehow they must still maintain their relationship to its ordinances, etc. R4623:3

Still a bondage upon all Jews unless they renounce all earthly restitution rights and thus become a joint-heir with Christ during this Gospel Age.

Moses was privileged to arrange sacrifices and offerings for sin, cleansing the people for a year at a time--and helping Israel keep the Law. R4549:2; Q179:6

The Law Covenant mediated by Moses was typical of a superior New Covenant, of which Messiah is Mediator. R4548:3, 4624:1; Q178:7

Moses' Covenant was already dead, to the extent that the prize it offered had been won by Jesus. R4548:3; Q178:8

It is inconsistent to claim that The Christ is developed by the faith-sacrifice of earthly rights, under the same Covenant by which the world will secure earthly rights never to be sacrificed. R4528:6

They -- The nation of Israel. R4548:6, 4624:3; Q179:1

A special work of Christ on behalf of the Jews. R4512:1

Eventually all Hebrews condemned to death under the Law Covenant may be released from it. R4512:1

Which are called -- Not referring to those who receive the high calling, but the Jewish nation that was called--all of this Jewish nation who would come into accord with the divine arrangement. (Rom. 11:27) R4624:3

Might receive -- All that they ever expected--and more. R4548:6; Q178:9

When the "mystery" multitudinous Mediator will have sealed Israel's New Covenant by death as its Testator, then the "called" nation will "receive the eternal inheritance." R4548:6, 283:1,6; Q179:1

The promise -- At the beginning of the Millennium, all Jews will be transferred from Moses to Messiah. Q178:7; R4548:5

Helping them step by step out of their sin and death condition back to perfection. R4549:4; Q180:1

Israel's promises were not heavenly or spiritual, but earthly. R4548:6; Q178:9

Eternal inheritance -- For which they have waited for more than thirty-five centuries. R4548:6; Q179:1 As members of Christ under the original Abrahamic Covenant. R4512:1

Testament -- Will. R4512:1; NS297:5

The New Covenant--or bequest. R4528:6, 1834:3; Q433:2, 434:2; NS297:4

Jesus was the testator and he was going to make a will, which represented his earthly life laid down in sacrifice. Q433:2

Jesus has human life, restitution to give. R4751:4; Q433:2

Is -- Exists. (Diaglott) R788:4

The death -- In the case of Moses, the death of the testator was represented by the slaying of the bullock and the goat. In the case of the antitypical Moses, it is shown in the sacrifice of our Lord and the Church. R4624:6; Q433:1

Moses typically bought Israel and left them the conditions of the Law as a legacy. R282:4

As the Mediator, or testator, Jesus must die to leave mankind the legacy--of forgiveness and restoration in the New Covenant. R283:1

Bequeathing that with which he parts in death. R4625:1

As long as Jesus was a man he needed human life himself, but in obedience to the Father's will, he laid his human life down. R4751:4; Q433:2

Our Lord invites us to join with him in becoming testator, laying down our lives. R4625:1; Q434:T

"They shall obtain mercy through your mercy." (Rom. 11:31) R4528:6; Q435:1

Of the testator -- Christ the Head, and the Church, the Body. R4625:5, 4512:2; NS297:5

One who bequeaths something to others. R4625:1

The one who makes the will. NS297:5

It was necessary that our Lord should carefully follow the plan that God had arranged. R4625:1

By his death, Jesus passed on to us, the Church, the benefits of his merit. R4453:2; Q434:T; NS297:5

By taking up his human life which he did not forfeit in anywise, he should have that human life and its rights to give to Israel and through them to all mankind. He is thus a testator. R4625:1, 4547:1

He bequeaths it not while he is alive, as a gift, but he gives it as a testator, as that with which he parts in death. R4625:1

Our Lord, as the Great Mediator of the New Covenant, will give to mankind the human rights and privileges to which he had a right by virtue of his perfect obedience to the divine Law. R4625:1, 4512:1

Bequeathing eternal life to the world. R4625:1

The seed of Abraham as testator bequeaths to Israel (and through Israel to the world) all the earthly or restitution privileges secured by Jesus' death and applied "on our behalf" and surrendered by us in death. R4528:5, 4512:2

The Church--the members of his Body--share in this Testament. Q434:2; R4625:2

Not yet fully accomplished; hence restitution blessing is delayed and has not yet begun. R4528:6

Of that which has ratified it. (Diaglott) R788:4

Testament -- Covenant. R282:4

Will. NS297:5

Of force -- Firm, (Diaglott) binding. R788:4

After men are dead -- The ratifiers or mediators. R282:4

Over dead victims. (Diaglott) R788:4

Of no strength -- No efficacy. R4528:6

It is never valid. (Diaglott) R788:4

Testator liveth -- Jesus laid his human life down as a bequest, as a testator of the estate he had at his disposal. R4751:4; Q433:2

When that which ratifies it (or, is to satisfy it) is alive. (Diaglott)

R788:4

Whereupon -- Hence. (Diaglott) R788:4

Neither the first testament -- Not even the first (i.e. Law Covenant).

(Diaglott) R788:4

Was dedicated -- Has been instituted. (Diaglott) R788:4

Without blood -- The blood of beasts, representing Moses' blood. R788:4

Hebrews 9:19

For when Moses -- The typical Mediator between God and Israel. R4537:1

Type of the greater Mediator; Jesus and the Church. R4354:5, 4371:4

He undertook to bless them by mediating for them the Law Covenant with God. R4537:1

"A prophet shall the Lord your God raise up unto you of your brethren, like unto me." (Acts 3:33) R4371:5

Precept -- Commandment. (Diaglott) R788:4

The law -- The Law Covenant is a type of the New Covenant. R5342:6

The blood -- The ratifying blood. R283:1, 4371:4, 2859:1

The New Covenant must also be ratified with blood. R4371:4

Messiah's work of suffering and death was prefigured in the slaying of the animals at the giving of the Law Covenant. A79

Calves -- Bulls. R5878:4, 788:4

Type of Jesus. R4335:4

Goats -- Type of the Church. R4335:4

In the inauguration of the Law Covenant, more than one animal of each kind was necessary because of the multitudes of the people of Israel who were to be sprinkled with the blood. R5878:4, 5874:4

Water -- Of truth. R4371:4, 283:1, 214:1

Scarlet wool -- Typifying the blood of the ransom. T34, 109

Hyssop -- Representing purging or cleansing--cleansing from all death defilements. R1872:6; T109

Sprinkled -- Representing the satisfaction of justice. R5342:6, 5878:4, 4570:5*

Type of sealing or sprinkling the New Covenant with the blood of the antitypical bullock (our Lord) and goat (the Church.) R4354:5, 5878:4, 4331:1

After Moses had done this, the Law Covenant was in force, and it will continue until superseded by its antitype, the New Covenant. R5164:1, 4624:6

When The Christ is glorified, Jesus will apply the merit of his sin-atonement for the whole world, and as the basis of the New Covenant which will be inaugurated with Israel. R5000:1

When the better sacrifices are complete, the people will be sprinkled with the cleansing blood and pure water of truth, bringing them into harmony with God and therefore with his Law. R4371:4, 4331:1, 283:1

The book -- Of the Law, the Covenant. R788:4, 282:5

Type of the Law. R4371:4, 283:1

Representing God or divine justice. R4335:4

The sprinkling of the books of the Law required only a few seconds. R5342:6

And all the people -- Bringing the people under the obligations of the Law Covenant. R5000:1, 5421:5, 4371:4, 4335:4

This was done for the institution of the Law Covenant, and repeated yearly to maintain the cleansing and their Covenant relationship with God. R4655:3

In antitype, the whole world who are dead in Adam. R5878:4, 5421:5, 4371:4, 4366:6

The sprinkling of the people required a long time. Everyone will be privileged to come into Covenant relationship with God, by accepting the terms which the Mediator will hold forth during the Millennial reign.

R5342:6; CR485:5

It will require the one thousand years to "sprinkle" mankind. R5421:5, 5000:2; CR328:1, 485:5

Effecting the work of reconciling the world to himself. CR328:1

After The Christ, Head and Body, is complete. R5342:6

The sprinkling with the blood represents justification. R5421:5

Hebrews 9:20

The blood -- Symbolizes the value of a life that was laid down. Q189:4

Evidence of the death of that which ratifies. R788:4

Of the testament -- Of the Covenant. R282:5

The antitypical bullock and goat will both together seal the New Covenant. R4335:4, 4322:1

Enjoined unto you -- By which you and God are joined in covenant. R2121:2

Enjoined on you. (Diaglott) R788:4

Hebrews 9:22

Shedding of blood -- Implying a sacrificial death. E443; R2317:2, 1177:3; NS422:1

The center of the plan--the cross of Christ. R5920:1; NS422:1

Jesus gave none too great a price, but one which corresponded exactly, with the penalty, viz. man's death. R710:4; SM72:3

Even if Jesus had laid down his pre-existent life, it would have been worthless in the way of making atonement. It was a bloodless offering R1298:6*; SM73:T

Redemption under the Law could be made only by an estimated equivalent value. When sin was involved, only blood could atone, or justify. R1031:2*
A Savior from the Adamic sin and death was necessary. R381:4; NS421:1
Since the penalty is death, only by a sacrificial death can sinners be released from the death penalty. SM71:5

"The life of the flesh is in the blood: and I have given it to you upon the altar, to make an atonement for your souls. For it is the blood that maketh an atonement for the soul. (Lev. 17:11) NS845:2

Contrary to the theory of Evolution and Higher Criticism. R4060:1; NS419:1, 490:2, 715:4

False apostles merely hold up Christ as the great Exemplar and exhort their hearers to "follow in his steps." R5848:6

The Jews do not to celebrate their Day of Atonement because they have no Priest and they have no altar or propitiatory on the holy ground commanded. NS251:5, 419:5, 493:4, 717:2, 845:5

The typical sacrifice for sins occurred on the Day of Atonement every year. SM69:4

Is no remission -- No "putting away" or "justifying." R391:5
Of sins. R381:4; HG418:4; NS418:3, 845:3

At most, only typical remission through typical sin-offerings. R838:5, 1176:5, 792:4

Every sacrifice, day by day, and year by year, proved this. R1030:5*

As indicated by God's acceptance of Abel's offering. R3927:6, 2777:2

The sin which the Jews were to emblematically wash away in baptism was not original sin, but sin against their Law Covenant. R2931:3

The antitypical Priest, sacrifices, Holy and Most Holy, and the actual forgiveness of sins, take the place of the type. NS493:5

Jesus must first provide the sacrifice; then, applying it to the satisfaction of justice, he could undertake the uplifting and blessing of all mankind. SM71:T

"The wages of sin is death." (Rom. 6:23) "The soul that sinneth it shall die." (Ezek. 18:4, 20) NS715:6

The Bible alone explains the origin of sin and also our hope of relief through the Savior. NS493:6, 714:1

Growing unbelief in the atonement for sin is the result of the rejection of the Word of God, the eternal torment doctrine and the Evolution theory. NS419:1, 715:3

Patterns of things -- The sacrifices of the Law were only types. R5162:3, 4511:6; HG418:4; NS365:4

The bulls and goats slain during the Jewish time were only figures and types of the better sacrifices. R4426:2, 4807:6, 4681:1, 4545:6, 4512:3, 147:2; NS252:4, 717:1

Even in its time features--the parallel length of Jewish and Gospel ages. B209

On the typical atonement day the typical sacrifices were offered. R5173:5, 5027:3

Purified -- Cleansed. NS252:4

Heavenly -- Spiritual. R294:5

Higher and grander things. NS252:4, 424:5

Better sacrifices -- The sacrifices (plural) of Jesus and the Church.

R4366:6, 5776:3, 5071:3, 5027:3, 4808:1, 4681:1, 4624:1, 4537:5, 4398:5, 4371:4, 3318:6, 1714:6, 1585:4; Q611:4

The justified humanity of the High Priest and the underpriesthood. R4709:2

Two offerings; the bullock (Jesus), and the goat (the members of his body.) R4354:1, 5173:5; PT389:2*

Typified by the sacrifices of bulls and goats. R4398:5, 4544:2, 4512:3, 1714:6

Better services, on the higher plane. R4868:1; Q692:7

Of this Gospel age. R5292:3, 5173:5, 4555:4; NS421:5

As a basis for forgiveness of sins and restitution. R4555:4, 5334:1, 5299:4

This anti-typical Day of Atonement. R4555:4, 5053:3, 4512:3; OV11:3, 106:5

Will be fully efficacious, and need no repetition. R4331:2, 5119:4, 4537:5; B208

Which actually and forever cancel the sins of the whole world. B208

Made on behalf of the whole world. T26; R4556:1, 4331:1

The basis of mediation on the part of the better Mediator. R5292:3, 5928:1

The Church's share in the "better sacrifices," represented in the Lord's goat sin-offering, is of grace and not of merit. R4475:5

With the completion of the "better sacrifices" the Atonement will be complete and the sentence will be removed from mankind. R3387:4

Instead of going back to or holding on to the Law Covenant, they should rather be grasping, looking forward to the antitypes, and grasping their share in the "better sacrifices." R4512:3

All that the house of Israel had and did was typical, and was to be superseded by others. R518:3*

Hebrews 9:24

For Christ -- Contrasting the work of Christ in the true Tabernacle or Holies with the work of the typical High Priest of the Aaronic order.

R2822:4; NS424:3

It took all the merit or ransom-price to make atonement for our sins--because it was so applied. R4519:1, 4528:2

Not for the world. R3918:2, 5873:5, 5830:3, 5093:1, 4354:2; CR367:4; NS359:3; OV407:6; Q388; SM665:T

He will not make application of his ransom-merit on behalf of the world until the end of this age, until he shall have finished the use of it on behalf of the Church. R4832:2

In being raised from the water in his baptism, Jesus represented the antitypical High Priest, who thenceforth went into the holiest, there to appear in the presence of God for us. HG262:1

Hebrews 9:25

Offer himself often -- We should not expect him to do this every year, as it was done in the type. R4512:6

It is not necessary that Christ should repeat his sacrifice every year, because his is the antitypical one and prevails everlastingly. R2822:4
As does the Church of Rome, in direct conflict with this Scripture, in its sacrifice of the Mass, repeated not only yearly, but daily. R2822:5, 3146:2; CR161:3

As the high priest -- We must not think that Christ's sacrifice could avail us only in conjunction with the Jewish institutions as additional thereto. R4512:3

Every year -- The earthly Priests once every year, on the Day of Atonement, went into the typical presence of God, into the Most Holy, appearing before the Shekinah glory. R2822:4

The typical offerings were merely types, and could never cancel sin, but covered it for a year. R2822:4; SM72:2, 138:2; NS424:5, 717:3

Often have suffered -- If Christ's sacrifice had been no better it would mean repeated sufferings. R2822:4, 4512:3

Since the foundation -- Implying that animal sacrifices would have been necessary from the foundation of the world. R4512:3

Once -- All the facts agree that his sacrifice was once and forever because it was a complete, perfect sacrifice, which the divine Law demanded. R2822:5

End -- Greek, suntelia. R223:1*

World -- Greek, aion, age. HG55:1, 60:3; R223:1*, 4512:3

The end of the Jewish world came at the first advent of Christ. HG55:1, 475:3

He appeared -- Jesus gave a pure unspotted life for the world. His leaving the heavenly courts was not the sacrifice. Since he appeared to make the sacrifice, it must be made after he had appeared and was not the act of appearing. R44:5

The real merit of his sacrificed life. It needed not to be repeated ever, because it fully met the requirements of justice. NS424:6

To put away sin -- The cause of our condemnation to death. R94:1

The sin of the world is the sin of Adam. R77:6*

Our sin. R876:5

Sacrifice of himself -- The true sacrifice having come, Jehovah could no longer recognize other offerings as sacrifices, nor any necessity for them. B68

And not by precept and example of his life. R464:1, 641:6

"The Lamb of God which taketh away the sin of the world." (John 1:29)

R528:1, 685:4. 93:6

Hebrews 9:27

And -- It is unreasonable to suppose that the Apostle has suddenly dropped his topic respecting Christ as the antitypical High Priest, and that he refers to mankind in general, out of all relationship to his subject. R2822:6; T88; Q386:3, 717:4; NS424:3

A lesson in type and antitype--comparing the work of the Jewish priests every year with the work of Christ. Q385:7; R5730:6, 528:4

We have just seen how the Jewish Priests, and their service in the earthly holy places, typified Christ Jesus and his service in the heavenly holies--now notice that: R2823:1

As it is appointed -- There is no reference here to the death of mankind, but merely to the Priests offering their sacrifice. R5731:2;

Q386:3

It is not true that God appointed man to die and after that the judgment. Adam was appointed to life and while thus appointed he had his judgment or trial. Death is the following, not preceding, penalty. R2822:6

The redeemed are appointed to life if they will obey the great Law-giver; they are not "appointed" to die. R2823:1

Unto men -- Men-priests. Q386:3; R5731:2, 4512:3, 2823:1, 528:5

The various High Priests of Israel. R147:2, 2823:1, 528:2,4,5; Q717:4; NS425:2

Aaron and his successors, who were merely types of the High Priest of the new creation. T87; R147:2

Once to die -- Typically, in passing under the veil. Q386:3; R5731:2, 528:4

Typically, as represented in the animal slain. T87; R4512:3, 2823:1, 528:4, 147:2; Q386:3, 717:4; NS424:4

Representatively in the bullock. After this he could go into the Holy and Most Holy. Q717:4; R528:4, 147:2

When the Priest laid his hands upon the bullock, killed it, and took its blood into the Holy and Most Holy, it illustrated how Christ, a begotten new creature, presented his human life as a ransom price to justice.

NS424:4

But after this -- Following, as a result of those sacrifices. T87

It remained for the High Priest to take the blood into the Holy Place and see whether it would be accepted. R147:2

The judgment -- Greek, krisis. HG40:6, 41:3

Or decision. R5731:2; Q386:3; NS425:2

Of God, approving or disapproving of the sacrifice. T87; R2823:1, 528:4, 147:2

Respecting their worthiness or unworthiness upon attempting to enter the Most Holy. NS425:2

Passing in beyond the second veil into the presence of the Shekinah glory to offer the blood of sacrifice and to receive divine judgment in the matter. R2823:1, 528:5

Each time a Priest went into the Most Holy on the Atonement Day he risked his life; for if his sacrifice had been imperfect he would have died as he passed the second veil. T87; Q386:2; NS425:1

If everything had been properly done by the Priest he would live, and be judged worthy to be the Priest for the people, and to go forth again as the bearer of divine favor. R2823:1

They were tested in the Holy before they entered the Most Holy. R4512:3

If the High Priest had not done perfectly, according to the Lord's requirements, he died. R5731:2, 2823:2, 528:4; Q386:2

Our great High Priest, Christ Jesus, passed under the antitypical second veil when he died at Calvary; and had his sacrifice been in any manner imperfect he would never have been raised out of death. T88; Q386:1

Each member of the Church must pass this "judgment"--be "faithful unto death." T89 Since it requires all of this age to determine who shall constitute the elect judges of the world, it must be manifest that the world's judgment or trial-day cannot come until after the Church's trial is completed. NS423:2

This is true only of mankind in general. The Gospel Church is an exception. Those who accept Christ here, have their trial, or judgment, in this life. HG40:6

Contrary to the eternal torment theory, the Scriptures show that the Millennial day is to be the world's period of trial, of judgment. NS423:6

So -- In like manner. R2823:4

Christ -- Of whom the men-priests were but types and shadows. R528:5
The two sacrifices on the Day of Atonement were really one, because the second was based upon the first. The first represented the Head, and the second the Body. R4512:4

Once -- Never will it be repeated. T87

He must have been a perfect man when able to do what no imperfect man had done or could do. R776:2

Though the typical priests offered and went into the Holy Place every year, Christ as the antitype needed only to go in once. R147:2

Christ's sacrifice was that of his own life, while that of these typical men was the blood of others. R147:2

He not only consecrated at Jordan, but during the 3-1/2 years of his ministry he carried out that offering or sacrifice and finished it at Calvary. NS425:2; SM74:T

The ground of original protest against Romanists was respecting the sacrifice of Christ. R1775:6, 2822:6

Offered -- Died really. R528:5, 2823:4

The sins of many -- Of every man. T87

The whole world. R4512:4

We have evidence, in the giving of the holy Spirit at Pentecost, that his sacrifice was acceptable to the Lord, and that he liveth, and that divine judgment has been rendered, accepting his sacrifice. R2823:4; T88

His resurrection on the third day on the other side of the veil, a spirit being, was evidence that his work of sacrifice had been thoroughly done, that it was acceptable to the Father. NS425:2

And unto them -- And to no others. T85; HG60:3

That look for him -- In the time of trouble, and subsequently, the whole world will begin to look for the Deliverer. As mankind get their eyes open to their need of salvation, they will be looking for deliverance by The Christ in glory. R5655:6; CR164:2; Q637:3; NS426:3

The first seeing will be when the whole world will see the Lord from the standpoint of one who is displeased with the present arrangement, and is about to bring on civilization a certain chastisement. CR164:2

The waiting people--the groaning creation waiting "for the manifestation of the sons of God" in the glory of the Kingdom. (Rom. 8:19, 22) R4512:5, 147:6; T89

The world will look as we "look unto Jesus" and see him more clearly each day. CR164:5

His appearing will be in power and great glory, yet only to be recognized by Israel and the world as they shall look for and seek for his Kingdom. R4512:5; NS425:3

They shall look unto him whom they pierced. The Jews will be the first that will look unto him, then the whole world as they begin to see the blessings of the New Covenant coming to the Jew. CR164:2

With the eyes of our understanding: "We look not at the things which are seen, but at the things which are not seen." (2 Cor. 4:18) T85

The Little Flock, the Great Company, Israel, and finally, all nations. R148:1,2,4,5

The Church will know of his second appearance before he will be revealed to the world. R5655:3; Q637:1

At the second advent "unto them that have been watching." NS425:5

The truly consecrated of the Lord's people will be the earliest to recognize the manifestations of his glorious reign begun. NS426:1 the Lord's requirements, he died. R5731:2, 2823:2, 528:4; Q386:2

Shall he appear -- Be revealed. T86

Greek, optomai, rendered shall see in Rev. 1:7, signifying attend and recognize. R140:3*

After the sacrificing is all finished and the Church glorified, he comes forth the second time unto salvation, saving and blessing all the people. R5655:6, 3709:5; T88; Q637:3; HG342:3

The sufferings of Christ have continued for 1800 years, and the sufferings of the Body must be complete before the glory should follow. CR161:3, 162:6; SM75:1, 664:1

He has not yet appeared for the blessing of the world. R5731:2; Q386:4, 637:2

The next thing to be expected, is Christ finishing the sprinkling of the blood the second time, and then coming out, as typed in the High Priest clothed "in garments of glory and beauty" representative of his elements in glory and power. R4512:4, 3709:5, 2821:6; T84

"When he shall appear we shall also appear with him in glory." (Col. 3:4) R147:3, 5655:6, 4512:5; Q637:3

Wholly different from his coming, or parousia, during the harvest time of the Church. R4512:5

The second time -- After the second presentation--with the blood of the goat. R5655:6, 4322:1; Q637:2

Head and Body complete, in glory. R147:3,5, 5655:3; Q637:2; CR161:3

When Israel will recognize their Messiah. R1747:5

To make good his exceeding great and precious spiritual promises and blessings upon the Church, and to grant the promised restitution blessings to the world. R2823:4

The coming out of the earthly Priest from the Most Holy represented the second coming of Christ, to bless all the families of the earth, encouraging, helping, uplifting them, back into fellowship with God. NS424:3, 493:3

We are compelled to believe that Christ left the Holy Place on the 10th day of the seventh month, occurring on October 22, 1874. HG61:2

The only place in the Bible where the word second occurs in connection with Christ's coming. R59:6*

Without sin -- Without a sin-offering. R1747:5

Not as a sin-offering, nor as a sacrificing Priest, but in the glory and majesty of his exalted office symbolized by the robes of glory and beauty, worn by the Aaronic High Priests. R2823:4, 5731:2, 4512:4; Q637:2

Not to repeat any of the offerings of the Gospel age, not as a sin-offering. R5655:3, 147:5; Q386:4, 637:1

Not to offer a sacrifice--for the sacrificing will all be finished.

R5655:6; Q637:2

Without contamination from those sins borne for sinners. T84, 87

This does not signify that at his first appearing he had sinned, for "in him was no sin." It was to take the place of the sinner, to suffer in the sinner's stead. NS425:3

Unto salvation -- To bless the people. R5655:6; Q637:2; OV223:1

To give the everlasting life to all who desire it upon God's conditions of faith and obedience. T87

At the end of the Gospel age as King, Prophet, and Judge. R5057:2, 4512:4, 4331:1, 2051:2

To accomplish for mankind the deliverance from sin, sickness, pain, sorrow and death. R2823:4; T84

To inaugurate the New Covenant, and as its Mediator, to set up its Kingdom for the overthrow of sin and death and the establishment of righteousness and life. R4512:4

The High Priest in the type did not return into the Most Holy again, but lifted up his hands and blessed the people. R5655:6; Q637:3

The work of Christ during the thousand years--uplifting mankind and giving them the benefit of the atonement sacrifice. R5656:1; Q637:3

Aaron, having represented his change to a new nature by passing beyond the veil into the Most Holy, came out again and blessed all the people--representing the blessings that are to come to mankind through the new Priest after the Order of Melchizedek. SM144:1

The salvation of the elect class will be the very first item connected with the Lord's second advent; immediately followed by granting the world its opportunity of salvation. NS425:5

With those sacrifices -- Sin-offering. R4537:2

Prefiguring a work of suffering and death before the blessing would come. A79

Year by year -- Time after time on the appointed day of the year. R4546:5

The Atonement Day sacrifices, which typically cancelled the Adamic condemnation for the ensuing year. R4034:3, 5071:2, 4546:5, 4537:2

Adamic guilt was not actually cancelled, but merely temporarily covered. R4034:3, 2720:6

These repeated sacrifices did not abolish sin, but merely covered or condoned it for the year. SM138:2

They were efficacious for only a year at a time, so never really took away sin. R5162:6 4537:2

The inferior sacrifices could not take away sin, but the original sins remained. R5293:4

Make the comers -- The worshipers. R2116:5

Those coming to God under the efficacy of those sacrifices. NS421:1

Could no more than typically cleanse from sin. R4537:2

Thereunto perfect -- The actual perfection accomplished through the better sacrifices. A229; R273:6

Really and permanently acceptable to God. NS421:1

Remembrance -- Acknowledgement. R586:4

Every year -- Since they were repeated it proved that they never really took away sin, never really removed the curse. R586:4

It is not possible -- The types were insufficient. R144:6*

Really justified none. HG307:3

That the blood -- The death, sacrificed life. R1724:2, 3174:5

Of bulls and of goats -- Or angels or archangels. R3174:5; OV354:1

Neither a higher nor a lower order of beings could redeem. It required a man to redeem mankind. R280:2; SM660:1

Because bulls and goats had not sinned, but a man had sinned, therefore a man must die. CR290:5; R1724:2, 792:4; SM214:1

The death of bulls and goats could be only typical. OV307:1; R4390:2

Sacrifice and offering -- Of bulls and goats--these do not satisfy the Law as the redemption price of sinners. R4390:1

But a body -- A human body. R5064:1, 1337:1*, 611:2; B107, 155; OV279:3, 354:1

His body was specially prepared, separate and different from others of our race, all of whom were of Adamic stock. R5719:6, 5352:2, 5622:6, 4965:2, 4426:1; Q66:6

At thirty years of age, this Perfect One, having reached the perfection of manhood according to the Law consecrated. R5748:2, 1682:5, 418:2, 234:2, 164:5, 146:3

Actually, physically perfect and corresponding to the body of Adam. R4965:2, 1247:4, 776:2

That earthly, human body of flesh suffered death, and God would not again make our Lord flesh, but raised him from the dead a new creature of the divine nature. R5222:6, 1806:2

Jesus' body was a miraculous formation of the Father in the womb of Mary. R1031:1*

It was provided him miraculously and was holy, harmless, undefiled, separate from sinners. (Heb. 7:26) Jesus alone had such a body. The Church has no such body. R5720:1, 4494:6, 4427:1; Q264:4

The taking of a human body was not the sacrifice, but merely the preparation for it. R43:4*

"Took upon him the form of a servant, and was made in the likeness of men." (Phil. 2:7) R145:1*

Also, prepared the way by which the "Body of Christ" should be justified--that thus he might offer not only himself, the Head, but also the Church, his Body. R4965:2, 4390:2; Q66:7

Jesus in the flesh, represented by his followers, was still in the world long after Jesus as the Head of the Church, had ascended up on high. So, the sufferings of the Church have been his sufferings. (Acts 9:4) R5053:6, 5054:1, 5027:3

The offering of this body of Jesus has progressed for 1800 years. R5054:4, 4965:3; Q67:2

Jesus came into the world, not to be a teacher, but to be a Savior--a Redeemer. OV151:5

For thirty years his body was preparing. R418:2, 164:5

Not prepared until it had reached its maturity--thirty years, according to Jewish Law. R234:2*

Not, "a body hast thou prepared me as a ransom-price." R4965:6; Q68:2

Not a body for placing the Lord Jesus in a state of permanent humiliation before all the holy angels. R5622:6

To assume that Jesus is a fleshly being in heaven, bearing the scars to all eternity, is un-supposable. R5416:2

His affirmation, at the time of his consecration. R5421:3, 5085:2, 1041:1; NS651:3

Our Lord consecrated as soon as he was 30 years of age, the legal age at which a Priest could offer sacrifice. R4544:2, 5943:2, 4298:4

His whole being was intent upon accomplishing the will of his Father in heaven; sacrificing himself in the interest of the world. R5421:4

He presented himself as the antitype, the fulfiller, of every prophecy, and every feature of the Law applicable to him. R4969:3, 4897:4; CR95:1

Christ as a new creature offers himself, his flesh, as a sacrifice, and all his followers similarly present their bodies living sacrifices. NS599:6
As our Lord did, we present our bodies, our justified humanity, a living sacrifice. R1262:5

Jesus was baptized into death before he went into the water in the sense that he had given up his own will. R5264:2; F437; HG262:4; NS51:4; Q36:7

Being thus prepared--all Christ's precious humiliation from the spiritual to the human nature was only preparatory to the offering of the great sacrifice which was to accomplish our redemption. R1247:3

Our Lord gave everything into the Father's hands--he held nothing back. Q442:1

He did not know of all that was to come. R5421:6, 5054:2

He became the seed of Abraham when he received the begetting of the holy Spirit at Jordan. Q185:3

Greatness in humility, victory through entire self-surrender. R5421:4

The object of life. R2694:6*

Born under the Law, Jesus was obligated to keep it. R5054:1

It is written of me -- All these things written in the Book concerning our Lord were not understood by him until the due time, when the holy Spirit came to him. R5054:3

To do thy will -- To be obedient to God's will, in things great or small. CR145:3, 453:5, 171:6; R5085:3, 5164:6; Q176:5

Not merely to keep the Law. R5408:4, 5085:3, 5054:1

Not a divine command, but the divine will. R5054:3

Everything written in the book. R5054:1, 5085:3, 4641:1

He was the first one who made the covenant of sacrifice. R5690:4

Everything that was in the Father's plan--everything that typically and prophetically had been written in the holy Scriptures concerning himself. R5943:2, 5264:2; Q36:7

The special work for which he came. R146:3

In his submission of himself, he gave out his power and strength. R5085:3

Even unto death. R5408:4; PD57/69

Jesus gave up all his earthly rights. Q370:2; R234:2*; SM214:1

He presented himself a living sacrifice on man's behalf. NS651:3

He surrendered his will, and with it everything and every power he possessed. R5690:4

That he should lay down his life, finish his sacrifice, that he might ultimately give it on behalf of Adam and all his race. R5022:6; Q212:4

At Jordan our Lord gave up his human life. R5065:2, 5943:3; F437

"I delight to do thy will, O my God; yea, they law is within my heart."

Then said he -- Christ, at the time of his baptism. E426; F437;

R4571:2*, 4544:2, 4505:5, 4427:2

Typically, the time when the bullock was slain. T53 Lo, I come -- Our Lord, who was then thirty years of age, presented himself to God as a sacrifice. This was the first feature of the antitypical atonement day work, and corresponded to the sacrifice of the bullock in the type. R5163:2

To do thy will -- To die and redeem many. T53

Not the will of some sect, or cause, or self. E195

Full consecration involves every human power. R3297:1

When our Lord Jesus was at Jordan he was an overcomer. R5082:1

It is not reasonable to suppose that our Lord's obedience to the performance of the Father's will even unto death should to all eternity cost him the encumbrance of the flesh--with scars and wounds, as is claimed. R3075:2

Also see comments on verse 10:7.

He taketh away -- Set aside. T53; R5054:3

Pusheth aside. R4390:2

The first -- The typical sacrifices. T53; R5163:2, 5054:3, 4544:2, 4505:5, 4427:2, 4390:2; PT389:2*

Bulls and goats. R4390:2

The typical Covenant. R4512:5

The typical atonement matters. HG262:1

The serpent lifted up--the lamb slain--the sacrifice of the Day of Atonement. R5054:3

He may establish -- Might fulfil. T53

Bring into place. R4390:2

There he began to set aside the typical for the "better sacrifices."

R4427:2, 5163:2, 4544:2, 4427:2

Not fulfil. PT389:2*

The second -- The antitype, the real sacrifice for sin. T53; R5163:2, 4505:5, 4390:2

The antitypical Covenant. R4512:5

Himself representing the bullock of the atonement of Lev. 16. HG262:2

The type was the serpent lifted up; the antitype was himself "lifted up."

The type was the lamb slain; the antitype was himself slain. The type was the Atonement Day sacrifice, himself and the Church, the "better sacrifices." R5054:3

Hebrews 10:10

Will -- God's will. R5877:5

Purpose. PT389:2*

The same will, mind, disposition, our Lord had. R5054:3

We are sanctioned by accepting his will. R4512:6

We are sanctified -- Set apart as holy and consecrated joint-sacrificers with our Lord. R4390:4, 4512:6, 5054:4

Set apart to the great priestly, kingly, mediatorial work, with him.

R4512:6

We do not set ourselves apart. The Lord Jesus sets us apart. He imputes his merit in order that the Father may accept the sacrifice and beget us to the new nature as members of his body. R5054:4

We were not sanctified in the beginning, but "were children of wrath even as others." (Eph. 2:3) R5877:5

Through the offering -- To God, to whom the price was paid. E450

The basis whereby we might become God's sanctified people. R5877:5

When Jesus offered up himself, it was for himself--his body, those who are to be his Church, and for the household of faith. R4965:3

Of the body -- Literal body of Jesus was basis of our acceptance with God. R5054:4, 328:3*

We are accepted as members of his Body. R4512:6

The Father has provided a Body of Christ in the flesh, for sacrifice.
R4390:2

It is one sacrifice in the sense that it is all one Body of one Priest that is offered. R4965:3

Thus the antitypical Atonement Day sacrifices for sin have been in progress for eighteen hundred years. R4965:3, 5054:4

Not to be confounded with the taking of the body to be offered. R47:2*

Once -- Contrasting the typical with the antitypical Atonement Day sacrifice of the antitypical High Priest. R4965:2, 1730:4; E446; Q67:1

The typical High Priest needed once every year, repeatedly (not daily) to offer up sacrifices for his own sin and the sins of the people. R4965:2;

Q67:1

The "better sacrifices" (Heb. 9:23) of Jesus will be fully efficacious, and not need repetition. R4331:2, 4537:5

For all -- "For all" is supplied. R5054:4

"Who gave himself a ransom for all." (1 Tim. 2:6) R43:4*, 1256:4, 42:2*
For all time. R1030:5*

Daily -- Once every year, repeatedly (not daily). R4965:2

Oftentimes -- The necessity for repeating the sacrifices yearly proved that the sin was not actually cancelled but remained. R1984:3

Same sacrifices -- They were typical. R598:6

Never take away -- The Jewish Priest offered the sacrifice continually and yet never accomplished anything with it. R5054:5

Their death was not a ransom--not a corresponding price, to the death of man. R789:2

But this man -- Our Lord Jesus. E38

The glorious High Priest. R5054:5

One sacrifice -- There will be no more offerings of this kind--every one shall expiate his own sins. R527:5*

In two parts; first at Jordan, the second at Pentecost, when "He appeared in the presence of God for us." (Heb. 9:24) R5054:5, 4512:6

He will never again need to sacrifice, to die for sin. R5777:1

It needs no adding to on our part. R17:5

For ever -- For the continuance. PT389:2*

The one perfect sacrifice lasts forever. R161:1*

The flesh which Christ gave for the life of the world was never taken back. R16:6

Sat down -- Rests from any further sacrificing, knowing that full satisfaction will be effected by the work already accomplished. R4512:6

On the right hand -- In the position of chief favor. E49
Having received a higher life. R253:3, 16:6

Hebrews 10:13

Henceforth expecting -- He has been waiting for nearly two thousand years, and waits still. PT389:2*

Until his glorious Kingdom shall be inaugurated for the blessing of all the families of the earth. SM679:1

Be made his footstool -- God is not prepared to give Jesus these things until the Church is completed. R5054:6

By one offering -- Contrasting the antitypical Day of Atonement with the typical Atonement Day. R5053:3

For all that ever will come unto God by Christ--whether they come during this age or during the next age. R1590:1

Any other offering, as, for example, the sacrifice of the Mass is an abomination in the sight of God. C103; R5641:6, 3146:2, 2115:2

All the merit of all the sacrifices offered throughout this Gospel age comes directly or indirectly from the merit that was in the first great sacrifice for sins presented by our glorious Lord. NS252:6

Perfected for ever -- Made complete in his righteousness. R1658:1

Its cancellation of sins will be forever. R4034:5

By his sacrifice we are reckoned perfect, justified. NS252:6

"For both he that sanctifieth and they who are sanctified are all of one."
(Heb. 2:11) R69:3*

Through his merit there is naught against us now and nothing to hinder the sanctified ones from accepting the gracious invitation to suffer with him as his members. R4390:4

There will be no sacrificing necessary in the future for Christ or his Little Flock. NS600:3

That are sanctified -- Fully consecrated to God. R1658:1

All justified by faith, who proceed to full consecration and sanctification. R4322:2

Set apart as members of his Body. R4034:5

Their sins are completely obliterated from divine record--only held accountable for trespasses against their covenant, their vow. R4322:2

A witness -- The expression of the mind of God through his Word--the Lord is the speaker. R1456:6*

Covenant -- The New Covenant. A141; NS249:3

After those days -- After this Gospel age. NS249:3

When the time of remission of sins shall have come, there will be no more offering for sin--all sacrificing opportunities being ended. R4513:1

After Israel's "seven times" or 2520 years of their national chastisement, beginning 606 BC and ending 1914 AD. B92, 90

I will put my laws -- Gradually retrace and rewrite the divine law.

F359; R5309:5, 4570:5*, 2195:6, 1365:5, 764:1

Into their hearts -- Not take away their flesh and make them spiritual beings. But give them a heart of flesh--again as Adam's; an image of God. Sin is now written on the hearts of all humanity. R276:4

The center of the affections; the character. R789:5, 5309:4, 4613:1,4, 2060:3,5, 1244:6

This condition will correspond exactly to the conditions previous to the fall. R1717:5

And in their minds -- In their very thoughts and words. CR299:5; OV130:4

And their sins -- Guarantees that none shall die the second death except the wilfully, intelligently disobedient. R3770:6, 5164:2, 1654:1

Will apply not only to natural Israel, but all the families of the earth. NS249:3

Remember no more -- In a condemnatory sense. R4659:5

Also see comments on Heb. 8:12.

Hebrews 10:18

Remission of these -- The remission of sins has not yet come for Israel and the world, because the offering for sins is not completed. R4390:5

No more offering -- Christ is still offering up himself. The great Atonement Day is not yet closed, though nearly so. R4390:5

When an acceptable sacrifice has been offered to God for sins, the transaction is a closed one, and the sacrifice needs no repetition. R4322:1

Brethren -- Prospective underpriests. R4513:1

Only brethren related to the great High Priest have access. F681

Boldness -- Courage, confidence, privilege. R2670:3, 4513:1, 4390:5
Faith in God. R5380:2

We approach "unto the throne of grace." (Heb. 4:16) R469:4

Into the holiest -- The Most Holy. R1988:6; NS560:4

In the type, the High Priest alone, on the Day of Atonement, had the privilege to enter the holiest. R4390:5

The Church hopes to ultimately enter into the Most Holy as members of the antitypical High Priest. R4390:5

The blood of Jesus -- Faith in which can alone give access to the Father. R2252:3; SM139:1

The basis for forgiveness, opening up the way to reconciliation, and transferring us from the domain of sentenced culprits back to sonship in the family of God. R1230:3, 1299:1*

Intercourse with the Father can be had by us only in the name and merit of his Son our Redeemer. R1581:1

"No man cometh unto the Father but by me." (John 14:6) "Whatsoever ye shall ask of the Father in my name he will give it you." (John 16:23)

R2252:3

Hebrews 10:20

New and living way -- Of return to God's family. D217

To life--illustrated by the "Well" of the Great Pyramid. C337

A way to everlasting life. R5869:6, 5640:6

A new way of life. F681; T21

The narrow way to life. R447:5*, 659:5*

His new way of life--first presented to the Jews, then to Gentiles.

R5407:2,4

There were no Christian promises until after Jesus' death. R5614:3

By which consecrated believers may go beyond the human nature and be changed to a higher nature--the spiritual. A207; R279:6

Consecrated for us -- The Royal Priesthood. A207

Through the veil -- The veil between the spiritually-minded nature and the perfect spiritual nature beyond the flesh. T21; HG34:3

The rending of the veil between the Holy and the Most Holy would seem to teach symbolically that a way into the Holy of Holies had been opened.

His flesh -- His sacrifice. R5407:2

As represented in Moses. (Exod. 34:34) HG34:3

Greek, sarx, does not mean sinful; it means flesh, simply and only. R1223:2

Hebrews 10:21

An high priest -- The Apostle is drawing attention especially to those familiar with the Jewish arrangements of that day, that the Aaronic priesthood was only a typical one, designed for a time to illustrate greater things. R5424:1

The great antitypical Priest was to be not only a sacrificing, but also a reigning Priest. R5776:6

The antitypical High Priest--Jesus the Head and the Church his Body.
R4390:5, 5424:2

Over -- Christ as the Head of the new order of priesthood. He has entered into the true Most Holy. R5424:2

We may by faith realize ourselves as underpriests, members of the High Priest's body, joint-sacrificers with him and under his ministrations.
R4513:1

The house of God -- The antitypical Priests and Levites. R4585:2
The Church, the Royal Priesthood. NS560:4 To take the place of the house of Aaron. R5424:2

Hebrews 10:22

Let us -- Let us therefore. R3083:4

Let us have courage to draw near. R2671:1

As underpriests of this order. R5424:2

The house of God class, who are privileged to come to God in prayer.
R5424:5

The house of sons. R5424:5

This invitation is not addressed to sinners, but to those who have already believed unto justification. R2670:3

Those born in a measure of justification, have had a measure of fellowship with God always, as children of believers, and are in a favorable condition to be drawn of God. SM429:T

Draw near -- To God. R2670:3, 94:4

Advance from the Court condition of justification into the Holy or heavenly, the spirit-begotten condition, reached through consecration.
R2670:6

Enter into the real Holy and Most Holy. R5424:2, 2671:6, 2670:6

Fully enter in with him; become full participators in this work--in everything that God has for us to do. R5424:3

Loyally press forward unto the end of the way, until we shall be joined to our great High Priest, and enter into his rest. R5424:3

The full attainment of our privilege of drawing near to God will not be reached until we shall have passed the second veil through death. R2671:1

"Come boldly unto the throne of heavenly grace." (Heb. 4:16) R2024:4

To do so we must seek to have a conscience void of offense toward God and man. (Acts 24:16) R5425:2, 2671:2

With a true heart -- Honesty of heart. R2021:3, 4896:1

Not double-minded. R5424:6

The desire to draw nearer and nearer to God must be in our hearts; else we shall fail to go on and attain our privileges in Christ. R5425:1, 2671:1

If our hearts are loyal, God, by myriad agencies, is able and willing to keep our poor heads. R4535:6

Loyal to the covenant into which we have entered with God. Realizing how wonderful are our blessings, how precious is the provision of the covering of our Savior's merit. R5424:3,6

In full assurance -- With holy boldness. R5424:6

Confidence. (Syriac) R2021:3

Wide, ample. R564:4

Which none can have who lack the witness of the spirit to their adoption into God's family. E226

On account of God's grace bestowed upon us through Jesus our Lord. R2670:6

Recognizing that their sins and iniquities have been fully covered, and that they themselves have been fully accepted of the Father. E681

"As a little child" (Luke 18:17) would trust its earthly parent. R5425:1

How few have this. R5425:2

Cannot be attained in a day. It requires quite a degree of information. R5424:6

That faith, which, if retained, will bring us off "more than conquerors," (Rom. 8:37) and make us at last members in full of the Royal

Priesthood--in glory. R5424:6

That they may attain all the glorious things to which God has invited them. R5424:6

This language implies that there may properly be a diffidence on our part in respect to this privilege. We might properly hesitate to expect to have communion, fellowship, close approach to the great Creator. R2670:6

The believer may, up to the time of the completion of the elect number, exercise this faith that his sacrifice will be accepted of the Father.

R5284:3

Each one who realizes a lack in this direction should earnestly pray, "Lord, increase our faith," (Luke 17:5) and then cultivate such faith.

R5425:4

Of faith -- An undoubting faith. R2021:3, 4896:1

In the merits of Christ sacrifice. R2671:3

That our sins are forgiven. R94:4, 5425:5

Based on the unchangeable Word of God. E230

Faith in God who has made us such gracious arrangements and promises. R2671:1

Confidence in the Bible is the very basis of all faith. CR416:2

The Christian who has not the shield of faith, and a large one, is continually at a disadvantage before the Adversary and all the hosts of evil. R5425:4

Without this, the child of God cannot come close to him. R5425:1

All the steps of God's true people are steps of faith, or realization of his care. R5424:6

Having no doubt whatever that God's promises are true and for us. R5424:3

Dependent upon certain conditions; obedience to our covenant; entire heart-loyalty, not double-minded. R5424:6 Not attained in a day. It requires quite a degree of information, in God's Word, his promises and providences over us. R5424:6

He who has begun a good work in us is both able and willing to complete it. (Phil. 1:6) R2642:1

Hearts sprinkled -- Through the application of the blood. R2021:6, 4896:4, 2671:3,6, 2021:3

A will that has been justified not merely through faith but also through the application of the blood, symbol of the merit of the ransom. R2021:3
Get the heart (mind) started toward purity, and the literal water will be used as well as the symbolical, and the outward man will soon be clean. R2022:3

Applied to the use of tobacco or other weaknesses to be overcome. R2022:6

An evil conscience -- A consciousness of evil; present condemnation. F463; R5425:1

A consciousness of sin. R94:4

A clean conscience. R2021:6, 4896:4

Justification. NS561:4

If our conscience is condemned by our own consciences it would also be condemned by God. R2671:2

From present condemnation--realizing our sins propitiated through Christ's blood, and that we now have forgiveness of sins. NS75:3

Not only that we are to avoid sin, but that we shall apply, by faith, the merit of the blood of Christ, the blood of sprinkling, the blood of consecration. and realize our acceptance is only in the Beloved One. R2671:3

R2671:3

Our bodies washed -- Our moral characters. R2671:4

Sprinkled. R2670:3

Purified. R2021:6

Being washed. (Syriac) R2021:3

Figuratively represents the continued process of "cleansing ourselves from all filthiness of the flesh and of the spirit, perfecting holiness in the reverence of the Lord." (2 Cor. 7:1) R2671:3, 2022:1

By our earnest efforts to put away from our flesh, as we have already put away from our hearts, all things defiling and displeasing in the Lord's sight. R2671:3

The outward man in process of cleansing. R2021:6, 4896:4, 2671:4

Our fleshly nature cleansed. R94:4

The putting away of the filth of the flesh. NS561:4

Through obedience in the application in daily life of the promises, precepts, warnings and illustrations of Scripture. R2021:6

In addition to prayer, a physical bath and occasional fasting as a sign to God of your earnestness of heart--as a proof to yourself, as well as to God, that your prayer is not merely a momentary fancy. R2022:6

"That he might sanctify and cleanse it with the washing of water by the Word." (Eph. 5:26) E445; R2671:3

With pure water -- The Word of truth and grace. R2021:6, 4896:4, 2671:5
Divine truth, not the muddy and polluted teachings of the Adversary.
R2671:4

"He that hath this hope in him purifieth himself even as he (who called him) is pure." (1 John 3:3) R2671:4

Brought into harmony by and with the truth. R94:4

Hold fast -- Be steadfast. R5497:4

The Apostle was writing to some in the early church who had given evidence of wavering, who were failing properly to hold on. R5698:1

Unless we do hold fast to our faith we shall lose everything. R5698:2

We should scrutinize our hearts day by day to make sure we are still loyal to the Lord. R5698:5

Tests of our loyalty will continually come. There will be temptations to become discouraged. Ours is a marvellous calling, and only heroic souls, with the Master's spirit, are wanted to fill the places of the elect class. R5497:3

Hold the glorious truth not only in the letter, but also in the spirit; in the love of it. R5497:6

The profession -- The Lord will not consider that we have a proper faith or hope unless we confess it. We confess the Lord with our mouth. R5497:2

As footstep followers of the great High Priest, underpriests. NS561:4, 560:4

Our faith -- The firmness of faith in the child of God, and the firmness with which he holds the profession of his faith, has much to do with his consistency in Christian life. R5698:1

Our faith has a strong and sure foundation upon which to rest; "faith can surely trust him, come what may." R5497:2

Let us not grieve the holy Spirit of God which is within us. The Lord gives us a solid basis for our hope. R5497:4

"Without faith it is impossible to please God." (Heb. 11:6) R5698:2

Without wavering -- Firm unto the end. R5497:4

Without harboring doubts and fears. R5698:4

While the early church had been faithful at one time, they apparently had become lukewarm. R5698:1, 5332:2

If we hesitate and waver we are either losing our faith or losing the spirit of obedience and love. R5698:5

He is faithful -- The responsibility rests with us--the Lord will do his part. CR470:6

If there be failure or unfaithfulness, it will be on our part. R1698:5

This assurance is the basis of our faith in our ultimate triumph. R5698:4

We have proven his gracious promises in times of stress and danger and we know he will not fail us. R5497:5, 5698:4

"Faithful is he that calleth you, who also will do it." (1 Thess. 5:24)

R4818:6

That promised -- He will not disregard his promises. R5698:5

A hope backed by all his sure promises and by God's oath. R5497:4

Hebrews 10:24

Let us -- The Church; the consecrated new creatures in Christ Jesus.

R4076:3

Consider one another -- Consider what would be helps or hindrances, encouragements or stumbling blocks. R4076:6

Consider one another's sacrifice; each other's imperfections, peculiarities or good qualities. R3313:6

We are not to be reckless of each other's interests; whether in personal contact, or by mail. R4076:6

Render all possible assistance to every fellows-pilgrim in the narrow way NS561:4

What a burning and shining light every Christian would be if his every act were considered and shaped for the benefit of those with whom he comes in contact! R4076:6

Provoke -- To incite, inspire, encourage. R3313:5, 5125:2, 4076:3

Arouse, incite or stimulate. R4076:1, 5556:4

To exert an influence favorable to righteousness. R5603:1, 4076:4

To call forth. R5978:5, 5603:1

In the reverse direction of the world. F308

Love -- Love for the Lord and each other. F309

To goodness of thought and word and act, in harmony with the heavenly wisdom which is guiding their own course. R4076:5

The best way to control pride is to practice generosity--provoke others to love. R5125:5 "Edifying one another." (1 Thess. 5:11) F311

Ascertaining how we can be most helpful to each other in the narrow way, most edifying, strengthening, inspiring. R3313:6

Love is patient and seeks to find extenuating circumstances. R5125:2

Study carefully each other's dispositions with a view to avoiding the saying or doing of things which would unnecessarily wound, stir up anger, etc. F308

Good works -- Of every kind that would glorify our Father, bless the brotherhood, and would do good unto all men as we have opportunity. F309

Good conduct. F308

And happy looks. R4078:4

Not to anger, hatred and evil works. R4008:2, 4076:6

Some have not caught the spirit of the truth on this subject. R5413:1

Hebrews 10:25

Not forsaking -- In verses 25-31 Paul faithfully warned the Church, and pointed out in language that cannot be mistaken by unbiased minds, the blessing and cursing, life and death, set before us. R402:1*

Keeping up of attendance at meetings with some regularity. R5937:1*

Be more diligent. R4077:1

None of us is so strong in the new nature that he can disregard the fellowship of kindred minds. R4077:1; F310 Of Christ it was said, "As his custom was, he went into the synagogue on the Sabbath Day." (Luke 4:16) R2579:2

The assembling -- We are more or less like coals of fire, which, if separated, will tend to cool rapidly, but which, if brought together, will tend to increase in fervency the whole mass. R4077:1

Meet for the purpose of building up yourselves in your most holy faith. (Jude 20) R317:4, 4830:3, 850:3,6, 836:1; F311; SM178:1; Q511:T, 844:2

Our Lord encouraged his people to seek each other's fellowship for companionship in the study of his Word, and in prayer, pronouncing special blessings upon the meeting, even if only two or three. R4077:1, 3965:6, 2527:5, 1575:4; F310; Q810:1

In order to maintain your light and let it shine. R5129:6, 836:5

This may be in a country road, in the home circle, or in the more general gatherings of the Lord's people for worship, prayer, and study of the truth. R2801:6, 597:2*, 316:3*

In Christian fellowship and communion around the table of the Lord--to strengthen the bonds of love and fellowship. R1890:1; F389, 310

But don't let any undue stiffness or formality hinder you or others from enjoying the liberty wherewith Christ has made you free. (Gal. 5:1) R836:1

If we do not care to go to meetings, we may know that we are not in good spiritual health. R5130:1; F310

Where the assembling is not possible, the Lord makes up for the lack in some other way. R5129:6, 4077:1

If not possible--what blessed communion and interchange of thought the saints may have through the mails and press. R850:6, 4077:2, 3626:4, 2742:3, 2406:3

We do well to attend conventions according to our circumstances. NS387:4

"They that feared the Lord spake often one to another." (Mal. 3:16)

Not an assemblage of unbelievers, where endeavors are made constantly to break the hearts of sinners. F312

Of ourselves -- With those of like precious faith, assisting one another to "put on the whole armor of God." (Eph. 6:11) R4077:4

Not a meeting in which the world, the flesh, and the devil will commingle, but a meeting of those who are justified and consecrated and who love the Lord. R2406:3

The necessity for this is that sin on the part of those who have come into the precious relationship of spirit-begotten children of God (Verse 26) is a serious matter. SM178:1

Together -- For instruction in prophecy and moral doctrine; for Christian development; for questions; for expression of divergent views; for devotion. F314

For mutual edification, encouragement and strengthening. R597:2*, 316:2*; F311

For mutual advancement in spiritual things. F309

There, Jacob's ladder touches the earth and the place becomes, as Jacob said, "The gate of heaven." (Gen. 28:17) R3965:5

This is one of the great aids to overcoming the world and securing a place in the Kingdom. F729

Where our heart is where our sympathies and love are, there will we delight to be. F389

No husband or wife has a right to exercise such tyranny over a home as to make this impossible. F590

"Where two or three of you are met in my name, there am I in your midst." (Matt. 18:20) F309; R4077:1, 3965:6, 3014:3, 2406:2

In so doing it is a matter of special importance that we carefully consider what the Scriptures present as profitable for the various companies. "Let all things be done decently and in order." (1 Cor. 4:40) R1890:2, 1889:3, 836:2; Q844:2

Some -- Of the Lord's people. R4076:6

Diseased with a kind of spiritual pride and self-sufficiency, which leads to saying, I need not to go to the common school of Christ, I will take private lessons from the Lord at home. F310

So much the more -- The Lord foresaw these perilous times, and knew how much more than ever we should need each other's sympathy, encouragement and help. R850:3

Implying more need for the observance of this instruction. The great Millennial day has brought with it new activities in mind and body, a greater pressure of business and rush to keep abreast of the times.

R4077:2 The nearer we come to the great Day of the Lord, the more precious are our opportunities for Christian fellowship. R4677:3

We need a counteracting influence to off-set the increasing influence of the world and its affairs upon us, and this is to be sought by communing with the Lord's people. R4077:3, 2243:2; F309

As ye see the day -- The day of the gathering of the Lord's jewels. R2406:2, 4078:4

The Millennial Day--beginning with a day of trouble. R3083:4, 4077:2; NS470:3

The glorious day of Messiah's Kingdom. R5406:4

The Day of the Lord. R4677:3

The end of the Gospel day having come, another day (Heb. 4:8) is approaching. R342:5*

Approaching -- Drawing on. R4077:4; NS470:3

The shadows of night and darkness, ignorance and superstition passing away. R5406:4

If we -- The consecrated Church. R1698:2; CR186:4; SM558:2

Who have received all the benefits of Christ's ransom. R261:1; SM775:T

Who have enjoyed the privileges of consecrated believers. R1962:2, 383:1

Who now are on trial. SM775:T; R5233:6; SM775:T

Not the world. R5093:4; SM775:T

Sin wilfully -- Full, complete sin--the sin upon which the full penalty is justly and properly to be recompensed. R4077:5

The sin unto death--wilfulness in the matter would seal our case, however small the transgression. CR186:4

Wilfully depart from the faith which justified us. F167

Wilfully reject him and his work. A321; R2051:6

Intentionally committed, under full light and ability to the contrary.

R1454:2, 723:3

By open sin or a denial of the value of the "blood of the covenant." R724:6

Open and deliberate apostasy. R570:5, 1962:2, 1336:4*, 383:4, 44:1

Open rebellion. R772:4

There could be no repentance for these. R5452:5

Typified by any of the firstborn among the Jews on the night of the Passover who did not remain under the blood. R3995:5

Knowingly gone out from under the blood of sprinkling. R2273:2, 1291:3

With full intent, and whose sin is mortal. These do not feel penitent, but afterward approve their sin, and boast of it, generally as great light and liberty. R1985:6

Such will probably either deny the precious blood of atonement, or else go into gross immoralities; we should not eat with such persons, receive them into our houses, bid them God speed, nor pray for them. F302

Those in the church nominal who have received clear light and knowledge respecting the divine plan, and who have either sinned wilfully by turning to a life of intentional sin, or who have repudiated the blood. R2698:1

The Apostle is not speaking of sins of ignorance nor of accidental missteps by being overtaken in a fault. R4077:4

Not merely by being overcome of the weaknesses of the flesh, temporarily.

R3202:1, 1483:1, 383:1, 260:6; F368; NS86:2

If a sin is partially wilful, and confessed, it is not a sin unto death, but the measure of wilfulness would receive stripes. R1483:1, 3502:6;

Q653:1

Very few of the Lord's people reach this point of full, complete, deliberate, intentional sin. In nearly all sin there is room for a measure of divine forgiveness, proportionate to the willingness or weakness.

R4272:4, 725:4, 131:3, 44:1

The unpardonable sin. R131:3, 140:1, 44:1, 16:4; HG14:6

Full knowledge. R891:6, 1449:4*

Full knowledge of the divine will. R1736:5, 1449:4*; A321

And ability to live up to it. R1213:5*, 1234:4, 1149:4*

Such favors and knowledge brings responsibility and makes the results momentous for life or death everlasting. NS86:1, 420:1

Of the truth -- As it is in Jesus. R5933:3

Favored of God in Christ to the extent of wisdom, justification and sanctification. F167

The special light of this harvest time. C204

The knowledge of God's grace in Christ, to which God wills that all shall some time come. E474; Q638:3

All the families of the earth shall be awakened and brought to full clear knowledge of the truth before being sentenced as "wicked." R1106:4,6

There remaineth -- No more part for us in the sacrifice. R3083:4, 2707:1

For those who do not remain in the household of faith. R5641:2

No more sacrifice -- No longer a share in the sacrifice of Christ.

R5093:4, 2732:4, 2698:1, 383:1

No more a sacrifice. R260:6

The imputation of Christ's merit will not be repeated to any. R4986:4

The atonement for Adamic sin will not cover wilful sins against light and knowledge. E474; R2698:1, 2658:2, 1454:2, 514:5; F167

His ransom does not cover our wilful or determined sin. R383:1

Hebrews 10:27

Fearful looking for -- Looking forward to. R3995:6

Refers to the people of God who realize the fearfulness of the position of those who despise God's favor. R1985:3

Those whose justification had been vitalized, but they had turned back to sin. R4901:2

The Apostle does not say whether those individuals themselves would realize their mistake and feel their alienation from God. Q383:4

Of judgment -- Retribution. E474

Sentence. F167; NS833:3

They cannot be renewed unto repentance. Their hearts have become too hardened. R5452:5, 4079:1

Inasmuch as they are in heart-sympathy with sin, and not in opposition to it. R4077:6, 3260:3

The Lord's decision on these exceptional cases would not need to wait for the "harvest" of this age. R2430:4

Fierly indignation -- To go out from under the blood of Jesus, the penalty would be second death--hopeless extinction. SM562:T; R2732:4
Which would destroy us. R5233:6

Which shall devour -- Destroy. R912:2, 5233:6, 1698:3, 724:6, 260:6; E474; Q383:4

Hebrews 10:28

He that -- Verses 28 and 29 contrast the penalty for forsaking the true Mediator with the typical penalty under the Law for forsaking the typical Mediator, Moses. R388:1

In the typical nation. R3083:4

Despised -- Violated. R137:6*

Attempted to offer to God incense for themselves. R1250:4, 724:5

Moses' law -- The typical Mediator. R1250:4, 5046:6, 2859:2

The typical Lawgiver. R3083:4

God's representative on the one hand, and Israel's representative on the other. R5046:6, 1725:4

Christ Jesus, by full obedience to the Law Covenant, had the right to supersede Moses as the Lawgiver and representative of that nation.

R1725:4, 5046:6

See Lev. 10:1-3. R724:5

Died without mercy -- Every transgression and disobedience received a just recompense of reward. R3052:6

Those executed for disobedience to Moses were merely types of those who will suffer second death. SM777:T, 358:T; R5093:5, 724:6

There was nothing more for them then. Theirs was the death penalty. R5093:5

In the antitype, the wages of wilful conduct would be everlasting, while that in the type was covered by the great sacrifice for sins once for all.

R3083:4; SM358:T

They will eventually have an opportunity to receive God's grace in Christ Jesus. R5093:5; SM777:1

As illustrated by Nadab and Abihu. T40; R3055:5

How much sorer -- Severer. E473; F168; R5093:5, 4513:2, 2859:2, 912:2; SM777:T

Greater. R724:5

Worse. R388:1, 3502:6

More serious. R3083:4

Does not signify more painful, but simply severer or more weighty. SM776:3

Sin unto death. R4605:5

Sorer than the first death, in that it would be without hope. R4077:4, 3502:6

Than did the typical Israelites who despised the message of the typical Moses. SM776:2

Second death--the cutting off forever from life without remedy or hope. R912:2, 388:1; F168

Not only lose a few years of his condemned life, but lose his soul, his being, his existence forever, and that without hope of recovery. E474

Punishment -- The penalty. R5093:5, 912:2

Death without a resurrection. F168; R5093:5, 4605:1, 4591:6, 1951:5, 567:2, 388:1; SM777:1, 358:T

Anyone who despised the Law of Moses was condemned to death, from which he is to be released through the merit of Christ. R4605:1, 4513:2

If Moses' Law inflicted a death penalty, assuredly the one who would willingly transgress under greater light would suffer a more severe punishment. R4513:2

Those executed for disobedience to Moses were merely types of those who will suffer the second death. SM777:T

These thoughts should make all who have accepted Christ, very earnest, very diligent. SM179:T

Shall he be -- The Apostle is not applying this text to the world, but to the Church. R4605:2

Trodden under foot -- Disgraced. R3083:4

Rejection of the atoning work of Christ. R5391:4; F168; SM774:1

Denying the ransom--the very foundation of all the hopes and blessings seen and experienced. R1459:4, 918:4

Enemies of Christ, who really trample him and his goodness and love under their feet, figuratively, disdaining his mercy and favor as well as his instruction in righteousness. R5939:1, 4077:6

Counted -- Knowingly and deliberately. R918:4, 3202:1, 570:5

By a mental rejection of the conditions of favor--a mental repudiation of the blood of the New Covenant. R3202:1

Presumptuous sins pervert the judgment, make void the Scriptures and lead to "the great transgression." (Psa. 19:13) R1392:4, 1296:4

The blood -- The death of Jesus. R3201:5, 16:4

The sacrifice of Christ. R1458:5

Our human lives are to be sacrificed with Jesus. Our death is a sacrificial death and our blood is counted in as his blood. Thus, by partaking in the blood of the covenant, we are sanctified. R5878:1

The cup we memorialize. R4592:1, 4495:3, 4321:4

Of the covenant -- The New Covenant. R2859:2, 4513:2, 3364:5, 3279:5, 3083:4, 1951:5; F168

Which shortly is to be sealed for Israel and through Israel for all the families of the earth. R4592:2, 4605:2

Sharers with him in his great work for mankind, namely, the sealing of the New Covenant with his blood. R4495:3, 5878:1

Our consecration to share with our Lord in his death, in his sacrifice, in the blood of the New Covenant. R4513:2, 4592:1, 4495:3

Our engagement, our consecration to share with our Lord in his sacrificial death. R4513:2

A covenant of sacrifice. (Psa. 50:5) R5877:6

He was sanctified -- Made acceptable to God, justified. E473; C201

Set apart as New Creatures. R261:1

Set apart or devoted to the serving of the New Covenant for Israel and the world. R4495:3

As a result of faith in the precious blood and its cleansing from sin. R4077:6

And in which they had trusted, and on account of which they had been privileged to grow in grace and knowledge. R1459:4

Not only justified by faith in the precious blood, but have presented their bodies living sacrifices. R4591:6, 5939:1, 4605:2, 4321:4

By our consecration to drink of his cup--the blood of the New Covenant. R4321:4, 5878:1, 4591:6, 4435:4

Those who have the understanding and enlightenment through the antitypical Moses--Christ. R5093:5

An unholy thing -- Greek, koinos, common, defiled, unclean. R4435:6, 4491:1, 1336:3*

A common thing. C201; E473; F168; R4605:4, 4513:2, 4435:5, 4079:1, 3201:5, 1985:6, 1951:5, 1392:4, 1186:5, 694:6, 431:2, 388:1; NS420:1; SM358:2

An ordinary thing. R5193:6, 3083:4, 2698:1, 1459:4, 1458:5, 740:6, 387:6, 261:1; C201; E473; F168

As an unsacred or common thing. R4591:6, 5939:1, 4077:6, 724:5, 570:4, 567:1

Valueless. R1454:2, 44:4*

Lightly esteemed. R383:2

Denouncing it, counting the death of Christ, as common, not a special sacrifice, valid for the cancellation of our sins. SM775:T; R4605:4, 1794:5, 383:2; SM300:1

Denying or ignoring the precious blood. R1860:6, 918:4

Counting the blood of Christ, the death of Christ, as an ordinary death, and not as a special holy sacrifice valid for the cancellation of our sins. SM775:T

No longer count their covenant to be dead with him as a sacred obligation. R4435:6

Of no more value than the blood of any member of the condemned race. R1336:4

No longer recognizing Jesus' death as their ransom or covering. R387:6, 383:2; C204

Such take off the garment of Jesus' righteousness, and have only filthy rags. R387:6, 724:5

Esteeming their own little self-denials equally indispensable to the execution of God's great plan of the ages. C200; E474; F168

Those who reject the blood by denying the ransom are merely blinded by the cunning sophistries which Satan constantly uses to deceive. R882:6

This Scripture suggests a doctrinal deflection, whereas Heb. 6:4-9 suggests a moral retrogression. SM773-774; F167

Hath done despite -- Disrespect. R261:1

Insulted. R567:1, 137:6*

Despised God by ignoring his only arrangement for atonement. F168;

R4605:5, 3201:6, 1837:2, 1459:4, 1296:4, 769:6; SM358:2

Rejecting the only name, the only sacrifice, the only means by which there is forgiveness of sins and fellowship with the Father. SM774:2

The one and only plan of salvation--in Christ Jesus. R1250:3

Despite all these favors and blessings, and despite their covenant with the Lord to be his servants. R2697:6

They fail entirely and go into second death. R4921:1, 4634:6

Typed by Moses who was not permitted to enter into the land of promise. R4058:1

The Spirit of grace -- Of divine grace. E473

The spirit of favor exercised through Christ. R1186:5, 4605:1, 1056:2, 891:6, 769:6, 740:6, 261:1; C201

The grace of God which provided the atonement and fellowship with our Redeemer in his sacrifice and reward. F168

Favor, which has called us with this high calling during this Gospel age. R4591:6

All the favors and privileges of God's grace. R4513:2, 1454:2

Divine favor which had held out freedom from the yoke of sin. R5939:1, 4077:6

The spirit of favor which has brought them thus far. R5391:4

Very few day have the sufficiency of light and opportunity essential to a sentence to second death. R2940:5

Hebrews 10:30

For we know -- This is no idle suggestion. R4513:2

Vengeance -- God will punish the evil doers. R1618:3, 247:5

Those who forsake the way of the Lord. NS217:4

Saith the Lord -- Jehovah. F396

We are to remember him with whom we have been dealing. R4513:2

Shall judge -- During the Gospel age. R1336:4*

The present time. R1391:6; CR495:6; OV434:5

Let us not wait for him to judge us personally--let us examine ourselves, and correct whatever we can find to be out of alignment with his instructions to us. OV434:5

If not sufficiently watchful, the Lord will give us some experiences that will be good--if rightly received. R5890:5

A fearful thing -- Until actually perfect. A305; R2426:5, 1068:4, 792:1, 764:2, 387:5

Going out from the protection provided. R724:6, 1250:3, 724:6

It would be the second death. R792:1, 4513:2

Because God is just, and we are imperfect and could not hope to meet the requirements of the law of absolute justice. R2859:3; A305; E471

Because every imperfect being, judged by the law of God, would be unworthy of life, condemned to death--second death. R792:1

Because of the absolute perfection of God's law, and the fact that his only allowance for imperfection is through Jesus. R764:2; E472

Because, if in his hands, though loving, he is just and cannot look upon sin with any degree of allowance. R387:4

To fall -- Out of the hands of the Redeemer. F168, 120; R4513:5, 387:6; HG160:5

Out of the hands of mercy. SM777:1

Exposing themselves to the second death. R387:5

By a wilful rejection of the Redeemer's merit. R792:1, 4835:2, 1261:3, 1250:3, 764:2

By coming out from under the covering, ignoring the ransom price, and "counting the blood of the covenant a common thing." (Verse 29) R387:5

Into the hands -- Into the hands of justice. SM777:1; HG160:5

To be dealt with directly, without mercy. R2859:3, 1261:3

A judgment according to facts and works; and to all imperfect creatures this means death. R2456:4, 2426:5; A305

If in his hands we know that the slightest imperfection must condemn us to death, how graciously, then, has God provided a "cleft rock", a perfect covering for our nakedness, in the person of Jesus our Lord. R387:5

All unjustified are yet in the Father's hands, and under his condemnation. R387:6

Of the living God -- The great Judge who can make no allowance for sin, accept no excuses. F168

To stand trial before God in our own righteousness, which is but "filthy rags." (Isa. 64:6) R1442:2, 1769:1, 1261:3, 387:6

Who is a consuming fire to any who claim his gift of life outside of his appointed way. R1850:2, 2859:3, 1442:2, 1336:4*

His mercy and love can never trample upon his justice. R386:5

He cannot look upon the least sin with any degree of allowance. (Hab. 1:13) R386:6; F120

Hebrews 10:32

Call to remembrance -- An exhortation to confidence and loyalty. SM777:2

The Apostle recognized that we might become discouraged with our faults and weaknesses. SM179:2

Take encouragement from what you may have endured in the past. CR153:2; R4078:1; SM179:3

Continue to wage warfare against the world, the flesh and the devil. R4078:1

The former days -- Our past experiences. R4513:3; SM778:T

Our first love and first zeal. R4078:1

Maintain the zeal and love which began and which should be increasing day by day. SM778:T

At that time, the brethren were really in a better, more alive, spiritual condition than later. SM179:3

Ye were illuminated -- Enlightened. R3776:2

An enlightening of the mind. CR402:5

Saw the matter clearly. R5332:2

The begetting of the holy Spirit. R5088:2

The work of the holy Spirit, which we received at the time of our consecration unto death. OV407:5; R4544:3; PD57/69; Q183

It began with the Church at Pentecost. OV407:5; R5088:2

There is quite a distinction between having the holy Spirit and being illuminated by it so as to let our light shine. R4149:5

Your afflictions and trials came principally after you had been illuminated, and they have increased as the light of present truth has increased with you. R1653:4

Ye endured -- For the Lord's sake, for love of the brethren and in harmony with God's arrangement. R5818:5

A strong persecution, openly manifested by the worldly-spirited, Satan-deceived people of God. SM180:2

While suffering persecutions, the brethren were really in a better spiritual condition than later. SM179:3; CR488:2

Few are willing to endure. R3281:3

God appreciates faithfulness. R4407:4

A great fight -- The early Church did not hide their light because of persecution. R942:5

These conditions prevailed all the way down from the Apostle's day, and will continue to the very close of the Church's experiences on this side the veil. SM743:1

Of afflictions -- "Think it not strange concerning the fiery trial that shall try you, as though some strange thing happened to you." (1 Peter 4:12) R1652:6, 5412:4

The object and utility of present trials and persecutions are in fullest accord with our high calling--to be a joint-heir with Jesus "if so be that we suffer with him." (Rom. 8:17) R1652:6

Soldiers are not always fighting; they are not always having afflictions.
CR153:2

Hebrews 10:33

Partly -- All lovers of righteousness are to have more or less share in experiences of opposition. SM221:2

Whilst ye were -- In their own persons. R1699:5

Who suffered great loss. CR488:2

Made a gazingstock -- Those who were actively in the conflict, sufferers for righteousness sake. CR17:5

We have to be a target, that the Lord's message may go forth. R5412:4

Reproaches -- The present wages of those who preach truth. R824:3

Afflictions -- Under Nero and Diocletian, many Christians suffered for loyalty to God. CR488:2; SM181:1

Whilst ye became -- In fellowship with others. R1699:5

Companions -- Partakers. NS490:4

By avowing our sympathy for the reproached ones and thus sharing their reproaches and afflictions. R1653:4

Some were not able to go out in the midst of the battle as Paul was, but were loyal to the truth and rejoiced in the privilege of being companions.

R2143:1, 2239:3; NS490:1; SM180:1

Some suffered with those in affliction in that they had been sympathizers of those who had been persecuted. R5818:5, 5670:3, 3144:1

The Lord recognizes and appreciates this association with those in distress. Each doing to the extent of his opportunity the work of the Lord. R5670:3, 3144:1; CR17:5

If we have the martyr spirit, are loyal, courageous for the Truth, even though we never are counted worthy of open or public opposition or persecution. SM182:1

Perhaps this constitutes all the sufferings required of some of the Lord's saints. R3002:4

There are two classes of labor to be rewarded, an active and a passive. NS490:4

Of them -- The more able servants of the truth. R3144:1

In every time, and now, the spirit of persecution naturally would strike most prominently certain leading figures. SM221:2, 180:3

That were so used -- That were reproached for the truth's sake. C133

Misused for Christ's sake. R3183:5, 1699:5

Hebrews 10:34

In my bonds -- It is presumed that this epistle was written while St. Paul was a prisoner at Rome. SM180:3

Of your goods -- Including worldly reputation. R2405:6

Hebrews 10:35

Cast not away -- The Apostle exhorts them not to turn back, not to be discouraged, but to be encouraged. They should have confidence in God that he loved and appreciated all they had borne for him. R5818:5, 4513:3
Be not weary in well-doing; rise from the ashes of discouragement and lift the cross with renewed zeal. R5095:4

In some instances, the feeling of discouragement leads some to fear and distress, that the second death is apprehended. The Apostle seems to have in mind this condition. R5095:1

Satan is permitted to do so if we do not live up to our light. R5595:2

Your confidence -- Your faith, your trust. R5594:1; CR214:2; NS563:3
Confidence in God. R5594:6; CR214:2; NS566:4

Outspokenness. SM182:2

In proportion as we have knowledge and grow in grace, in that same proportion our confidence is growing stronger. It represents our heart condition. R5595:2, 188:1

In our Leader, the Great Shepherd of the sheep. R188:1, 4926:6

In God's invitation to be joint-heirs with Christ. R5595:1

In the Lord and in his Word. NS563:4, 566:4

In the brotherhood, or the world of mankind in general. R566:4

Confidence in the outworking of God's plan, and in all who trust in the precious blood and are bringing forth fruits of the spirit in their daily lives. R1653:4, 5595:1

Faith in God and in the "great and precious promises" is the very basis of all Christian endeavor. R5095:2

We surely have every reason for greater confidence than ever--when we call to mind our leading in the past. R191:5

Without this faith in God one cannot fight a good fight. R5095:2

The Lord has not promised a great reward for merely believing and trusting, and in a cowardly manner keeping our light hidden. SM182:2

Testings will come in some manner not expected, and may be very severe crucial tests of our love and loyalty. NS565:5

Through Evolution and Higher Criticism. NS562-564

Reward -- The rewards are for those who hold the faith even unto death. R5095:5

God wishes us to trust him according to his promises and will reward such faith. R3002:4

God will reward us according to our faith, confidence, honesty, sincerity.

He rewards faith rather than works--not what we can accomplish. R5594:1, 5595:3

The severer the trial that is endured faithfully, the grander we may suppose will be the reward to the faithful. NS566:5

Hebrews 10:36

For ye have need -- More and more we come to see how much patience we need. CR447:4

During this period in which Jehovah permits sin and opposition to his will to flourish. R1781:5, 2025:5, 1273:2

Of patience -- Greek, hupomone, cheerful endurance, constancy. R2791:1, 5332:1, 4910:4, 2792:1

The Lord cannot give us patience except by giving us trials to develop that patience. CR315:2

"Let patience have her perfect work, that ye may be perfect and entire, wanting nothing." Let us patiently hold on our way. R5650:1, 5652:6

Without hope, patience would soon fritter away; and no length or breadth or depth of character could be expected. R5213:3

If those who are now suffering affliction because of their loyalty to the Lord, will take afflictions and trials joyfully, these will surely work out good to them. R5333:4, 2025:6

"Take my brethren, the prophets, who have spoken in the name of the Lord, for an example of suffering affliction, and of patience." (James 5:10)

One of the cardinal graces of Christian character. R5332:2

Done the will of God -- In presenting our bodies as living sacrifices, our reasonable service. R5332:2

After having brought our own will into complete subjection to the divine will. R4910:3

Reached the mark--having attained to that mark of character in our hearts, in our wills we should establish God's righteous will as the rule of life under all circumstances and conditions. R2792:1

Not in the perfect and complete sense, but a reasonable service. God does not expect us to do that which is impossible. R5332:2

"This is the will of God (concerning you) even your sanctification." (1 Thess. 4:3) R5332:3

"Having done all to stand" (Eph. 6:13) clad in full armor. C212

Ye -- The Christian Church, the consecrated, who have left the world. R5332:1

Receive the promise -- The things promised. R5594:4, 191:5

The fulfillment of the promise. R5332:4

The original promise--the seed of Abraham shall bless the world. R5332:5, 5137:1

A share in the coming glory is contingent upon present sufferings because they develop positive characters--and love instead of selfishness. R1653:1

The Apostle is urging that we continue to be Christ's and to abide in him--thus to be glorified with him. R5332:5

Hebrews 10:37

A little while -- "The God of peace shall bruise Satan under your feet shortly." (Rom. 16:20) "A thousand years in thy sight are but as yesterday." (Psa. 90:4) R11:2

Will come -- Greek, heko, to have come, be here; not future tense, but present. R591:4*

Be present--Paul's words are especially for us--at the end of the age. R187:3

Will not tarry -- This has now been accomplished, he has come, and no longer delays. R191:5

Now the just -- The just one. R191:5

Consecrated believers, justified by faith in Christ as their Redeemer. R798:2, 904:1*

A peculiar people, separate from the world, and cannot assimilate with it. R903:6*

The just one is first of all, Jesus, and secondly all those who constitute members of the Body of Christ. R191:5, 904:1*

Shall live by faith -- Contrary to the course of the world, which seek to walk by sight and after the desires of the flesh. R1798:5, 1790:3, 903:3*

The life of faith is the assimilation of that which we have proved to be the truth, so that its principles become our principles, and its promises our inspiration. R1799:4, 1798:3

It is not enough that, by faith, we receive the first impulse of life, but, having passed from death unto life, we must continue to receive an appropriate spiritual nourishment, that we may grow thereby. R1798:3
In this way of faith there is much of present privilege, as well as future prospect. The motives, hopes, aims, ambitions and joys are all of a higher, nobler order than those of the world. R1798:3

Study and accept God's plan for both the present and future, and act as he directs, ignoring our own ideas of expediency whenever God's Word speaks to the contrary. R903:3*

Very different from living by sight--acting in the present, and planning for the future, according to our knowledge, experience, and judgment. R903:3*

Though the way is very clear, and the light strong, yet we must still "walk by faith and not by sight." (2 Cor. 5:7) R191:5; NS414:2

"Looking not at the things that are seen, but at the things that are not seen." (2 Cor. 4:18) R1798:6

But if any man -- Who has been actually or reckonedly restored to perfection. A107

Presented (Rom. 12:1) and sanctified. R4321:4

The Lord never interferes with our hearts--to be in service against our will. We may at any time draw back from service. R4356:3

Draw back -- Shrink back. R191:5

From the sufferings. Q680:4

From the covenant of sacrifice. F637

There must be something at this time to which the Apostle refers calculated to make some draw back from the light. R191:5

Unto perdition--to do despite to all the favors of God--to turn back to wallowing in the mire of sin and to take pleasure in the works of the flesh and the devil; anger, malice, hatred, envy, strife. R4654:3, 2073:4*; NS372:5, 382:4

To go back to the world and live after the course of this world, to take its standpoint of observation and to reject the Lord's leading. This is not generally done suddenly, but gradually. R904:4*; SM776:T
After being enlightened, some will reject the favor in the way it is offered. R883:4

And mind earthly things. R1799:5

From doing the Lord's will, and thus renounce their sacrifice. NS611:3

Weariness in well doing and desire for the rewards of unfaithfulness are first steps in drawing back from the way of faith, and also from the favor of God. R1799:1

Through fear that the Lord has forgotten him in his trials, or through unwillingness to longer submit to the polishing. R2405:2 First perhaps looking back with a sigh, then with a little disposition to compromise the truth in favor of the cravings of the fallen nature, finally with a complete surrender. R1799:1, 2073:4*

To walk by sight. R191:5

"No man having put his hand to the plow and looking back is fit for the kingdom of God." (Luke 9:62) R1775:4, 2081:4*

Not merely slip through weakness of the flesh under the power of temptation. R2073:4*

My soul -- Greek, psuche, sentient being. God is a soul. E350; R5325:6

No pleasure in him -- Does not delight in him. R191:5

This drawing back is a most serious matter. R1799:1

These thus cut themselves off from the favors, privileges and blessings belonging to the Church of Christ. R5332:2

Hebrews 10:39

But we -- An illustration of wise suggestion. F549

Of them -- Probably few. R2942:2

Who draw back -- By sinning wilfully. T68; R2099:5, 1981:5

Turn again to a fleshly will. R5486:2

From such high privileges. R1981:5

And mind earthly things. R1799:5

Unto perdition -- Second death--destruction. T68; R5371:2, 5102:3, 4536:4, 4321:5, 2941:3, 2161:3, 2081:4*, 2073:4*, 1799:1, 431:2*
Nonentity. R2941:3

Believe -- And go on. R5371:2

Soul -- Lives. R5371:2

Hebrews 11

Hebrews 11:1

Faith -- True faith seeks for a positive message from the Lord. We should clearly differentiate between credulity and faith. R5188:3, 5243:6; Q774:3

The reasonable and accepted conclusion of a logical argument based upon a reasonable premise or foundation. R2162:2*, 1158:2*

More than hope, faith implies a promise. R4385:5

Proper faith must be based on studies of the Divine Word and promises. R4385:6, 2163:6*

Our faith in all God's promises should be as unwavering as our confidence that tomorrow's sun will rise. R2162:5*, 1158:5*

No grief, no tribulation, can shake our inmost joy if it be well founded upon the faith foundation of divine assurances that we are children of God. R4386:1

Faith in God is that humble confidence which espouses his unpopular cause, which perseveres in pursuing it, in the face of all opposition and without human encouragement, enduring reproach, persecution, etc. R2163:2*

The substance -- A basis. R1158:3, 2162:5*

Understanding. Q775:T

Faith is not only a groundwork, or basis, for our hopes, but it is a real substance--a mental substance, which stimulates and clarifies the mind. R5717:6

Belief, in the ordinary sense of the word, is not sufficient as a foundation for our trust and onward progress, unless that belief be congealed, solidified, into a substantial faith. R5188:2

Faith deals with the future--our reward. R74:5*

Faith is the basis out of which the living hope springs and grows naturally. R2162:1*, 74:5*

The very basis of Christian character. R2163:4*

Something substantial upon which hope may build. R2162:1*

Faith becomes a strength to our minds as we progress in the knowledge of God. It becomes as real and tangible as any material substance--even more; for the things upon which our faith lays hold are eternal. R5717:6

Things hoped for -- Hope finds a foundation--finds in faith a substance, because faith rests upon a divine promise. R4385:5

Strictly speaking, hope is not substantial, not a reality, and furnishes no genuine foundation. R4385:5

Fear, doubt, and uncertainty, indicates lack of faith and a true foundation on which to base hope. R4385:6

The evidence -- Proof, conviction. R5717:6, 2162:5*, 1158:3*; Q775:T

A reasonable conviction becomes a basis of hope for the things which God has promised. R1158:3

Things not seen -- Faith deals with the invisible--our strength for the work of life. R74:5*

Based on the logical deductions from known facts--a most reasonable thing. R2162:3*

Hebrews 11:2

For by it -- Faith. R4386:1

A working faith. The Worthies were justified by faith, when their faith led them to do what God required of them. R50:2*, 1945:3

Their hope was based upon their knowledge of the character of God and his promises to Israel. R1409:3 Here, the Apostle Paul, the antitype of Eleazar, points out the harmony of the Ancient Worthies faith and sufferings (burning) with ours--casting in hyssop, scarlet and cedar. (Num. 19) R1897:4; T110

The elders -- The Ancient Worthies. R5859:1, 2375:5

The faithful overcomers of the past. R1529:1, 1469:5

Overcomers of the Jewish Age. R875:5*; OV28:1; NS369:2

A class of God's people not of the Royal Priesthood who suffered for righteousness sake outside the Camp. T106

The noble brethren before the cross, the last one of whom was John the Baptist. R5859:2, 5263:5

Comparatively few exercised faith and wrought righteousness in harmony therewith, up to the time of Christ. R4454:5, 4386:1

From Jacob's death to Christ a few of Israel, exercising faith above and beyond the Law Covenant, were blessed by the underlying Abrahamic Covenant. R4451:5, 4454:5

Millions of Israel who were favored with a call did not make their election sure and were not counted worthy of a place in the list. NS370:2

The Ancient Worthies were justified by faith. They with ourselves come under the Abrahamic Covenant, which had no mediator and needed none, because made only with those of similar faith to father Abraham. R4388:6, 4330:3, 1872:2

Not all the elders or Ancients received a testimony that they pleased God. R4386:1

Good report -- They were commended, not for perfect works, but for their faith. R4386:1

Their faith in God and his promises, attested by imperfect works, justified them to that divine fellowship which they will fully enjoy when the things hoped for shall be realized. R4386:2

They will receive a share in the original promise, and be participants in the work of blessing the Gentile world. R2375:5

A testimony that they pleased God. R4386:1

Hebrews 11:3

Worlds were framed -- In obedience to divine direction. R4386:2

A matter of faith with us that what we see was miraculously formed, even though gradually. R4386:2

By faith -- Ancient Worthies were under Faith Covenant. R4330:3

It was not by custom nor by accident that Abel chose his sacrifice.

Evidently, he had been seeking the mind of the Lord, and had found it.

R1614:6

It is to those who exercise faith, and who seek and knock, that the mind of the Lord is revealed and that only the great sacrifice of our Redeemer's life is acceptable to God. R1614:6

Abel -- The first martyr for righteousness in the world's history.

R4386:3

Starting with the more prominent of the race who had been faithful to God according to their light down to the time of Christ. NS520:2

Typifying Isaac, Jacob, spiritual Israel and the wheat class. R2778:2

In some degree a type of Christ. R1614:6

More excellent -- Acceptable. R1614:6

God manifested his acceptance of the animal sacrifice of Abel. R5768:5

He was led to offer sacrificially animals which typified the better sacrifices by which reconciliation will eventually be effected between God and humanity. R5188:5

A sacrifice of life, and therefore a true type of the promised redemptive sacrifice. R1614:3

Valuable, because it pointed forward to the sacrifice of Christ. R74:5*

Sacrifice -- Abel and Seth and all the godly Ancients sacrificed; and through these typical sacrifices they approached God. R1945:3

Than Cain -- Typifying Ishmael, Esau, fleshly Israel and the tare class. R2778:2

Obtained witness -- Approval by God's acceptance of his offering. R5188:3

He was righteous -- Abel is mentioned four times in the New Testament, and three of the times particularly styled "the righteous." R4386:3

Yet speaketh -- Figuratively--actions speak louder than words. R5044:4

The fact that he died because of his devotion to the Lord, speaks of his devotion to God and to principle. R4386:3

God's acceptance still speaks to us in Abel's favor, although he is dead.
R5188:3

Hebrews 11:5

Enoch -- He not only prophesied (Jude 14, 15), but believed it and it stamped his entire character and made him separate from the world and drew him nearer to the Lord. R4386:5

We might speculate that Enoch, the seventh from Adam, would represent man in his future state when he will be perfect, and will not die. Q262:T

Was translated -- Taken away--lifted over from one state or place to another. Q261:3

The Bible does not explain what this term means. Q262:2

Enoch did not die. Enoch remained under the death sentence until he was ransomed by our Lord's death. R2153:2, 3378:1, 619:6

There is no record as to where he was taken; except that he was not taken to heaven. R5188:5, 619:6; Q261:3

No offer of heavenly life was possible until after Jesus died as man's Redeemer. R5772:2

How, or where, God took him, or for what purpose, is not revealed. R619:6; Q261:3

God may have protected his life through all these centuries as an illustration of how human life could have been prolonged by divine power, if God had not placed the curse of death upon the race. R5188:6

In some way his life was preserved. Q773:2

"He walked with God, and God took him." (Gen. 5:24) R5188:5, 4386:4, 619:6

Enoch did not go to heaven. "No man hath ascended up to heaven." (John 3:13) R3378:4, 5188:5, 3417:4, 2153:3, 619:6, 838:5

Not see -- Not experience. Q261:3

This testimony -- There will be no necessity for testing the Ancient Worthies in the future. Their acceptance with God is already proved and declared. They will come forth as perfect human beings. R5030:5

That he pleased God -- Was justified to fellowship, not life. F125; R4640:1

When the Ancient Worthies ascertained God's will, they set about doing it. R5074:2; NS678:5; Q12:4

They came up to the standard--perfection of heart-intention, and obedience to the extent of ability. R5073:2, 5317:4, 5149:4; Q405:5

Although they did not by obedience to the Law Covenant secure the blessings which it proposed. R4451:5

Having loved and served him in righteousness and truth. R1273:1, 1781:4

For which they will be restored to human perfection. R5293:6, 5073:6

This assures us that they had considerable character development. R4612:2
Abel, Enoch, Noah, Abraham, Moses, Daniel, and the prophets were grand characters. Yet there was no Pentecostal outpouring in their day. NS802:3

Nehemiah and others of his time who displayed faithfulness and loyalty are not personally mentioned by St. Paul, but they are undoubtedly included in the list of them that pleased God. R4912:5

Hebrews 11:6

But without faith -- Without understanding and accepting God's promises. F315

God will not receive any one who does not exercise faith. R5717:4

No works can be acceptable to God unless inspired by faith. R5859:1; NS343:3

The stronger our faith, the more our works are sure to be under the divine arrangement. R3338:5, 4377:2, 3762:5

All of our services to the Lord are valuable chiefly as proofs of our faith in his promises. R2425:4

No essential element of Christian character is given greater prominence in the Scriptures than faith. R1938:3, 5128:6

Faith is the basis and only condition upon which any other of God's favors are now obtainable. R4003:2

It is impossible for us to come near to the Lord except as we shall exercise faith and trust in him, in his goodness, power, wisdom and love. R3338:5, 2907:3, 2162:5*, 1158:3*

Faith is a real substance--a mental substance, so to speak, which stimulates and clarifies the mind. R5717:6

The acceptance of a thing because we have indisputable evidence of its reality, its truthfulness and its reliability. R5717:5

To be developed, faith must be tried with opposition. R5148:2

Lack of faith is a constant hindrance to overcoming. R5425:4, 2642:6

At the present time, God is dealing only with those who have faith towards him. CR321:2; R5189:1, 5148:4, 5128:6; OV309:T

God demands that we shall exercise faith in him corresponding to his mercies and manifold favors to us. R2334:2

Both the head and the heart--the intellect and the affections--are necessary to this faith. R1822:3

God is now seeking only those who can exercise the necessary faith when the message of God is brought to them. R5717:6

Our faith will be in proportion to our knowledge of the character of God. R5116:2; NS449:3

The effort of every Christian should be toward a continual growth in faith. R2163:4*

Faith is fundamental and the graces (2 Pet. 1:5-7) are as the house of wisdom built upon it. R136:6*, 74:2*

"This is the victory that overcometh the world, even your faith." (1 John 5:4) F147, 315, 658; R2654:1, 2642:6, 2425:4; NS228:1

The sixth sense--confidence in the Lord. R5189:1, 5243:6

It is our privilege to pray to the Lord to increase our faith, and to ourselves increase it by learning the divine promises and applying them as our own. R2642:6, 3338:5

Faith might exist alone for a time, for not by works are we justified, but by faith only. R216:1

Faith in Christ is a part of the faith necessary. R555:6*; NS643:6

If one lose his faith, there is no telling whither he may wander. R5116:2

When man shall have attained the full likeness of God, he will not need any special development of faith; for faith will be inherent in him.

R5716:5

The Apostle Paul points the Gospel Church to the noble, self-sacrificing faithfulness of the Ancient Worthies who endured so much for their faithfulness to the Lord and his truth. R1372:2

Not credulity, which is the acceptance of a thing without good reason, without sure evidence. R5717:5, 5243:6, 5188:3

It is impossible -- No man ever was, or ever can be saved, either by the law of nature--conscience--or by the written Law. R556:1*

Neither innocence nor ignorance, nor any other natural condition, will save. R1043:6*, 556:4*

"Faith cometh by hearing and hearing by the word of God." (Rom. 10:17)

R555:5*; HG421:4

Faith, and endeavor to obedience in harmony with that faith, are necessary to salvation. HG421:3

To please him -- Paul is laying down a general principle as to what is the divine pleasure. R5716:2

A person is pleasing God in proportion as he has faith, and displeasing in proportion as he lacks faith. R5188:6, 4387:2

Only those who please God, who have his approval, will have eternal life. R4133:3

The more our faith is developed, the more pleasing in the Father's sight we shall be. R5148:2

Those being selected for exaltation to the divine nature must expect to have their faith tested; this testing is most important from the divine viewpoint. R5116:2

God cannot recognize as children those who do not love him, and they cannot love him without faith. R556:1*

Or to "have peace (rest) with God." (Rom. 5:1) R391:3*

They that are in the flesh, depraved, cannot please God. R556:4*

The more we may be used as channels of blessing to others. R4387:2

He -- This class, having a heart-hunger for their Creator--a longing for him that nothing else can satisfy. R5717:4

That cometh to God -- Now. R5717:4

In prayer. F680

Acceptably. R2834:3

Not literally. "Let us draw near, with a true heart." (Heb. 10:22) R167:4*

Those who have naturally some faith and who have gained a sufficient knowledge of himself and his character to believe in his love and to be desirous of coming into fellowship and communion with him. R5717:6

Must believe -- The Father would have our faith in him implicit, unwavering. R5148:2

No other prayers are accepted. F680

The obedience of the Ancients was the best possible evidence that they did believe, and their faith was approved. R74:5

That he is -- Must recognize him as the selfexisting one. F680

That he is a personal God. CR489:5, 481:4

That there is a God who made us. R5717:4 And must "set to his seal that God is true." (John 3:33) E230

Mankind have become so alienated from God by wicked works and self-will that many do not know that there is a God. R5717:1

A rewarder of them -- A faith in the justice of God, that, inviting us, he will not spurn us, when we respond to his call. NS620:4

Diligently seek him -- With a heart-hunger for their Creator--a longing for him that nothing else can satisfy. R5717:4

To know him, to obey him, to serve him. F680; R2569:6

To walk in his ways. R4072:5

He will reveal his true character to them. OV2:2 It is not sufficient to know that there is a God, nor to realize that he is a living Being. We first believed; then we sought to know his will concerning us. CR489:5

In an important sense it is the Christian's life-work to come to God, and success is to the diligent seeker. R74:2*

Faith works--work secures reward. God did not say to the Ancients, "believe" but he gave them something to do. R74:5*

Hebrews 11:7

By faith Noah -- For a long period Noah's faith was tested even unto the entering of the Ark and the closing of the door before the rains descended and the floods came. R4386:6

Things not seen as yet -- Building an ark at a time when there was no apparent excuse for such a building, since not a drop of rain had fallen from the time of man's creation until that time. (Gen. 2:5) R5188:6, 4386:5

Prepared an ark -- Type of Christ and the power in him which will replenish and reorganize society. A318

If God commands the building of an ark, the reasonable course is to build and to warn men, though the flood tarry for 120 years. R1158:5*, 2162:6*

Saving of his house -- God blessed his faith, and made him a channel of blessing to his family. R5188:6

Condemned -- Greek: katakrino, sentenced to overthrow. R999:2
Judged. R518:6*

Became heir -- Because he genuinely trusted and obeyed God. R4386:6

Righteousness -- None was righteous in the absolute sense. "There is none righteous, no, not one." (Rom. 3:10) R4386:5

Abraham -- Typified the Heavenly Father. R4387:1

Styled the "father of the faithful" because with Abraham God started a faith family to whom were given many and great promises. R4386:6

When he was called -- Abraham's call of God was the result of his having faith in God and because he lived at an appropriate time for the divine purposes to begin to be expressed. R4387:1

Should after receive -- Not receive at the time. R1634:3

An inheritance -- There is no suggestion of Abraham becoming a partaker of the divine nature and a joint-heir with Jesus. R5291:2

Obeded -- He responded to the call and came into Canaan. R5189:4

Abraham was justified by his works and not by faith only. R30:1*

And he went out -- The first test upon Abraham, after he was called, was that he leave his native country to wander up and down through Palestine as a shepherd. R4387:1

Probably in the face of the great displeasure of his relatives. R2846:6

Not knowing whither -- Not knowing the particulars respecting it beforehand. R5189:1

In this respect typifying the experience of the true Church in coming out of Babylon. R2847:1

Hebrews 11:9

He sojourned -- Moved about, not settling down as an owner. R1634:3

"Now the sojourning of the children of Israel was 430 years." (Exod. 12:40) B47

Land of promise -- In after times God would bring Abraham's posterity to this land and give it to them for a possession, and if obedient, Abraham's seed would become great and influential and bless all nations. R4387:1

A strange country -- As a stranger. R5189:1

In tabernacles -- In tents. R5189:2

Temporary, movable dwellings. R1634:3

With -- As did also. R5189:2

The heirs -- His associates in the promises and heirs through him. R5189:2

Hebrews 11:10

Looked for a city -- Not a literal city. The entire passage is symbolical. R5189:4

In olden times a city stood for and represented a fortification, a government, a rule of authority. R4387:3

The glorious Kingdom of God in both its earthly and heavenly phase.

R1617:4, 5189:5, 4387:4

The antitypical Temple. R2520:6

The New Jerusalem, the glorified Church, the Kingdom class. E90; R5189:4

A government is symbolically represented by a city. R5189:5

An established kingdom. R1634:3

The Kingdom of God. R1630:1 He did not expect to come upon a newly built city of divine construction, or a New Jerusalem built of literal precious stones and pearls. R4387:3

"He rejoiced to see my day." (John 8:56) The Millennial Day. E89, 90

Hath foundations -- Twelve, the apostles. R4387:5, 30:2*

Permanence, based on principles of righteousness. R3936:6, 1634:3

Maker is God -- Men could build an earthly city, but not the heavenly.

R56:6*

Hebrews 11:11

Also Sara -- The distinction of sex does not operate to the disadvantage of either male or female in connection with the divine promises. R4387:5

Received strength -- She was assisted through the faith she exercised.

R5189:2

By the exercise of divine power, for Sarah not only barren, but aged.

R1140:5

Judged him faithful -- Although past the age of motherhood, Sara believed God. R4387:5

Trusting God's faithfulness. R5380:3

Hebrews 11:12

As good as dead -- At the age of one hundred, Abraham received Isaac as one born from the dead. R751:6*

Hebrews 11:13

These all -- Referring to those mentioned in the 12th verse and not those in the preceding verses. Q773:2

Including Sara, and John the Baptist. R4387:5, 5069:4

Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, and all the faithful of past time. SM44:3; R607:1

Evidently, the Apostle previously (verse 5) made an exception of Enoch and therefore not included with these. Q261:3

Died in faith -- They met conditions of heart loyalty, and were found faithful. R5836:3

They knew they had not received eternal life, or any of the things which God had promised, but they died in faith that they would get it in the resurrection. R4961:6

That what God had promised he was able also to perform, in his own good time and way. R2035:2

Serving the Lord with their all could not justify them legally. R5528:2

Abraham never relaxed his faith, even to his dying day. R1617:1

Presumably, Elijah died and was buried like other men. Q259:4

Not having received -- Without. A293

The things promised--the land wherein they dwelt, etc. R220:2, 5859:3, 5291:2, 4387:5

The promises -- Earthly promises. R5859:2

The blessing--reconciliation to God and eternal life. SM44:3

The things promised them. R5772:3, 5291:2, 5189:2, 4388:4, 4387:5

The fulfillment of the promises. R5528:2, 4961:6

That the "seed" shall some day come. R5116:6

The blessing of eternal life. R5073:6

Hope of a place in the natural seed to bless all mankind. They had no knowledge of the spiritual seed. R5836:3

God did not promise heavenly things prior to Jesus' day. R5859:2

The Ancient Worthies were not rewarded at death. HG334:4

Seen them afar off -- Beyond the present life. R1634:3, 4071:3

With the eye of faith. R4387:5

The promises will be literally fulfilled to Abram in the incoming Millennial Age. R607:1

Were persuaded -- Their rejoicing was in the faith-view which they had from afar. R5189:2

Strangers and pilgrims -- Nomads. R5189:2

They separated themselves from the rest of the world, having obtained new aims, new ideas, were out of touch with the remainder of the race because of having a different standard. R5116:6

Abraham was a sojourner and not an owner to the day of his death. R2849:4

They were obliged to wait for the heavenly country, for two reasons: (1)

To test their faith, (2) "The wickedness of the Amorites was not yet come to the full." (Gen. 15:16) R2230:6

We must be willing also to stand this test at the present time. R4387:6

Hebrews 11:14

Seek a country -- Their travelling up and down showed that none of the cities or countries through which they passed were wholly satisfactory to them. R5189:2

Hebrews 11:15

If they had -- Abraham's continuance in Canaan marked the continuance of his faith. R2121:1

Been mindful -- Wishful. R2230:6, 220:2

They were not discontented in the sense that they wished to return to their former homeland, Haran. R5189:2

Of that country -- Chaldea. R220:2

Charran. R2230:6

To have returned -- When they found that God was not yet ready to fulfil his promises. R2230:6

Hebrews 11:16

But now -- As it is. R1096:3*

Instead of returning. R220:2

A better country -- A home under more righteous conditions. R2231:2, 4387:6

The Paradise of the now near future. R5189:4

The promised country. R220:2

They were waiting for the time that God intended they should inherit this promise--the land of Palestine--at the establishment of God's Kingdom.

R3945:3, 220:2

The Ancient Worthies, unsatisfied with any of the earthly prospects, sought the heavenly. R4387:6 Not heirs in the highest sense, this opportunity was not open in their time. R5528:2

That is an heavenly -- One with heavenly laws. R2230:6

One from heaven. R1096:3*

Canaan in the heavenly Kingdom. R220:4

Not in the sense that the Church is seeking the heavenly, the spiritual things. R4387:6

They had no heavenly promises. All of their promises were of the earth, earthy. R5189:4

In going out to the unknown land, and in the offering of his son Isaac, Abraham grasped the future, seeing Christ and the heavenly country. R74:5*

In the sense expressed in our Lord's prayer. R4387:6

It is evident that Abraham saw beyond the glory of the earthly. R30:2*

Our citizenship is of the heavenly Kingdom, therefore we should be diligent to learn its language. R1062:6*

For them a city -- Government. R4387:6

Not a literal city, but the Kingdom of God. R2231:1, 4387:6, 220:4 The Millennial Kingdom, whose earthly seat of government will probably be Canaan. R220:4

God has planned such a heavenly Kingdom or dominion as they hoped for. R4387:6

It is under this perfect city or government from God, through Christ, that they shall find a country (home) which could never have come under the imperfect city (government) of bondage. R1389:4

Hebrews 11:17

By faith -- A childlike faith. Abraham trusted God's love and believed his wisdom superior to his own, and accepted his authority as paramount to every other consideration. R1623:6

The kind of faith that the Lord desires to find in the spiritual seed of Abraham--a faith that will trust him even where it cannot trace him.

R2907:6

Abraham had not this degree of faith when first he entered Canaan. It was lack of this perfect trust in God which made him fearful to acknowledge Sarah to be his wife. R2908:1

Abraham -- A type of God. (Rom. 4:17, margin) R2908:3, 1623:6

As Abraham was willing to offer his only son, so Jehovah gave his only begotten Son, in whom centered the promises. R2908:3

The names of some of the most notable only, who were accepted as making their election sure to the future honor and service, are given. R1457:3

When he was tried -- The test for Abraham was that he should offer in sacrifice his son Isaac, in whom centered all the promises. R5702:1

Even when Abraham's tests were passed satisfactorily, he could not be actually justified; because he needed to be redeemed with the blood of Christ. R4574:2

The instruction to offer Isaac was not given by a mere impression of the mind. It would not have been proper for Abraham to accept and act upon anything short of an absolute demonstration of the divine will. R4387:2

Offered up Isaac -- The severest possible test of faith was the command to slay his son with his own hand and to offer him upon the altar of sacrifice. R1623:6

By his prompt obedience Abraham gave proof of his loyalty. R5702:1

Typifying the sacrifice of Christ. A155; R4387:1, 2908:3, 2510:6, 1623:6

As Abraham gave his son Isaac to be sacrificed --so the Heavenly Father gave his Son, Jesus, to be the sin-offering for Adam and his race. PD27/38

As a representative of Isaac, a ram was offered, so, throughout the Jewish age, the natural children of Abraham were required to sacrifice bulls and goats, as yearly sin-offerings. R2908:4

Isaac was 25 years old. R2907:3

In Abraham's day the patriarchal form of government prevailed, and under it the father of a family held an autocratic power which seemingly was rarely questioned by the children. R2907:3

Tests of a similar import, though of different kind, are laid upon the Lord's people today, for the testing of our heart-loyalty toward the Lord.

R2907:3, 2908:6, 1624:4

The place selected for the Temple altar is believed to be the spot upon which Abraham offered Isaac. R2510:6, 2908:2

By works his faith was made perfect. (James 2:22) R50:2*, 30:1*

Received the promises -- This was the son of promise, for whose birth Abraham had waited--a miracle of divine power--the son in whom were centered all the gracious promises which had filled Abraham's heart for now 50 years. R2907:3

Offered up -- Because he accounted that God was able to raise his son from the dead and that surely God would fulfil his every promise to which he had bound himself. R4387:2

It was said -- Abraham philosophized upon this matter--respecting the fact that Isaac was his legitimate heir, and had been so acknowledged of the Lord. R2907:6

Hebrews 11:19

Accounting that God -- When God commanded Abraham to sacrifice his son, it was reasonable for Abraham to comply, and to leave the fulfillment of the promises, which centered in his son, to God. R1158:5*, 2162:6*

Raise him up -- Abraham's faith was sufficient. R3955:6

A picture of our Lord's resurrection. R4603:2

Even from the dead -- That the promises might be fulfilled. R5702:1, 2907:6

In a figure -- There is a pictorial illustration connected with the matter, but it is not so sharp as in a type. Q722:5; R5966:3

Prefiguring Jehovah's offering of his only begotten Son and receiving him again from the dead. R1394:4

Abraham's son, in whom the promised blessing centered, had first to be a sacrifice before he could bless, and Abraham received him from the dead in a figure. In the figure Isaac typified the true seed, Christ Jesus. A155
Even though the knife did not strike the fatal blow, the offering was complete in the sight of heaven. R5180:3

Showing that the Oathbound Covenant could not go into effect without the shedding of blood--Isaac died typically. R3917:1

Thus Isaac was brought forth the second time. R1436:3*

Hebrews 11:20

Isaac blessed Jacob -- With full confidence conveyed the Abrahamic blessing to his son Jacob. R4388:1

It was necessary for typical Isaac to be typically sacrificed and typically raised from the dead before he could bless. A155

And Esau -- Realizing that under the Abrahamic promise all the families of the earth to be blessed must include the family of Esau also. R4388:1

Things to come -- See Genesis 28:3,4. R1624:2

Hebrews 11:21

By faith Jacob -- Israel was impulsed by faith in the promise made to Abraham that God would use his posterity and through it bless all people. R5244:4

A dying -- On his death-bed. R4388:1

The sons of Joseph -- Jacob recognized that the blessings that were to come to his family were all under divine supervision and all included in the original promise made to Abraham. R4388:1

His staff -- The headpost of his bed. R4388:1

Hebrews 11:22

Concerning his bones -- Signified that Joseph would thus testify his faith in a resurrection of the dead. R4388:2, 1646:5

This does not necessarily imply that he thought the bones and the dust that had once constituted his entity would be necessary to God in his resurrection. R4388:2

Fleshly Israel mistakenly thought the preservation of the body necessary to a resurrection. R2601:6

Hebrews 11:23

By faith -- While working out his grand designs on a large scale, God is not unmindful of the faith and devotion of humble individuals who put their trust in him. R1651:2

Of his parents -- Who had doubtless previously prayed that his life might be spared. R2902:6

The parents of Moses are well spoken of in the Old Testament, while in the New Testament we are distinctly told that they were people of faith, and counted in the noble list of Ancient Worthies. R5251:3, 2902:4

Hebrews 11:24

Moses -- Represented the faithful overcomers who preceded our Lord. R2289:1; B20; F677

Refused to be called -- Renounced the privileges of the throne of Egypt, to which he was by adoption the heir; a testimony of his faith in God. R4388:2, 5116:6

He relinquished all these earthly advantages. R5418:3

Hebrews 11:25

Choosing rather -- Perhaps his first test--would his faith be equal to the task of casting in his lot with the enslaved and oppressed people, and thus losing caste with Pharaoh and the Egyptians of influence. R5252:1

How noble was Moses course, and how much approved of the Lord! It is proper that all who know and love righteousness and justice should take a firm stand upon these principles. R2909:1

Suffer affliction -- In associating with them he was showing his esteem for the reproaches of the Anointed. R4388:2

Suffered on account of his faith in the promise. R5117:1

The people of God -- He preferred to share with God's chosen people, Israel, in their affliction. R5418:3

The people of the Abrahamic promise. R4388:2

The despised people. R2909:2

Pleasures of sin -- And injustice. R2909:1

The pleasures of an Egyptian court. R1651:2, 74:6*

Riches and honors might have been his as an adopted member of the royal family--he might even have become the reigning Pharaoh. R5252:2

Hebrews 11:26

Reproach of Christ -- The Egyptians had learned that the Israelites believed themselves to be the heirs of the promises--that through this nation should come the great Messiah. R2909:2

Treasures in Egypt -- Participation in the honors of the Egyptian government. R5116:6

To dwell in luxury with the others. R4388:2

Riches which were accruing to the Egyptians through the oppression and bondage of the Israelites. R2909:1

He had respect -- He hoped by allying himself with his own people to preserve his share in the Abrahamic promises. R2909:2

Of the reward -- The promise made to Israel's fathers. R5418:3

In order to have the proper respect for the reward which God promises, it is necessary that we hold it up before us continually. R5082:2

Hebrews 11:27

He endured -- The endurance of trials and testings is only possible to those who have the eye of faith. R4388:2

Who is invisible -- To natural eyes. R5951:3

The invisible King of glory and his, as yet, invisible Kingdom. R4388:2

The unseen world is the source of wisdom, strength and comfort to the pilgrims, as disciples, as soldiers, and as afflicted men. R74:6*

The poor world who know not this invisible Friend above all others, are to be greatly pitied. R4784:5

Kept the passover -- That being the type--certainly it is important that we keep the antitype. R212:4*

We have no reason to suppose that to any considerable extent it was possible for him to comprehend the real meaning of the Passover. R4388:2

Through the Red sea -- Typifying the ultimate deliverance of the world. CR471:3

Hebrews 11:30

By faith -- Faith is an essential; but we must have crossed Jordan, have been justified and sanctified--before we could exercise such faith as would result in victory over our Jericho. R3088:4

Not until we understand and have faith in the Word of the Lord, are we able to blend the shout of victory with the sound of the trumpets and see the obstacles to self-mortification fall before us. R1858:4, 4071:4

Walls of Jericho -- It was a miracle, however it was to be accounted for. R3087:5

Possibly an earthquake may have been caused at that particular spot so as to affect the walls, or possibly it was caused by the dynamic force in certain chords of sound. R3087:5

It required faith on the part of Joshua to issue such instructions; and on the part of the priests and armed men to carry them out, and on the part of all the people to expect that the walls would fall down flat. R3087:3

Seven days -- Before the wall fell, the faith of the circumcised ones was made active as shown in the seven days marching around the city, and seven times on the seventh day, representing completeness. R4070:3, 1857:3

The harlot Rahab -- Typifying the Great Company class. R4054:2

God has been choosing the sincere, the honest, the faithful, notwithstanding lowliness of birth, natural blemishes and imperfections. R4388:3

There is nothing in the Scriptures that militates against women. R4749:3

Received the spies -- Rahab's faith amounted to the hiding of the spies, etc. R330:1

Hebrews 11:32

Time would fail me -- After giving us a wonderful galaxy, the Apostle seems to realize that he has only well begun the list. R4388:4

A partial roll-call of the heroes of faith--battles in ancient times. R5188:2

To tell of -- Their experiences were far from enviable: they were generally reviled, many of them being imprisoned and put to violent deaths. A54; HG536:6

Samson -- Rated as a faithful servant of God, according to the Law. His faithfulness consisted in his loyalty to the divine requirements, to the cause of God and to Israel. His whole life was used in serving his people. R5613:2

He possessed meekness, gentleness, patience, etc. in some measure, no doubt. R4087:3, 4612:2

In a hundred ways Samson was neither a Christian nor an example to Christians. R5613:2, 4087:3

David -- Whose soul is still in sheol, in hell. E377

Samuel -- A prophet of the Lord. NS700:1

Hebrews 11:33

Who -- And others who were not so honored and prominent, but who had the honor of having pleased God. R5528:2

Others not so notable. R5774:3, 4038:1

A hasty word-picture of the nature of their triumphs. R5188:2

We are not called upon to endure greater trials than those worthies of the past. R28:3*

Hebrews 11:35

Women -- The Scriptures do not discriminate against women. In this Gospel Age, they have the opportunity of being joint-heirs with Christ. R4749:3

Received their dead -- Not actually, but by faith. F704, 705

Raised to life again -- Greek, anastasis. Certain women, although not sharers in the battles, were sharers in the losses, and in the faith, permitting them to look into the future and to trust God for a resurrection of their dead ones. This view finds support in verse 39.

Generally understood to refer to the re-awakening of two children by Elijah and Elisha; but if so, we believe that the holy Spirit would have guided the Apostle to the use of the Greek word egeiro. R1512:4; F704
By resurrection. (Revised Version) F705

To natural life. R93:1

Not accepting -- On ignoble terms which would necessitate disloyalty to God. R1409:3

Some valiantly overcame obstacles and would not compromise their conscience to procure deliverance. R1179:6

Deliverance -- Greek, apolutrosis, the one place where this word, usually mistranslated "redemption," is properly rendered. E438

They -- The Ancient Worthies. R5167:1

Justified to fellowship with God. F119

Might obtain -- Desired. R5073:6 Better resurrection -- Greek, anastasis. R1512:4, 93:1

More favorable. R1179:6

An awakening from death to instantaneous human perfection. D619; F699; R5474:5, 5167:1, 4555:2, 1972:5, 1872:5, 1179:6; Q12:4, 13:3

Resurrection to human perfection, actual justification, actual righteousness. R4574:1, 4598:5

Having been approved of the Lord in the past they will be granted restitution instantly. R4574:5; NS520:4

The reward for their faithfulness unto death. F119; R5293:5, 4612:2, 1409:3

Better than that given to the remainder of mankind. R5073:6, 5761:4, 5528:2, 5167:1, 4640:2, 4574:2,5, 1872:5

The remainder of the race will require a thousand years during which to come back gradually to the original condition lost by Adam. R5167:1, 1872:5; D619; NS520:5

A more favorable condition. R2796:4, 2677:1

Than would have been theirs if they had not pleased God. R5108:3

They will come forth perfect men; as Adam was before his sin, and with hearts and wills developed, exercised, tested, proved loyal to God.

R5317:4, 5074:1, 4598:5; Q406:T; NS236:6, 520:4, 784:3 The Ancient Worthies will constitute the firstfruits on the earthly plane. R4574:5

Life resurrection--because of their faith in the original (Sarah)

Covenant. R4320:2

Under the New Covenant arrangements and under the Mediator of that New Covenant. R4555:2

We believe that they will have need of further experience. R4612:2

They will not have the decision of the divine court, respecting their worthiness for eternal life, until the conclusion of the trial at the end of the Millennial Age. R5074:6, 4598:6; Q13:1

They will not have full access to the Heavenly Father until the close of the Millennial Age. R4612:5,4; Q12:4, 13:T

Not in the sense of belonging to the spirit plane. R5167:1

There is no direct promise of God in the Law or the Prophets of a special reward. R1409:3

Hebrews 11:37

They -- The Ancient Worthies, because of their loyalty to God and the principles of righteousness. R5291:2

In hope of a better resurrection. R2109:4

Such in some sort or measure is the lot of the elect Church of Christ. R624:1*

It is possible to endure figurative scorching or stoning, and to have our names cast out as evil, etc., but there is no advantage that the Church can claim over the Ancient Worthies. R4653:4

The last days of many were tragic and they filled the martyr's grave.

R1646:2

Were sawn asunder -- Isaiah is said to have been sawn asunder. R2371:6

Hebrews 11:38

Of whom -- All the patriarchs desired to be in harmony with God.

R5117:1; T107

They were a noble example of those who laid down their lives for the truth. R705:5; OV11:4

Their lives were consecrated to God and to righteousness. Q157:1; R5168:2

Their period of disciplinary favor developed noble characters. R1201:6

Not worthy -- By their sufferings, painful and ignominious deaths, they demonstrated that the world was unworthy of them. R5168:2

Who will yet occupy honorable positions as chiefs among men. R1202:1, 1533:4, 1457:3; NS236:6

The transgressions against these, in proportion as they were committed with a degree of light, were to be settled for by the transgressors.

R5463:4

In dens and caves -- In olden times there were bitter persecutions of God's people, and those persecuted were obliged to live in caves and dens of the earth. R5463:4

They will be earthly judges, "I will restore thy judges as at the first and thy counsellors as at the beginning." (Isa. 1:26) NS748:3
Those Ancient Worthies who strove so faithfully and loyally to endeavor to keep the Law will get a rich reward. R5946:3
They shall not perfectly receive the things promised them until the seed (Christ) has first received its reward. R220:4; HG734:4
Not inherit the earthly good things promised to them. E144
Their loyalty to God and to righteousness is to be abundantly rewarded--an earthly blessing in the paradise to be established by Messiah's Kingdom throughout the entire earth. R5772:3

They will not have the decision of the divine court, respecting their worthiness for eternal life, until the conclusion of the trial at the end of the Millennial Age. R5074:6, 4598:6; Q13:1

Eventually, the destinies of those faithful before the cross, and those faithful since the cross, will be united in the Kingdom. R5263:5

Enoch and Elijah were not delivered completely from death, because the ransom had not yet been paid. R838:5

Moses and Elijah were not actually present on the Mount of transfiguration. R3345:3, 2659:5, 2342:4, 2288:6, 1761:2, 620:1; Q761:3

Wherever Enoch and Elijah may be, they are not perfected--they have not escaped the bondage of corruption. They are still under the sentence of death. R3417:5, 3378:1

The Scriptures seem to imply that the Ancient Worthies will at the close of the Millennium receive a still further blessing, namely, that they will be changed from human to spirit nature. R4389:1

Hebrews 12

Hebrews 12:1

Wherefore -- Therefore. R2035:4

Then you that discern the prize of your high calling. R3149:2

The Apostle exhorts to look backwards at the list of Ancient Worthies and to consider what they endured and how faithful and loyal to God they were. R5859:5

Directing our minds back to the preceding context. In view of the great things accomplished by these faithful characters of the past who manifested such faith and confidence in God. R5318:3

In forceful metaphor, pointing us back to the Ancient Worthies as a stimulus for faith and zeal. R2035:4

Seeing we also are -- Also we being. R2035:4

Compassed about -- Encompassed. R5318:3

Many surrounding you of those whose lives testified to the truth--martyrs who were cut off from home privileges and from life itself. R5318:3

Cloud -- Crowd. R2035:4

Continually surrounds us. The experiences of the Ancient Worthies are our experiences. At every step of our journey we find encouragement, strength, from the contemplation of their course. R5319:1

Of witnesses -- Greek, marturon, martyrs, who so nobly witnessed for God and righteousness. R2035:4, 5318:3, 4513:3, 4389:5

The Ancient Worthies. R5318:3, 4513:3, 2035:4

Consider them as watching us, to whom has been given the great blessing and privilege of becoming sons of God. R5859:5

These Ancient Worthies, through the achievements of their lives, are looking down on you. The fact that they were even then dead need not detract from the Apostle's figure of speech. R5318:6

As we look back to the faithful witnesses of the past, we find that they carried very few weights along with them. They cast them aside, and ran with patience the course before them. R5319:3

Not used in the sense of onlookers. R5318:3

Let us -- The Church class, the Little Flock. R5859:5

Let the inspiration of their example spur us on to the greatest faithfulness in running our race. R5318:3

As we recall how faithfully they endured and achieved what was set before them, how careful we should be in running the race for glory, honor and immortality. R5318:6

Emulate them. R2035:4

Lay aside -- Cast it aside. Q723:1; HG453:3

Seek daily to lay aside. HG371:3

"He that hath this hope in him purifieth himself, even as he is pure." (1 John 3:3) R3168:4

If any have not been zealously and voluntarily suffering with their Savior, they should appeal in prayer for help, and study afresh the precious promises. R4921:4

Otherwise he will be so handicapped that he will not run well. R5319:2

Not all weights and hindrances are to be cast aside. A man with a wife and children must not throw these aside. R5319:3

One who is unmarried should consider carefully how many children he should have on each shoulder, or whether he should have a wife on his shoulders.

Some might be hindered with a wife. R5319:4

Every weight -- Cares of this life, the deceitfulness of riches, pleasures. R5440:5

Hindrance and worldly ambition. R3857:3, 2702:6, 1790:5 Unnecessary worldly cares. R3149:3

Earthly aims and projects. HG453:3; NS617:2

Every hindrance, everything that would prevent our running grandly and successfully the race for the great prize which Jesus obtained. R5859:6

Differs in different persons--inherited titles, honor, position, wealth, talent along some line, love of the approval of men, etc. R5319:1,2

And the sin -- One of the greatest hindrances to our running this race is inherited sin in our members. R5859:6

There may be one sin or weakness that would especially beset you--your special danger. Q723:1

Every besetment, everything precious to us of an earthly kind. R2702:6

Every besetting sin. NS371:5, 396:4, 404:6

Every besetment of the flesh. NS367:3

Encumbrance. R5423:5

If the sin be an inherited weakness, a part of one's very nature, he shall run in the race, not walk nor sit, but run, bending all his energy to win, straining every muscle, every power of his being. R5319:4

So easily beset us -- Whichever weakness may be a special besetment. R4921:5

Close-girding sins--the sin which wraps itself closely around us. R5319:4; E139; Q723:1

Every weakness of the flesh, and every earthly ambition. F369

If we cannot rid ourselves entirely, we must put it off to such an extent that it will not interfere with our running. R5319:4

Run -- Not like one who is merely beating the air, but like one who has a purpose in view. (1 Cor. 9:26) R3149:3

To the extent of our ability. NS355:6

By contrast with those who "sit" in the darkness. A25

That we may attain unto the mark of the prize. F729; R4911:4

The prize of the high calling is not for the easy-going Christian. R2123:1; SM106:1

Seek to win a right to the Kingdom, not to put on the dress of a racer merely, but to so run as to obtain the prize, which implies weariness, difficulties and obstacles to be encountered. R521:4

With patience -- Greek, hupomone; cheerful endurance; constancy. R2791:1, 5651:4, 4911:4, 2792:2

Not only perseveringly. R5859:6

The race must be run with constancy if we would reach the "mark," that having done all, we may stand. R2792:2; F369

Patiently to the end. R5423:5

Trials, difficulties, rightly borne, are developing character. R5319:5

Whoever would obtain so great a prize will need patience, to be proven and tested in all points as respect loyalty and devotion to the heavenly Father, the truth, and the brethren. R5859:6

Endure the tests and enjoy the reconciliation with the Father now. NS367:3

The race -- The higher, heavenly race. R2035:4

The uphill one, the difficult one. NS414:5

The narrow way. SM167:2

For the crown of life, for joint-heirship with our Lord, for a share with him in the great work of blessing all the families of the earth. SM93:2; R5423:4; NS338:6, 404:6

We are to consider ourselves as running a race. We are to view the affairs of the present life as from a race-course. R5319:1, 5859:5

The race is not imaginary, but real, that the Lord has arranged, and he has definitely stated the terms, the assistance to be expected, and the prize at the end of the course. R5319:4

Our success in which will be in proportion as we love not the world, lay aside besetting sins, assemble with God's children, and study the Scriptures. F729

That we might attain unto a glorious inheritance, incorruptible, undefiled, and that fadeth not away. NS89:3

This "high calling" to joint-heirship is a very special and limited call; it will soon end and it will never be repeated. R4979:1; OV84:1

As runners in the Grecian games would strip themselves of all that was not absolutely necessary, so the Christian should lay aside all possible weights and hindrances in his course. R5319:1

Not a race merely to the strong, and a victory to the swift. It is a race in which each one, according to the earnestness of his effort, will be rewarded. R5319:6

Set before us -- In the Gospel. R5199:4, 4979:4, 4921:5, 4911:4, 3168:4, 2755:4, 2622:5, 1790:5; F369, 729; NS414:5

In the good tidings. NS371:5

Set before believers during this Gospel age. NS414:5

Remembering that he who is on our part, and who has engaged to help us and to carry us through every difficulty, is Jesus. R2892:4

Hebrews 12:2

Looking unto Jesus -- Looking away to. R1641:4, 174:5*

In whose footsteps we seek to run. R2616:6; OV330:1

If we keep looking at the things behind, we lose sight of the heavenly things. R1263:4

"We see Jesus," by mental perception. (Heb. 2:9) "We look not at the things which are seen, but at the things which are not seen." (2 Cor. 4:18) T85

There are two principles involved in the word look, two mediums by which we are enabled to discern objects--light and the eye. R196:2*

It is one purpose in this epistle to show that in all things Jesus has the preeminence. R174:2*

Setting aside, in the presence of Jesus, God's gallery of portraits. R174:5*

The author -- Starter. E39

The Leader, gone before; the One through whom we are privileged to enter this race. R5859:6, 174:5*

Our Ransomer is also our forerunner and pattern. R2035:4, 521:4

The first runner in this course. R521:4

The completer. R174:5:8

He who by his example and teaching has inspired our faith will, if we continue to follow his leading, finish, perfect it. R1830:1

The One who has promised us grace sufficient for every time of need. R5859:6; NS807:6

Giving us grace to conquer, and keeping us through his Word and through his providences unto the end of the race. R2755:4, 645:6*

He will finish our faith by giving us a share in that glorious resurrection. CR462:6; NS355:6

The prize, or high calling. R4535:3, 4982:4; CR208:3

Of being the Head of the New Creation. F65

His chief joy in connection was that he might demonstrate to the Father his absolute love by his submission and obedience. NS813:4

Certain joys, blessings, promises, in connection with the work of man's redemption. NS438:2, 812:6

Joy came to the support of his endurance and helped him win the victory.

Sympathy for this poor, groaning creation inspired this joy. R4246:4*

Jesus ran in the great race and by faith looked forward to the joy. R5859:6

The Father did not compel the Son to be our Redeemer. NS751:2, 613:1, 848:1

Set before him -- By the heavenly Father. R5684:1, 5859:6, 1566:1

Exaltation to the divine nature. R5064:1, 4964:3, 4535:6, 387:2; CR310:4; OV22:3, 114:4; Q394:T

This expression implies he had some knowledge of the nature of the work which he had come to accomplish. R5128:1

To do God's will; laying down his life; being made "a partaker of the divine nature." R3391:4

The Son of God undertook the heavy task of his own free will. R1566:1

The coming of the Logos into the world was a voluntary matter. R5430:1

He resigned any pre-human rights. R4905:1; Q442:3

Trying experiences proved him loyal to God. R5215:2, 5859:6, 5352:4

Our Lord had an aspiration. There are worthy incentives; otherwise the Father would not have set one before his Son. R5321:3

The thought that should inspire us is that if we are faithful in the things of this present time, the Lord will make us ruler over many things.

R5321:3

The entire work of redemption is of the Father though through the Son. E38

Endured -- Doing the Father's will under conditions that would be distressing, painful, humiliating--unhesitatingly enduring all the oppositions and contradictions of sinners against himself, and besetments of the devil. E119

He has this great reward because of his obedience even unto death, the death of the cross. R4964:3, 314:5; E119; HG459:5

If his was a race of trial, discouragement and conflicts with evil, we should expect the same, and not be surprised at fiery trials. R521:4
The heavenly Father well knew in advance the loyalty of his first-begotten. NS438:2, 812:5
To be a follower of Jesus is not to be carried to glory on flowery beds of ease. R521:3

Despising -- Ignored. OV22:3

The shame -- And ignominy. R5684:1

The shame was as nothing in his sight in comparison with the accomplishment of the Father's purposes, the pleasing of the Father. R2467:5

His way to the crown was the way of the shameful cross. R2035:5

And is set down -- And now as a result. R5972:3

As a consequence. E394; R1879:3, 2035:4; NS751:3

As a reward for obedience. R5768:4, 5859:6, 1566:1; E119; NS848:1; OV330:1

At the right hand -- The place of favor. E394; R1879:3

Condition of chief favor, next to Jehovah. T52

As Prince, Savior, Messiah, the King of Glory. NS848:2

Far above angels and every name that is named. (Phil. 2:9) R5352:4; E394;

T52; NS751:3, 709:1; OV330:1 Whither we also may go to him. R2035:5

Of the throne -- Authority and rulership. A92

Divine Majesty. R5859:6, 5768:4, 5215:2; NS438:2, 812:6; 848:1, 850:1; OV330:1

Henceforth expecting, waiting, until the time shall come for him to bless Adam and his race for whom he has already died. R5972:3; NS850:1

Hebrews 12:3

For consider him -- Christ. R1721:6

Study out, comprehend his course. R3313:5

His example and teaching. R2035:5, 1721:6

Take note of--have in mind--reflect upon. R4802:2

The meekness, patience, and sufferings of Christ endured most unjustly. R2313:5, 1964:5

Take courage from the life of our beloved Master. R164:6

In our trials and difficulties remember what extreme experiences in suffering the Master endured. R5684:1, 28:2*

We should be glad to walk in his footsteps, to endure the same experiences, to drink whatever the Father shall pour out for us in our cup--his cup. R5684:4

The Apostle had just been pointing out the faithfulness of our Lord Jesus. R5684:1

If we faithfully endure to the end, the reward will be ours. R4802:3

That endured -- Patiently. R4802:3, 3585:4, 1964:5

With such meekness. R3866:5

When trying experiences came to him, he did not consider them as merely from the individual but as being under the supervision of the Father.

R4802:3

"Love suffereth long and is kind." (1 Cor. 13:4) R2204:2

Such contradiction -- Such opposition. R5684:1, 4802:6, 3313:5

Smiting; spitting; crucifying; piercing. E159

Contradiction of his words. His doctrines were disputed and he was slandered. R4802:5

Before his consecration our Lord had no such trials and contradictions, as he had afterwards. R5089:2

"When he was reviled, he reviled not again." (1 Pet. 2:23) R4802:6

Our trials, or disciplines, in meeting every opposition should bring correction in righteousness. R4897:2

Of sinners -- The weaknesses, perversities, etc., of his own people, through whose malice he was eventually crucified. NS380:3

Against himself -- Opposition to everything he did--resulting in his murder. R5684:1

Lest ye be wearied -- Greek, kamno, spiritually weary, as in "The prayer of faith shall save the sick." (James 5:15) R4099:2*

In well doing and patience. R2204:2

When enduring comparatively light afflictions. R2313:5

Under the trials of faith, patience and endurance of this evil day. R2035:5

And thus fail to be an overcomer. R4921:5

How many become weary and are in danger of losing the prize because they fail to consider what the Lord faithfully endured of opposition. R4804:1

We are to feel assured that nothing can befall us except with the knowledge of the Father who is working all things for our good. R4803:6

Faint in your minds -- Greek, psuche, soul. E335

When attacked by the Adversary--whoever may be his agents and whatever may be their missiles. R4802:6

We are not to faint in our minds nor become discouraged, feeling that so much has been said against us that we must give up the race. R4803:6

Some may do well for a while, but later become weary and faint, and seem to fulfil the scapegoat experiences. R4921:2

"Pray without ceasing." (1 Thess. 5:17) Pray in faith, nothing doubting.

R5709:5, 5710:1

Hebrews 12:4

Resisted unto blood -- Unto death. R2557:4, 1641:4; CR274:4; NS240:3

As Jesus did. R1335:3, 5684:1

We have not yet passed through the trying experiences which he passed through. R4802:2

We are to resist evil even unto blood. NS240:3

We have not resisted to death, it has not yet cost us our lives to be faithful to the truth and righteousness, but our Heavenly Father wants such as will be faithful even unto death. CR230:4

We really suffer very little and give up very little. R5684:2

The exhortation -- An inspired comment on Prov. 3:11,12. R1520:1, 2053:2

Despise not -- Slight not. (Diaglott) R772:3*

We should accept grievous chastisement as from a loving Father. R722:4, 2613:2

The chastening -- Greek, paideuo, to discipline, to instruct, to teach--chastening becomes a part of the discipline only when the subject is an unwilling one. R772:3*, 2007:6

Includes correction when we have erred from the way, and the experiences which we receive along life's pathway when we are not straying. R3132:6, 2007:6

His chastening rod has aroused us from dreamy lethargy and urged us on our way. R1281:2, 3695:3

With the most careful and prayerful watching we will doubtless make some missteps and need some of the Lord's chastening. R1748:5, 5807:4

Nor faint -- Neither be discouraged. R772:3*

Rebuked -- Rebukes and reproofs of the Lord for sin and unfaithfulness are "third class" sufferings. R2008:1

Hebrews 12:6

Whom the Lord -- The Father. R2425:6*

Loveth -- The graces of humility and patience are closely related to love and loyalty. R5217:1

Christ's special love for his Church, clearly distinguished from the world. R1254:5

A doctrine peculiar to Christianity. R4325:1

He chasteneth -- He disciplines. R2425:6*, 2007:6, 1745:5, 772:3*

Instructs, trains up; he comes with the comforting influences of his spirit and turns our sufferings into blessings. R424:1*

He chastens none others. OV131:5

He who escapes all trials and temptations and difficulties has every reason to doubt that he is really a son. R5459:4

It is a wonderful privilege of the Church to have their trial in this age that they may enjoy the exceeding great and precious reward. R569:3

To whatever extent the new creature gives consent or sympathy to the sin of his flesh is worthy of "stripes" which correctively will assist in his character development. Q603:6

Every son receiveth chastisement to fit him for future service and to demonstrate worthiness of being counted in as a Body member. R5482:1

Those chastisements that came to our Lord were not deserved, but were experiences by which he proved his thorough loyalty and worthiness of exaltation. R5482:1

"Think it not strange concerning the fiery trial that is to try us." (1 Pet. 4:12) R569:3, 2412:3,4, 1944:2, 569:3, 199:4*; NS447:5

And scourgeth -- Chastises. R5147:4

When we wander or neglect to do what he teaches us is duty. R424:1*

This promise guarantees that we shall have trials and difficulties to develop us in the proper character-likeness of our Lord. R5081:4, 4513:3; NS447:6

The followers of Christ are not exempted from persecution, affliction, sorrows, trials, difficulties. R4138:4; SM271:T

Every son -- To be a son implies both special favor and special endurance. R1008:4

The Lord gives every son trials and difficulties. R5459:5, 4138:4, 4989:3, 1008:4

Afflictions and troubles come upon the world as well as upon the Lord's saints but are not marks of sonship except to those who have fully consecrated to the Father's will and work. E233; R374:2

Our Lord learned obedience by the things which he suffered. (Heb. 5:8) R5147:4

Whom he receiveth -- Not necessarily all who make a consecration will have the opportunity of reaching this mark of crystallization of character before they die. R5081:4

Endure chastening -- Patiently endure. R1721:2

Discipline. R2007:6, 772:3*; E231

Trials of faith, of patience, of character, to which others would not be subjected. R2761:1

Many of which are not punishments for sin, but preparation for the work of the next age. R5147:1,6, 3133:1

Whoever does not appreciate the spiritual joys can hardly be expected to endure the present training with patience and thankfulness. R5147:6

Our experience is a test of our loyalty of heart--as to our willingness to learn the lesson which the Lord teaches and our recognition of the source from which they come. R5147:1,3,5

The taking away of the dross and the development of the fruit-bearing qualities. E231

God dealeth -- That we may be fully conformed to the divine will. R5147:2

The Jews forgot that they were a people for a purpose, and that to fit them for divine service in the future, trying experiences were permitted, and were really evidences of divine favor. R4930:3

With you -- The Church needs practical lessons in character-development of a very high order, and they are receiving experimental knowledge that no other creatures in the Universe receive. R5147:2

As with sons -- God has engaged to treat them as sons, not as servants; not as opposers or enemies, but as children. R5624:2

Such experiences are not for mankind, or for the angels; but for those who are to be associated with the Redeemer. R5147:3

Preparing them for positions of honor, and untellable blessings in the future. R2761:1

We are not sons of God according to the flesh, but according to the new creation, the interests of which are often best served by experiences which are not favorable to the flesh. R5624:2

What son -- Our Lord was a true son, and hence had his share of chastisements. R3133:1, 772:4*, 28:2*

We are called to follow in Christ's footsteps. R5147:4

A son requires more careful training than a servant; for he is to be his representative and heir. R2405:4

Whom the father -- Is there any son whom a father does not discipline? (Diaglott) R772:3*

Chasteneth -- Correcteth. R5275:2, 3133:1, 2613:2, 1748:5, 424:4*
Discipline or instruction in righteousness. R5147:2, 2007:6, 1748:5, 1721:2; NS162:2

Should not be understood as meaning disapproval on the part of our Father, and sin on the part of the individual, but rather instruction. R4897:1

Corrective lessons that we might become sympathetic toward others. R5275:1, 4138:4

Our Lord received as a part of the "cup," various trials and disciplines. R4897:1

If the new creature gives consent or sympathy to sin, he is worthy of stripes, which correctly will assist in his character development. Q507:5

"He that spareth his rod hateth his son." (Prov. 13:24) F524

Hebrews 12:8

Without chastisement -- If ye receive not discipline, fiery trial. R1944:3; C352

Discipline, correction, training. R1721:2, 5879:4, 2007:6, 1944:3; NS162:2; Q356:4

Storms, trials and difficulties. R5239:2

Trials, persecution, oppositions of some kind in the present time. R3322:4, 2412:4, 521:3

Discipline (Diaglott) necessary to preparation for the grand and glorious future work. R521:3, 3807:2, 3133:1, 772:3*, 528:3

Trials, testings and temptations are necessary for our development as new creatures. R3807:2, 3322:4

Corrective chastisements, or judgments, will be upon those who incline to wander from the narrow way, intended to reclaim, to establish in the ways of righteousness. NS162:2

All of God's people need chastisements for their correction and development, some more and some less. R5721:2, 3807:2; Q356:4

Tested in order to prove the depth and sincerity of their sanctification. R1316:3

Instead of regarding sufferings as evidences of disownment by the Lord, we should look for and receive them as evidences that we are accepted as sons, and in training for the promised royal honors. R521:4

The truth will cost something. Faithfulness to the Lord will cost much. R5879:4

Whereof all -- All true sons of God. R1721:2

All who are designed to be sharers of God's Kingdom power. R521:3

Some by a look, some by a word, others by scourgings and some repeatedly. E233; R374:2

Are partakers -- Judged by this standard, there have been some faithful unto death all the way down through this Gospel Age. D567

Then are ye bastards -- Then are ye spurious. R5721:2, 4663:3, 2007:6, 772:3*, 521:3; D576; Q356:4

Begotten of error instead of truth--tares. D576

If any one lack disciplines, prunings, after having become identified with the Vine, he lacks the "witness of the Spirit," and correspondingly has reason to doubt his acceptance with the Lord. E231

Whoever has not shared persecution has every reason to doubt his relationship to God as a son. D576

Lack proof that they are God's children. R5239:2, 3322:4, 521:4, 374:2

Experiencing trials and difficulties removes this fear. R3283:6

Not sons -- Not real sons. R2007:6

Not new creatures. R3322:4, 521:3

Not real heirs of the Kingdom. R521:4; C352

Correcteth us -- Have we then received discipline from our natural fathers. (Diaglott) R772:3*

Shall we not -- Shall we hope to escape discipline and training? Not unless we despise it, refuse to receive it, and turn our backs upon it, ignoring our covenant entirely, implying open rebellion. R772:4*

Be in subjection -- Submissive. (Diaglott) R772:3*

Chastened -- Disciplined. (Diaglott) R772:3*

After their own pleasure -- According as it seemed right to them. (Diaglott) R772:3*

For our profit -- For our advantage. (Diaglott) R772:3*

All of spiritual Israel's affairs are under the Lord's care--"He doth not willingly afflict the children of men, but for their good." (Lam. 3:33)
R3061:2, 4876:5

Might be partakers -- In order that we may partake. (Diaglott) R772:3*

First, reckonedly, in Christ, and second, more and more actually by the eradication of our sinful tendencies and development of the fruits and graces through chastisements, experience. R3280:2

Hebrews 12:11

No chastening -- No persecution. R5395:4

No discipline. R2007:6, 1944:4

Establishment in the faith is gained by a gradual steady growth under the discipline of suffering. R1053:3; HG373:3

Corrections in doctrine and character. R4449:3*

"Filling up that which is behind of the afflictions of Christ." (Col. 1:24) R28:1*, 424:4*

It yieldeth -- A manifestation of the indwelling of the Lord's spirit.

R2804:1; HG373:3

Their hearts, being fully submissive and anxious to learn, they rejoice therein. HG373:4

The peaceable fruit -- Blessed effects. R5395:5

Meekness, gentleness, patience, love. R5899:3

The lessons of experience and discipline have made you stronger, increased your faith, and drawn you into closer communion and fellowship with the Lord. R4897:3, 1721:3; HG373:3

"Tribulation worketh patience; and patience experience; and experience, hope." (Rom. 5:3) R1721:3

Of righteousness -- If we know that we are suffering for righteousness' sake, then we know the spirit of God rests upon us. R5395:5

We should trust the Lord and patiently accept whatever experiences may come to us, knowing that he could interfere and protect us, and whatever he permits must be for our good. R1780:1; HG373:3

When trials come we know that it is all for the best and a blessing from the Lord. HG373:3

Exercised thereby -- Rightly exercised. R1780:1, 4449:3*

Properly trained. R2007:6

In the exercise of patience, the lessons of experience make one stronger. R1721:3

Unto godliness, sobriety, and deep and fervent piety. R1944:4

Thus preparing them for a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory. E411; R5627:4; PD68/81

Wherefore -- Therefore. R773:1*

Make a desperate and continuous effort to render such a sacrifice as will be acceptable and well pleasing to God. R773:1*

Lift up -- Brace up the wearied hands. R773:1*

Hebrews 12:13

Make straight paths -- Level paths. Arrange your circumstances as far as possible, so as to help and not hinder you. R773:1*

Avoid trials and temptations which would be a special strain upon us, because of our weaknesses of the flesh! R5975:4

Love of righteousness should lead to the sacrifice of temporal interests. R2853:3

Think less of earthly advantages, social, political and financial, and think much more of the moral and spiritual influences and advantages, obtainable through isolation from the evil which is in the world. R2849:1

We should seek such a dwelling place as will conduce to our occasional interchanges with the household of faith. R4090:5

Being shod with the needful preparation, we may not so much feel the sharpness and ruggedness of the way. R825:2

As we find out what our weaknesses are, physical and mental, we should endeavor to shape our course of life accordingly, so as to be able to overcome the difficulties of the way and the besetments of the Adversary. R4348:1

By choosing such a course as will not unnecessarily aggravate and excite our weaknesses, and thus make us the more lame. R4348:2

Be courageous, strong, determined for the right --especially in matters of self control. R5975:5

If a man have an appetite for liquor, he should avoid everything that would tend to arouse that appetite. R5099:2

Take the Vow not as a fetish or charm to ward off the Adversary, but take it intelligently as unto the Lord, and throw your influence in favor of it to all the dear brethren in Christ. R4350:1

For your -- The strongest need to remember this text, and the weaker ones need to obey it. R5975:4

Feet -- That we might walk pleasing to the Lord. R5099:3

That which is lame -- Blemished through sin. R2849:1, 4348:2

We are all lame. None is able to walk uprightly, perfectly, in the footprints of our Lord. At very best, we limp. R5975:4, 4348:1

We are to seek to overcome our lameness, not only by praying "Abandon us not in temptation," but also seeking to avoid the temptation in all ways, by the exercise of our wills, by mental resolutions, or vows. R4348:2,6, 3807:3

Lameness or likings for certain things which as consecrated ones we have not right to. R773:1*

Out of the way -- Of righteousness. R2849:1

The Vow has proven helpful to the saints in that it has drawn to their particular attention certain dangers of the way, counseling as respects their abiding in the Lord's favor. R5975:1

Hebrews 12:14

Follow peace -- "Blessed are the peacemakers." (Matt 5:9) R3735:6

Jesus did not desire his followers to take the sword. R5922:4

The fact that we are counseled to be peacemakers implies that there will be opposition. R5923:2

"Be subject to the powers that be," (Rom. 13:1) as far as possible. R5952:5

Combativeness is necessary, or we could never overcome. But we need to restrain ourselves that we do not fight the brethren; and we are not to enter into a personal combat with the devil. R5923:6, 3735:6

With all men -- So far as possible. R5952:5

And holiness -- Moral purity. R1739:2

A setting apart, sanctifying, separating from the world, by divine authority, and for the accomplishment of the divine purposes. R714:2*, 127:5*

Separation, setting apart to God's service. R714:5*

"Blessed are the pure in heart, for they shall see God." (Matt. 5:8)

R2587:3, 1739:2, 121:5*

The righteousness of Christ is applied to such who desire to forsake sin. R2155:6

Faithful strivers shall ultimately attain absolute holiness, soundness, perfection--in the resurrection. R3280:2

As we come to appreciate God's character, it inspires within us a great desire to be like him. R5923:5

Without which -- Holiness. R2587:3

In the sense that none but such will experience the glorious change of the first resurrection. SM458:1

No man shall -- The Church. This text has been misused in urging the world to become Christians. R714:5*

The "great multitude" when they see the Lord, are holy. R156:3*

Not appreciated by Universalists. R221:2*, 403:3*

See the Lord -- Greek, horao, discern. R714:5*

At his second coming. R1904:1

Those who get spots upon their robes and leave them there will not be fit for the Kingdom of God. R5924:4

Hebrews 12:15

Any man -- The wilful sinner, once enlightened and blessed with the hallowed influences of the holy Spirit and the truth. R5990:1, 1913:6

Fail -- All who, after being justified, draw back and refuse to use their reckoned justification for the purpose intended have received the grace of God in vain. (2 Cor. 6:1) R1669:5

Watch diligently, lest any fail of attaining to the full privilege of God's grace. R4513:4

The grace of God -- The favor of God, in manifesting his will by making it plain from his Word, comes to the Church mainly through God's chosen human instruments. R1892:2

The Lord will keep us safe and secure if our part be done. R1863:1*

Root of bitterness -- Developing in the heart affects the sight. R4585:4

These seem to sprout and grow always, but at Memorial season with ten-fold vigor. R5193:3, 4153:5

Many be defiled -- By evil hearts--who do not build up in the most holy faith. R2406:6

By listening to evil speaking we are a partaker in the sin. R4803:3, 3595:4

Yielding to the pleasures of sin for a season would signify the selling of the great birthright. R4513:4

Lest there be -- Esau's carelessness is held up as a warning that if any of us are careless of our birthright, we shall not only lose it, but lose the favor of God. R5198:5

All should be on guard against any and everything that would in any degree correspond to the attitude of heart allegorically represented by Esau and his course of action. HG380:2

The Christian must choose whether he will pursue his worldly ambitions for wealth or name, etc., or whether he will renounce these and pursue the study of God's Word and a life of consecration, with smaller income.

HG381:2

Fornicator -- A more easily comprehended translation from the Greek would be, heathenish, a prostitute or seller of his birthright for base, unworthy considerations. HG379:6

Profane person -- In very round terms denouncing the spirit of Esau. R3955:6, 5198:5

In the sense that all the Gentiles or heathen were recognized as profane--godless, not reverent, unbelieving, preferring the things of this present life. R3955:6

As Esau -- Type of fleshly Israel, and of Christendom. D15; F172

Typified those Christians who barter their glorious inheritance as prospective heirs of the divine nature, for the enjoyment of the fleeting pleasures of the present life. R5452:1

The class of Christians represented are not always rude, uncouth, coarse. Some are refined, titled, wealthy, ministers, doctors, lawyers, judges, merchants, mechanics. The Esau class may be in every station. HG380:6
The fact that Esau was used to typify those who fail to attain the high calling has nothing to do with the chance of attaining life during the Millennium. R1225:5

Does not represent the world--it has no birthright to sell. HG380:3

For one morsel -- A mess of pottage--lentil soup. R5198:2, 5452:1, 4544:6, 4513:4

What Esau got was of such trifling value; it seemed as nothing, as merely a bite. R3956:4

Esau pandered to his appetite at the expense of the higher interests of the future, represented in God's promise. HG379:6

The Apostle's words seem to apply especially to the Church, and to our danger of losing our birthright as new creatures. R5452:1

Those who love the pleasure of this world and sell their birthright for earthly advantage. R5198:5; HG381:4

The spirit that is not appreciative of God's mercy and blessing which he has in reservation for them that love him. R3955:6

Everyone who is in the Lord's family must expect that he will be tested to see which he loves the more, the mess of pottage or his prospects for inheritance in the oath-bound covenant and its blessings. HG381:6

The trials of sisters are more along social lines; not money. HG381:6

His birthright -- Earthly possessions and the divine promises of the Abrahamic Covenant. R5198:1; HG380:1, 383:4

Signified that he had no particular faith in God or in his promises. R5198:3

Represented those who sell the privilege of the spiritual nature for earthly advantage--only those begotten of the holy Spirit have a birthright. R5198:5,6; HG380:6

A share in the glorious things which God hath in reservation for them who love him and love righteousness. HG383:1

Every temptation to sacrifice spiritual privileges or violate spiritual responsibilities for the attainment of earthly advantages would be a yielding to this form of temptation. R4544:6

If we permit ourselves to be dominated by a time-serving, a selfish spirit, it will blind us to the beauties and advantages of the things unseen as yet. HG383:5

As Esau took the place of the younger brother as a servant, so those who defile their garments with Babylon, lose their crown, but, by washing their robes, become servants in the heavenly temple. R151:2

Paul intimates that there may be some who wish to sell their birthright and others who may wish to buy the birthright, as with the Jews in our Lord's day. R4686:6

Holy privileges of the Church in spiritual matters must not be bartered for earthly advantage. R4544:6

Hebrews 12:17

The blessing -- Including the inheritance of certain great divine promises--the Covenant made with Abraham. R5198:1; HG380:1
Abraham's spiritual seed is to have the greater blessing, typified by Jacob's inheritance. R5198:5

He was rejected -- Esau's carelessness is held up as a warning that if any of us are careless of our birthright, we shall not only lose it, but lose the favor of God. R5198:5

No place of repentance -- Esau did not find an opportunity to get back what he had forfeited. R5452:5

Carefully with tears -- Esau found plenty of opportunity to cry and be sorry. R5452:5

His chagrin evidently was in the thought that he had parted with the larger share of the father's estate. HG380:1

No better than the tears of Judas. R4907:5, 2283:6

For ye -- We are reminded of our much more favored position on the stream of time. R2035:5

The antitype we are approaching at the end of this age will be commotion, strife, in the world--thunderings, lightnings. R5294:3; NS298:4

The antitype of Exodus 19. R5285:5

Come unto -- Approaching. R2035:5

Coming. R167:5*, 155:5*

A pen picture of Mt. Sinai trembling under the glorious manifestation of divine power, symbolically represented in flame, smoke, quaking earth, rolling thunder and lightning flashes, preparing Israel for the Law Covenant. NS558:4

The antitypes of this must be much more strenuous and will serve to prepare mankind in general for the blessings of the New Covenant under the antitypical Mediator. NS558:4

The marching of the firstborn out of Egypt, accompanied by all the remainder of Israel, and their gradual approach to Mt. Sinai, is a picture of how the Church have been approaching Mt. Zion. NS363:3

The mount -- The rocky, barren, Mt. Sinai, where the Law was given and where the servant house was organized as a nation. R1389:4; NS558:1

The scene of the Law-giving glory. R1322:3*, 5990:1, 2035:5

The natural mountain with the terrors of the Law. R2709:3

The established typical Kingdom of God under the typical Mediator, Moses. R2035:5; D630

The Mountain (Kingdom) of the Lord's House is now being established in the top of the mountains, superseding the great kingdoms of this world.

R5990:1, 1914:2

Since the Spring of 1878 God has "set his king upon his holy hill of Zion." (Psa. 2:6) R5990:2, 1914:5, 1913:1, 58:3*

Likening the time of the inauguration of the unshakeable Kingdom's inauguration with that of the Law Covenant at Mt. Sinai. R5294:3, 4366:5, 2709:5; A322; SM319:T

That might be touched -- A literal mountain could be touched and stands associated with literal or earthly things. The earthly is but a symbol of the heavenly which is therefore called a mount which could not be touched. R56:5*, 167:5*, 58:3*

That burned with fire -- Because the Lord descended upon it in fire. R1914:1

All the people saw the lightnings and the mountain smoking. R5924:3

Darkness, and tempest -- Picturing events which will accompany the establishment of the New Law Covenant the close of this present age, under the greater than Moses--our Lord Jesus. R5990:1, 5285:6, 4498:4, 1914:1
Clouds and darkness, trouble and perplexity and distress of nations are round about; and the thunderings and lightnings are making all the earth to tremble as did Israel at Mt. Sinai. (Exod. 19:1-25) R5990:1, 4366:5, 1914:2

The shaking of the ecclesiastical heavens; and the social, political and financial earth. R5286:1

Hebrews 12:19

Sound of a trumpet -- Type of the seventh trumpet, the trump of God, the last trump, the Jubilee trump of knowledge and liberty. A316; B146, 197; D630; R5286:1; CR383:4; NS299:2

Present events indeed speak in trumpet tones. R5990:4, 1914:4

The voice of words -- That spoke condemnation and death to any who erred. R2709:3

Type of the voice of the Lord speaking to men in his wrath and vexing them in his hot and just displeasure in the Day of Vengeance. D631; R3037:5

The voice of the archangel will be recognized as issuing commands and bringing into order the new dispensation, not in literal words, but in forceful demonstration which will speak louder than words. R299:2

Which voice -- The voice of God. R5285:6, 1914:1; CR383:4

When God by his angel spoke to his typical people. SM356:1

Not be spoken -- The people were so terrified that they entreated that they might not hear further, but that Moses might act as Mediator. OV286:2

Hebrews 12:20

Touch the mountain -- As the least contact with the mountain brought death, so everything in conflict with the Kingdom, Mt. Zion, will suffer. NS299:2

Shall be stoned -- Typifying the destruction of whatever shall come in conflict with the Kingdom about to be set up. R4011:4

Hebrews 12:21

And so terrible -- So overwhelming and fear inspiring. B131
So solemn and impressive was the occasion. R1914:1
Typical of the fearful sights, terrible scenes, in the end of this age.
NS299:2

Was the sight -- Of even the reflection of God's spiritual glory. B131
A scene whose majesty and glory caused all Israel to fear and tremble.
R2035:5; CR3783:3

Moses -- All of this was typical--the sealing of the Law Covenant at the hands of the typical Mediator. (Exod. 20:18-22) R5294:3, 4366:5

Hebrews 12:22

But ye are come -- In point of time. R2035:5
You have approached to. (Diaglott) R5294:3
We are coming to--approaching. R5285:6
We have approached--this is that to which we are coming--it is in sight.
Some have already reached it. R4823:4
Coming. R181:2*, 167:5*, 155:5*
You are approaching; for more than eighteen centuries the Church has been coming to these glorious consummations. CR39:4, 301:6; R5294:3, 4823:4, 3037:5, 2709:3, 155:5*; NS298:5, 558:2; Q315:2
Addressing the Church and pointing down to the end of this age. R5294:3; NS558:1
Here spiritual Israel is pictured as an army marching and the things at the farther end are seen and to be reached. R4322:4, 2709:3
If this was true of the early Church, how much more is it true of us who are living in the end, the "harvest" of the age? R2035:5
As soon as the last member of the Royal Priesthood shall have come to the mountain, the first resurrection, will bring them together. NS558:3
As the journey to the promised land brought the Israelites to Mt. Sinai and the Law Covenant, so the journey of God's people will ultimately bring all the willing, obedient and faithful to the antitype. R5285:5, 4011:4, 2709:3; NS557:6
In the type one nation was delivered from Egypt and led to Mt. Sinai to receive the Law; in the antitype, all nations are to be delivered from hades, and led to Mt. Zion to receive the Law. R1322:3*
Mankind will find themselves close up to the glorious spiritual Kingdom of God, from which it is designed that the Lord's blessing shall extend through the New Covenant. NS558:3
Not, "Ye are coming." We have come by faith to that glorious epoch or condition referred to, but it is still in the future. R4490:4*, 4571:2*

Mount Sion -- The spiritual phase of the Kingdom of God. A297; R4513:4, 4212:1*

The Kingdom of God, the Kingdom of blessing. R2709:4, 167:5*

The glorious antitype, the Kingdom of Christ. R2035:5; NS298:5

Millennial Kingdom of Christ. R4366:5

This Kingdom is to include the whole earth. R5295:1, 5285:5, 2709:3

The scene of "the glory that excelleth." (2 Cor. 3:10) R1322:3*, 2035:5

The Church in glory and the Kingdom of glory. CR301:5

The Church shall come into her place in the divine plan--then will follow the "time of trouble" typified by the trembling of the mountain of Sinai.

R4823:4

Typically represented by the giving of the Law Covenant at Mt. Sinai.

OV285:7; R5294:3

Zion, the mountain and city of God. (Diaglott) R155:5*, 167:5*

City -- A city represents the government of the nation. R5295:1, 2035:6, 1389:4

God's Kingdom of power and great glory. R2709:4

The city for which Abraham looked afar off. R2035:6

Of the living God -- Of which Christ shall be the Head, the city of the Great King of which literal Jerusalem was but an imperfect type. R1389:4

Heavenly Jerusalem -- The New Jerusalem. The glorified Church. E90

As the literal Jerusalem was the capital of the typical Kingdom of God, so there will be a New Jerusalem--a higher government--which is to be God's Kingdom to rule over the whole earth. R5295:4, 2035:5, 1389:4, 155:5*

The Sarah Covenant is represented in "the exalted Jerusalem." R1389:4

Innumerable company of angels -- "Myriads of messengers in high festival." NS388:2

Not only shall we see our Heavenly Father and Lord, and be ushered into the assembly of the Church of the firstborns, but we shall be ushered into the presence of an innumerable company of angels. R4823:5

Who have encamped round about us. It will be our joy to meet them and to learn which of them specially served us. R4823:5, 5295:4, 4513:5, 159:1;

CR38:6; NS388:6

We shall be brought in contact with innumerable hosts of angels. NS558:2

The mutual joys of this acquaintance can be better imagined than described. Gabriel will be there, one of the chiefest of the angels. CR38:5

These ministering spirits, who have had so much to do with the pilgrimage of the Little Flock will indeed exult with them in the blessings then attained to. NS388:3

It is very fitting that they should meet us, and see our introduction to the Father. R5295:4

Full relationship with the host of angels. NS558:3

The companionship of angels. NS560:2

A welcoming host. R2035:6

A new company of brethren--the heavenly host. R2709:4

The general assembly -- This is going on now. Q315:2

Beyond the veil. CR38:2; R5804:5*; NS390:4

The general convention. NS388:2

The called-out assembly. NS390:4

The general rendezvous, the meeting place for all. NS298:5

The faithful in Christ Jesus, and the Master himself. NS387:6, 390:4

This will include the true saints of every nation and denomination.

CR463:2; OV387:2

We shall find our loved ones who have traveled with us in the narrow way in that first general assembling. R2709:4, 181:2*

The little conventions we are having at the present time are merely small foretastes of the riches of God's grace and the wonderful blessing he has in store at the great convention beyond the veil. CR443:3, 39:6, 37:3;

OV285:6

Our conventions beget more a longing for the general assembly of the firstborn ones. What a gala time that will be! NS387:6

And -- Of the. R5294:3, 4823:4, 2035:6; NS298:5, 387:6; OV285:3

The Church passed-over. R5194:3, 4703:2, 4677:5, 2273:3, 1291:5

It is a matter of life and death whether or not these first-born ones remain in the house of faith--behind the blood of sprinkling. R5870:2,

5641:2, 4128:3, 212:4*

The Little Flock alone is being spared, passed over, during the present age. R5870:2

The first-born of Israel were exchanged for the whole tribe of Levi

(Numbers 3:12,41,45): the Levites represent the household of faith, the Church of the first-born. Q435:5, 693:8, 304:2; R5298:6, 5023:1, 4875:3,

All who have joined the Lord are counted as members of the one Body. R5392:3

Those who have made a covenant by sacrifice. SM187:2

Who have made a full consecration, and been begotten of the holy Spirit. R5870:2, 5641:2, 2538:5; SM390:2

All overcomers. R4999:1, 1164:2, 95:5

All those born of the Spirit. R4823:1

Organized at Pentecost following Christ's redemptive work and ascension to the presence of the Father. SM8:1

There was but one Church in the beginning, established by our Lord, and there will be but the one Church in the end, the Church Triumphant in glory. SM120:1; OV187:6; Q755:4

A special class for a special purpose. R5243:5

There is but one Church of Christ; it includes all who are truly his through faith, consecration and obedience. SM742:2, 123:1; NS814:2

There are doubtless saints in every church, in every sect, in every party. These alone constitute the true Church. R5516:6, 5692:1, 4677:5; CR79:6; Q755:4; SM790:1

If we draw back our names will be blotted out of the heavenly record. NS391:4

And to God -- Jehovah. F396; R4513:5

Finally the gala day of all will come when we shall be ushered into the presence of the great King Eternal. CR39:1

Judge of all -- The Supreme Judge. F396

The spirits -- The lives, the spirit of life. Q15:4; R2035:6

Made perfect in spirit of life. NS558:2

The new natures of justified ones fully perfected in the likeness of their Lord and Head. R2709:5

The ideal of the spirit. A perfect spiritual being ought to have a spiritual body. R236:6*

Just men made perfect -- Refers to the Ancient Worthies--they will come forth perfect beings. Q15:4

Neither the Church nor the Great Company will be "men made perfect." It would not be reasonable that he would first mention the "Church of the first-born" (which includes all the spiritual class), and then mention a part of them. The Ancient Worthies were just--they will be perfect flesh when they come up from the tomb. R5294:6

The Ancient Worthies were already righteous in spirit, and now they will be made perfect, by having a better resurrection. (Heb. 11:35) R5295:4

The just men of the previous generation. NS558:2

"We are coming to the perfect men whose spirits are just." R5294:6

The "great company" who will be justified in spirit through destruction of the flesh. R4513:5

The spirits, the new natures of the justified ones fully perfected in the likeness of their Lord and Head. R2709:5

All the perfect ones. NS298:5

First the earthly phase of the Kingdom, and finally the full number of the restitution host. R2035:6

Hebrews 12:24

Jesus -- Jesus is the Mediator, but he has accepted the Church as his Bride, his Body, and waits for her arrival. R4322:4, 4371:1, 4366:5, 3916:6
The New Law Covenant will be established as the old Law Covenant was, only on a higher plane and through a greater Mediator and by better sacrifices. R4322:2

The mediator -- A term in Scriptural usage always connected with the mediation of a Covenant. R4476:6, 4560:6, 4368:4

The Christ. R4683:4, 4367:3, 4366:5, 4011:4; NS559:6

Jesus is not performing his work under that Covenant yet. R4474:4

Soon the "better sacrifices" (Heb. 9:23) will be complete. Then everything will be ready for the inauguration of the New Covenant. R5285:6, 4366:5

We shall in the end of the age, as his Church complete, come to him as his Bride and joint-heirs in carrying out the blessed provisions of the New Covenant for the uplift of Israel and the world. R4477:1

The glorious mediatorial work of The Christ. NS560:2, 363:4

Not of the Church, but the world. R4365:3

His work, during the Millennium will be the instruction, enlightenment and uplifting out of sin and death, and depravity--up to human perfection.

R4555:2, 4367:6

Jesus and his Bride will stand as "Mediator between God and men" during the Millennium. R4367:6

The end of the Millennial age will be the end of the mediatorship of Christ. R5300:6

Jesus qualified for this work by suffering, the just for the unjust. (1 Pet. 3:18) R1335:3*

The new covenant -- It has not yet been inaugurated; but will be in the end of this Gospel age, and its work will embrace the entire period of the Millennial age. R5300:4, 3915:6

It will be made with the nation of Israel (see Jer. 31:31). Q622:1; R4011:4

It will be sealed as soon as the Church shall have been completed, and passed beyond the veil. R5622:3

If the blood of the New Covenant be participated in by all the faithful members of the Body of Christ, how could the New Covenant itself be sealed until the members of the Body had all participated? R4367:3

A Covenant or arrangement by which the world (not the Church) will receive its blessing during the Millennium. (See also Heb. 8:8,10,13.) R4476:6,5

The Law Covenant persisted after Moses died. So the New Covenant will continue after Christ shall have finished his work. R5301:1

The world does not enter into New Covenant relationship with God individually, until the end of the Millennium; that arrangement will continue through all eternity. R5300:6

The New Covenant is contrasted with the Law Covenant, and Christ, the Mediator of the New Covenant is contrasted with Moses, the Mediator of the Law Covenant. R4309:6; OV286:4

The New Creation is not under the Law Covenant, typified by Hagar; nor the New Covenant, typified by Keturah; but under the original Covenant, the everlasting Covenant, typified by Sarah. R4011:1, 4367:5

Blood of sprinkling -- Which cleansed us and presented us faultless before the Father in love. R2709:5

Divine mercy--sprinkling upon our hearts, now. R5641:2,3, 3960:3

Whenever the shedding of blood is referred to, the giving up of life, the death, is the main thought. R3930:2, 1336:2; HG482:2 The time will come for the application of the blood of sprinkling to all people--during the Millennium. R4513:6; E316; NS298:6

When our glorious Head shall have made satisfaction before the Father, the next thing in order will be the sprinkling of all the people with the same blood. NS560:1 The sprinkling of mankind. NS560:2

The antitypical sprinkling of all the people will require the thousand years of Christ's Millennial reign. NS560:1

That speaketh -- That makes atonement, satisfaction; that speaks the world's forgiveness and release from bondage of sin and death. NS560:2

Better things -- Abel's death called for vengeance, Christ's for mercy. R1614:6, 791:4; NS298:6

Not justice; but forgiveness of sins and a full opportunity for reconciliation with God during the Messianic Kingdom. R5577:6

Not vengeance, but peace, pardon and life. R2035:6, 791:4; F472; NS560:2

Peace, forgiveness, and reconciliation with God. NS558:2

For the world. The Apostle discussed the Church in Heb. 10:19-23 and showed our share in the sprinkling of the blood of Jesus in advance of the world's blessing. NS560:3

Abel -- A comparison which seems to imply that Abel was in some degree a type of Christ in that he offered an acceptable sacrifice and was slain therefor. R1614:6

Hebrews 12:25

See that ye -- The members of the Body of Christ. SM356:1; CR39:5, 379:3
Whoever becomes a new creature hears the voice of God in a special sense. SM362:1

Those who know the Lord's voice and recognize it. R5989:6, 1913:6; CR379:6

Only the Little Flock are to any appreciable extent even seeking to obey in spirit the voice of God--of heavenly Wisdom. R1519:6

Look back to the history of Israel in the past, how they were negligent of the messages God sent them through angels and Moses; how disasters and death came upon them for disobedience and neglect. SM358:1

Not the world, or those being drawn toward God's message. SM356:1, 359:1

Refuse not him -- The Great High Priest. CR381:3

Refuse not anything that the Head says to his Church. SM362:2

At any time. R5989:6

The hearing of the Word of the Lord brings with it responsibilities.

R3164:5; CR380:6; SM359:2

Hand, see that ye refuse not the Head that directs your course, and speaks and acts through you. CR381:3

If once we hear, see that we reject not. After rejecting once or twice, the story will not seem nearly as wonderful or sweet. CR380:6

Beware of the presumptuous sin of disregarding the remarkable circumstances which now accompany the establishment of the New Covenant through Christ Jesus. R1914:4

He is here contrasting the message of Christ (Heb. 1:2) with the message of the other inferior servants--the prophets. CR378:3

There are some who heed not the warning, and refuse longer to obey. They turn away toward the idols which their wayward hearts have set up instead of God--to human philosophies and science "falsely so called." R5989:6

None shall get everlasting life except as they are obedient to God. NS230:4

That speaketh -- That now speaketh. R1913:6

Escaped not -- Those who refused to obey and presumptuously disgraced the ceremonies of the occasion at Sinai, met with instant death. R5990:4, 1914:2; CR381:4

They "died without mercy." (Heb. 10:28) SM357:4

Sore punishment came to all in Israel who disobeyed. SM356:1

The penalty suffered by refractory members of natural Israel was but a temporary one; they will be awakened in the Millennial age. SM358:T

Refused -- Rebellion of the underpriests. R381:3*

Him that spake -- Moses, the typical teacher. R3083:3, 5990:4, 1915:1, 1914:2; CR378:5

The voice which gave Israel the commandments. SM356:1

Shall not we escape -- The spiritual Israelites of the Gospel age.

SM356:1, 358:T

How can we escape if we disregard the voice of the great Mediator of the New Covenant and the remarkable circumstances which now accompany its establishment. R5990:4, 1914:2

How much sorer punishment--for those who would count the blood of Christ an unholy thing--second death punishment. CR378:5; SM356:1, 357:3

Turn away from sin -- Renounce allegiance to Christ. SM358:T

After once recognizing him. R1913:6

There are some who heed not the warning and refuse longer to obey, and turn to idols of human philosophies and science, falsely so called. R1913:6

There can be no place, now or ever, in God's family for one who is wilful and refractory. SM357:3

Him that speaketh -- The Mediator of the New Covenant. R5990:4

The Mediator greater than Moses. R1914:2

The harvest message now declared is just as important to this end of the age as was the former part to the beginning of the age--however unpretentious may seem the member of the Body used to declare it. R1715:6; CR383:5

From heaven -- In the judgments of this day. R5989:6

In wrath and judgment. R1913:6

God's voice is sounding throughout the earth today, speaking louder than ever before. SM363:2; CR383:2

We need to be taught by the Great Teacher God has appointed to teach us, and if we refuse then we are refusing him that speaketh from heaven; we are refusing the very teacher God appointed, the Lord Jesus. CR381:5; SM362:3

He is our teacher through his Word and promises. R381:5; CR39:6; SM362:3

After you have agreed to be subject to Christ in all things--if you are disobedient to him, you will run the risk of the second death. CR381:4

Whose voice -- God's voice. SM363:2

Then shook -- The inauguration of the Law Covenant at Sinai was typical of the introduction of the New Covenant to the world at the opening of the Millennial age, or reign of Christ's Kingdom. A321; NS298:6; SM319:T

The literal shaking and terrible sights associated at the time of the inauguration of the Law Covenant was but a feeble picture of the awful commotion which will prevail in its antitype in the end of this age. CR114:2; SM505:2

The mountain quaking and smoking, and the terrible sights and sounds at Mt. Sinai. R4503:3, 3052:6; SM505:2, 718:T

Those things were figurative of the still more wonderful shakings, signs, etc., to be expected at the closing of this Gospel age, when the Kingdom of God is about to be established and the New Covenant go into effect.

HG399:3; NS298:4, 557:5

The antitypes of this must be much more strenuous and will serve to prepare mankind in general for the blessings of the New Covenant under the antitypical Mediator. NS558:4

The earth -- Symbol of society. SM363:3; R1914:4, 1805:6, 1305:2

The civil organization of society. R1355:5

The law-abiding classes. R1305:2,3,6, 3502:6, 1308:4

Picturing the shaking of society to its very center. OV286:6

The destruction of present social, financial and political affairs.

OV336:2; R5286:1, 4011:4; NS558:5

In the time of Jacob's trouble. R302:6*

Promised, saying -- In Haggai 2:6, 7. R3052:6, 2521:1, 302:6*; CR114:2; SM505:2

The voice of the Lord shall be heard in rebuke of evil. R2641:1

The voice of truth on every subject. NS95:5

Yet once more -- Finally. SM316:1; A322

In the end of this Gospel age; there will never more be a requirement for shaking. R2521:1, 5516:2, 3037:6, 1692:5

This troubled time in the early dawn of the Millennium. R5516:2, 2521:1

Presupposing a former shaking. The former shaking was that typified in the quaking of the earth at the giving of the Law at Sinai; and at various intervals the nation was thoroughly shaken by captivities, etc. R3052:6

I shake -- God's voice will shake. SM363:3

Everything that can be shaken will be shaken and removed. SM506:T

In these judgment times. R1899:4

A symbolic shaking signifying the removal of everything that is unstable, transitory, imperfect. R2521:1

The shaking of society by the power of the Lord through his Kingdom, which will be established amongst men in power and great glory, though the glory may be hidden from all except those begotten of the holy Spirit. NS558:4

The whole earth is now in the shaking process which will eventuate in the complete overthrow of all existing institutions, systems and governments.

R5990:4, 5516:6, 1704:2; OV339:T

A great time of unprecedented trouble. R1561:6

Prefigured the great time of trouble we are expecting, in which society will be shaken and mankind be prepared for the Mediatorial Kingdom of Christ. R4503:3, 4366:5, 3035:1, 3037:4, 2709:5, 2521:1, 1155:6; D22, 113, 528; NS363:5

Symbolically with earthquakes--revolution, war, which will eventuate in anarchy. SM316:2, 319:2

Engendering fear in men's hearts. R1704:2; D114; OV339:2

Not just one nation; "And I will shake all nations." (Hag. 2:7) R3052:6; OV339:T

The shaking of the nations and overthrow of kingdoms, are to precede Christ's coming as the "desire of all nations." (Hag. 2:7) R59:5*; SM505:1

There is a great shaking or confusion now operating in ecclesiastical circles. SM316:2; R1306-1308, 1305:2; CR383:4

Thoroughly separate the little handful of wheat from the vast quantity of tares. R2704:5, 1308:4, 1305:6

As the systems are shaken it becomes a precursor of the overthrow of kingdoms and all organized society. R712:2

There may be also literal earthquakes and great physical changes, intended to bring the earth into alignment with Millennial blessings. SM318:2, 320:2

"A great earthquake such as was not since men were upon the earth, so mighty an earthquake and so great." (Rev. 16:18) D528; SM319:2

Not the earth only -- Society, governments, social order. R5516:6, 2709:5; D55; CR383:4; NS95:5, 563:5; SM316:2, 718:T

Society; the tribes of the earth shall mourn because of him. A318; D600

Social organization or civilization. NS299:1

Socialism has been shaking the political earth for the past thirty years. R5516:6

But also heaven -- The powers of spiritual control. A318; R5516:6, 1305:2

The ecclesiastical systems of the present time. SM316:2, 363:3, 717:T; R5516:5, 5286:1, 2709:5, 1914:4, 1899:5, 1805:6, 1355:5, 1308:4, 1305:2; D113, 130; CR383:4; NS95:5, 299:1, 558:5; OV336:2, 286:7

Not the true Church, but the many systems will be shaken. OV286:7

The church nominal. NS563:5

Churchianity will be shaken in all its various sects and parties, because of so many egregious errors, superstitions, falsities and dishonesties.

NS558:5

That the true Christians of all denominations may get free from denominational thralldom. R1969:4, 3053:2, 1899:5

The trouble and shaking of the Church, to shake out of profession of faith all who are not really saints, built upon the rock, is because the election of the Church is almost complete. R1308:4

In all denominations there are forebodings of coming trouble. OV286:8

The masses of Christians of all denominations will be shaken in faith, shaken from their self-conceit, superstitions and bigotries. R5516:6, 2898:5, 1899:4, 1355:5, 1305:5

For those falling away from a position they occupied only nominally anyway, the present "shaking" means not eternal torment nor even second death, but an awful experience in this life. R3411:2

The overthrow of the great nominal church systems will precede the overthrow of the present civil powers. R1355:5

"The powers of the heavens shall be shaken." (Matt. 24:29) R1305:4, 754:5*, 748:4, 529:2*; SM320:T

As the powers of the third heaven take possession, the powers of the second are "shaken" until they are destroyed. R529:2*

Not the divine residence and throne. SM316:2

Word -- Statement. A322

Yet once more -- Yet once for all. A322

Signifies that this second shaking will be so thorough that no further shaking will ever be necessary. OV286:5; R5917:2, 1692:5

At the coming of the King. R5917:2, 1692:4

Following the typical shaking at Mt. Sinai. R3052:6

Signifieth -- Denotes. A322; R1913:4

The removing -- To destruction. R5286:1

Utterly, completely, removed. NS95:5

Thoroughly shaken loose, overthrown, destroyed. NS299:1, 558:5

The dissolution of present arrangements. R1814:2

The removal of the nations is not in order that anarchy may prevail, but in order that the Kingdom of God may take their place. R3053:4

This text is applicable to our day. The removal of all things shakable is now in progress. OV336:2; HG680:3

So thorough-going that everything that is in the nature of a temporary makeshift for righteousness, truth, equity, will not be allowed to remain. CR114:4; SM506:T

The shaking of society in a manner and to an extent it was never before shaken. R1692:5

That are shaken -- That may be shaken. OV336:1

All things sinful and contrary to the divine will. D630; OV286:5

All the selfish and evil arrangements of the present shall be thoroughly shaken out. R1174:4

Everything false, bogus, inequitable. OV336:4

Everything unsound, untrue, imperfect, unstable. NS95:5, 299:2

Everything that is not fixedly established upon principles of righteousness and truth. NS299:1, 363:6

Everything not authorized and approved by the divine law of love and justice. R558:5

Now, in the opening of the new dispensation, when everything is being shaken, we are to expect that stocks and bonds will be shaken in value until everything like dishonesty and iniquity shall have been shaken out. OV336:4

The great day of settlement has come in which nothing is to remain except that which cannot be shaken, then all human effort will fail and the greatest of all crashes of a financial kind will take place. OV338:5

Present order of society; nominal church systems, financial and political institutions will go down. R5916:2, 5516:1, 4328:2, 4011:4, 1692:5, 748:4; NS558:5; OV336:2, 339:T

Not be allowed to remain. CR114:4; R5286:1; SM506:T

All will go down in the fiery cataclysm of anarchy. R5794:3, 4671:4, 1692:5

Everything which can be shaken down will be. R5916:2

For years Europe has been trembling with occasional violent revolutionary shocks. R5516:2; OV337:6

"I will shake all nations, and the desire of all nations shall come.

(Haggai 2:7) R5516:5

That are made -- Fabricated, false, made up, not the true. A322; OV336:4
Of human construction, imperfect. R712:1

That those things -- The true, righteous things, only. A322

Cannot be shaken -- Things of truth and righteousness. R5990:4, 5286:1,
1914:5, 1174:4; NS299:3

The verities. NS95:5

That which will fully have the divine approval. R5516:2

Those things which are harmonious with divine standards. OV336:2; NS563:5

God's Kingdom of righteousness. SM319:1, 738:2; R467:4; HG399:3

The Kingdom of God in the hands of The Christ. R5516:2, 4011:4, 2521:1;
NS299:3

The Kingdom, which will then be set up, and which cannot be shaken, will remain. R5916:2, 5294:3

Only that which is established. NS363:6

Only the saints will remain unshaken in the strenuous storm. R5516:6, 3817:5, 3037:6

The elect shall not be exempt from those blasts, but shall not be moved by them. R3053:1, 3037:6

"God is in the midst of her; she shall not be moved." (Psa. 46:5) R3053:1

"He will gather out of his kingdom all things that offend" (Matt. 13:41)

R3053:2 May remain -- The Kingdom. R2709:6

Messiah's Kingdom may be fully established. R5794:5, 5516:5, 5286:1

Implying that all who are not of the true Church will fall. "A thousand shall fall at thy side." (Psa. 91:7) R3053:2; NS95:6

Hebrews 12:28

We receiving -- Seeing that we are to receive. A322

Who anticipate thus. D630

The faithful ones, who anticipate receiving. R4671:4, 4011:4; D630

The Gospel Church. SM718:T; NS558:6

The true Church, sifted and separated from all false professors, will constitute the Kingdom of God. NS95:5

The house which is to be willed with the glory of the Lord is not the fleshly house or kingdom of Israel, but the spiritual Kingdom of God--the Gospel Church. R3052:6

It is the Kingdom toward which all of the Lord's people march throughout the Gospel age that will be fully attained amidst all the great shaking and confusion of the day of trouble which is just before us. R2709:6

A kingdom -- The Millennial Kingdom. R3037:6; NS363:6

The Kingdom of God. R3053:1, 3114:1, 2709:6

The unmovable Kingdom which must be established before the new heavens and earth is established. R1814:2, 3114:1

Every one called to share in the coming Kingdom must be a lover of righteousness. R5990:4

Cannot be moved -- Cannot be shaken. R4011:4; NS363:6

The Kingdom which the Church is to receive will be the only institution which will stand the shaking time. R3037:6; CR114:4; SM506:T

All other things will be shaken and overthrown. SM718:T

Have grace -- Hold fast the favor through which we may serve God. A322

Seek to have the graces of the Spirit. NS558:6

Serve God -- His faithful are now being tested, as respects their worthiness for so high a station. R5286:4

Our service of righteousness, self-sacrifice. NS214:6

Acceptably -- Offer service well pleasing to God. (Revised Version) R5285:1; NS558:6

Reverence -- We should regard present events with thoughtful and reverent hearts, and guide our course with the greatest carefulness. R5990:4, 1914:4

Godly fear -- Piety. A322

Awe. (Revised Version) R5285:4

For -- As it is written. A322

Our -- The prospective members of the glorified Church, the Kingdom class. NS558:6

Is a consuming fire -- To the Church class. NS310:1

"A jealous God." (Deut. 4:24) R1850:2

He will sweep away all errors during the time of trouble. A322

"He cannot look upon sin." (Hab. 1:13) "It is a fearful thing to fall into the hands of the living God." (Heb. 10:31) F120

Not a literal fire, but figuratively he has provided an abyss of fire and brimstone for all who wilfully, intelligently repudiate his government. NS310:1

His anger will burn against wilful sin to its utter destruction, and if we harbor such sins a portion of his anger will assuredly burn against us proportionately, and we should not be fit for the Kingdom. NS558:6
God's anger burned against Adam when he was wilfully disobedient, and it still burns. NS558:6

Hebrews 13

Hebrews 13:1

Brotherly love -- The final test of character is love, in deed and in truth. R4524:4

Continue -- Let it increase, let it abound. CR449:5

Hebrews 13:2

Be not forgetful -- The Lord's people should always be on the alert to show hospitality. R2856:6, 5178:6

A heart desire to entertain should always be present whether opportunity for the exercise of that desire be found or not. F570

Entertain strangers -- We should be particularly careful to exercise hospitality toward all in whom we recognize the Master's likeness, his spirit, even though they be strangers to us. R3432:1

Pilgrim's sent out in the Master's name should be welcomed and granted a share of such things as we have. R2741:6, 2093:5

Sharing such as you have with friends or neighbors, but not allowing them to impose on us. F570

To whatever extent these divine injunctions are disregarded we are in danger of losing a blessing, of failing to cultivate generosity. R3946:3

Present-day conditions render such hospitality less necessary, especially in cities where public boarding-houses and hotels are expected to care for the strangers. R3946:2, 3432:1

Hospitality does not signify lavish expenditure beyond one's means, nor that better should be provided for a guest than for one's own family. F570

Entertained angels -- God's messengers. R2626:1

Given the power to materialize, to assume human forms. OV249:1; NS711:5

Doubtless referring particularly to Abraham's entertainment of the Lord and two angels. R3946:2, 2856:3; Q670:2

Hebrews 13:4

Marriage -- Is never condemned as sinful in the Scriptures. R1678:2

There is no law of God to prohibit brothers and sisters in the Lord from marrying if they find, in their judgment, that this is necessary or preferable in carrying out their consecration vows more acceptably. R5353:1

It is proper in this age, our Lord's approval being signified by his presence at the Cana wedding. R916:2

Honourable in all -- Let marriage be had in honor among all. F557

When the relationship is sustained in purity and holiness. R1554:1

Lawful, even though this and other lawful things be generally inexpedient to the saints. R916:2

Not recommended for the saints, except under stress. F557

It is not the province of anybody to forbid marriage, directly or indirectly. Q460:7; R5353:1

Paul recommended the unmarried state; but does not say that the married state is unholy or impure or in any way contrary to God's law. R5353:1, 2902:3

He that brings forth children of the natural type does well, but he that cooperates with God for the begetting of spiritual sons does better. R2902:3

We emphasize with Paul that he that marrieth doeth well, but he that marrieth not doeth better. R2902:3; F557; Q461:T

Unfiled -- Not impure. R5353:1

Let the marriage bed be undefiled. F557

Whoremongers -- Fornicators. F557

Hebrews 13:5

Conversation -- Conduct--not only words, but also the looks and acts of life. R4876:2, 5539:6

The harvest siftings and separations are not merely doctrinal tests but along lines of character and of the fruits of the spirit. R2353:5

Covetousness -- A desire to have, keep, enjoy; especially applied to something that belongs to another and which we do not possess. R4876:3
Includes holding back what belongs to the Lord, and a desire to have and enjoy something that belongs to another. R4876:3

Sometimes a desire for more ease, comfort, wealth and social influence; a protest against a share of the aches and pains of the groaning creation; or against the illness and death of a loved one. R4876:5

Dissatisfaction with what divine providence has shaped for them. R4876:2

And be content -- With such as divine providence may grant to us. R3352:6

Where conditions are at all endurable. R5665:4

Spiritual Israel should use wisely such things as are within their reach, accepting all as God's gifts with thanksgiving. R4876:6

We are promised earthly things that are needful. Whatever we have more than necessity is that much more than the Lord has promised us in this present time. R2352:5

Realizing that riches of faith, trust, contentment, and godliness, with the fruits of the Spirit, constitute the true riches, give thanks to the Lord that in his wisdom and grace he has so favorably situated you. R2353:2,6

Not only a good medicine to bring us spiritual health and joy in the Lord, but also very profitable to our physical health; fretfulness and unhappiness of mind aggravates physical complaints and diseases. R2352:6

The example and counsel of the saints should be that of contentment and cheerful submission to present trials in sure hope of the good time coming. A341

Let us be content with such weather as we have. We did not make it and we cannot change it. R2352:6

In proportion as discontent is spread, in that proportion unhappiness is present, and an anarchistic spirit begotten. R2351:2

Discontent and selfish ambition are in antagonism to the spirit of Christ--meekness, patience, gentleness, brotherly kindness, love. R2351:2
Contentment and the faith which it implies are necessary to godliness. R2353:6

Contentment with Godliness is great gain. "Content whatever lot I see, since 'tis my God that leadeth me." R3400:4, 2351:3; A340; NS63:1

Very bad advice says Mr. Worldlywiseman. R2351:1

Things as ye have -- We have such things as should make us happy under the most adverse circumstances, so far as the present life is concerned. R2352:2

We have found the pearl of great price, and are not only content with the terms upon which it is offered to us, but most gladly, willingly, joyfully, we count all else but loss and dross. R2352:2

This does not mean that it would be improper to avail ourselves of providential doors opened by the Lord for the betterment of our condition. R3400:4, 4876:2

I will never leave thee -- The true ground of contentment; the realization of the Lord's care and that his wisdom and grace are being exercised towards us, and such things as he grants are the things which are best for us. R2353:4

We shall never want for fellowship and sympathy. R1745:5

We are not alone, for we have the companionship of him who promised this. NS451:3

He is always present to comfort, bless, and make all things work together for good to those who love God--the called ones according to his purpose. R1672:1

The presence and providential care of the Lord in our affairs, all consecrated to the divine will, bring a peace and joy which the world knows not of. NS451:3

Nor forsake thee -- When the storms of life sweep over us, and imperil us. R5058:3

Our Master is with us, and we have the encouragement of our brethren. R5551:6, 5095:5

We are not alone in the world; nor is the smallest interest of ours overlooked. R1906:4

Our strength and confidence should be in him who declares this. R698:3, 2353:2

The Lord's love, which has thus far delivered, fed and led us, is still with us, the same as ever. R4876:5

"Fear not, I am thy shield and thy exceeding great reward." (Gen. 15:1)
R1906:4, 1905:6

Hebrews 13:6

Boldly say -- Those who come to God in reverence, and in full submission to the divine will, are privileged always to have their interests considered at the throne of grace. R1865:1

The best illustrations of true faith, continuous confidence in God, is found in our dear Redeemer's experiences and their narrative. R2353:2

The Apostle Paul, who exhorts to courage and confident trust in God, was a noble example of courageous faith and we have such abundant reason for assurance of faith. R5539:6

The whole world has wondered at the intelligent courage of the humble ones of the Lord's people. The secret of their courage and strength is their confidence in the Lord. R2353:4

Lord is my helper -- Learn to trust his love and wisdom and power. R5296:1

The Lord expects us to do all in our power for our own protection; then we are to leave ourselves fully in the Lord's hands, knowing that all will be well with us. R5540:1

He will give us whatever help along temporal lines he sees is for the highest interests of the new creature, if we do not remove ourselves from his keeping. R5540:1

The Father will not withhold anything necessary for the proper development of his children. R5296:4

With infinite wisdom and love he is both able and willing to make all things work together for our good. R2353:4

We may realize that in every emergency of life that the Father has prepared the cup, and will sustain and bless us while we drink it. R2353:3

Faith in the Lord's supervision prefers his arrangement to any other as respects the suffering of this present time and the glory that is to follow. R2354:4

No power in the Universe is able to cope with our God; and he has declared that he is the support and shield of his children. He is the strong tower of those who put their trust in him. R5539:3

If we abide in Christ and his Word abides in us, he will be our deliverer in six troubles, and in the seventh he will not forsake us. R5539:3

I will not fear -- Fear is a result of man being out of harmony with the Creator. When our first parents were created, they knew no fear. R5295:3

It is necessary that our hearts be in attune with the Lord, that we have no will but his. R5540:5

None others but the Christian can afford to be so courageous and independent, yet the child of God is not self-sufficient nor independent of outside help. R5539:3

The righteous are bold as a lion, gentle as a dove, and meek as a lamb.

R5540:5 We are instructed to fear Jehovah, and not to fear a weak mortal. R5540:5

Knowing that our God will be with us constantly, and will cause all things to work out his own glorious purposes for us. R5540:4, 5296:1

God may permit us to suffer, just as he permitted John the Baptist to be imprisoned and finally beheaded; Jesus to be arrested and crucified; and many of his saints in the past to be maltreated or killed. R5540:4

How sublime the faith and courage of the three Hebrews in the fiery furnace. We can trust God where we cannot trace him. 4874:4

It does not say that the Lord will not suffer our house to burn, nor burglars to break in and steal. We should take all reasonable precautions to prevent losses of such kinds. R5539:6

What man shall do -- Any man. R5539:6

Man is powerless to harm a hair of our head unless it is permitted of our Father in heaven for his glory and our highest welfare. R5540:5

When temptation and persecution come to us as rewards for fidelity to principles of truth and righteousness, we are to rejoice in them, as so many ministries of evil toward us, fitting us as ministers now and hereafter. R2352:4

Remember -- The elders who are noble, humble, self-sacrificing, cannot be too highly esteemed nor too loyalty supported. R4503:4

Diaglott rendering: "Remember your leaders, those who speak to you the Word of God, and viewing attentively the result of their conduct, imitate their faith." R1588:2, 2080:2

Earnest heed should be given to faithful leaders. R1559:4

The rule over you -- The supervision. R4503:4

The Lord does not raise up rulers from among our brethren in the Body of Christ, but he does raise up leaders, to whom earnest heed should be given. R1559:4

In all of the Lord's arrangements there is order, as represented in the order established amongst the Israelites. R3060:5

Whose faith follow -- Whose faith and example should be imitated. R1559:4

Each sheep recognize as leaders only such as are found in full accord with the voice and spirit of the Chief Shepherd--Christ, and the under-shepherds--the Apostles. R2080:4

Hebrews 13:8

Jesus Christ the same -- Would not identify with his previous condition--as Logos; he became Jesus Christ at his baptism. R5065:5

The anointed one. Q370:T

And forever -- He has the same office, authority, and relationship to mankind, and the same character, sympathy and love, all the way down.

Q370:T; R5209:3, 3321:5

The changes of nature has not altered his character in any manner or degree. Q370:T

The constant ground of our "full assurance of faith." (Heb. 10:22) E230
Unchangeableness on God's part is a guarantee that the blessings to be bestowed under his arrangements will be everlasting, unending blessings. R3321:5

God's qualities and attributes were the same in the beginning of creation as they are now. R5209:3

Hebrews 13:9

Carried about -- Avoid new gospels. R4514:5

Hebrews 13:10

We -- The truly consecrated; the antitypical or Royal Priesthood.

R4782:4, 4681:4

Have an altar -- Christ and his consecrated sacrifice. Q703:T; R5492:4; T22

A superior altar. Q703:T

Not sanctified by the blood of bulls and goats, but by the precious blood of Christ. R5492:4

Whose table was typified in the Tabernacle and in the Temple by the table of shewbread. R4782:4, 4867:6; Q692:6

"Come boldly to the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy and find grace to help in time of need." (Heb. 4:16) R5492:4

They -- The unconsecrated, the world. R4782:4

The Levitical priesthood. R4867:6, 4514:5; Q692:6

Contrasting the Aaronic Priesthood and the antitypical Priesthood.

R4867:6; Q692:6, 702:5; PT391:5*

A discrimination between the Aaronic and Melchizedek priesthoods. R4868:1; Q692:7, 702:5

No right to eat -- The house of Aaron has no right to our place, they have no right to come into the antitypical Holy, which we enter. Q692:7; R4868:1 We have a right to eat of a spiritual altar, of which others may not eat. R4514:5

The consecrated have meat to eat that the world knoweth not of. R4782:4

The Church are all to be partakers of Christ's flesh--feed upon the merit's of his sacrifice. Q703:T

Had Jesus partaken of the offering he himself placed upon the altar for sacrifice, he would have been unacceptable to God as an offering for sin. PT391:5*

The priest of the typical system ate the meat that was offered to God on the altar. Q703:T

Which serve -- The consecrated, and anointed, Priests, both in type and antitype. PT391:5*

The tabernacle -- The typical Tabernacle. R5492:4

Hebrews 13:11

Those beasts -- The bullock and the Lord's goat. R5196:6, 4855:3, 4535:2, 4514:5, 4434:4, 3917:5, 139:4*; T71; CR485:6; Q659:4, 691:7; SM754:T

Typical of the "better sacrifices." R4920:6, 4535:2, 4427:1, 4426:2, 4385:1
Fulfilled by Jesus and the Church. SM754:T; R5173:5, 4920:6, 4427:1,4, 139:4*, 80:3; CR485:6

Only these two had their blood sprinkled in the Most Holy and were burned outside the Camp. R4427:6, 80:3

Whose blood -- The blood represents the surrender of earthly rights and privileges and life, willingly. R4428:3

The sprinkling of the blood upon and before the Mercy Seat. R4427:4, 157:4*

The sanctuary -- The Most Holy. R4867:3, 4681:4, 4535:2, 4427:4, 4426:4; Q512:T, 691:7

Only the blood of the sin-offering is taken within the veil--to sprinkle the Mercy Seat; fixing our identity with "the Lord's goat" of Leviticus 16. R4514:5

Within the veil to make atonement on the Mercy Seat. R4036:1

For sin -- As a sin-offering. T62, 100; R4867:3, 4855:3, 4514:5, 4426:6, 4385:1; Q512:T, 691:7

Sin atonement. R4426:6

Made annually on the Day of Atonement. (Lev. 16) R4426:6 Q691:7

The sin atonement effected by the blood of the bullock and the Lord's goat represented the atonement for original Adamic sin and all the weaknesses and imperfections traceable directly thereto. R4428:4

Our sins are represented in one part of the sin-offering, the bullock, and the sins of the whole world are represented in the other part, the goat. R4354:3

Are burned -- Represented steady, continuous submission to the fiery ordeal of suffering. T71

Represented our Lord's sacrifice as viewed from the standpoint of man. R4427:4

Represented the gradual destruction of the flesh. R4385:1

Represented the dis-esteem in which the offering will be viewed by those outside the camp--not in covenant relationship with God--the unfaithful. T62

The offerings of the Atonement Day were always burned, but the later trespass-offerings, after the Day of Atonement, were not burned, but eaten by the priests. T100; Q678:2, 691:7

Without the camp -- Outside the camp. R4398:6, 4514:5, 4385:1, 4036:1
In the wilderness. T71

Signified ostracism, rejection of men, dishonor. R4385:1

Represented disgrace. R17:6

Destroyed as a vile thing in the eyes of the world. T42, 62; R4427:4
Representing the destruction to which mankind was doomed, and from which they will ultimately be delivered by the sacrifice of The Christ. T42
Would represent that condition of things which claimed to be in harmony with God. Q46:5

Hebrews 13:12

Jesus -- As the antitypical bullock. R5256:4, 4514:5

Our Lord offered himself at baptism, when he gave himself to do the Father's will. He finished the offering of his gift when he laid down his life on Calvary. Later he ascended to God to make application of the sin-offering. Q512:T; R4867:3, 4398:6; SM214:1

The people -- All people--all who ever will accept sanctification, cleansing, reconciliation through him. R4428:2

With his own blood -- The basis for the forgiveness of our sins.

R1230:3; SM754:T "Thou hast redeemed us to God by thy blood." (Rev. 5:9)
E446

It was the giving up of Christ's life that paid our ransom price. R1336:1,2

Without the gate -- Outside the gate. R4385:1

On the cross, shedding his blood--entering death. R1336:2

Jesus was not only crucified outside the gate of Jerusalem, but suffered as an outcast from the social and religious systems of the time. R4514:5, 17:6

He suffered shame, ignominy, and destruction of the flesh, to accomplish the antitype. R4920:6, 5173:5, 4427:4, 4385:1

Hebrews 13:13

Let us -- The Church, the Lord's goat class. R5196:6, 5256:4, 4514:5, 4385:1; Q659:4

The Royal Priesthood. R4514:5

Members of the sin-offering. R4398:6, 5196:6, 4855:3, 4385:1

Urging the faithful. R4036:1

If we would be antitypical priests, we must share the shame, if we would have the heavenly food and light and be permitted to offer sweet incense--acceptable prayer. R17:6

Unquestionable evidence that the Lord's followers are represented by the "Lord's goat," and that their sacrifice constitutes part of the world's sin-offering. T62

Their offering must be wholly and totally consumed in like manner. PT392:T*

Go forth therefore unto him -- All that was done with the bullock was done with the goat. Let us then, if we would walk in his steps, share with him in his sacrifice. Q659:4; R4855:3, 4514:5, 4429:4, 157:4; NS254:2; SM754:T

Be a part of the sin-offering. Q678:2; R4855:3

A class of believers who daily follow in the footsteps of the Lord, sharers in his sufferings, and partakers of the glories to follow.

R5196:5, 5173:5, 4855:2; Q47:T, 659:1

For us now to follow our Lord outside the camp would be to go outside of the present environments, viz., outside of Christendom, ignoring the views, teachings, approval and snares of Christendom. R4607:3

The entire merit of our sacrifice is through the justification which first applied to the goat class through the merit of the bullock's sacrifice.

R4427:6, 3917:6; NS254:1; SM754:T

"If we suffer, we shall also reign with him." (2 Tim. 2:12) R4855:3, 3917:4, 17:6; Q659:4

Without the camp -- Outside the camp. R1872:1, 4385:1, 80:3; Q46:5, 691:7

To the utter destruction and disregard of the human hopes. T60; R5173:5

Sacrificially outside the camp. R4514:5

Take up our cross, whatever sacrifice it might mean; willing to go to the Lord and be faithful and loyal to him at any cost, no matter how others may view it. Q47:T

Sacrificing worldly interests. Q688:T

Worldly disapproval, ignominy, or detestation. R1872:1 4036:1; CR93:6, 327:3; Q688:2

A place which typifies the outcast condition. R5173:5

Into disrepute. R4036:1

Present our bodies a living sacrifice; be crucified with Christ. R328:5*

According to the flesh, we are still in the world, but not of the world. Q687:6

Our experiences represent the actual suffering and going outside the camp--all that happens to us while we are reckoned dead according to the flesh. R4900:5

In our Lord's day, the camp condition was the Jewish nation. R4607:2; Q46:5

Today, it means all of Christendom. Q47:T; R4607:2

This picture of the "camp" represents all who will ultimately come into accord, all who will ultimately wish for righteousness and will desire to do God's will. R4607:2,5

Israel's camp typified what now is a fact and partly a condition that will obtain during the Millennial age. R4607:1

Bearing his reproach -- Bearing the reproach with him. R4607:4, 4535:2, 4036:1; NS254:2

Just as the slain goat was carried outside the camp and there consumed, as the bullock had been. R4398:6, 4855:3, 157:4

To suffer with Christ social ostracism, and with deadness toward the world. R4514:5

Suffering shame, ignominy and revilings, even unto death. R4920:6

Sharing the reproaches as members of his Body. R4036:1, 254:2

Living as a consecrated priest of the Lord. Q688:T

A stench in the nostrils of the world. CR312:3; Q688:2

To "fill up that which is behind of the afflictions of Christ." (Col. 1:24) R3917:6, 4434:4, 4427:5, 80:3, 17:5 "The reproaches of them that reproached thee fell on me." (Rom. 15:3) NS254:2; T62

Hebrews 13:14

No continuing city -- We journey through the wilderness of sin. R172:1
We are pilgrims, strangers, travelers; en route to the heavenly Canaan.
R5641:4

Seek one to come -- The New Jerusalem, the glorified Church. E90; R172:2

Hebrews 13:15

Let us offer -- All who attain the prize are sacrificers and have something to offer. R548:5

Sacrifice of praise -- This sacrifice under the Law was represented in the "peace-offerings" and the "thank-offerings." R4535:1

As the spirit of loving zeal was demonstrated in Jesus' case, so in our case; otherwise we should not be permitted to be members of that Body.
R4922:2

"For we are unto God a sweet savor of Christ." (2 Cor. 2:15) "Much incense, that he should offer it with the prayers of all saints." (Rev. 8:3) R4922:4; Q343:T

Fruit of our lips -- "That we may render unto thee the fruit of our lips--our praise." (Hosea 14:2) R4811:3

Thanks to his name -- Pray with thanksgiving. R5381:4

Hebrews 13:16

To communicate -- Commune on spiritual things with those we meet.
R127:4, 126:3

We should be anxious and careful to use whatever God has put into our hands, and to be faithful whether over a few things or many things. R126:2

If it is a joy and privilege to be God's stewards to a greater or less degree in earthly goods, how much more blessed is it to be permitted to dispense the spiritual blessings. R126:3

Tell the story simply, plainly; be entirely swallowed up with the grandeur of your theme. Let it be all "of Jesus and his glory, of Jesus and his love." R126:5

Such as have worldly goods should esteem it a privilege to be imitators of our benevolent Heavenly Father; not wasting nor hoarding, but esteeming it merely as an agent for blessing doing good. R126:2

By sending free literature. R110:6

We should do good and communicate until we feel it--to give a dollar, or a moment, or an hour for which we have no other use, is no sacrifice. R127:4

Such sacrifices -- The acceptable sacrifices of our consecrated lives.
R2778:6

The painful, though joyous, sacrifices which his "Little Flock" make in his service, following in the footsteps of their Redeemer and Lord.

R1273:1, 1781:4

Self-sacrifice and praise to God. R4031:3

Hebrews 13:17

Obey them -- Honor. E284

The elders chosen by vote of all the saints. R1895:3

Those whom we believe to be over us in the Lord. R4514:4

Rule -- Supervision. R4503:4

Submit yourselves -- Be submissive. R1822:1, 4514:4

The churches of Christ should recognize the leading of their Head and know their leaders to be of his choice. R2080:2

So long as teachers are recognized as being God-provided, so long as they approve themselves by conduct and the Word of God, they have more honor and their opinion is given more weight than others. R1848:4 Have confidence. The Lord our Shepherd will care for the true sheep. R3332:4

They watch -- And pray. R2576:2

The reason for submission and obedience is because they "keep watch on your behalf." R1822:1

For your souls -- Your interests and welfare. R2576:3; E284

Must give account -- Shall render an account. R1822:1

To the Lord. E284

The power rests with the congregation to reject any teacher according to their judgment of the Word and will of God. R1848:4

Do it with joy -- In choosing, seek not your own will or glory, neither that of other brethren, but the will and glory of God only. R1848:5

Hebrews 13:20

Again from the dead -- Highly exalted to the throne and highest favor, after he had completed his sacrifice. E396

Our Lord Jesus -- Christ could never have raised himself. R2795:2

Shepherd -- Shepherd-Son. R2431:4

Blood -- The same shed blood as mentioned in verse 12. R1336:2

Everlasting covenant -- Which was sealed, ratified or made operative through his death. A141

Both the Abrahamic Covenant and the New Covenant are Scripturally styled "The Everlasting Covenant." R4321:2

The Oath-bound Covenant. It was in view of our Lord's sacrificial death as a sin offering that God made that Covenant. NS362:1, 360:3

Hebrews 13:21

Make you perfect -- Knit you together--make you completely one with the Shepherd as his "members" both in sufferings and in glory to follow.

R4321:4

The same power that brought our Lord from the dead is able to perfect us through the blood of the New Covenant, by laying down our lives, sharing his death. Q168:4

To be associated with Christ in the glorious work of establishing that New Covenant, after it shall have been sealed. R4495:4

There could be no perfecting as New Creatures of the divine nature had it not been that God granted us the privilege of sharing with our Lord in his sacrificial death, in his work of sealing the New Covenant with his blood.

R4495:4

If we abide in his love he will perfect us as New Creatures by the privileges granted us of sharing in the sufferings of Christ, particularly in the shedding of the blood of the Everlasting Covenant, which, as the New Covenant, will bring blessings to Israel and then to the world.

R4321:4, 4331:1

Confidence that he is both able and willing to bring them also, through him, to eternal glory. HG594:2

Not justify you from your sins. Q168:4

That which is wellpleasing -- "All things whatsoever ye would that men should do unto you, do ye even so to them." (Matt. 7:12) R2590:3

Hebrews 13:24

That have rule over you -- See comments on verses 7 & 17.

They of Italy -- Implies that Paul wrote this Epistle from Rome, where he was in prison. R4385:3

James

General

Many have supposed doctrinal conflict between St. Paul and St. James, the former holding faith as the important feature of Christianity, the latter insisting that works take precedence. We hold that there was no such conflict between the Apostles, and that the subject, rightly understood today, leaves no room for disputation. St. James possibly noticed a tendency in some to go to the extreme in the matter of faith, and to ignore works entirely. In other words, the teachings of St. Paul and St. James may be fully harmonized. R4377:2,5

St. James was evidently a very practical man. His third chapter is generally acknowledged to be one of the most profound dissertations known in the world on the power of speech. R4380:2

James 1:1

James -- "James the Less," the son of Alpheus (Cleopas--Mark 3:18), husband of Mary, supposed to have been second cousin to our Lord, so by Jewish custom styled "the Lord's brother." (Gal. 1:19) R3003:2

To the twelve tribes -- Fleshly Israel. B207

Had promises made to them that were also specially made to spiritual Israel whom they typified. R2446:6

Israelites indeed who have accepted Christ, and grafted-in Gentiles. R2085:6, 2100:2

The entire epistle is addressed to the Church, the true Israelites. R2442:3, 2443:1

The rejection of the unbelieving of natural Israel left the way open to engraft in some from amongst the Gentiles, possessed of the faith of Abraham. R2442:3

James 1:2

My brethren -- God's people, begotten of his spirit. R2936:4

Count it all joy -- Knowing that under divine providence difficulties will work out a greater blessing to you. R2936:4

In everything give thanks unto God--in life's difficulties, as well as in its pleasures. (1 Thess. 5:18) R2936:4

Rejoice if our trials have brought us lessons of any kind that are profitable to us. Paul summed it up in Rom. 8:18. R3001:5

Not that we are to rejoice if we fall into sin when tempted, but that we may rejoice if we find ourselves suddenly precipitated into temptation. R5459:2

We can rejoice because we know that such trials will more fully crystallize our characters; that the Lord would not let us fall into temptation if we are wholly loyal. R5459:3

A temptation resisted makes us so much the stronger to resist the next. R5331:5

God assures us that all tribulation under his providences will yield fruitage of character. R2737:3

Ye fall into -- Not walk into them; we are not to seek temptation.

R5459:6

James intimates that temptations may overtake us, into which we will fall as a snare. R5459:1

No one could count temptation a joy if, when it should come upon him, he would enter into it. R5331:5

Divers temptations -- Trials, testings. R5499:6, 2005:3

Difficulties. R2936:4

Every difficulty is intended to prove us, to test our love, to see if our characters are fixed in righteousness. (1 Pet. 1:7; 2 Cor. 4:17) R5459:2, 5499:5,6, 3776:5, 2258:3

Temptations are necessary to our discipline and preparation for the Kingdom. R2005:3

Temptation is not a sin. R5459:2

Even temptations that come through negligence are not to be disesteemed.

Some of our greatest lessons in carefulness have resulted from the effect of our own carelessness. R5459:6

James 1:3

Trying of your faith worketh -- If our faith stands the trial, it will work out in our character this patient endurance. R5651:4

Patience always shines brightest when manifested under the glowing heat of severe affliction. R1721:1,5

The Christian can take joy in tribulation, not because he loves tribulation, but because he loves the patience, the experience, the character, which are a fruitage if rightly exercised thereby. (Rom. 5:3)

R2737:3

Patience -- Greek, hupomonee, constancy; endurance of evil in a cheerful, willing, patient manner; endurance with contentment, without rebellion of will. R2791:1, 2792:1, 5650:2, 5499:1, 4910:1

Meek, uncomplaining endurance of suffering with humble resignation and perseverance; a trait which indicates strength and self-discipline. R1721:1

It is mindful of its own imperfections and sympathetic with the imperfections and shortcomings of others. R4910:1, 5125:3

There is little virtue in the patience that endures from motives of worldly policy. R1721:5

An element of character, not merely a temporary condition of restraint of feeling or action. R5650:2, 4910:1

James 1:4

Let patience have her perfect work -- Patience smooths the way for every other Christian grace, because all must be acquired under the process of patient and continuous self-discipline. Not a step of progress can be gained without this grace. R4910:1

By meekly doing the best we can each day, and doing it cheerfully and well. R1721:2

Until the long and painful discipline yields the peaceable fruit and rewards of righteousness. R1721:5

Submitting cheerfully under the mighty hand of God in his work of preparing us for a place in his Kingdom. R4809:1

"Let patient endurance have her perfect work" or "perfect her work."

Demonstrate love as an element of character, deep-rooted, immutable, so that you can endure opposition cheerfully. R4910:3

"In your patience [patient endurance, cheerful, hopeful, constancy] possess ye your souls." (Luke 21:19) R4910:6

Enduring all trials and shining the brighter for every affliction. R1721:5

One object of the test of patient endurance is that we may have the character-likeness of the Lord Jesus; not merely the firmness, but also the gentleness. R4910:6

Our loyalty to the Lord and to the principles of his righteousness-- justice, truth, love--shall be beyond question. Our characters must become crystallized along these lines. R3059:5,6

God assures us that all tribulation under his providences will yield fruitage of character. R2737:3

Our ability and strength to patiently endure should increase as we progress in the narrow way. R5651:3

Our balance of judgment is so poor that we are by nature too hasty.

Therefore growth in grace and growth in knowledge will have to do with the degree of love exhibited by each. R5125:3

By fiery trials we learn patience, forbearance, sympathy for others, love for the brethren, compassion for the world in its troubles and trials.

NS447:6

Perfect and entire -- Our character cannot be perfected without patient endurance, without our putting on the whole armor of God; and having put it on, keeping it securely buckled. R5650:2

James 1:5

Lack wisdom -- "Wisdom is the principal thing." (Prov. 4:7) R2262:2

The wisest course is to admit our own unwisdom and seek for divine direction, divine wisdom. R2262:3

The more we gain the more we see we still lack. R3980:4

Realize that they lack wisdom and need guidance by the Divine Teacher. R2262:5

We appreciate our lack as we come to see the lengths, breadths, heights, and depths of God's loving providence for us. R3988:4

This wisdom seems to be especially necessary to us as the servants of God, that the words of our mouths and the meditations of our hearts may be acceptable in the sight of the Lord. (Psa. 19:14) R5202:4

Christian common sense has discovered its human weakness and imperfection, and has come to God for "the spirit of a sound mind." R1777:1

We shall continually need the wisdom from on high. R5633:1

Some suffer as busy-bodies in other men's matters because of a lack of wisdom of moderation. R2493:3

Let him ask -- Our requests must be for increased filling with the holy Spirit; wisdom from above. F686

Grace from on high is needed, is promised, and should be earnestly sought when under conditions of severe trial. F506

It is only those who are using to the best of their ability the power and the talents already given them who have any right to ask for further wisdom. R5633:1

God desires all who would become his children to realize their needs and to make requests accordingly. R5714:6

Take it to the Lord in prayer. R2006:3

James 1:6

Let him ask -- For only such things as are promised in the divine Word. R2005:4

Various counsels of heavenly wisdom give us the wisdom and grace for the affairs of life. R2263:4

Ask in faith or not at all. Whatsoever is not of faith is sin, hypocrisy. (Rom. 14:23) R2005:4

Only the humble will seek and obey the heavenly wisdom from the great Counselor; they shall all be taught of God. R2262:5

The greater our humility, the greater our trust in the Lord's wisdom and reliance on his instruction. R2262:6

Our prayers are not to be "vain repetitions," formal requests for what we do not expect. (Matt. 6:7) R2005:4

The more wisdom we gain, the more we see we lack. We need to go continually to the fountain of grace that we may profitably use each experience of life. R3980:4

In faith -- True faith is not credulity. It is critical, and believes only upon good evidence. It criticizes closely and distinguishes clearly between the teachings of men and the substantiated Word of God. R2005:4

Wave of sea -- Masses of mankind not under religious restraint. (Jude 13; Rev. 21:1) R333:1

Not to think he shall receive any thing -- If asked with irreverence, such petitions will receive no consideration from the Lord. R3253:1
If we partake of the spirit of the world and try to partake of the spirit of Christ, let not any man think he shall receive anything of the Lord. R1899:1

James 1:8

A double minded man -- One obliged to compromise matters continually, by "splitting the difference" between the new mind of the spirit and the old mind of the flesh. R2336:2, 2335:6

Has two wills in control. R2336:2, 3913:5

The Great Company class. R4079:2

The "lukewarm," neither cold nor hot, neither for sin nor against sin (Rev. 3:16). God wants positive characters, and others will not be approved. R1985:1

Some take a less positive stand and seek to gain the things of this world, its honor, as well as the honor of God and the world to come. R4256:1

A will which can never please the Lord nor bring joy and blessing either now or hereafter. R2337:5

We cannot have two objects in life, both equally prominent to our attention. R3721:2

Like Balaam, who wished to be a prophet of the Lord, but who wished riches and honor. R5322:6

Trying to be a servant and mouthpiece of God and to gain the rewards of an opposite course. R5323:1

Weak, vacillating character. OV138:T

The vast majority of our race are in this condition of uncertainty, indecision; they have no positive aim, no fixed purpose in life. As a consequence they are like chaff, ready to blow hither and thither. SM755:2

One who has never a settled purpose in respect to his life. SM340:1

Those who have no fixity of purpose, will, intention, are unsuccessful. SM755:1

Human experience, as well as the divine Word, attest the importance of concentrating energy upon some one thing if we would achieve the best results. R478:2

Is unstable -- Inconsistent. R2336:1

Unreliable in every way; not pleasing to God, not acceptable to him. R5323:1; F599

Thus showing how impossible it would be for anyone to become an overcomer without becoming strong in faith. F691

The unstable heart will not retain the divine impress. As in dough, it would soon subside and disappear. R2065:1*

In all his ways -- "Ye cannot serve God and mammon." (Matt. 6:24) C221; R5323:1, 3721:2, 1899:1

Undoubtedly this is a difficulty with a large number who profess consecration. R3721:4

A man who is wishy-washy, who does not know what he is doing, does not accomplish much of anything. R5313:4

James 1:9

Rejoice -- Our experiences should be recognized as under divine supervision and therefore a matter of rejoicing no matter how disappointing to the flesh. HG374:5

He is exalted -- We are to remember that real prominence, true exaltation, is of the Lord. R5711:4

James 1:12

Blessed is the man -- The condition of one in the favor of God. The state of such will be a happy one, a desirable one. R5499:1

Not a condition as relates to the feelings, or emotions, but rather to the outcome. Whatever conduces the child of God to win the crown of life is a very great blessing, even though it cause much pain to the flesh. R5499:1

That endureth -- "The Lord your God proveth you to know whether ye love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul." (Deut. 13:3) R2258:2

God allows us to come under the constant pressure of years of toil, care, and self-sacrifice to see how we will endure; and blessed is that diamond-proved character that endures to the end. R3104:1

Retaining permanently the attitude of patient endurance and faithfulness when tempted--time after time, day after day. R5499:1,2

Endureth with fortitude. R5688:1

Endureth faithfully under temptation. R2258:3, 5459:3

He that escapes all trials and temptations has every reason to doubt that he is really a son of God. R5459:5

Everything now depends upon your power of endurance. Can you hold out to the end? R645:3*

Temptation -- Comes from Satan, trying to make a right appear wrong, and a wrong right; putting light for darkness, and darkness for light. (Isa. 5:20,21) R3297:5, 1269:1

Temptations may come from friends who may tempt us to live a life of self-indulgence, to relax in a measure our fidelity to the Lord. The enticements of wealth or worldly society, a natural love of ease and disinclination of the flesh to endure hardness. R5499:2

Those who do not love the Lord with all their hearts, in whom self or some other idol has first place, will be seduced by the world, the flesh or the devil into some form of rebellion against the divine Word. R5688:1, 5459:3, 5500:1

Chastisements, temptations or trial are necessary to our discipline and preparation for the Kingdom. R2005:3

Trials, disciplinings. R5688:2; CR230:4

When he is tried -- After his trials. R2258:3; CR230:4 When the trial time is over, when God has seen that he has demonstrated fully his loyalty. R5499:3, 5688:5

Does not mean one trial merely, but our entire experience. With every phase of trial and testing there should be a demonstration of loyalty. R5688:5

He shall receive -- Jesus slept until the third day before he received his crown. The apostles and others slept for many centuries before they received theirs. R5688:5

That glory will follow promptly just as soon as the sufferings are accomplished. SM361:1

The crown of life -- The joys of the Lord (Matt. 25:21). John speaks of the same crown (Rev. 2:10). Paul refers to it as a crown of righteousness (2 Tim. 4:8). Peter calls it the crown of glory (1 Pet. 5:4). R3211:6, 5499:3

The reward of life; and this life is on the highest plane. It is the crown of glory because it is the reward which brings immortality; given to the "more than conquerors," the crown, or pinnacle of all life; the highest crown. R5499:3, 5688:2, 3282:1

The great reward. CR230:4

Promised to them -- God's special love and provision for his saints as distinguished from the world. R1254:5

Such as are at heart fully the Lord's, not their own. R5500:1

That love him -- Love supremely, love that is the chief impulse of our lives. R5499:2

A love that will lay down the earthly life in the service of God, that they may bring blessings to others. R5499:5

James 1:13

Tempted -- Signifies to try, to prove. R1623:3

Pitfalls and snares, when right is made to appear wrong and wrong appear right. (Isa. 5:20) R3297:5

Temptation does not imply sin. Sin could come only through yielding to temptation. R2568:5

Tempted to do evil, to commit sin. R5701:6

Tempted of God -- Satan is the tempter, endeavoring to ensnare us into wrong paths and wrong conduct. However, God will not suffer us to be tempted above that we are able to resist. (1 Cor. 10:13) R2568:5, 3353:4 James limited "temptation" to temptations to evil. God tempts us to do good. (Gen. 22:1) R5701:6

The temptations are of the Adversary, and of our fallen natures--through our own flesh, and through the weaknesses of others. R3353:4, 5701:3

God cannot be tempted -- The Father always knows at once the good from the evil and has no inclination whatever to sin. Evil can have no influence with him. R5702:4,5, 1623:3

Not in accord with any suggestion that evil may be done so that good results may follow. R3145:3

Those who say that Jesus and the Father are one person must conclude the temptation of the devil (Matt. 4) was only a sham. R370:2

Our Lord Jesus is now in that condition where he cannot be tempted. When "changed" we shall likewise not be subject to evil or temptation. R5702:5

Neither tempteth he -- If we should think of God as tempting us to sin, it would be a horrible thought; for by reason of his power, none could resist. R5701:6

It is slanderous to say that God causes or instigates sin, wickedness and crime; but proper to say he has not yet interfered to stop evil. R1270:3

An unqualified and authoritative statement that "evil" is not of God. R1299:5*

God tempteth no man to sin, to do wrong. OV294:1; R5701:3

God is over and over declared righteous and holy, a God of truth and without iniquity; a just God and will do no iniquity. R1351:5

God has never directly used his mighty power to harden the heart of any human being; sin and selfishness have. R5263:2

God merely abandons to the tempter, or to the evil preferred course, those who choose the wrong way. NS95:1

It is a totally different matter that he permits Satan to tempt. SM325:1

But allowing such trials and testings will make us stronger, developing character through exercise in resisting evil. R2568:5

There is an evil one ever ready to attack the Lord's people to the extent the Lord will grant the opportunity, as with Job. R3807:2

"Tempted" signifies to try, to prove. God applies tests of character by permitting the alternatives of good and evil to be placed before the individual, to make manifest their character. R1623:3

Trials are needful for our perfecting. The Father will not hinder us from having temptations. R2005:3, 2568:5

Our prayer, "lead us not into temptation" (Matt. 6:13), does not signify we fear God will tempt us. We entreat him to guide our steps that no temptation be too severe. R3353:4

James 1:14

Tempted -- Tried, proved. R1623:3, 4805:4

A man is tempted when he is led astray and enticed by his own selfish, fallen desires. R2005:3

Not every trial is of Satan; among our chief foes are our own weaknesses, predisposition to things selfish, depraved, sinful. R4810:6

Drawn away -- He sins when he yields to those desires. R2005:3

Of his own lust -- Taking hold of the evil thing instead of resisting it causes a beginning of the secret fault. R2248:6
Desire for wealth, power, revenge, etc. R1779:1, 1270:3
Our own natural desires and weaknesses; stimulated from without, often by our companions and associates in life. R5701:3
Every trial is not of the devil. Among our chief foes is the flesh: our inherent weaknesses and predisposition to things selfish, depraved, sinful. R4810:6, 2769:3
The evil passions of men lead them to the commission of evil deeds. R1299:5*
The natural tendency is to blame someone else. R4805:4
Enticed -- The enticements might be charged back primarily to Satan, but this does not clear us of personal responsibility. R5701:3

James 1:15

Lust -- Desire. R5102:4, 4805:4, 3929:1, 2637:4, 2248:6, 1270:3; HG2:1
Selfish desire of any kind. R2891:6, 3929:1
Small, refined, insidious are the beginnings of such desires. R3929:1
Envy, ambition. R3929:1, 2637:4
Hath conceived -- In the mind. R2891:6, 2248:6
It bringeth forth sin -- Selfish desires, unrepulsed, conceive and bring forth to fruition, to consummation. R3929:1
Develops sinful words or deeds. R2891:6
The beginning of any sin is the first yielding to its intoxicating influence, and therefore we are faithfully warned to abstain from every appearance of evil. (1 Thess. 5:22) R2017:1
When it is finished -- Completed. R5102:4
When sin, being full grown. R1449:5*
Sin, with accelerating speed, ever tends downward to more vile conditions, until it ends in the shipwreck of everything that is noble and pure. R1964:3
Bringeth forth death -- The second death. R3929:1, 5102:3, 5001:2, 2249:1, 1449:5*
Not eternal torment. R3083:5; CR209:1
Only such as prefer their own wisdom to that of the Bible believe that all men will be everlastingly saved. R3083:6

James 1:17

Good gift and every perfect gift -- God's plans for mankind are all good and perfect. R904:3
God himself is the fountain from which proceeds every good and perfect gift. R2465:1
All the pleasures which come or will come to us are the blessings which come down from above. NS515:5

Everything that anyone has is a gift; it is not of his own manufacture or creation. R4898:2 One feature of our development is to learn to know and appreciate whence our blessings come. R4883:6

Those who have the spirit of pride fail to recognize this truth. R5001:2 Are seen only by the eye of faith--those who have had their eyes of understanding opened. NS515:5

There is a difference between a "gift" and a "fruit." Possession of a gift may be acquired immediately, but a fruit requires time in which to develop. R5124:2

It is God's grace and not personal merit on our part that salvation is offered to us. R2286:5

Present day inventions are foregleams of Messiah's Kingdom. R5153:3 Every gift from God is a blessing; even the second death is for the best interests of all. R5265:1

Is from above -- Our blessings come not from any human being but from God, however much he may use human instrumentalities in conveying his blessings. R3971:1 It is of God's fullness that we have received. All God's creatures are dependent upon him. R4898:2,5

Father of lights -- Our Father; the Gospel is "neither of man nor by man." R2133:2

Let us remember God's mercy towards us in the anointing of our eyes, that we may see the wonderful things in his Word. R4783:3

Every purpose of God is for the ultimate good of his creatures. R904:3

The eyes of the world have been blinded to the goodness of God; they have terrible dreads in their hearts. SM422:1

Those who believe the dead are alive make declarations respecting God's character and plan which would be a disgrace to any devil, and are far from the character and attributes of the Father of all mercies. R5674:1, 904:3

No variableness -- "I am the Lord, I change not." (Mal. 3:6) R904:3

He is the same yesterday, today, and forever. (Heb. 13:8) R1059:4, 324:6

From the rule of sending only good and what will work for good; never sending or causing wickedness, etc. R1269:1

The Word of God must stand, whether it be the word promising eternal life or the sentence of death. PD11/18

Shadow of turning -- From that course of good. R1269:2

God has never overruled his original sentence of death. R428:6

The Lord states his purpose: it is unconditional, an affirmation not subject to contingencies. R984:6

Because of his immutability and unchangeableness, it would be impossible for the Lord God to deny himself. Q779:3

The principle of unchanging justice underlies all of our Father's doings and is the ground of our strong confidence in all his promises. E463

James 1:18

Begat -- Begetting is the start of life. CR401:2

Begetting of the holy Spirit. R4124:6; CR401:2

Begotten of the truth. B22

To spiritual nature; to new nature, the new life. A194; R5580:1

As new creatures in Christ, begotten of God. R152:5, 1595:1, 2440:3; NS19:3

This same influence or unction or anointing from on high as the beginning of a new life, a new nature. SM597:2

Sufferings are an evidence that we are accepted as sons and begotten by the Word of truth. R521:4

Us -- Those in the "Holy" or spiritual-minded condition. T20

Not as the children of Christ, but children of his Father; our relationship to Jesus is that of brethren. E143, 144

Whose flesh is reckoned dead. R2440:3

With the word -- The saints receive the first impulse in the divine life from God through his Word. A196

The Scriptures. R1007:3

Of truth -- "Sanctify them through thy truth: thy Word is truth." (John 17:17) R377:4; B22

The message of God's love toward us in the forgiveness of our sins, and his call to us to return to his favor and likeness. R2204:1

Children who cannot understand at least the first principles of the doctrines of Christ could not be begotten by those principles, or influenced to a consecration. R366:2

The word of grace. R2409:5

Begotten of God by the Word of truth, and quickened by the holy Spirit. R1649:1, 4614:3

We should be -- Future--we will reach that condition when "born of the spirit" into the full likeness of the "second Adam." R152:5

At birth--resurrection. R253:6

A kind of firstfruits -- To God. R5298:3

Called out from among men that they might be first fruits unto God. SM545:T

If the Head is of the first-fruits, the Body must be of the first-fruits.

NS341:3

The Church. R555:6*, 984:6, 4330:3, 5298:3; HG670:6, 437:2, 422:5, 337:1; NS390:5, 243:2, 29:3

The "Church of the first-born." (Heb. 12:23) The Church is passed over in the night, especially saved in advance of others. R5273:1,5, 5870:2,

5641:1, 5371:6, 4966:6, 4823:2, 3995:5; NS333:1

Ancient Worthies sleep while God develops the Gospel age Church through the "better promises" to be first-fruits. R361:6

The little handful of saints walking in Jesus' footsteps are sharing in the "first resurrection." NS831:3

Specially selected from the world, and pupils in the school of Christ.

NS604:3

Typed by the priests, the Little Flock; and the Levites, the Great Company. R5166:6, 5298:6, 1259:3; OV97:6

True Christians, the wheat of this age, which God is now harvesting.

R2890:6

"The firstfruits unto God and to the Lamb." (Rev. 14:4) R5870:1, 5640:6

We see firstfruits in two senses: the Church is the firstfruits of the whole creation; our Lord was the firstfruits of the Church. R3377:6, 3132:1

Our Lord's resurrection was the beginning of the first resurrection (Rev.

20:4; 1 Cor. 15:52,53), "the firstfruits of them that slept." (1 Cor.

15:20) He became the "firstborn among many brethren." (Rom. 8:29) R2747:5, 3132:1, 2796:4

The Little Flock. (Luke 12:32) R4702:4, 2490:2, 2074:6, 1023:6; HG340:1

Primarily, our Lord Jesus; secondarily, the Bride class; then there will be a large company--all on the spirit plane. The after fruits--mankind in general--to include the Ancient Worthies. R4999:1,2, 5298:6, 5166:6, 4967:14175:5

The Church must receive her inheritance before the ancient worthies for she is the firstfruits. R5772:3 A firstfruits implies afterfruits. It is

God's intention to have the afterfruits, a great harvest, which will be gathered during the Millennial age. R5870:1, 4175:5, 5640:6, 4703:3, 3995:6, 3959:6, 2796:6, 555:6; CR340:4, 33:6*

The resurrection of the Church, as the firstfruits, means, indirectly, the opening of the grave to every member of the human family. R4645:3, 3175:5; SM45:1; OV174:5,6

The elect Little Flock. This implies an after-fruitage much more numerous. R4702:4, 2490:2; NS660:2, 390:2

We see that strawberries are the firstfruits in that they come before other fruits in the spring--so the expression that the Church is the firstfruits of God's creatures does not imply that all will have the same nature. R3377:6, 5166:6, 3131:6

His creatures -- God's. R253:6

James 1:19

Slow to speak -- Not a few need to learn the lesson of quietness; to hear and learn, to be taught of God, before they have much to say. Those who are too forward and ready to teach, before they have received instruction from the Lord, are very apt not to know what they say. R2289:4 Not too ready to tell all of our plans and arrangements; to tell everything that we know. R3674:6

Slow to wrath -- Greek, orge, anger. While God announces his anger, and shows its justice, he bids us beware of it, lest, because of our fallen condition, we err in judgment. R787:4,5

James 1:20

Wrath of man -- We are not capable of judging our fallen fellow creatures. R787:5

Righteousness -- The right will or mind. R1779:1, 1270:4

James 1:21

Lay apart -- Putting away. (Revised Version) R4634:3

Superfluity of naughtiness -- Overflowing of wickedness. (Revised Version) R4634:6

Receive with meekness -- God in this age is calling a class possessed of ears of appreciation for his message. R5038:3

Reject all extraneous matter; discard the things which are without scriptural authority. R5612:4

Only for the meek is the Word of God's testimony intended, only such are ready to receive. E91

Not into a heart filled with selfishness or a spirit of vainglory or pride, or irreverence or ingratitude. R2058:4*

James 1:22

Be ye doers -- Called to bear good fruits, to walk the narrow way of self-denial, self-sacrifice and character development. R3317:5

One seeks for the doctrines and principles of the divine Word, and builds his faith structure upon that true foundation which the divine revelation affords. R5029:6

"He that hath my Word let him speak my word faithfully." (Jer. 23:28) "If any man speak, let him speak as the oracles of God." (1 Pet. 4:11) R1882:6

Shows the importance of obeying the good tidings and its good results. R3746:3

To fancy ourselves as making spiritual progress merely by gaining information respecting the Lord and his teachings is to crack the nut and drop the kernel. R2694:2

Does not profit the reader who fails to meditate upon its precepts, or who only occasionally looks into the perfect law of liberty and beholds himself, forgets, then fails to apply the instruction. R2146:5*

Blessed are our eyes, if, seeing and hearing of the Lord's grace and goodness toward all of his creatures, we at once fall into obedience to the spirit of the great Teacher's instructions. R2694:5

Its authority was received and appreciated, and from its blessed testimony were drawn precious lessons of faith, obedience, gratitude, humility, fortitude, reverence. R2058:4*

Hearers -- Not forgetful hearers, but doers of the word. F316

Deceiving your own selves -- Deluding. R5626:4

"Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven." (Matt. 7:21) R3317:6, 3747:6

In order to have his approval, it will be necessary that we develop characters in conformity with the Father's will--more than calling ourselves Christian, and preaching to others in the Lord's name. R3318:2

James 1:24

Goeth his way -- The Word of the Lord cannot profit any one who does not in a meek and prayerful spirit come to its pages for instruction. R2146:5*

James 1:25

Perfect law of liberty -- Applicable now only to the new creation.

Others still under either the Mosaic Law or the condemnation of the original law. During the Millennium the world will be under a law of obedience. Not until the close of the Kingdom will the race be put under the law of liberty. F377, 378; R2122:2

Love, and its Golden Rule. F378; D307; R2986:5, 2688:2; SM337:1; HG584:1*

"The law of the spirit of life in Christ Jesus." (Rom. 8:2) R3018:1

Christ's word is our law; not a law of bondage, but of liberty. R973:4

This law of love works no ill to a neighbor and no ingratitude or irreverence to God, but is holy and just and good. Nothing else than love can secure the fullest liberty for every individual without in the least infringing upon the liberties of any other individual. R1462:6*, 2688:2, 1498:3

"The Lord is that spirit: and where the spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty." (2 Cor. 3:17) R1322:5*

Continueth therein -- "Continueth therein free." R1729:1, 973:4

"Continueth to do so"--continual looking into God's Word. R645:5*

Not a forgetful hearer -- The promise of the divine favor and blessing is not to the forgetful, listless hearers who fail to apply their hearts unto instruction, but to the attentive hearers and faithful doers of the Word. R2093:5, 1595:4

Doer of the work -- One who exercises his liberty. R1729:1, 973:4

Shall be blessed -- Such fulfill the royal law--love and liberty.

R973:4, 1729:1

The earnest and faithful soul who applied his heart unto instruction. R1595:4

Blessed not in his profession, not in his desire, nor yet in his determination; but blessed in his doing. R1802:3*

James 1:26

His tongue -- Which is the index of the heart. R2517:2

Vain -- If unbridled, speaks selfishly, enviously, bitterly, boastfully, slanderously, and proves the heart is grievously lacking of the spirit of Christ. R2517:2

James 1:27

Unspotted -- "Without spot, or wrinkle, or any such thing." (Eph. 5:27)
R2782:6

White sheep, who walk with the Lord in white, are a mere handful. NS370:6
Implies a possibility of having our robe of Christ's righteousness spotted. R2782:6

Those espoused ones are cautioned that their treatment of their robes will determine if they will be of the Bride class. SM254:2

They "have not defiled their garments." (Rev. 3:4) R4870:4

Through receiving of the spirit of the world, we blemish or sully our wedding garment. R2782:6

That his garment might be embroidered with all the graces of the Lord's character. R2788:4

They have not been willing to have sin contaminate them and to separate them from the Lord, but have quickly applied for and obtained the precious blood to remove every stain. R4870:4, 689:5; Q673:T, 283:4

Though still actually imperfect, only reckoned righteous, still liable to and sometimes overcome by evil because of inherited weakness, we may realize, on confession, the forgiveness of every sin and that the precious blood--the ransom--keeps us clean from every stain of sin. R689:5

"That wicked one toucheth them not." (1 John 5:18) R4870:4

James 2

James 2:3

Ye have respect -- We are to mind not high things, but to condescend to men of low estate; to show no preference to the man that wears the fine clothing or the gold ring, but to regard highest those who do the will of God. R1956:2

In a good place -- The choicest seats--treated with deference and respect. R5886:3

Under my footstool -- Obscure places--treated with scant courtesy, as though they were inferiors. R5886:6

James 2:4

Become judges -- Judgment was passed upon the brethren contrary to the instructions of the Lord. R5886:6

James 2:5

Hath not God chosen -- As a rule. R2761:2, 2520:3

All down through the Gospel age the Lord's invitations have been extended chiefly to those in the humbler walks of life. R3720:5, 2580:1

The poor -- "Not many wise men after the flesh, not many mighty, not many noble, are called." (1 Cor. 1:26) R5676:4, 5692:2, 5415:5, 4969:3, 4158:2, 3953:3, 3797:6, 3707:6, 2948:2, 1642:4, 1172:3, 1102:6, 1047:3; D516; SM511:1, 176:2; HG746:3; NS809:3, 647:1, 470:2, 412:4, 388:6, 331:3, 270:2, 128:3; OV297:T*, 215:3*

The two prosperities, temporal and spiritual, under present conditions, can rarely exist side by side in the same individual's experience.

R2860:3, 2761:2, 2520:2

"How hardly [with what difficulty] shall they that have riches enter into the kingdom of God." (Mark 10:23) R2761:2, 2728:6; NS270:2

The filled, the rich, the satisfied, are frequently less interested in the Savior than are the poor; they do not realize so great need for him and for the Millennial Kingdom he is to establish. R4534:3; SM511:1, 13:2

This does not debar those who have riches of any kind; they have that much greater talent which, if they will, they may sacrifice. R2702:5

Not the literally poor; the "poor in spirit" (Matt. 5:3), the humble-minded. R2580:1

Strong characters may be developed and high ideals attained in the heart and in deeds amongst the lowly and obscure. R3952:3

Poverty of purse and intellect are much more favorable to the development of humility than are riches of any kind. R2580:1

The poor in this world's goods, and in talents and influence, having practically nothing to sacrifice but their wills, find it easier to comply with the conditions. R2762:3

Like their Master, of "no reputation" or influence. (Phil. 2:7) D516

Jesus was very poor and humble when on the earth; "for our sakes he became poor." (2 Cor. 8:9) Few of the Little Flock have money or influence.

R811:1*, 983:2, 285:5, 210:1*

Though not generally learned, neither are they ignorant. They are close students of God's Word, and the wisdom derived therefrom gives them an education this world can never attain. R1102:6

The number of wise, learned people who are willing to become fools in the estimation of men, for Christ's sake, is exceedingly small. R2948:3

We can rejoice with the poor and less influential who have received the Gospel message, that doubtless their poverty, etc., were favorable factors to their advantage. We can sympathize with the great and rich. R5075:3

Very shortly the Lord will show how different is the divine standard of measurement; among the Lord's priests will be some very lightly esteemed amongst men. R3054:5

Many might be disposed to despise them, to slight them, because they know them not. R3797:6

The glorified Little Flock will not contain many great, rich or wise according to the world's estimate. R2122:5

Those that realize most keenly their own insufficiency and weakness and the hopelessness of ever gaining any great earthly prize are the ones who appreciate the proffer of the heavenly crown. NS135:6

We advise colaborers to search for the Lord's jewels among the humble. R1954:2 Its numbers have always been small and its circumstances humble. R1754:5

The rich, the noble, the learned, the self-satisfied righteous are not in the condition of heart to hunger and thirst after the things which God has to give now. HG746:3

We need not expect many great or wise or learned to be our companions in the narrow way. NS85:5

Riches, honors and fame draw the heart's affection and zeal away from heavenly things and to the good earthly portion being enjoyed. NS67:3

Worldly-wise are few because they feel their own superiority and seek not heavenly wisdom nor divine approval. SM13:2

Rich in faith -- Who have faith to believe the message, who enter into rest through faith. (Heb. 4:3) R3707:6

Who will understand the things of God and be initiated into the mysteries of the Kingdom. SM13:2

Without great faith in God they will never be able to overcome the trials of the present time. CR408:6

Heirs -- Prospectively heirs; these shall be glorified with their Lord in the Kingdom. R2406:1

Whom God has ordained to be heirs of the Kingdom. R2246:4, 32:3*

Not numerically strong; their reigning, their power and their control in the world's affairs will not come until their resurrection change.

R5692:2, 5676:4

It is evident that James does not mean the nominal church, which is now reigning with the world; for the rich are pressed into it. A284

Of the kingdom -- The only sense in which Christ's Kingdom was begun at the first advent was in its embryo condition. R1747:5, 1351:6; A284

He hath promised -- God's special love and provision for his saints as distinguished from the world. R1254:5

To them that love him -- These are to be the "royal priesthood" (1 Pet. 2:9), to whom shall be committed the full control of earth during the "times of restitution." (Acts 3:21) R2490:2

These are to be heirs of the glory, honor and immortality which God has in reservation for them. NS368:5

James 2:8

The royal law -- The law of love; supreme love to God, and love to the neighbor as to self. R1498:3

Those who have made a full consecration of heart to the Lord have a battle to wage to fulfill the royal law of love, notwithstanding their intention, purity of heart, and wills. R5123:4

This law of love under which we are placed, contains the spirit of the Law to Israel: the Ten Commandments, and even more. R542:6

We are no longer under the letter, but under the spirit--the greater law of love. HG584:1

As thyself -- Not better than thyself; there seems to be a limitation to the love commanded by the Law. Our Lord's sacrifice transcends that required of the Law. R3804:6

James 2:10

The whole law -- With ten divisions. R608:1, 5071:4, 812:1*

It is a perfect law. It requires the full measure of a perfect man's ability to keep it. R812:1*; E108

Offend in one point -- God could not look upon sin with any degree of allowance. R812:2*

None can keep it perfectly. R543:5

He is guilty of all -- Thus every mouth is stopped from claiming the right to life, and all the world stands guilty before God. A101

Any violation of divine law is sin, whether committed willingly or unwillingly. R1983:3

He could claim nothing under it, but must be condemned as a violator, unworthy of life. R929:5, 608:1, 604:5*, 543:5

James 2:12

The law of liberty -- Nothing else than love can secure the fullest liberty for every individual without infringing upon the liberties of any other individual. R1462:6, 2426:5

By which we are now being judged. R2426:5

James 2:13

Have judgment -- Just sentence; the second death. R2329:3,4

For he shall have a second trial (judgment) after this life. HG220:3

Shewed no mercy -- He who shows no mercy shall receive no mercy. F417

If our standard in dealing with others be one of exact justice, we may expect no mercy at the Lord's hands. R2667:5

Mercy rejoiceth -- The merciful will obtain mercy--be extremely merciful to others, hoping that the Lord would be correspondingly lenient to us. R5324:4

Mercy is an outward expression of love. OV405:1

Against judgment -- Not through a failure of justice, but through a satisfaction of justice. R2328:2

Against the execution of justice. R3735:2

Divine mercy satisfied divine justice. R2587:2

Love has gained a victory over justice. OV405:1

It will require the entire thousand years of Messiah's reign before mercy shall have fully triumphed over justice. OV408:2

James 2:14

Have not works -- Works to correspond; to attest the faith. R4378:1

That humble confidence which espouses God's unpopular cause, which perseveres in pursuing it in face of all opposition, and which endures whatever approach, discouragement, privation, and even persecution it may bring. R1159:1*

Our works should be the outgrowth of that faith. R2162:2*

Can faith save him -- James is combatting a prevalent theory of his day that works amounted to nothing; that it was faith which counted. R5892:5

Many have supposed doctrinal conflict between Paul and James. There was no such conflict. R4377:2, 30:1*

By works is faith made perfect. R2159:1

It is faith that works by love which counts. R4378:1, 811:3*

"This faith is not able to save him." (Diaglott) R2162:2*

"Without faith it is impossible to please him [God]" (Heb. 11:6), and if faith without works is of no advantage, the inference is plain that without works it is equally impossible to please God. R1158:1*, 2162:2*
We are not to think that mere belief that makes no impression upon the life and is unaccompanied by any effort to live pleasing to God, would do any real good. R2159:3

James 2:15

Naked, and destitute -- There were both rich and poor in the assemblies of the primitive Church. R2932:4

Some were able to feed the hungry, clothe the naked, etc., which illustrates that love exists among the real brethren of Christ. R811:2*

James 2:16

What doth it profit -- To tell a poor brother that God will help him and to send him away without relief, when it is within our power to relieve him, would not be such a faith as God would approve. It would profit us nothing. R4378:1

The measure of our love for the Lord will be measured by our love for the brethren. NS79:4

James 2:17

If it hath not -- Does not produce character. R3114:2

Works -- Faith which worketh by love. R811:3*, 4378:1

Corresponding works which attest its genuineness. R2162:2*, 2159:5

Is dead -- It cannot be called a living faith; it has given no evidence of life; it has shown no quickening; it is barren. R4378:1,2

A faith that will not develop obedience is unavailing. R4378:2

Has lost its vitality, its virtue, its life. It is worthless. R2847:4

Is null and void. R3114:2

A putrid thing, offensive to both God and man. R2159:5

Being alone -- Greek, heautou, by itself. E170, 171

My faith -- Based on reasonable premise or foundation. R1158:2

Faith is a mental conviction respecting things not positively proven to the senses, but received on supposedly good authority. Faith requires, and inquires for, good sound evidence and authority for its basis. Faith is not credulity, does not jump at conclusions, but makes investigations and sees that it has some reasonable ground for its existence. R5892:1,2

It will be our faith in God and in the Lord Jesus that will bring us the victory, but the victory will be accounted only to those who shall, to the best of their ability, work out their salvation with fear and trembling. R5407:3

By my works -- James is opposing the wrong deductions from Paul's teaching. R5892:6

He whose life is not in harmony with his faith dishonors that faith and will not be permitted to maintain it very long. R2159:5

A living faith shows itself by work. R5470:2; NS344:1

Faith and works together are bringing us into the character-likeness of Christ. R5470:2

God will test us by our works as to the strength of our faith. R5892:6

If we have all works and no faith, we shall fail. R5478:2

Not that we are to attain the Kingdom by our works; for we are unable to do perfect works. R5407:2; NS39:3,6

James 2:19

Thou believest -- There is no special virtue in believing an evident truth; but it is lying and self-deception to disbelieve any truth of which we have clear evidence. Faith must be accompanied by obedience. R606:5

God will expect to find in us such works as we are capable of. NS39:6

Thou doest well -- Surely this is not the extent of your faith. R4378:2

The devils also believe -- Fallen angels. R2171:5; F625; HG725:3,5

Satan is a student of God's Word and a believer of it; he has learned that every word of God is sure. R265:6

By merely believing that Jesus died, and that he was holy, etc., no one can become his disciple. R5833:2; NS167:5

And tremble -- Because they know the Lord's power. R606:5

For having presumptuously sinned against God in the fact of truth and knowledge. R606:5

James 2:20

O vain man -- Foolish. R4378:2

Without works -- The right kind of faith will make an outward manifestation, according to circumstances. R4377:3

Is dead -- Barren. It can never bring you life, birth, even as imperfect works failed to justify to life under the Law Covenant. R4378:2

It speedily loses its vitality, its value, its very existence. R2692:3

James 2:21

Was not -- Note the case of Abraham. R4378:2

Abraham -- God placed a crucial test upon Abraham's faith, which would have proven it inefficient, if it had not developed to the stage of obedience. R4378:2

Our father -- Father of the faithful. R4378:2, 5892:6

Justified -- To friendship with God, not to life. R5774:5

By works -- His was not an empty profession of loyalty; he demonstrated his faith by works of obedience. R5774:5

Abraham sought to be as nearly perfect in conduct as possible. R5207:1

James 2:22

Faith wrought with his works -- Abraham manifested his faith by his general conduct. R2854:2, 30:1*

Abraham loved the Lord and desired to serve him. R3915:6

These works are not ours as men but as new creatures. R3586:2

Faith made perfect -- Developed to the quickening stage of works of obedience. R4378:2

James 2:23

It was imputed -- Abraham's faith was a working faith. The Bible worthies (Heb. 11) were justified by faith when their faith led them to do what God required of them. R50:1*

His faith was proved an acceptable one by works of obedience. R2159:4

Friend of God -- Received into the favor that Adam had lost, viz., communion with God as a "friend." A228 R273:6

Noble and grand as Abraham was, yet he is merely styled "the friend of God." NS662:6

God loved him and treated him as a friend. R5892:6

Abraham was justified to receive God's favor and to be told secrets that God would tell to a friend. Q698:7

God proved his servant under a fiery ordeal which manifested a character which he could approve and highly reward. R1623:3; Q267:T

The world will require 1000 years to reach that peace with God which the elect class of this age reaches almost instantly, by faith similar to Abraham's. R4476:1; Q267:T

James 2:24

How that by works -- Such fruits of righteousness as may be possible for us under present imperfect conditions. F109

Our faith must not be without works to the extent of our ability. F107

James 2:25

Likewise also -- Fearful that he had given an example so lofty as would discourage us, James holds up another illustration of faith and works. R4378:2

Justified by works -- Rahab had faith in God, but it would not have availed her if it had not developed to activity and helpful service, risking her own interests. R4378:3

Not by faith alone. HG249:2

James 2:26

The body -- A body must be had before any spirit of life could come into it. R4378:4

Without the spirit -- Spirit of life. R4378:4

Greek, pneuma, life-spark, breath of lives. E317

Is dead -- Quickening is absolutely necessary to have spirit birth. R4378:4

The spirit without the body is also dead. HG200:5

Faith without works -- Faith must exist before it can be quickened into activity. R4378:4

Faith cannot live without manifesting itself. All of our services to the Lord are valuable chiefly as proofs of our faith in his promises. R2425:4, 1406:1

Be not many masters -- "Be not many [of you] masters [teachers]."

(Diaglott, Revised Version) R5185:3, 5389:4, 4122:4, 3822:6, 2156:2

The spirit of ambition, rivalry and desire to be greatest amongst the Lord's people is one of the most dangerous foes of the Church. R5268:6

Those that have a special gift of speech and another special gift of opportunity to use this speech exert a wide influence; their responsibility is proportionate. R5020:3

Eldership has great temptation and great danger. R5185:3; CR122:2

Little men, like little ships with broad sails, are in great danger of being capsized if too strong a wind of popularity play upon them. R3363:4

There seems to be a special danger surrounding all who become identified with the promulgation of truth. R5956:3

In 2 Tim. 3:1-5 there is a picture that fits well to our day throughout Christendom; and it is not strange that something of the same general spirit seeks to invade the camp of the saints. The trouble is a grievous one and especially injurious to the brethren who may yield to such headiness: nothing is surer to sap spiritual vitality and to lead us into darkness, both doctrinal and spiritual. R3613:5

Those who have seen the truth clearly and have some talents will have the severest trial on that account. R5001:4

The Church is very much at the mercy of the leaders. R5389:4

The Church should choose for its servants only those of humble mind. R2952:1

When elders seek to bring the class under their control and succeed, does it not show that the class lacks the very quality that the Lord tells us he desires to see--courage, overcoming? It is inexcusable for the Church possessed of this spirit to continue under the domination of ambitious men. R5981:6

That we -- That the man who is a teacher. R4364:1 F267; R5389:4, 4502:5, 4448:4, 2654:5, 2180:3

Shall receive -- Shall in any failure. R4364:1

Will experience. R4448:4

The greater condemnation -- Severer judgment. (Diaglott) R3823:1

Heavier judgment. (Revised Version) R2156:2, 4502:5, 4380:2

Severer trial, severer test; greater responsibility in proportion to ability. R5389:4, 5956:3, 5020:3, 4709:3, 4502:5, 4448:4, 3613:5, 2654:5, 2180:3, 1406:1*; F267

Severer sentence; temptations and responsibilities increase with every advance step. F258; R5389:4

A teacher is exposed to more criticism. Unfaithfulness or carelessness would bring heavy condemnation. R4380:2

The besetments of teachers are pride and arrogance. R4503:1

Many admitted to the Lord's favor and privileged to confess him before men have stumbled over their own honor and exaltation. R3790:2

James 3:2

We offend all -- We are imperfect. R4502:5

We all stumble. R4380:6

We are all faulty. R1938:5 All commit unintentional violations of God's law. R5750:6

If any man -- The man who thinks unjustly will act unjustly. The new creature must be disciplined even to the control of his thoughts. SM432:2

Offend not in word -- Does not err in word. R1938:5

Sin not with the tongue. R5517:3

A perfect man -- Such a man does not exist. R1938:5

Even the most advanced of the Lord's people are liable at times to err with their lips. R3305:6

Bridle -- Control. R1938:5

A chief essential in an elder. R3783:3

Your self-restrain--the bridling of the whole body. R4381:1

The new will takes hold that the tongue shall go in the proper direction only. R4381:2

The whole body -- Whoever could preclude his ever stumbling in speech would prove his ability to control every avenue of his nature.

Self-restraint is necessary in all affairs of life. R4381:1

James 3:3

Bits in the horses mouths -- Christians should put a bridle of restraint into their own mouths. R5020:6

Will move and control his strength. R2156:6

James 3:4

Driven of fierce winds -- In the face of the most severe gales. R4381:2

A very small helm -- Christians should have a rudder whereby to steer their own course in life. R5020:6

James 3:5

Even so -- As the bit in the horse's mouth will control his strength; and as the small rudder of a vessel will direct its course; so the tongue, and the pen, its representative, may influence large numbers of people for good or ill. R4805:1

The tongue -- Though little, it is the most dangerous member of all because it has the widest influence. R5517:3

Should be the new creature's most useful servant; it can accomplish great things, either for good or for evil. R4381:2, 2156:3

With which we praise God, could be used in doing injury to fellow creatures. R5908:5

It may scatter kind words that will never die, but go on and on blessing the living and through them the yet unborn. Or, "full of deadly poison," it may scatter poisonous seeds of thought to embitter the lives of some, and to blight and crush the lives of others. F407

Boasteth great things -- Boasting often leads us into error and fastens us there because we are not humble enough to acknowledge the fault. It is an evidence of pride. R5020:6, 5021:1

How great a matter -- How destructive a disturbance. R2603:4

A little fire kindleth -- The little fire of a match might be so used as to set on fire a forest. R4381:2, 5020:6, 2502:5

What a great destruction of all the work of grace may be accomplished by a little pride or fond desire or self-gratification; not that the little beginnings mean second death, but that they will surely lead on toward it unless the individual be recovered. R5102:3

The tongue is a fire -- The organ itself is never meant, but speech, oral or written. The tongue can paint pictures more quickly and more vividly than any painter's brush. R4381:3

The tongue and the pen are often used as weapons of evil. R5779:1

The public servants of the Church are to some extent specially its "tongues." How necessary that all the tongue-servants be such as are of the Lord's spirit! R2447:4

Causing no end of burning of wrath, envy, hatred, strife, and stimulating all the fallen passions and desires. R2156:6, 4805:2

Evil speaking, slander, backbiting: these are the matches which enkindle the flame. NS565:1

A world of iniquity -- Every iniquity in the world can be introduced descriptively by the tongue; by the tongue every form of evil may find its highest power. R4381:3

So is the tongue -- So important is the tongue. R2603:3

The tongue is established among our members. R2502:5

Defileth the whole body -- The Church. R2447:5

Setteth on fire -- By slanders, evil speaking, evil surmising, hints, insinuations. R4381:6

Awakening passions, strifes, enmities, at first unthought of. R2447:4
Scandal-mongering ministers evil. The scandal kindles in the heart of the hearer a flame of carnal sentiment which issues from the lips. R2443:5

The course of nature -- Literally, the wheel of life; the human course from cradle to tomb. Possibly James had specially in mind the course of the new creature and its dangers. R4381:3

The course of life. R2502:5

By stirring up the evil poisons and propensities of the fallen nature. R2447:5

Angry, bitter, sarcastic, taunting words may set ablaze the course of a whole life and impel it with angry force toward second death. R5021:1

A few malicious words often arouse all the evil passions of speaker and hearer. R2603:4

And it is set on fire -- When it is set on fire. R2603:4

Enkindled. R2502:5

Figuratively. R2603:4

Signifies a tongue set going in evil by a perverse disposition, self-willed, selfish, hateful, malicious. Unless controlled and reformed, will be counted worthy to be destroyed. R2603:4

Of hell -- Greek, Gehenna, the valley of Hinnom, the lake of fire, second death. R2601:2, 4805:2, 4584:2, 4381:4, 4217:5, 2447:4, 2156:6

The entire spiritual prospect blighted, destroyed. R4381:3

Evil-breeding words are like sparks from Gehenna, tending toward destruction. R5021:1

The evil, malicious, baneful, slanderous, backbiter is already himself bitten by the Adversary, and unless cured, his would surely be a case of second death. R4584:2, 4217:5

James 3:7

For every kind -- For every species, both of wild beasts and of birds and of reptiles and of sea-creatures. R2502:5

Is tamed, and -- Is tamable and has been tamed. R2502:5

Of mankind -- By the human race. R2502:5

James 3:8

The tongue can no man tame -- The tongue is the most powerful member of the human body and is the most wonderful power that God has given us.

R5122:6

The tongue's influence exceeds that of all our other members combined.

R2447:4

The power to conquer the tongue and to make it tame and obedient and thoroughly reliable has never yet been demonstrated. R4381:5

Since the tongue is the agent speaking for the sentiments of the heart, it follows that it is the heart that needs to be converted. R5021:1

If with our tongues we are doing injury we are deceiving ourselves with respect to our real attitude toward God. R5021:4

An unruly evil -- An irrestrainable evil. R2502:5

The evil is so ingrained as to elude the notice of the new nature sometimes for years; they do it unconsciously. R2443:5

Restless, ceaseless. R4381:5

Full of deadly poison -- Death-producing poison. R2502:5

James' illustration seems to be that of a serpent. R5021:2

No serpent bite contains so dangerous, so violent poison. The serpent's bite may cause pain and physical death, but the tongue can produce moral ravage, which will bite, devour and cause madness to others, and its influence extends to death eternal. R4381:5

It may scatter poisonous seeds of thoughts to embitter the lives of some and blight and crush others. F407

James 3:9

Therewith bless -- Honor, praise. F407, 586 R5122:6, 2156:6

Praising God, confessing his grace and mercy and love. R4381:5, 5021:4

God's people bless or praise his name with their tongues in prayer, in hymns of praise, in declaring his truth, in witnessing to his providences, by showing forth his praises. R2443:2, 5021:4

The tongue may be a channel for a great blessing, swaying large numbers to the Lord, the truth and the way of righteousness. R2156:3

Speak only that which is helpful and uplifting. R4831:4

And therewith curse -- Greek, kataraoimai, condemnation, to speak against, to speak evil of, to injure. R2443:3, 701:5

Injure, defame, blight. F407, 586; R4813:1

Backbite, slander, defame, crush, mortify, scathe, flay their fellowmen. R5021:4

By slanders, evil-speaking and evil-surmising, hints, insinuations. R4381:6

If contaminated with error, the tongue can do almost untellable harm; injury to faith, to morals, to good works. R2156:3

Every false teaching is a curse to those who receive it. R2157:1

Not only may we injure those within reach of our tongue, but our words might extend their influence throughout the world and from generation to generation. R5122:6

We -- Not James and the Church, but the whole world. However, there were some in the Church. R2156:6

The "brethren"; not the world. R2442:3, 4381:5, 5021:4

Similitude -- Likeness. R2156:6

James 3:10

Out of the same mouth -- If the same tongue can curse men and praise God, how careful we should be to speak that only which will be helpful and uplifting, and not destructive and injurious. R4831:4

Blessing and cursing -- Good and evil influences. R2157:1

My brethren -- The entire epistle is addressed to the Church, not to the world. R2442:3

Ought not so to be -- We must see to it that we learn this great lesson. We must be overcomers. Our hearts are to dominate our tongues and gain a victory. R4381:6

James 3:11

A fountain -- The same fountain could not yield salt water and fresh. R4381:6

Sweet water -- A sweet fountain, a pure fountain, a love fountain. R4224:4

The divine Word, carrying blessing and refreshment and strength. R2157:1

"A good tree cannot bring forth evil fruit, neither can a corrupt tree bring forth good fruit." (Matt. 7:16-18, Luke 6:43-45) R848:3

And bitter -- Gossip and scandal. F407

Bitter waters of hate, of malice, of envy, of strife. R4224:4, 4381:6, 5021:4, 4201:2

Bitter waters cannot come from a pure fountain. R4201:2

False doctrines that would cause a curse, an injury, dishonouring God and perverting his Word. R2157:1

James 3:13

Endued with knowledge -- Knowledge truly is of great importance, but it is only as it develops wisdom, sound judgment and pure and high-toned sentiment. R1448:2

Good conversation -- Honorable conduct. It is by our conduct and not by our professions that we are to be judged. R1448:5, 1406:1

Of a truly helpful, strengthening kind; to mind and heart and character. R2724:3

With meekness -- Humility. R1448:5

James 3:14

Glory not -- If ye have strife in your hearts, glory not to think yourselves led of the Lord and guided by his true wisdom. R2263:4

Lie not against the truth -- To harbor a spirit of malice, of bitter envy and strife, while professing to have the spirit of truth. R1448:3

Let him not thus put darkness for light, to thus lie to himself or others.
F408

James 3:15

This wisdom -- Which in selfishness seeks its own gratification and advancement, envying others. R2263:5

A wisdom or low cunning which is prompted by a spirit of envy and strife. Pride and selfishness are its inspiration. R1448:3, 1518:3

Whoever has such a slanderous and bitter spirit has the very reverse of the spirit of Christ; the spirit of Satan for the spirit of the Anointed.

F408

Of envy and strife. R1285:1

Is merely bitter jealousy and strife. HG470:3

Not from above -- Not of God, not of the holy Spirit. R2446:3

But is earthly -- Continually gravitating lower and lower. R1518:3

Sensual, devilish -- The general trend of worldly wisdom is in this direction. F515

The wisdom which Satan gives is very undesirable; as many, too late, have discovered. R2180:3

James 3:16

Envy -- Envy is one of the principal roots of human depravity, selfishness, and from this root have sprung some of the most injurious influences and experiences known to man, "every evil work." R3971:1

Selfishly for its own advancement. R2263:5

An unclean, only partially sanctified condition of the heart. If these weeds of the old fallen nature are permitted to grow they will not only be noxious but will gradually crowd out and kill all the sweet and beautiful flowers and graces of the Spirit. F408

There is confusion -- Disquiet, unrest. F408

And every evil work -- To be anticipated. R2446:3

James 3:17

But the wisdom -- "Wisdom is the principal thing." (Prov. 4:7) R3479:5

"The reverence of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom." (Prov. 9:10)

R1518:2

Christ is the personification of that wisdom which from eternity was an attribute of Jehovah. R1518:2

That reasons on the basis of proven divine revelation. R1567:4

This we get from the Bible. CR496:6, 498:5

Comes through the channel of divine truth. R1448:2

To be studied along the lines of the inspired Scriptures. NS816:2

Those who have this kind of wisdom, the attitude of heart and mind to receive instruction of the Lord, are sure to get understanding of whatever truth is meat in due season. R1520:1

Wisdom that reasons on the basis of a proved divine revelation. R1567:4

Jesus had a wisdom based upon love and service to others. R1448:6

It has a smoothing, oiling, unctuous effect upon all who receive it.

SM608:T

That is from above -- More to be desired than all the wisdom of earth.

F538

If we would have divine approval we must have the divine wisdom which we learn from the Word of God. R5512:1

Is first -- Following the prescription of heavenly wisdom assures us God's favor. R5571:3

Pure -- Truthful, honest, sincere, not used as a garment of light to cover up selfishness, makes no compromise with sin or impurity in any form. R2446:6

Purity of intention and motive. R3604:2

Guileless, honorable, open, above-board, utterly opposed to secret whisperings and backbiting, receiving the pure word of wisdom into a good and honest heart. It does not deceive itself into believing that self-will is the Lord's will. R2263:5; F99

Truthful and loyal to righteousness. R2214:5

God first; his will, his plan, his ways. R5906:4

Unselfish. R1448:5

Purity is the highest standard. HG471:2

Not peace first, but purity. It is earthly wisdom which commands the conscience to be still that selfish peace may be promoted. F99

Then peaceable -- It loves and desires peace, harmony, unity; but it can only be fully in harmony with that which is pure and honest and good.

R2263:5

No quarrelsome, bickering disposition; would prefer, so far as possible, to yield a non-essential point in controversy, loves opponents and sympathizes with their difficulties. R2446:6

Our conduct should be as peaceable as loyalty to righteousness will permit. HG471:3

Peace-loving, peace-disposed. R3604:3

Gentle -- In action or word or tone. If injury has been done to others, is ready, willing, glad to apologize and to remove the smart. R2446:6

Not rude, coarse, rough, and has no sympathy with such a spirit and such methods. It is not only of God, but God-like. R2263:5, 2446:6; F99

Extends from the inside to the outside. HG471:3

Easy to be entreated -- Easy of approach, not haughty, not disdainful, not hard or cruel, yet firm on matters of principle. Principles cannot be bent or modified; they belong to God. R2446:6

A firm texture of character, without coarseness, roughness, rudeness, hardness. HG471:6

Only in harmony with purity, peace, and gentleness; not easily entreated to assist in any evil work. R2263:6; F99

Easy of entreatment. R3603:3

Not cold, repulsive, or hard-hearted. R3604:3

Full of mercy -- It rejoices in mercy, because that is a part of its very self, but it cannot have the slightest sympathy or affiliation with willful wrong-doers. R2263:6; F99

Not only to dumb animals under its care, but in dealing with brethren and family; not over-exacting, but generous, kind, benevolent; not wishing to push a victory to such a point as would be injurious, hurtful, unmerciful. R2446:6

With generous impulses, kindly feelings, compassion and sympathy for those in trouble and distress. HG471:6

Not alarming the world unnecessarily. F592

And good fruits -- It delights in all things prompted by love and kindness; it takes pleasure in doing for others. R2446:6

The good fruits of the spirit of the Lord are sure to proceed from the heart in which rules the spirit of love, honesty, purity, peaceableness and gentleness. R2263:6

The fruits of the spirit: meekness, gentleness, patience, long-suffering, brotherly kindness, love. R3604:5

Without partiality -- Partiality would signify injustice--no respecters of persons except as character shall demonstrate real value--the outward features, the natural man, the color of his skin, etc., are ignored. R2263:6; F100

Not approving a fault in a brother, because he is a brother, but reproving the same with gentleness and meekness; not failing to see a virtue in any enemy, nor hesitating to acknowledge it; truth is its standard, not prejudice, not partyism, not sectarianism. R2447:1

Not pick out some of special class and ignore some of the poorer or less literate. OV232:3; NS590:1

Without hypocrisy -- So pure, so peaceable, so gentle, so merciful toward all that there is no necessity for hypocrisy. F100; R2264:1

Out of harmony, sympathy, and fellowship with all that is sinful. F100; R2264:1

Thoroughly candid; needs not to feign love, because it is love; needs not to put on a kindly exterior, for it is without envy and strife. R2447:1

James 4

James 4:2

Ye ask not -- Failing to pray for help in time of need, forgiveness for failures, humility in victories, thanks for privileges of service, supplications for further opportunities for service, thanks for trials and temptations. R2006:1

James 4:3

Ye ask -- Pray. R5790:3

We should be careful what we ask for. R5202:6

God accepts as our prayers all the good thoughts and sentiments of our minds, as well as those expressed by our tongues. R5311:5

And receive not -- Receive not answers to your prayers. R5790:3

Petitions according to the Lord's will shall be answered, but those contrary to his will shall remain unanswered. R5203:1

The Heavenly Father would not answer any petitions that would not be for the good of his children. R5311:1

Ye ask amiss -- Selfishly; in harmony with your own desires, and not in harmony with the divine arrangement and plan. F679; R5790:3, 5601:1, 5203:1, 1972:5, 1866:5; NS225:6

They ask that the answer may minister to the desires of their flesh. R5481:4

The privilege of prayer, or any other favor of God, is not granted for selfish purposes. A thing properly desired and asked for in one case might be improper if asked for from some other motive. The desire for a good thing, simply for ease and convenience, is an improper, selfish motive. R2005:6

Our requests should be only as God has authorized us to ask and expect. R1972:5

Jesus' example in respect to praying for conversion of sinners is notable: "I pray not for the world, but for them which thou hast given me." (John 17) Q815:2

Our petitions will be chiefly for spiritual favors; and even in asking for these we should be particular not to specify how they are to come. R2005:6

Not to pray with definiteness for earthly things. R5311:1

We are not to ask to gratify fleshly desires. Whenever we ask anything from the Lord, we should scrutinize our motives. R5311:1,2

Careless asking. R436:6

Many forget that the Lord has already promised to take care of the temporal necessities of his spirit-begotten children. As new creatures our conditions and desires should be specially for the things that pertain to the new creature. R2865:6

Our hearts should be so full of appreciation for blessings already received, temporal and spiritual, that we would hesitate to ask more. Our petition should be, Give what is best! And faith should firmly trust him, come what may. R3431:1

One of the things for which we may pray is that God's Kingdom may come. We may also pray for our necessities. If in God's providence he withholds the luxuries, we are to be satisfied. We may pray for deliverance from the evil one. We may pray for the forgiveness of our trespasses. R5311:3,4
Our prayers should be in harmony with our endeavors. R5692:5

Upon your lusts -- The word lusts here signifies desires. R5311:1, 2005:6, 798:5

For vainglorious purposes or other selfish reasons. R2005:6

Their earthly desires; wealth or fame or temporal good things. R2865:6

Desires for ease, for earthly prosperity, for a sect and its growth and honor; all these are earthly lusts. R798:5

James 4:4

Know ye not -- Forgetting this instruction, many consecrated ones try to walk upon a middle road, to keep the favor of God and the favor of the world. They are delivered over to Satan for the destruction of the flesh. (1 Cor. 5:5) A214

The friendship of the world -- Being in accord with sinful practices, not, perhaps, directly, but indirectly. In accord with the world's policies. R4765:6

The love of fellowship, which implies the partaking of its spirit, its aims, ambitions, and hopes, and its methods of pursuing them. R4766:4

God's people must take their choice, either the divine or the worldly friendship and fellowship. R2444:2

We are not to get the thought that we are to have no worldly people as our friends; we are to be the friends of all, otherwise it would imply we were their enemies. R4765:3

Is enmity with God -- The world's spirit, theories and philosophies are vain and foolish and enmity to God. D183

Evil deeds and evil thoughts, evil-speaking, are an abomination in the sight of the Lord, and those who love and practice such things lose his fellowship. They are not of his spirit. R2444:3

We are not to love the present order or arrangement, nor the things that are part and parcel of it. We are to love the world only in the sense of having sympathy with it, as our Heavenly Father has. R4766:4

The path of the world, being wrong, is out of harmony with God and righteousness. R1668:6

Friend of the world -- If we are friends of God, the world will seek to do us injury as evil-doers. While not "friends of the world," we must endeavor to be at peace with them. R4797:1

Whoever is fully satisfactory to the world may be sure that he is not satisfactory to the Lord. R5738:1

James 4:5

That dwelleth in us -- In our flesh dwelleth no perfect thing. (Rom. 7:18) E200

James 4:6

Resisteth the proud -- The self-seeking, the proud in spirit, could not be trusted in a high position. R5414:6

The self-assertive. R3828:5

The self-sufficient, the boastful. R2700:4, 2459:5

The Almighty sees that we have nothing whatever of which to be proud or to boast. R5843:3

Self-conceit hinders reformation of heart, as well as true usefulness. R5186:1

"Pride goeth before [leadeth to] destruction." (Prov. 16:18) R5843:3, 726:1

Pride was Satan's choice and course. R725:6

Satan has been degraded, "cut down [or limited] to the earth." (Isa. 14:12) R1686:3

Inflated values must at some time come down to a solid basis. R1486:6

In proportion as spiritual pride comes in, the spirit of the Lord departs, and the spirituality of the individual ceases. R5955:6

Even if the proud become the Lord's children they would be kept at a distance. If they were permitted to come nearer it would make them more proud. R5370:4

But giveth grace -- Favor. E255; R5843:3, 5464:4, 5414:6, 3866:1, 2700:4, 2450:5, 2250:4, 1486:6; HG751:5

The Lord bestows blessings upon the humble, the meek, the teachable.

R5186:1, 5261:3, 2250:4 God will exalt the humble. (Matt. 23:12) Jesus is now exalted to the very position to which Satan through pride and ambition aspired. R1686:3

Unto the humble -- Of humble spirit. R5843:3

The poor in spirit. R3734:1

The penitent. R5464:4

The meek, the teachable, the submissive. R5261:3

"The meek will he teach his way." (Psa. 25:9) R2241:3

In coming to God's Word it is always important to remember that our attitude should be that of the disciple and not of the teacher. R3337:1

Those who would be in harmony with God must be humble. R5186:1

Those who humbly desire to be and to do those things acceptable to the Lord. HG751:4

All who would abide in the Lord's love have need to be very careful along this line; to keep very humble, very lowly in conduct, and particularly in mind. R2450:5

Those of humble mind would not be injured by exaltation, nor in danger of deflecting in the future work. R5414:6

Humility was the course and choice of him who was the beginning of the creation of God. R725:6

James 4:7

Resist -- The heart is the battleground. Satan is our enemy. We are not, however, to battle directly with Satan. We are to resist his influence, his deceptions, and his endeavors to lead us into error and sin. R5127:1

The saints cannot fight Satan. They can merely by their wills resist him and rely upon the promises of grace to help and to protect. SM393:2

When Christians take a decided stand against Satan and his wiles, they are relieved of his attack. R5896:6

Mankind cannot cope with the cunning of the "wicked spirits," and our only safety lies in the divine provision that each one who so wills may refuse to have any communication with these demons. R2172:5; HG727:2

All who now enter the narrow way are compelled to fight a good fight, to contend earnestly for the faith, to resist the devil, if they would secure the greater prize of our high calling. R2590:6

Satan acts upon the minds of humanity. His assaults may come through human beings that suggest wrong thoughts to others. R5897:1

By not allowing Satan's seductive arguments to have weight with us. R5184:3

The Christian's warfare is a fight of faith. James does not mean we are to battle with Satan in order to confound him. Whoever thinks he is able to battle alone with Satan surely must possess great self-conceit. In any contention Satan would surely gain the victory. R5184:2

By positiveness of decision we acquire great help from other unseen powers. The instant we resist temptation and stand up for the Lord we become strong in the Lord and in the power of his might. R4988:6

It is of the utmost importance that the child of God should make a positive and prompt decision when he realizes that he is being enticed to evil. A moment's hesitation is very dangerous. R5897:1

This text implies an assault by the Adversary. It implies he should be and can be resisted. R4379:6

While in the wilderness Jesus resisted so thoroughly that we do not hear that Satan ever thought it worth while to come back again. Q184:T

The devil -- The tempter. R3718:2, 1689:5

The experience of our Lord in the wilderness affords a good example for all the people of God to follow. R5184:3

The word devil represents that evil one who through unholy ambition became the first opponent of God. His name, which was once Lucifer, shining one, was changed to Satan, meaning the hater, the accuser. R5896:1

Scriptures affirming existence of this wily Adversary given. F609-11
He will flee from you -- If the Adversary finds one well protected and resisting him with a firm will, he will at once retreat, just as a general would retreat from a city after finding its gates strongly protected and attack useless. R5896:6

No power of art or spurious logic can stand against the sword of the spirit; for it is mighty and shall prevail. R1689:5

James 4:8

Draw nigh to God -- By exercising faith in the sacrifice of Christ.

Q699:5

By making a consecration of themselves. R5717:5, 4632:3

Drawing near to him in prayer, in the study of his precious Word, in meditation upon all his goodness, his providential care, his precious promises. R1949:5

Every step from sin toward righteousness is a step toward God, toward justification, based on faith in God; toward covenant relationship.

By turning the heart to God and away from sin, by accepting his appointed way in Christ; there is one standard which must be attained before any can be accepted of the Father, full consecration even unto death. R4632:4;

Q699:5

God is willing to be found by those who seek him. R5733:5

To turn away from sin is but a step toward conversion. That moment is an antitypical going toward the Tabernacle. Only through Christ can any come to the Father. R5439:1

We must draw near to God in the spirit of our minds, consecrated in our heart. We must will to do his will. R5137:5, 5717:5

Those who fail to go on to full consecration fail to obtain full justification and the seal of sonship and covenant relationship with the Lord. R4654:1

Love for God will enable us to cast out fear and to come to God with great confidence--full confidence--that he will bless us. R4841:5

He will draw nigh to you -- "If a man love me he will keep my words; and my Father will love him, and we will come unto him and make our abode with him." (John 14:23) R1949:2

We are met half way by the Lord. R4629:1

God draws nigh in the same proportion. R4632:2

God through his providences draws near. R5596:3

The Father's acceptance of us is indicated by our adoption and begetting of the holy Spirit and the commencement of the sealing; the impressing upon us, as new creatures, of the divine likeness, disposition or spirit.

R4872:2

Any one who seeks God will find him. R5201:3; CR420:5

The nearer we draw to the Lord, the more blessing we have. CR434:3

Purify your hearts -- He whose heart is pure is single-minded; his mind, will, heart, seeks first, last and always the will of God. R2734:3

James 4:10

Humble yourselves -- No true progress can be made in the way to God except by the humble. R2700:4

As Jesus humbled himself, with so great obedience, humility, and self-sacrifice. E424

James 4:11

Speak not evil -- Evil speaking is strictly forbidden even if the thing be true. Professed Christians are often the most pronounced scandalmongers. Those who hear slanders and thus encourage slanderers are partakers of their evil deeds. R4803:1,2

The law -- The law of honor, the royal law (James 2:8), the law of love, the essence of the great law of God. R4240:3*, 5887:2

The law of God; not the Law Covenant which God made with Israel. R5887:4

We are not to judge; we cannot see into the heart; but if any in the Church is living in positive violation of the principles of righteousness laid down in the Word of God, then the matter should be taken up by the Church. R5887:2

One lawgiver -- Jehovah. R5887:1

Who is able -- He who gave that one great standard, that law, is to be the Executor of his own law. R5887:1

To save -- Save to life. R5887:1

And to destroy -- Destroy in the second death. R5887:1

"Sin, when it is finished, bringeth forth death." (James 1:15) R1085:6

He who created all things must be "able to destroy both soul and body." (Matt. 10:28) R1641:3

Who art thou -- What right has any one else to condemn him whom God has seen fit to approve? R5887:1

It is an excellent plan neither to condemn others who claim to be walking conscientiously as children of the Lord, nor even to condemn ourselves under similar circumstances. R2480:2

We should recognize for ourselves and everyone else the one standard which the Lord has given. (Luke 10:27) R5887:2

That judgest another -- God gave the law, and he is the One to decide whether the person is seeking to keep that law. R5887:4

Only the Lord, who could read the heart, could properly judge. R2480:2

James 4:13

And buy and sell -- A steward should individually (not collectively, as a commune) manage his own affairs, and render his own account. (Matt. 25:14-28; Luke 19:13-24; James 4:15) R1862:5; D480

James 4:17

It is sin -- Willful sin. R396:4

James 5

James 5:1

Ye rich men -- The hypocrite class will include the rich of this world. R5256:4

Those willing to see others crushed, oppressed and denied their rights in order that they may luxuriate extravagantly. These hold to the present arrangement of society with a death clutch. C20

The class that has reaped the benefit of the spoliation [plundering] of the poor will have to pay some of the toll to justice, in squaring accounts. God will permit one part of the world to wreak a measure of vengeance on the other part. R5256:1

The class coming into the trouble has been used to luxury, obtained largely at a cost to others. A314; Q848:1

The wealthy and great and learned who have been willing to use their superior advantages selfishly, instead of for the elevation of their less favored brothers. Upon this class its hottest fires will come first. R1470:4; D305

Let the rich consider the interests of the poor and needy, lest they fall under the fearful condemnation of the oppressor. R1875:5

Babylon the Great is to fall; and the wonderful institutions of civilization will be found only partly satisfactory to the new King. This will mean that many who are now stewards of wealth, influence, position, etc., will be called to account and dispossessed. Their realization of the loss of practically all upon which they set their affections is represented as wailing and howling and misery. Not that the poor are more righteous than the rich, but, having little of this world's goods, they will probably feel less the great time of trouble impending. R4997:2

The lesson on this subject comes first to the living generation, and is near at hand. A303; D305

Howl -- Lament. R2044:1

For the loss of their treasures. R1955:4

A time of general loss of confidence when bankers' credits will be at their ebb. R3117:6

For your miseries -- A great "time of trouble" now impending over the world, but especially over Christendom. R5112:2; CR424:4; Q848:1
Reprobation and stripes. R4997:1

The rich in this world's uncertain riches, and the proud, whether poor or rich, and all that do wickedly, will be special sufferers. R1963:5

In the coming trouble the rich will suffer much. R748:4

Great distress and trouble shall come upon the wealthy class who have a monopoly of earthly blessings. R1406:2

Animosities of the masses will be exercised with violence against the rich. R1690:3

James prognosticates dire trouble upon the rich in the righting of earth's affairs. R1776:5

Miseries will also come upon the poor, but will be felt especially by the rich. CR424:4; D305; R5256:4, 1470:4; SM191:2

The trouble upon the rich will be among the events of the last days of this age. R621:4

The growing selfish rapacity will eventuate in a great time of trouble, in which "every man's hand shall be against his neighbor" (Zech. 8:9,10) and lead to mutual distrust and anarchy. R2760:5

A dark and gloomy day of judgment upon mankind socially and nationally. D11

Shall come upon you -- Which are approaching. D411; R2044:1, 2039:6, 592:5

The uncovering of the weaknesses of human nature means loss of confidence in the rich and influential generally, and spells eventually the hatred which ere long will fulfill the prediction. R3757:6

Will happen at the same time as the gathering of the dead and living members of the Body of Christ. R668:5

James 5:2

Riches are corrupted -- Relating to the present time: verses 2 and 3 are highly figurative. R667:6

Securities have become worthless. D411; R2044:1; Q848:1

James 5:3

Is cankered -- Become rusted. D411; A314; R2044:1, 592:5

A witness -- A testimony. D411; R2044:1, 592:5

Eat your flesh -- Consume your bodies. D411; R2044:1, 592:5

The rich will share in the trouble of the nations because so closely identified with them. R592:5

The jealousy and hatred of the masses in the time of trouble will make the rich their special targets for the venomous arrows of hatred. R1519:5

Have heaped -- Have laid up. R592:5

The last days -- "A time of trouble such as never was since there was a nation." (Dan. 12:1) D11; R3107:6, 1519:4, 1352:2; Q848:1; NS27:5
A day of trouble in an especial degree for the rich and those who employ labor. R1676:5, 748:4

The end or harvest period of the Gospel age. R1518:5

All the selfish and evil arrangements of the present shall be thoroughly shaken out, so that nothing but good shall remain. (Heb. 12:26-29) R1174:4

The closing days of the Gospel age. D392

The Day of the Lord. R621:4

James 5:4

Of the laborers -- The farmers. D393; R3107:6, 2906:6, 2044:3; Q848:1

The food producers. R2039:6 The poor and needy. R1875:5

The agriculturists. R3107:6

Who have reaped -- Who harvested. (Diaglott) R592:6, 2039:6, 2044:1,3

You -- Rich men. D392; R2044:3

Kept back by fraud -- "That reward which you have fraudulently withheld from those laborers." (Literal translation, Diaglott) R2044:1,3, 2039:6, 592:5; D392, 411

They do not rob the farmer, they "keep back" not directly, but "fraudulently" by unjust legislation secured by misrepresentation and fraud. R2044:3

Kept back by reason of hoarding. A314

The rich men's "wanton" ways of living are aggravating the poor and the employed to such an extent that they are crying out. Q848:2

Are willing to see others crushed, oppressed, and denied their rights and reasonable rewards that they (the rich) may luxuriate extravagantly, wantonly. C20

The Lord of Sabaoth -- "The Lord of armies." (Diaglott) R592:6, 2044:1,3, 2039:6, 621:4; D411, 392

So let the cries of the groaning creation come into our ears and gain our sympathies, and quicken our zeal to cooperate with our Heavenly Father's plan. R3067:6

James 5:5

Lived in pleasure -- Delicately, in self-indulgence. R2044:1

And been wanton -- Extravagant, luxurious. Q848:2; D274, 301

Nourished -- Fed. R2044:1

Day of slaughter -- Day of your slaughter. D411; R2044:1

The relentless argument of the masses soon will be: "Your class defrauded our class in the past, and now our class will defraud your class to even up matters." R1423:6

The animosities of the masses will be exercised with violence against the rich, and the specially favored aristocratic classes, political, social and religious. (Ezek. 7:19, etc.) R1690:3

"My son, if sinners entice thee, consent thou not" (Prov. 1:10). The counsel here has special reference to the end of the Gospel age, when great corporations, trusts and monopolies, on the one hand, and unions and labor federations on the other, would offer their enticements to the iniquitous business of shedding innocent blood and fattening on the spoils of the slain. (Mal. 3:5) R1518:5 5:6

Ye -- Your class. D411; R2044:1

Can it be that the Lord wished us to notice that the Jewish bankers and financiers, more than others, are prominent in this fraud of keeping back the wages of the reapers? and is there therefore special significance in the words, "You killed, you murdered the Just One?" D411

Have condemned and killed the just -- The Just One, Christ. D411; R2044:1
Out of the righteous, because they resisted not, the very life had been crushed. A314

The just are led as lambs to the slaughter. R1073:1

The followers of Jesus must not expect full justice in the world, nor always to be rightly understood. R5561:5

He doth not resist you -- He resisteth you not. D411; R2044:1
Jesus did not attempt to defend his life. R5561:5

James 5:7

Be patient -- "Wait ye upon me, saith the Lord." (Zeph. 3:8) R1520:1

The new creature is patient, cheerful, hopeful. F591

Waiting patiently for God's promised Kingdom. R1759:1

Not interfere with the powers that be. SM191:2

Unto the coming -- Greek, parousia, presence. B159; D411; F666; R2979:1, 2044:1, 1693:1, 223:1*

Of the Lord -- Who will adjust matters righteously. D411; R2044:1

Connected with the Lord's presence will be judgments and vengeance upon many, especially the rich. R1776:5

The establishment of his Kingdom of righteousness, the change to his glorious likeness, draweth nigh. R3827:2

The husbandman waiteth -- Anticipating. D411; R2044:1

The early and latter rain -- Early and latter harvest. (Oldest manuscripts.) D411; R2044:1

Patient -- Long-suffering patience. R298:4*

Wait for his Kingdom; it will give full justice to all. R1245:3

Be hopeful his wisdom will soon bring righteousness and blessing to mankind. F591

For the coming -- Greek, parousia, presence. B159; D411; F666; R2979:1, 2044:1, 1693:1, 223:1*

Of the Lord -- In the full glory of his Kingdom. R1954:6

Draweth nigh -- Has approached. R2044:1

James 5:9

Grudge not one against another -- Add not to each other's sorrows. D411; R2044:1

Lest ye be condemned -- That ye be not punished also. D411; R2044:1

The judge standeth -- The judge is standing at the doors. D411; R2044:1

For an example -- Of faith, humility, meekness, obedience, patience, endurance, brotherly kindness, love. R2010:3, 1695:1

Those beautiful characters among the Ancient Worthies whose examples the apostles taught us to emulate. (Heb. 11) R1708:2, 2010:3, 1695:1

Example for our imitation. R1695:1

And of patience -- Greek, makrothunia, the common thought of patience as connected with everyday affairs, long-suffering. R2790:6

Patient endurance has been characteristic of all who have lived holy lives. R5332:6

James 5:11

The patience of Job -- Job is classed with other holy men (Ezek. 14:14), which would not be the case were the Book of Job merely a parable.

R5401:3, 1505:3; Q793:2

One whom God especially loved. (Ezek. 14:19, 20) R5878:5

A man of great learning and influence; of great piety who knew and revered God and appreciated justice; of great generosity who considered the widow and the orphan. R5401:6, 1505:6

James 5:12

Swear not -- An admonition against taking oaths such as many Secret Societies demand. R1827:6

Not objecting to solemn affirmations or legal oaths as required by law. R5020:2, 1827:6

Let your yea be yea -- Tell the truth! Be so truthful in all that you say that it will be unnecessary to swear to its truthfulness. R5020:3

James 5:13

Afflicted -- Suffering. R2008:3

Let him pray -- The saints cannot properly pray for their own health now any more than could their Master. They cannot properly ask the restitution privileges which they have consecrated, nor can they ask that their sacrifices be nullified by having all the cost of weariness, exhaustion, stripes or sickness miraculously removed. R2008:5

This counsel will apply to all the trials and afflictions of God's people, mental and physical. R2008:3

James 5:14

Is any sick -- Greek, astheneo--a, without; sthenos, strength; without strength, weak. R4099:2*, 4100:1*

Greek word for helpless or impotent. R2008:4

A condition of very low spirituality. R5453:2

Weak in faith, morally and spiritually weak or ailing. Q814:2; R5453:2, 4100:4*

Those who quench the spirit of holiness, or "grieve the spirit" are spiritually sick. R5391:4

The intimation is that such an one has committed sin. Q323:6

The sickness is recognized as being a chastisement for sins. F638

Call for the elders -- Cut off from fellowship with God, they have one last resort; viz., to request the assistance of sanctified elders of the Church. R5391:4, 2838:2; F638

A possibility of recovery, not through themselves, but through the ministry of faithful ones of the royal priesthood. R5453:2

The senior, or chief, or official members. R2008:4, 5691:4

The sin-sick one should realize his need, call upon the Church elders, confess his fault. They in turn may intercede for him to the Lord and may anoint him in the name of the Lord. The Lord shall raise him up to spiritual health and strength. R5691:4

The prayer should be for the forgiveness of the sins of which the sickness is a punishment or rebuke, rather than for the release from the deserved punishment. R2008:4

Anointing him with oil -- Symbolic of the holy Spirit. R5391:4

Such extreme measures would be quite improper for a slight ailment. R2008:4

James 5:15

The prayer of faith -- The prayers and the words of exhortation and encouragement to righteousness will have the effect of raising up, stimulating and reviving the spiritually weary and fainting one. Q814:2
Promiscuous praying for health during the Gospel age would have been improper. Only by means of the gift of healing were the early cures of the age performed, which ceased with the death of the apostles. R2008:4

Save -- Recover to God's fellowship. R5453:2

The sick -- Greek, kamno, to labor, suffer from fatigue, weary, as in "lest ye be wearied (kamno) and faint in your minds." (Heb. 12:3) R4099:2*
The spiritually sick; one who has committed a sin that has alienated him from God. R4598:1, 5901:5*; Q814:2
The wearied one, one weary in well doing; the one who is in a "backslidden condition." Q814:2; R4100:1*, 494:1
Freedom from sickness will depend upon their purity of life. R759:6
And if -- And though. R2100:2, 2008:4, 4598:1
Committed sins -- Trespasses. R4598:1
Become estranged from God, and is unable to go to him. Therefore in this sad and separated condition he may call for the elders for spiritual healing, not physical healing. Q323:6; R4598:1

James 5:16

Confess your faults -- "Therefore confess your sins." (Old Greek manuscripts.) R2008:4
Greek, paraptoma, a falling away. R4100:1*
Represents a general principle of humility and willingness to make acknowledgement when we commit a fault. R4597:3, 2094:5*
Ordinarily, there would be no need for the individual to confess his trespasses to any one, unless it were to a person who had been trespassed against. Otherwise our sins are to be confessed only unto the Lord, unless under extreme circumstances, where one had lost fellowship with the Lord. R5453:2
In general we do well not only to hide our imperfections, but that it should be our daily endeavor to put out faults away completely. R4598:1
Pray for one another -- Not only pray for him, but seek to restore in the spirit of humility a brother taking a wrong course. R4598:2
The Lord has put a special responsibility upon every member of the Church to look out for all other members to the extent of ability and opportunity. Not that our intercessions would avail of themselves; it must be the intercession of our Advocate. R4598:1,2
May be healed -- Greek, iaomai, has the significance of saved, as in "lest at any time they should see . . . and should be converted and I should heal (iaomai) them." (Matt. 13:15) R4099:3*
Especially applies to spiritual healing. R5234:4
The effectual fervent prayer -- The supplication. (Revised Version) R5480:5, 4306:1
Praying with persistence and faith. R5480:5
It is the fervent prayer that is the effectual one; the prayer that is earnest, from the heart and not merely from the lips. R3664:6
Prayers not accompanied by efforts brand themselves as insincere. The prayer which is not of faith is sin, unscriptural, sacrilegious. (Matt. 9:38) R4913:1

Communion with God is a great privilege and an evidence of his favor.
R4983:1

The fervent prayer of Abraham (Gen. 18:22-33); and of Nehemiah (Neh.
1:1-11). R2856:3, 3662:4

A righteous man -- A justified and consecrated child of God. R1866:1

Not necessarily yet perfect, but he is obedient and growing. R5901:5*

All righteousness that we have is Christ's, imputed to us. R3664:6

The prayers of the unrighteous, we understand, will avail nothing. R3664:6

James 5:17

Elias -- Elijah--a most courageous servant of the Lord; he is particularly a type of all the Lord's favored ones of this Gospel age.

R3401:2, 3402:4, 5857:4, 5628:6

Three years and six months -- The Church was 3-1/2 symbolic years (a day for a year--1260 literal years) in the wilderness condition, during which there was a spiritual famine because of the lack of truth. B256;

Err from the truth -- "Wander from the truth." (Diaglott) "Wander" well expresses how all errors gradually grow and stealthily intrude upon the sanctified. R494:2,3

Into paths of error, into vice. R494:2

This does not apply at all to "the world of sinners." R494:3

Convert him -- "Turn him back." (Diaglott) R494:2

We should make no effort for him as would tend to make us fall into error.

R1860:3

James 5:20

Let him know -- A special blessing comes to all those who have an earnest desire to save an erring brother; a great reward is suggested for those who are successful in such an attempt. R4628:3

He which converteth -- He that recovereth. R5453:2, 4628:3, 3798:5

"He who turns back." (Diaglott) R494:2

All the faithful are to be energetic in their endeavors to recover any who fall away, to bring them back into full accord with the Lord. R3798:5

We should seek to restore him, "considering ourselves, lest we also be tempted." (Gal. 6:1) R4628:3

The sinner -- Wanderer. R1480:5

The wrong-doer, transgressor, is a brother, a fellow-member in the ecclesia. F290, 291

A brother, who has "erred from the truth." R3035:2

Once a brother.

NS745:4

Once fellows of the order of royal priesthood, who become so changed, so possessed of an opposite spirit, that they can speak evil of their fellow priests continually. T63

Of his way -- Course. R5925:6

"Path." (Diaglott) R494:2

The course or tendency is to lead off from the truth, the way of life, into the way of death. R5925:6

One who is going into that careless condition where the new mind has become, as it were, stupefied, where the old mind has gotten the ascendancy over it. R4628:3

Shall save a soul -- This is not referring to the souls of the world in general, which are still under the sentence of death, but it is referring to the souls of believers, who through faith have been justified and consecrated to the Lord. R3798:4, 494:3

Apparently that soul is in death's throes; but if he manifest faith, call in true brethren and humbly confess his sin and ask for prayers, the Lord might give him a further opportunity and trial. R5453:2

Brotherly kindness and assistance are specially commended of the Lord. R4628:3

From death -- Second death. R3035:2, 494:3

Not from eternal torment. OV439:3*; HG222:3

1 Peter

General

Out of a heart inspired with the glorious hope set before the consecrated saints of the Gospel dispensation flows the impassioned and eloquent greeting of the Apostle Peter to others of like precious faith. And every line of his epistle, even the words of greetings, are full of instruction. R1598:2

1 Peter 1

1 Peter 1:1

Peter, an apostle -- To appreciate the exhortations of the apostles, we need to become acquainted with their characters; to mark their zeal and faithfulness. R3149:1

To the strangers -- Jews, Israelites, non-residents of Palestine, not "lost" Israelites; but the large class of Israelites of all tribes, who after the Babylonian captivity made their homes amongst the Gentiles. R2126:4

1 Peter 1:2

Elect -- Chosen. E243

Justified, consecrated, spirit-begotten new creatures. HG513:4

Consecrated believers. R2376:5

A "Little Flock." (Luke 12:32) R2872:2

The Church class; drawn, called and begotten of the holy Spirit during this Gospel age. SM474:1; R1598:5; HG377:4

Applied to the spiritual seed; the Christ, Head and Body. R2854:1

Provided for by grace as a part of the divine program, and every one of them will be sacrificers. R4398:3,5

Not an arbitrary election, but conditioned upon three things; full consecration of the believer, implicit obedience to the divine teaching, and full reliance upon the precious blood of Christ. R1598:2

God elected first that Jesus should taste death for us; second, that the knowledge of this redemption should be declared; third that those who believed the proclamation should be called to the divine nature. R134:6, 270:5

This selection started at the time of our Lord Jesus' first advent down to the time of his second coming. Q788:2

Foreknowledge -- This special class was foreknown from before the foundation of the world. (Eph. 1:4) R4398:5, 4492:4, 4213:3, 3281:1, 2376:5

God's predestination was that he would have a class of beings of the divine nature, and that each one of that class must have a fixed character, like that of his Son. R3282:2, 2940:6

"For whom he did foreknow he also did predestinate to be conformed to the image of his Son." (Rom. 8:29) E147; F179

No scripture implies divine foreknowledge of the individuals. F179

The selection of this class was always the divine purpose, not a change in God's program. R4398:2

Sanctification -- Setting apart. E243; R3587:2, 270:5, 134:5

Consecration of the heart or mind. R831:4, 5877:5

Faith in the blood of Christ is the first step. Then through sanctification of the spirit, of the will, the setting apart of our hearts from earthly ambitions to heavenly ones. NS734:2

Of the Spirit -- Of the mind, of the will. R3635:5, 475:6 By the influence of the truth. E243; A299

The Spirit, through the Word, brings about our complete sanctification. R5877:6; E243

Unto obedience -- To God; to the full submission of our will to the will of the Father in heaven. R3587:2, 3635:5

Sprinkling -- Not upon our houses but upon our hearts. R5641:3, 3960:3

Of the blood -- It does not mean literal blood; shedding of blood represents loss of life--death. The blood is the life. R1230:3

It is his blood that cleanseth us from all sin. R1230:2

The blood of "Jesus the Mediator of the New Covenant." (Heb. 12:24)
R1336:2*

Justification through faith in the great sacrifice. R3587:2

In compensation for our blemishes, the merit or covering of his righteousness made available to us by his death and appropriated by our faith. R3635:5

We must get the benefit of the blood before we would be of the elect.
PT381:2*

And thereby be justified from past sins and be recognized as God's covenanted people. R2328:6

Of Jesus Christ -- "Thou hast redeemed us to God by thy blood." (Rev.
5:9) E446

The blood of Christ, the giving up of his life, paid our ransom price.
R1336:1*

Grace unto you -- Every line of Peter's epistle, even the words of greeting, are full of instruction. R1598:2

1 Peter 1:3

Father -- A life-giver. R2407:3, 5108:4, 297:1

Jesus is never spoken of as the Father of the Church, nor would it be an appropriate figure that Jesus should be represented as espoused to his own children. HG671:3

Of our Lord Jesus -- The Jews wanted to stone Jesus, because he said he was a son of God, thinking he was making himself a God, or of the God family. R301:3, 474:1

Jesus is not the Father (life-giver) to the Church; but the channel through which this life comes to us. R353:3, 5623:5

Begotten -- Greek, ana-gennao, begotten again. R837:1

At the moment the Savior's merit was imputed we were begotten of the Father by his holy Spirit "to an inheritance incorruptible." R5855:1

Begotten of God. R5742:2, 1227:2, 905:2; Q40:4; SM780:1

To receive the first impulse of life. R905:2

He is the Father of Jesus, and our Father; we are children of the same
Father. CR472:1; R905:2

Of his Word and the spirit of it. E105, 143, 456; R1510:5

As brethren of Christ. E143, 144, 456; R3687:4

"Not of blood, nor of the will of the flesh, nor of the will of man, but of God." (John 1:13) R2129:1

Through the Word of truth. A196

It is not the Son who has begotten us, though it is through the Son that we receive this divine favor. R5507:5, 5623:5

He who foreknew Jesus foreknew us also by Jesus. R4453:4

You are a new creature and you have a new life. CR454:2

The disciples at first were simply justified men, but after Pentecost they were new creatures begotten of God. R343:3

Isaac was heir of Abraham and child of promise (by Sarah), so we like Isaac are children of God, children of the promise or Sarah covenant.

R777:4

Us -- The elect. R4368:1

Who constitute the members of Christ's Body. R377:5, 4368:1

Unto a lively hope -- The ground of this hope is confirmed by the death of our Lord as the ransom price for our sins, and by his resurrection from the dead for our justification. R1278:2

Not only for those now justified, but it includes a hope of perfecting many now ignorant, sinful, unjustified. R1512:1, 377:5

Through the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead. R297:5

Hope of life; a living hope. R1508:3, 297:5; HG143:5

The hopes of the apostles had withered at the time of the crucifixion but were revived at Jesus' resurrection. A80

Resurrection -- The assurance of our final triumph through him. R1598:2, 297:1

For our justification. R1278:2

1 Peter 1:4

To an inheritance -- As heirs of God and joint-heirs with Jesus Christ.

R3938:4

By faithfully walking in the narrow way. R5877:4

Incorruptible -- Greek, aphthartos, that which cannot corrupt, or decay.

R204:1, 2339:3; E398

Immortal, the divine nature; the Bride will be like her Lord--have life on the divine plane of being. R297:5, 1077:5, 191:3* We became embryo new creatures, and were to grow day by day until, in due time, we would be born as spirit beings, on the divine plane, if faithful unto death.

R5855:1, 191:3*

Undefiled -- Pure. R297:5

Fadeth not away -- Unfading. (Diaglott) R297:5

The crown of life that fadeth not away. (1 Peter 5:4) R1077:4

Reserved in heaven -- Preserved. (Diaglott) R297:5

Not for immediate possession at death, but reserved, to be revealed at the second advent. R1598:2

Members of the Body of Christ have beyond this life an inheritance incorruptible. R4072:1

For you -- For the Lord's holy ones. SM334:1

To be members of the Royal Priesthood, heirs of God, joint-heirs with Jesus Christ their Lord. R2762:6

1 Peter 1:5

The power of God -- His exceeding great and precious promises and providences upon which we lay hold through faith. R1007:3, 4929:4, 3282:1

We are not keeping ourselves. CR444:5

Unto salvation -- This salvation reaches no one until the end of the Gospel age, except "believers" who grasp it by faith. R2051:1

Ready to be revealed -- Prepared to be disclosed. R1149:5*

Greek, apokalupsis and apokalupto signify revelation, uncovering, unveiling (as of a thing previously present but hidden). R2979:2

In the last time -- In the last season. Greek, kairos, fixed time.

R1149:5*

In the end of this age, when the Little Flock shall be completed and glorified. R1007:3

At the second advent of the Lord. "Henceforth, there is laid up for me a crown, which the Lord, the righteous judge, will give me at that day."

(2 Tim. 4:8) R1598:2, 1881:6

Now, in the last dispensation that the world will ever see. HG140:3

1 Peter 1:6

Wherein -- In which hope. F664

Greatly rejoice -- The joys of faith. R1598:2

For a season -- For a little while; it being necessary. R1149:5*

In heaviness -- When we are in difficulty, we are to look up in confidence and trust to the Lord. R5403:2

Our physical, mental and moral weaknesses at times assert themselves so strongly that we cannot as new creatures exult in tribulation. SM618:1

Manifold temptations -- Testings; provings; trials. R5499:6, 5912:3, 5403:2, 2005:3, 1149:5*

Since trials are needful for our perfecting in holiness, the Father will not hinder us from having temptations, even though he himself tempteth no man. (James 1:13) R2005:3

These are evidences of our acceptance with the Lord and that he is dealing with us as sons, and that he is polishing us as jewels for the Kingdom.

HG374:5

That the trial -- Proof. (Diaglott) R297:5, 1149:5*

Every trial, every persecution, every difficulty of life, permitted to come upon those who made the covenant of sacrifice with the Lord, is intended to prove them. R2258:3

The endurance of present afflictions are causes for thanksgiving, because their discipline is necessary to prepare us for the glorious inheritance of the saints. R1598:2, 569:4

The trial of the Church's faith, is a very important matter. R4004:4

The present Gospel age is the Church's judgment day. R569:4

The true child of God will find himself severely tried. R5114:3

Whenever we pass through a fiery trial and still retain our faith and confidence in God, then our characters are more pleasing to God, who subjects us to discipline for this very purpose. R5114:6

"The sufferings of the present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory which shall be revealed in us." (Rom. 8:18) R569:4

Our testing is not to see whether we are perfect according to the flesh.

God knows our frame; he remembers that we are dust. Psa. 103:14. R5115:1

None will be admitted to membership in the Body of Christ who has not been tested and proved by the Lord. R5115:1, 1944:3, 4004:4

Testings are marks of God's love for us. R5459:3, 5116:3

They are supervised by our Lord Jesus Christ himself. R5115:1

Our testing is not as respects the flesh. R4004:4

"Beloved, think it not strange concerning the fiery trial that is to try you." (1 Peter 4:12) "He is like a refiner's fire." (Mal. 3:2) "Many shall be purified and made white and tried." (Dan. 12:10) R1823:1

Of your faith -- Not only of your intellectual recognition of divine truth, but also of your heart reliance upon God. R1822:6, 5114:3

It is your faith that is on trial now. In the calmer days you were quietly laying the foundation of a knowledge of the truth, now you are in the furnace to be proved: summon all your courage, fortify your patience; nerve yourself to endurance, hold fast to your hope. R1823:4, 5115:5; CR111:5

Our Father gives us numerous trials to test the strength of our faith; it is not left to chance. R5115:5,1

Our Christian experience is for the purpose of faith development. R5115:5

If we have not the faith to stand the trials, then we are not of the kind whom God is at the present time looking for. R5116:2

The faith of the Church will be of a higher character than is that of angels or of the world restored. R5116:5

Being -- Is. R5403:2

More precious -- A developed and perfect faith. R5115:1

Much more carefully done. NS446:5

Gold that perisheth -- The value of which will perish when, with the new order of things, it will be as easy to have gold as to have clay or iron.

R4004:4; NS446:6

Gold is a rare metal and has a special value; therefore the Apostle compares it to the faith of the Little Flock. R5114:6; NS446:6

Tried with fire -- Tests of fiery ordeals. R5114:6

You are in the furnace to be proved, severely tried. R1823:4, 1822:6

Tested thoroughly; the Lord develops us through suffering. R5115:1, 5116:3

God is subjecting our faith to a great heat in order to separate the dross so that our characters may grow more Christ-like. R5116:2, 5114:6

We can rejoice in the midst of severe trials that cause pain and tears. R5912:3

A faith which has stood the tests of fiery ordeal and has come off victorious is very precious in our Father's sight. R5114:6

Willing, not only to trust God when things are favorable, but to trust in his providences when we cannot see the outcome. R5115:2

Might be found unto -- Or result in. R1007:4, 297:5

At the appearing -- Greek, apokalupsis, uncovering, revealment. R2979:4
Revelation. (Diaglott) R297:5, 1149:5*

In the beginning of the Millennial age. R1106:1

The Church of the first-born will be admitted to full membership in the Church triumphant. R1893:4

Early in the morning of the Millennial day, the overcoming Church will be delivered. (Psa. 46:5 Margin) R2064:5*

1 Peter 1:8

Having not seen -- We have never seen God or Christ with our physical eyes, yet we love them above all else. R5907:5

All along the journey, like Rebecca, the Church has been on the lookout for him. R1387:6

Yet -- On whom. R1149:5*

Receiving -- Greek, komizo, to bring; hence to receive with the added sense of bringing along with. R1149:5*

Even the salvation -- We are not to see Christ until our salvation, when we shall be like him and see him as he is; and not until then will faith end, and we no longer need signs, not even the fig tree, because we watch by faith. R127:6*

Soundness. R1149:5*

Souls -- Beings. R1149:5*

The Church is receiving the salvation of their souls. R2767:1

Of -- Concerning. R1149:5*

Which salvation -- Special salvation. R1007:4

Our high calling. R5536:1, 218:1

A prize held out in only one age; only once can it be earnestly contended for. R352:4*

Our justification enables us, not only to have earthly restitution rights reckoned to us, but also furnishes the opportunity of sacrificing those earthly rights and thereby participating in the sufferings of Christ.

R4554:5

The prophets -- They spoke and wrote mechanically and frequently wrote things they did not understand. R3650:5, 4961:6, 4197:5, 2053:5, 1418:6, 598:3

The prophets were inspired to write more specially for the benefit of those who live now, than for their own benefit. R517:2

David's thought in writing the Psalms may have been merely their use in song; but the Lord's object was to give prophecy to assist his people of a later period. (1 Pet. 1:10-12) R2345:4

The understanding was not then due. OV407:4

Inquired and searched -- Diligently to know what and what manner of time (whether literal or symbolic) the spirit signified. R1418:6

Sought out and investigated. R1149:5*

All the prophets were students of their own and of each other's predictions and especially of their chronological predictions. R481:2

Of the grace -- Favor; blessing; knowledge of God's plans. A26, 84; R1007:4, 643:5, 435:4, 218:2

The opportunity for sacrifice is a favor, because of the great reward and honor promised to Jesus, which we may share by sharing in his sacrifice. R643:6

Unto you -- The Gospel Church. R218:2

Searching what -- Things. R352:3*

For they were closed to understanding previously. R3130:3

What manner of time -- Whether literal or symbolic. B89; C107; E178; R1418:6, 598:3

Or what seasons. R1149:5*

The Spirit -- The holy Spirit was not yet given, because Jesus had not yet suffered and had not yet been glorified. (John 7:39) R3588:5

Which was -- Speaking. R218:1

Did signify -- Was pointing out. R1149:5*

When it testified -- What most of the Jews overlooked at the time of the first advent. A79

Beforehand -- As in the Tabernacle Shadows. T11

The prophets spoke of the sufferings as all future. R218:2, 691:2

God himself more than once in an audible voice bore witness to his Son in connection with his work. R691:2

To all who see how the Church has fellowship with the "Head," both in sufferings and glory, this statement is full of meaning. R218:2

Sufferings of Christ -- Began with the baptism of Christ and still continues. From this standpoint the first advent of Christ has been a gradual one, covering a period of nearly nineteen centuries. R3192:6, 5341:3, 4710:5

"No cross, no crown." "If we suffer, we shall also reign with him." (2 Tim. 2:12) R2557:5, 3683:3, 1782:6, 157:2

Head and Body. R5341:3, 4964:6, 2557:5, 1016:4, 263:2; SM361:1

The sufferings have not yet been completed, and hence the glory has not come. SM75:1

Means activity in Christ's service. R1782:6

"Fill up that which is behind of the sufferings of Christ." (Col. 1:24)

R3683:3, 157:2

"For as the sufferings of Christ abound in us, so our consolation also aboundeth by Christ." (2 Cor. 1:5) R2000:3

"For our light affliction, which is but for a moment, worketh for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory." (2 Cor. 4:17) "Ye are partakers of Christ's sufferings, that, when his glory shall be revealed, ye may be glad also with exceeding joy." (1 Pet. 4:13) R1782:6

"The sufferings of this present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory which shall be revealed in us." (Rom. 8:18) R4780:6

"We suffer with him that we may be also glorified together." (Rom. 8:17) R2000:3, 1724:1, 263:2

Israel ignored the prophecies of sufferings and saw only the glory. R669:3

And the glory -- Of power or office. A227

We must see something of "the glory that shall follow," in order to realize the necessity of the vicissitudes of the present trial time.

R5147:6

That should follow -- As soon as the sufferings of the Body are completed. R3192:6, 4780:6, 2000:3, 644:4, 157:2; SM361:1

The great work of filling the world ocean deep with the knowledge of the Lord, the restitution of all things. R2000:3, 1418:6

Unto whom -- The prophets. R435:5

They had their measure of light, and because faithful to it, great will be their advantage in the resurrection. R946:1

They were used as God's mouthpieces simply, and laid up treasures of wisdom and knowledge which are made manifest during the Gospel age, by the holy Spirit, as meat in due season, for the Church. R598:3

It was revealed -- God used them to express his mind; though generally they did not understand the import of the words they used. R370:5

By the angel, no revelations were made to them by the Spirit. R218:2

In the past the Spirit's operation was chiefly mechanical; to us it is explanatory and sympathetic. E178

Prophecy can only be fully understood when fulfilled, and a truth is not fully revealed until it is understood. R66:3*

The Lord no longer sends his messages after this manner. R3424:1

The Saviour and his apostles often speak of these writings as the Word of God; recognizing, and directly asserting, their divine authority and inspiration. R1622:3

Not unto themselves -- As claimed by the Higher Critics. R1690:5

Nor to the unregenerate world. R3646:3

In many instances those who uttered the prophecies and those who heard them comprehended them not. R3455:2

They were the pen and tongue which the Lord used in preparing statements to be understood by his people of the Gospel age. NS663:4

They were used as God's mouthpieces simply. R598:3

They sought the significance of their own utterances. R2484:6

God did not commit all these sacred things to their understanding.

R349:6*, 182:2

The glorious inheritance of the saints of the Gospel age was never made known in former ages, not even to the prophets nor to angels. R1598:4

"I heard but I understood not." (Dan. 12:8) "They say of me, doth he not speak parables?" (Ezek. 20:49) B23; R3646:3, 1148:3, 349:6

Only those who recognize that there is a Spiritual Israel, antitypical, are able to appreciate many of the promises of the Old Testament. R4287:3

Holy men spoke things that were not their own thoughts, but which encouraged themselves and those all about them. R2521:2, 1491:1

But unto us -- The Gospel Church. B22, 203; R3614:3, 2542:3, 2371:2, 946:1, 598:3

The Body of Christ. R1524:5

Revealed by degrees for the Christian Church, as the age advanced towards its termination. R946:1, 368:3

A period of time embracing the entire Gospel age. R517:3

All that was written aforetime by Moses and the prophets, was designed specially for us who are in Christ, for the instruction and comfort of the children of God. R3646:3

Spiritual Israel is blessed by the meaning of those types and shadows of the past and by an understanding of the mystery of the divine plan presented in those types and prophecies. NS361:5

"Upon whom the ends of the world (ages) are come." (1 Cor. 10:11) R3650:5

They did minister -- The truth which God was sowing, through their instrumentality, was not then due, but was being sown for the righteous some centuries down the stream of time. R946:1 Reported -- Declared. R1149:5*

Light due in their day. R957:2

By them -- The apostles. F232; R1524:5

The apostles preached not with man's wisdom but with the wisdom from above. Their human weaknesses were not permitted to mar their work or usefulness as apostles. F224; R1526:3

Have preached -- Delivered. R1149:5*

The gospel -- Good news. R218:2

Message. R1149:5*

After Jesus' ascension it was revealed through his apostles. R442:5

It was the very same gospel of life and immortality brought to light by the Lord himself. R1524:5; E232

Holy Ghost -- Holy Spirit. R1524:5, 1419:3, 1149:5*

It caused the prophets of old to speak and write the divine Word without comprehending the meaning of their own utterances in full, and sometimes not even in part. R2070:3

Every time the Apostle Paul referred to his apostleship he announced himself one of those specially commissioned "by the holy Spirit sent down from heaven" to preach and to establish the Gospel. R1419:3

To be your guide in understanding the preaching. R218:2

Down from heaven -- Not with man's wisdom but the wisdom from above. R1526:3

Which things -- The clean and beautiful principles of divine truth given to the saints of this age. C123

Respecting the times and seasons, the sufferings of Messiah and the glory that would follow. Q605:2

This new gift (immortality) was never known of before this Gospel age. R252:3

The angels -- The holy angels, having witnessed the failure of angelic efforts for man's recovery in the days before the flood. R1678:5

They are earnest students of the plan for human salvation. R1478:6

The angelic hosts are watching and learning lessons in respect to all this shepherding of the flock through the narrow way. R4280:2

As we toil upward on the narrow way, angels look on amazed at the grandeur of the plan which is able not only to rescue a fallen race from death but to display "the exceeding riches of his grace in his kindness toward us through Christ Jesus." (Eph. 2:7) R143:4, 281:5

An "innumerable company of angels" still watch our progress and gladly become "ministering spirits" who will soon be rulers. R281:6

The angels are not infinite in knowledge. R41:4*

Gladly are they ready for any service. R1681:3

They are also learning the immensity of God's love, wisdom and power; the exceeding beauty of holiness in contrast with sin and the lesson of complete submission to the will of our Father. R254:1

Throughout the six thousand years during which God has permitted evil, the angels have been looking on. The introduction of evil was a great test to them at first. OV394:2; NS438:3

Desire to look into -- Are deeply interested in because in the divine plan they see God's wisdom, justice, love and power shown as never before. E412

Who diligently searched and sought to discover the deep significance of the prophecies of these things. R1598:5

Into the plan which God has since been working out, and ever ready to do his bidding in our service. R1678:5; NS813:1

No work is more noble or ennobling than the reverent study of the revealed purposes of God. A13

To be devoid of desires to understand the prophecies indicates lack of interest in God's plans. B17

The angels were not permitted to. Meanwhile God gave laws, and caused types and shadows of his plan to be enacted. R470:3

1 Peter 1:13

Wherefore -- Refers us to the glorious hope of our high calling, and of the necessarily severe measures required to fit us for our exalted inheritance. R3149:1

Gird up the loins -- Cast aside the weights of unnecessary worldly cares, redouble your diligence, increase your zeal, renew your determination. R3149:3

Our chief object in the present life is to fight a good fight against self and against sin. R2725:6 We have determined upon a course of activity; rest and ease are put aside, we are engaging in an important work which requires all the strength we possess. R4667:6; Q448:5

In olden times, girdles were constantly worn for two purposes; 1) to keep the garments so that they would not be disordered in appearance, 2) for effect upon the loins during active labor. R4667:5; Q448:2

Do not become entangled in worldly matters. R5824:4, 2725:6

Of your mind -- Our minds need to be strengthened; we need to be fortified against all disposition to lassitude. R4667:5; Q448:4

Be sober -- Being vigilant. (Diaglott) R353:5*, 1149:5*

Do not allow yourself, under the spur of excitement, to exhaust all your spiritual vitality in a very short time, then to suffer a relapse into coldness or discouragement. Prepare for a long and determined effort. R3149:3

We are to endeavor to realize the import of the exceeding great and precious promises and to gather from them their invigorating inspiration. R3149:3

Avail ourselves of such helps of pastors and teachers and their literary productions, which prove harmonious with the Scriptures. R3149:3

The Apostle is not referring to the use of intoxicating liquors; there is a spiritual intoxication, the spirit of error; all the world are intoxicated with this spirit. R5632:6, 5633:2

We should be of serious mind, thoughtful, not given to frivolity or levity, but earnestly watching our thoughts, our words, our doings, that we may in all things bring honor to our King whose name we bear. R5633:1, 1938:1

Keep yourself in the love of God and in the service of God, the truth and the brethren. R5824:4

The Church is now being tested for life or death eternal. This thought should make us sober. SM179:1

And hope to the end -- Do you hope perfectly. (Diaglott) R353:5*, 1149:5*
Let us not be discouraged or overcome in any way. R3149:5

For the grace -- The salvation of our own resurrection. R4175:6; HG228:2
Favor. R3149:5

Our salvation completed. F161; R5920:4; CR131:5

The Christian will not expect his salvation except in connection with the second coming of our Lord Jesus and the establishment of his Kingdom.

R3180:5

The salvation of the elect class will be the very first item connected with the Lord's second advent. NS425:4

To be brought unto you -- At the time specified, not previously. F664; R2725:6

At the revelation -- Greek, apokalupsis, uncovering, unveiling. R2979:3

We are not to hope for blessing this side of the manifestation of God's Kingdom. R2725:6; F664

At Christ's second coming; at the establishment of his Kingdom. CR22:4; NS499:6

Of Jesus Christ -- When he comes to reign in power and great glory, is the Church's exaltation with him, to sit with him in his throne. R3149:5, 2073:5*

At his second advent. R2051:2, 3149:5, 2932:6

As obedient children -- Who have not cast away their confidence. R3149:5

The Apostle is not addressing the world, but those who have become children of God. R5481:3

They have been made to sit down to meat, and the Master himself has come forth and served them. R3149:5

If we are obedient children, we shall get the proper tests, the proper chiseling and polishing, everything that will make us "meet for the inheritance of the saints in light." (Col. 1:12) R5482:1

Not fashioning yourselves -- Not the fashioning of our will, but the transforming of our minds into the mind of the Lord. "Be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind." (Rom. 12:2) R5482:2-4

Seeing things from God's standpoint, we change our ideas as to what we shall eat, and what we shall drink. R5482:3

That we may be properly exercised by all the trials which God has purposed for us. R5482:2

According to the divine instructions. R3150:1

Do not conform yourselves. (Diaglott) R353:5*

Former lusts -- Desires and ambitions, which we had. R3149:6

1 Peter 1:15

But as he -- "Walk worthy of God, who hath called you unto his Kingdom and glory." (1 Thes. 2:12) "Ye should show forth the praises of him who hath called you out of darkness." (1 Pet. 2:9) F91

Is holy -- Perfect; that which is whole, that which is complete, lacking nothing. CR451:2; R5856:3

So be ye holy -- Let your will be perfect; nothing less is acceptable to him. CR455:4; R5482:5

God is speaking to the new creature, the Gospel Church. CR453:2; R1351:4*

Absolute holiness is the standard which our minds can gladly and fully endorse and live up to, but to which we can never attain actually in our fallen nature. F136; R5127:4

Holiness is the standard of perfection. R5482:5

This will be the standard before all of the world in the thousand years. CR452:6

In the present life the new creature is a representative of God and his righteousness and should seek to walk in accord therewith. F92

Put away all anger, malice, envy, hatred and strife and put on instead the fruits and graces of the Lord's holy Spirit--meekness, gentleness, patience, long-suffering, brotherly kindness, love. SM336:1

Conversation -- In all your conduct. (Diaglott) R13:2, 353:5*

Behavior. R5405:4

Conversation has a broad meaning. It relates to all our conduct with respect to others. Our thoughts words and deeds. 5482:6, 3149:6

1 Peter 1:16

Be ye holy -- We who are called to be partakers of his own nature and glory. R3149:6

Any instrument that God would use and recognize must be holy. SM578:1

He is the pattern, we are to copy that pattern as much as possible in our daily lives, especially in our wills, our minds. R4662:6

We were by nature unholy; hence his arrangement for our justification, our being made right, whole. R5856:3

A continual effort to bring our conduct, thoughts and intents of the heart into subjection to the divine will; but we can never attain to it actually and physically so long as we are subject to the frailties of our fallen natures. R5127:4

Strive after actual soundness and perfection. R3280:2

The world in general will be made right during the Millennium. R5856:3; SM578:2

For -- Because. (Diaglott) R353:5*

I -- The Lord. R3149:6, 5127:4

Am holy -- The very standard and pattern of righteousness. R1800:2

1 Peter 1:17

Call on the Father -- Not on the Son. R2425:6*

The Judge of all. F400

Judgment; of the Father, and by the Son. R2426:5

In fear -- Not in levity, frivolity, sensuality, money-grabbing, carelessness or slothfulness, but in earnest watchfulness of every word and act to please the Lord. R2289:6

Perfect love casts out slavish but not reverential fear. R2986:6

Ye -- The Church. R4633:2, 4536:2

The world is not redeemed as yet. Jesus' merit has not yet been appropriated for all men. R4633:2

Were not redeemed -- Relates not so much to our ultimate deliverance from death, as to our present loosing from an evil course, vain conversation, foolish talking, and iniquity in general; this liberty was purchased for us by the blood of Christ. E432

Purchased. R965:2

Bought. R4991:4, 4536:2, 1878:3, 1086:3

Not with the example, but with the blood of Christ. R1810:4*, 1321:6

With corruptible things -- We are redeemed with the incorruptible life of Christ; the life which was not under penalty, not forfeited, not condemned but approved. HG482:3

As silver and gold -- "Ye have sold yourselves for naught, and ye shall be redeemed without money." (Isa. 52:3) E438

The traditions handed down from our forefathers really make void, meaningless, ungracious, the message of God's wisdom and love. OV260:2; E438

Vain -- Fruitless. E258

Conversation -- Life. E258

1 Peter 1:19

The precious blood -- The death; sacrificed life. E385; R4147:2, 1293:2, 1230:3, 211:5*, 122:2

Illustrated by the blood of the bullock sprinkled on the Mercy Seat. T59

The New Covenant of divine mercy and favor toward whosoever will is sealed by the blood of Christ, his death. NS289:2

It does not mean literal blood. R1230:3

Our justification, without Christ's death as our ransom price, would have been legally impossible. R1247:1, 1031:2

The merit of his sacrifice of earthly rights. R4528:2, 1350:2*

The merit of Christ will not be applied to seal the New Covenant until the last member of the Great Company shall have suffered the complete destruction of the flesh. R4601:6

It is the merit of our Lord's sacrifice that cleanses or purifies us from sin. E445

It signifies that the valuable sacrifice of Jesus' life was made on our behalf. NS623:1

All that the word ransom means, giving of life in exchange for life. Q563:6
Of Christ -- Jesus' merit is all-sufficient for the whole world, but he has not yet appropriated it for all men. R4633:2, 2855:5, 1316:2, 1230:2, 1299:1

The only true foundation of the Christian's hope; redemption through the precious blood. R5822:1

Neither the blotting out of sins nor even their covering, is possible, except as the sinner shall first of all accept of Jesus through faith. R2855:6

His blood became the basis for the forgiveness of our sins, made peace for us, opened up the way to reconciliation, and transferred us from the domain of sentenced culprits, back to sonship in the family of God. R120:3
In the 43 times that the blood of Christ is mentioned in the Bible, not once is it hinted that it represented the slaying of his carnal nature, nor that he had about him anything evil that required to be destroyed. R1230:2

This sacrifice was not made in the change of nature from spiritual to human, but was made after he had become a man; "a body hast thou prepared for me." (Heb. 10:5) R573:3

"Ye (the Church) are bought with a price." (1 Cor. 6:20, 7:23) Not at Calvary but at his ascension when "He appeared in the presence of God for us." (Heb. 9:24) R4633:2, 1350:2*, 1247:1, 1086:3, 876:2, 684:2, 642:2, 464:4, 392:3, 387:2, 381:2

"Who gave himself a ransom for all, to be testified in due time." (1 Tim. 2:6) R4372:1, 5152:1, 1086:3, 876:2

"In whom we have redemption through his blood, even the forgiveness of sins." (Col. 1:14) R866:4, 1810:4*, 1298:6*

"Who through the eternal spirit offered himself without spot to God." (Heb. 9:14) E450; R1298:6

"For Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh, but quickened by (in) the spirit." (1 Peter 3:18) R652:6

"And he is the propitiation for our sins; and not for ours only, but also for the sins of the whole world." (1 John 2:2) R866:4, 876:2, 1810:4*
That will restore mankind. R866:4

As of a lamb -- As typed by the shedding of the blood of the Passover lamb throughout the Jewish age. R1336:3*, 1312:6

"The Lamb of God, that taketh away the sin of the world." (John 1:29) A103; R788:3, 685:4, 573:3

Without blemish -- This must be true of every sacrifice upon the Lord's altar, as the Law clearly taught and the types showed. R4398:3

Every member of our race was spotted and blemished by inherited sin and imperfection, hence the necessity for the divine provision of justification by faith. R4398:3

Foreordained -- Foreknown, forearranged. R2479:2

Before the foundation -- Love has been active preparing for the redemption ever since sin entered. T126

Not "from the foundation," as in the case of the sheep class of the Millennial age. (Matt. 25:34) R2607:1; A305

The endless, heavenly, spiritual Kingdom was prepared long before the earth was founded, its inception being in Christ. R2607:1, 5057:3, 4398:5, 2690:1, 2122:4

1 Peter 1:21

God that raised him -- It was his soul that died, he was wholly dead, and could have no power whatever to resuscitate himself. R2795:2

No agency of man, nor even the angel Gabriel, was permitted in the work of our Lord's resurrection: no agencies great or small were employed. God raised Jesus, and will raise the Church. R1005:4

Up from the dead -- From "hades" on the third day. CR277:5

1 Peter 1:22

Have purified -- A thorough cleansing of the heart, the mind, the will, the actuating intentions, or motives. R4766:2

When we presented ourselves in spirit and in truth, through faith, our sins were forgiven; we were accepted as new creatures and were started in a new career. R4766:3

Lived more purely. R276:6

Your souls -- Your beings; nor merely the physical being. R205:3, 4766:2, 276:6

Obeying the truth -- We receive a knowledge of the truth, of God's will; then it is for us to put it into practice, to weave it into our thoughts and words and doings, by feeding constantly on the Word. SM704:1; R1802:6*

We do not inherit this God-like quality of love. It is only in obedience to the truth that we acquired this love, being purified thereby from the downward tendencies of our fallen nature. R1670:2

It is not necessary to know all truth; but necessary for us to know the great truth--that God condemned sin, and that the whole world of mankind came under this condemnation, and that God has provided a particular way of escape by being justified by faith in Christ and taking up the cross and following in his footsteps. R4766:2

Through the Spirit -- The spirit of the truth. R2518:1

Unto -- To the extent of. R2807:5

Unfeigned -- Genuine; without pretense; not merely professed. R4766:3, 2518:4, 1670:3

Love -- Greek, phileo, duty love. R2807:5

"He laid down his life for us; and we ought to lay down our lives for the brethren." (1 John 3:16) R2453:4, 4766:5

Our love for the brethren might, at first, be merely obedience in following this command; but as we follow on, our love increases, our sympathy expands. We must not neglect this. R4766:6, 5757:3

The third quarter mark in our race course. NS417:3

See that ye -- Go on to. R2807:5

Love -- Greek, agape, have disinterested love for. R2807:5, 4766:5, 1670:3

Love presides and rules in their hearts, always exercising itself in ministries of kindness and benevolence. R1670:1

Weaker ones are to be cared for and loved, "we ought to bear the infirmities of the weak." (Rom. 15:1) Not by simply ignoring his fault, but while kindly urging him to strive against it, still humbly and patiently submitting to the discomfort it brings. R4767:1

One another -- Love prompted Christian communism. We perceive that some were poor; and, controlled by the spirit of love, the well-to-do felt that they would like all the poorer brethren to have just as good as themselves. R5849:6

If this spirit prevails among the members of the Lord's Body, they will have a mutual love and care for one another which seeks to encourage and strengthen all that is good and to discourage all that is unbecoming; and throws a mantle over a deformity and endeavors to conceal a fault, and judges the motives of others generously, charitably. R4767:4, 1845:2

Where the brother's flesh is much fallen, we have largely a compassionate love, rather than a loving admiration. R4984:6

The weaker ones of the household of faith are to be cared for and helped that they may grow strong in the Lord. R4767:1

"Let us love one another: for love is of God: and every one that loveth is born of God, and knoweth God." (1 John 4:7) "For ye yourselves are taught of God to love one another." (1 Thes. 4:9) R32:1*

The final test of character is love, in deed and in truth. R4524:4

We are to love one another--first our Heavenly Father, then our heavenly Lord Jesus; and finally we should love, and as we have opportunity serve, the brethren. R5850:6

Purifying of the heart by the truth is both an instantaneous and a gradual work. R1670:4

Fervently -- Intensely; not cold and indifferent, willing to lay down our lives for the brethren. R2518:4, 4766:5

We should recognize that they, like ourselves, are new creatures in Christ; and this should give us great sympathy and a desire to do everything we can to encourage them, to help them. R4766:3

Verses 22 and 23 are a divine explanation of how the holy Spirit will manifest itself, and are the qualities to be looked for in the servants of the Church. R2446:5

Being born again -- Begotten again. R1697:6, 837:1, 192:3; E105

In 1 Peter 1:3 ana-gennao is correctly rendered "begotten again," but in verse 23 the same word is rendered incorrectly "born again." R837:1

To be genuine, it must be a begetting by the truth, not by error. R1698:1,6
Isaac was the heir of Abraham and child of promise (by Sarah), so we like Isaac are children of God, children of the promise or Sarah Covenant.
R777:4

Not of corruptible -- The new creature is begotten of incorruptible seed in the sense that this seed will not become unholy. The Spirit of God always stays pure, holy, incorruptible. Q509:4

Of incorruptible -- Greek, aphthartos, that which cannot decay; not liable to corrupt. E398; R2339:3, 204:1

The word incorruptible, when applied to being, existence, is of similar significance to immortal. R1642:4

The Word of God -- The inspiration and importance of the Word of God are shown in 1 Pet. 1:10, 11, 23, 25. R2012:5

The text book from which the world will be instructed during the Millennial age. R1526:2

Which liveth and abideth forever -- Faith must be a reasonable thing, well founded in that which is fixed, immovable, sure and steadfast, even in the Word of God which liveth and abideth forever. R2162:1

1 Peter 1:24

Flesh -- Flesh and blood uniformly represent human nature. R611:3

1 Peter 1:25

Word -- My Master gave his word, that believing, I might have life through his name (John 20:21); and, that thank God, this is the word by which the gospel is preached unto you. R803:1

1 Peter 2

1 Peter 2:1

All evil speakings -- Evil speaking is strictly forbidden, as wholly contrary to God's spirit of love, even if the thing be true. R4803:1
Professed Christians are often the most pronounced scandal mongers. R4803:1
Those who hear slanderers are partakers of their evil deeds. R4803:2

Evil words and deeds represent some wrong condition of head or heart; the Lord's follower should daily, hourly, keep watch over his thoughts, words, deeds and underlying motives. R4524:1

The advanced Christian sees that in the Lord's sight hatred is murder, slander is assassination, and the destruction of a neighbor's good name is robbery and rapine. Any of these things done in the Church, among the professed people of God, is doubly evil; the assassination and robbery of a brother. R2444:6

1 Peter 2:2

As newborn babes -- Applied to newly consecrated saints, as babes in Christ. R562:6, 4968:4, 3621:6, 229:3, 23:5*

We find that repeatedly in the Scriptures the young Christian and the less developed are likened to babes, to children. R2660:2

The babe cannot be expected to grow up to manhood instantly. R118:5*

A babe in Christ is a member of the Body, as really as the well developed Christian. R118:2*

Those just beginning the new life. R3621:6

If a babe had done something worthy of stripes, he would be treated according to his infancy. R5102:5

"Such as have need of milk and not of strong meat." (Heb. 5:12) E238; R23:5*

Some writings of the Epistles were suitable for babes in Christ, and others were strong meat, the deeper things of the divine plan. (Heb. 5:13) R5941:3

Some now living, perhaps a good many, who are consecrated to God and whose consecration has been accepted, who are not in the light of Present Truth, are "babes" in Christ, and others the "Great Multitude." R5134:4

Here the figure is of the resurrection life already begun as a babe in Christ. NS336:3

The divine provision is so wonderful that even babes starved for the milk of the Word, may quickly appropriate strong and nourishing food and become clear in the knowledge of God. HG682:6

The sincere milk -- The simple truths, the foundation doctrines; the first principles of the doctrines of Christ. R3621:6, 5327:1, 4968:4, 563:1

It is all right for beginners. R23:5*

The means by which a newborn babe grows. Eating of strong meat would cause it to strangle. E240

An occasional cup of milk is good even for grown folks. But grown men need stronger food. R23:5*

The Lord gives the milk of the word at first, that the new nature may grow thereby, and become able to digest stronger food and thus develop in character likeness to our Lord. R4817:6

The holy Spirit, the new creature germ, must grow through nourishment. R5759:2

Of the word -- God's Word is a great storehouse of food for Christians in all stages of development. A24

May grow thereby -- So that in due time you will "Be no more children tossed about with every wind of doctrine." (Eph. 4:14) R3622:1
Become strong; suggesting a process of development. R4817:6, 5102:5
As the babe goes on, he should feed upon the strong meat of God's Word. R4968:4

The spiritual babe that does not grow will never reach manhood's estate. He will never be a king and priest. R5327:1, 5088:4

1 Peter 2:3

Ye have tasted -- Only those who come with sincere hearts to taste and see for themselves can ever know. Theirs is the "hidden manna." (Rev. 2:17) R1957:6

1 Peter 2:4

Unto a living stone -- Christ, the top-stone in the pyramid, God's building. R813:1*, 3622:4, 2656:6, 1982:1, 1568:4, 135:1; A83

Disallowed -- Rejected. (Diaglott) R813:1*

But chosen of God -- Elect, seeking to be members of a class which was predetermined, foreordained of God. R3587:3

Christ is chosen of God. R25:1*

"I will engrave the graving thereof, saith the Lord of hosts." (Zech. 3:9) R1490:6

Precious -- Honorable. (Diaglott) R813:1*

Ye also -- The sanctuary class, the sanctified. C180; T26

All of God's faithful saints are living stones in the Temple of God, through which, eventually, all the world shall have access to God. PD45/55

As lively -- Living. E375; A83; R5713:5, 4645:2, 3622:5, 2832:5, 2520:6, 1855:1

Stones -- Greek, lithos, smaller stones than petros or petra. F221, 220

Rough by nature, out of harmony with the chief corner-stone, the top-stone laid in heaven. E232

Greek, petros, a stone, a piece of a rock; petra, the rock in mass, the foundation rock. R1760:3, 1525:1

The entire Church, all the consecrated believers. SM461:3; R5713:5, 4645:2, 2737:5, 2656:6

All the members of Christ's Body, built upon the foundation. R1760:3, 1981:6; NS194:4

The New Jerusalem, the Church had twelve foundation stones, built upon the one foundation rock, Christ. SM463:3

Each of the Lord's faithful disciples. R3375:2

Not composed of literal stones. Not visible to the natural eye. R2832:5

The saints are living stones, being chiseled and polished, preparatory to the uniting of all these in one grand, glorious Temple of God beyond the veil. R5713:5, 5504:2, 2832:5

Worldly persons, worldly methods and worldly aid and wisdom are to be rejected. Only Israelites indeed will be accepted. R2512:5

The living stones constitute the Temple of God, and should be as fully revered as temples made of literal stones. R5187:1

Peter was one of the living stones built by faith upon the rock of truth. He himself was not the rock. R4645:2; HG736:3

The Lord is the great rock upon which the Church is built, while Peter is one of the living stones in the glorious Temple built upon that rock.

R1525:1

Peter and the other apostles are presented to us as foundation stones built upon this great truth, that Christ is the Redeemer, the Savior, the Messiah. R3789:2, 4116:6

The great work of preparing these living stones for their places in this building of God is still in progress, although it is almost completed.

All these persecutions (of the world, false brethren, Satan) will be recognized and rejoiced in as the agencies of his providence in chiseling, shaping and polishing us for the glorious Temple. R5651:1

Are built up -- Under the headship of Christ; through the operation of the holy Spirit. R2656:6, 4645:2; SM461:3

Shaped, chiseled, polished, by Jesus as the Father's representative. F195; R3622:5, 1568:5, 292:2

A spiritual -- Greek, pneumatikos, a family or household of a spirit order or kind. E313

House -- The Temple of God, the Church, the house of God whose foundation and capstone is Christ. R4645:2, 5504:1, 5250:1, 2656:6, 1760:3, 1484:1

Typified by Solomon's Temple. F73; R5713:5, 2987:2, 2508:2, 2367:5, 292:2

The glory of the Lord is to fill his Temple when its last living stone is polished and approved and set in place. C180

A house of sons. The real house for which Jesus had zeal. R5250:2

It will be spiritual, unseen by men, each member like unto the glorified Jesus, far above angels--and God by his holy Spirit will dwell there in fullest measure. R5504:2

To think of Peter as the only foundation for the Church would be to deny Christ's teaching and Peter's own statement. SM461:3; HG737:2

The trials and difficulties of life are shaping and fitting the members for glory, honor and immortality; membership in the Temple. R5713:6

Offer up spiritual -- "Spiritual" is not in old manuscripts. Not spiritual, but human rights, privileges and life are sacrificed. B208; T22; R3587:3, 3265:5, 1982:1, 441:6

As typical sacrifices were offered, so we may offer up spiritual sacrifices, holy, acceptable to God by Jesus Christ. R600:2

Sacrifices -- Willing service and obedience, praise, and whatever is done to the glory of God. T120

Represented by the sacrifices offered on the Golden altar in the Holy. T22

The careful and conditional study of God's plan; the imbibing of its spirit; leading to an enthusiastic zeal for its accomplishment, and to activity to the extent of ability in its service, at whatever cost or sacrifice it may require. R3199:3

The true principle of sacrifice seeks not the poorest and leanest part of our sacrifice to offer before the Lord, but the fat; the freshest hours, the choicest talents. R548:6

Justice never requires sacrifice. R5005:3

Jesus and his followers take a higher plane than justice, waiving their own rights, they become sacrificers of their own comforts, preferences, desires, to the doing of the divine will, to the serving of the brethren and mankind in general. R5005:3, 3199:2

Previously justified, i.e. reckoned clean and fit through faith in the ransom are acceptable to God. R819:2, 441:6

Acceptable to God -- Well pleasing. (Diaglott) R813:1*

Nothing imperfect or sinful is acceptable to God in sacrifice. R441:6

Be our sacrifice ever so lame and imperfect, it is reckoned holy and without blemish, if we presented it to the Father in and through the merit of our Redeemer. R1133:1

Those who offer incense on the Golden altar acceptable to God come very close to their Father. TS120

By -- Through. (Diaglott) R813:1*

Wherefore -- Because. (Diaglott) R813:1*

Chief corner stone -- A foundation stone. (Diaglott) R813:1*

The Lord Jesus Christ; capstone of the whole. SM461:2, 463:2; R2656:6, 1981:6, 681:6 The Church of God, are now being shaped, fitted and prepared for positions in the Temple of God of which the dear Redeemer himself is the chief cornerstone, the foundation. R3587:3, 1982:1

Very soon the union between Jesus and the Body will be complete, as expressed by the prophet: "He shall bring forth the headstone thereof with shoutings, crying; Grace, grace, unto it." (Zech. 4:7) R135:4, 271:4

Elect -- Chosen. (Diaglott) R813:1*

Precious -- Honorable. (Diaglott) R813:1*

That believeth on him -- Who confides in it. (Diaglott) R813:1*

Confounded -- Ashamed. (Diaglott) R813:1*

Unto you -- The household of faith. R3280:1

Which believe -- In Christ as your Redeemer. R1649:3

With the heart man believeth unto salvation; it is a heart matter, not merely a mental matter. CR150:2

Those who take up their cross and follow Christ are the believers. CR150:2

All the teachings of the Lord's great plan are revealed to this class.

CR155:5

He is precious -- Correspondingly as we know him and trust him. R2833:4

Those who have received the spirit of a sound mind now long to be with him and now appreciate him as others do not. R3773:2

The more we come into real touch with him by faith and obedience, the more precious he becomes to us. CR149:3

How precious Christ is depends upon the clearness of our sight. To those who get the proper view of this gift of God's love "He is altogether lovely." (Cant. 5:6) NS609:6, 39:1

We do not need to wait until his second coming and until the actual resurrection. NS534:1

Which the builders -- Of the nominal Church. R813:1*

Disallowed -- Rejected. (Diaglott) R813:1*

Substituting the name of Peter. R813:1*

Head of the corner -- Jesus Christ is the chief cornerstone, the sure foundation. R1484:1

Christ Jesus is the great cornerstone of this house of sons; the followers are being shaped and prepared as "living stones." R2520:6

1 Peter 2:8

Stone of stumbling -- The Lord is a stumbling stone in the pathway of many. R5258:1; NS41:5

Israel, the typical house, stumbled in that they did not recognize his presence among them, and rejected his sacrifice as the basis of justification. The same stumbling-stone is now in the close of the Gospel age causing many to stumble. R681:6, 4942:5

Some of the true Israelites were stumbled, not the Gentile nations; so we believe that today many good Christian people are stumbling over Christ's presence. R5258:1

Rock -- Christ Jesus. R1522:1 Those who are rooted and grounded in Christ and built up in him, in his doctrine, his love, and his character, shall never be moved. He is the sure foundation upon which we build our superstructure. R1922:5

In ourselves we find no ground of stability upon which to rear our building of character and faith. R1922:4

Of offence -- To many; until the time of its exaltation. R3622:5

Which stumble -- Because they do not accept the great foundation of faith--the ransom--they are unworthy to stand. R3622:5, 1568:5

At the word -- Ignoring the Bible doctrine and terms of salvation, merely holding to morality as the hope of everlasting life. R1690:4

Being disobedient -- Who will not accept its plain and simple teachings relative to the great foundation of our faith, Christ Jesus, who gave his life a ransom for many. R3622:5, 1568:5

God lays great stress upon loyal and loving obedience on the part of all his children. R3622:5, 1568:5

It was only a little matter of disobedience that cost Adam and his posterity so dearly, and that will bring similar results to all those who, having once escaped the condemnation of death through faith in Christ the Redeemer, thereafter prefer to appear in their own righteousness. R3622:5, 1568:5

God does not propose to deliver his Kingdom unto any of the disobedient. They need the fiery trial of the coming tribulation to bring them into the proper attitude; and hence must come up through great tribulation. R1649:3

They were appointed -- God designed that they should stumble because they are disobedient and refuse to stand before God in the robe of Christ's righteousness, but prefer to appear in their own. R3622:5, 1568:5

But ye are -- The consecrated Church of Christ; the sanctified. R4812:4, 3621:2, 1820:3, 1567:3; T27; CR471:2

The Apostle Peter is pointing out the fact that the Church of Christ is separate and distinct from all other people. R5460:3

All "Israelites indeed" of the fleshly house were privileged to become members of the spiritual house. 4593:6

New creatures in Christ, neither Jew nor Gentile, bond nor free. 2125:5

A chosen generation -- Greek, genos, race. D603; R5460:3, 2129:1

Chosen race. (Diaglott) R1149:6*

A new race. All are begotten of the holy Spirit. They must first make a full consecration before this new generative power will begin to operate in them. R5460:6, 3621:3, 2129:2

New creatures in Christ Jesus. R2129:1

A new order of beings, chosen of God as the heirs of his special favor. R1567:3, 3621:3, 2129:2

These only are being called, chosen, and proved during this Gospel age. R2051:2

These new creatures are as yet only begotten and developing in the embryo state, the full development or birth being due at the resurrection.

R1567:3, 3621:3

There will be none but holy ones in it. R5460:6

We are the ones who represent the Kingdom in the world now; even though it is not certain we will be one of these. Q423:1

A royal priesthood -- The work of a priest is that of intercession and instruction in righteousness and logically implies subjects and a future work of salvation. R12:2*, 404:3*

The word "priesthood" stands for teacher, because under the Jewish arrangements all the priests were teachers, instructors of the people. CR408:2; R992:6

The Royal Priesthood, of which the Redeemer is the Head, has a variety of titles and offices: King, Priest, Judge, Lawgiver, Mediator, Father; respecting special features of its service for the blessing of all the families of the earth. R4390:1

For the whole world. R3109:1, 3621:3, 2129:4, 1567:3

Aaron and his sons did not typify the still higher priesthood which God had in mind when he established the Levitical priesthood. This higher order of priests was typified by Melchizedek, the king-priest. R5460:6, 5424:2, 2935:5, 2128:6, 2051:2; SM139:3, 137:1

Natural Israel was also given a promise to be "a kingdom of priests and a holy nation." (Ex. 19:6) HG51:6

Speaking prophetically; we are not priests yet. It is only those who will be declared worthy to sit with him in his throne that will be the Royal Priesthood; those who make their calling and election sure. CR361:1, 457:2; R4967:1, 4655:5; OV110:2

The real Royal Priesthood will be that portion of us that will attain unto the first resurrection. Q83:T; R4389:4

The Church of the first-borns will all be overcomers but only a Little Flock will be found specially saintly, holy. These will be the antitypical priests. R4999:1

Typified by the priestly family of Aaron; they do not find their antitype in the clergy of today, but in God's consecrated people, whether in or out of public ministry. R4703:3, 5765:3, 5638:3, 5628:2, 5616:4, 4812:4, 1135:6

All the true Church are priests, an association of priests, and not an association under the control of a clerical or priestly class. R1575:4, 2922:1; NS63:6

Peter, falsely styled the first pope, contradicts all such popish ideas by declaring the whole Church, including the very humblest one, God's Royal Priesthood. R1808:5

In the type, the under-priesthood received a measure of the anointing oil, prefiguring the real priesthood to come. R5392:3

In the antitype, all of God's consecrated people are prospective kings and are sacrificing priests. R5638:3, 5650:6

The Christ, Head and Body, will be the antitypical Royal Priesthood. PD39/50; R3108:6, 510:5; HG689:1

Jesus, from the time of his resurrection and ascension to God, has been the chief or High Priest. SM137:T

Now the Church of Christ, the saintly Bride class, is being selected from the world to constitute the royal family of the future, when completed and perfected by the first or chief resurrection. R5899:2

The royal feature of the matter belongs to the future; we have no royalty yet. R3265:2, 3267:6

The royalty of the priesthood signifies that it will no longer be a sacrificing class. OV204:3

What does royal mean? It means to be a king, a priest, to be a teacher.

When his Kingdom would be established, Jesus would be the great King or Priest, unto the Church, and they would be assistant kings and priests.

CR250:3

Each overcomer is a priest, and all regard Jesus as the High or Chief Priest of our profession. R397:6

The royal feature differentiates the Melchizedec from the Aaronic order.

Aaron and his sons had nothing whatever to do with the royalty of the typical kingdom. SM139:2

A people to be clothed with authority and power to stand between God and fallen humanity, to lift humanity up from its degradation and restore it to the divine likeness and favor. R3621:3, 1567:3

The lesson to each member of this Royal Priesthood (prospective), is that the special mission of their office, vocation, calling, in the present time, is to sacrifice. R3265:3

They are all self-sacrificing priests, who serve the living God through Christ Jesus acceptably, by serving one another, and all men as they have opportunity, and in general serving the Gospel. R2129:4

The priesthood does not end when the kingly powers begin, for it is written concerning the future reign, "And hast made us unto our God kings and priests: and we shall reign on the earth." (Rev. 5:10) R2128:5

They will perform the priestly offices for the world of mankind, ransomed by the great High Priest and his "better sacrifices." HG337:4

So styled in the embryo state; speaking of all who become united to Christ, of every faithful believer anointed with the holy Spirit. R5616:4

Now is the time, in the dawning of the great antitypical Jubilee, when all the priests are to blow upon the silver trumpets, making known to the world the riches of God's grace about to be revealed. R4671:6

The saints of this Gospel age are an anointed company--anointed to be kings and priests unto God. A81

The Christian worthies are promised that they shall be a Royal Priesthood; while the promise to the Ancient Worthies is that they shall be made "princes in all the earth." (Psa. 45:16) 5859:3

"Consider the High Priest of our profession." (Heb. 3:1) T22

The privilege of prayer, of approaching God in an acceptable manner, is confined to the antitypical Royal Priesthood. R5692:5

One of the many titles applied to the Church. We are not to try to blend all the various titles yet all are appropriate. R398:3

Prepared for a purpose so that after their development and trials to be changed like their Lord and to share his glory, honor and work as members of the great Messiah. NS513:6, 393:4

An holy nation -- A nation is a body of people united under one government and having common interests and bound by mutual obligations and mutual consent, either expressed or implied, to conserve those interests.

R1567:3, 3621:5

The Church; composed exclusively of saints. OV184:6; R4787:3, 3753:2, 3597:4

Typified by the Jewish nation. B75, 246; R5461:1, 2604:3

A new nation, God's nation, in the world, but not of it. R5825:3, 2276:3

Among the Jews, the "Israelites indeed" became the nucleus, or start, of spiritual Israel. R5817:6; NS642:3

When the foreordained number shall have demonstrated their loyalty even unto death, then this holy nation will be complete; then the blessing of all the families of the earth will proceed. R5817:6, 3753:2

God recognizes no nations except Israel of the past and spiritual Israel of the present. R5626:2

The Kingdom privileges or opportunities which were first offered to natural Israel were transferred to spiritual Israel, whose existence began at Pentecost. R4593:6; HG386:1

This "holy nation" was founded by our Lord Jesus, and had no existence before his advent. R2127:6

First, the saintly Jews were taken to be the nucleus of the new nation, spirit begotten, heavenly. Subsequently, the selective processes have continued throughout this Gospel age. R4787:3

All who compose this holy nation shall, so far as possible, "live peaceably with all men," avoiding strife and contentions, except where principles are involved. (Rom. 12:18) R2128:3

This "holy nation" looks to a higher King and higher laws than any by which others are governed. R2128:3

Christ comes to reign, and has promised that his "holy nation" shall be associated with him in the reign of righteousness, wherewith he will "bless all the families of the earth." R2128:4

The word nation signifies "people" or "generation"--these generated ones, begotten of the holy Spirit, are the new nation that God is forming. CR304:1; R5626:6

Christians are not to be unequally yoked with unbelievers. R4776:6

Contemplating the complete subjection of every other power to universal peace and happiness by the aid of the Sword of the Spirit. R3621:5

No earthly kingdom is God's Kingdom except in the sense that Peter declares the Church to be the holy nation. R5680:2

It is this "holy nation" in its preparatory and embryotic condition that is referred to in the parables of the Kingdom of heaven. R2276:3

"The Kingdom of God shall be taken from you and given unto a nation bringing forth the fruits thereof." (Matt. 21:43) R2604:3 Spiritual Israelites which God is now gathering out of every kingdom, people, nation and tongue to be the Kingdom of heaven, and to rule and bless all the families of the earth. R2364:2

The begetting of this holy nation began at Pentecost. The birth will be the resurrection. OV184:6

A peculiar people -- A people for a purpose. (Diaglott) R5825:3, 5057:2, 4725:1, 1149:6*; OV358:5

Separate from the world; in the world and yet not of it. R3621:3

Different from others, possessed of a special love for that which is just, noble and good. R2726:4

They have the spirit of Christ, a spirit of full consecration to the Lord; are self-sacrificing and know no will but the will of the King; adhering to the Word of the Lord as their only law; have a decided faith and act zealously in harmony therewith; they know the truth and are able to give a reason for their hope, while others merely speculate and wonder and doubt. R2128:2

We are a peculiar (separate) people in the sight of the Lord, implying that God has done something special for us. R5461:2, 3621:2, 1567:2

Changed from human to spiritual nature by the power of the truth. R3621:3, 1567:3

During the Gospel age God is calling out a special people. R5460:3, 2276:3

They are new creatures in Christ; they have been purchased or redeemed with his precious blood. R5461:5

Priests do not exercise kingly authority, nor kings, condescend to priestly services, but in this peculiar people, the priesthood and kingship are united. R2128:4

Not striving for the things of the world. R2146:4

They have one particular important work given them of the Father to be done, hence they cannot take part in worldly reforms. R5462:1

Not peculiar in dress, manner, language, or foolish or senseless forms and idiosyncrasies. R2128:2

"Zealous of good works." (Titus 2:14) E30; R5461:5, 2510:5

That ye -- Every member of the priesthood. F242, 295; R1433:4

All; male and female. R1549:1, 5807:5; Q514:4

Should be living epistles known and read of all men. R3211:2

Should shew forth -- Sound forth--in our words and deeds--the message is too good to keep. R5441:2, 5229:3

God's people who have everything to rejoice in will seek to lift high the royal banner, to tell the good tidings of great joy to the extent of their ability and to cooperate with all others who are thus doing. 3777:5

This should be the chief business of all the saints. R942:4

The anointing we have received is for this very purpose. We are to have the courage to speak our convictions. R5547:1

We are to exercise our function of ambassadorship. R5720:3

By constantly yielding to the influences of the Spirit of God. 3656:5

We are light bearers for the benefit of others--burning and shining lights, sympathetic and helpful lights. CR126:1

The new creation is called to preach, not by ambitions or imaginations, but by the Word. F295

The praises -- A heart filled with the spirit of love, the spirit of God, the spirit of the truth, and overflowing with the same will be sure to bestow it upon others. R4770:5, 2444:1

Witness to the world by faithfulness to the principles of righteousness. Not to convert the world but to gather out the elect Bride of Christ. R5053:1; F90, 92

Virtues of character and plan. R2129:5, 2133:3 By pointing men directly or indirectly to the Lord. R5358:1

God wishes his praises to be known because his praises will show to his creatures the great blessings he has provided for them. R5461:2

Israel gave glory and praise to God for their deliverance from the bondage of Egypt. How much more should those who have tasted of God's grace and goodness show forth their praises unto him. R3998:6

All who are spirit-begotten have the authority to preach and to teach as messengers from God to the extent of their opportunities. OV160:5

The Lord's servants are light-bearers for the benefit of others, burning and shining lights, sympathetic and helpful lights. R4967:4

Our commission is not to break hearts, but to heal them; to pour in the gracious promises of God's Word, sympathetically. R5521:2

Each one begotten of the holy spirit, love, should seek to let its light so shine out, through all the avenues of communication with his fellow creatures, as to glorify his Father in heaven. R4917:5

If we do not let our light shine we are unworthy of it, and the treasure will be taken away and we will be left in darkness. R3199:6

"That men may see their good works, and glorify their Father which is in heaven." (Matt. 5:16) R5057:2

All who have received the ordination of God have the authority to preach. However, sisters cannot preach as do brethren. They are fully ordained to make known the good tidings but not in a public way. OV514:2

Who hath called you -- With this heavenly calling, not for our own sakes merely, but for his own glory and the blessing of others. R5890:2

The underpriests call is of God. R4528:3

Out of darkness -- In permitting us to brush away the veil of superstition, misunderstanding and mistranslation. R4783:3

We must remember that we were equally in the dark but a short time ago, and that our neighbors and friends are no more responsible for being in the dark than we were. R5521:2

His marvellous light -- This light has an effect upon the world, reproving them and setting before them an example of better living, better thinking. R5057:2

The holy Spirit becomes the illuminating power in the life of these. R4746:2

If we possess the spirit of that new nature we will be active in the service of God's truth now; living epistles known and read of all about us; an honor to him who called us. R4809:6

1 Peter 2:10

The people of God -- As the Bride of Christ, she will be his companion, his confidant, his peculiar treasure. R1820:3

1 Peter 2:11

As strangers -- Obedient to the laws, may look for protection under the laws, but not compelled to fight against their King. F594

1 Peter 2:12

Conversation honest -- Words of truth and soberness. R4805:6
God-likeness certainly cannot include any harmful gossip, any unclean or unholy conversation, any disloyal or rebellious words. R1938:5

Speak against you -- We are to rejoice, even if we are called to suffer persecution for his sake. R5462:4

Glorify God -- By our good works and kindly spirit. R5556:6

Day of visitation -- Of their visitation; in the future. SM153:1

Shows a distinction between the day of the world's visitation and the day of the Church's visitation. R4993:5

This Gospel age is the day of our visitation, when in the divine favor we have forgiveness of sins and are brought into relationship with the Father. R4993:5

The present time is not the world's, but the Church's visitation. R5084:1

1 Peter 2:13

Submit yourselves -- Christians are to be subject to the worldly powers only in the absence of a contrary admonition from God. R5840:4

We are not to submit ourselves to each other but to the Lord and to each other by the will of God to whatever extent we recognize the Lord's leading and guidance through one another. NS381:5

To every ordinance -- Except when conscience would be violated. R2799:5

Including the Sunday ordinances. R3753:5

The laws of this land do not compel any man to violate his conscience by working on the seventh day or any other day. R1732:2

The spirit of submission, rather than of contention, is enjoined upon the whole Church. R1553:2

For the Lord's sake -- So that his spirit or disposition may be manifest in you. R1553:2

Honour all men -- Respecting them according to their character or office, and obeying the laws, does not necessarily mean a participation with the world in the functions of government. F593

The Apostle points to justice as a consideration for rendering honor, respect and service; honor to whom honor is due. R1556:4

Love -- With agapee or higher love which would gladly lay down life for the brethren. R2807:5

The brotherhood -- Because of God-likeness in their good intentions, and that they have given their hearts to the Lord. R4984:6

Only in proportion as we see character-likeness to Christ can we truly love his followers; where the brother's flesh is much fallen, we have largely a compassionate love rather than a loving admiration. R4984:6

Fear God -- Perfect love casts out slavish but not reverential fear. R2986:6, 2289:6

He who loses the fear of God, and the fear of losing the great prize which God has held out before us, is in a very dangerous position. R2289:5

"He that feareth him and worketh righteousness, is accepted with him."
(Acts 10:35) R2289:6

Honour the king -- Kings are not always personally worthy of honor; but honor is always due to the office, which is "ordained of God." (Rom. 13:1) R1555:5

With all fear -- With caution, lest you offend. R1553:1

1 Peter 2:19

Endure grief -- This is acceptable to God as a sacrifice of sweet incense. R4805:4

Suffering wrongfully -- It is better to suffer wrongfully than to be contentious, even for our rights. R1553:1

Let us see to it that our sufferings are for righteousness' sake only, let us not charge God or our neighbors for sufferings due to our own faults. R1938:5, 4805:5

1 Peter 2:20

And suffer -- Jesus suffered when he was doing right; and so that is what the Church is doing. CR173:5; NS215:1

Take it patiently -- Uncomplainingly. R3889:4

1 Peter 2:21

Even hereunto -- Not to expect to have outward and tangible manifestations of God's favor, but to suffer with Christ. They learn that they must be obedient and appreciate what obedience means. R5712:3
To develop our own individual character; to fight a good fight; lay hold on eternal life; to get the blessings which God has invited us to have. SM635:1

Were ye called -- Called to "glory, honor and immortality." (Rom. 2:7) R3913:5

The true saints must all suffer; for as Paul forewarned, we must "through much tribulation enter into the Kingdom of God." (Acts 14:22) R5696:3
"Think it not strange concerning the fiery trials that shall try you, as though some strange thing happened unto you." (1 Peter 4:12) R5422:4
The Apostle urged the Church as soldiers; as a priesthood; as disciples; as the Body members; as living stones of the Temple; as a chaste virgin, espoused to one husband, Christ--these are all variations of the same call. R399:4

Christ also suffered -- The Head suffered first. R218:4

The Master learned what obedience meant "by the things which he suffered." (Heb. 5:8) R5712:3

Jesus suffered even unto death, and we are to do the same--have "fellowship with his sufferings." (Phil. 3:10) R80:3

Leaving us an example -- Leaving you a copy. (Diaglott) R233:3

Contend only for such things as our Redeemer would have contended for. R4900:4

Perfect in his example, which we should follow. R1810:3*

Ye should follow -- Jesus was the Head and forerunner of the Christian Church, none preceded him as members of the Church. B202

With Christ we present ourselves in harmony with everything written in God's book, to do his will even unto death. R5690:5

This is our privilege to "fill up that which is behind of the afflictions of Christ." (Col. 1:24) R218:4

Abraham and the prophets could not be counted part of The Christ because Jesus had not yet come to set the example. How proper it is that a leader should precede the followers. R218:4

His steps -- Presenting oneself a living sacrifice and faithfully carrying out the consecration vow as did Christ, until the sacrifice terminates in death. A196

Jesus did more than render to every man his due, he sacrificed his own rights on behalf of mankind. R5005:3

To follow in the Lord's steps of humiliation and sacrifice, even unto death, is no light undertaking. It is the means by which we can become partakers of the divine nature with our Lord. R1262:6, 234:4*

The Golden Rule was the one by which our dear Redeemer's every action was measured, and it is essential to and incumbent upon all those who would be his disciples, his followers to thus walk in his footsteps. R2689:2, 3586:1
None prior to Jesus' time could have been invited to present their body a living sacrifice. R5774:6, 218:4

The steps Jesus trod were steps of suffering. If we follow in the exact footsteps of another we always arrive at the same destination. R233:3

We must continually lose our mental and moral likeness to the world and be more and more conformed to the image of our Lord. R1007:2

1 Peter 2:22

Who did no sin -- He was uncontaminated by his mother's imperfections. R777:2

While all other men are sinners by nature. R776:2

To the reckoned sons, Jesus' brethren, no sin is imputed. R489:4*

Our Lord was a very sick man in the Garden of Gethsemane. But personal sin could not have been the cause of sickness in him for we are told "And in him is no sin." (1 John 3:5) R2767:1*

1 Peter 2:23

When he was reviled -- To be reviled is to be made to appear vile, to be evil spoken of, slandered. R5172:3

His doctrines were disputed and he was slandered as a blasphemer. R4802:6

Finally they reviled him to the extent of crucifying him between two thieves. R5678:6

"Yea, and all that will live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution." (2 Tim. 3:12) E191

It is part of the divine will throughout this Gospel age to allow his faithful servants to suffer reproaches even as in the case of the Master.

R5189:3

Reviled not again -- Jesus did not retaliate. When evil things were spoken of him he did not speak evil of those who did him injury. R5678:3

Jesus could have contradicted the Jews, telling them the Devil was working with them, etc. But he did not render evil for evil. R4802:6; CR492:6

At our Lord's trial he was charged with blasphemy, the rabble felt at liberty to abuse Jesus and show their contempt by spitting upon him and smiting him, yet he did not revile against them. R4711:5

No matter how much we are reviled, we are not to revile in return; instead, we are to bless. R5172:3, 4483:6

If the person who has slandered us is in difficulty and needs help, we are to overlook altogether what he has done to us, and be just as ready to help them as any other person. R5172:3

Nor should we under any circumstances leave the Holy to render evil for evil. We must follow in the footsteps of the great High Priest. T63

Our Lord's teaching is all the opposite of the spirit of reviling.

R5172:3, 4978:4, 2412:5

If under pressure we revile in return, and slander and backbite, we thus demonstrate our unfitness for a place in the Kingdom. R5173:2, 4802:6

We can hate the sin, but not the sinner. R4978:4, 2412:5

We are not to attempt to retaliate upon our enemies by doing them evil, or in any manner to "get even with them." This also includes our thoughts.

R3136:4

1 Peter 2:24

Bare our sins -- Paid the penalty for our sins which became the full satisfaction of justice. E461; R1058:4, 324:2

The ransom for our sins has been paid by Jesus. R199:3

That is, he bore the punishment of our sins there--death. R387:1

"For to this end Christ both died and rose, and revived, that he might be Lord (Master--or have authority over) both of the living and the dead."

(Rom. 14:9) R464:1, 641:6

"And not for ours only, but also for the sins of the whole world." (1 John 2:2) R866:4

All the sacrifices of the Law pointed forward to the great sacrifice for sin slain on our behalf. E446

Own body on the tree -- On the cross; necessary for the salvation of the Jew. R4868:6, 4869:1

The special sense in which Christ was made a curse for the Jew Paul has stipulated in Gal. 3:13, 14. This was to hang upon a tree--the extreme penalty of the Law. (Deut. 21:23) R4868:6

Ye were healed -- Greek, iaomai; to heal. Applied only in a moral or spiritual sense. R4099:5*

If we accept by faith God's arrangement for us in Jesus, our shortcomings are made good. R5005:2

1 Peter 2:25

Shepherd -- The Heavenly Father, the "Great Shepherd," sent his Son to be our "Good Shepherd" and to bring back to the divine fold all of the sheep that are desirous to return. R4278:6, 2431:4

Bishop -- Caretaker. R2706:6

There is one great Bishop or overseer, who, from time to time, raises up and sends his own special messengers to uncover truths. But our Lord retains the Bishopric himself. R1575:5, 670:6

1 Peter 3

1 Peter 3:1

Be in subjection -- Not in a spirit of slavish fear, but in a reverence of love and devotion such as the Church has for Christ. F498
Every woman who usurps the place of the head of the household is surely doing injury to herself and the best interests of her family, even though she may seem for a time to prosper in her wrong course. R5168:4

1 Peter 3:2

Chaste conversation -- Conduct. R1553:2
Coupled with fear -- With carefulness to avoid giving offence. R1553:2

1 Peter 3:3

Outward adorning -- Leading to pride, causing envy and hindering sacrifice. F596

1 Peter 3:4

The hidden man -- "Though our outward man perish, yet the inward man is renewed day by day." (2 Cor. 4:16) F675; R2231:6
Is not corruptible -- Greek, aphthartos; that which cannot corrupt, decay, or lose value. E398; R204:1
And quiet spirit -- Greek, pneuma; mind, disposition. E312, 319
Price -- Value. R2311:6, 3214:6, 2544:6

Not afraid -- Not fearing. (Diaglott) R1553:5
Any amazement -- Any terror. (Diaglott) Any evil results. R1553:5

Dwell with them -- Your wives. R1553:2
According to knowledge -- Wisely and generously. R1553:2
Exercising a sound mind in the use of man's highest natural power, procreation. E262
Honour unto the wife -- Taking pleasure in her progress and in all her noble attainments and achievements. R1553:2
The weaker vessel -- Using your strength for her support and encouragement and not for her oppression. R1553:2

Of the grace of life -- Its favors and blessings. R1553:2

1 Peter 3:8

Finally -- Not primarily, but in the glorious consummation. It requires long years to reach this condition. R2877:2

All of one mind -- Harmony does not mean alikeness. Rather it signifies unity with diversity and is more desirable than a sameness. R2877:1

The final result of discipline and instruction in the school of Christ. R2877:5

Love as brethren -- Express your love with only such manifestations as would be proper between brethren. R2213:3

Brotherly love; the Lord's followers should love as brethren, as true brethren ought to love. SM697:2, 703:1

Such a high standard of love! How many of us, how few of us, have ever realized the standard of brotherly love that would be appreciated by our Lord--the standard that he demands as a condition of our being his brethren. SM703:1

The increase of knowledge, combined with the increase of selfishness and with the high tension at which people are now living, affects the increase of crime and the decrease of brotherly love. SM699:1

Love commands that we think as little evil as possible of one another; and that we judge each other's motives generously, charitably; and that we screen each other's imperfections from others, except where principles are involved. R1845:2

"He laid down his life for us; and we ought to lay down our lives for the brethren." (1 John 3:16.) Love for the brethren will be one of the final and most searching tests in which seemingly many will fail. R2453:4

Love for the brethren is set forth in the Scriptures as one of the indisputable evidences of our having attained membership in the Body of Christ. R3932:1

This love ignores wealth, education, earthly standing--ignores the flesh and takes cognizance of the spirit, the will, the heart. R3932:3

This love will not only overlook various weaknesses and imperfections, but is ready to lay down life on behalf of the brethren because they belong to Christ. R3932:2

We learn to love all mankind, even those who misunderstand us and are therefore our enemies; we learn to love all these as brethren. Not as brethren in Christ, but as brethren of the one family of Adam. R3933:2

Be pitiful -- Sympathetic, tender-hearted. R2654:5; SM697:1

Be courteous -- Humble-minded. SM697:1

Evil for evil -- Let us be like our Lord who, when reviled, reviled not again. (1 Peter 2:23) R4483:6

Forbearance to resent injuries and revilings. SM703:1

Railing for railing -- Reviling for reviling. (R.V.) SM697:1

Contrariwise blessing -- By meekness and gentleness, patience and love, show the more excellent way. R4502:1

Thereunto called -- For hereunto were ye called. (Revised Version) SM697:1

Inherit a blessing -- To be God's agency during the Millennial age for bringing blessings to the world. R2879:5

Tongue from evil -- Neither a back-biter nor one who listens to a back-biter will get into the Kingdom. R4240:5*

1 Peter 3:12

Eyes of the Lord -- Even as God's eye is always upon us, so parents should have their children know that their eye and God's eye is always upon them. R1097:4*

Ears are open -- The thought, care and interest of our Father and Jesus will be constantly upon us. At any instant we may engage the special attention of either or both. R1865:2

Unto their prayers -- The providence of God over his sons is a very particular providence. R1561:3

Them that do evil -- Punishments will be adapted to the nature of the offenses, always with the benevolent object in view being man's permanent establishment in righteousness. R2613:5, 2596:4, 723:4

That will harm you -- The opposition of evil can really only work good to the elect. R1956:2

1 Peter 3:15

Sanctify the Lord God -- The truth was intended for this particular purpose--"Be ye holy that bear the vessels of the Lord's house." (Isa. 52:11) CR437:2

And be ready always -- Regardless of the hopes and doubts of others. Always to be done in meekness. R1536:3

Every member of the Royal Priesthood is anointed to preach to individuals. F258

The reading of tracts might be God's way of making ready your answer.
R201:2

To give an answer -- "Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth." (2 Tim. 2:15) R340:1

The majority of Christians, because of carelessness, and not knowing what they believe, are unable to do so. R5640:5, 5052:6

From the Word of God. Only this storehouse contains an exhaustless supply of things new and old together with meat in due season for the household.

A25

Those who can give an answer are the ones who have hearkened to the Word of God and know their God. NS495:6

A reason -- Ability to reason is the noblest faculty of the human mind--it is a prominent mark of the divine likeness; it gives to man his superiority over the brute creation and makes him a creature worthy of eternal life; it makes him capable of communion with God, and capable of knowing and loving and serving him. R1565:3

Divine truth is set before us--consistent with itself and with the divine character in every element and feature. It is presented with all the power and force of logical deduction so that our faith in his plan might be a reasonable faith enabling us to give our fellowmen a reason for our hope. R1565:3

While it is true that without faith we cannot please God, it is none the less true that without reason we cannot please him. R1566:2

Since God thus honors the human reason, this likeness to himself which he has bestowed upon his human creatures, who are we that we should despise it, ignore it, or degrade it, or teach others to do so? R1566:2

Human reason cannot attain full development except under the divine instruction; and only the meek can receive such instruction and be truly wise. R1566:6

It is right that we should always hold the deductions of our reason in abeyance to God's superior wisdom, as he may reveal it. R1566:3

Human reasoning which fails to recognize the metes and bounds of divine revelation is earthly, selfish, and eventually devilish, leading to envy, strife, confusion and every evil work. R1567:1

Thus these two extremes, of underrating and of overrating human reason, are seen to be fraught with evil consequences; with the loss of the truth, of the divine favor, and of the blessings which can reach us only through the channels of inspired truth. R1566:6

The wisdom from above, that reasons on the basis of divine revelation, is first pure, then peaceable, gentle, easy to be entreated, full of mercy and good fruits, without partiality and without hypocrisy. (James 3:17)

R1567:4

No Christian should be ashamed to be asked a reason for his faith, and he should be so thoroughly informed respecting the divine message as to be able to give it. R5132:2

The hope -- The faith. R4588:2

Our hope is that the curse of sin will be removed; that the reign of evil will come to an end; that all hearts shall be made glad; that the crooked shall be made straight, and the rough places smooth; and that a great jubilee shall come and all men shall be set free from captivity of death. R349:3*

Also that the earth itself shall feel the change, and that instead of thorns and thistles and poisonous plants, healthful productions and life-giving fruits shall take their place. R349:4*

Our hope that the blessings to mankind will be permanent and lasting is guaranteed because God will establish a government in the heavens which shall rule over all in truth and righteousness. R349:5*

It is the hope of being made perfect in Christ, of being made partakers of the divine nature. R351:4*

But before we can come into possession of this hope there is much suffering and trial to be endured; there is the "dying daily" until we are dead with Christ. R351:5*

"And every man that hath this hope in him purifieth himself, even as he is pure." (1 John 3:3) R351:5*

Meekness and fear -- Fear lest we become a castaway. R349:5*

1 Peter 3:16

Speak evil of you -- To speak anything that is derogatory respecting another, to tell things uncomplimentary of them, is evil speaking. R4281:2

The Lord's Spirit, as well as his Word, forbids evil speaking. R4281:2

The speaking of anything that is prejudicial to the character of another, whether it be truth or falsehood, is evil speaking in the proper acceptance of the term. R4281:2

1 Peter 3:18

For Christ also -- "Christ died for our sins." (1 Cor. 15:3) E442; R3066:2

Suffered for sins -- Death, not eternal torment. R3167:2

He suffered death on account of sin. R4428:6, 710:1

To open up for us and for all a way of reconciliation with God. E446

It was necessary before this sentence or curse could be removed that a satisfaction of justice should be made. R5640:6

By virtue of his sacrifice for our sins we are made acceptable with God, and the condemnation against us as members of Adam's race is set aside that we may have a new start. R3985:3; E446

Just for the unjust -- The redemptive work of our Lord Jesus, accomplished at Calvary making possible a recovery from the death sentence. R4552:1, 4553:2, 5126:4; NS838:1

To make reconciliation for iniquity. SM150:1
That he might become the great Mediator. Q197:T
Jesus died for Adam and his race. OV349:T, 198:2, 139:2; SM29:1; NS731:2
Typified by the sacrifice of the bullock. R4493:1
That all of the unjust--every member of Adam's race--might have the opportunity of returning to divine favor. R5425:6; SM402:T
Jesus took the place of the original sinner, Adam. Purchasing him back from the death sentence meant the purchase of all who died in him. R5578:3, 4352:2; PT387:4*; OV131:3
The just one for the unjust many. R391:1, 387:2, 280:3
Jesus died sacrificially. SM561:2; HG651:3
He died willingly, a sacrifice for our sins. R608:1
The demands of justice must be paid, before the work of restitution could begin. R4792:6
There was a mortgage held on the human race by justice, and their case was hopeless unless a redeemer should be provided. R5433:2, 4552:3
Jesus vindicated the justice of the Law and satisfied its claims upon us by giving himself as our substitute, flesh for flesh--his life for the life of the world. R677:2*, 1336:6*
The full penalty of the divine law against us, was the deprivation of life. R4793:1; NS478:3
Jesus, at 30 years of age, was ready to be offered as an acceptable sacrifice of sweet savor to God, on behalf of mankind. R4958:4
Crucifixion was the only way in which our Lord's death would be of full value and accomplish the purpose intended. R5126:4
"Behold, the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world." (John 1:29) R779:2
"He gave himself a ransom for all." (1 Tim. 2:6) A156
Unjust sinners. R199:3
This was only one step in the route to man's reconciliation. Had the Redeemer remained dead the result would have been nothing. NS570:6
Both the heavenly and earthly salvation were made possible by our Lord dying the just for the unjust. OV253:3
It is not enough that God's justice has been appeased. It is necessary further that the Redeemer should grant the required assistance to the redeemed for their deliverance from the chains of ignorance, superstition, sin and death. SM51:1
Bring us to God -- Reconcile us to God; by dying. SM29:1; R4552:1
By paying father Adam's penalty. R4552:1
Thus he opened up a new way; a way to life everlasting. R5869:6
Some during this age (the Church) and some during the period of his Messianic reign (humanity). R4715:5, 4426:2
That he might bring all back into harmony with God. R4973:2
He brings us into harmony and fellowship with God by restoring us to the just or sinless condition, which Adam lost for himself and us. R391:1
None were brought to God until Christ had died. R5774:3

Put to death -- The days of his flesh are past. R5472:4, 677:1*

The reason for Christ coming in the flesh at his first advent was to suffer death as man's corresponding price. R5917:5

Eternal torment was not the penalty. If the penalty against us had been eternal torment, our redemption from it would have cost our Lord that price. R4552:3

There is nothing in the Scriptures about incarnation. R5064:3

In the -- Omit these words, not in text. B108

Flesh -- Flesh and blood uniformly represent human nature. R611:2

It was our Lord's flesh or human nature that was given for Adam and his race. R4147:2

The flesh was consecrated to death at the beginning of our Lord's ministry, and this great sacrifice was symbolized in his baptism. R4123:6

The human nature was sacrificed forever: "The bread which I will give is my flesh, which I will give for the life of the world." (John 6:51) E151; R4123:6, 1247:5, 608:1

After Christ had fulfilled the terms of his covenant, he was put to death in the flesh and quickened in spirit. R5090:2; 5579:1, 5472:5, 5416:1, 5025:5, 3910:2, 1678:3; PD71/85

The days of his flesh are past, ended. R5472:4

When our Lord sacrificed himself, he had finished the work the Father had given him to do. Q441:T

The life he lived before his death was natural, and the life by resurrection was spiritual. R67:6*

This humiliation to man's condition was not intended to be perpetual. It accomplished its purpose when our Lord had given himself, a human being, as our ransom. E84

Flesh and blood cannot inherit the Kingdom of heaven and hence we must all be changed in our resurrection, as Jesus was, from earthly to heavenly nature. NS534:4

But quickened -- Made alive. R3376:2, 5917:5, 5829:6, 5772:2, 5580:4, 5578:6, 5352:3, 5025:5, 4657:3, 3903:4, 1995:3, 1247:5; OV353:6 Resurrected. E84; R5829:6

Our Lord was raised a quickening, a life-giving spirit. R4854:3; Q658:2

God raised him from the dead, a spiritual being. CR290:6

By the -- Omit these words, not in text. B108

Spirit -- In spirit. R5621:2, 5829:6, 5472:4, 2981:2, 2925:6, 1678:3, 720:4

Raised a spiritual body. R122:3

Made alive in spirit. R5623:4, 5772:2, 5352:3, 5222:5

As a spirit being, in the "Most Holy" condition. T58

He was no longer the man Jesus, but the glorified spirit Jesus. R4427:3

Jesus was the first to pass from earthly condition to the heavenly condition. R5772:2

Henceforth the divine Christ. R1247:5, 1228:2

God raised him from the dead a new creature of a new nature. R2797:2

After his resurrection, he appeared and disappeared, the doors being shut, to teach his disciples that he was no longer human, but a spirit being.

R5352:3, 5222:2; Q441:T; NS751:2

He did not enter into the glorious station typified by Isaac until after his resurrection from the dead. R5090:2

If Christ had been quickened in the flesh, it would be like taking back the ransom. R690:3

The ransom secures man's recovery or reconciliation, but Christ's divine life imparted to us secures eternal salvation. R47:3*

By which -- Two experiences--death and resurrection. R5043:1

The Spirit which raised Jesus from death was the same which while the ark was preparing preached through Noah to the antediluvian sinners, now in the great prison house of death. R150:1

Also -- In addition to his work done for us. R1678:3; HG727:3

Went and preached -- By example; actions speak louder than words.

R1679:4, 4177:1; SM98:1; Q672:T

By his sufferings, death and resurrection. R1679:4

In the same way that the apostle speaks of Abel, saying: "He being dead, yet speaketh." (Heb. 11:4) R5044:4

In obedience to the Father Jesus had died and then the Father had raised him from the dead. Q672:T

It was the great object lesson which the fallen angels saw that constituted to them the great sermon that gave them a ground for hope.

R5044:4, 4177:2; OV18:4

Since Jesus preached to the fallen angels we suppose some would reform and refrain from any further disobedience. Q20:T, 21:T; SM198:1

A lesson of the manifestation of God's great mercy to mankind in marking the arrangement for their redemption; and there was a possibility that he might also show mercy to the fallen angels. Q19:5, 18:4; R4177:2

Unto the spirits -- Wicked spirits; demons; angels of light who became disobedient in the days of Noah. R2843:5, 4976:1, 4521:2, 1679:1;

NS805:1; Q840:2, 670:1

"The angels which kept not their first estate." (Jude 6) R4521:2, 2843:5, 1679:2; Q670:2, 19:5

Fallen angels: "We are made a spectacle both to angels and to men." (1 Cor. 4:9) R1679:6

Not human beings, but spirit beings; not men but angels; this is clearly stated in verse 20. SM192:2

They personate dead human beings; they seek human fellowship, and try to gain possession of human beings who yield their wills; these are said to be obsessed. R2844:1

They appeal to humanity to become their mediums, through whom they to some extent communicate. R2844:1

In prison -- Restrained at the time of the flood. R4521:2, 4176:6
Restricted as respects their powers of fellowship with the holy angels, and with mankind; being no longer privileged to appear as men
(materialize). R2844:1, 4976:1, 1679:2; Q464:2
The demons were cast into Tartarus and restrained in darkness or prison by that chain. Q19:5

1 Peter 3:20

Which sometime -- Which before. R1678:3
Were disobedient -- Who left their primary estate as angels, and sought to become men, and assumed the human form. (Gen. 6:1-4) R4976:1
They were imprisoned for disobedience. SM192:2
All the holy angels were tested. PD16/25
Noah -- "A preacher of righteousness." (2 Peter 2:5) R150:1
While the ark -- Type of Christ, and the power in him which will replenish and reorganize society. A318
Was a preparing -- The Savior compares the period of his presence to the days of Noah while the ark was being prepared, not to the flood, as some suppose. R237:4*; HG24:6
Were saved by water -- It marked the close of the first dispensation. R2842:6
Noah and his family saved in that flood typified or represented the Gospel Church saved in the flood or calamity which is about to overwhelm the world. R3934:6
The Church of Christ are saved from death by their baptism into Christ, not eternal torment. SM341:1

1 Peter 3:21

The like figure -- The ark representing Christ, entering into the Ark of safety representing those who are baptized into Christ's death. The flood representing the death of the world. R3934:6
Even baptism -- The Church of Christ are likewise saved from death through their baptism. SM341:1
It is not the outward baptism that saves us, except in a figure. It represents the real. SM342:2
Filth of the flesh -- The filth of our flesh as new creatures can be washed away only by the grace of God in Christ. SM342:2
Both Priests and Levites washed in the laver in the Court. T119
The answer -- Response. SM343:1
Outward declaration. R2167:1
Acceptance of his gracious invitation. SM345:1

The resurrection -- Jesus is our Ark of safety. SM347:2

The Apostle's faith in a resurrection is not only for those now justified, but it extends beyond this small class and includes a hope for many now ignorant, sinful, unjustified. R1512:1

1 Peter 3:22

Gone into heaven -- A spirit being, exalted higher than he was before, now of the divine nature, far above angels, principalities and powers. (Eph. 1:21) R3167:3, 5252:5; HG728:2

Right hand of God -- The position of highest favor. R1679:4; A92

In power and glory and honor. R5118:6

He is not literally seated beside him at his right hand; but he has been honored with a superior station, a position above all others, at the right hand of divine power. R2935:2

Angels -- "Christ died and revived that he might be Lord both of the dead (mankind) and living (angels)." (Rom. 14:9) 1853:6

Subject unto him -- By the Father. E39

1 Peter 4

1 Peter 4:1

Christ hath suffered -- As soon as the last member shall have passed into the heavenly condition, all the sufferings of The Christ will be over. R5341:3

In the flesh -- As our Lord suffered in the flesh, so will also those who are members of the Church, which is his Body. However, while suffering in the flesh, we are also being developed in the spirit. R5173:4

Flesh and blood uniformly represent human nature. R611:2

Arm yourselves -- If any realize that they have not been zealously and voluntarily suffering with their Savior, they should arouse themselves to appeal in prayer to the Master for grace and faith to walk in his steps of voluntary sacrifice. R4921:4

The same mind -- Of determination to lay down our lives in opposition to sin. R3246:3

As Christ redeemed us by laying down his life as a willing sacrifice, so let us have this same mind, this same disposition, this same will. R5644:4

Not that we might have to experience the same amount of suffering, but the thought was with "the same mind" enabling us to be more than victorious.

R2458:5*

Ceased from sin -- Dead people cannot sin. The Lord's people, having consecrated themselves unto death, certainly will not commit sin wilfully. For to do so would prove that their wills had changed. They would then cease to be new creatures and it would mean second death. R3246:3
The sins of the mortal body were all cancelled through the imputation of the Advocate's merit and at that moment the old nature died and ceased its responsibility. The new creature which took possession of the mortal body is held responsible for its conduct. R4585:2

For the time past -- When we were natural men, before we became new creatures. R3246:6

Excess of wine -- "And be not drunk with wine, wherein is excess." (Eph. 5:18) R509:4

Think it strange -- It will cost us the good opinion and fellowship of others. E431

Those who seek for earthly offices of fame and glory now cannot understand our running for the "prize of the high calling." They consider our time wasted. R3585:3

The world will say that we are of unsound mind because we care for the better things, the heavenly things. R5094:6

1 Peter 4:5

Shall give account -- Be dealt with, corrected and disciplined in righteousness, to bring about true reformation and finally perfection of character. R1469:5

The quick and the dead -- The followers of Christ who have become dead to the things of the world and alive to the heavenly or spiritual things. Q762:3

1 Peter 4:6

For this cause -- Reason, purpose. Q762:3; R1414:2

Because we who are dead to the world and alive toward God are being called out now, as the Lord's elect class. Q762:3

Was the gospel -- The gospel is. R3247:3

Good news of our redemption and the promise of glory; it was given to us that our lives should be influenced by it and that we should be separated from the world. R150:5

To them -- The Lord's elect class. R3247:3

That are dead -- We who are dead to the world. R3247:3, 704:4

Those that are reckoned dead to sin, but alive toward God and righteousness. R1414:2

In his consecration he has given up, sacrificed, his justified human nature; he reckons himself no longer of the human nature, but a new creature in Christ Jesus. R704:1

That you might have Christ formed within you--his mind and principles. R704:4

"Let the dead bury the dead." (Matt. 8:22) All mankind, from God's standpoint, being under the sentence of death are counted as dead. Q287:4; R1987:1; CR131:5

By nature we are counted dead with the world. But because we are reckoned as having passed from death unto life in Christ, we are counted alive. Q287:4

Peter is exhorting to separateness from the world, not only of our minds but also of our bodies as ruled over by our minds. R150:5

Might be judged -- By the world. R3247:3

The outward deeds. R1414:2

By the outward appearance. R1987:2

The world still judges us according to the flesh. Q287:4, 383:2; R3105:2, 762:3, 209:5, 150:5

We are reckoned as having passed from death unto life, and have our trial here for life everlasting. Q287:4

The spiritual new creatures have their judgment time in this present life and are judged in the flesh with its weakness and blemishes inherited from Adam. Q762:3; R150:5

According to men -- Like other men; the world discerns not that the new creatures are different from other men. R3247:3, 3105:2, 704:4

In the spirit -- Begotten to newness of life. R3247:3

God is judging us according to the spirit; according to the real motive and intention. Q383:2; R3105:2, 1987:1, 1414:2, 704:4

We are reckoned as fulfilling the highest demands of the divine law to God and to man, because we are not walking after the flesh but after the spirit. R3832:1

"For this purpose the Gospel is preached to them that are dead (those reckoned dead to sin, but alive toward God and righteousness); that they might be judged of God in spirit (according to their real motives and intentions), although judged by men merely according to (the outward deeds) the flesh." (The Greek text supports this rendering, while the common version shrouds this text in mystery.) R1414:2

This shows the double nature of one begotten of the Spirit. The body still human; the spirit of the mind divine. R150:5

End of all things -- Present constitutions under the supervision of the prince of this world. R3247:4

The end of the dominion of evil, the old order of things is to be in the close of the sixth thousand years. R1187:3

The second coming of the Lord and the setting up of his Kingdom. R1187:3

The apostles perceived that a great light had come into the world, and that a turning point in history had arrived. But it was not the shining of the sunlight of the great Millennial day. R5769:3

Be sober -- Not disturbed or excited in mind. R3247:4

Guard against every approach to a spirit of pride and vainglory. R1972:1

We have a great responsibility that our tongue not be used in a flippant way which would be dishonoring to God. R1938:1

Refuse the first draught of the wine of worldly-mindedness and you will not be tempted to take the second. R1187:6

And watch -- The prize of the high calling is not for the easy-going Christian. They are urged to run with intensity of zeal and earnest striving to gain the prize. R2123:1

Unto prayer -- Communion with God is a great privilege and an evidence of his favor. R4983:1

Pray for divine assistance, to resist even the slightest encroachment of the enemy. R1187:6

1 Peter 4:8

Above all things -- In view of the fact that all who are the Lord's are, like yourselves, battling for the Lord and the principles of right. R3247:5

For charity -- A deeply sympathetic love, a fervent (burning) love for his fellows. R3247:5

Love is one of the first essentials of the Christian character. R1187:6

Multitude of sins -- Of their blemishes and imperfections; shortcomings and failures. R3247:4, 1188:1

The disposition that exposes the weaknesses of the brethren is not the love that covers. R5530:4

Use hospitality -- Liberality. R28:6*

It is an element of character that should be cultivated toward all men; it should be hearty and not merely because the Lord commends and commands it. R3247:5

1 Peter 4:10

Every man -- Each one. (Diaglott) Male or female. R1549:1

Received the gift -- A free gift. (Diaglott) R1549:1

The favors of life. R1188:1

The Lord's grace and bounty are manifold, in things both spiritual and temporal. R3247:6

So minister the same -- The responsibility of stewardship is proportionately increased. R3247:6

He who waters others shall himself be watered. (Prov. 11:25) This principle applies to everything, both temporal and spiritual. R3247:6

As good stewards -- Of consecrated money, goods, time and talents, and of the mysteries of God's plan. R820:1

It is required of a steward that a man be found faithful to his trust.

R820:1

Not only are we stewards of the consecrated money, time and talents in our hands, be they little or much; but we are also the stewards of the mysteries of God's plans. R819:6

1 Peter 4:11

Let him speak -- All who have the truth are commissioned to declare it to others. R1356:6

Not uncertainly, not doubtfully. R1882:6

Not their own opinions. R1892:1

The oracles of God -- Wisely, and in accordance with the spirit and Word of the Lord. R1937:3

Absolutely truthful, wholly reliable. R3247:6

His words should be of weight with the Church only as they are backed up by the Word and Spirit of the Lord. R1892:2

We could guess about some things, but we do not allow ourselves to guess. R5844:6

"He that hath my Word let him speak my Word faithfully." (Jer. 23:28)

Which God giveth -- And not of his own. R1357:4

Praise -- Not only are we to humble ourselves under the mighty hand of God but also to look up to him and give him praise for all that we have and are. R5284:5

1 Peter 4:12

Think it not strange -- It is reasonable that God should test severely the faith and love of those invited to be joint-heirs with his son. They must be loyal and trustful to the last degree. R3281:3, 1744:2

If our Lord had to be so severely tested to prove his worthiness of high exaltation, we should not think it strange that this happens to us. R1263:4

That we are caused to be a gazing stock. (Heb. 10:33) R5412:4

None of the candidates for these coming honors need wonder at the course of instruction, discipline and experience to which they are now subjected.

R1164:1

Many of the beloved of the Lord do think it "strange" when the fiery trials strike them, doubtless because they do not appreciate the Lord's design. R738:3

The fiery trial -- Necessary for the development of character, and for the proving of the faithful ones. OV39:T

Trials must be the portion of all who would be "overcomers." R2792:3

Chastisements and correction. R739:1

The Lord's people should not think it strange when trials come, no matter how fiery, no matter how severe. It is part of the terms and conditions of the Church's calling. R5118:3

Our severest trials come not from without, but, "From among yourselves shall arise false brethren" (Acts 20:30), to injure the flock in general, through personal ambition. R5118:3

They come like fiery darts from our great enemy--Satan. R1744:4

Through which only the gold, the silver and the precious stones will pass unharmed. R5097:5

We must not be disappointed and allow our faith to falter when the test of patient endurance is applied. R5802:6

Such chastisements are thus a demonstration of God's love for us and of his desire that we make our calling and election sure. SM650:1

It was necessary for the Captain of our salvation to be tempted and tried, tested and proved; much more is it necessary that we who are children of wrath, and justified through his grace, be thoroughly proved as respects our loyalty. R3059:6

We are to expect a testing in the end of this age, just as there was a testing of the Jewish nominal Church in the end of its age. R2496:4

Trials of faith and patience and love and endurance are as necessary to our development and our fitting for the high position to which we are called, as are the instructions of divine grace. R1744:2

The fires of the purgatory (periods of purgation) in which God has been thus destroying our weaknesses and cleansing are purifying unto himself the Gospel Church. R1316:4

The Jewish and the Gospel ages have been purgatories or periods of purgation. R1316:4

If we would purchase the gold tried in the fire, it must be at the cost of faithful and constant submission to the discipline of the Lord in the fiery trials which are necessary to consume our dross and refine our gold. R1944:2, 2971:2; NS447:5

Our Lord likens our Christian faith to a house, and represents the trials in the end of this age as a great storm which will beat upon every house, with the result that all that are founded upon the Rock will stand, and all founded upon the sand will collapse. R2496:4

Some of these trials come from the enemies without, but the Christian's greatest enemy is his old self, or carnal nature, against which the spirit within, or new nature, wars. R199:4*

"Whom the Lord loveth he chasteneth, and scourgeth every son whom he receiveth." (Heb. 12:6) R569:3

"No chastening for the present seemeth to be joyous, but grievous." (Heb. 12:11) R1744:1

"The trial of your faith being much more precious than of gold that perishes." (1 Peter 1:7) "He is like a refiner's fire." (Mal. 3:2) "Many shall be purified and made white and tried." (Dan. 12:10) R1823:2
Its primary reference is to a great tribulation in the end of this age, through which all except the Little Flock may be expected to pass. NS358:5; SM726:1

Necessary that every element of the spirit of leaven, of corruption, of sin may be destroyed so far as our heart intentions are concerned. NS350:3
Which is to try you -- The Church. R266:6

That is to do a purifying work. R5778:5

The Lord is the refiner purging out the dross that we may be made ready to share with Christ in the Kingdom of glory, honor and immortality. R5118:3
To prove you, strengthen your character, cause the principles of truth and righteousness to take deep root in your heart. R1744:2

All who are the Lord's people have trials and difficulties. By sharing them with our brethren in testimony meetings, we learn to sympathize with one another. F320

Our Master left us a portion of his cup that the Father poured for him. R5545:6

Since the trial of our faith worketh patience, experience and hope, and is needful for our perfecting in holiness, the Father will not hinder us from having temptations, even though he himself tempteth no man. (Jas. 1:13) R2005:3

Some strange thing -- New; unforeshadowed. R2792:3, 266:6

1 Peter 4:13

But rejoice -- If the Lord's people find themselves involved in temptations and tribulations, instead of feeling downcast, they are to rejoice. R5459:6

Not that we enjoy tribulations, but we realize these are working for us characters pleasing to God. R5779:4

Knowing that these fiery trials are of the Lord; not that the Lord is the cause of them; usually it is the Adversary. R5778:6

Let us rejoice that we are counted worthy to suffer for Christ's sake now, so as to be counted worthy to reign with him. R740:4; SM655:2

Inasmuch as -- To the extent that. R1563:4

Christ's sufferings -- Of self-denial. R1783:1

The sufferings did not end at Calvary but continue with the members of Christ's Body. From this standpoint, the first advent of Christ--in the flesh--has been a gradual one, covering a period of nearly nineteen centuries. R3192:6, 5180:4

It is one sacrifice in the sense that it is all one Body of one Priest that is offered. R4965:3

The antitypical priesthood includes all the members of the Body and so the sufferings require all of the Gospel age to complete them. T50

That we may also be sharers in his glory. R5155:5

"Yea, and all that will live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution." (2 Tim. 3:12) R5778:3

Those who will be found faithful unto death have fellowship in his sufferings and will also have fellowship in his glory at the marriage feast. C207

Christ's sufferings were for well-doing and for the truth's sake, not for self-will or spiritual drowsiness or failure to keep his covenant. R739:1

None of us could share in the sufferings of the anointed, unless we had first consecrated and become members of the anointed company. R739:2

The sacrifice and sufferings of Christ Jesus included every item of mental and physical pain and self-denial experienced as a result of his consecration, until it was completed in death; it included the denial of all laudable and proper human ambitions; the reproach he bore from his fellow-men for the sake of the truth; and his weariness and exhaustion caused by preaching and the giving out of his own vital energy for the good of others. SM651:2; R739:2

To the extent that we share his sufferings, it must not be as chastisement for evil nor in the renouncing of evil, but a suffering wrongfully, undeservedly. SM650:2; R739:1

Sacrifice your honor, your social standing, your good name and your broad-minded reputation; for the Truth. SM655:1; R740:1

If we had no share in these trials, how could we know that we are of the Body members? R5778:6

The sacrifice consists in denying ourselves things which are lawful and proper. R739:3

If we suffer, let it be as unto the Lord, to as good purpose as possible. R1783:2

We should be careful not to interfere with the liberties of others. R1783:2

"And if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified together." (Rom. 8:17) R411:3, 1782:6

Though the sufferings of Christ were not simply the trials which he endured, yet the trials were included in the sufferings; and if they were necessary for him, they certainly are more so for us. R28:2*

It is in anticipation of our joint-heirship with Christ in glory that the fully consecrated rejoice to partake of his affliction. R1563:4

Sickness and discomfort of any sort, incurred by our energy in the service of the truth, are permitted by our Father as evidences of our fidelity and love. R2007:5

These sufferings are not such as are common to humanity, sickness, etc., incidental to sin and its penalty, death; but sufferings for Christ's sake, which means activity in Christ's service. R1782:6

In the direct service of the truth; either by telling the Gospel orally or by circulating the message in printed form or by writing of it to friends.

R1783:1

The flesh is suffering; but the new mind, the new will, has joy. R5459:6
Let us be careful not to make our sufferings subjects for boasting, as though seeking the praise of men; or of continual complainings to other members who are themselves perhaps suffering more acutely. R1783:2
Even failures may become "stepping-stones" by which we rise toward God and heaven; they may lead to a strengthening of our character, a firm determination for greater watchfulness. R5459:5
When -- A little while, shortly. R11:3
His glory -- Part of that glory shall be to crush the serpent. R11:3
Shall be revealed -- Greek, apokalupto; uncovered, unveiled. R2979:3

If ye be reproached -- But not as evildoers. R414:3
Any beheading socially or literally for the truth's sake becomes a witness of the spirit testifying to our faithfulness. R2007:5
Happy are ye -- When we have the right focus on the subject of persecution. R5544:5
Having the witness that you are a child of God. E237, 221
The spirit of glory -- The witness of the Spirit to faithfulness in the narrow way. E237
He is glorified -- Nothing glorifies God's name and character more than does the grand plan which he is showing to us, and which we preach. R214:4

Let none of you -- Not one, at any time, under any circumstances. R5274:1
Suffer -- If suffering should come upon us justly for our faults, we should not glory in it, but rather be ashamed. R2782:1
Because of ungentleness, uncouthness, or lack of the wisdom of moderation, which the Lord's Word counsels. R2493:3
Christians have been overtaken in the faults the Apostle lists but being Christians at heart meant that such wrong-doings were subsequently repented of in bitter sorrow. NS580:3
As a murderer -- Brother-hater. R2609:4
As an evildoer -- None of the Lord's people could willingly be evildoers; but through some weakness of the flesh or through a snare of the Adversary; evil deeds, even though unintentional, are to be guarded against carefully. R5274:1
We might be misrepresented as evildoers, but that would not be suffering for evil-doing. CR419:5
Or as a busybody -- Or a gossiper. R2222:2
If you were a witness to a murder it would be a duty to society to report it to proper authorities. R4281:3
One who busies himself in the affairs of others, with which he has properly nothing whatever to do. F583

Picking motes out of another's eye and neglecting the beam in your own.
(Matt. 7:3-5) F583

Contrary to the divine direction and the spirit of love; chances are that they will do spiritual injury to themselves as well as to others. R4284:1
"Sweep before your own door." Those who pay great attention to their neighbor's affairs are neglecting home duties and responsibilities. R4282:1
Mind your own affairs! If you get too busy watching others, the Adversary will take advantage of you; God neither authorized us to judge one another nor to exact justice from each other. R5274:6, 5275:4

God has never authorized his people to become inquisitors, investigators; it is a wholly mistaken idea that we are commissioned to set everybody else right. It betokens a great deal of pride to have such an idea.
R5274:3, 5275:4

The Lord's consecrated people are more inclined to be busy-bodies than are others. They have higher standards than others. There is then continually a temptation to advise and to seek to regulate everybody and everything.
R5274:1

Whoever is a faultfinder and busybody in the affairs of the brethren is doing this against the flesh of Jesus. (Acts 22:8) R5274:3

The punishment of the busybody in part no doubt will be the rupture of his own relationship with God. R5274:4

A source of difficulty in the Church, and all of God's people should be on guard against it. R5274:2

In some cases there seems to be a disposition to try to hunt up everything connected with each other, and to sit in judgment upon each other. R5274:2

The Adversary is on the alert to ensnare God's people and to develop in them the spirit of busy-bodilying and lovelessness, under the guise of duty, love of righteousness, justice, etc. R5274:3

It is one evidence of an unsound mind; a measure of insanity. R1080:2

One half of the suffering in the Church is because of busy-bodilying in other men's affairs. CR419:5

It is not necessary for us to do or say a single unkind word or act toward our friends in Babylon. R4433:1

Many bring upon themselves persecutions for being busybodies in other men's affairs. R3736:2

Our influence upon each other should be uplifting. We should not cause others to grieve. R5117:2

We are to be so busy embroidering our robe that we will not have time to meddle with other matters or affairs. Tribulations brought about by meddling add nothing to the embroidering on our robe. SM257:T

1 Peter 4:16

Suffer -- For his adherence to the doctrines of Christ. R581:3

Not the ordinary suffering common to all of fallen mankind but by following Christ's example in advocating unpopular truths and exposing popular errors. R5118:1

Either for Christian principles or Christian doctrines. R1823:4

Self-sacrificing labor, and endurance of reproach in sowing and watering Christ's doctrines. R5118:1

Suffering because the darkness hates the light and slanders the truth.

This has been so from Jesus' time all the way down. R5779:4

One of Satan's devices is to make unimportant things seem important and in this way to make people think that they are contending for righteousness sake and that the sufferings they bring on themselves in this manner are for righteousness sake. R5117:2

Because of something you have done that is right, in harmony with your covenant with God. CR419:5

As Christ suffered, not for his sins, but for his right doing. R4547:5

Avoid persecutions or sufferings for evil doing of any kind. R3736:2

We need to differentiate between sufferings that come upon the Lord's people because of sin and the sufferings which are necessary to them as sons of God, in preparation for the Millennial service and glory. NS603:4

Our natural thought would be that suffering should only follow the course of sin and that when the sinful course is abandoned and the heart given to the Lord, all the suffering should cease. NS577:3

As a Christian -- As they were known in early times. R584:3

Paul suffered as a Christian because he was loyal to the Lord and his Word. R3189:5, 584:6

A Christian is a follower of Christ, one who has cast in his lot to suffer with Christ. R5117:3

All of our experiences are for correction in righteousness and for educational purposes. R5117:6

Not be ashamed -- Not feel disgraced; if he suffer for truth's sake, for righteousness' sake. R5779:4, 2782:1

Being thankful that he has endured something for Christ's sake. R5117:6

Paul was not ashamed of his sufferings because he realized that they were endured for Christ's sake. R3189:6

Let him glorify God -- Let him be thankful for the opportunity, for on all such rests the spirit of honor; and of God. R4558:4; OV345:1

Rejoicing that they are accounted worthy to suffer for the name of Christ, and remembering that even thus also it was with our Lord Jesus. R3189:6

Judgment -- Greek, krima; final decision, sentence. F399; R2430:4
Testing, trial. This trial of the Church at its conclusion will demonstrate who are the Lord's elect. R3870:2, 569:2, 331:2, 28:6*
May be properly applied to the process of trial, or to the result of trial--the decision or verdict. In the former sense the judgment of the Church began over eighteen hundred years ago, and has been progressing ever since. But in the latter sense, it is due in the end of harvest of the Gospel age. R605:6, 414:6

During the Gospel age, the Church have been having their trial. R49:1*, 414:6, 58:3

Liberties of evil spirits with saints will be increased. The closing test or decision is in respect to character. R4311:3

Every creed of Christendom will be brought before the bar of public judgment. R1356:1

Must begin -- It began with the Head of the "house of God," Christ Jesus, who was tempted (tried) in all points like as we are. (Heb. 2:18) R569:2

His first work will be with the Church, not with the world. SM511:2; R4583:2, 4208:4, 1356:1

This testing now going on separates the true and the false, the wheat and the tares in the nominal church. R414:6, 605:6

The "wheat" class may expect to escape the world's trouble, but it will have its own trouble before. R3405:3

Necessarily it must begin with those who are highest up in that house as respects light, knowledge and privileges. R4208:4

The house of God -- The consecrated; the Church; the Temple class; the sanctified; the enlightened. R4191:2, 4583:2, 4208:4, 3870:2

Applies especially to the real Church, but also has a bearing upon nominal systems. After the fall of Babylon as a great millstone, the great distress of nations will come. R5348:6, 5268:5

The nominal church. OV297:3

The typical act of overthrowing the tables of the money changers indicates that in the end of this age judgment begins with the professed house of God and his great displeasure against those who make merchandise of the truth. R1795:5

To extend in the hour of temptation to all them that dwell upon the face of the whole earth. That which will begin with the Church will end with the world, producing the most awful state of affairs imaginable, "A time of trouble such as never was since there was a nation." (Dan. 12:1) R4311:3

Our anticipation is that the great conflict which will ultimately reach the whole world, and eventuate in the anarchy which will overthrow all law and order, will begin with the Church; the consecrated, the sanctified, the enlightened. R4208:3

God has been judging this class for more than eighteen hundred years, in order that they might not come into condemnation with the world. But in the end of the Gospel age, he is especially judging them. CR495:6
There is a house of God nominal, the professing millions, and the house of God actual, the consecrated ones, much fewer in number. The test will come first to the latter class, and then proceed to the others, ultimately culminating in anarchy. NS564:6

If the righteous -- God has promised eternal life only to the righteous.

SM304:1

The Apostle is not here referring to any class of people, but to a principle of the divine law. SM304:1

Scarcely be saved -- Would have nothing of left-over merit. SM305:T, 304:2

Those who pass the judgment of this age and win the prize of the high calling, will scarcely, that is, with difficulty, be saved. It will require all their faith, and all their effort. R606:1

For the elect class the Lord will provide special protection, special warnings, special assistances. R4293:2

Where -- What show would they have? If the divine law provided eternal life for only those who are absolutely perfect in God's sight, what chance would there be for any sinner condemned for many or few transgressions? SM305:1

The ungodly -- Those failing to recognize their responsibility to the Almighty. SM305:1

Those who do not exercise faith and put forth all their effort will not be able to stand. R606:1

It is not their privilege to claim God as their Father and Christians as their brethren. SM310:2

Those who obey not the Gospel. R4293:3

And the sinner -- Any failure to do the perfect will of God is sin. SM304:1

They are "without God, having no hope in the world," (Eph. 2:12) and still "children of wrath." (Eph. 2:3) SM310:1

The will of God -- For righteousness' sake. R1781:5, 1816:5, 1273:2

Souls -- Lives. R28:6*

Well doing -- Not in well-meaning. R1802:4*

1 Peter 5

1 Peter 5:1

The elders -- The Apostle has been addressing the elders of the Church, exhorting them to give attention to the feeding of God's flock and pointing out what should be the constraining influence to such a service. R2654:2

A position fraught with responsibilities to the Lord and to the flock, as well as with besetments to himself. R2654:5

Appointed because of aptness to teach--to point out the instructions of our Lord and the apostles upon any subject. R2654:3

They should be examples in the matter of meekness, and courtesy, so that as the brethren would copy these elders the spirit of the Lord would prevail. R2654:3

The Apostle distinctly points out that a servant is not a ruler, that a servant has no authority. R2654:2

The Lord does not raise up rulers from among our brethren in the Body of Christ, but he does raise up faithful leaders, to whom earnest heed should be given, and whose faith and example should be imitated. R1559:4

Those who have been called to the position of eldership amongst the Lord's people should consider this an honor and a privilege from the Lord but it also has great temptation and great danger. R5185:3

In seeking this position let each one remember that there is danger of the development of pride and the assumption of power. R5185:3

The term "elder" would signify an elder brother, not necessarily an elder in years, but matured in Christian character. R1894:3

Am also an elder -- To be an Apostle it was necessary that Peter be esteemed an elder. F244

Sufferings of Christ -- The sufferings of Christ, Head and Body, have been going on for more than eighteen centuries. They will be over when the last member shall have passed into the heavenly condition. R5341:3, 4710:5; T50

Our Lord was an example for all the Church who are justified through faith in his blood. R4964:6

Stephen had the high honor of being the first one of the brethren to follow the Master's footsteps in a sacrificial death. R2952:1

Partaker of the glory -- The Church will share in his glory; they have also a share in the first resurrection. R4964:6

When he shall appear, we also shall appear with him in glory. (Col. 3:4) R579:5, 263:2, 19:2

As the wife is the glory of the husband, so the Bride is the glory of Christ. We know that Christ could not come into the glory of his Kingdom (Church) until he has first gathered it from the world. R19:2, 579:5, 263:2

Shall be revealed -- Greek, apokalupsis; uncovered, unveiled. R2979:3

1 Peter 5:2

Feed the flock -- With meat in due season; avoiding teachers that have ears that itch for popularity and flattery. E284

The lambs and sheep make one flock, and there is but one Shepherd, who superintends and cares for all. R118:3*

The elders are not commissioned to shear, frighten nor club the sheep. R2655:4

Of God -- Not, your flock, your people, your church, as many ministers today speak. F231; R1523:6

"My sheep know my voice." (John 10:27) F247, 249

Taking the oversight -- To feed them with the truth, to guard them against the wolves in sheep's clothing, and in a general way, to act as their representatives. R1890:3

Not by constraint -- Requiring urging. R1892:6

But willingly -- Willing to assume the labors and responsibilities of the service. R1892:6

Not for filthy lucre -- In the early Church the elders served weekly meetings without thought of compensation; probably continuing their usual work or business for a livelihood. R1822:4

There are noble and ignoble ambitions. R5185:1

Of a ready mind -- With a desire to serve the Lord and the brethren. R2500:2, 1892:6

1 Peter 5:3

As being lords -- Ecclesiastical potentates, Doctors of divinity, etc. R3217:3

Assuming to be lords. R1895:4

Attempting to take the place of the Lord and acting arrogantly toward the brethren. R4503:2, 2446:5

It would be wrong for a class to permit an elder to "boss" it; injurious to both the elders and to class interests. R5921:3

The elders should remember that they are not the Chief Shepherd, but only the under-shepherds. R5185:3, 4772:4

If any should lord it over the flock, he would bring injury to himself as well as to the Church; he would be cultivating a spirit of pride. R5185:3

The spirit of ambition, rivalry, and desire to be greatest amongst the Lord's people is one of the most dangerous foes of the Church, not only to those over whom they rule, but also to those who will be rulers and teachers. R5268:6

Dispensing their own wisdom, or the wisdom of other men instead of the Word of the Lord. R3356:4

Peter recognized no clerical orders. OV160:5

Beginning before 325 AD, this doctrine had been growing; the bishops began to manifest the attitude that they were higher than the common people, that they were the church and the common people the laity. OV411:3
It is indeed true, that whoever exercises the gift of teaching lays himself open to increased responsibility in the sight of God and men. R2156:3

It would be just as contrary to the Lord's spirit if the class were to lord it over the elders. R4772:4

Over God's heritage -- The Church. R2446:5

Being ensamples -- Patterns of humility, faithfulness, zeal and godliness. R1523:6, 1553:3

1 Peter 5:4

The chief Shepherd -- The Lord established but one Church, and over that one Church he himself is the only "Lord" and "Head," the only authority. R1893:4

A crown of glory -- Immortality, the divine nature. A215; R1077:4

This crown that is reserved for us is conditional. CR406:6

It is the reward which brings glory, honor and immortality. R5499:3

Another name for the glory of the Kingdom, the glory of immortality, the glory of the Father's favor, the glory of being joint-heirs with Christ in his Kingdom. R3211:6

"To him that overcometh will I grant to sit with me in my throne, even as I also overcame, and am set down with my Father in his throne." (Rev. 3:21) R2732:5

In their glorified condition the faithful will be the exalted seed of Abraham with the glorious mission of blessing Israel after the flesh and all the families of the earth. NS540:6

A crown is an emblem of honor, dignity and authority. NS134:1

Fadeth not away -- The Lord will give to his overcoming Bride the crown of life "that fadeth not away." (1 Pet. 1:4) R1077:4

Submit yourselves -- We should submit ourselves as far as possible to every reasonable regulation; but when it is a matter of conscience we are to have sufficient courage and manhood to stand by that conscience so we would not violate it. Q102:2

We are cautioned not to defy the elders, nor to blindly and worshipfully follow them without proving their teachings by the Word of God. R1895:4

Unto the elder -- "Elder" has the significance of "older," yet amongst the Lord's brethren it is not merely years of natural life that is to be taken into consideration; in the Lord's family we sometimes see "babes" with gray hairs. R2654:6

Some grow more rapidly and mature more quickly than others. R2654:6

Subject one to another -- We are to be subject to the Lord and every ordinance of God; and to consider the truly consecrated people of God as a unit and to seek to cooperate one with another. R3060:5

To hear gladly from the humblest of the flock; and be willing to yield his own preference, so far as his judgment and conscience would permit. R2655:1

In humility and meekness, we are to harmoniously cooperate together as one body for upbuilding in love and all the Christian graces, and for the general advancement of the work of the Lord. R1895:4

All are so anxious to serve and so independent in their feelings that it sometimes means as many different plans and arrangements as there are members in the class; patience, forbearance and love are qualities greatly needed. R5513:6

Clothed with humility -- We must be very childlike and humble. R135:4, 271:4

No cross-grained will of ours to oppose or thwart the will of God being done in us. R271:4

Humility is one of the basic principles of a properly crystalized character. R5843:4 "Gird yourself with humility, to serve one another." (Revised Version) R5361:3, 5362:6

Justice and humility are set forth in the Scriptures as essential to the development of the proper character on the part of God's very elect. NS16:2

The humble spirit seeketh not its own, is not puffed up, does not attempt to speculate upon inflated values, does not think of itself more highly than it ought to think, but thinks soberly--neither overrating, nor underrating its own acquirements or achievements. R5185:5

Outside of every other adornment of character, and covering all others, should be this robe of humble-mindedness, the opposite disposition to pride. R2655:2

God resisteth -- Because the Almighty sees that we have nothing whatever of which to be proud or to boast. Whatever we have has been of the Lord's providence, or favoring circumstances. R5843:3

He disapproves of pride; all who are actuated by pride may be sure that the Lord will resist them, push them from him. R2655:2

The proud -- The self-sufficient, the boastful. R2700:4

Pride is selfishness gone to seed. R5185:5

The self-seeking, the proud in spirit, could not be trusted by the Lord in a high position. They might do damage to themselves and to his cause. R5414:6

Even if they become his children, they would be kept at a distance. If the proud were permitted to come nearer to the Lord it would make them more proud. R5370:4

They also resist him. R1054:1

Nothing is more dangerous to the child of God than self-conceit; it blocks the way to true progress and reformation of heart, and hinders true usefulness to others, and especially usefulness in God's service. R2060:6, 5186:1

Be especially on guard against pride and self-conceit. R3734:1
Inflated values must at some time come down to a solid basis. R1486:6
Pride is the one thing that God hates. NS745:6
Giveth -- Showeth. R2450:5, 5464:4, 2700:4
Grace -- Favor. R425:5, 5843:3, 5464:4, 3734:1, 2700:4, 2450:5, 1920:2
To the humble -- Peter emphasizes the necessity on the part of the Lord's people that they be clothed with humility. R5843:3
Only the humble will share with the Lord in the inheritance of the Kingdom. R3734:1, 5362:6
The penitent. R5464:4
All who would abide in the Lord's love have need to be very careful along this line; to keep humble, very lowly in conduct, and particularly in mind. R2450:5
It is when we are thus humble and faithful that the Lord makes us his chosen vessels to bear his name to others. R5186:4
Daniel exemplified this quality in all his dealings with the King and with God. R2493:4

1 Peter 5:6

Humble yourselves -- As "little children." (Matt. 18:3) R4380:2
Essential to all who would be of the Lord's family. R5704:4
A primary element of the Lord's spirit; a principle of divine government. R5825:5, 5844:5
Some brethren seem not to have learned the lesson of "God first, self last." R5959:1, 5958:5
There is to be no boasting. It is the great Master Workman who is doing a work upon us. R5284:5
One of the most important qualities for any of God's people to possess. R5384:3
After the example of the Master. R5981:3, 5890:1
Only the submissive will pass the inspection. R4575:6
God will especially bless those who are more lowly, meek, teachable, more trustful in the Lord. R5185:4, 5186:1
This spirit will make us very fearful of developing any pride or bombast or desire of lording it over others. R5185:4
The sentiments of our hearts should not be that of pride, but of meekness, humility, faithfulness. R5185:5
Avoid the spirit of ambition, rivalry, and the desire to be greatest amongst the Lord's people. R5268:6
The tests of the present time are tests of faith and loyalty to God, and of entire submission to his will. Without these we would be quite unfit for the Kingdom. This test comes to the Lord and the Church only during the Gospel age. R5844:2

It is indeed no easy matter to tread the pathway of humility, to continually check the human aspirations, and to keep the sacrifice on the altar until it is fully consumed. R5186:4

It is hard for those who are rich in the wisdom or power or wealth of this world to do this. R1920:2

Peter evidently had spiritual pride in mind when he wrote to the Church regarding humility. R5955:6

Submit yourself to whatever God's providence shall bring to you in life's experiences. R5261:3, 5384:3

Look up to God and give him praise for all that we have and are. R5284:5

Cultivate this humility of mind and never allow it to be lost. R4928:2

Be not heady, high-minded and worldly-wise. R4710:5

Humility is a very prominent grace in the sight of God. It comes right in as you find your weaknesses; humble yourselves and make it right with God. CR294:5; NS465:2

Only the humble-minded are prepared to learn the great lessons that must be learned before they will be ready for exaltation that would be profitable to themselves or to others. R5847:5

If we occupy a teacher's position, it should be held very humbly and with great fearfulness and continual watching and praying lest we enter into temptation and ensnare ourselves and others in error. R4380:3

If any find himself in error, instead of attempting to justify it and prove it right, let him remember the Apostle's words to humble yourself under the hand of God. R1217:6

Those being selected for the glorious privilege of the future must fully demonstrate to the Lord humility and absolute loyalty to his will, even in their secret thoughts. R4364:1

Whoever would reign with Messiah in his approaching Kingdom must humble himself in the present time. R4669:1, 4047:6

No matter how deep the humiliation which obedience to God may bring. R3561:6

Amongst the Gentiles, the rulers are lords, who do no serving, but are served, but among the followers of Jesus the rule is to be reversed; he who would serve most was to be esteemed most highly. R3363:1

Humbling ourselves under the mighty hand of God, we shall be kept from the self-assertion which was Moses' sin and typifies a cause of rejection in some of the Lord's prominent ones of spiritual Israel. R4047:6

Those who are naturally poor in spirit, deficient in self-esteem have much advantage every way over others as respects this element of character. R3733:6

This is a life work with many. E255; NS382:6

No one can wholly follow the Lord without much of the spirit of humility, without bringing his thoughts into subjection to the Lord. R5890:1

Therefore -- Because God puts a premium on humility. F90

Mighty hand of God -- Mighty power. R2655:6

To do whatever service his providence has made possible for you. R2412:2

Everything is being done by the mighty power of God, by which he is causing all things to work together for good. R5185:4

The Lord's mighty hand has not yet been stretched out to take hold of mankind in general and its affairs, to bring order out of confusion; but it is stretched over his flock. R2655:3

He may exalt you -- With ultimate victory and life everlasting. R5464:4
To be the Bride, the Lamb's wife; joint-heirs with Jesus Christ our Lord. R422:6, 5185:2

Even as he highly exalted our Lord. R2777:4

Our Lord humbled himself and God highly exalted him to the very position which Satan coveted. Satan became proud and vain in his imagination, thus losing his exalted position. R5843:3

To humble yourselves does not necessarily mean to think that we have no talent, no power, no ability. Such an attitude would be foolishness. R5843:4

The way of the cross, the way of humiliation and self-abasement, is the way to the crown, to that true honor that cometh from God only. R1916:4
If Jesus had not been humble, he would not have attained to the glorious station to which he was exalted. R5186:2

This great exaltation will be given all who are fully submissive to God's will, whether their powers and talents be many or few. R5844:3

These would not be injured by the exaltation nor deflect in the future work to which all of the Kingdom class are called. R5414:6

"He that humbleth himself shall be exalted." (Luke 14:11) R3363:1, 5988:1, 4928:2, 4708:4, 3079:2, 2860:4, 1766:6

"Humble yourselves in the sight of the Lord and he shall lift you up."
(James 4:10) E424

This is not the time to exalt ourselves and to show how we can shine. R5890:1

In due time -- After that ye have suffered a while; after he shall have made you ready for the exaltation and for the service he wishes you to perform. R1888:5, 5261:3

During the Gospel age the Church is being gathered. R5603:3, 4047:6
At the second coming of our Lord. R5185:4

Casting all your care -- Anxiety, worry, trouble of mind. R5508:3

Worries and frettings; anxieties that would hinder us in the Lord's service, that would rob us of our peace in the Lord, should be dropped, not carelessly, however, but intelligently. R5509:2

The remedy for all unauthorized over-carefulness by the elected elders for the interests of Zion. R2655:6

We cannot be faithful children of God if we are full of worry. Worry is one thing, but proper carefulness is another. R5509:4

We need carry no anxious cares respecting the future. R2260:4

Addressed to the Church of Christ. R5508:3

Let us tell the Lord all about our burdens, great and small. R5509:5

Not all of the suffering and cross-bearing come from the world's opposition to the truth. R1054:4

The Scriptures plainly teach that special trials may be expected in the Church, amongst the brethren. R5118:3

Much of the suffering comes from our faithfulness in humbling and subduing the evil propensities of our fallen nature. R1054:4

We must be tested by the hatred, the malice, the evil speaking and evil surmising of those who dipped with us in the dish, of those who partook with us of divine bounty at the table of the Lord. R4208:5

There are cares that come to the Lord's people because they are harassed by the Adversary. R5509:1

A little carelessness along these lines, and the Adversary might readily entrap us and ensnare us and then lead us captive at his will. This power of intrusion will contain we believe, evil suggestions, promoting slanders and back-biting. R4311:2

All true saints of God are care-full. They have an interest in the Lord's work, they have a care in respect to it; they cannot be indifferent to the interests of Zion. R2655:4

Upon him -- The Shepherd of the flock. R2655:6

He careth for you -- Taking thought. R5508:3

Each day that a Christian lives he should be more reliant upon the Lord. R5509:2

"My God shall supply all your need." (Phil. 4:19) R3400:4

Illustrated by the feeding of Elijah by the ravens. God did not supply Elijah with luxuries but with the absolute necessities. R3400:4

1 Peter 5:8

Be sober -- To guard against every approach to a spirit of pride and vainglory. R1972:1

What a fearful responsibility attaches to the tongue that wags in an evil, or even in a flippant way. R1938:1

Be vigilant -- It is a life work, a life battle against a mighty foe entrenched in our flesh. R1859:6

Your adversary -- Satan, and the fallen angels. R5546:4

Who backs all the tricks and lies and obsessions of Spiritualism. R2188:5

The devil -- Greek, diabolos. Satan. The term Satan signifies adversary, opponent. R5183:3

He beguiles with flattery, pride and ambition; vanquishes with despondency; attracts with the pleasure of the present life; seduces through too great reverence of human teachings; and tempts to disloyalty to God. R4525:1

Whose very existence is now denied by many. F609

As a roaring lion -- Angry. R2172:5

When the beast is about to spring upon his prey, he roars so loudly that the victim is paralyzed with fear, and thus is easily caught. R5183:6, 4988:3

Fear is one of the most disastrous things for the Lord's people to have. R4988:3

As God incites by love, so Satan incites through fear. R4988:3

Satan, the Adversary of the Church, is strong and lion-like, vigilant and fully awake. R5183:6, 2769:6

Sometimes, lion-like, when we are off guard he springs upon us unawares, stirs up the evil of the old nature, and unless desperately resisted he will take full control and drive us on to ruin. R1053:5

In the great Papal system Satan's lion-like strength has most fully appeared. R1687:4

He sometimes appears as a skulking serpent in the grass. R1053:5

Although Satan is vigilant like a roaring lion, he never attacks us with a roar, but subtly. R2770:1, 5183:6

When Satan is bound the prophet's words shall be fulfilled "no lion shall be there." (Isa. 35:9) Q825:2

Whom he may devour -- Swallow up in calamity, laying snares to separate us from God. R2769:6

To overcome us, to crush out our spiritual, life, and to destroy our faith in God. R5183:6

The Adversary opposes all who walk in the footsteps of Jesus, particularly those in public places and those active in the service of the truth.

R5142:2

Satan can make no direct attack upon the Lord, but he can attack his plan and those who believe in God. R5329:3

He has no power against us except as God permits it. R5546:4

Satan continues to use all whom he can in his service to oppose the saints. R726:4

1 Peter 5:9

Whom resist -- Our safety from the power of Satan and the fallen angels lies in the resistance of our wills. R2172:5

By not allowing his seductive arguments to have weight with us. R5184:3

By standing; to stand is to adhere to fixed principles; i.e., to "be steadfast, immovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord." (1 Cor. 15:58) R1485:5, 90:1

It is a continual battle. CR455:1

"Put on the whole armor of God that ye may be able to stand." (Eph. 6:11) R1859:2

If Satan be not resisted, the danger is that the light and the blessing received through the knowledge of God will become a curse and an injury; and that the result will be worse than before coming into relationship with Christ. R5378:5

Stedfast -- Immovable. R1627:3

Thus "we become strong in the Lord and in the power of his might." (Eph. 6:10) R4988:6

These words imply that in order to resist we must have faith; confidence in God. R2770:6

In the faith -- "This is the victory that overcometh the world, even your faith." (1 John 5:4) R1859:5

The same afflictions -- Similar. R1485:5

1 Peter 5:10

The God of all grace -- Is not vengeful, not unkind. R4982:3 Suffered a while -- And our faith has been properly tested. R4488:6

This suffering takes in all of our present life's experiences. R4750:5

Unless we are willing to endure hardness, we will not be prepared to enter the eternal glory. (2 Tim. 2:3) R5147:6

The chastisements we receive, many of which are not punishments for sins, are but preparation for the work of the next age. R5147:6

"Rejoice, inasmuch as ye are partakers of Christ's sufferings." (1 Pet. 4:13) T50

Make you perfect -- We will not be actually perfect until we attain the resurrection change. R4750:5

Stablish, strengthen -- After being perfected through suffering. R4750:4

Settle you -- Established in the faith and in the practice of the principles of the Gospel. R1053:2, 3215:5

A condition of uncertainty is not a condition of faith. R1218:4

It is our duty to have settled convictions of truth, convictions so rooted and grounded in God's Word that we cannot be moved therefrom. R1218:4

It is only through endurance as good soldiers of Christ that this desirable condition can be attained, viz., perfect self-control and ability to resist evil, established faith, patience and virtue, settled, abiding rest in Christ, and hope through his word of promise. R1860:4

Saluteth you -- It is a pleasant observation that whenever there was opportunity the Churches in one place were prompt to send Christian greetings and benedictions to those in other places. R1895:4

1 Peter 5:14

A kiss of charity -- Which we instinctively recognize in spirit, but not in letter. R1550:5

There would be nothing wrong in a kiss of love, but there is no intimation that the brethren should kiss the sisters or the sisters kiss the brethren. Q619:T, 618:5

2 Peter

General

Written about the close of the first century, and probably had not been widely circulated among the Christian congregations at that time. R1145:6
There is a touching tenderness in the epistle of the aged Apostle Peter to the household of faith, showing that, while he realized that the time of his departure was drawing nigh, his solicitude for the growth and development of the Church was increasing. Accordingly, he writes two general epistles, not so much to advance new truth, as to call to remembrance truths already learned and fully received, and to counsel all to faithfulness and to growth in grace and in the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. R3215:1

In this epistle the Apostle is urging upon the whole Church the importance of developing the fruits of the holy Spirit. Then he reminds them of the vision of the coming Kingdom which he himself and St. James and St. John saw in the holy mount. He points out the need that careful attention be given to the study of prophecy. He warns them of the false teachers who will be manifested among them. He reminds them of the condemnation and overthrow that came to the angels who turned from obedience to God, of the catastrophe that befell Sodom and Gomorrah because of their corruption, of the destruction of the ungodly in the Deluge, of the perverse and wicked course of Balaam the prophet, and its consequences. Then he charges that some of them were following his course, and next he discussed the fact that things will not always continue as they have been; that evil shall not always triumph; but that a great change impends, which will be the introduction of a new feature of the divine plan; namely, the establishment of God's Kingdom upon earth. R5863:3

2 Peter 1:1

Verses 1-13 give a divine explanation of how the holy Spirit will manifest itself and the qualities, therefore, that are to be looked for in the servants of the Church. R2446:5

An apostle -- One of the twelve. R1283:1*

Precious faith -- "The faith which was once delivered unto the saints."

(Jude 3) This is not the faith promulgated by the Higher Critics. R2137:1

With us -- The apostles. R2136:3

The righteousness -- The true foundation upon which we should build--faith that Christ's sacrifice for sin was once for all. R2137:2

God and our Saviour -- Our Lord and Savior (Sinaitic manuscript). R2136:3

2 Peter 1:2

Grace and peace -- As we grow in grace, we will grow in peace. R2137:3

The majority of Christians lack a knowledge of the things which are necessary to preserve to them the grace and peace found through their primary faith in the Lord as their Redeemer; and lack a sufficiency of knowledge to multiply these. R2136:6

Be multiplied -- If our hearts leaped for joy when we realized the first droppings of grace and peace, how should our songs abound now, with the increasing evidences of divine favor--with this multiplication now experienced. R1531:6

Such should be the experience of all who have obtained like precious faith with him. This increase of blessing should come through an increasing knowledge. R1532:1

Few know anything about the multiplication which the Apostle mentions. R2136:6

You -- Those who are already justified through faith in the precious blood of Christ. R2136:3

Through -- The Lord's grace comes unto us through the knowledge of God. NS506:4

Knowledge of God -- Intimate acquaintance with him, his character and the divine plan, gained through the study of his Word. "This is life eternal; that they might know thee, the only true God." (John 17:3) R2137:3, 2138:5; A346

The source of the Christian's strength. A346

The influence of this knowledge and fellowship with God, through our Lord Jesus Christ, reacts upon our own hearts, and has a cleansing and sanctifying effect. R2137:4

The knowledge of the truth is the sanctifying power, the peace-and-joy-imparting power, and the evidence of divine grace and favor. R1532:1

There is to be a progress in the life begun which will continue as long as we are "in this tabernacle." R2136:3

"Sanctify them through thy truth: thy Word is truth." (John 17:17) R200:5, 1532:1

2 Peter 1:3

Divine -- Greek, ho Theios, the Deity. E71

Things that pertain -- We shall be able to grace and fill whatever station we occupy in life--if we carefully study and copy godliness. R4809:2, 1114:4

Life and godliness -- God and life and godliness (Sinaitic manuscript). R2136:6

Knowledge of him -- Gained through the study of his precious Word with reverence and diligence, through the personal application of the principles of that Word in every day life and through prayer and communion with God. R1532:2

It is not only an intellectual knowledge of his great and loving plan: it includes also a personal acquaintance with God, a heart to heart communion and fellowship with him; a common interest and cooperation. R1532:2

Called us -- God requires certain conditions of those who will run in the race. R5081:3

Guilty sinners are not invited nor desired in the Kingdom. All repentant believers are called or invited to consecrate themselves to the Lord. R2941:2, 3281:1

To glory -- By his own glory (Sinaitic manuscript). R2136:3

"Out of the darkness into his marvelous light." (1 Pet. 2:9) F90

One must manifest to God that he has a strong will and firm determination, and that he has cut off everything in life in order to win the prize. R5081:4

Virtue -- Excellence. R2941:2

God requires that none be proud, but that they possess humility. He will have no one in the Kingdom of his elect who is weak, vacillating, so far as his mind is concerned. We must demonstrate our loyalty to God. R5081:3

Are given unto us -- The joint-sacrificers. E146; R5596:6, 905:4

The Church. R5596:6, 5371:2, 4218:6, 2138:3; E146, 455

Regenerates; new creatures. OV379:2

The Christ, Head and Body. R4072:1, 297:5

These are not given to inspire thankfulness and consecration, for they are given only to the consecrated to strengthen and nerve us and to enable us to "overcome" in fulfillment of our covenant of consecration. R2723:1; OV290:3

Who enter the harvest work before the door is shut. C212, 220

Jesus never neglected his own spiritual needs; for the development of himself as a new creature was his first obligation--as it is our first consideration. SM638:T

Exceeding great -- Heavenly instead of earthly, as made to the Jewish house. B207; R329:6; NS64:6

It is proper for the Lord's people to accept these great things with that simplicity which the Scriptures tell us is best illustrated in a "little child"--"nothing doubting." HG449:1

If our fellowmen are willing to endure great hardships for the trivial rewards that are theirs, what should we be willing to endure who thoroughly believe in the things which God has in reservation for the faithful? NS455:4

Precious promises -- Of God's Word. HG446:3; NS587:3; SM342:1
The Word. R1491:1

The words of eternal life spoken by Jesus. R3795:5

Of a share with Jesus in the divine nature and glory, honor and immortality. OV290:4; T65; R5580:4, 2138:1; CR252:5; HG366:6; Q39:T, 140:3

Which relate to the life which now is and also to that which is to come; which sustain and strengthen. R5806:2 These promises working in us to will and to do God's good pleasure--sanctification. Q453:2; R5126:6

Shining out as helps by the way, in letters of light. R2138:5

Incentives to our invitation to sacrifice and self-denial. R2940:6

God has provided these to us to be stimulated, strengthened, developed, thereby becoming more firm for righteousness and in opposition to whatever is sinful. SM342:1

The new creature is made strong by these in proportion as he perceives the significance of them and feeds on them. R5889:3, 4984:1

They are unfolded to us gradually, as we prove faithful and go on. C220; R1112:5

These hopes and promises are so glorious that all earthly things fade into insignificance in comparison with them. NS270:6

There is nothing that compares with them. The more we know of the plan and of the privileges which we may have in it, the more we are enthused. OV425:4

No greater stimulus can be found than these. R4929:4

So many and so precious that it is difficult to know which would rank first--perhaps 1 John 3:2. R2138:5 To whatever extent we are able to grasp the meaning of these wonderful promises, they speak to us of blessings, favors, "exceedingly, abundantly more than we could ask or think." (Eph. 3:20) SM532:1

It is when the Lord's servants get a glimpse of these promises that have to do with the coming eternity, that they begin to realize in true measure the love of God shed abroad in their hearts. CR16:1

When trials arise--call to mind these precious promises, remembering they belong to you. R5425:5

They inspire hope and courage, urging us to greater faithfulness. CR215:1; R1698:6; OV290:3

By the use of these we may make our calling and election sure. R4665:6

These are the begetting power that enters into our hearts and that the Lord uses through his holy Spirit to work in us to will and to do his good pleasure. Q39:T

The consecrated Christian has heard these, but not the worldly class.

SM388:2

The Lord will not disregard his promises; he will do all that he has said.

R5698:5

Our faith must properly grasp these or our hearts will not be moved by the message of God's grace and our prospects of becoming kings and priests in the Kingdom. HG446:3

The Church's share in the Abrahamic Covenant. R3207:3

"Ye brethren, as Isaac was, are children of the promise." (Gal. 4:28) or

Sarah covenant. R777:4; E105

That by these -- Whereby--by obedience to the call and its requirements.

A222; R271:5

The ambitions inspired by these are holy ambitions. E257

By the strength and courage which they infuse. C220; R1112:5, 1859:6

No greater stimulus to true godliness can be found. R2228:6

They were given to us to the intent that they should operate in our minds so as to influence our lives in harmony with the divine will. HG446:6

The strength and encouragement which they would afford us, as they did Jesus, to be "obedient even unto death." (Phil. 2:8) R297:4

These promises working in you, inspiring, inciting you, and showing you the course. CR335:1; R5250:4; Q316:5

Through the operation of these on our minds and hearts, our course of life should be changed from grace to grace, from knowledge to knowledge, and from glory to glory. CR34:5

When the present testing time is ended, all the faithful, those who stand the trial, will be changed from earthly to heavenly nature, and become inestimable value as inheritors of the promises and their reward, the divine nature. NS446:6

The divine nature is imparted by the "precious promises." The going forth of the word of the Lord, must have reference to the great end. R98:6*

We cannot get along without the Bible. CR325:3

Ye -- The espoused Church. CR215:1; HG624:1

New creatures. R826:6, 1881:4, 1149:2*, 777:4, 613:4, 456:6, 217:3; E105; F62

Exceptions to all other creatures either in heaven or on earth. R1879:1

Might be -- Might be enabled to so run as to obtain the promised prize.

C220; R1112:5

We might become. HG284:6, 196:5, 333:6, 358:5, 367:1, 446:6; NS455:3

Gradually attain to partakers of the divine nature. CR335:1

By the operation of the promises in our hearts, sanctifying us to his service. NS520:6

The change of nature in the present life consists of a change of mind and character, in harmony with the new hopes, aims and aspirations. R3621:3, 1567:3

The saints would be lifted up to the perfection of their nature--the divine. R413:2

"To them gave he power to become the sons of God." (John 1:12) R5859:5, 517:5*, 280:6

That thereby we may overcome self and the world. R1007:3

Might be encouraged to faithfulness and so become. R2940:6

Partakers of -- The first resurrection. R5263:5, 5199:2, 4799:2, 3132:1, 2982:6, 2051:2, 1642:4, 667:5, 474:5; E105, 396; HG299:5; OV356:3, 384:T

This description excludes the Great Company, and applies merely to the Little Flock. R5166:5; Q316:5

Instead of laboring for some petty office of an earthly kind, in accepting the captaincy of the Lord Jesus they have become heirs with him in his glory, honor and immortality. CR16:2; OV308:3

Invisible, spirit beings. "Flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God. (1 Cor. 15:50) R5199:5, 5263:5

The saints are to be made like unto Christ's glorious body, who is now "the express image of the Father," (Heb. 1:3) "the King immortal, invisible," (1 Tim. 1:17) "dwelling in light which no man can approach unto, whom no man hath seen nor can see." (1 Tim. 6:16) R4071:3, 667:6

Jehovah is the life-giver or Father of men, of angels, and of the new creatures of which Jesus is the head. Here are three natures--human, angelic, and divine. To all of these, Jehovah is Father, yet only one of them is of his own divine nature. R354:4, 816:5, 777:4

Since his resurrection Jesus is a god, greater than ever before; the church are called to the obtaining of the glory of their Lord, members of his glorious body. R5748:6

God has set before us the grandest reward imaginable for the doing of that which is merely our duty and reasonable service--which would bring us the largest measure of joy and peace, aside from a future reward. R4828:6, 2480:1

Each nature will be so thoroughly in accord with its own conditions and environments and perfection that each will have satisfaction in his own state. F63

We are called and begotten to the divine nature. After the begetting, no one can tell for a while whether he is one that will attain to the divine nature or not--be of the Great Company or Little Flock. Q39:T, 508:4
The door to this divine nature is the one that will soon shut, as our Redeemer illustrated in the parable of the wise and foolish virgins. NS803:6

The nature of ho theios, the God. E71; Q770:T
But not equal with God. R802:6

The only text to state the matter in just these words. R5580:4

Having escaped -- We are free. R4840:3

"We are saved by hope." (Rom. 8:24) A140

"There is therefore now no condemnation to them which are in Christ Jesus, who walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit." (Rom. 8:1) R1286:3, 4998:3

"If after they have escaped the pollutions of the world they are again entangled therein, and overcome, the latter end is worse with them than the beginning." (2 Pet. 2:20) E410

Unbelievers have not escaped. R4546:2, 4998:3

The corruption -- The condemnation that is on the world. R1286:3; NS6:3, 32:3, 246:5; SM665:1

We are no longer dying because of the divine "curse" or "wrath" but in view of our justification and subsequent presentation as living sacrifices, our death is reckoned as a part of Christ's sacrifice. E410

Only a few who have been blessed with hearing ears and understanding hearts are redeemed from the curse or sentence of eternal death. NS6:3, 32:3

Is in the world -- Is still in the world. R5596:6, 4840:3; A140

The great mass of mankind outside the household of faith are still under the original sentence--eternal death. NS6:3; 32:3, 246:6

Lust -- Worldly desires and ambitions. R1532:4, 2154:2

Desire, selfishness. HG446:6

The desires of the flesh. R2155:1

Our word lust has changed its meaning a great deal. In the Greek it has a much wider meaning. In the original, it means any earthly desires, for instance, the lust for power. Q451:5

2 Peter 1:5

Beside this -- Building upon this sure foundation the gold, silver and precious stones of the Word of God. R5822:1, 5152:1, 4734:1, 4372:1, 4302:1, 3694:1, 3294:1, 2750:1, 2238:1, 2055:1, 1910:1, 1750:1; A321
Such as have this hope. HG446:6

Giving all diligence -- In view of the warfare before us, of the subtlety of our temptations and of the weakness of the flesh, the faithful Apostle urges all diligence in the cultivation of the Christian graces and remembrance of the precious truths. R3089:6, 1627:5*

"Work out your own salvation with fear and trembling." (Phil. 2:12) R2155:6

Add -- While all of these virtues are imperative requirements of those who would be esteemed of God as faithful, they are only of value as they are added to, or built upon a foundation of faith. R2154:5

Cultivating Christian character cannot be done in a day; but it must be a gradual, daily, life-work; a process of addition, adding virtue to virtue, grace to grace, day by day and hour by hour. R4808:3, 5208:5, 3587:5, 3090:3, 1628:2*, 1114:5, 374:5; HG447:3

We do this repeatedly in respect to all the graces, which keep growing, developing in us and rounding out and deepening and broadening us as spiritual new creatures. R3587:5

Faith in a personal righteous God must steadily cultivate those elements of character which are always pleasing and acceptable to him and which are most essential to our final overcoming. R1859:6

To your faith -- The foundation. R5757:2, 2154:5, 1576:6, 471:1*, 136:6*

The primary qualification. R5460:1

The basis of character. R471:4*

Your "precious faith" as described in verse 1. R2154:5

In the exceeding great and precious promises. R1859:6

Your abiding confidence in the divine plan of salvation, which centers in the redemption accomplished through the precious blood of Christ. R2154:5, 4808:5, 1114:6

A "thus saith the Lord" should be the end of all controversy, the solution of all doubts and a restful assurance in every perplexity. R4808:5, 1114:3

No righteousness of our own without this foundation of faith can avail anything to commend us to God. All our works of righteousness must be built upon this faith. R2154:5

Our judgment will be according to our faith because while in the flesh we shall never be able to perform works such as God could approve. R5460:1

Not faith in every thing or every person, but faith in God--in his plan of redemption through the vicarious, or substitutionary sacrifice of Christ, and all his rich promises built upon that sure foundation. R4808:5, 1576:6, 1114:3

Built upon this foundation are the minor doctrines and those principles which must be worked out in the life. R1576:6

Faith of itself is very good as a start, but God requires more than this. HG447:1

Faith is a good thing; but faith without virtuous works is dead; and to hold the truth in unrighteousness is worse than never to have received it. R3089:6, 3090:3, 1627:5*

Faith is fundamental, and these graces are as the house of wisdom built upon it. (Prov. 9:1) R136:6*

As human wants are expressed in seven petitions, so Christian character is comprehended in seven graces added to faith. R136:6*

Virtue -- Fortitude. R5757:2, 5678:2, 5460:1, 5206:6, 4808:3,4, 3168:5, 3163:6, 3089:2, 2219:6, 2155:1, 2154:5, 2037:2, 90:2; E238; HG446:6; NS746:5; OV401:4

Strength of character in righteousness. R4808:5, 2155:1

Courage. R471:4*

It implies much more than merely abstaining from evil; but living truthfully, that is, true to his covenant, which to willfully violate would be equivalent to swearing falsely. R4808:5, 1114:3

It implies the cultivation of the strictest integrity in our dealings, both with God and with our fellowmen; scrupulous honesty, justice and truth being the only standards. R4808:5, 2155:1

True excellence of character, such as will mark you as separate from the world and its spirit. R3089:6, 1627:5*

The Psalmist clearly defines this in Psa. 15:2-5. R4808:5

Add sterling honesty, truth and fair dealing in all business relations; moral integrity, in all social relations; manifestly clean hands and a pure heart, and a bridled tongue that works no ill to a neighbor. R3089:6, 1627:4*

Our faith should be of a strong kind giving us fortitude for all of life's affairs; for all of our covenants with the Lord; for a faithful endurance of opposition, contradiction, etc. HG447:1

The Apostle implies that if we hold to our faith against the attacks of the enemy it will develop fortitude, an added grace of character. R2037:2

Virtue leads not only to passive, but also to active, goodness--in benevolent charity which seeks to alleviate suffering, to sympathize with sorrow, to comfort those in distress and to elevate and bless others.

R3090:1, 4808:5, 1627:3*

Knowledge -- Greek, gnosis. R2037:4

Knowledge of God and his righteous will concerning us as revealed in his Word. R2155:2, 4808:6, 1115:3; HG447:2

Knowledge of God's character, that we may the more thoroughly imitate it; and of his truth, that we may more fully conform to its teachings.

R3090:1, 1627:6*; HG447:2

If faith be held firmly, and fortitude of character result, this, under the Spirit's guidance, will bring the faithful one to deeper and wider expanses of knowledge. R2037:2

Give all diligence to the study of the divine oracles--neglect of this divinely appointed means of knowledge is equivalent to setting up our own imperfect standard of righteousness and ignoring the divine standard.

R2155:2, 4808:6, 1114:3

Knowledge is valuable to the sanctifying of the spirit only when we comply with the conditions that we shall mortify the self-will of the flesh and cultivate more and more of the Spirit of our Lord. R5570:1

"This is life eternal, that they might know thee, the only true God, and Jesus Christ whom thou hast sent." (John 17:3) HG447:2
Not our earliest knowledge when we came to the Lord; nor worldly knowledge. HG447:2

2 Peter 1:6

Temperance -- Self-control. R4808:3,4, 5678:2, 3168:5, 3089:2, 2560:1, 2219:6, 2210:6, 2155:2, 2037:2, 1627:6*, 90:2; E238; OV401:4
Temperateness. R1114:5

The knowledge we gain of God through his Word should lead us to greater moderation--in thought, word and action; on business, pleasure, food and raiment. HG447:3

Be moderate--exercising self-control in all things--in eating, drinking, home arrangements, conduct, thoughts, words and deeds. R4808:6, 1114:3
Moderation, self-restraint in all things--we are not to be hasty and hot-tempered, or rash and thoughtless, but evenly balanced, thoughtful and considerate. R5757:2, 5678:2, 3163:6, 3090:1, 1628:1*

It has to do with all our sentiments, thoughts, tastes, appetites, labors, pleasures, sorrows and hopes--and accompanied by faith, fortitude, knowledge from on high, implies increased zeal and activity in divine things, and increased moderation in earthly things. R4809:1, 2155:2

And its accompanying spirit of kindness, and gentleness everywhere, in the shop, store, schoolroom, in traveling, in visiting, at home, with the various members of the family--and above all, in the church. R2355:6

One of the most important elements of good character. R4808:6

We should be examples of wisdom and moderation to all; and extremists only along the same lines that Jesus and the apostles were counted extremists. HG447:4

"And every man that hath this hope in him, purifieth himself" (1 John 3:3) controls himself, purges out more and more of the old leaven. R2037:2

"He that ruleth his spirit is greater than he that taketh a city." (Prov. 16:32) R2155:2, 4808:6

"Let your moderation be known unto all men." (Phil. 4:5) R3090:1, 4809:1, 1627:6*, 1114:3; HG447:4

Patience -- "But let patience have her perfect work, that ye may be perfect and entire, wanting nothing." (James 1:4) R3090:1, 1628:1*, 1114:4; HG447:5

This grace smooths the way for every other, because all must be acquired under the process of patient and continuous self-discipline. Not a step of progress can be gained without it's exercise--not one of the graces more beautifully adorns the Christian character, or wins the approval of the world's conscience, or glorifies the God of all grace whose truth inspires it. R3090:1, 1628:1*

It is long-suffering meekness earnestly striving to stem the tide of human imperfection and weakness, and endeavoring with painstaking care to regain the divine likeness--it is slow to wrath and plenteous in mercy--it is quick to perceive the paths of truth and righteousness, and prompt to walk in them. R3090:2, 1628:1*

It is mindful of its own imperfections and sympathetic with the imperfections and shortcomings of others. R3090:2, 2037:3, 1628:1*

With the poor, blinded world, with the babes in Christ, with the slow, the stupid, the excitable, the blundering, the over-confident Peters and the skeptical Thomases. R2155:4

Time is a very necessary element in the process of perfecting every good thing. The fruit hastily plucked is unripe, hard, sour, bitter fruit.

R2155:2

Let patience have its perfect work in cultivating character, however severely the plow and harrow may break up the sub-soil of the heart, meekly submitting to the discipline in every case. R4809:1, 2155:3, 1114:4

The Greek word from which patience is here translated means cheerful endurance. R4809:1

But to have patience or fellowship with the "unfruitful works of darkness" and sin, is the perversion of this grace. R2155:4

Godliness -- God-likeness, hearty, cheerful, loving conformity to his will. R2155:5, 4809:2, 3163:6, 1114:4, 385:5*

General goodness, benevolence, benignity toward all. HG447:5

Piety. R2037:3, 2220:1, 2210:6, 2155:4; E238

Devout, controlling reverence for God, which yields a hearty, cheerful conformity to his will--fervency of spirit in serving the Lord. R2155:4

A condition in which the love of God is shed in the heart, influencing all the thoughts and words and deeds. R2037:3

A careful study and imitation of the divine character as presented in the divine Word. R3090:2, 4809:1, 1628:1*, 1114:4

This is a later development and vital element in the Christian character.

It springs spontaneously from appreciative and grateful hearts, whose delight is in the law of the Lord; in meditation, prayer and praise.

R2155:4

Brotherly kindness -- Greek, phileo, duty love, a love which has a cause or demand upon it. R2807:4

The Greek word Philadelphia signifies brotherly love. R3949:4; Q449:1

In the natural family relationship, and also in the spiritual family, the Church. HG447:5

We may not love our brethren's peculiarities, their features, but we love them as brethren, whether black or white, bond or free, because they are brethren, comrades in the same race. Q449:1

To make due allowance for inherited weaknesses and circumstantial misfortunes of others --to deal patiently and helpfully so far as wisdom may dictate, with a view to the correction of those faults, even at the expense of self-interest, if necessary and prudent. R4809:2, 1114:5
Accept a brother's proffered aid and meekly bear reproof, determining to overcome deformities of character, and prove a help rather than a hindrance to others; no longer fostering old dispositions. R4809:2, 1114:5
An exercise and manifestation of the principles of the divine character toward our fellow-men. R3090:2, 1628:2*

A love for all who are brethren and yoke fellows in the cause of righteousness and truth, the cause of God. R2037:3

Instead of disdaining those who are ignoble, instead of putting them away, treat them kindly. CR448:2

This of necessity grows out of godliness. As god-likeness presupposes the other graces mentioned, so its development implies an enlargement of our hearts to all who are of the household of faith. R2155:5

Charity -- Love. R5693:1, 5208:5, 4808:4, 3168:5, 3090:2, 3089:3, 2560:4, 2220:1, 2210:6, 2155:5, 2037:3, 1628:2*, 1576:6, 1114:2, 90:2; E238; HG450:1; OV401:4

Greek, agape, the higher grade of disinterested love. R2807:4

The broader, more comprehensive, or divine love, the disinterested love. R3949:4; Q449:1

Love as a general expression covers all the elements of character which are really parts of love. F186

While all the foregoing are elements of love, we super-add love itself in the fullest sense toward the Lord, the brethren, humanity, the brute creation and our enemies. HG447:5

We might divide the race-course into four quarters: duty-love; love for the Lord because we see something of the glorious majesty of his character; love for the brethren; perfect love--for all, even our enemies. F187-189

As we get agape love it means that we love all. Q449:1

We must reach this climax of love before we can be counted worthy of a place in the new creation. F190

Love for God and for the brethren; love deep and pure and true; which thinketh no evil and doth not puff itself up; is not easily offended; rejoiceth always in the truth and never in iniquity; the climax of Christian attainment in the present life, the grace of all graces, which never fades, and which will be perfected when we receive the new resurrection body. R2037:3, 2155:5

Love unfeigned for the unrighteous and unlovely, as well as for the good and beautiful. R4809:3, 1114:5

A love which is ever ready to manifest itself in wise and helpful activity for saint and sinner; and which pities, helps, comforts, cheers and blesses all within its reach--manifesting and cultivating the disposition which must be found in every member of the Christ company. R4809:3, 1114:5

A broad, generous love, taking in the whole world, even our enemies.

R5678:2, 5757:2, 5460:1

A process of addition leading up to the sum of all graces. R5757:1

We do not attain to the perfection of love at the beginning of our course, but it is the mark or standard which indicates the end of the course. F186

The bond of perfectness which unites all the other graces, and as a name stands for them all. R2155:5

Love is last, and greatest. R78:5, 50:5*

The chief of all graces. R2037:3

Acts of kindness will gradually lead to an attitude of love, even where the subject does not seem to deserve it. R3090:2, 1628:2*

Love is an experience, and includes in it an earnest desire for the well-being of the object loved. R78:5

Love excels all the other virtues, because it is the most enduring. R4732:4

Charity or love is the crowning excellency of Christianity, and is necessary to fit for the great salvation. R78:5

True love on our part will manifest itself in obedience--disobedience is an evidence of the loss of love as viewed from the Lord's standpoint.

R2466:5

2 Peter 1:8

These things -- The fruits of the spirit. R5760:5, 5692:6, 4078:3; F186; NS350:5, 376:6; OV401:4

All these fruits. R523:6

The graces of the spirit. E238; SM515:1

The things previously specified in verses 5-7. F185

The eight elements which must go toward making up the Christian character. R4808:4, 1114:5

The knowledge fruit cannot be obtained independent of the other fruits. R523:6

In you -- The Lord's people, begotten of the Spirit. R2487:4

The epistle of Christ written in our hearts. R5968:4, 4809:6, 1115:4; Q235:5

The Apostle is urging the development of the fruits of the holy Spirit in the heart, and so far as possible in the life--in the words, the deeds, the thoughts. R5677:1, 5899:3

Lacking these, though we have the knowledge, we will be both barren and unfruitful. R137:4*

And abound -- Abounding in good measure. R5760:5, 5206:6

If you have them in some measure, keep on cultivating them, so that they abound more and more and rule in you. R4809:4, 5570:1, 1114:6; F169; SM515:1

As they more and more abound, they will incite us to cultivate fruitfulness. R2210:6

If the fruits reach the abounding condition or degree. Q52:5

Let the Word and grace of God dwell in us richly. R2508:5

It is the abounding of these graces of character added to our faith in Christ as our Redeemer and Savior that insures the soul against the possibility of falling. R2155:5

If the Spirit of the Lord abound in us it will influence our business, our pleasure, our homes, our workshops, our kitchens, our dining rooms, our bed chambers, our very thoughts. R4929:5

It is the abounding love, the all-pervading influence of our Lord, in all of life's affairs of those who as the Bride class would have the abundant entrance into Messiah's Kingdom, that is required. R4929:6, 2487:4

May it be possible to have a measure of the Lord's spirit with very little abounding, and hence have merely an enjoyment of some spiritual things, on special occasions at church, etc.? R4929:6

They make you -- Will demonstrate. NS376:6

Because Pastor Russell devoted himself to the development of the fruits and graces of the holy Spirit, the promise of the Lord was fulfilled in him. R5997:5*; OV443:2*

Neither be barren -- Idle, inactive. Q235:5; R5968:4, 5678:2, 5208:5, 4809:4, 2220:1; F76, 185

A man cannot be fruitful in the graces and barren in the knowledge of the Lord. R523:3

Unfruitful -- In proportion as we find the fruits of the spirit, we expect to find the Spirit which produces those fruits. All possessing this Spirit will be able to grow both in grace and knowledge. R523:3; NS350:5
We must not expect to see the fruit of our labor to any extent now. R1046:2
The contrary effects of the spirit of the world upon those who profess to be children of God--the result of a neglect to study and assimilate the Word. R5678:2

In the knowledge -- Personal intimacy, acquaintance. R2220:1

Acquaintance with the Lord and participation in his spirit. NS376:6
"The spirit of truth will guide you into all truth." (John 16:13) E239; R385:5*

Closer fellowship with the Father and the Lord Jesus, so that the Lord will be able and willing to communicate to us more clearly a knowledge of his gracious plans and character. E238

A close, intimate acquaintance and communion with him--in which he will reveal himself to us by showing us "things to come." R523:6, 374:5

Good works and knowledge are so closely related that it is useless to think of separating them; they are produced by the same Spirit. R523:3

Our growth in love and in all the fruits of the spirit is dependent largely upon our growth in knowledge; and our growth in knowledge of divine things is dependent also upon our growth in the fruits of the spirit. E239; NS376:6

You cannot grow in love faster than you grow in knowledge; and you cannot grow in favor, except by complying with God's instructions. This instruction, this knowledge, is found in his Word. R374:5

Knowledge, as a fruit of the spirit, could never heretofore reach the same size which it now may and should attain. God expects the size of this fruit to be proportionate with its opportunities and possibilities. R524:1
A summary of what Pastor Russell clearly taught and proved by the citations of Scripture authority. R5997:5*; OV443:3*
Of our Lord -- And in his service. R2508:5; SM515:1
For knowledge will have its place. R5968:4; Q235:5

2 Peter 1:9

He that lacketh -- He who does not appreciate the necessity of this. Q52:5

If a spirit begotten new creature fails to see the privilege of cultivating the Master's spirit--the spirit of holiness--it is because he is not making progress. Q52:5

Is blind -- Like a new-born child that has not learned to focus its eyes. Q52:6

In promoting the military spirit, Christendom does not see that the spirit they are cultivating is the very reverse of the Spirit of Christ, who is called the "Prince of Peace." R1757:4

The great majority of the race accept divine blessings daily with but little appreciation, with but little thankfulness. NS461:2

It is only those who have the eye of faith, whose eyes of understanding have been opened, who can appreciate the divine glories and benefits at the present time. NS461:2

Cannot see afar off -- Unable to see the deep things of God. R5640:2
Looks merely at the things of this present life, and will be unprepared for the graduation examinations prior to the inauguration of the new dispensation--now at hand. R5206:6

Cannot grasp or appreciate the things future in the unfolding of our Father's plan. R523:6

He cannot see them as an inspiring and impelling power, though he may know of them theoretically, and hold the truth even in unrighteousness. (Rom. 1:18) R2087:6*

"Thine eyes shall see the King in his beauty; they shall behold the land that is very far off." (Isa. 33:17) R2088:4*

Hath forgotten -- Christendom has almost forgotten. R1757:4

It is no uncommon thing to hear in church meetings of all denominations men and women tell God that they know themselves to be "miserable sinners." They ask forgiveness of those sins which are forgiven. R199:5

There is a danger of forgetting and falling into the idea that every one must suffer the full penalty for his own sins. The effect of forgetting this is the neglect of the Christian graces. R137:4*

From his old sins -- The word "sin" has merely the thought of transgression; and many of our transgressions are wholly without iniquitous intention. R2295:1

The word "iniquity" carries with it the sense of wickedness. R2295:1
Should any return to sin, "as a sow to her wallowing in the mire," (2 Pet. 2:22), he removes the covering of sins, and falls back where he was before. R2295:1

Wherefore the rather -- As though Peter said on this account you must criticize yourselves very closely to see that you are developing the real fruits of the spirit, which will have prominently among them an increasing knowledge of our Lord. R523:6

Brethren -- God's elect. R3587:5

Peter exhorts the heirs of the Kingdom to patience, perseverance, virtue and faith. A284

Give diligence -- Give the more earnest heed. R2220:4

To the cultivation of these graces. R2330:2; F691; HG401:4

By adding these graces. R137:4*

Be watchful and take necessary precautions to prevent blight and decay of character and to guard against the intrusion of evil powers and influences calculated to sap the life of the new creature. R4809:4

While God has supplied every necessary aid, he has left the matter in such a way as to make our earnest desire for the promised blessings a condition of our not falling. R1458:6

The Lord's plan is to call and elect during the Gospel age a Little Flock of overcomers of the world, faithful unto death, as a Royal Priesthood, to share with the Lord Jesus in the Millennial Kingdom. R3586:3, 3587:5, 1574:1; HG615:4; NS263:5

"Seek ye first the Kingdom of God." (Matt. 6:33) R2479:5

To make your calling -- We were called to be joint-heirs with our Lord. R5460:2, 3585:2

To a change of nature from human to divine, and a place in the Kingdom class. R4794:6, 4594:4; HG359:6

To "glory and honor and immortality." (Rom. 2:7) R3913:5; HG358:5

God has predetermined a new creation, invited some to develop the character, arranged so that some may be able to meet the conditions: it is for us to accept the call by making a complete consecration and to zealously strive for the requirements. F185

The terms of the Gospel are necessarily those of a call or invitation; leaving the matter of acceptance open and optional with the invited ones. R2940:3

This "high calling" to joint-heirship with our Lord in the Kingdom is a very special call; it will soon end and never be repeated. R4979:1, 2622:4, 3585:2

God has called us with this high calling, and from the time we accept the call and make requisite full consecration, he gives us the earnest of our inheritance, viz., the spirit of sonship. R3586:5

Only those nominated have the remotest opportunity of becoming the elect; first through faith--"faith cometh by hearing," (Rom. 10:17) bringing justification from past sins, and peace with God, then being called to sacrifice. R3586:3

Let us not only assure ourselves of the fact that there is an elect class being selected, but let us note the lessons enjoined upon the called ones--the instructions to make their calling and election sure. R3586:3
How highly we, who belong to the Gospel dispensation, should value its privileges and opportunities, seeking to make our calling and election sure. R4979:1

Applying only to those who come under the conditions of justification, and subsequent full sanctification through a belief of the truth. R2941:4
Sinners are called to repentance; only justified believers are called to the heavenly calling--only such called ones as accept the call by making a full consecration belong to the "chosen" class--the Bride class will be those who were not only called but also chosen, and also found faithful. R4078:2, 5377:5, 3586:2

We who are being called from the Gentiles are invited to fill up the deficiency in the elect number of Israel; and will be divided among the twelve tribes, though the Scriptures do not show according to what rule. R3586:4

"I beseech you, brethren (justified through faith and called), that ye present your bodies living sacrifices, holy and acceptable to God and your reasonable service." (Rom. 12:1) Such as have responded in this manner to the call are God's chosen. NS372:1 The Lord chooses such characters and such characters choose the Lord, and in choosing him seek to walk in his footsteps and follow the directions of his Word. NS264:2

Nothing connected with the call is compulsory. Many have been called in comparison with the few that will be chosen. R4138:6, 4078:2, 3586:3, 2415:1; NS372:1, 654:1

While the harvest work was commencing and in progress, the "call" to the divine nature continued to go forth. Up to October 1881 any believer in the ransom who presented himself a sacrifice to God was acceptable. R682:2; C219

The majority of professing Protestant Christians do not know that there is an election. Some regard God's call or nomination as being the election itself, and are confused by this text. R3585:6

And -- It is not sufficient that we should be chosen and accepted of the Lord to a membership in the elect Church--we must stand testing to prove our worthiness of that position. NS372:2

It is not sufficient that we consecrate, that we be sure that we have made a consecration--it is required of us that we demonstrate character, loyalty and faithfulness to that vow. NS372:2

Election -- To the chief favor of God. R4809:5, 1115:1

To the heavenly Kingdom. R3585:4, 2479:5, 874:1; SM17:1

Of attaining to joint-heirship with the Master. R5667:4, 3585:2

For which you have been called, nominated by God. R3587:5

"Elect according to the foreknowledge of God the Father." (1 Pet. 1:2)

"And whom he did foreknow, he also did predestinate to be conformed to the image of his Son." (Rom. 8:29) R2940:6, 3587:2

We are the "elect" before the election has been finished, before the testing is completed, in the sense of having been nominated--"moved and seconded." HG445:3

God moved that we should be elected and "called us with a heavenly calling." It remained for us to "second the motion" by presenting ourselves in full consecration of heart to the Lord. HG445:3

None can remain in the elect company, nor make his calling and election sure, without being under the sprinkling of blood--justification; being sanctified, and having full submission to the will of God. R3587:2, 3586:2

There is a great prize to be given. There is an election going on. R5914:4

A Bride for Christ is being selected from amongst mankind. R4138:5;

CR435:5 The entire Christian era, from our Lord's first advent down to the time of his second coming, is the period in which the election or selection of the Bride takes place. Q788:2

If God is selecting a Church in the present time, it must be with a view to the use of it subsequently to serve in some manner the interests of the remainder of the world from whom they were elected. HG445:1

Jesus was the elect of God, and we who are now being chosen from amongst men are to be "members of his Body," the elect class, chosen in him, and as such must be conformed to the likeness of his character. R3587:3; F187; HG445:2

God foreknew us and predestinated that there should be a Church class selected to be their Redeemer's associate, his underpriesthood, his subordinate kings during the Millennium. HG445:2

Very few have been nominated of the Lord for his election. R3585:6

An election in progress--an election of 144,000 to a higher position than that of any earthly magistrate or potentate--they are promised this highest of all honors for all eternity. R3585:2, 3586:1

In worldly elections there are legitimate expenses; and every candidate is expected to lay down part of his life--to spend time, influence, strength and vigor to secure his own or his friend's election. NS264:3; R3585:3

The world think it remarkable that we who are candidates for the superlatively high office for which God has nominated us should spend time, influence and means, in our own and our brethren's election. They consider our time wasted. R3585:3

If a presidency is worth a lifetime of effort and planning and the expenditure of immense sums of money, what would this heavenly election be worth? NS264:5

The sacrifices of a thousand lives and the grounding of ten thousand hopes and ambitions in other directions would be but a small cost in the attainment of the glory, honor and immortality promised to the "very elect." NS264:6

What an interest we properly take in our election, after learning that the office for which we are running is a combination of priesthood and kingship! HG446:1

Those whom God nominates or calls, are expected to appreciate the honor, the blessing, the high exaltation which is proffered them, and expected to show this appreciation in their endeavors to secure the election. NS264:4
Only the faithful, the loyal, will ultimately constitute the "very elect."
"Called, chosen, and faithful," describes the attitude of the pupils in the school of Christ who graduate with highest honors. NS372:4, 593:3, 654:5

From God's standpoint the whole struggle for political preferment to the neglect and disregard of the still higher calling and election is as foolish as to grasp for bubbles and neglect diamonds. NS265:2

God is holy, and the elect are to have his spirit, his disposition of love for righteousness and opposition to iniquity. F186

Those who do not have experiences of growth in grace and knowledge are deficient, and cannot hope to make their calling and election sure.

R3587:5 The word "chosen" in Matt. 22:14 and Rev. 17:14 is from the same Greek word as elect. R3586:3, 3587:3

If there is an elect class, it follows that there must be a non-elect class. R3587:6; F164

The calling and election of the Little Flock works no hardship, no injury, to the non-elect, who are in no sense further condemned because not called. F164

Scripture references to the elect. R3586:3-3587

The doctrine of election has fallen into disrepute because of its association with the unscriptural doctrine that God has provided a great place of eternal torment for all the non-elect. NS263:6; HG668:2

We have high respect for the well intentioned and honest endeavors at the polls. The masses of Christendom should as far as possible vote for the soundest principles and the most conscientious men. NS263:1

The Little Flock too vote. So firmly is their mind set on this matter that they vote the same ticket right along--they vote for Jesus. NS263:3

Sure -- It is for each individual. 5914:4

By full compliance with the terms and conditions of the call, and this even unto death. R5876:3, 2940:3, 2415:1; SM427:2; CR433:1

By a full and hearty compliance with the gracious high calling which we have learned and which our hearts have accepted. NS771:1

By cultivating the graces of the spirit and thus coming into heart-likeness of our Lord Jesus. R3586:1, 2782:2; F186

By drinking faithfully of the cup. (Matt. 26:27) R5341:3

By standing the various trials of faith, love and obedience which God may require. F79; R2453:4; NS372:3, 551:6

By continuing to labor in character-preparation, that we might be found worthy. R5762:2, 5950:1, 4138:6

The battle with the world, the flesh, and the devil must be won in our hearts else we will not make our election sure and receive the crown of glory. R3586:2, 2692:6; HG446:4; NS265:6

By faithfully following in the footsteps of the Redeemer, heeding carefully his counsel, and availing ourselves of his assistances by the way. R4138:6, 3586:1

By faithfulness under trials, testings and difficulties. NS624:5

By giving the more earnest heed to the things which God has shown us, and assisting others who give any evidence of being "brethren." R2875:6, 2692:6, 2453:5

By a clear grasp and comprehension of the deep things of God. Q154:5

By faith and obedience. R2220:4

To the extent of our ability live up to the covenant of self-sacrifice in the Lord's service, which we covenanted when we accepted his call. NS372:4

It is important that we understand the conditions. R4796:2

By so running the race of life that we may be worthy of the crown of life.

OV131:1; R4810:1, 4078:3, 1468:4

Positiveness for God is the only condition in which we can hope to do this. R5614:4

He has not called us in vain to something which is impossible for us to attain. CR443:6

To these God will show his exceeding grace. R4914:4, 4461:3

Surely God who nominated us has made every provision for our election and will cooperate. Surely our Redeemer will give us every assistance. Just as surely responsibility for failure would lie at our door. HG445:5

Our context tells us upon what terms the called and accepted may make their election sure. HG446:6

Those who willingly renounce the world, its prospects, schemes, plans, ambitions, hopes, and pleasures, and accept instead the heavenly hopes and promises set before us in the Scriptures. NS264:1

A share in the inheritance to the spiritual body and the Kingdom glories of which our spirit begetting is but the foretaste. R3586:5; SM17:1

Paul did not consider his election to that honor absolute; hence, his laborings to "make sure" that result. (Phil. 3:11) R624:3*

Those who do not make their calling and election sure will lose their anointing and will not receive the divine nature. But if they hold to the Lord, they maintain their justification, and may be part of the Great Company. R4746:4,1; CR460:6

Some will miss the Kingdom, yet not so utterly fall as to go into second death. CR153:1

We must either make our calling and election sure under the terms of the call, as accepted, or be rejected as unworthy of life everlasting--as fit for the second death. SM178:2

For -- Seeming to understand that some would question the possibility of their gaining so great a prize, the Apostle gives a word of special encouragement. R3587:5

If -- There is a contingency upon which the scales of divine judgment, as to our worthiness or unworthiness of the inheritance, must turn. R2154:4

Ye -- New Creatures--those called and who are making their calling and election sure. CR152:2,6

The primary consideration with us is our sanctification. "This is the will of God (concerning you), even your sanctification." (1 Thes. 4:3) R5677:5

If we maintain the good fight of faith as new creatures. R4047:4

The contingency is not in the doing of these things perfectly, but if added to our faith in the imputed righteousness of Christ, we have cultivated all the graces to the extent of our ability, we shall not fall. R2155:6; SM395:1

Our continuance in safety, in grace, depends upon our own course of conduct after God has done his part through his Word and providences. R1698:6

Do -- Add one after another of the qualities of the fruits of the holy Spirit, and so build up Christian character. R5677:1, 5460:1, 137:4*; F79; NS541:4, 576:6, 746:4

The fruit will appear, not only in the development of the Christian graces of character, but also in increasing activities. R4809:6, 1115:4

Our feet will be swift to run on errands, our hands prompt to do God's bidding, our tongues ready to bear testimony to the truth, our minds active in devising ways and means to do so more abundantly and effectively. R4809:6, 1115:4

There is a difference between believing these things, professing these things, and doing these things. CR152:2

It is not merely believing, not merely consecrating, but the Apostle says, "If ye do things." CR152:3

Do all in your power, and God does not expect you to do one more thing than that. CR152:5

Fulfill the royal law of love and devotion to God and the neighbor. R2487:3

Our work as Christians is to cooperate with God in the salvation of the Church class--not a salvation from eternal torture, but from death. R5677:4

Bear all. R523:6

Perfection is only something which can be approximated in the present life. The measure of our effort to attain it will prove the measure of our faithfulness and earnest desire to do so. R4809:6, 1115:4

He expects doing, but does not expect perfect doing, because he remembers our frame. CR152:3

There is a philosophy in the growth and development of Christian character, just as truly as in the growth and development of vegetation--the desirable end being maturity and luxuriant fruitfulness. R4808:1, 4096:6*, 1113:3

If no fruit appears, we may be sure that little or no effort is being made at cultivation, pruning, etc. R1154:4

"If any man's work abide which he hath built." (1 Cor. 3:14) A321

These things -- The things mentioned in the preceding verses. R2154:5; SM633:1

The eight elements which must go toward making up the Christian character. R4808:4, 1114:5

Each piece of armor (Eph. 6:13-18) each fruit of the spirit, is a part of the necessary preparation for this "evil day," this "hour of temptation," now present. R5678:4, 2453:2; NS541:4

Cultivate the Spirit of Christ. R1698:6, 5370:4; F408; HG401:4; SM321:2
Beautiful graces and fruits of the spirit, manifest in our Lord. CR152:5; R3587:5; SM321:2

Diligently cultivating this disposition. R4809:4, 2286:6, 1114:6

Continually adding to our stock of the heavenly graces. R2219:6

The steady persistent cultivation of these graces of character will clarify our spiritual vision, enabling us the more fully to comprehend the truth of God. R1859:6

Each step of knowledge brings a corresponding step of duty and obedience, and each step of duty and obedience taken will be followed by a further step in knowledge. E239; R2219:6

If we have the witness of the Spirit of growth, both in grace and in knowledge, let us rejoice therein, and let us follow on in the same pathway until it shall bring us to that which is perfect, both in knowledge and in grace. E239

By studying our manual, his Word, which our Lord has given to us, and by developing the various fruits and graces of the spirit. SM17:1

Love to God and to our fellows. SM17:1

Which you covenanted. R200:6; NS372:4

Pursue a course that would be pleasing to God. SM304:3; Q52:5

Character, built up after the instruction of the Word of God, is absolutely necessary to an entrance into the Kingdom of Christ. R5678:5, 5307:6

The needlework upon the wedding garment. SM256:1; HG449:6

If we are obedient to the Word of the Lord, and are properly exercised by the experiences which are given us, we shall gain his approval. R5460:2, 4660:2

"Let us, dearly beloved, cleanse ourselves from all filthiness of the flesh and spirit, perfecting holiness in the fear of the Lord." (2 Cor. 7:1) R5739:6

Ye shall never fall -- Because "All things work together for good to them that love God." (Rom. 8:28) F74; R874:1

You are sure to stand approved of God. R4808:4, 1114:5

Ye shall never fail. We shall in no case fail of securing our election. HG447:6; NS746:5

Following in the Lord's way we find the only true joy, and can make the only true progress. R5559:4

If you are growing in grace, if you are doing the best you are able along this direction. CR152:6

The implication is that there would be some tendency to fall, some testings, and that this development of character would be necessary so that the individual might be able to stand. R5677:1

Fortified by development of character, these will not fall, no matter what the trial that the Lord may permit to come upon them. R5678:2, 862:2

Those who have a temporary fall, but who afterward overcome in the trials which the Lord will allow to come upon them, thus showing their loyalty to him, will be fully recovered. R5460:4

There may be more or less stumbling on the part of the elect, "through manifold temptations" of the flesh, the earthen vessel in which the spirit begotten, elect, new creature temporarily resides. R3587:5

You will stumble, but stumbling is not failing. CR152:6, 153:1

All except the very elect may be stumbled by deceptions. R1644:3

We need to be continually on the alert respecting our own fleshly weaknesses and besetments, that we may war a successful warfare, and thus share with our Lord his Kingdom and crown. R5678:5; F190

Your final selection to that position of glory, honor and immortality, to which you were called, shall be sure. R4809:4, 1114:6

God will not suffer us to be tempted above that we are able, but will with the temptation provide a way of escape. (1 Cor. 10:13) R1699:1

If there is a fall in our case, it will be due to failure to do our part.

R5460:2; NS546:5

Some will not manifest sufficient zeal. These will come through great tribulations. If by these experiences they are brought to a full loyalty to the Lord, they will be granted everlasting life. R5460:4

One of the final and most searching tests and the one under which probably the most of those once awakened and armed will fall, will be love for the brethren. R2453:4

Nearly all who "fall away" first lose all fear and become self-confident. R3596:5

This is the time long foretold, when "a thousand shall fall at thy side and ten thousand at thy right hand," (Psa. 91:7) because they have neglected the necessary development of character, and have been deluded. R5678:4, 2450:3; NS95:6

Those who have tried to raise money for the heathen or for building fine church edifices, have gotten up church fairs and entertainments, etc., not appreciating the necessity to build character, are falling all around us. R5678:5

For so an entrance -- But so doing. R2782:2

With the characteristics of the Master deeply engraved upon our hearts. Q235:4; R5968:4, 137:1*

They that add to their faith all the graces of the spirit shall have an abundant entrance into the Kingdom. R32:3*, 4078:3, 137:1*; F691; HG668:4; NS546:4, 733:1

The grand consummation of our election--our Kingdom honors and glories. HG447:6

Only such as are copies of God's Son shall have a share in the Kingdom of Messiah. R4929:6, 2453:4

The glorious inheritance with Christ in his coming Kingdom. R5677:4

In no sense of the word did the Apostle consider that the Kingdom had been set up at Pentecost in any but its embryo or preparatory form. HG368:4

Be ministered -- Granted. R5968:4; Q235:4

In due time. F692

The present Gospel age is merely for the selection and education of those whom God purposes to use as his ministers, to the world in general in the Millennium. R2490:2, 3586:3

Being justified fully, your final selection to that position of glory, honor and immortality shall be sure. R4809:4, 1114:6

The elect will not be received of the Lord with chidings and upbraidings for the imperfections of the flesh which were unwillingly theirs; but the heart-character formed will alone be tested and approved. R3587:6

Unto you -- The faithful. SM584:1

The Royal Priesthood. R2490:2, 2782:2

Only the Little Flock will gain this; not the Great Company who will come up out of great tribulation. NS371:6

Abundantly -- The fruits and flowers of the holy Spirit abounding in the garden of the heart, will make a Christian ready. R5899:4

If we stand the Lord's approval we shall be granted the glorious things which he has promised to them that love him--"glory, honor and immortality." R3587:6

There will be a glorious welcome, a joyous greeting, among all the heavenly hosts when the laurels of victory are placed upon the heads of all the overcoming soldiers of the cross. R2154:2

All this abundance of grace and glory is the possible inheritance of even the weakest saint who humbly looks to God for strength from day to day to endure hardness as a good soldier. R2154:3

"Let us be glad and rejoice, for the marriage of the Lamb is come, and his wife hath made herself ready." (Rev. 19:7) "Therefore shall the people praise thee forever." (Psa. 45:17) C193

Everlasting kingdom -- Which is therefore still future. A284; NS541:5

The Millennial Kingdom. NS541:5

The divine agency for carrying salvation to all the families of the earth. R5307:6

This is the prize of the high calling. R2154:1

The very thing that all of the Lord's people are invited to share. R5677:2, 3587:6

If we seek and find God's righteousness, we shall also find his Kingdom. R2804:6* Let our ambition be to have a share in that Kingdom! R5570:4
Of our Lord -- If the very thought of the coming glories has lifted us up above the world and its cares, its trials, its follies and its pleasures, how much more will the realities mean to us when we shall be perfect and like our Lord and share his glory! F728

In remembrance -- "Beware lest thou forget the Lord." (Deut. 6:12)
R4050:6

These things -- The things of verses 5-7. R3089:2
The seven graces. R137:4*

Know them -- Too many have contented themselves with knowing the truth, without making special efforts to live it, daily and hourly. R3090:5

And be established -- Signifies that we have carefully studied and proved it by "the law and the testimony," (Isa. 8:20) and are convinced of its verity, so that our faith is steadfast and immovable. R3089:3

We have been permitted to see, not only the various features of the plan, but also the necessity and reasonableness of all its various measures in order to the full accomplishment of its glorious outcome. R3089:3

It is indeed a most blessed condition, bringing with it such peace and joy as the world can neither give nor take away. R3089:3

But we need to bear in mind that our election to the high position to which we are called is not yet made sure. The race for the prize of our calling is still before us. R3089:3

If the truth is received into good and honest hearts, we have the assurance that we shall never fall. R3090:3, 1628:2*

To be established in the faith is one thing, but to be established in Christian character and in all the graces of the spirit is quite another. R3090:3, 1628:3*, 137:4*

Feeling the necessity of a deeper work of grace in our hearts, a practical suggestion is made of a mid-week meeting devoted to worship, prayer, praise, brotherly exhortation, conference and counsel, but not Bible study or controversy. R3090:3

In the present truth -- It will guide us into separateness from Babylon. SM127:2

Scriptures and features of the plan, on what it means to be established in the present truth. R1627:2*

2 Peter 1:14

I must put off -- While Peter realized that the time of his departure was drawing nigh, his solicitude for the growth and development of the Church was increasing. R3215:1

This my tabernacle -- The flesh. It was consecrated to death and it must fully die. R344:6

The human is to die--the earthly form must be laid off. R344:5

As our Lord -- As did Jesus, so must we all, fully lose humanity. R344:3

As Jesus our pattern showed us--but the new life hid with Christ will not die, though it slept until now. R344:5

Hath shewed me -- "When thou shalt be old thou shalt stretch forth thy hands and another shall gird thee and carry thee whither thou wouldest not." (John 21:18) R3215:1

2 Peter 1:15

Ye -- Peter wrote his epistles to the intent that his testimony might be with the Church. F225

After my decease -- A clear evidence that Peter did not expect to live until the establishment of the Kingdom. F225

He committed his writings to holy men for the benefit of the Church after his death. R5829:6

In remembrance -- The Church to this day may profit by his brotherly counsel. R4809:5, 1115:1

The Apostles laid up in store food for the Church in future days. R1899:2

Fables -- The vision on the Mount of Transfiguration was no fanciful fable even though it should not be classed on an equality with divine revelation made through the prophets. R4890:5

The tendency of the world, the flesh, and the devil is to absorb our time, thought, interest and affections in worldly affairs; eating, drinking, marrying, building, planting, business, pleasure, sectarianism, and cunningly devised fables. R2303:1

The Higher Critics are greatly mistaken in their judging of the Word of God along the lines of external testimonies and Evolution theories. R3791:1

Coming -- Greek, parousia, presence. B159; R1693:1, 559:4, 223:2

The vision represented the establishment of the Kingdom at Jesus' second presence. An illustration of the present time in which the Kingdom is being established. R559:4; HG186:4

Eyewitnesses -- Three apostles witnessed the vision--Peter, James and John. (Mark 9:2-13) R5121:1, 3790:6, 2288:3; F675

The transfiguration scene was a "vision"--the unreal appeared real--and it was well suited for the purpose. R2288:3; F676

It was to establish the faith of the apostles, and the early Church.

R3790:6, 3793:5, 3345:5

This vision, helpful as it was at the time, became secondary as Peter came to a better understanding of prophecy which describes our Lord's second coming and Kingdom. R4649:6, 3790:6

Of his majesty -- The royal majesty. Q797:2

His Kingdom. R4649:6; HG186:4

A vision of Christ's dignity and glory in the Kingdom. R2659:2

His kingly glory. Peter was persuaded respecting the majesty of Jesus, of his dignity as the Messianic King and the fact that all there pictured in vision would eventually be fulfilled. R3793:5

A vision of the coming glory of Messiah's Kingdom. R5121:6,4, 1761:1,4; B20, 255; HG186:4, 205:4

A representation of Christ's coming glory. R5772:4, 598:5

The transfiguration vision was an illustration or presentation. R559:4

The central figure was Jesus himself. Moses and Elias were merely accessories to fill out the picture. R3793:5, 5772:4

Moses represented one class and Elijah another, as participators with Jesus in his Messianic glory. R5333:5, 5121:6

Moses represented the Law dispensation, and Elijah represented the Gospel dispensation. R5772:4, 3790:6, 3345:5, B255

Moses represented the Ancient Worthies who shall be the earthly representatives of the heavenly Kingdom, and Elijah represented the "overcomers" of this Gospel age. B20; F677; R5121:6, 3794:4, 2659:4, 2289:1

Moses represents the human element of the Kingdom, while Elijah represents the entire Gospel Church, the spirit house of sons. R559:4; Q260:1

A forceful teaching of the coming of our Lord in glory, in due time.

OV203:2

There is no doubt, whatever, that the promised Kingdom will eventually come. The vision confirms this to us. R5121:6

The Kingdom is yet to come, for we have not the Kingdom of Christ. HG186:5

The entire Kingdom was represented in tableaux to Peter, James and John. R3790:6, 5121:1

Such a voice -- The voice of the Heavenly Father. Q797:2

The holy mount -- Of transfiguration. B20; F675; R3790:6, 2288:3, 1761:1, 598:5, 342:2, 123:6

A picture of Messiah's Kingdom. R5333:5; Q713:2; PD64/74

We -- The Church. R4988:1; B141; NS88:2

The child of God. The worldly will be in darkness as to God's purpose and methods. R820:5

More sure -- A more sure evidence than the vision. R4649:6, 5772:4; HG186:4

Surer even than these outward signs of the transfiguration. R454:5, 4890:5, 1761:4, 454:5

The Apostle was honoring the Bible above any vision. OV203:2

So highly did Peter esteem the prophecy of the Old Testament that he considered it better evidence than his own sight. R598:5

Word of prophecy -- Of divine revelation. E205; R4890:5, 3162:3

Through the prophets. R4890:5, 1408:2

With the written Word of God in our possession now, we neither have need of traditions of men nor of old wives' fables, nor of astrologers; guides.

R3703:1

One Scripture helps to elucidate another. R5339:2

The "vision" was a symbolic view of the Kingdom, but without the "sure word of prophecy" it would have been unintelligible. R1761:4

As we see it today--by faith. R1432:6

Discerning the Lord's second presence will not be by miraculous revelations, nor dreams, but through the Word of testimony, the Bible.

R2972:3, 1401:5

The day of the Lord is called a day of darkness, and we, unless enlightened by the word of prophecy, would stumble as the others of the church are doing over the stone of stumbling, in this dark place. R176:6

The Pope is encouraging Catholics to study the Bible. We urge Protestants to likewise to begin an investigation of God's Word. Protestant and Catholic Bibles are not materially different, but practically alike.

HG541:6

Whereunto -- To the eye of faith the Lord is now revealed by the prophetic lamp. C133; B20, 141

That ye take heed -- In respect to his plans, present and future. R2979:5

Urging a watching attitude on the part of the saints--not a watching of the sky, but a watching for the fulfillment of all that God had spoken by the holy prophets concerning the "times of restitution." (Acts 3:21) B20 Return to Bible study with our hearts uplifted to God that he may give us the light promised to his faithful people in the end of this age. R4778:4

A comparatively small number have done well to wait the Lord's time, at heart longing for Messiah's Kingdom. SM237:2; OV276:T

He comes secretly and unknown to the world, but those believers who are taking heed to the sure word of prophecy need not be in darkness. (1 Thes. 5:2-4) R579:3, 1401:5, 341:4*; B141

Such as give no heed are not watching and will not know. R2303:1

So now, the prophecies are more convincing than if Jesus were to appear as a man. R123:6

As unto a light -- We have the Gospels, recording our Lord's words, parables, dark sayings, etc., the Epistles of the New Testament, comments of the inspired apostles on the Old Testament writings and the prophecies of the Old Testament. R5224:5

The Word of the Lord is the only light and guide for his people. SM243:T

The prophetic testimony respecting what great light will usher in the golden age. R2313:6

This same light is exposing the corruption and falsity of many long-venerated theories and institutions, religious, political, social and financial. R2979:5

The Lord's presence shall affect nominal Christians, and the civilized world in general, also, but in a totally different manner. R2979:5

That shineth -- With knowledge of God. R493:1*

The holy Spirit is the light of the Church by which we are specially guided into the truth. R5339:1

With their lamps trimmed and burning, the saints will not be in darkness respecting the momentous events of the impending battle; but they will be of good courage, knowing the outcome portrayed in prophecy. Dxxvii

We are receiving more of the spirit of the truth, the spirit of love, the spirit of God, and proportionately the weary shadows of the earth are fleeing away. NS498:6

The Bible is a light to the path of God's people in the midst of this darkness. R5038:2

One Scripture throws light upon another, and thus with increasing brightness the Word of the Lord as a lamp gives light upon the pathway of his Church. NS817:1

During the night-time the faithful of the Church are represented as walking in the light of God's Word. NS749:5

As the Lord's people become illuminated, the world is proportionately blessed. R4305:1; SM560:3

The Church is able to point out to the world the cause of the trouble, to announce the presence of the new Ruler, to declare the plan. She becomes the light-bearer and instructor of the world. B142

"Thy Word is a lamp unto my feet, and a light unto my path." (Psa. 119:105) D617; R5038:2, 4988:1, 4305:1, 176:5; HG113:6; NS88:2, 749:5; SM560:1

"Let your light so shine before men that they may see your good works and glorify your Father which is heaven." (Matt. 5:16) NS88:3; SM560:1

In a dark place -- Sin and selfishness still abound. The golden rule does not control. R2313:6; NS88:3

We are still in the dark place and shall be until the darkness gives way and the day is here. R5339:1

Those who are not God's people and who do not have the light are walking in darkness. SM243:T

In this night-time the elect are different from the majority of those around them--they desire God's righteousness and pray, "Thy kingdom come." NS749:5

The night-darkness is not scattered. HG113:6

The darkness of the world. HG113:6

The darkest features of the night are past; and the errors which impelled our forefathers to burn one another at the stake no longer fetter--bind our hearts and minds. NS498:6

How many read these words as though they were written "prophecy is a dark place which we do well to avoid." R2012:5*

Until the day dawn -- Prophecy will have freshly important truths for us, all the way along until day-dawn. B20

Until the Millennial morning dawn. R4649:6

Until the darkness gives way and the day is here. R5339:2

The "night" of sin has been upon the world for centuries. The "morning" is at hand, but not yet fully come. NS749:5

When the harvest has been accomplished, and the purposes of the Lord have been done. CR251:5

We are in the dawning of that new day. CR267:3

The new day of divine blessing is dawning, and the manifold blessings and inventions of our day, both in temporal and spiritual matters, are but foregleams of the coming glory, which will transcend our brightest dreams. HG542:4

The gross ignorance and superstition of the "Dark Ages" is gradually giving place to the dawn of the Millennial morning, which is shedding light upon the divine Word and the pathway of the Lord's faithful. NS498:5

A new day is divinely arranged for, which shall dawn in its proper season.

We are now in the night-time preceding that new epoch. SM243:T

The Millennial morn is already here, but it is early--not yet light except to the prospective waking, watching Bride, who receives the light of the Morning Star. R348:6

The new Millennial dispensation is the morning in which the Sun of Righteousness shall arise with healing in his beams, and in which the shadows of superstition and works of darkness shall all be driven away SM560:2; HG113:6

Indicating that the morning is at hand and that the Sun of Righteousness will soon fulfill its mission of blessing all the families of the earth.

OV203:2

God's Word is to shine more and more brightly down to the very end of the Gospel age. R4858:1

The fact that God's Word is now opening to his people who scan its pages in its own light is but another proof that we are in the closing days of the Gospel age. NS817:4

The light of the new age of Christ's Kingdom is accountable for the great blessings that are coming upon the Bereans of our day, as well as mankind, in temporalities. NS817:4

Shining brighter and brighter through our greater intelligence and more general education. HG542:1

After more than eighteen centuries the Church of Christ, under the guidance of the Father, has been walking in the path of the just, the narrow way, the path of life; and has had the light necessary at every step of the journey. NS481:5

"The path of the just is as the shining light, that shineth more and more unto the perfect day." (Prov. 4:18) A25; R5339:1, 5055:2, 2972:3, 493:1*; NS817:4; SM242:1

The day had not dawned in Peter's time. R519:4*

The day star -- The revelation of our Lord's presence illuminates the hearts of his faithful ones and causes them to understand. R2979:5, 2550:1
The light of truth giving understanding as to where, how, and what to seek and expect. R1012:4

The light promised by the Lord as a precursory of the glorious sunrise of the new dispensation. R4482:6

The great light, the Sun of Righteousness, has not yet arisen, but the day-star is now shining in the hearts of the faithful. R2550:1

The eyes of our understanding have been enlightened because we see the day star (phosphorus--light bringer) has arisen. R341:4*

Arise -- The glorious morning of the new dispensation is breaking and for all those in the right attitude of heart the day star is manifested, and soon all the members shall have passed "beyond the wall" of death. NS481:5

In your hearts -- This light of knowledge, in our hearts, is the star of importance now, without which the Lord's second advent cannot be discerned. R1012:4, 2979:5

2 Peter 1:20

Private interpretation -- To understand any science or book it should be read according to its own principles of interpretation. Moved by one Spirit it should be taken as a whole and not disconnectedly. We should compare Scripture with Scripture. R24:1*

Rome complains of the incredible obscurity of the Scriptures, not for the purpose of rousing men to diligence in studying them, but to bring them into hatred and contempt. R2012:5*

2 Peter 1:21

The prophecy -- Spoken or written by men inspired by the Spirit; not understood by them, but was for the Church--prophecy can only be fully understood when fulfilled. R66:3*, 349:6*

Many prophecies are highly figurative, symbolical; and their principal lessons were intended for spiritual Israel. HG408:6

Our Lord and the apostles in their teachings quoted continually from the prophecies and invariably applied the lesson to their day or to some future event of this Gospel age. HG409:1

By the will of man -- As claimed by the Higher Critics. R1690:6

They were not the imaginings of longing human hearts. R1418:6

Holy men of God -- Old Testament prophets. R4940:3, 3764:1, 3424:1; F219

The general character of these men was good. R349:6*

The Old Testament must be as true as the New. SM170:1; R1622:3

"Unto whom it was revealed, that not unto themselves, but unto us they did minister the things, which are now reported unto you by them that have preached the Gospel unto you with the holy Spirit sent down from heaven."

(1 Pet. 1:12) R3424:1, 5536:1; E178; HG409:1

Such as God was pleased to use as his mouthpieces. R5616:1

As they were moved -- Moved to speak by the holy Spirit of God. R1418:6, 3027:3

Mechanically; not in an explanatory and sympathetic sense, as in the case of the apostles and the Church. E178; F219; R3650:5, 2820:2, 2484:6, 370:5

The things which they uttered were not for themselves but for us upon whom the ends of the ages have come. (1 Cor. 10:11) R3650:5, 5055:4, 2820:2

They uttered deeper and broader truths than they themselves comprehended--truths which only the future would fully reveal. R4940:3, 3650:5

They did not understand the things in the full degree. R4197:5; E177; HG133:4

They were inspired as to the words they spoke and wrote, and not as to the thoughts and sentiments. R1690:6

They were in some way, whether through miraculous or natural means, inspired by, or brought under the influence of God; so as to be used by him in speaking or writing such words as he wished to have expressed.

R1148:1

God used them to express his mind, though his mind, his spirit, his thoughts, were not in them. Though they expressed it, they could not understand his mind. R370:5

God was the one who moved these prophets to speak and write. CR400:2

God was able to inspire the sentiments and leave much of the clothing of them to the judgment and taste and mannerism of the prophet, merely overruling where necessary to hinder any misstatement. R3210:5

By the Holy Ghost -- By the mind or power of God. R370:5

Things which were not their own thoughts. R2521:2

Their minds were fecundated by God's power, causing them to bring forth thoughts such as God wished to have expressed. E175

Probably clairaudiently, after the manner in which evil spirits now speak through spirit mediums. R2400:5

God's holy power or influence operating upon the minds of the prophets caused them to speak and to write of future things in relationship to the divine purposes which even they themselves did not understand. Q787:4

The holy Spirit of God communicated information to the prophets through the holy angels, the invisible spirit beings who encamp round about them that fear God. R2349:6

Moved by one spirit, the Bible should be taken as a whole, and not disconnectedly. We should compare Scripture with Scripture. R24:1*

2 Peter 2

2 Peter 2:1

There were -- In the past. R3142:5

False prophets -- Public expounders of idolatry. A55

"Grievous wolves" in sheep's clothing. R1350:3*, 3142:5, 1851:4

Who evidently spoke by an inspiration, or power in them almost like the real prophets of God; these were the counterfeits. (Jer. 23:21) R265:4

Among the people -- Of Israel. R910:2, 767:6; A54; NS44:4

There shall be -- Among us. R1663:6*, 767:6

Future--in the end of the Gospel age. NS44:4

As the Jew was blinded by a false view of the Law, so now, many will be hindered by reason of the false presentation of the doctrine of grace from false teachers who claim that to err is human, to forgive, divine. C254

False teachers -- Peter thus positively asserts that there would be teachers of falsehood right in the midst of God's people. R1350:3*

Misrepresenting; putting darkness for light and light for darkness.

R2693:4 Who pretend to be shepherds; but are self-seekers, wolfish; they do not lay down their lives for the sheep, but feed upon the sheep. R4568:3

Some falsely claiming to be apostles. R5752:1

To pervert the truth. R3215:1

"Babylon," confusion, Christendom, was already beginning to work amongst the Lord's people in Apostle Paul's day, but the working was evidently but slight until after his and the other apostles' death. F201

Peter pays his compliments to the false teachers in and outside of the false systems, and locates them in the present time in no uncertain terms.

NS44:4

We see these as distinctly as we see false Christs, claiming to be bodies of Christ, claiming to be the church--while really there is but one Church. Theosophy, Christian Science, New Thought movements are among them. NS44:5; R3185:3

The apostles say little about the general unbelief of the world, but they do warn us repeatedly of those who will privately bring infidelity into the Church. R423:4

Whoever exercises the gift of teaching lays himself open to increased responsibility in the sight of God and men "Be not many teachers." (James 3:1) R2156:3

Privily -- Privately, secretly. F201; R1663:6*, 1335:6, 744:6, 552:4, 423:4

Deceptively; covering the real purport of their teachings. R3142:5

In a subtle manner. R910:2

They do not openly deny the meaning of the words "bought" and "ransom", but while quoting these words they covertly and privily seek to leave an impression contrary to their true and undeniable meaning. R744:6, 1350:2*, 463:2, 448:2

Having gradually and cunningly secured control of the church's conscience, the councils privily brought in damnable heresies, and palmed them off upon the conscience-fettered laity as truths. R1135:2

They must wear a garment of light, as Paul calls it, and the more successfully serve the error which they privily bring in and set before the Church. R910:2

Shall bring in -- Introduce. R1335:6, 423:4

To the fold. R3142:5

Future from the Apostle's day. R744:6

Damnable heresies -- Heresies of destruction. (Diaglott) R423:4

Destructive heresies. R744:3, 1350:3*, 1335:6

Errors leading to condemnation and rejection. R3142:5

Endeavoring to subvert the fundamentals of the Gospel. R552:4

To undermine the faith and to turn the faithful aside from the hopes and promises and simplicities of the Gospel. F201

The seriousness of denying the ransom is far reaching and leads into a great variety of errors and heresies reflecting against other truths and laying a foundation for other errors. R910:3, 641:4, 431:3, 190:1

Shame and confusion will cover the faces of many who propagated the God-dishonoring, love-extinguishing, truth-beclouding, saint-hindering, sinner-hardening, blasphemous doctrine of eternal torment. R2598:1

Many of the Lord's true followers have been dreaming about the conversion of the world, while the great enemy, Satan, has been sowing tares with liberal hand in their very midst. R3769:6

The appointment of elders is necessary because, now, as amongst the early Church, there are wolves in sheep's clothing who would bring in heresies, against which the chosen elders should be able to defend the flock.

R1890:4, 1851:4

The time has come "when they will not endure sound doctrine; but after their own lusts heap to themselves teachers, having itching ears; and shall be turned unto fables." (2 Tim. 4:3, 4) R676:5

The words "damnable," "destruction," and "pernicious," in verses 1 and 2 are all from the one Greek word. R744:3

Destructive heresies swiftly destroy the teachers as teachers and others follow their destructive ways and bring the true teachings of Scripture into disrepute. R744:3

Denying the Lord -- Greek, despotes, sovereign. E70; R744:3

"The having bought them Sovereign Lord denying." (Diaglott) It is a rule in the Greek to put the important or central thought first in a sentence.

The ransom is the central thought. R910:2, 1335:6, 744:3, 423:4, 44:4*

Making prominent the denial of having been bought as the destructive heresy. R744:3

Yet with much feigned reverence and humility they profess allegiance to him, thus falsely presenting themselves as messengers of truth.

A denial of the ransom. R1350:5*, 1459:4, 910:3, 852:2, 641:4, 125:6

This is the new view common amongst clergymen of every school and denomination--the no-ransom view--no atonement necessary. R3458:4, 744:6, 392:3

That bought them -- "With his own precious blood." (1 Pet. 1:19) E296; R392:3, 387:2

Or ransomed them. R744:3, 1459:4, 745:4

Greek, agorazo, to purchase in the open market. R387:2, 44:4; E447

"Ye were bought with a price." (1 Cor. 6:20) R387:2, 448:2, 392:3

Denying that any ransom price was given or required for man's recovery. C254; R448:2

Denying that our Lord gave for us and all men a corresponding price--removing the foundation of all our hopes. R910:3, 744:6, 552:4, 423:1

The ransom was and still is a sure test. Every doctrine that denies the ransom is an active opponent of the truth, is anti-(against) Christ; every doctrine that ignores it is seriously wrong, not of God. E296 In the days of the apostles, and especially now, some acknowledge Jesus as Lord, but deny that he "bought them." R744:3

The Lord's people should be on guard against the agents of another gospel, which claims that Jesus was merely an example and teacher. R1746:2; NS44:6, 318:5

He was our Savior or Redeemer first, and having bought, purchased, redeemed, ransomed us from the dominion or control of death, he became rightfully our owner, our Lord, our Master. R745:4

If he has not bought us, he is not our Lord, and has no right or control.

Hence those who deny the ransom, really deny the Lordship of Christ, no matter how much they may claim to acknowledge Jesus as Lord. R910:3

This is the rock which Christendom is even now striking against and being broken in pieces. (Matt. 21:44) R448:2

Those who intelligently and conscientiously memorialize the shed blood of our Lord's body, broken for us, are not the ones to fall into this sin.

R2457:2

The amount of truth now necessary to our sanctification and protection from the foretold "scoffers" of the end of this age, is much more than was necessary to those in former times. R1782:5

Swift destruction -- Contrary to the Universalist theory. R3083:2

Death is the penalty of willful sin. HG305:6

Not eternal torment of evil-doers. R1085:6; HG163:2, 305:6

2 Peter 2:2

Many shall follow -- Few, therefore, will be able to stand--a Little Flock. NS44:5

All but the "very elect" of God will be more or less stumbled by the errors and worldliness of our day. R5801:6

We do not seek to prohibit our readers from reading the works of Paine, Voltaire or Ingersoll, or the Day Star, but we want the latter as well as the rest labeled infidel. R631:6

Pernicious ways -- Destructive of the very foundation of hope and its corresponding license in dealing with Scriptures which oppose them. R910:3
Destructive of the truth, destructive of the faith once delivered to the saints. R744:6

As for those who come under the power of the Adversary we can only expect that their hearts and minds will become more and more perverse. R4477:5

By reason -- The goats and wolves in sheep's clothing striving for places of authority in the church. F248

The way of truth -- The true way of salvation--through the ransom--the way of the cross. R910:3, 744:6

Here we have the false teachers, the truth unpopular, and the majority falling into error. HG44:4

Evil spoken of -- Will be reviled. R910:3

The ecclesia is far better off without any public servant than to have for a leader a golden-tongued "goat," who would surely not "direct their hearts into the love of God," but seductively into wrong channels. F248

A warning against readers of The Day Star: Restitution will be the bait, error will be the hook, and sophistry the line by which the unwary will be drawn into infidelity. R431:3, 423:4

2 Peter 2:3

Through covetousness -- Ambition, etc. R1663:6*

A mark by which we may distinguish who are wolves in sheep's clothing. R3747:1

Make merchandise -- Would use you for their own advantage. R4480:4

Spared not -- In the time before the flood the angels had their trial. R4879:3

Angels that sinned -- Angels of light who became disobedient. R4976:1
Fallen angels; demons. R5059:1, 5470:1, 5043:4, 4577:3, 3309:3; SM195:1
Inferior angels. R4976:1, 4577:3

Who did not maintain their condition of loyalty to God. R4879:3

In Noah's day, by taking human wives; they "kept not their first estate."
(Jude 6) E104; F620; R4068:2, 2171:4, 892:6, 254:2

They preferred to materialize and live in human conditions. This was in violation of the divine arrangement, and was the result of their loss of faith in God's wisdom and power. R5115:6, 4577:4, 3934:4; NS549:1; OV17:4

They seem to be thoroughly degraded in their appetites and desires. R4976:2; HG725:4

Mankind became a prey to these angels who "lusted after strange flesh." (Jude 6,7) R5706:3

Assuming human bodies, which they had been privileged to do for the purpose of assisting mankind, they misused those bodies. R3934:4, 5160:1
These angels should have been contented and happy in the exercise of the powers and qualities and blessings given them by the Father richly to enjoy. R4068:2

The "angel of light" sophistries of the powers of evil, and their works of healing, will surely delude all whose eyes of understanding are not open through heeding the testimony of the sure Word of God. R5801:6

Their means of getting possession of human bodies has been by getting possession of their wills. R4976:2

The fallen angels, although restrained, have contact with each other and are well aware of procedures in general. R3309:3

The reign of sin and death amongst mankind furnished the opportune test of the loyalty or disloyalty of all the angels of heaven. CR66:5; OV185:4

The Bible mentions evil angels as well as righteous ones, a fact quite contrary to Mrs. Eddy's (Christian Scientist) definition of angel. HG705:6*
Cast them down -- Condemned them to an overthrow. R5043:4

In the sense of being treated ignominiously. SM195:1

These fallen spirits frequented the earth in the days of our Lord and the apostles. Hence they were not down in some place, but "down" in the sense of being degraded from former honor and liberty. R2603:5

From honor and dignity, into dishonor and condemnation. R2603:5; Q21, 743:3
Degraded them and delivered them into chains of darkness. Q841:T, 743:3; R2603:5; HG30:2

To hell -- Greek, tartaroo, our earth's atmosphere. SM195:1

Literally, tartaroo, the lower atmosphere. Hence, the devil is called "the prince of the power of the air." (Eph. 2:2) HG30:2

The Greek word tartaroo refers more to an act than to a place. This is the only Scripture where this word is used. Q743:3; R2603:5; HG511:5; SM195:1
Reserved in tartarus--our earth's atmosphere. R5043:5, 4880:2, 4879:3, 4068:2, 3490:2, 2171:4, 254:2, 170:3*, 111:3; HG130:6, 725:1; NS839:5; OV17:4; SM97:3

Confined in tartarus--the circumambient air of this planet. OV294:2; HG130:1; NS124:1

Thus separated from the holy angels. R4068:2; SM195:T

If both mankind and the angels are to be judged during the same period, it would seem entirely reasonable that both should be associated with the earth and its atmosphere. R2646:4

The translators of the Revised Version erred in giving the marginal reading of tartarus--a word used in Grecian mythology as the name for a dark abyss or prison. Q743:3

The place where Satan and the fallen angels are restrained. NS839:5

Chains of darkness -- Cut off from fellowship with God and the holy angels and no longer permitted to materialize and thus to commingle with humanity. R4682:2, 5043:5, 4880:2, 4577:4; OV18:3; SM98:T, 548:1

Reserving them in chains, under darkness. F620; Q841:T

The darkness of the night, for they can operate only under the cover of the night or conditions of darkness. Q841:T Imprisoned, not in a special place, but in the sense of having their liberties restrained. R5043:5; F620

They are imprisoned, restrained, but not destroyed. R2171:4; HG725:1

"Spirits in prison." (1 Peter 3:19) Q744:1, 840:4

The penalty inflicted upon them. PD17/26

Restrained from materialization and from working their power in light, as they had done previously. R4976:1, 2171:4; HG725:1; Q671

Whenever these fallen spirits, in spiritualistic seances, manifest their powers through mediums, pretending to be certain dead human beings, they must always do their work in the dark, because darkness is the chain by which they are bound. R2603:5; HG30:1

Whatever they do must be done in the dark. SM195:1

Darkness is twin to evil and all the foul spirits of earth seek its cover.

No respectable person likes to be found in these dens of darkness; or with the literature that comes from such a fountain. HG30:5

Darkness is the first and foremost condition of all their manifestations, nor can they endure the full glare of a tallow candle. God has placed them under this one restriction of darkness. HG30:3

They have exercised their influence to whatever extent they have had permission. If they had had unlimited power they would have wrecked the world long ago. R5470:1

Secretly; or through agents, mediums, witches, etc. R4068:2, 4976:1, 4880:2, 266:4; HG130:1; OV18:3

This includes both Satan and the angels of lower order. SM548:1

For 4,400 years these fallen angels have been exiles from God. R5160:4, 4880:2

They have been restrained since the flood. R4976:6, 5160:4, 5043:4

They were not destroyed, because, while their fleshly bodies which they assumed might indeed perish, yet they would merely dematerialize, or assume their spirit conditions again. R5043:4

The sentence against these was not death, but that they should be confined in chains of darkness until the judgment of the great day. SM98:T

The letting loose of the winds (Rev. 7:1), powers of the fallen angels, would seem to show that God has let go his hand of restraint; resulting in the complete overthrow of the social order in anarchy. R5470:1, 4880:4; Q21, 737:3

Now the great day nears, the chains are being gradually loosened, and these wicked spirits have greater liberties than ever before. R3490:2, 2171:4; HG725:2

Spiritists claim that the spirits are breaking these bonds and that gradually they will be able to do fully in the light everything that they can now do in the dark, and even more than this. R4880:3, 266:5

Not that the evil spirits will be able to break the bands, or chains, but that it will be part of God's plan to let this happen. R4976:6, 4880:3

We find evidences that the fallen spirits are obtaining more liberty. We have reason to believe that there have been materializations. R4976:5, 4977:1; HG30:3

The history of these demons would seem to show that the evil concupiscence which led to their fall before the flood, still continues with them. Their pleasure is still in lasciviousness and degradation. R2171:5; HG725:4

These fallen angels did appear in human form before the flood, but there is not one instance recorded in which they have been able to free themselves from this restraint of chain since. The angels that left not their first estate are not so restrained, and have appeared frequently as men, as recorded in the Old and New Testaments. R1678:2

They have less power, less privilege, than formerly. R4976:1

However, they were still working, as when Saul sought the witch of Endor to inquire as to how the battle would go. (1 Sam. 28:7-20) R4976:2; HG726:2

So we read in the New Testament that there are many possessed--not of devils, but of demons. R4976:2; NS124:1; OV294:2

As for the sons of the fallen angels by human mothers, there is no hope for them. They will never be awakened or resurrected. But the rest of the antediluvian sinners of Adam's race were as much redeemed by Christ's sacrifice as other sinners of the race at any time. R5160:4, 3934:5

We are to distinguish clearly between the restraint of the fallen angels and the binding of Satan who is the prince of demons. R4976:1; HG725:2; Q22:2

They were not imprisoned in some far-off world called hell, nor are they engaged there in stoking fires for the torture of poor humanity. R5043:4

Not in literal chains of iron. SM195:1; Q671

Unto -- Until the judgment of the great day. R4976:5, 5470:1, 5160:5, 4879:3, 266:4; Q21, 22:3; SM195:1

Until the great Millennial morning. R4682:2, 2171:4; HG725:2

The angels may have been more or less on trial since the time that they were consigned to the chains of darkness. Q20

Judgment -- Greek, crisis, trial. R1679:2; HG728:6

The great Millennial day of judgment. R2603:5, 1679:2; HG725:2, 728:6

Implies a fresh trial, seeming to apply to the present time, a great time of temptation. Q17:T; R4880:1, 4879:3; NS124:1; Q22:3

In order to be tried at all, these fallen angels must have certain liberties granted, to prove them. R4880:1

A trial somewhat after the manner of their previous trial before the flood. R4880:1

A great trial, or testing, in respect to their willingness or unwillingness to do according to the divine will. R4880:3

The evil spirits will do all the evil that is in their power, and this will constitute the trial of all the fallen angels--the lifting of the restraints to see whether they will go contrary to the divine will. R4880:4

At the beginning of Messiah's 1000 year day of the reign of righteousness. SM195:1

In the closing of the Gospel age, and the lapping of the Millennial age. R3490:2, 266:4; Q21

In due time there is to be a judgment or decision rendered of God respecting those angels--in connection with the inauguration of the Millennial day. SM98:T

The work of the glorified Church will be not only to judge the world during the Millennial age, but it will include also the judgment of these fallen angels. (1 Cor. 6:3) R2646:4

Judgment of the present time and not judgment of the Millennial day. Q22:3

We cannot think that God will allow this trial of the angels during the Millennial reign, for then, nothing shall hurt; nothing shall destroy.

R4880:1

Trial or judgment of the fallen angels will probably be along lines of their previous trial or test--those obedient to God have a blessing, those disobedient have a curse. Q16:6

Whether this implies that in the immediate future they will be able to materialize in daylight is difficult to determine. If so, it would greatly increase Satan's power to blind and deceive for a short season. R2603:5

It may be something in connection with the saints that will constitute the test of these angels. R4880:6

The things which you and I may see, and understand, and declare, are the things which are judging them, or becoming a test for them. And as they come to know these things, they are tested by them. Q18

The judgment of the great day may not refer to the fallen angels so particularly as to us of the world. Q21

In a sense their trial has been in progress just the same as the judgment and trial of the Church has been in progress, to see whether or not we love righteousness and hate iniquity. Q21

It would not surprise us if some of the fallen angels who sinned in the past have repented and have had long centuries of experience with the unrepentant ones. The trial time will prove each of these angels. R4880:3;

Q21

All who manifest their alliance with evil in any way will become subjects of the second death; while others who show their loyalty to God will mark themselves as worthy, presumably, of everlasting life. R4880:6

We have reason for believing that after 1881, there will be wonderful spiritual manifestations. R170:3*

2 Peter 2:5

Spared not -- With the Deluge the first world passed away; that dispensation, that order of things, came to an end. R1614:3, 2842:6

The old world -- Greek, kosmos, order or state of things. R10:2*

It was not the earth which came to an end, merely that order or condition of things which prevailed prior to the flood that ceased there. PD18/26; Q777:1

That was the dispensation in which the angels were permitted to mingle with men--the object being to help mankind recover from the fall. God knew they could not do this, but he permitted it for a good purpose. R1614:3,6

The first 1656 years of earth's history, down to the Deluge--the period of the ministration of angels--showed to angels and to men the inability of the angels to recover fallen man. R1154:6; NS549:1

Long enough to furnish a test of loyalty of every member of the angelic host. NS549:1

By the fall of some of the angels, it became manifest that evil was very contaminating and demoralizing even to the pure, and could only be dealt with as a plague--stamped out. R1154:6

Saved Noah -- Sparing only Noah (who was perfect in his generation, not of the hybrid race, Gen. 6:9), and his family. This was part of the preparation for the new dispensation. R1560:4; SM97:2

As Noah and his family were the only ones spared from the old order, so Christ is the Ark of Safety now for all who will be saved out of the present order of things. R5161:4

The eighth person -- God was fully justified in the arrangement which blotted out the human family, except eight persons--righteous Noah and his family. SM61:1

The flood -- Which deluged the world and wiped out the whole mongrel race with which sin had peopled the earth. R1560:4

An attestation to the truthfulness of the Deluge. R2842:6

World of the ungodly -- Degradation, and not advancement, was the course from Adam to Noah. R866:1

2 Peter 2:6

Sodom -- Of Sodom it is declared that the sin thereof was great, and God "took them away as he saw good." (Ezek. 16:50) R1779:2, 1270:4

Condemned -- Greek, katakrino. R999:2

The Sodomites were not condemned to second death but were an example of those who would be. R1618:3

With an overthrow -- Sin and death were condemned or sentenced to overthrow by reason of the ransom given for the slaves over whom they have reigned. R999:2

Making them -- They were made an example of the ultimate doom that will come upon all who reject God's grace and die the second death. R5076:5, 583:5

An ensample -- An example of God's treatment of evildoers--both of his vengeance and of his mercy. His vengeance was manifested in their destruction; and his mercy is specially manifest in their promised deliverance. R1618:2

So far from creating sin or inciting to wickedness and crime, God's actions, where he has interfered at all, have been toward the restraint of sin. R1779:1, 1270:4

The Sodomites, and all of Adam's posterity, are included in the redemption work of Jesus. R5076:5, 1779:2, 1270:5

Unto those -- An example of them for the restraint of those. R1779:2, 1270:5

That after -- Not examples of God's dealings in the present time, but of the punishment or destruction awaiting the finally incorrigible during or at the close of the Millennial judgment period, or day. R583:5

Live ungodly -- Contrary to God's will--in sin. R1270:4

Vexed -- Lot was not in sympathy with the evils of Sodom. R5179:2
Having no real peace of mind in the selfish, worldly choice of residence which he made. R2848:6

2 Peter 2:8

Dwelling among them -- His determination to make the country of the Jordan his home does not signify that he had fellowship with the Sodomites. R2848:5

Vexed -- Lot was sore distressed by the lascivious life of the wicked Sodomites. R3939:4

His righteous soul -- Deluded into association with evil influences for the sake of worldly prosperity. He thought he could live separate from the contaminations of Sodom, and even exercise a good moral influence over the unrighteous. R2484:6

2 Peter 2:9

The Lord knoweth how -- It is very seldom that God visits punishment upon the world in the present time. R569:5

"I will trust and not be afraid." (Isa. 12:2) F420

Reserve the unjust -- Every wrong deed, every wrong principle acted upon, has an evil affect upon character; as all right doing brings blessing. So mankind, as they have obeyed or disobeyed, will be elevated or degraded in character when they enter the next age. R4856:3

God is long-suffering and patient to the ungodly. R4856:4
God hath appointed a day in which he will judge the world by Jesus Christ.
R569:5

Day of judgment -- Greek, krisis. HG231:5

The Millennial day. R1882:4; HG334:5

The Day of Vengeance. NS217:3

When "he will reward every man according to his works." (Matt. 16:27)

A103; HG347:4

God is not punishing them now. HG231:5; NS217:6

Those who have followed a wrong course will get their lesson. They will have much more difficulty than will those who have learned lessons from the tribulations of the present life. R4856:4

A man who has practised evil will require severe discipline before he will learn that the customs of the past will not be allowed. R4856:4

To be punished -- Greek, kolasin, to cut off, as lopping off branches of trees, to prune. R1040:2, 2608:2; HG133:5; OV166:T

Since the new order will be such that nothing will be allowed to hinder it, a wrong course in this life will then receive retribution in the sense that it will be the result of a wrong condition. R4856:4

The billions of the dead will be rewarded at the return of Christ.

Whatever may become of them, we may be sure they are not now in a condition of suffering. A103; NS217:3

The punishments will be adapted to the nature of the offences, and the benevolent object in view--man's permanent establishment in righteousness. R2613:5

The purgatory of the Bible is to begin when this Gospel age ends, when the Little Flock of saints has been selected. R1469:4

Not eternal torment, but some just recompense of reward for every evil deed. SM222:T; HG334:5

But chiefly them -- Principally teachers, and chiefly in the end of this age; those once among the elect. F166

Dignities -- Those whom God has honored and "set" in the Body. F166

These -- All the willfully wicked, disobedient or rebellious. R5078:5; OV185:4

Disobedient; lovers of evil. PD95/109; R5167:2; NS579:4

Willful sinners against full light. OV363:T

The unwilling, recalcitrants. OV24:3

Natural brute beasts -- The willful rejector and opposer shall be cut off in the second death; die like a brute beast. R4849:6, 5776:5, 5037:4, 4657:1, 1005:2; HG707:2*; NS831:1; Q224:6

Those not willing to recognize the King of Glory and obey him are to be destroyed. R5847:4, 1006:6; OV251:4

Those who forfeit and lose the likeness of God, the perfection in which he created them, are reckoned as unworthy of the honorable title of sons of God--as the brute creation which never had and never lost this likeness.

R1005:1

"And it shall come to pass, that every soul which will not hear that prophet shall be destroyed from among the people." (Acts 3:23) R5847:4; OV166:T

None will ever be redeemed from the second death. CR270:2; NS832:3; NS844:6; OV291:4

But there shall be no knowledge of suffering for them. R4965:4; OV185:4

Taken and destroyed -- The second death. OV363:T; R5344:1, 5314:6, 5078:5, 4849:6, 4755:4; HG643:6; NS841:3, 858:1; OV24:3; PD95/109

Those who will not be obedient to the requirements of Christ's Kingdom will be cut off in the second death, having had the full measure of divine favor. R4989:6, 4965:4; NS863:6; Q225:T

All who fail to get the eternal life or happiness in God's provision will get eternal death, second death, utter extinction. NS708:2

As it is proper to destroy a corrupt person who has injured others, and to cut off his opportunity of perpetuating evil, so it would be to destroy a brute beast. Q224:6

Not preserved in torture. SM314:2; OV145:4, 174:6, 373:5; HG222:3, 608:1; Q225:T

Utterly perish -- Everlasting destruction. OV166:T, 145:5, 125:T; R5641:2, 5371:2, 5314:6, 5167:5; CR293:4; NS832:3; SM437:T

Annihilation. Q763:2; NS832:3, 863:6

Whoever willingly and knowingly rejects the grace of God, and chooses sin in preference to righteousness, will be esteemed a wicked sinner, unworthy of everlasting life or any further favors from God. R5314:6; NS844:6

Their destruction will be similar to that of the brute beast that perisheth. R4755:4; OV125:T

This penalty is only for the wicked who willingly and intentionally refuse the grace of God. CR279:3; R4755:4; HG643:6

Ultimately sin shall be destroyed. R5344:1

If we should fall away, it would be impossible to renew us again to repentance; God would have nothing further for us; our disregard of his mercy would mean that we would die the second death. (Jude 12) R5641:2

We once died to sin and to have it revive means a return to wallowing in the mire. R4843:4; Q507:8

Contrary to the Universalist theory. R3083:2; NS831:1

Own corruption -- Those who demonstrate their unwillingness to come into heart sympathy with righteousness. SM437:1

We may rejoice even in the second death of the unwilling and disobedient, realizing that true and righteous is the divine edict under which they will perish. CR67:4

Souls -- Beings, persons. R205:3, 276:6

The right way -- The ways of righteousness. F166

The way of Balaam -- Type of a class that teach error for profit. F166

Representing false teachers in the nominal church. R2204:6

Wages of unrighteousness -- The reward of iniquity. R2204:5

Earthly gain. F166

When a reward was offered Balaam if he would curse Israel, he was willing, in order to secure the reward, to conform to the evil proposition in spirit, in intention. R2204:5

Some of these Balaams are in the ministry and for the sake of salary and the maintenance of their positions, and the friendship of the wealthy Balaks, are willing to preach doctrines which they do not believe. R2204:6

2 Peter 2:16

Dumb ass speaking -- Contrary to the teachings of many modern theologians. The Bible is so interwoven and united in its various parts that to tear from it a miracle is to destroy or discredit the whole. A61; R949:6

2 Peter 2:18

Were clean escaped -- Those who accept Christ during this Gospel age, are reckoned as having passed from death unto life; as having escaped the wrath, "the corruption that is in the world." (2 Pet. 1:4) E410

They shall escape this special wrath, but they do not escape the general wrath which is revealed from heaven against all unrighteousness. E410

While they -- False teachers once enlightened. F166 Promise them liberty -- Freedom from belief in one God, one Lord and one hope. E286

They themselves -- The teachers. F166

Philosophers. E285

Corruption -- Philosophies claiming to have more liberty. E286

2 Peter 2:20

Knowledge of the Lord -- That is, by being "begotten by the Word of God." R1698:3; SM715:1

Jesus Christ -- Their ransom. R383:5

Overcome -- The beginning of any sin is the first yielding to its intoxicating influence: and therefore we are faithfully warned to abstain from the very appearance of evil. (1 Thes. 5:22) R2017:1

Than the beginning -- They are worse than those who have always been of the world. R1589:4

Better for them -- For those who have once been clearly in the truth and have forsaken it. F629; R1589:4 Those that have received the grace of God in vain. SM715:T

Those who sin willfully after receiving a knowledge of the truth--and consequently no hope for them in the coming age. (Heb. 10:26) R2698:1, 1698:3; F167; SM715:T

They have had their blessing. R4628:5

Not to have known -- They are in a much worse condition than the world. R4784:5

"It is impossible to renew them again unto repentance." (Heb. 6:6)

R2698:1, 4628:3, 1698:3, 383:4, 260:6; F166, 630; SM715:T

Of righteousness -- Truth. R1062:5

"When a righteous man turneth away from his righteousness and committeth iniquity, and dieth in them (unrepentant), for his iniquity that he hath done shall he die." (Ezek. 18:26) R2016:6

After they have known -- Been "begotten by the Word of God." R1698:3

Having known the Lord and having once experienced his tender care and helpfulness in all of life's affairs. R4784:5

To turn from -- Having wandered off, losing their first love; having forgotten that they were purged from their old sins. R4784:5

There can be no more imputation of Christ's merit to such. R4628:5

The holy commandment -- One who is awakened from the creeds of the Dark Ages and sees, is a thousandfold more guilty than the poor blinded deluded ones whom his influence and example helps to keep in bondage and ignorance of the truth. R1062:5

The true proverb -- Proverbs 26:11. R2053:2

The dog -- Because the dog nature and disposition are still there. R1589:5

There is nothing in the Bible indicating the resurrection of animals. Q818:2

Is turned -- Returned. F166; R4628:5, 260:6

To his own vomit -- If we cease to desire to do God's will, we cut loose from our Lord and begin to walk according to our own will, as natural and no longer spiritual beings. R260:6

This step must prove fatal. R4628:5

This applies only to the class that comes to the Lord now and has the hearing ear, the seeing eye, and the begetting of the Spirit. Q209:2; NS745:4

That was washed -- "He washed us from our sins in his own blood." (Rev. 1:5) E445

Wallowing -- The class who returns to sin again. R5270:1, 3892:2, 2295:1, 1633:6; NS382:4, 745:4

Those who turn willfully and deliberately back to the will of the flesh. R5486:2, 4628:4; NS372:5

Losing the Spirit of the Lord, the Spirit of the truth, and abandoning their consecration altogether. HG668:5

Having once been delivered out of Babylon and returning thither. R2991:5

In the mire -- Of sectarianism and blasphemy against God. R2991:5

Filthy, in having the very gross sins that the world has. R4974:3

Each member of this Royal Priesthood is at liberty to go back to wallowing in the mire. SM11:T; NS382:3

If a new creature sinned willfully, he would no longer be a new creature. R5729:1

"Those who draw back unto perdition." (Heb. 10:39) T68

Willfully, willingly, intentionally, casting aside their justification and relationship to the Lord. NS372:6

Removing the covering of sins, and falling back where he was before. R2295:1

To the ways of sin and the gratification of the flesh. R3892:2; T68; NS157:6

Giving evidence that they have not the real heart-love for the truth, purity and righteousness, and are not worthy of the life everlasting. SM773:1

These have gone back on their covenant and there is nothing left for these but "the blackness of darkness." (Jude 13) R5270:2; Q653:1

These will die the second death. Whether their number is large or small is not for us to judge. We may reasonably hope that such unfaithful characters do not predominate. HG668:5

2 Peter 3

2 Peter 3:1

Stir up -- Whatsoever things are true, just, lovely and of good report--think on these things and stir up each other's minds with these. (Phil. 4:8) R2540:1

Your pure minds -- Spiritual minds--to love, faith, zeal and good works. R5556:4

We may put before our brethren of the Lord's flock only "clean provender."
R2540:1

By -- Greek, en. Translated: in, by, through, with, under; and determined by the context. R836:3

Remembrance -- Concerning these important things. R5863:3

2 Peter 3:2

Holy prophets, and. . . apostles -- The same authority was claimed for the writers of the epistles, as that which was accorded to the Old Testament Scriptures. R1146:1

2 Peter 3:3

Shall come -- Greek, eleusantai. R149:1*

In the last days -- In the closing years of the Gospel age--in the harvest. B167; R603:1*, 579:4, 349:4

During the presence of the Lord; as in the days of Noah. B167

The conclusion of this age and the inauguration of the new; because this one is to pass away with great commotion and the new order brought in. Q430:5

Scoffers -- In the nominal church. B167; R2979:1, 2693:4, 603:1*

Unfaithful servants and hypocrites. Professed Christians, overcharged and intoxicated with the spirit of the world. B167

The scoffer's point is that nothing in the circumstances appeals to the natural eyes. R237:5*

This great change will come suddenly--a radical change such as came in the days of Noah--a sudden catastrophe, the coming of which will be scoffed at by those having a form of godliness without its power. R5863:3

Many professing Christians are looking for a fleshly Christ, visible to the fleshly eye, and making an imposing demonstration which they cannot mistake. R5993:3, 591:4*

Their own lusts -- Their own desires, plans, theories, etc. B167; R2979:1, 349:4

Increase of knowledge among those whose hearts are depraved, and who are given over to self-seeking, will simply increase the means of lawlessness. R1190:4

2 Peter 3:4

Where is the promise -- Some would thus question, being surprised at the information that we are living in the days of the Son of Man, while there is as yet no outward manifestation of his presence. R2975:6, 948:3
This very inquiry is most literally fulfilled; almost the exact words being used by those who sneer at his presence. R591:4*

This indicates that the class who when the end comes are in darkness concerning it, are unbelievers of God's testimony. R621:1

Ignorance of God's plan is to be expected of the world, but the true people of God have the promise of his special instruction so that they need not be in darkness respecting the divine program. SM184:2

It would be with the world as it was in the days of Noah, careless and thoughtless, the whole attention given to fleshly desires, not understanding nor caring for the spiritual. R326:6*

In presenting the truth to others, let time be the last part of the "good news" and tell no one of the time and presence, except they show that they have "an ear to hear." R216:6

Of his coming -- Greek, parousia, presence. B159, 167; F223; R5993:3, 2979:1, 2975:5, 1693:1, 948:3, 621:1, 591:4*, 579:4, 555:4*, 349:1, 237:4*, 223:1*, 216:6; HG24:4, 26:6

Accepting a 587 BC date for the fall of Zedekiah, instead of 606 BC, would extend the Jubilee antitype 19 years--to 1893 AD. R3437:4

Fathers fell asleep -- In death, awaiting the resurrection morning. E346

They are still asleep in the dust of the earth. SM397:T

All the dead are reckoned as sleeping, waiting for his return and his exaltation with his elect Bride in glory. R2197:6

The apostles frequently used this appropriate, hopeful and peaceful figure of speech. F345; R1881:1; HG332:2

All things continue -- The affairs of the world continue in their ordinary channels. R2975:6

The present order of things. NS787:6

It is in appearance only that things so appear to the worldly. NS27:4

Many whose fears are aroused, quiet them by supposing that the present must be only the ordinary course, that it has always been so. R948:3, 353:1*

Their chief consolation; no radical changes in the affairs of humanity. R5062:1

In the days of his presence the world will be eating, drinking, planting and building, and know not. R2975:6, 349:4; B167

They remember not that the ark and the flood were the end of a former epoch, and that present events are as much out of the usual rut of this epoch, as the closing events of that "world" were out of the usual. R948:3

The conservative Phariseism of today shakes the cautious head and says; we cannot be on the eve of a new dispensation and a revolution so stupendous, involving the whole present social structure. R1488:5

The natural man and his scientific leaders will consider that earthquakes have been going on and will continue to go on without any relationship to our Lord's second presence and the time of trouble. HG400:4

They are unable to understand the "signs of the times" revealing his return. R5993:4; B167

They do not realize that every age has its close or "harvest." R948:3, 579:4

For such reasons many shut the eyes of their understanding to the most remarkable condition of affairs in our day. SM288:T

Since six thousand years have passed without God's interposition to suppress sin and to lift mankind out of its present state, they reason that God's future dealings should be judged of by the past. R1092:4

As they were -- As at present. B167

This way. (Diaglott) R237:5*

From the beginning -- As they are now and have been from the foundation of the world. R1092:4; HG400:4; NS27:4

Evolutionists conclude that man did not fall from the divine image, but has been progressing from the image of a monkey, gradually attaining perfection. R3893:6, 2693:3

2 Peter 3:5

Willingly are ignorant -- The majority of professing Christians are careless, indifferent to what the Lord had caused to be written for their admonition and encouragement and assistance in this "evil day." SM288:1

Heavens -- Referring to the spirit beings and influences--the angels, fallen and unfallen. OV27:2

The spiritual or superior rule of the angels. R4222:3; A69; HG538:6; PD94/108

Earth -- Social conditions. PD94/108

Referring to humanity subjected to the spiritual influences. OV27:2

Peter calls each of these periods a separate heavens and earth--heaven symbolizes the higher or spiritual controlling powers, earth symbolizes human government and social arrangements. A69; HG538:6

Out of the water -- When the waters subsided, the tops of the mountains and hills appeared again. Even the trees were not uprooted, for if they had been floating on the water the dove could have found rest. HG11:3

In the water -- The flood waters rose until the hills were covered, and then the mountains. HG11:3

World that then was -- Greek, kosmos, order or state of things. R1677:3, 5161:2, 97:2*, 10:2*

The first great epoch, or dispensation, or age; before the flood. A66; R5161:2, 1677:3, 1615:4, 532:2, 256:5, 97:2*; HG537:6; OV26:4; Q852:4

A different order from the present, hence the prince of this present evil world was not the prince of that which preceded this--of the world or dispensation before the flood. R1677:6

Several Scriptures suggest that the first world was under the supervision and special ministrations of the angels. R1677:6; A66, 220; HG537:6; OV26:4

The rainbow in the clouds was given as a sign of God's covenant with men, that the earth should never again be destroyed by a flood of waters.

R1615:4

As Noah and his family were the only ones spared from the old order of things, so Christ is the Ark of Safety now for all who will be saved out of the present order of things. R5161:4

Being overflowed -- The close of the first dispensation. R2842:6

With water -- The fact that the water was literal leads some to believe that the fire also must be literal, but this by no means follows. Noah's ark was literal too, but it typified Christ. A318

Perished -- Having served its purpose. A69; HG538:6

Came to an end. R10:2*

Disappeared--not the literal heaven nor the literal earth, but the symbolic or figurative. R4222:3

Not the literal earth and literal heavens ceased there, but that dispensation or arrangement of things existing before the flood. A318

It appears that there was little or no change of the earth, or heavens, but simply a great destruction of life. HG11:4

2 Peter 3:7

But the heavens -- Symbolizes the higher or spiritual controlling powers. A69; HG538:6; PD94/108

Civil and ecclesiastical rule. B168

Satan, and religious systems under Satanic direction. OV27:2

We see more or less of an excitement now amongst theologians and all classes. People are losing confidence in their leaders of the past. R5317:5

Just now they are having a little diversion with special attacks on us. R5317:5

And the earth -- The entire social fabric. B168; D271; PD84/108

Human society as now organized under Satan's control. A69; HG539:1

We are expecting a change; and if this change shall be accompanied by physical or electrical disturbances, now is the time for them to be coming. R5318:1

Which are now -- The second great epoch or dispensation, from the flood to the establishment of the Kingdom of God. A67, 318; R4222:3, 2832:2, 1684:1, 1677:3, 1615:4, 532:2, 256:5; OV26:4; Q852:4

Under the limited control of Satan, "the prince of this world." A67; HG233:6, 537:6

"This present evil world." (Gal. 1:4) R1814:1, 5161:2, 1684:1, 1615:4, 256:5; A67; HG538:1; OV26:4; Q852:4

Called "the present evil world" not because there is nothing good in it, but because in it evil is permitted to predominate. A67; R5161:2, 10:3*; OV26:4; HG538:2; PD84/108

Society was reorganized under new conditions, but on the same physical earth, and a new spiritual government or rule or order obtained also.

R4222:3

Includes three ages, each a step in the plan of God for the overthrow of evil. Each step is higher than that preceding it, and carries the plan forward and nearer to completion. A71; R256:5; HG539:4

The three subdivisions are the Patriarchal age reaching from the flood to the death of Jacob; the Jewish age, reaching to the death of Christ; and the Gospel age, reaching to the first resurrection. HG11:6, 539:2; A71; R256:5

Man is permitted to try governing himself; but by reason of the fall he is under the control of Satan. A221

Clearly spoken of as distinct from the former heavens and earth. HG11:3

By the same word -- Of divine authority. A318

Reserved unto fire -- Representing the destruction of whatever is burned. A318

This second world is doomed to pass away. R10:2*, 2832:2, 1615:4

The whole structure will be involved in anarchy. R5317:3; B168; D271; PD84/108

The overwhelming flood of trouble coming shortly. B168

A destructive season of lawlessness that will destroy the "elements"--labor, capitalistic, etc., that go to make up the present social order. Q852:4

A great cataclysm of trouble, anarchy, called "fire," will mark the termination of the present dispensation. R2842:6, 5796:1, 5753:2, 5735:3, 5317:2, 2832:2, 1615:4

All present institutions are to utterly perish in the great time of trouble with which this age is very shortly to end. R2832:3; HG234:1

The conflagration might possibly have its beginning in the Church. R5317:5

The trial of the fallen angels (of the present heavens) is in the near future--perhaps to some extent already begun. R4880:1

Even now there are fires burning here and there, exposing, to some extent, the evildoers. R5317:3

The world that now is is already being violently shaken, and is beginning to crumble away financially, politically, socially and ecclesiastically.

Q853:T

This attempted reign of man under Satan is to end in the greatest time of trouble the world has ever known. A221

There will be no patching of present institutions, but a clean sweep of them by the fire of divine wrath preceding the establishment of the new order. R6014:5, 2218:3

Not to be fulfilled literally by electrical displays of lightning, by storms, or in connection with the zone of electrical energy which some scientists believe is approaching the earth, etc. R5317:2

Day of judgment -- The word "judgment" implies, not merely a sentence, but also a trial. HG315:5; NS161:6

God's justice, indignation, will burn against every one who is wicked, and this fire will go on all through the Millennial age. R5317:3

The judgments of the Lord will be abroad in the earth and the inhabitants of the world will learn righteousness. (Isa. 26:9) R5317:3

An opportunity to rise out of sinful and fallen conditions, to full harmony with God. R5076:5

God has elected kings, priests, and judges, to rule, bless, instruct and judge mankind, in general. SM175:2; CR486:1

If the thought be kept in mind that the world's day of judgment is a thousand years long, the character of the judging then to be done will the more readily be discerned. NS161:6

A sentence upon each individual of the human family would be impossible within a 24-hour day under any imaginable conditions, reasonable or unreasonable. NS161:6

2 Peter 3:8

That one day -- During which Christ will reign over and thereby bless all the families of the earth. A222; R3889:6

The day of the Lord's presence. B168

The world's judgment--one of the thousand year days--the day of Messiah's glorious reign. SM151:1, 171:3; R5780:3, 568:6; B168; CR486:1; HG147:3, 315:5; NS180:2, 857:6; Q794:4

The Millennial day. R2664:4, 5780:3, 2990:3, 2304:1

"He hath appointed a day, in which he will judge the world in righteousness." (Acts 17:31) R3028:6, 5780:3, 5563:6, 2990:3, 2664:4; CR486:1; HG273:2; NS329:2; Q794:4, 830:T, 853:4; SM175:2

"They lived and reigned with Christ a thousand years." (Rev. 20:4) R568:6, 2304:1

Not a twenty-four hour day. F19; R4552:1, 3889:6, 2304:1, 568:6; HG315:5; NS161:2, 180:1, 329:3; Q794:4

With the Lord -- The interim between our Lord's death and his second advent is not long from God's standpoint. R2454:3; NS5:3, 31:3, 514:1

As a thousand years -- With man. NS161:6

Each day of the great week which commenced with the creation of Adam and ends with full restitution to the image and favor of God, is a thousand years. R1187:3, 6013:6

During six of these great days the death sentence has brought man down in some respects to the level of the brute. R4552:1

Bible chronology quite clearly teaches that the six thousand years since Adam's creation have ended. Now the great seventh day, also a thousand years long, has commenced. R6013:6; SM792:2

The seventh thousand day commenced in 1873, consequently we are now in the Sabbath day. R230:2, 91:5*; B40

The Bible mentions days of various lengths. R5139:3, 568:6; HG583:4; Q758:2

A thousand years as one day -- Adam died "in the day" in which he became a sinner (1000-year day), and none of his posterity lived more than 969 years. R3391:2, 3377:6, 1610:4; F332; HG120:2; NS707:4

"In the day that thou eatest thereof." (Gen. 2:17) F332; E391; R4551:6, 3377:6, 2768:5, 2153:2, 1718:2, 1610:3; HG297:6, 608:2; OV16:3; Q762:5

The six great thousand-year days beginning with Adam are ended. Bviii; R6013:6, 5139:3, 3180:5, 91:5; SM792:2

Six great days constitute man's period of battling with sin and death and the seventh shall be the day of Messiah, the Sabbath, or rest day to the world. SM171:3, 471:1; PD18/26

The development of God's plan has been long from the human standpoint, but not so from the divine. PD18/26; R2736:1, 702:4*; NS5:3, 31:3, 399:4

It is only as measured by the shortness of present life that 6000 years seem very long. With God, "a thousand years are but as yesterday." (Psa. 90:4) R1092:4, 2768:5; HG583:4; NS393:1, 457:3

Our Lord died in the year of the world 4161--after four days had passed and the fifth day had begun. R3375:2, 1187:3

The Lord is not slack -- God is not slow. R4856:4

Though it may at present appear as though the Lord is slack in the fulfillment of his promises, both in regard to well-doers and to evildoers, it would be a mistake to suppose thus. R1272:3

Longsuffering -- Plenteous in mercy. R1272:3

The extension or prolonging of the Jewish age after AD 33, and of the Gospel age after AD 1878, is an expression of the long suffering of God to his defiled people. R198:5*

Not willing -- Not desiring. R1272:3

God's attitude toward sinners. R2574:4

God willeth not the death of him that dieth, but that all should turn unto him and live. (Ezek. 18:23) R2398:6, 1449:5

God has been holding back the full penalty in mercy, according to his provision in Christ. (Psa. 103:9, 10) R1402:6, 1272:3

Not that God wills not the death of him who dies for his own sin, but that he has no pleasure or delight in it. R1449:6*

"God wills all men to be saved, and to come to the knowledge of the truth." (1 Tim. 2:4) R1449:6*, 1125:4, 903:5*

Any -- Of his people. R198:5*

Perish -- The willfully wicked, who reject all his mercies, shall be blotted out of existence, not tormented. R2574:4

To repentance -- Turn unto God and live. R1272:3

He wills to restore all who shall prove worthy--that is the object of the Millennial reign. R1125:4; HG292:5

The Lord is willing that all should come to a full appreciation of the truth and by acceptance of it be saved from the full penalty of willful sin. R1402:6

Every good deed shall in due time be remembered and rewarded, and every malicious deed punished; "Vengeance is mine; I will repay, saith the Lord." (Rom. 12:19) R1781:2, 1272:4

"As many as I love I rebuke and chasten; be zealous, therefore, and repent." (2 Pet. 3:9) R198:5*

2 Peter 3:10

But -- Zealous for our growth in knowledge, Peter endeavors to inspire us thereto by calling attention to the wonderful events and close proximity of the Day of the Lord. R3215:5

The day of the Lord -- The thousand-year day of his presence. B168, 40; NS111:6

It is the day in which the old order is to perish and the glorious new order is to be ushered in. R5916:2

Will come -- Greek, heko, will arrive; be here. B168; R555:4*

Thief in the night -- Unobservedly, quietly. B168; A318, 334; R3215:5, 794:1*

Jesus' presence unknown to the world. Q91:3; R2974:1; NS7:2

The Church class will know in advance respecting the Day of the Lord. (1 Thes. 5:2, 3) NS7:2; R555:4, 326:6

Throughout this entire age the Lord's people have been left in uncertainty as to the time of the Master's second coming. R5735:3

As with the Jews in the end of their age, they "knew not the time of their visitation," (Luke 19:44) so it is with the present religious systems. R1785:4

It will be present while some are scoffing and smiting those fellow-servants who declare the truth. B168

In the which -- The great time of trouble follows closely the second coming of Christ. R5863:6

The heavens -- The symbolic heavens--present powers of the air of which Satan is the chief or prince. A318; R1814:2

The great Antichrist system. C238

The church. NS565:2

A figurative term for the present religious institutions--ecclesiasticism. R5864:1

The ecclesiastical powers of Christendom. D528; R5456:1, 5753:2, 5735:1, 5517:4, 5348:6, 5161:4, 5058:6, 3215:5

"The heavens do rule." (Dan. 4:26) R26:4

Ecclesiasticism will be on fire first. SM423:3; R5864:1

Peter describes the great Day of Wrath, intimating that it will begin with the nominal church class. R5348:6, 5517:1, 5317:5

The governments--the higher or ruling powers. R593:1, 409:6, 26:4

The religious systems and principles which at present govern and control mankind. R1470:3

The ecclesiastical, and the spiritual things connected therewith. R4222:3
Ruling powers, political and ecclesiastical, founded as they are by usurpation and with tyranny, despotism, injustice, error, superstition, prejudice and ignorance entering largely into their foundation principles. R794:1*

Perhaps we have neglected the fact that great Babylon apparently is dealt with before the world trouble comes. To expect the world's great trouble to begin October 1914 would be to expect astounding things. R5348:6

Shall pass away -- To be supplanted by the new heavens and the new earth. R4222:3, 3154:6

Meaning nothing more than a change of dispensation. HG11:3

Only a change of dispensation, attended with great national destruction. HG11:5

With a great noise -- A great hissing noise. A318

Great disputation, confusion, etc. R5517:1, 5456:1, 593:1, 409:6, 26:4; A69; HG538:6

A great commotion, a great disturbance. SM316:2, 423:3; R5349:1, 5317:5, 1470:3

Tumult and confusion. R3215:5

At the second coming of our Lord. R4222:5

Already the noise and tumult, which shall eventuate in worldwide anarchy, are distinctly heard in every nation; for the Day of the Lord has indeed begun, and the heat of human passion is growing daily. R3215:6

With a "rushing sound," as escaping steam that must obey the decisive action of the "fervent heat." R794:1*

And the elements -- Component parts. R5349:1; D552

Of present ecclesiasticism. D528

The present order of things. R5569:3

Of society. NS565:2

Of tyranny, ignorance and superstition. R716:1*

The various parties and sects composing it, split and torn by discordant views. R3215:5

Labor element, artisan element, capitalistic element, religious element. R5526:5, 1488:4; Q771:4

The capital element and the labor element will seek to burn the other up. R5317:3, 5161:4

We see the capitalistic element and the labor element separating the one from the other. SM423:1

The fire will devour the capitalistic, banking, political, religious and industrial elements. R5864:1, 5735:1; Q771:4, 852:4

The fire will extend to the social structure. The social, political, financial and ecclesiastical systems together make up our present order. R5864:1, 1615:5

The same word used by Paul in speaking of the beggarly elements of this world. (Gal. 4:9) R26:4, 409:6

Shall melt -- The social fabric. R668:1, 5735:1, 5349:1

The melting down will begin in the overthrow of the religious institutions. R5735:2

The fire will next affect the social and industrial organization--merchandise, capital and labor, society, etc. R5864:1

Be dissolved--they will separate, part company, fail to keep together, and will be swept away. R5864:1; Q771:4

Disintegrate into its various elements. R1470:3

The nations of the world will go down quickly. R5526:4

In the fervency of the heat and strife of that time. R5349:1

With fervent heat -- The heat of public discussion and investigation.

R3215:6, 5864:4 Discussion, tumult, strife. R5526:4,5, 5349:1, 3154:6, 1470:3; NS565:2

Human passion and wrath. R1488:4

In the bitterness of that time of selfish strife the elements will no longer blend and coalesce as before. R1470:3

The strife between capital and labor. R5161:4

The "elements" will all dissolve with the fervency of the heat. R5863:5

The earth also -- Human society as now organized under Satan's control.

A69; R716:1*; HG539:1

The social organization under both church and state influence. D528; A319; R5058:6, 3215:6; Q771:4

Social order of human affairs. R5456:1, 5753:2, 5349:1, 5348:6, 4222:3, 1470:3, 593:1, 409:6, 26:4

Organized society, including the financial and political powers. R5735:1, 5753:2; SM423:2

Society as at present organized will "reel," "melt," and be "dissolved."

R1813:6, 3215:6, 1814:2, 593:1, 409:6; NS565:2

Shall take fire. SM422:3

After the heavens are on fire. SM423:3; R5863:3, 5349:1

It will be after the fall of Babylon--that the great distress of nations will come. R5348:6, 5864:1

Our physical earth has been the basis for "the world that was," "the present evil world," and the "world to come," and signifies the order of things. R4222:3, 1615:4, 532:2; A69; HG538:6

The physical earth will remain practically as it is, and will begin to undergo the transforming influences of restitution under Christ. SM422:2; R1615:4; A69

The principle of disintegration and reconstruction is constantly operating in nature; in rocks and animal and vegetable organisms. R5864:2

There will have to be a thorough breaking up of the fallow ground of men's hearts, and a thorough disintegration of present arrangements before the seed of truth can be planted that will bring forth fruitage of the new dispensation. R5864:2

And the works -- Pride, rank, aristocracy, royalty. A319

Present institutions will be swallowed up. Div; R5161:4

Shall be burned up -- Discovered--ancient manuscripts. R794:1*

Destroyed in the strife and friction caused by increasing knowledge, combined with selfishness. R3215:6

In the combustion or consumption of the trouble. R5349:1

By a symbolic fire of destruction that is coming. R4627:3, 5864:1, 5161:4

With the fire of God's jealousy. (Zeph. 3:8) R1615:4, 5863:6, 3215:6, 794:1*, 668:1; D528

The Lord's anger will burn against all kinds of injustice and iniquity.

Wrongdoing and wrongdoers will then be punished. R4628:1

The fire of God's anger no more means a literal fire than does the expression a fiery horse. It is the fire of God's wrath against sin.

R5863:6

Overthrowing all law and order in anarchy. R5349:1

Pictured as a great conflagration. R5863:3, 5317:3, 4990:1

A great deal of burning, heart-burning and headaches and prostration are caused today by various exposures of one kind or another as time advances.

R4628:4

The present age will end with the dissolution of the symbolic "heavens" and symbolic "earth," which signifies the utter disruption of the present social and ecclesiastical order. R2218:2, 5517:4; HG627:2

In reading this prophecy the majority of Christian people seem to think that there will be a literal burning up of the material heavens and earth.

R5863:6, 5735:1, 5456:1, 5161:4

A literal interpretation overlooks the fact that St. Peter, speaking of the same time, in Acts 3:19-21 declares that Times of Restitution and blessing, not times of world-burning, will follow the second coming of Jesus. HG627:2; R5517:4

The time of trouble is referred to as a whirlwind, tempest and flood, etc.

Manifestly, it cannot be all of these in a literal sense. R4627:3, 1813:6

After the "fire" has done its work the Lord will then turn to the people a pure language. (Zeph. 3:8,9) The fire is symbolic. Q772:T,4; R5753:2, 4627:3, 1814:1, 794:4*

Fire is very properly a symbol of destruction, and is so used through the Scriptures. R4627:3

Fire is frequently used in a symbolic sense to represent tribulation. St.

Peter says, "Think it not strange concerning the fiery trial that shall try you." (1 Pet. 4:12) HG627:2

Seeing -- The Lord's faithful, watching people, guided by the Word of truth, will have an understanding of temporal affairs. R5735:2

The Apostle exhorts that they be not swallowed up by politics, money-getting etc., but that they set their affections on higher things.

B168

"When these things begin to come to pass, then look up and lift up your heads; for your deliverance draweth nigh." "When ye see these things, know that the kingdom of God is nigh at hand." (Luke 21:28, 31) R5735:2

All these things -- Present earthly conditions. B168; R3215:6, 2123:1*

Present political, social, religious and financial arrangements. R1622:2

All the things that occupy men's minds and absorb their energies. R5735:5

The many snares and delusions of this evil day. R1914:5

How comparatively unimportant should the things of this present order seem to us. They are not worthy of our time or words. R1622:2

Shall be dissolved -- Are only temporary and will soon give place to the better order. B168

Shall all go down. R3215:6

Shall so shortly be dissolved. R1914:5

We see that their passing away is just at hand in this our day. R5735:5,

3215:6

It will not be stopped until the present order shall have been wholly dissolved. R5735:4

Is to pass away--to give place to a new order, social and religious.

R1814:2, 5735:1

Manner of persons -- We have the one pattern, to be like our Father which is in heaven. CR7:2

How serious life should be! R5778:4

All Christians should be zealous. CR309:4

If this was a serious consideration in the Apostle's day, how much more weighty does it seem today, when we stand at the threshold of the new dispensation and amidst the disintegrating influences of the old. R1622:2

As we note the bitter persecutions of the past, we should the more forgive arrogance and bigotry. All should turn from human traditions and everything contrary to the Bible. PD86/99

How highly we, who belong to the Gospel dispensation, should value its privileges and opportunities, seeking to make our calling and election sure! R4979:1

All those who believe in the great change just before us should be living for the future and not for the present. R5735:6

Let us lay these precious words to heart; for we stand in the very presence of the Great Judge of all the earth. R5864:5, 3215:6

Ought ye -- New creatures in Christ. R5735:6

We who have heard the Lord's invitation to joint-heirship in his Kingdom. OV205:6

The Apostle puts this solemn question right home to us. It is applicable now as never before. R5864:4

We as ambassadors for the King of kings and Lord of lords hold a very responsible and dignified position. NS466:4

We who are the recipients of much more abundant grace of this Gospel dispensation compared to the Law dispensation. R2010:3

We who have had such great favors and privileges and enlightenment. R5206:4

If our fellowmen are willing to endure great hardships for the trivial rewards that are theirs, what should we be willing to endure? NS455:4

To be -- We need to guard against being overcharged with the petty cares of this present time, and against imbibing the spirit of the world. Only by constant watchfulness and prayer can we keep ourselves unspotted from the world. R1622:5

Separate and distinct from all other people in the world. R2218:3; B168

Imbibe the spirit of the Bible by studying its teachings. R5735:6

Holy conversation -- Behavior. R5405:4

Holy conduct. B168

Holy living. SM706:2

In all holiness of life, in separateness from the world. R5864:4, 3791:1

The transitoriness, the trifling value of the most alluring of earth's gifts, should cause us to turn from them and to set our affections and hopes on heavenly hopes and things, which are infinite in value. R5735:6

There is nothing unholy in the new creature, and the imperfections of the flesh are covered by the robe of Christ's righteousness. R5735:6

The new creature begotten from above wishes to be holy and to keep his tabernacle holy. He breathes by nature a holy atmosphere; anything contrary is poisonous to this heavenly germ. R5735:6

If our bodies are the temple of the holy Spirit, we should be quickened into active and diligent service and to the bringing forth of all the fruits of holiness. R1981:6

New creatures should fellowship with one another seeking to build one another up in the most holy faith. R5736:1 "Let your conversation be as cometh the gospel of Christ." (Phil. 1:27) R4805:5, 1622:5

The child of God who is slovenly or careless in the management of his earthly body is not living in accord with true holiness; is not properly developing the heavenly "seed" begotten within him. R5736:1

Godliness -- Piety. B168

Godlikeness. R1981:6

Godlikeness certainly cannot include any harmful gossip, unclean or unholy conversation, disloyal or rebellious words. R4805:5

We should lay up treasure in heaven, where the institutions will be permanent, and where armies and revolutions will not destroy the government. R5735:6

The very thoughts of the brain and the meditations of the heart should be conformed as nearly as possible to God's perfect standard. R5736:1

To see that meekness, sincerity, moderation, temperance and truth are always manifest in us, and that our general character bears the divine likeness. R1622:5

"Be ye holy, for I and holy," (1 Pet. 1:16) is the injunction of our Father in heaven. R5735:6, 5405:4, 3149:6

One not living up to his privileges, will likely be taken unawares as by a "thief in the night;" and will find too late that he has lost the "prize."

R5736:4

These words, while serving a purpose for good all down this Gospel age, are specially meant by the Spirit for us, who are living in this very Day of God. R3215:6

The return of Christ and the coming of the Kingdom are related to each other as elements of the Christian's hope, and are used invariably in the Bible as motives to holiness and perseverance. R32:6*, 298:4*

When we remember our own imperfections and blemishes and how much the Lord must overlook and forgive in us, how generous it should make us in our sentiments toward the brethren. How their weaknesses should appeal to us! SM706:2

Looking for -- Watching for the evidences (signs) to prove that it has come. B168

Those of piety who are looking for that day will know of it before the full bursting forth of the fire of wrath. B168

Unto the coming -- Greek, parousia, presence. B159, 168

The day of God -- The age commencing with the second coming of Christ. R532:2

Wherein the heavens -- In figurative language, symbolically picturing the ecclesiastical influence of our day. R4208:3

The present ruling powers. R3215:6

Certainly not the literal heavens, separated by millions of miles of space with nothing between to take fire. B169

Not the heaven of God's residence, but the ecclesiastical heavens. R5161:4

Being on fire -- Trouble and destruction. SM424:3; R4990:1; HG149:4

Shall be consumed, shall cease to be. SM316:1

Symbolic--will consume everything of the present time that is contrary to the divine will, everything that is unjust, inequitable. R5161:4

St. Peter described the sign of the Son of Man in the heavens, revealed in flaming fire. (Matt. 24:30) SM422:3

The destruction of the religious systems and principles which at present govern and control mankind. R1470:3, 4990:1

The warring element will fight out this battle; thus will God promote the change. R5567:5

The "fire shall try every man's work of what sort it is." (1 Cor. 3:13)

R4208:3, 5517:1; HG627:2; NS565:1

Be dissolved -- Pass away with great commotion. R1470:3; SM422:3, 423:3

In the beginning of the "Day of the Lord," which "shall burn as an oven." (Mal. 4:1) A69; HG539:1

And the elements -- Of which they are composed; Papacy and Protestantism. D552

Shall melt -- Symbolic of the time of trouble, in which present institutions shall be swallowed up. OV269:4; Div Confusion, trouble and dissolution. A69; HG538:6

2 Peter 3:13

Nevertheless we -- We who have come into covenant relationship with the Lord; we who, unlike the rest of the world, know of the divine plan. R3215:6

Look for -- Not to some other planet, but to this same one, and a new social order of things and new ecclesiastical rule. R4222:5, 2218:3

New heavens -- The new spiritual power--Christ's Kingdom. A319, 334, 69; R5753:2, 5161:4, 2832:2; OV248:3

Ruling powers--the Kingdom of God. B168

The glorified Jesus and his Church, in the Millennial Kingdom. OV27:2; R6014:5, 5456:1, 2832:3

The Kingdom of God, to be established in power and great glory. R3216:1; PD94/108

The new era, symbolically called. R2843:1, 5796:1, 1814:2

New religious system--the Church or government of righteousness for which we pray, "Thy kingdom come, thy will be done on earth as it is done in heaven." R1814:1, 1470:3; Div

Higher, or ecclesiastical and spiritual powers. PD94/108

In which the Lord will dominate human affairs. OV248:3

New spiritual domination under which human regeneration will bring the "new earth." OV248:3

And a new earth -- Earthly society reorganized on the new basis of love and justice, rather than of might and oppression. A319, 334, 69; B168; D529; R1470:3; Q771:4

A new social order--symbolically called the "new earth." R5161:4, 5796:1, 4990:1, 2218:2; D551; NS788:6; PD94/108; Q430:5

The new social order which Messiah's Kingdom will establish. R5456:1,2, 6014:5, 5753:2, 5161:5, 3216:1, 1814:1; PD84/108

Mankind under the new conditions of the New Covenant. OV27:3

The Millennial Kingdom will promptly be established on the ruins of "the present evil world"--on the ashes of present civil, religious, political institutions. R2920:5; D558; Q844:T

The law of love will then prevail amongst perfect men, and a direct responsibility will be realized to God. R4223:1

Mankind under the new conditions of the New Covenant. OV27:3

The new organization of society. A new earth symbolically, although upon the same earth literally. R1814:1

It will be in the hands of the Ancient Worthies, when his Kingdom shall be fully established. R5567:5

It will be the original heavens and earth restored. R4222:6

This same planet, but under new conditions, new social arrangements, provided by the Messianic Kingdom. R5517:4

There will be a new arrangement of things in the affairs of the earth, but just what will be the nature of the physical changes, or how these will be brought about, we do not know. R5317:6

The third epoch is to be a "world without end" (Isa. 45:17) under divine administration, the Kingdom of God. A67; R10:2*; HG538:1, Q852:4

This third earth and third heaven are the final and perfect, wherein "the tabernacle of God is with men." (Rev. 21:3) R210:3*, 2832:1

This will be the third heavens, and the third earth, which will differ from the present condition of things in that it will be righteous, whereas the present is unrighteous, imperfect. R2832:2, 5161:2

All three of these "worlds" or dispensations are connected with our planet, the earth. The Apostle divides them into heaven and earth; by the heavens referring to the spirit beings and influences, and by the earth referring to humanity subjected to these spiritual influences. OV27:2;

The three great epochs represent three distinct manifestations of divine providence. A66; HG537:6

There are heavens and earth in each order. They seem to exist in relation to each other as cause and effect, the outer, lower and visible as an expression of the inner, higher and invisible. R210:3*, 206:3*

Not referring to new worlds, nor to heavens ranged one above another, as many have supposed. (2 Cor. 12:2) R2832:2

Such things -- The overthrow of the existing order and the establishment of the glorious Kingdom of God's dear Son. R5864:5

Be diligent -- Let us be diligent. R5990:5

The prize of the high calling is not for the easy-going Christian. R2123:1*

Be found of him -- Not that he shall wash you when he comes, but you shall be found of him so cleansed. R163:1

Without spot -- Give diligence and see that our robe is spotless. R163:1

And blameless -- Ready for the entrance into that rest which remains. R5990:5

For our Lord "is able to keep you from falling, and to present you faultless before the presence of his glory with exceeding joy." (Jude 24) R5864:6, 3216:4

2 Peter 3:15

And account that -- Words of special comfort and cheer to us now, in this brief waiting time since the close of Gentile Times. How glad of this little extended time some of the Lord's dear ones are, who have consecrated since 1914. R5864:5

Beloved brother Paul -- Mark Peter's affection for Paul, who had so plainly reproved and rebuked him. R1041:3

Note the sympathy and love existing between Paul and Peter; evidently the rebuke (Gal. 3:11) was accepted in the spirit of meekness. R664:2*, 416:1*

Wisdom given unto him -- Paul did not launch out into foolish speculations but confined himself to the expounding of sacred Scriptures and to exhortations, inspired by the revelations made to himself--a prophet as well as an apostle. R1719:6, 1148:4

Written unto you -- Impulsive Peter seemed to gain more self-control, and he boldly and freely endorses the teaching and course of his "beloved brother Paul." R552:4, 1041:3

All his epistles -- The Apostolic epistles were written to the various local congregations, and were directed to be publicly read and to be exchanged among the churches. R1146:1

The earliest notice of a collection of the New Testament books. Speaking as if some collection existed and was received in the churches as on a par with "the other Scriptures." R434:2*

These things -- The things relating to the three worlds and the three heavens of which the Apostle was writing. Q829:4

The things which Peter thought strange of are the very items which now, in God's due time, so grandly illuminate not only Peter's prophecies and John's Revelation, but the entire Word and plan of God. R1148:4, 668:1; B169

Hard to be understood -- Even by Peter and only partially then by Paul himself. R1148:4

Liabile to be misunderstood by some. R668:1

Difficult. R179:1*

Especially in reference to the second coming of Jesus and our change. R181:6*

Paul's revelations influenced all of his writings and caused him to give such expressions as were hard to be understood, but which, in the light of subsequent events, are now being clearly revealed to the earnest student. Q830:T

The truth concerning the trumpet's voices and fire associated with his coming does not lie on the surface. We need not be surprised, then, if the same be true of all the circumstances attending Christ's return. R167:2*; B169

Unlearned -- In the Word. R179:1*

Unstable -- As one who believed in the harvest truth and now teaches that the Church has no share in the Redeemer's suffering, in filling up that which is behind of the afflictions of Christ. R4433:3

The "unlearned and unstable" have wrested many of the Apostle's statements from their true connection and significance. Q830:T

Wrest -- Twist. R4435:2, 2219:2

"Handle the Word of God deceitfully." (2 Cor. 4:2) R2218:6

Scriptures that apply to "the new heavens and the new earth" have been variously warped and twisted from their true application and forcibly assigned to "the heavens that are now" and "this present evil world." Q830:T

At this particular time the Adversary will get advantage of certain ones, will beguile them, get them to wrest the Scriptures, and thus to deceive themselves. R2218:3

Destruction -- Of their spiritual interests. R2218:6

To their loss of present light at least. R2218:3

Such as one who will conclude that everything that he saw on coming out of Babylon was a delusion, and that he will return to the "outer darkness" of Babylon. R4433:6

This is not parallel to the one of which our Lord said, "Forbid him not: for there is no man which shall do a miracle in my name, that can lightly speak evil of me. For he that is not against us, is on our part." (Mark 9:39, 40) R4434:1

It is a serious thing to wrest the Scriptures. R1778:2

Contrary to the Universalist theory. R3083:2

Not eternal torment. R2598:1, 3167:2

Beloved -- Not the worldly, nor even the average nominal Christian; but those who already had attained to "steadfastness." R2218:3

This counsel has a special fitness to the Church in the last days, our days, and was evidently so designed by the Spirit of God as is clear from verse 3. R3215:1, 2218:2

Know these things -- That all of the affairs, reforms, etc., of the present time will avail nothing, the present institutions will pass away, and God is about to establish his own Kingdom in his own way; and further, that just at this particular time there will be a special sifting and testing of those who are in the light. R2219:3

Which are to take place in the Day of the Lord, "Day of Vengeance."
R2218:2, 1148:4

Beware lest ye also -- Be cautious, careful and watchful against all the deceptions and dangers that beset our way. R1670:6

In view of the false teachers who would arise to pervert the truth. R3215:1

The steadfast ones, the saints, living at that time, that is, right now.

R2218:6

Give earnest heed to this counsel, for we live in the "evil day." (Eph. 6:13) R2218:3, 2189:3

Be ever on the watch that we be not caught in any snare of the Adversary.
R1661:6*, 1670:6

We may insure ourselves against falling into any of these traps of the Adversary. Chiefly by obedience to the principles laid down in the Bible and illustrated in the life and character of our Lord and his apostles.

R2219:6

The Lord guided to the presentation of the Vow for the very purpose of making it a trial and test amongst those professing to be his disciples.

R4326:3, 4328:1

Be on guard that whoever may become the instrument of the Adversary, whether congenial to our natural tastes or uncongenial, we may not be "carried away" but "To our Lord we will be true." R2219:5

While the Lord promises grace sufficient for every time of need, he never encourages any to rest supinely upon his promises: the exhortations are always to activity, alertness and indomitable energy and perseverance.

R1670:3

"Mark them which cause division amongst you; and avoid them." (Rom. 16:17)

R4327:2, 3215:2

"Beware lest any man spoil you through philosophy and vain deceit after the tradition of men, after the rudiments of the world, and not after Christ." (Col. 2:6-8) R3215:3

Being led away -- Seduced. R2189:3

From the fixed statements of the divine Word, through sympathy, or the influence of someone held in respect or esteem. R2219:4

The danger to the steadfast will be along some line which would sweep away their judgments from the fixed statements of the divine Word, through personal preference or sympathy, or through the influence of someone held in respect or esteem. R2219:4

There will be certain leaders of thought whose conduct will tend to carry away others. "Deceiving and being themselves deceived." (2 Tim. 3:13)

R2219:5

A reprobate condition of mind is sure to get into doctrinal darkness.

R4327:4

Where the leading away is a doctrinal deflection, it may, or it may not, lead to a wrong spirit. R4327:3

With the error -- The distinguishing characteristic is a lack of love.

R4326:2, 4327:3

Lovelessness is quickly followed by antagonism to truths, to God and the brethren. R4327:3

From the truth into more or less darkness and confusion. R2219:3

Wasting valuable time in investigating the theories. R3215:3

While doctrinal errors are dangerous, and should be avoided, it is still more serious a matter to lose the spirit of love--the holy Spirit. R4327:3

We should always be on the alert to render assistance whenever needed to convert a brother from error, but we should do nothing that would tend to make us fall from our own steadfastness into the error of the wicked.

R1860:3

The difference between the strong and steadfast Christian and a bigot is that the one is established in the truth, while the other is established in error. R3215:3

Wicked -- Greek, athemos, unsettled, lawless. The word wicked is too strong. R2218:6

The unsettled or lawless who do not bow implicitly to the Lord's Word but wrest it to establish theories of their own. R2219:4

Wicked one. R2189:3

The Apostle's language not only points to the present time but seems to imply that there would be previous fallings away or siftings, which he calls "the error of the wicked"--literally, "the delusions of the unsettled or lawless." R2218:6

"Siftings" specially affect those in the light of present truth; yet in a more general way and along different lines slightly different siftings are in progress with the nominal church as a whole. R2219:4

Each denomination is being shaken, and the theories of Evolution, Spiritism, Christian Science, Theosophy and Moralism are making great inroads upon all who have named the name of Christ. R2219:4

Unsettled, lacking the knowledge of the divine Word and plan, the whole nominal church is gradually losing its faith in the Bible, under the lead of its most able ministers, who are of the opinion that their "Higher Criticism" is superior to the Scripture presentations. R2219:4

Own steadfastness -- Present steadfastness. R3215:1

This implies that they had become rooted and grounded and built up, both in knowledge and the love of God. R2218:3

The not settled ones would first be shaken out, and subsequently there would come a still more insidious trial which would test even the "steadfast." R2218:6

The Adversary has more subtle delusions before us than any of those in the past; and the fully consecrated may need to be more than ever on guard against "the wiles of the devil." (Eph. 6:11) R2219:3

We are not to render bitter words for bitter words, slander for slander, nor reviling for reviling. R4327:2

Grow -- In this age and land, this becomes more than ever our duty. R1030:1*

The aged Apostle Peter's solicitude for the growth and development of the Church was increasing. He counsels all to faithfulness and growth. R3215:1 "Unto a full grown man, unto the measure of the stature of the fullness of Christ." (Eph. 4:13) R1043:6*, 21:5*

In grace -- Grow in favor with the Lord through an intimate personal acquaintance and fellowship of spirit with him. R3215:4, 1043:6*

Give all diligence to the study of the divine oracle, that we may be fortified in faith and works accordingly. R4808:6

Implying a personal faith in and dependence upon all the promises, intimate communion in our daily life of prayer, and observation of God's will and obedience to it. R3215:4

The full and blessed understanding of this is best appreciated by those who from day to day walk with God in faith, obedience and love. R3215:4

In order "to come unto the knowledge of the truth." (1 Tim. 2:4) R780:1

We grow in grace as we grow in knowledge. R5656:1, 3215:4

It is the life work of the Christian. R118:2*

Add the graces of character. OV356:2

A sense of divine acceptance and favor is given us in increasing measure in fulfillment of the blessed promise of John 14:23. R3215:4

Knowledge -- Greek, gnosis. R2037:2

Each step of knowledge brings a corresponding step of duty and obedience, and each step of duty and obedience taken will be followed by a further step in knowledge. E239

If we have this witness of the Spirit of growth, both in grace and in knowledge, let us rejoice therein, and let us follow on in the same pathway until it shall bring us to that which is perfect, both in knowledge and in grace. E239

The faithful ones will grow in both grace and knowledge; and the holy Spirit, through its begetting, will enable such to know (appreciate) the deep things of God, the things freely given such by God, the knowledge of God resulting from our experience in the school of Christ. R2037:2

The more thorough our knowledge of the Lord and the more intimate our acquaintance with him, the more secure we are in our own steadfastness. R3215:3

If we love and obey the Lord and desire to grow in his favor, his written Word is our daily meditation and study. Thus we grow in knowledge. R3215:5

By putting on more and more of the armor of God until we realize its glorious completeness in the full discernment of the divine plan of the ages. R3215:5

Even those established in the faith will be continually charmed and cheered with newly discovered lines of harmony and beauty in the divine drawings of the plan. R3215:5

We are in danger of being extremists on this as on almost all other Bible themes--some making too much and others too little of the importance of the knowledge of theory or correct theology. R49:3*

As pupils we may ever study the master workmanship of the divine Architect. R3215:5

Jesus Christ -- Who is the way, the truth, and the life. (John 14:6) R3215:3

The development of Jesus as a new creature was his first obligation--as it is our first consideration. SM638:T

1 John

General

This epistle is supposed by scholars to have been written in the year AD 90. By that date Christianity had attained considerable prominence in the world. It had gathered the "remnant" of fleshly Israel and drawn upon itself the hatred and persecution of the vast blinded majority of that people and been scattered everywhere throughout the then civilized world. Many things in Christianity commended it to the Greek philosophers of that time who sought to combine with it and to become philosophic Christians and Christian philosophers--still holding their philosophies which the Apostle Paul points out were "falsely so called." John's epistle is written to fortify Christians against these subversive doctrines. He exhorts them to hold fast the teachings heard by them from the beginning and to consider these philosophizing teachings as lies and all such false teachers representatives of the Antichrist which they had so often heard would be manifested in the Church. E285, 286

The object of the Apostle John in writing this epistle he clearly states, saying, "These things write we unto you, that your joy may be full." It is a noteworthy fact that the vast majority of Christians never experience the fullness of joy and peace and blessing that they might possess. Too many are content with simply diluted first principles of the doctrine of Christ; and are merely "babes in Christ." The object of the Apostle's writing them was to stir up the pure minds of believers to an appreciation and enjoyment of their privileges, that thereby they might grow and develop. R2235:2

1 John 1:1

From the beginning -- The beginning of the Lord's ministry. R1145:6
Which we have heard -- This was their testimony. That they saw Christ in his life and in his death; they saw him after his resurrection, and they knew these things. The apostles suffered the loss of all things in proclaiming the truth. R460:2*

The testimony on which faith rests is not man's, it is God's own. Man had no testimony on this matter worth listening to until God spoke. God made himself responsible and he is sure to fulfill his promise. R1329:1

Which we have seen -- The evangelists testified to that of which they had positive knowledge. They saw Christ after his resurrection. R1145:6

1 John 1:2

Manifested unto us -- The inspired Apostle saw the Lord and heard his teachings when he was here in the flesh. R1495:1

1 John 1:3

Declare -- Teach. E284

Sound doctrine, necessary to be taught. John's writings were not meant merely as social letters, devoid of doctrine or teaching. E284

With us -- Fellow-heirs of the same promises. R1495:1

Our fellowship -- No one has fellowship at all with the Lord unless he comes into covenant relationship with him. CR317:1

To be established in Present Truth signifies that we have partaken of the sweets of fellowship with him. R1627:3

What condescension on the part of the divine Father and Son and what favor toward us! R1495:1

With the Father -- We all are one family--the divine royal family whence universal blessings shall shortly flow to all in heaven and in earth.

R1495:1, 2508:6

Jesus Christ -- The second Adam becomes the head of a new or spiritual race, and the restorer of the human race. R623:3

1 John 1:4

Unto you -- He is addressing the justified and sanctified in Christ Jesus. R5938:1, 2235:1

To stir up the pure minds of believers to an appreciation and enjoyment of their privileges, that thereby they might grow and develop. R5938:2, 2235:2

Joy may be full -- Joy may be regarded as the effervescence or overflow of true and genuine happiness. It is our Heavenly Father's good pleasure that his children be so full of happiness as to bubble over all the time.

R1494:2

Theirs, if they progressed in grace and knowledge to the full stature of a man in Christ Jesus. R5938:2, 2235:2

To this end the Father has prepared a table before them, in the presence of their enemies, and filled their cup of happiness full, even to running over. (Psa. 23:5) The table of good things is his precious truth. R1494:2

The vast majority of Christians never experience the fullness of joy, peace and blessing that they might possess. R5938:2, 2235:2

God -- God is the impersonation of every virtue and every grace; consequently he has the blessed satisfaction and peace of conscious moral perfection as well as inherent wisdom and power. R1833:1

The Creator of all things, he is also the competent Sustainer of all things. In silent grandeur, from age to age, the whole physical universe fulfills his will, without a suspicion of disorder or mishap; and the same power is pledged for its sustenance throughout the eternal future. R1832:6

Is light -- Light is healing, beneficial and health-giving. R5544:6

Light stands for truth, for righteousness. R5718:3, 5938:2, 5038:1, 2235:2, 647:4*

Divine truth--coming to us through the appointed channel of God's Word and declared by his faithful servants imbued with his Spirit. R2057:3*

In him -- Since in God is no darkness at all, and he has promised to guide us continually by his Spirit through his Word, we cannot walk in darkness while we follow his leading. R1495:4

Is no -- No sin, no imperfection. R5938:3, 2235:2

Darkness -- Represents error, superstition, sin. R5718:3, 5938:3, 5038:1, 2235:2

1 John 1:6

We have fellowship -- In proportion as we are seeking to walk in his ways, we become intimate with God in the particular sense in which a child knows his father. R5118:5

If we have fellowship with him we are walking (progressing) in the light--in the light which divine truth sheds about us and in the light of his approving countenance. R1495:4

It must be along the lines of truth, goodness, purity. R5938:3, 2235:3

The truth is all clear and plain in God's sight and he, by his Spirit, through his Word, will lead all of his children into light in its due season, if they are in actual fellowship with him. R647:2*

It is a great mistake to imagine that we have communion and fellowship with God, when we only speak to him in prayer, and never examine the Word to hear him speak to us. R647:5*

None can commune with God without becoming acquainted in some measure with his truth; and if they are in harmony and fellowship with him, his plans and purposes will become theirs. R647:5*, 888:4*

Walk in darkness -- If we are unfaithful, even for a little space, we shall fail to make development along spiritual lines. R5118:5

If our course of life is dark, a sinful one. R5938:3, 2235:3

If any walk in darkness--away from the truth and toward error, it is not God's fault, but their own, in not obeying the truth. R1495:4

We lie -- Speak falsely. R13:4

For God does not lead his children that way. R1495:4

Do not the truth -- Perform not the truth. R13:4

They don't want to know it, because they don't want to do it. R647:5*

If they do not desire to obey the truth, they will deceive themselves in an endeavor to disbelieve it, and to substitute something else in its place. R647:5*

Walk in the light -- Truth. A20; R647:2*

Be guided by God's Word. R5055:4

In harmony and fellowship with God--to the extent of our ability. R5938:4, 2235:4

It does not imply absolute freedom from the imperfections of sin. R5938:4, 2235:4

If we are still trusting in the finished redemptive work of Christ, and obedient to the heavenly calling, we are walking in the light of God's promises and instruction. R1495:4

We may maintain our communion with God, and may realize, on confession, the forgiveness of every sin and that the precious blood--the ransom--keeps us clean from every stain of sin. R689:5

In the presence of the "true light that lighteth every man that cometh into the world." (John 1:9) R159:4*

We -- And Jehovah. R689:5

Have fellowship -- With all saints who are faithfully traveling in the same way. R1495:4, 647:5*

True fellowship implies love, sympathy, a mutual sharing of good or ill, common principles, common interests, and a common aim. R647:1*

Let us see to it that our fellowship is based upon the sure foundation--the blood of Jesus Christ--and that our rejoicing and communion be of the increasing light as we walk together. R647:2*

One with another -- If we do not "love the brethren whom we have seen," so as to be able to have fellowship and spiritual pleasure with them, it would be an indication that we are not wholly in harmony and fellowship with God. R5938:3, 2235:3

Between all such there must be a bond of fellowship and union--whether hidden or open--that bond is the one faith and one baptism into the one Lord. R5938:4, 2235:4

We have sweet fellowship not only with God and his Son, but with all saints who are faithfully traveling in the same way. R1495:4

God and we. R689:5

The blood -- A life given, i.e., death. R93:6; NS847:5

The ransom. R689:5, 652:6; E445, 461; F105

The blood shed on Calvary. R1336:3*, 1298:6*

The merit of our Lord's sacrifice. E445; NS847:5

In Scriptural usage blood stands for, or represents, the life. NS847:5

Of Jesus Christ -- His blood became the basis for the forgiveness of our sins, made peace for us, and transferred us from the domain of sentenced culprits back to sonship. R1230:3, 1231:2

It was by his death on the cross that Christ made atonement for the sins of the world. R1299:1

His Son -- After he came. R316:1*

Cleanseth us -- Washes us. R4870:3, 416:6*

When we come short. R5924:1

In answer to earnest prayers. R4870:6

By the grace of God our deficiencies are made good. R5005:2

Because we are unable to walk up to the spirit of the Law perfectly, although desiring to do so. R5005:2

God forgave us freely "for Christ's sake" because he paid the penalty which was the full satisfaction of justice. E461

The blood cleanses us and commutes our sins. R4982:6

"Keeps cleansing"; Not merely what he did at first--but the Apostle says his blood keeps cleansing us from all sin. CR390:1; SM723:1; NS357:4

Keeps us clean from sin, if realizing our imperfections we continually make application for forgiveness. R2235:4

It was efficacious for us as men, justifying us; and it avails for all the weaknesses and imperfections of our flesh after we become "new creatures."

R4484:4, 689:3; SM723:1; NS357:1

A cleansing which may be ours after we are the Lord's and have the robe. SM255:1

Any who do not persevere in keeping their garments clean will have their names blotted out. R4870:3

If a scarlet or crimson object is viewed through a red glass in the light, it appears white; so, though our sins be as scarlet or crimson, when we come where God will view them through the blood of Christ, they are accounted as white. R13:4, 689:6

Every error, every slip, every mistake, is a spot upon our wedding garment. With great humility we should go to the Master that we might have such spots promptly cleansed away. R4634:4

From all sin -- Not only from the sins that are past, but also from all stains upon the robe; unintentional blemishes, spots upon our garments.

R4870:3

He is not speaking of original sin--but sins due to the flesh or ignorance. Q302:T

1 John 1:8

If we -- New creatures. R4615:2, 2721:3; NS243:5

Say -- Speaking of our flesh, and ignoring the justification provided in Christ to cover its blemishes. R2721:3

The Apostle was surmising that some would claim that they had reached perfection and that their daily life was perfect. SM723:2; NS357:4

"Who can say, I have made my heart clean, I am pure from my sin?" (Prov. 20:9) R2053:2

That we have no sin -- No imperfection in our fallen flesh. R3281:5, 5903:1, 5440:1; NS243:5

No actual sin; if we claim that our every word, thought and deed is perfect. R689:5

That we are free from any breaches of the perfect law of love toward God and man. SM723:2; NS357:5

We cannot fully avoid sin in the flesh, on account of its weaknesses, and the deceptiveness and unfavorable conditions surrounding us. R5440:1

We will commit trespasses; for we have merely good intentions of the heart, with only an imperfect body in which to operate. R5750:3

The new creatures are responsible for sin--the new creature never willfully sins, never intentionally does wrong, but may be ensnared through the evil propensities of its fallen body of flesh. R4615:2, 3281:5, 2440:3

There is no more serious condition for the Lord's people to get into than to imagine that they are perfect in the flesh. It implies that they are blind to many of their own failings. SM723:2; NS357:5

All who are honest with themselves will acknowledge that they are imperfect and cannot do the things that they would perfectly. Q809:T

We deceive ourselves -- Anyone who would say that he was perfect and without flaw, would be deceiving himself. R5041:5

Those who deny that they have any sins, imperfections, have a great load of them uncanceled, charged up to them. R5939:2, 2235:6

Some Christians have gone to the extreme of claiming that they can never commit sin, after their past sins have been graciously forgiven of the Lord, and after they have entered into the covenant relationship. R5938:2, 5939:2, 2235:1,5

"Holiness people" boast that for so many years they have lived perfectly, without sin. The human being who considers himself absolutely perfect in thought, word and deed is sadly deceived. NS469:3; R5938:2, 2235:2

Get into a snare of the Adversary. R5939:2, 2235:5

If they do not desire to obey the truth, they will deceive themselves in an endeavor to disbelieve it, and to substitute something else in its place. R647:5*

We are weak through the fall, and liable to deception and error at the hands of the world, the flesh and the devil. R3281:6

1 John 1:9

If we -- The justified and sanctified in Christ Jesus. R5938:1, 5939:4, 2236:1, 2235:1, 1654:3, 769:3

Those now called of God to be members of the Bride of Christ. R4931:6
The Church. Q656:4

Not the world of unbelievers, "sinners" in the ordinary sense of the word. R5938:1, 4931:6, 2235:1

Confess -- And only if we confess. R5939:2, 2235:6

Our daily trespasses are to be acknowledged to the Lord, and forgiveness sought and obtained. R5440:1

This confession of sins does not relate to the world, who have not yet become children of God. R4931:6

Our sins -- Unintentional faults and shortcomings. R2235:4, 5938:4, 5903:1, 4932:1; Q656:4

Trespasses. Q656:4

In our flesh dwelleth no perfection. R5939:6, 5750:3, 5440:1, 2721:3, 2236:5

To the extent that the will consented to sin, even for a moment, it was unforgivable, and for that measure of responsibility we must expect to suffer stripes, i.e., chastisements. R1985:4

The Apostle is not referring to the question of mortal sin again, and the applying for a new robe of Christ's righteousness. All that was done in the past. SM724:3; NS358:1

Not referring to original sin, Adamic sin. Q656:4

This principle will be applicable also during Messiah's reign. None will make progress on the highway of holiness except first they confess their sins and turn from them. R4931:6

Thus will Christ set men's sins in order before them, they must freely confess their sins and bear their shame as did Joseph's brethren. R1646:4

Though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be as white as snow; though they be red like crimson, they shall be as wool. (Isa. 1:18) R13:4

He is -- God commended his love to us, and it is his love which constrains us to seek him and to desire to serve him. R4931:3

Just -- Because Christ died. R3281:5

We can see readily enough that the Almighty must be the very embodiment of justice. R4931:3

God's will meant the requirement of justice and he opened up the way by which he could be just and yet be the justifier of those who believe in Jesus, who become his disciples, to take up their cross and follow him. R4931:3, 5903:1, 769:3; HG299:2

Since the precious blood of Christ redeemed us from the curse of death. R3656:3

God can be just in forgiving our sins because Jesus has appeared for us. Our Redeemer has become our Advocate. NS243:6; R5939:4, 4931:6, 2236:1

As he would have been unjust to have allowed us to escape the pronounced penalty before satisfaction was rendered, so also it would be unjust were he to forbid our restitution, since by his own arrangement our penalty has been paid. A157

Christ's sacrifice having been accepted as "the propitiation for our sins; and not of ours only, but also for the sins of the whole world," (1 John 2:2) all must go free. R252:2; 5939:4, 2236:2

To forgive us -- Those who have become new creatures in Christ by faith and obedience--God has agreed to forgive all their unwilling trespasses upon request. R4932:1, 2822:3

These assurances of divine favor and willingness to forgive are designed to have upon our hearts a mellowing influence which will make us all the more careful to avoid sin and to maintain fellowship with the Lord. R5939:3, 2235:6

Stumbling into sin contrary to the will, through weakness of the flesh and temptation, is to be considered a stumbling from which there is every hope of recovery. R3260:4

If we find ourselves cold or lukewarm, let us cultivate fervency, let us fan the flame of sacred love in our hearts by frequent reflection on the Lord's grace toward us. R2388:4

We should go to the Lord and seek forgiveness, and assure him of our intention to do better in the future. Q656:4

To cleanse us -- Keeps us clean from sin, if we continually make application for forgiveness, because of realization of imperfections of our flesh. R5938:5, 2235:4; NS165:1

Purify us. A gradual process, accomplished often through tears and tribulations Not merely the setting aside of our sins and trespasses in a legal way. Q656:5

We may keep ourselves in the love of God by keeping ourselves clean. R5440:1

It is in this cleansing process, which follows the legal justification, that the justified believer must experience some of the baneful results of a past course of sin; reap the reward of his former sowing. R1654:3

All unrighteousness -- Natural imperfections and shortcomings. SM724:2; NS165:1, 358:1

Sin. R5938:4, 2235:4

Except sin against the holy Spirit (Matt. 12:31, 32); all manner of sin amongst the sons of men shall be forgiven, either in this age or in the age to come. Q280:7; R5105:6

It is evident that the tendency of mixed sin is toward mortal sin. R1985:4

1 John 1:10

Sinned -- "All have sinned." (Rom. 3:23) R93:3

Make him -- God. R5440:1, 5939:2, 3281:5, 791:4, 93:3

A liar -- Make God a liar and disown the Advocate whom God provided. R3281:5, 5440:1

Those who take any other course than that of confessing sins and asking forgiveness, are making God a liar; and he will leave them to the darkness of their own way. R5939:2, 2235:6

His word is not in us -- We have not properly studied or understood God's Word. SM723:2; NS357:5

1 John 2

1 John 2:1

My little children -- According to the original this would more properly read, "My darlings." At the time of this writing, the Apostle John was quite old, very mellow in character because of his experiences. R5491:2

New creatures who have only started in the new way of full consecration to God's will. R5445:2

These things -- John had, in the chapter preceding, been pointing out that sin is a trait or quality of perversity which affects all. R5491:2

Write I unto you -- To teach you. E284

The object of my writing is that you might realize the responsibility of abstaining from sin and continuing in God's love. R5041:1; Q653:5

Ye -- The new creature. R5041:4; Q653:5

Sin not -- Avoid sin. SM719:1; NS355:3

That we become not boastful of self, self-righteous, self-justified. R5939:3, 2236:1

He does not say: Yes, we are all sinners--we cannot help it--and must continue in sin. R5491:2

And if any man -- In Christ. R5939:3, 5270:5, 2236:1, 1985:3; CR88:5
In the Church. R4585:2, 4931:6, 3255:5

Those who are under the terms and conditions of the covenant of grace alone are addressed in this epistle. R5939:3, 2236:1

Sin -- Stumbles into sin through weakness and temptation--not intentionally. R3255:5, 4908:5, 2235:5, 1962:2

Any trespass under deception or weakness, and not willfully. R3281:5, 4585:2; CR389:3

Flaws not of the new creature, but chargeable to the flesh. R5041:5; Q653:5, 809:T

Our Father knows that we all come short on account of the weaknesses of the flesh. R5491:3,2; Q654:1

Imperfections of the flesh we cannot fully control. R5928:4, 5751:5, 4615:6; CR487:4; NS357:5; SM722:1

Jesus did not die for the willful sins of the new creature, but for the sins due to the fall--Adamic sin. R5491:6

No matter how trivial the sin may be, it is a sin. God keeps no accounts with the flesh, but holds the new creature responsible. R5089:3

The Lord would not allow any who really love him, who are loyal of heart, to go into second death, but any misstep would have a tendency to lead us farther and farther away from the goal. R5270:5

Stumbling into sin through weakness of the flesh--from this there is hope of recovery. R3260:4

David's sin was one which may be repented of and forgiven--not willful. R3260:3

"The blood of Jesus Christ cleanseth us from all sin." (1 John 1:7)
Q302:T; CR390:1

There are more sins than our original sin. These are designated trespasses, and should be mentioned at the throne of grace daily. SM722:1; R4354:2; CR389:5; NS357:5

After we get the robe of Christ's righteousness, if we get a spot, we are immediately to come to the Advocate. Q302:T; CR389:6

The robe was pure and white when you got it, and if you have neglected it some, see that you go to the Lord and stay with him until you have the assurance of his forgiveness. CR390:4

In the case of a partially willful sin, stripes would be administered in proportion to the willfulness. R5492:1, 1985:4, 5106:1; CR389:3

The merit of Christ is not only sufficient for all the sins and blemishes of the past, but is sufficient for all the imperfections and blemishes as long as we remain in the flesh. R4616:6,5

A full sin would be a full consent of the new will, a full turning away from God. R5492:1

If any man sin willfully as a new creature, he perishes thereby. R5491:6, 5041:5; Q653:5

The death of those new creatures who live after the flesh will be the second death. R5270:5; CR389:4

We -- The Church. R4516:6

The spirit-begotten. R5775:5; CR387:1

Believers. R1601:2

The world has no Advocate with the Father, because it has not accepted Christ. R5939:4, 5775:5, 5491:3, 4998:3,6, 4931:6, 4560:6, 3915:3, 3708:5, 2236:1; CR389:2; NS359:2; SM728:1

Have an advocate -- One who stands alongside, and intercedes for you, in every way representing you. CR88:5; R4560:6, 4476:1; Q108:4

Advokat in the German represents the thought. It signifies one who pleads the cause of another, standing as his representative. The Germans use the word advocate as a synonym for our word attorney, lawyer. CR388:6

An attorney--he is never for any side but your side. Q466:2; R5197:2

An attorney appears to answer for his client, not to answer for others.

The world has not retained our Lord as an Advocate. SM728:1; NS359:3

Jesus will represent to the Father that we have imperfections but he knows our hearts are right and this would be a proper case for leniency. We have forgiveness of sin through faith in his blood. Q467:T

Jesus has appeared in the presence of God as the Advocate for all those who, during this Gospel age, turn away from sin and consecrate their lives to his service. R5491:3, 5041:5; CR389:1; NS359:3; Q654:1; SM728:1

The first-borns alone have an Advocate during this Gospel age. SM559:T; OV280:T

Our Lord will be the Church's Advocate with the Father until the last member of his Body and the Great Company shall have finished his course. R4585:3, 4761:1

Our sins are against God. We must come to the Father in the name and through the merit of the one who redeemed us. Q734:6; R4643:1

Remember that there is a place to go, a Mercy Seat, where you may confess your sins and obtain forgiveness. R5491:3, 4805:2, 4625:2, 1938:2; CR487:5

Jesus applies enough of his merit to cover all our defects. R4764:6, 4554:4; CR88:5

To whatever extent our bodies fall short of perfect obedience, Christ makes good. R5089:3

If overtaken in a fault, we should quickly repent and seek forgiveness.

R1922:4, 5041:5, 4908:5, 1962:2, 1239:6; Q654:2

Our Advocate will intercede for unintentional sin, but not for deliberate sin. R5491:6, 4554:4

He is our representative; he now speaks for us. R3708:5, 1601:2

It is evident that our imperfect prayers now have to be revised by our Advocate, they might not contain all the things asked for but would contain all that is good for us. R469:5*

Followers of Jesus have success in their warfare only through their Advocate. R5285:2

God has provided that we shall have an Advocate, and to go aside from him and address somebody else would be to do dishonor to the Advocate, and to the one who appointed him. Q617:2; OV181:4

We have no other Advocate; and anyone who goes in any other way is taking a side-track, and will never reach the destination. Q617:2

We need an Advocate because the Father's requirement is that our hearts be perfect in love but this is beyond our accomplishment, because we have the treasure of the new mind in earthen vessels--in imperfect bodies. SM721:1, 725:1; R5440:1, 4388:6; CR389:6; NS356:5, 358:5

Our Lord Jesus continues to be our Advocate. R4625:2, 4597:2

He who appeared in the presence of God for us at first is the same one who ever liveth to make intercession for us. R4898:2, 5041:5, 1836:6; Q654:1

The evidence of our ransom, presented by Jesus when he ascended on high, is, and ever shall be, our Advocate. That sacrifice presented by Jesus is our Advocate, ever heard on behalf of every repentant sinner. R791:4

John points us to Calvary and to the acceptance of the ransom price as our Advocate. R791:5

It is the High Priest who does all the offering and of that Priest the Head represents the entire Body. R4310:4

The really loyal ones will suffer death rather than deny God and his arrangements, when brought into this position by the great Endorser, the Advocate of the Church. SM669:1

"Let us therefore come boldly unto the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy, and find grace to help in time of need." (Heb. 4:16) R1829:5, 5491:3, 5270:5, 5089:3, 5041:5, 3255:5, 1865:3; CR390:5; NS358:1; OV181:4; Q654:2; SM725:T

The Scriptures do not say anywhere, we have a mediator between God and us. R4680:1, 4584:6, 4388:6; Q302:T

God deals with the Body during their trial day through Jesus. The world will require a Mediator. R4339:2*, 5491:5; NS359:4; SM728:2

Our Lord Jesus is not the Church's Mediator before the Father, but the Church's Advocate. A Mediator implies a hostility between two principals, requiring the intervention of a third party, and this is not the case with the Church. SM720:2; R4516:6; NS356:3; Q466:2

With the Father -- Through the imputed merit of Jesus. R5491:3, 5928:4
Let us lose no time in retracing the step, and in calling upon the Father for forgiveness. R5492:4, 5041:5; Q302:T, 654:2

The righteous -- The absolutely righteous one. R3281:5

"God hath appointed a day in the which he will judge the world by that man whom he hath ordained." (Acts 17:31) A137

1 John 2:2

And he -- Jesus. CR490:4; R420:3

Our Advocate is more than a representative at the bar of justice, interested in our welfare and forgiveness; he is in addition the one who gave himself for our sins. R5939:4, 2236:1

Is the propitiation -- Greek, hilasmos, satisfaction. A157; E441; F164, 334; T124; R5939:4, 5193:4, 4982:2, 4633:2, 4574:3, 4515:2, 4504:6,

The Greek word hilasmos signifies "that which satisfies or propitiates," and occurs only here and in John 4:10. R641:1, 420:3; E442; T124
Expiator. (Strong's Lexicon) R4519:5

Webster's definition of its meaning: "The act of appeasing wrath and conciliating the favor of an offended person--atonement or atoning sacrifice." R420:6

A sufficient satisfaction. R3279:5

Appeasement. R866:4

Covering. R704:5

The sin-offering. R5939:5, 2236:4

His death constituted the satisfaction price. OV253:3

The work he finished at Calvary. R5939:4, 2236:1

Giving his life for us as our ransom--that he might buy back the forfeited life of Adam. R4792:3, 1256:3, 128:1*

Divine justice is satisfied to release the sinners as soon as the purchase-price is made available. CR490:4; NS248:1, 321:4

The first-borns alone thus far are reconciled to God. SM559:T

When Jesus ascended up on high he appeared for us, the Church class, and made satisfaction for our sins. R4633:5, 4515:2, 3708:5; NS359:6; SM728:1

The great Redeemer has the satisfaction price; it merely awaits the due time for application. R4633:3, 4504:6, 2733:4

His crucifixion was necessary; that by the blood of the cross, by the death of the crucified one, atonement is effected for the sins of the Church and of the world. R4171:1, 5925:1, 5164:2, 2832:6, 2197:4

The divine provision of a remedy for sinners is co-extensive with the blight of sin. R3066:1

The same death of the same Jesus makes satisfaction for both, the sins of the Church, and the sins of the world. CR227:6

And therefore the life-giver. E328

God's love and wisdom, operating in harmony with his justice, succeeded in clearing the guilty, without any injustice. R429:4; HG595:4

The proof of God's love. "He sent his Son to be the propitiation for our sins." (1 John 4:10) R1328:2*, 788:2

Typified by the offerings in connection with the Tabernacle. T26; NS365:4

The Church's share in the atonement is in the sense that the Church is reckoned as the Body of Christ, so its sacrifices are reckoned as being joined with that of Christ. R2052:2

The merit, the ransom, lay in the sacrifice which our Lord offered. Ours is merely incidental, and reckonedly accepted as a part, in order that we might be granted a share in the rewards. R2052:2

For our sins -- The Church's sins. Jesus gave himself a ransom-price for all, and the merit of this price was applied by imputation on our behalf. R5491:3, 4633:1, 418:6

Throughout the Gospel age. R4497:6, 1590:1

It is nearly nineteen centuries since the first application for the Church. R4504:6

By his paying our penalty we might be released from death--have a right to live--to a resurrection. R563:3

"I delivered unto you first of all that which I also received, how that Christ died for our sins." (1 Cor. 15:3) R2601:1

Not for ours only -- God recognizes the sins of the Church as one thing, and the sins of the world as another. CR227:6; NS356:1; SM719:1

The expiations are separate and distinct, but the one sacrifice, finished at Calvary, is the ransom-price by which both are to be effected. R4519:5, 4574:3

But also -- But also is sufficient. R4633:1

Additionally--subsequently. R4504:6

Afterwards. R4633:2

The Scriptures clearly distinguish between the sin of the world and the sin of the Church. HG177:6

Secondarily, Christ will make use of his sacrifice on behalf of all the people. R4819:1

Both the just and the unjust shall come forth from the grave. R1816:2, 5108:4; NS804:2

The redemption of mankind will be universal. R5925:1

If the elect Church received her trial in advance of the world, as a result of the redemption, the same redemption will provide a trial for the non-elect world. R2733:4

The world still has a place in the divine plan. The time must come when it will receive a blessing through the sacrifice of reconciliation. NS367:3, 769:4

For the sins -- This secondary application of the merit of our Lord on behalf of the world, corresponds to the second sprinkling of the blood on the Atonement Day, the blood of the Lord's goat, sealing the New Covenant.

When justice accepts of Christ's atonement for all the people, the formal transfer of the kingdoms of this world will take place, and God will put all things in subjection, under his feet. R4640:4

As the death of the sacrifice was not for the priests alone, so Christ's death is not for the Little Flock alone. As the animal's life was not for the tribe of Levi alone, but also for the "whole congregation," so the blood of our substitute was not for believers alone. R17:3

Of the whole world -- Adam and all of his race, who died in him.

The abundance of the divine provision. R3261:6

Of which the Jews are a part. OV226:4

The completeness of the ransom is the very strongest possible argument for the restitution of all mankind who will accept it on the proffered terms.

A157

Jesus, in laying down his human life, was laying down sacrificially the ransom price sufficient for the sins of the whole world. CR452:2; R1336:1, 685:2; NS248:1, 613:1

He will have all of this merit of his sacrifice to make satisfaction for the sins of the whole world--not a single individual omitted. R5622:3

Eventually the whole world shall have the privilege, opportunity, of having their eyes and ears opened that they also may see and understand the riches of God's grace in Christ. R4126:2, 5939:5, 2236:4

These sins of the world may include murder, but as far as justice is concerned, there can be no more objection to the forgiving of the sins of the whole world than to the forgiving of the sins of the whole Church.

1 John 2:3

Keep his commandments -- "That we should believe on the name of his son Jesus Christ, and love one another." (1 John 3:23) R976:4, 1731:1

Not the ten commandments of Israel's Law as a covenant. R976:4, 1730:6

The Jewish Law cannot here be referred to, because, "By the deeds of the Law (covenant) shall no flesh be justified in his sight." (Rom. 3:20)
R1730:6

1 John 2:4

I know him -- Christ as my Lord and Savior. R2154:6

Intimate knowledge of God, communion with him. R5939:6, 2236:4

Not his commandments -- To do the works of righteousness, to bring forth the fruits of repentance of sins. R2154:6

Truth is not in him -- It is thus very evident that the Apostle does not mean merely a knowledge about God, but an intimate knowledge of God, implying fellowship and communion with him. R5939:6, 2236:4

1 John 2:5

Keepeth his word -- Only those who have received the Word of God can keep it, can retain it and comply with its requirements. R4897:4

Loves the Word of God and takes pleasure not in turning, twisting, and endeavoring to avoid the force of that Word, but keeps it, cherishes it, loves it, and seeks to conform himself thereto. R2649:1

We should strive to regulate our lives and all of our doings by the Word of God. R5276:5

Those who hold fast to the Word are "overcomers." R4897:4

This test of obedience proves whether or not we are new creatures. R5939:6, 4897:4, 2236:5

On all sides we hear various reasons why we should retain the world and the flesh, rather than that which the Lord's Word holds out to us. R4897:4

The love of God -- Love is based on a clear knowledge of God, on an undissembled faith, a faith fully appreciating what he has said. R5276:6
That love which is most perfectly represented in God--pure, free from all selfishness, from all stain--God's love, the very underlying principle of his character. R5276:5

Whoever is so in harmony with God that they delight to do his will, have in this an evidence that the love of God is dwelling in them richly and abounding. R2648:6

Perfected -- To have this love perfected in us would seem to indicate that we would love as God loves. R5276:6

The test is obedience. In proportion as we keep the Lord's Word, in like proportion the love of God is perfected in us. R4897:5

1 John 2:6

Abideth in him -- Abideth in Christ. R5446:6

This gives us the thought of a body. It implies that one has first come into him. R5446:3

This profession should be borne out by our walk. R5447:4
By feeding constantly on the Word, and by following closely in Christ's footsteps. R1802:6*
Abiding in him to the end. R1008:2
Also so to walk -- To do the will of God in all things. R5446:6
Be willing to do "everything written in the Book"--not merely forcing ourselves to it, but delighting to do God's will. R5447:1, 4897:4, 2649:1
In our general relationship and deportment to everything that is good, and correspondingly to avoid everything that is evil. R3237:5, 5447:5
That we still love him--are still in harmony with God's Word--have no will but the Lord's will--his peace in our hearts and lives. R5446:3
Not according to the flesh, but according to the new creature--to love everything that is good and avoid everything that is evil. R5447:5
In the same way, in the same direction, toward the same mark and standard that he recognized and established. R3237:5, 5446:3
"We are buried with him" and rise to "walk in newness of life." (Rom. 6:4)
R5446:3
Even as he walked -- Whoever walks as Jesus walked is in harmony with the divine Word and will--in holiness, devotion and opposition to sin--he lived daily in harmony with the will of the Heavenly Father--fully submissive--a sacrifice unto death. R5446:6
In the same path, in the same direction, toward the same glorious goal--not according to the desires of the flesh. R5447:5
The word disciple signifies one who follows--as a pupil follows his teacher. R5447:4
He pleased not himself, but delighted in doing the Father's will. R493:4*

A new commandment -- Teaching. E284

1 John 2:10

He -- Represented in Joseph--The Messiah--the class that includes the specially faithful of God's people during this Gospel age. R5231:3
Loveth -- The testimony of God is that Christ is the love of the world. R1329:2*

1 John 2:11

Hateth his brother -- He who loveth not his brother loveth not God. He who hateth his brother and back-biteth him is not under the control of the spirit of God. R4327:3
Darkness -- A synonym for the condition of those in sin. R4327:3
As are the worldly. R1063:4*
Blinded his eyes -- We must not be surprised if some of those who have manifested a bitter, loveless spirit, and who have been harrying the Lord's flock in a backbiting and wolfish manner should become uncertain in respect to the truth. R4327:4

Blindness and confusion are of the Adversary. R4328:1

Little children -- Babes in Christ. R97:5*, 1906:3

We realize our adoption as sons only when we have renounced the vain pomp and glory of this world and turned fully to God, claiming no righteousness of our own. R1906:3

No one is even a babe in Christ who still cherishes iniquity in his heart, or who fails to recognize his need of the covering of Christ's righteousness. R1906:3

For his name's sake -- Because he paid the penalty, which was the full satisfaction of justice. E461

1 John 2:13

Fathers -- "When I became a man, I put away childish things." (1 Cor. 13:11) R1906:6

Young men -- Beyond both infancy and boyhood, the stature of a young man in Christ. R1906:6

1 John 2:14

Ye are strong -- Spiritual new creatures in Christ must have appropriate proper nourishment that they may continue to live and grow. R1906:3

1 John 2:15

Love not the world -- The love of fellowship, which implies the partaking of the world's spirit--its aims, ambitions, hopes and its methods of pursuing them. R1955:6

To fellowship the world is to talk in harmony with its ideas and to conform to its ways. In this sense we may not love it, but must be apart from it and in opposition to it. R1956:4

This signifies that the world's standards, customs, ambitions, views, etc., are so different from those inculcated by the spirit of the truth that it is impossible for these to fully harmonize the one with the other. R5513:4

We are not to be in sympathy with any of the present selfish institutions, even though we may be obliged to conduct our affairs considerably along its selfish lines. F606

The world is traveling in the opposite direction to righteousness--in the way of selfishness and gratification of the flesh. R5218:2

The worldly spirit of selfishness and sin; the spirit of ambition, envy, hatred, malice and strife. SM607:1

Evil deeds and thoughts--sinful practices. R4766:5, 4765:6

We are not to set our hearts upon these things. Our hearts are to be set upon the doing of the Lord's will. R5512:5

We should be on guard against every indication of sympathy or affiliation with the spirit of the world. F606

Have no affectionate love for evil doers. R1251:1

Even a good work could be engaged in from the spirit of the world rather than the spirit of God. R5139:2

Our ability to run the race set before us in the Gospel will be in proportion as we shall be obedient to the divine counsel. F729; R5139:4

There are many who have been begotten of the spirit, who are partially overcome by the allurements of the world, they partially lose sight of the prize set before us, and try to keep the favor of God and the favor of the world. A213

The love or charity which goes out toward the enemies of the cross of Christ--those who have been once enlightened by the truth and have turned away from it--is not the right kind of love. R1589:5

The world operates along lines different from those of love. The spirit of selfishness belongs to the present order; we see it everywhere. R5138:3

Its spirit lays hold of all the forces of nature and seeks to control these, to adapt them to its own selfish interests. R5138:3

Those who have the selfish heart, the selfish intentions, will continue to love the things of the world. R5138:6

It has become an enemy and a tempter by reason of the fact that the Church have been "begotten again" to new hopes, new ambitions--which are along radically different lines from anything the world knows or has sympathy with. R4811:1

But we are to be the enemies of none, and the friends of all. R4765:3, 1955:3

Many of the poor love the things of the world, and hope some day to get their share. R5138:6

"World" does not refer to either the human race, or to the planet on which we live. It is from the Greek word, kosmos, signifying, arrangement, the present order of things. R5138:2, 97:3*

St. John does not refer to the world of mankind, for we should have sympathy similar to the Heavenly Father's for the fallen race. R5138:3, 2755:2, 1955:3

Neither the things -- God's people recognize the things of the world in general as being in opposition to the service of God. R4766:1

Every child of God should be on guard against the spirit of selfishness and against willingness to participate in the things of this world.

R5139:1, 5138:3, 4766:4

A man who would truly rejoice to have a better arrangement of affairs, would not have the spirit that dominates in the present order of things. R5138:6

Those whose eyes of understanding have been illuminated can never be satisfied with present conditions under the rule of the prince of darkness. R4196:2

We cannot condemn the ways of the world, yet delight in the good things of life provided--the automobile, the pleasant home, etc. R5139:1

Not that we are not to appreciate beautiful things, or that we are not to like to see others striving to benefit the world; but that we should not be satisfied with any of these things, so far as we are concerned. R5139:1

In the world -- Of the world. R1096:5*

If any man -- The Apostle seems to be addressing this message to the Church. R5139:1

Love the world -- Greek, agapee. Used in an inferior sense. R3949:4

We do not understand that such a one has no love for the Father, or that the Father has no love for him. R5139:1

Love of the Father -- Greek, agapee, disinterested or divine love, as representing the highest type of love when used respecting the Lord and his people. R3949:4

The Spirit of God, the spirit of love, the spirit that will dominate the new order of things, that will control during the thousand years of Christ's reign. R5138:6

Those who love God will be fully out of harmony with the spirit of the present evil world. R5139:4

Is not in him -- The love of the Father had not gotten full control of his heart--meaning if he did not overcome his selfish disposition he would not be accepted as a son. R5139:1

If any man in Christ partake of the poor substitutes which the world has to offer he is thereby proving his lack of appreciation and hence his unworthiness of heavenly things. R1956:4

Those who are serving the ministry merely from the worldly spirit will be vexed with every thing that is making for truth. R5139:4

"Know ye not that the friendship of the world is enmity with God? Whosoever, therefore, will be a friend of the world is the enemy of God." (James 4:4) R4765:3

For all -- The Apostle very briefly summed up the world's treasures. R1956:1

Worldly desires. R2154:2, 2123:3

In the world -- The spirit of the world is the very opposite of the Spirit of God and of Christ. R1956:1

When the lusts of the flesh and the eyes have brought their curse of narrowness, bigotry and conceit; depriving fellow-men of their rights and privileges, then pride, the exultation of meanness has its short triumph.

R1859:4

These three points of attack by the great enemy are the points which the Lord would have us guard with unwearied vigilance. R1859:4

The pride of life and desires of the flesh never had so deep and broad an influence over the minds of the majority of mankind as they have at present. NS468:2

All these things appeal to us and strive to get from us precious moments, talents, opportunities and influence, which as ambassadors for the great King we feel we ought to be rendering to him and his service. NS468:2

Lust of the flesh -- Undue cultivation of all the appetites and passions common to the whole human family. R1859:3, 2154:2, 1956:1

The merely animal instincts. To these, thousands sacrifice all the higher interests. To fare sumptuously in eating and drinking and frolic and pleasure is their delight. R1956:1

Lust of the eyes -- Ambitions to acquire and possess whatsoever the natural eye or the eye of understanding perceives to be good; i.e., to be gratifying to the carnal mind, the old unregenerate nature. R1859:3

Craving wealth, fame, power, social distinction. R1859:3

Impels to self-gratification regardless of the rights and liberties of others. R1859:3

Demands luxury in dress and home appointments and the gathering for self-gratification of all that is admired and desired. R1956:1

Pride of life -- It is that disposition in a man which glories in his shame--exulting over those in humbler walks in life. R1859:3

It is the blossom of selfishness, so abhorrent to God and to all good men. R1859:3

Glorying in the shame of selfishness which has ignored the wants and woes of the needy and suffering, and saying to self; Soul, take thine ease, eat, drink and be merry. R1956:1

Loftily soaring above the unfortunate subjects of its power and gloating over the desolation it has wrought. R1859:4

Pride is connected with nearly everything that is injurious to the people of God. R5125:5

Of the Father -- Only a new mind, secured through a complete consecration of one's being to God will transform the motive of the depraved heart. R1189:6*

"Simplicity and godly sincerity," delighting in the beauty of holiness, adorned with a meek and quiet spirit, submissive to discipline, patient in tribulation, abounding in the work of the Lord. R2123:3

But is of the world -- According to the spirit of this present evil world. R1955:6

If we yield to the spirit of the world it means a corresponding loss of favor with our King, and if loyal to our King and our ambassadorship, it means that the world will think of us as foolish. NS468:3

Antichrist -- Opposed to Christ. F260

That Wicked One, the Man of Sin, the Mystery of Iniquity, the Son of Perdition, the Abomination that maketh desolate, the Beast, the Little Horn, the Papacy. B271, 277; R1775:5, 980:2, 143:6; HG76:2-5

An organized body--not a sinful individual. R980:2

The term applies to anything or any person opposing Christ--it means, against Christ--it is found only in John's epistles, where it appears five times. R143:2

Against, in the sense of misrepresenting, counterfeit, taking the place of the true Christ. B281; HG76:5

So perfect is the counterfeit that many have mistaken the false for the true and really suppose the thousand years reign of Christ and the saints is in the past. HG76:5

John tells the Church that there are some of the nominal Church who have become Antichrist; opposers of Christ. R380:1

Protestants are willing to conciliate Rome in almost every way; they retract the statements of the past that the church of Rome is the Antichrist. R1775:3

Many antichrists -- The Greek distinguishes between the special Antichrist and the numerous lesser ones. B281

Adversaries of the true Church--the anointed body of Christ. R813:6*

Powerful organizations known as churches have been established, and by their opposition to the truth, and those who hold the truth, have become anti-Christ. R813:6*

The same spirit which in our day has become so formidable, manifested itself in Apostolic times and has been alive during the entire history of the Gospel Church. R814:1*

The world is still opposed to the Christ of God, both Head and Body, because it knoweth him not. R143:6

Went out from us -- Deserted the truth and its interests. R1589:5

Who have separated themselves from us. R4531:5

Were sifted out. R1132:3

A departure from the faith. R694:6

With pain and sorrow we part company. R126:1

They go out from us because they lack full consecration and full submission to the will of God. R1279:6

All who do not rightly appreciate and value the ransom accomplished by the Lamb of God for the taking away of the sin of the world. R1289:2, 5191:2, 2270:3

All who have not the spirit of humility, patience, gentleness, brotherly-kindness, love, will surely be separated. R2407:4

If we were speaking of the Great Company and those who during this age go into the second death, we might say they went out from us before they had known of us. They certainly were of us, but not of the elect class. Q728:4

But they -- A certain class who, still professing to be of the Christ Body, the Church, had left the foundation principles of the truth, and were, in the eyes of the world, taking the place and name of the true Church. B281

Who claimed that the prophecies of a Messiah were figurative and never to be fulfilled. F260

Were not of us -- Either they never were true Christians, or they had ceased to be such. F260

Did not represent us, even though they might deceive themselves and the world on this subject. B281

Gradually they are going into darkness on all subjects. R4585:4

Because the old fleshly mind and disposition are still there. R1589:5

What more can we do for them but leave them in the hand of him who is too wise to err and too just to be unkind. R4585:5

We should not by word or act be unkind to those who in this hour of temptation are being smitten down by the arrows of the Adversary. R4483:6

The Great Company are not of us in the sense that they are not of the class that will attain unto the Kingdom--the elect. Q728:5

They went out -- If, after we have done all in our power to hold a fellow-member with our love and with the truth, he departs, we are to take the matter with equanimity. The Lord will bring back into fellowship all that are truly his. R4375:5

Made manifest -- It is doubtless as necessary that the Church be sifted, purged, tested, as that it be "built up". For either work, God uses the ready and willing. R2368:6

"There must be heresies among you that they which are approved may be made manifest among you." (1 Cor. 11:19) R4375:5, 2368:6

Trials and siftings are as necessary to the Church's prosperity and development as is the truth, and none of these things need discourage any. R1318:5*

1 John 2:20

Ye -- Who? Why, all those who receive the holy Spirit. CR251:5; R2225:2
No one can have a right to serve in the capacity of a priest unless he be anointed of the holy Spirit. SM600:T

Have an unction -- Greek, chrisma, endowment of the holy Spirit--anointing. SM597:1; E281; R5616:4, 4841:6, 2225:2, 380:1, 126:1; OV160:3

From custom, the Greek word chrisma carried with it the thought of fragrance, perfume. What a sweet perfume does this anointing of the holy Spirit of love bring with it to all who receive it! E281

An anointing, oiling, making smooth, lubricating. R2225:1, 2227:1, 2224:6; E281; F261; CR441:3; SM608:T, 597:1

Its tendency is to follow peace with all men, so far as is possible. It is opposed to friction--to anger, malice, hatred, strife. F261; SM607:1

Oil was used in olden times for anointing the skin to give smoothness and softness, so the holy Spirit brings to all who are anointed with it a smoothness and softness of character and manner not previously theirs. R2225:2; F262

From earliest times God has used oil as a type of the holy Spirit: for instance, the kings of Israel were anointed; likewise the priesthood. Christ is the antitype of Israel's kings and high priests. R2225:1; E281; SM598:2, 601:T

The work as priests begins immediately after we receive our anointing--sacrificing unto death. But the same anointing which we received as respects the kingly office has a future fulfillment. SM601:T
This holy anointing implies a power and authority--it will quicken our mortal bodies, energize our faith, and open wider the eyes of our understanding, that we may be daily the better able to comprehend the length, breadths, heights, and depths of the divine character and plan. SM605:2, 606:2

It gives the spirit of joy, peace, benevolence, goodness, mercy, brotherly kindness and love--which is the character of a true Christian. SM607:1, 597:1; E281; F261

Whoever has received the spirit of love, the holy Spirit or disposition, the Spirit of the truth, has an unction, anointing, lubrication from the Holy One. R2225:2; F261

It is the Spirit of God, which proceedeth and came forth from him, bestowed upon his faithful. R2225:2

This unction gives more or less ability to understand the deep things of God--in proportion to the measure of the holy Spirit received and in proportion to the natural talents of the person thus blessed. OV160:3

The lubricating and mollifying of character will come slowly, gradually, and we must not expect a miracle or as sudden a change in our earthen vessels as we had in the spirit of our minds. R2227:1

The one thus begotten of the holy Spirit is spiritually minded. R4968:3

The holy Spirit has revealed to us the presence of the Bridegroom--he has caused us to sit down to meat (truth), and himself has been our teacher and served us. R126:1

Under this blessing of the Lord, we are to develop more and more, in preparation for our position of royalty. R4210:5

It also brings a desire to tell of the goodness of God. CR297:3

In considering olive oil in connection with an anointing, we have several very beautiful and forceful thoughts as respects the blessing conferred by the anointing. It represents a peace-producing and light-giving influence. SM606:3

This text does not declare that we are anointed WITH the Holy One, as though the Holy One became the oil or influence. SM605:1

By being taught of him. R51:1*

Ye know all things -- Ye all know it; you have this evidence that you are members of the Body of Christ. E283; F262; R4989:3, 4210:5, 2226:6; SM597:1, 600:T

Rendering of Sinaitic and Vatican manuscripts--"You all know it."

(Diaglott) R380:1, 4841:6, 2225:2; F261

The one receiving the anointing should know it, whether others know it or not. R2224:6, 5616:5, 4841:6; OV160:3

It manifests itself to us as it would not to the world. We know that we have the mind of Christ--the opposite of selfishness. R4841:6

We can readily discern the change of our own sentiments; and it should not be very long after we receive it and know it, before others should know it also. R2226:6

If we have the holy Spirit, this anointing, this unction, we surely know it as a fact, whether or not we have always discerned it as being the Spirit of our adoption to the divine nature. R2225:6

Have an understanding of heart and of mind which is different from that any natural man would have, the privilege of growing in grace and knowledge. R4968:4; E283

"Now I know in part." (1 Cor. 13:12) SM597:1

The words "all things" are omitted by oldest Greek manuscripts. E283

1 John 2:22

He that denieth -- Teaching that the prophecies of a Messiah are figurative. F260

The Christ -- The Anointed. R144:4

Antichrist -- The Greek philosophizing teachers and all such false teachers. E286

Those against which we most guard are the power and influence of the various false heads and so-called bodies of Christ. R144:4 As the dragon, the civil power of the nations has been in the "bottomless pit" under the antichrist, so the nations are to be subdued under the real Christ. HG76:4

Denieth -- Denying means acting contrary to. HG76:1

Father and the Son -- The Greek philosophers were quite willing to acknowledge Jesus as a good man and a wise teacher but not as the Son of God. E285

People believed that Jesus had lived, but denied his being the Christ, the Sent of God, as the same class of anti-christs do today who deny that "Jesus is the Son of God." R144:4

This means something quite different from denying their existence. HG75:6

Denieth the Son -- Although it might have been possible to trust in and believe on the Father without believing on the Son before the Son was manifested, yet now, whosoever denieth the Son of God thereby denies the Father. F260

1 John 2:24

Which ye have heard -- John exhorts the Christians to hold fast the teachers heard by them and to consider the philosophizing teachings of the Greeks as lies. E286

1 John 2:25

Promised us -- The promise is now to the Church, and to no others. R5608:5

This "us" class includes not only the antitypical Priests, but also the antitypical Levites. But while both classes will have eternal life, "the crown of life" (immortality) is only for those who will prove themselves to be "more than overcomers--conquerors." R5608:6

Even eternal life -- When Jesus came, he brought the words of eternal life, everlasting life. He "brought life and immortality to light through the Gospel." (2 Tim. 1:10) R5608:3

If we would make our calling and election sure to glory, honor, and immortality, we must exercise great carefulness indeed. Those who attain the prize will get the grandest blessing God has to give. R5609:4
"Which salvation began to be spoken by our Lord, and was confirmed unto us by them that heard him." (Heb. 2:3) R5608:5
"The gift of God is eternal life." (Rom. 6:23) E385, 386; R1878:3
And though it is promised as a gift, yet it is only to a certain class that he ever agreed to give it, viz., to those believers in Jesus who by patient continuance in well-doing seek for glory, honor and immortality. R279:3, 142:5
The Lord will make it quite possible for the world to gain life everlasting on the human plane, just as he is now making it possible for the Church to attain life on the divine plane. R5608:6
The Greek philosophers were teaching a future, eternal life and were glad to find Christians teaching the same: the difference being that they (Plato and others) taught that eternal life is a human quality. E285
If any "fall away", they will not receive the eternal life promised, but the opposite, eternal death, the second death. R138:1*
From the standpoint of Christian thought in general, these words are practically meaningless; for most believe that everlasting conditions are forced upon all humanity from the moment of birth. R5608:1
The Scriptures nowhere teach that all have life inherently. R5608:4

That seduce you -- That seek to seduce you from Christ. E286
"Those who (would) deceive you." (Diaglott) R380:2
In addition to the Word and its God appointed expounders, it is essential that we have also the mind of Christ, else we might be deceived into a misconstruction of the plainest statements of God's Word. R380:2

1 John 2:27

But the anointing -- The one anointing, the holy Spirit. E215; T37
The word "Christ" signifies "Anointed"; "The Christ is not one member but many." (1 Cor. 12:14) A81, 82
Divine recognition of them as kings and priests. R5393:4; SM600:1
As a member of a special class. R5550:1
The whole Church of Christ is the anointed one, the Christ of God. CR270:2; R218:5
When we come into Christ we come into the anointing. The anointing belongs to the entire Body. Q23:T
Our begetting is individual--our baptism, or anointing, is collective, but the one is as personal as the other. R5393:5; E215
The anointing is represented as of the whole Church collectively. The begetting is an individual matter. R5550:1

We are not anointed as individuals, but as members of his Body. CR436:1; SM599:1

All who come to God, by Christ, are immersed into membership in his Body, thus coming under the anointing. R5394:1; CR436:1

We all have received this anointing of the holy Spirit. It is now a matter of development. R5393:2

The qualification by which God recognizes us as his children. R5392:5

The mind, will or spirit of God--the same mind which was also in Christ Jesus our Lord. R380:1

Our Lord calls it a begetting, in the sense that a new life is started. R5392:4

Our Lord and Head was anointed; and this same anointing extends to all the members of his Body, the Church. R1891:2, 5807:3, 5394:1, 1917:5, 1688:4; F261; Q514:3; SM599:T

Ordination came upon the disciples at Pentecost; and all down the Gospel age it has come upon the followers of Christ, anointing them to preach the Gospel. R5807:3, 241:2; OV160:3; Q514:3

Both classes, the Little Flock and the Great Company receive the anointing of the Lord, the begetting of the holy Spirit. R5393:2

The holy Spirit is the influence or power of the Father by which we are anointed, consecrated, recognized as the Lord's people. It is not part of a trinity. SM603:T

Ye have received -- Consecrated believers. A81

We receive this anointing from the Father, through our Lord Jesus Christ. R5549:4, 5537:1

All who have received the ordination of God have the authority to preach according to their opportunities and abilities. Q514:4; R241:2

"Anointing of the Spirit" must include that mellowing development which comes as we grow in grace and in knowledge, and not merely the time when we were anointed (begotten) to come into the family of God. R5728:3, 2227:1

To share with our Lord in the present time the dishonor and sacrifice and in the coming age of glory to be joined with him in glory and power. R241:2; SM600:T

Beginning at Pentecost. E281; T37; R5549:6, 2225:5, 1917:5, 241:2

The anointing which the Church received at Pentecost was the divine sanction, the divine recognition, of those consecrated to follow in the footsteps of our Lord. R5549:5; SM602:1

Since Pentecost the same Gospel call has gone forth throughout all the world--to as many as the Lord our God doth call. (Acts 2:39) Those who accept the terms and conditions of that call come into the anointed company. R5549:5

When we come into Christ, we come into this anointing. R5549:6

"Christ in you, the hope of glory." R4841:6, 5228:3

No one can be a member of the new creation before being anointed of the holy Spirit. R5393:3

In the type, the under-priesthood received a measure of the anointing oil, prefiguring the real priesthood to come. R5392:3, 5549:4 Some who have received of the Lord this anointing will not be accounted worthy to reign with him because of lack of zeal in carrying out their covenant. R5393:2
Of him -- The Lord Jesus, the Head of an anointed company. R5392:3
Jesus was anointed at Jordan; the antitype of the Jewish High Priest. He received the holy Spirit without measure. R5549:4
In the type, the oil was poured only upon the Head. T37; F261; R5549:2, 2225:1

Abideth in you -- Continues in you. R5549:6

So long as we continue obedient. R5393:6

All of the anointed have the mind of the great Christ. So we are to seek to abide in him individually as well as collectively; for as we have come into the anointed class, so it is possible for us to go out of this anointed class. R5550:5

The anointing which the Church received at Pentecost abideth in her. R241:2

One is a member of the anointed the instant he is begotten. It is the new creature that is anointed. R5393:4

Evidenced by the appearance of the fruits and graces of the holy Spirit. R5549:6

Sooner or later affecting their outward conduct, gradually. R5393:3

So long as you have this holy Spirit of love abiding in you, it will serve as a guard against all blasphemous, antichristian theories. E287 The anointed office may be forfeited, without the spirit-begotten life being forfeited, as in the case of the Great Company. R5393:5

Ye need not that -- Mistranslated in our Common Version--under this delusion many are turned aside from the instruction which the Lord designs should be given through teachers whom he would raise up. R2810:5, 2224:5
Satan has used this mistranslation to befog the minds of the Lord's people and to make them believe contrary to the testimony of their own senses. R2224:2

Any man teach you -- The fundamental truth that all were sinners and in need of a Redeemer; and that Jesus, the Anointed One, had redeemed them by the sacrifice of his own life. F260; E287

That Jesus is the Son of God, the Redeemer, the Messiah. F261; E287; R2224:6

These Greek philosophers, who claim to be such great teachers, can teach you nothing of value. E286

Ye are not dependent upon human wisdom and science. R218:5

All the consecrated are anointed to preach, and they need no other authority. R1891:2, 1917:5

Those who have this anointing have no need that any one teach them that fact, for they have the evidence of it, the proof of it in their own hearts and experiences. R5228:4

This passage has no reference whatever to general instruction in righteousness and in the Word of God and in the plan of salvation. R2224:6

This does not mean that teachers are not to be recognized, and that none are needed. John does not contradict other Scriptures which show that God had appointed teachers in the Church. R380:1; E284; F262

John himself was a teacher and in this very epistle was teaching what he and we appreciate as sound doctrine--necessary to be taught. E284

The same anointing -- The same anointing that has come down throughout the age upon all the members of the Body. R5393:5

Those who had received the holy Spirit of the Lord should in this fact have sufficient proof to offset any arguments of the Adversary to the effect that Christ was an imposter. R2224:6

You will find the same test of loyalty to the holy Spirit of love received through the Father and the Son helpful in proving all matters. E287

Teacheth you of all -- "Teaches you concerning all things, and is true." (Diaglott) R380:2, 218:5

And is truth -- Whatever contradicts or ignores the Spirit of love is an unholy Spirit--a false teaching. E287

Ye shall abide -- Who constitute his Body. R5392:3

That ye must abide. F261

To abandon Christ is to abandon all. E287

In him -- To abide in Christ, we must, as new creatures, grow in grace, knowledge and love. R5550:5

Abiding in him to the end. R1008:2; E287

Whoever abides not in him, in the Vine, is, like the branch cut off, sure to wither. Whoever abides in him is sure to abide in his Spirit also, and cannot deny him. F261

1 John 3:1

Behold -- Greek, eidon, consider, know, understand. A278; R837:3

Did you ever think of that? Called to be sons and daughters of the loving God, adopted into the family of God, with Jesus as our elder brother, to share with him all the glories of the heavenly Kingdom. R31:3*

What manner of love -- Greek, agapee, disinterested or divine love. The highest type of love when used respecting the Lord and his people. R3949:2
God's special love and provision for his saints as distinguished from the world. R1254:5

It astounds us to know that the same love is exercised toward us--the same love that he had for our Lord Jesus. R5082:6, 2466:4

Our Lord expressed and fully manifested the Father's love. R5082:6, 2466:4
"The Father himself loveth you." (John 16:27) R5082:6

Even worldly physicians, skeptics, are coming to recognize the fact that the peace of God ruling in and keeping the heart is not only an excellent medicine, but a great preservative of health. R2083:5 Us -- Consecrated new creatures. R991:2; NS79:2

The sons of God -- Christians. R761:2

We are his and the King of Glory is supervising our experiences. R4465:6
God has granted us the privilege of witnessing, as his servants and ambassadors. B264

While the sons are being perfected, it is not expected that the world will understand it. R50:3*

"And if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ."
(Rom. 8:17) R4465:6, 2352:1

Therefore the world -- Because we make the Gospel the all-absorbing theme of life. A347

A mystery to the world. R368:6; A85; NS399:6

They can never understand. CR410:2

The world in general is growing more and more atheistic and pantheistic.
NS328:1

Knoweth us not -- As new creatures. F437; R368:6; NS51:3, 337:1

As Christ's joint-heirs. A85

Understandeth us not. R1653:2, 991:2

Understands us not, appreciates us not. HG264:5; NS61:5; OV359:6

Comprehends nothing of the change by which we are risen with Christ.
NS337:1

Because they realize not that they are united to their hidden Lord. R3797:6

"Your life is hid with Christ in God." (Col. 3:3) NS639:4

God's saintly ones have not been generally the great, the influential.
OV194:5

The selection of a Little Flock was unexpected of the angels and of men and hence was a mystery, and still is to mankind. R4398:5, 1653:2; NS399:6
The great religious teachers have not recognized the members of the Body of Christ. R4755:1

The world does not yet understand that the Church of Christ is not to be found in any of the professed churches. OV359:6

The fact, as well as the philosophy, of the Church being members of Christ is to the world a hidden mystery. OV124:1; NS337:1

The world reckons the Little Flock as a part of the filth and off-scouring of all things, knows them as fools for Christ's sake. R4133:6, 962:2; A347; SM9:1

This which we now have is a bitter foretaste; but coupled with this there is a joy which the world cannot give. R4841:6

For eighteen hundred years this has been true--Christ and the Church have been only the incipient Kingdom. R5455:3; NS79:2

These new creatures are all sons of God, though the world does not understand that they are in any way different from others in their relationship to God. R5439:3; CR132:1; NS51:2, 337:5

They see no reason why we should sacrifice or consecrate our wills to the Lord. NS51:2

Some highly esteemed among men, are not highly esteemed in God's sight; and some not much esteemed among men, are highly esteemed of God. R5259:1

The true Church, the Body of Christ, is disesteemed amongst men. NS682:4
If humble of mind we shall not expect great things for ourselves, or special attentions. R4466:6, 2556:4

How often, while endeavoring to walk in Jesus' footsteps, and to overcome evil with good, we are misunderstood and our purposes maligned. R255:2

Let us feel more content to be sharers for the time in the blasphemous reproaches and misrepresentations which come to us in connection with our endeavors to show forth the praises of him who hath called us. NS557:4

As Joseph's brethren were blind to the fact that their brother would be their savior from famine, as well as the savior of the Egyptians; so the world fails to realize that only through the Messiah will any have eternal life. R5215:3

When the last members of the Lord's Body announce the parousia of the Lord and that his Kingdom is at hand, there is a beauty in the message in the sight of the household of faith, but not so with the world. R3762:5

he minds of the majority of mankind as they have at present. NS468:2

Few will be able to comprehend our message in the full, nor are we to parade our ambassadorship before the world. NS466:1

Because -- For the same reason that. A85; R962:2

"The god of this world hath blinded the eyes" of the vast majority of men. (2 Cor. 4:4) R1653:2; NS331:5

It knew him not -- The Master. R5439:3

The Forerunner and Captain. R3797:6; NS61:6

They knew not the great religious Teacher and Redeemer whom God had sent.
R4755:1

The world did not know Jesus to be begotten of the holy Spirit, the son of the highest, etc.; nor that he is highly exalted at the Father's right hand. CR132:1

The disciple must not expect to be above his Lord. R2556:5

1 John 3:2

Now -- Consecrated believers are actually sons of God. R4932:3; Q665:1
Even in our imperfect condition. HG449:2

We already enjoy this blessed relationship. CR109:2

The Lord's faithful, consecrated ones, though hampered with unfavorable surroundings and imperfect conditions. NS527:2

But not glorified. NS187:5

The sons of God -- Begotten of the holy Spirit. F365; NS458:5

We have come into this blessed union with him through consecration.
CR109:2; R4932:3; Q665:1

Reckonedly, hoping by divine grace to "become partakers of the divine nature." (2 Pet. 1:4) E69; R5317:1, 4014:6, 2843:5

In embryo. R5317:1; CR432:1; Q405:4

Our present sonship is tentative. The actual sonship will begin after we shall have passed our probationary trial. R5317:1, 4014:6; Q405:4

The fact that we are called sons of God implies the beginning of a new life. The new life which we have received is not from Jesus, but from the Father. R5623:5

God owns and accepts all who have come unto him through Christ. These will continue to be owned as sons to the end of the present journey, to the end of the present time of sacrifice. R3203:6

To all three different natures--human, angelic, and divine--Jehovah is Father, yet only one of them is of his own nature. R354:5, 1052:5*, 816:5

The only ones who have a right to call God "our Father" are those who have come into covenant relationship with him through Christ. R5219:1; CR499:5

Jesus was the first son of God after Adam; and since our Lord's time the Church have been called sons of God. R5623:5

Just the same as a child adopted into a family takes the name of the family, so we have taken upon ourselves the name of the sons of God in accepting the divine proposition to this effect. R4014:5

With these sons of God, the new creature is the special thing, in God's sight. The flesh matters little. R5624:2

When Jesus said he was a son of God the Jews were about to stone him, reasoning that if a son of God, he was making himself to be also a God, or of the God family--just what we claim. R301:3

"The God and Father of our Lord Jesus hath begotten us." (1 Pet. 1:3)
R301:3, 474:1

"But as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God." (John 1:12) R1005:5

The Jews were afraid to call themselves sons of God, or to call him their Father; and it was not until some time after our Lord's death that their faith began to grasp the privilege. R5219:2

The world cannot call God their Father. CR499:5

Doth not yet appear -- To our human understanding. B108

What a spirit body is, and therefore what our Lord is. B128; A182;
R5547:5, 578:5, 454:1, 277:4, 206:1

The full completeness of the glory and blessing that shall come to us at his second advent. R2352:1, 1262:3; HG334:3; SM361:1

Whatever it may be, we know it is not composed of flesh, blood and bones; it is heavenly, celestial, spiritual. A182; B128

We do not know experimentally respecting the glorious conditions of the new nature promised us in the resurrection. NS458:6

It must be very different from our present animal body. R454:1

What we shall be -- What we shall be like. R360:6

How glorious. SM619:1, 154:3; HG449:2; NS187:2

In the resurrection. R1996:1

How great our glory and exaltation in the resurrection change. NS256:5;

NS458:5; SM154:3

We shall be incorruptible, powerful, and have spiritual bodies. R3174:6, 5416:6, 2587:5, 1996:4, 1952:6

We do not know how grand and glorious a spirit being is. CR109:3

The new conditions will be so different as to be beyond the power of the human brain to comprehend. R5103:5, 242:2; F694; HG367:1

A human being is so totally different from a spirit being that the Scriptures do not even attempt to give us an explanation. OV353:2

It is but natural that we should have clearer ideas and keener appreciation of the restitution blessings than of the heavenly. R3891:3

The Church is to see him only with the eye of faith until that time when they shall experience their change, in the end of the age. R5589:6, 127:6*, 102:6*; C305; F694; NS638:4

This new life, begotten from above, continues to grow by the assimilation of spiritual nourishment, until it will, in due time, be born a fully developed spirit being, like unto our Lord. But -- However the position of God's saints in the present life. NS822:4

We know -- Our knowledge is purely a faith knowledge, dependent upon our confidence in our Lord and his promises. R3891:6

When he shall appear -- Our Redeemer and Head. R5317:1; Q405:4

Our Lord and Master, the only begotten Son. NS256:5

Shall be revealed at his second advent, in power and great glory. R4675:3, 4966:5, 1881:6; CR117:4, 424:3*; PD71/85

The apostles expected glory at the second coming of Christ, not at death. HG334:3

"When Christ, who is our life, shall appear, then shall ye also appear with him, in glory." (Col. 3:4) R1881:6, 1669:3, 98:5*; HG334:3

Very little is known of the nature of a spiritual body. But we know many things they have done, and which, comparing spiritual things with spiritual, we know the saints will do. HG28:2

All who believe that Christ is a man since his resurrection and that he will come a second time as a man, thereby deny the ransom. Our Lord's humanity was never taken back. E299

We shall be like him -- Made like him by our resurrection change from the human conditions to the divine plane. R5034:6, 4625:4, 3174:6, 2454:3, 659:5*, 447:5*; A200; CR250:4; HG366:6; NS458:6; SM154:3

We shall have individuality beyond the veil; but not as respects the glorious office. R4864:3

Hearts of flesh are promised to the world under the New Covenant. We are to be spirit beings like unto our Lord and not flesh beings like Adam.

HG235:4

All that is revealed of Christ, is just so much revealed of our future.

HG28:1

When the Church shall be changed, all the peculiarities of male and female will be obliterated, for there is neither male nor female in the glorified Church. Q461:5; R4914:3

The Church will not be like either the white or the black man, no longer flesh and blood. HG513:6

This promotion can be received from no other quarter than God himself, on his own terms. R5711:1

"There is a natural body and there is a spiritual body." (1 Cor. 15:44)

Who are now in the spiritually-minded condition typified by the Holy. T21

Men will not see The Christ by physical sight, because on a different plane of being. T86

Shall see him -- Jesus, in the perfected spiritual condition, typified by the Most Holy. T21

We must all be changed and made spirit-beings like our Lord before we can ever do this. D600; R5299:2, 4914:3, 1904:1, 1693:1; OV353:3; Q461:5

The change comes to us not to him. R159:1*

Not as the man Christ Jesus, nor as he appeared to his disciples after his resurrection, robed in flesh. R5103:5

Others, not changed from human to spirit nature, will not "see him as he is," but only as he shall be revealed in his providences and judgments, which every eye shall recognize. R4966:5; HG628:1

The spiritual rulers will be unseen by the world. R1872:5; SM226:1

The fact that Aaron met and saw Moses in the mount, indicates that we must go up, or into the spiritual condition before we can meet and see Jesus.

Absolute perfection need not be expected while we have this treasure in imperfect earthen vessels, but perfection of purpose, aim and effort, should be manifest to those about us. R558:2

He who has not this hope may purify himself in some measure from other motives, but is not likely to be purified to the same degree as he would be purified by this hope. R3193:4

"That blessed hope." (Titus 2:13) NS408:3

Purifieth himself -- Seeks to be in an attitude of heart and life pleasing to the Bridegroom. C192

He who would endeavor to purify himself, to cleanse his conduct, must, to be successful, begin with the heart, and progress, using the inspired promises; and this means a knowledge of the doctrines of Christ. F315

If we maintain our purity of heart by purity of mind, we may have the assurance of future blessings as well as of present favor and happiness. R5149:5

Seeking to be as much like Christ as possible now. R3280:2

Walking in newness of life. NS329:4

The Word of God, like water, is purifying, cleansing. R2671:4

Our faith and hope lead to a transformation of life. NS302:2

God provides the helps in the promises, etc., but leaves us to do the purifying. To the extent that we let his truth dwell in and operate in and control us, to that extent will the purifying progress. R830:1*, 1628:5*

Get the heart (mind) started toward purity, and the literal water will be used as well as the symbolical, and the outward man will soon be clean. R2022:3

It is necessary to the cleansing of our moral characters, that we have the pure water of divine truth, and not muddy polluted teachings. R2671:4

Not only in his thoughts, but also in his words and deeds and all his affairs, inward and outward. R2456:2

Controls himself, purges out more and more of the old leaven. R2037:3

Beholding the character of God as it shines in the face of Jesus Christ, we endeavor to eradicate from our own character and disposition that which is impure and out of harmony with the perfect pattern. R829:5*

Set our affections on things above, and seek to conform our lives to the divine requirements, that we may be counted fit for the Kingdom. NS31:4

The purifying process progresses from day to day in all who are truly God's children. R829:6*

Is pure -- He is our Exemplar, our pattern. We seek to copy him. OV205:3

As we seek to reciprocate the divine form of love and to copy it, the cleaning and purifying of our hearts follows. Our hearts (wills, intentions) become pure and we set a guard upon our words and thoughts. R2517:5

Few are so gross as to suppose that God would have any fellowship with that which is unclean and impure. R3987:1

For sin -- Unavoidable trespasses; unintentional violations of God's law. R5750:5

Whoever is consecrated to God is opposed to every sinful thing; for God and sin are in antagonism. God stands for his own righteousness, and sin is a violation of that righteousness. R5446:6, 1983:3

Any violation of divine law is sin; whether committed willingly or unwillingly. R1983:3

The law -- The divine law was originally written in the very heart and character of man--Adam was created in the image and likeness of God. NS409:2

1 John 3:5

He -- Jesus. R211:6

Manifested -- In the ransom. R864:1

First, Jesus was manifested, tried in all points yet without sin, that he might after being thus proved, act as our High Priest, and "put away sin by the sacrifice of himself." (Heb. 9:26) R93:6

Our sins -- All were condemned to death because of sin. R94:1

In him is no sin -- He knew no sin. R416:6*

When he died it was willingly a sacrifice for our sins. R608:1

"Who can bring a clean thing out of an unclean?" (Job 14:4) is not in conflict. In view of harmonious testimonies of the Bible and science, it is a reasonable deduction that if the father were perfect, the child would be perfect. E97, 100

"Who did no sin, neither was guile found in his mouth." (1 Pet. 2:22) R2767:1*

"Holy, harmless, undefiled, separate from sinners." (Heb. 7:26) E97; R1585:5

1 John 3:6

Him -- Christ. R1250:6

Sinneth not -- Sin in its full or absolute sense, willful sin. R5938:5, 2235:5

Sin is not charged up to the new creature. F369

So long as we remain willingly faithful to our vows of fellowship with Christ in his sufferings, in opposition to sin--reckonedly dead to sin and alive as new creatures, we have no sin. R3246:6

Maintain our justified standing before God. R1250:6

When we commit unintentional sins, we are so fully cleared by the imputation of the merit of Christ's sin-offering of our behalf. R1250:6, 4616:5

The new will is counted the new creature, separate and distinct from the flesh, so that while the will, the heart, is fully loyal to the Lord, in opposition to sin, the flesh is reckoned dead to sin. R3246:6

Any weaknesses and imperfections which are unintentional, not assented to by the new will, the new creatures, are not counted by the Lord who knows us not after the flesh, but after the spirit. R3246:6, 3154:4

Not that any of the Lord's people become perfect in the flesh, so that they never err in thought, word or deed. R3246:6, 3154:4

Whosoever sinneth -- Willfully. R1250:6

Neither -- Nor even. R5938:5, 2235:5

1 John 3:7

No man deceive you -- Heed my teaching. E284

After we have become new creatures in Christ. R3323:5

Many are thus deceived, professing to be the Lord's people, and yet blind to justice (righteousness), in many of the affairs of life. They exercise too much mercy in dealing with their own shortcomings and not enough in dealing with the shortcomings of others. R3323:2

Those who find themselves in any degree of sympathy with evil qualities (adultery, thievery, drunkenness, etc.), are deceived if they think themselves to be the Lord's people. R3323:3

Doeth righteousness -- And not merely he that professes to be a follower of Jesus. R5427:5

To the extent of his ability, trusting to the Redeemer's merit to compensate unintentional shortcomings. R3323:3

The object sought in giving men the truth, is character--to bring men into a Godlike condition. R49:6*

Is righteous -- Approved in God's sight. R3323:3

Moses imparted righteous words and righteous motives. In addition to these, the Righteous One imparts righteous life--the power which embodies righteous words in righteous deeds. R1323:1*

Committeth sin -- Willingly practices sin. R3323:6, 5750:5, 2320:2, 1250:6

Practices sin knowingly, willfully. R4909:5, 3281:5, 2320:2

Meaning willful, deliberate, intentional sin; not merely shortcomings and faults due largely or wholly to imperfections of the flesh. R5938:5, 2235:5, 3154:3; NS243:6

It is evident that a full, deliberate sin cannot be committed while we are in the Body of Christ, possessed of the holy Spirit. To do so would mean our having left all. R3154:5

A willingness of the heart to sin, to do unrighteousness; not someone whose heart is loyal to the Lord and who is momentarily overtaken in a fault. R3323:6

"All unrighteousness is sin." (1 John 5:17) R870:3

Nevertheless, it may require years of schooling and discipline under the Great Teacher before some who were deeply sunken in the mire of sin and selfishness, and many consequent meannesses of disposition, become even moderately or passably good, noble characters. R2320:3

Is of the devil -- Who was once a holy angel. The term Satan signifies Adversary, opponent; for the devil is the opponent of righteousness and of Jehovah. R5183:3

Satan, the adversary of the Church, is strong and lion-like, vigilant and fully awake. He lies in wait seeking to devour us. R5183:6

"In the latter times some shall depart from the faith, giving heed to seducing spirits and doctrines of devils." (1 Tim. 4:1) R1782:4

The majority of Christians in the churches manifest the spirit of anger, malice, hatred, envy, strife--works of the flesh and of the Devil.

SM128:2; HG693:2

God is not the author of sin. R870:3

The devil sinneth -- By permitting pride and ambition to gain control of his heart, Satan became an opponent of God and of righteousness. R5183:3

For this purpose -- Because through sin mankind had become subject to death, Christ Jesus came to deliver us and save us from death. R2610:3, 1086:3, 453:4

Such a ransom and deliverance was a part of God's plan from the first.
R164:1, 417:5

The Kingdom of Christ is to bring joy and peace, and the nations shall walk in the light of it. (Rev. 21:24) R430:6*

Was manifested -- In the flesh. R1086:3

Jesus gave himself as the Redeemer of mankind. R3323:6

He might destroy -- Satan and all who sympathize with him in their opposition to God and his righteous arrangements. R3323:6 The present domination of evil is to end, and the prince of darkness (Satan) is to be bound. R430:6*, 542:2*

"That through death he might destroy him that hath the power of death, that is, the devil." (Heb. 2:14) R2610:3, 701:2, 553:4, 453:4, 164:2

And thus release from his grasp all of the race. R164:2, 417:5

This means death, not eternal torment. R1085:5; HG609:4

The works -- Envy, hatred, murder, are evil works of the flesh; they are of the devil. R1299:4*

Evil speaking, slanders, backbitings, bring anger, malice, envy, hatred, strife. NS565:2

All evil. R255:2

Sin and death. R164:2, 553:4, 417:5

Satan's reign has been one of terror under cover of the darkness (ignorance) of this world. R430:3*

Malice, envy, hatred and strive, are the kind of works which Satan supports and into which he endeavors to lead mankind. R5184:2

His methods are deceptive. His suggestions come along the lines of pride and self-conceit. R5184:2

He started those works, it was through the sin that he introduced, that all these depravities came to us. CR447:2

Of the devil -- Whose very existence is now denied by many. F609

1 John 3:9

Is born of God -- Is begotten of God. A278; T54; R5938:5, 5742:2, 5451:3, 5438:2, 5197:4, 4810:6, 4614:3, 3476:3, 3323:6, 3246:6, 2941:3, 2235:5, 1697:6, 837:1

Improperly translated "born"--should be "begotten" because the new creature is at this time but an embryo, it has not a new body. R4614:6, 2440:3; Q808:4

Merely a new mind, a new will, a new disposition, which has been engendered by the spirit of truth and accepted of the Father as a begetting to the spirit nature. R4614:6, 5439:2; Q809:T

To be begotten of one signifies to be a son of that father. R5439:2

The Lord purposes during the Gospel age to develop creatures of a new nature. These are spoken of as begotten of the holy Spirit at the time of their consecration. R4614:3

God accepts one who has consecrated and begets him of the holy Spirit, thus making him a new creature. R5439:2, 4614:3; Q649:T

Doth not commit sin -- "Doth not practice sin," (Diaglott) could not practice sin in their lives. R5742:5, 1151:4*; T54; Q808:4

"Doeth no sin." (R.V.) R5197:4

Willful sin. R5439:6, 4843:1, 4252:3, 3281:5, 3154:3, 216:6; Q507:8

Willingly, designedly, or preferably. R2941:3, 2440:3

As a new creature. R5439:6, 5440:1; Q649:1

Willfully; for the old will to thus triumph over the new would signify the death of the new creature. T54; E461; R5451:3, 5197:4; Q649:1

The holy Spirit of God is opposed to sin. In proportion as we have the mind of Christ we will not only love righteousness but also hate iniquity. R3154:3, 2440:3; Q808:T

Those begotten of the good seed of truth, begotten of the holy Spirit, cannot, so long as that seed of truth and the Spirit of the Lord is alive in them, willfully, deliberately turn to sin to practice it. R3323:6, 5938:5, 5439:5, 4830:2, 4810:5, 4614:6, 2941:3, 2440:3, 2235:5; Q649:1

As the new mind controls, and we love righteousness and hate iniquity, we shall have strength in battling with the conditions of the present time, and the greater success in battling with our own flesh. R5439:4, 4615:1

The righteousness which is imputed to the members of the Church is imputed to their flesh. The new creature itself is perfect. R5439:6, 5197:4, 4616:1

But we have this treasure of a new mind in an earthen vessel. We are a combination of a heavenly will and an earthly body. R5440:4, 1698:2; Q649:1

Whoever has this embryo of the new nature could not sin willfully, could not take pleasure in sin, could not give himself over to sin. R4742:6, 4843:4, 4810:6, 2440:3; Q507:8

The person having the new mind, the new will, and desiring to be in harmony with God, cannot sin the sin unto death. R5451:3, 5751:1, 4810:6; Q809:T

If any of those who were once begotten of God should get into the attitude where they would willfully desire to commit sin, it would indicate that they had ceased to be sons of God and had become sons of Belial. R5439:5, 4843:1; Q507:8

Step by step of indulgence in sin gradually leads away from God, until the new creature ceases to exist. R5439:6

The Scriptures ascribe no sin to the new creature--and no perfection in righteousness to our fallen flesh. R4810:6, 2440:3; Q649:T

All unrighteousness is sin. R4614:3

The great Advocate appropriates to us a share of his merit to justify us from Adamic sin and the imperfections of the flesh, which we no longer approve. R4614:3, 4616:1,5, 4615:5, 4614:6, 3281:6

This Scripture is not in conflict with 1 John 1:8-10 which applies to the fleshly body. R5440:1, 5938:5, 4615:2, 2440:3, 2235:5

For -- Because. R1697:6; Q808:4

His seed -- The seed of truth, the seed of the power of God. R4615:1, 3281:5, 2440:4, 1698:1

The begetting power of the holy Spirit. R4252:3, 4810:6, 4252:3, 2941:3, 2440:4; Q809:T

The heavenly seed; the seed of the new nature. R5742:5

So long as any of the holy mind of God is present, there is life. R5742:5

So long as the "seed" of God abides in the individual. R4830:2, 4842:6; Q507:8

The truth-seed is incorruptible, but not so the newness of life begotten by it. The truth may be let slip, and leave us as though we had not known it. R1698:2

Remaineth in him -- Abides in him. Q808:4

While it remains he cannot love or willingly serve sin. R2941:3, 4843:4,1, 4830:2; Q507:8

Being begotten of the Heavenly Father by the holy Spirit, we are new creatures, and the flesh from this standpoint is counted out of the way, and the new creature is the only one that God is dealing with. Q649:T
You are not in the flesh, but in the Spirit, if so be the Spirit of Christ dwelleth in you. Q649:T

So long as the begetting seed of the new nature abides, so long as the spirit of truth rules in the heart, there can be no love of sin and no willful sinning there. R1250:6, 4842:6; Q507:8

Just as a person could not go north and south at the same time. R4830:2

The new mind is in harmony with God and anything which might distract it in any degree would be merely a temporary matter and would not necessarily mean our imperfection as new creatures. R4615:4

But if he sins willfully, this holy seed is dead--the individual is dead as a new creature--the second death. R5742:5, 5439:6, 4616:2, 4615:1, 4252:3, 3323:6, 3246:3, 2440:5, 1698:2

He cannot sin -- He cannot intentionally and knowingly approve or practice sin. R4615:1, 5751:1, 5742:5, 4842:6, 4810:6, 2440:5; Q507:8

Everything connected with the new creature is pure and sinless; it has none of the Adamic condemnation nor imperfection. It cannot agree to sin because it is out of harmony with sin. R4614:6

The Redeemer forgives and pardons, counting all blemishes of thoughts, words and deeds as a part of the original sin and its depravity, still working in our flesh through heredity. E461

The new creature might be overtaken in a fault; but it could not be a new creature and yet have a will or intention to do that which is evil.

R4615:2, 5197:4

For it would mean that one had turned again, as a dog to his vomit, and as a sow wallowing in the mire. (2 Pet. 2:22) R4252:3, 5742:6

Our natural preference for sin by reason of the fall having given place to a preference for righteousness, we cannot sin willfully. R1698:1

God is not judging the body; he is not noting what you as a human being did, because you no longer exist as a human being, from the divine standpoint or records. R4615:2

Because he is -- Your whole standing with God is as a new creature. R4615:2

Born of God -- Begotten of God. R5438:2, 3323:6, 3246:6, 1697:6, 837:1; T54; Q808:4

Greek, gennao. Should be translated begotten when the active agent is male. A278

Begotten of the spirit of the Lord, the spirit of holiness and truth. R5938:5, 2235:5

Children of God -- All who are on the side of righteousness are on God's side. R3324:1

Are manifest -- There is a possibility of misconception, miscarriage, etc., after the spiritual begetting; and it is therefore possible to fall from grace. R1698:1

Of the devil -- Who love darkness and who thus show that they have the spirit, or disposition of Satan. R5938:6, 2235:5, 1180:1, 97:6*

Such shall be destroyed with Satan in the second death, symbolized by the lake of fire. (Rev. 20:14) R1180:1

Doeth not righteousness -- Like the sow that was washed returning to her wallowing in the mire. R5742:6; Q507:6

Not of God -- All who love sin and willfully do it are children of darkness. R5938:5, 2235:5

Not his brother -- The perversion of love for the Lord, for the brethren of the new creation and sympathetic love for the world of mankind is self-love, self-importance, self-honor, self-glorification. F411

If men do not obey the truth, and fail to express love in their lives, all is vain. R49:6*

1 John 3:11

Love one another -- Special brotherly love among the saints, as distinguished from our benevolent sympathy for the world. R1254:5

1 John 3:12

Not as Cain -- Cain was not rightly exercised by his experience. He went about sullenly for a time, brooding over the fact that God had not recognized his offering, and had recognized Abel's. R3928:3

The curse of God was upon Cain, the murderer--divine condemnation rested upon him; he was cut off from communion with God, previously enjoyed; and according to his own language felt his condemnation severely. R3930:4

Typifying Ishmael, Esau, fleshly Israel, and the tare class. R2777:5, 2778:2

Cain failed to heed the Lord's warning and allowed the crouching enemy, sin, to enter into his heart and to make of him a murderer. R3928:4

Of that wicked one -- Cain willingly copied Satan's disposition, became a son "of that wicked one." R1175:6

Of his spirit or disposition of ambition and pride. R2777:3, 3928:4

As Satan was a murderer from the beginning, so his spirit in Cain was a murderous spirit. (John 8:44) R3928:4

The spirit of Satan took the place of the spirit or disposition of the Lord, which was Cain's originally as one closely in the likeness of God, not greatly marred as yet by the fall. R3928:4

Slew his brother -- In Cain's case, he was not counted as having sinned at the time he thought of his brother in angry mood--his sin was in the outcome of that angry mood--murder itself. R3928:5

We are not to think of Cain's crime as a first-degree murder, deliberately plotted and executed; but rather as "man-slaughter," a crime committed on the spur of the moment and under the influence of sharp disappointment. R2777:3

The world hate you -- Including the nominal church. NS135:5

Especially the religious world. R5545:3, 5872:1

Because it cannot endure the brilliancy of the clear, searching light of the true gospel--the great light of the holy Spirit shining in and through the Lord's fully consecrated ones. R2415:2, 4813:3

Darkness hateth the light. R4967:5, 4813:3, 4677:1

The powers of darkness serve to test us as new creatures. R4967:5

The effect of the light of truth upon the darkened world is to awaken opposition, antagonism, and thus to disturb and make uncomfortable those in sympathy with darkness. R4813:3, 943:1

Because Satan, the god of this world, is your implacable opponent. R3300:1

All through the Gospel age, those who have been burning and shining lights in the world have been hated and persecuted. R4813:5, 4675:6, 2415:2; SM9:1

We are not to expect any special sympathy from the world, but rather that they will misunderstand us. SM704:2

It is a mistake to suppose that letting our light shine before men could convert the world. R4677:1, 4967:5; CR126:2

Jesus was hated chiefly by the most prominent, the most influential amongst the people. In time their hatred extended to the common people.

R4813:2, 4814:1, 4677:1

The Lord's followers are called upon to suffer persecution for righteousness' sake, to test, prove and polish them. R4813:6, 4677:1, 2415:3, 969:5

The more faithful an elder, the more sure he will be to have enemies--not Satan and his messengers only, but as many also as Satan can delude and mislead. F293

An ambassador of a hated government is more critically and unsympathetically watched than under other circumstances, and such ambassadors would endeavor to be all the more careful as respects their every word and action. R3330:4

The Church has always been persecuted. R4818:3

"All that will live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution." (2 Tim. 3:12) R2415:3, 4813:5, 3223:2; SM9:1

"Blessed are ye, when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake." (Matt. 5:11) R4369:6, 943:1

"Ye know that it hated me before it hated you." (John 15:18) F293; R4967:5, 4813:5, 4677:1, 3330:4, 3281:4, 3223:2, 2778:5, 2415:3; NS71:1, 135:5, 743:2

1 John 3:14

We know -- One of the surest signs by which the Lord's people may know positively that they have been begotten of the holy Spirit. R5948:4

One of the prominent evidences. F468; NS79:4

We have passed -- Speaking of the Church class exclusively. R4657:1

A very essential test. The best sign is that you love all other children of God, no matter what their color or sex or position in life, rich or poor, bond or free; you must love all those whom the Lord loves. Q450:4

From death unto life -- From the kingdom of darkness into the Kingdom of God's dear Son; from a condition of condemnation and death, to a condition of justification to life. SM705:T

By faith we are reckoned dead with Christ, counted members of his Body. That future life is reckoned to us. R4989:2

Reckoned free from sin and its condemnation. R1738:3

Only those who have made a consecration, and have the merit of Christ imputed to them, and are accepted by the Father. R4656:6, 1738:3

Everlasting life is already considered ours while we abide under the robe of Christ's righteousness. R5931:2

If we love the brethren fervently out of a pure heart. R32:1*

It is one thing to pass from death unto life, but you may pass back again from life unto death. CR449:1

Because we love -- Love as new creatures. R5348:4

As the truth opens the eyes of our understanding it enables us to see our own and others imperfections more clearly. Unless there be a large amount of love, this will mean a disposition to find fault, to criticize. R5346:3

One of the final and most searching tests and the one under which probably most of those once awakened and armed will fall, will be love for the brethren. R2453:4

The brethren -- Love all the brethren. CR448:6; R5348:4

Because they are brethren, even if they have not all the lovable qualities. CR166:3

How strange that love of the brethren should be the crucial test, as we fear will be more manifest as we come down toward the consummation of our hope. R5948:4

Seemingly many will fail at this point and be therefore accounted unworthy of an abundant entrance to the Kingdom on this score. R2453:4

Intimating that a love of the brethren will be so difficult as to constitute an absolute proof to us that we have passed from death unto life, from the death state in Adam, and have become new creatures.

R4253:6, 4995:5, 4863:1

Some of the brethren would be hard to love, and, unless we had passed from death unto life, we would be unable to love them. R4995:5

It is more difficult sometimes to exercise the fruits and graces of the holy Spirit toward the brethren than toward others. Such a development of character is essential as a proof of our acceptance as new creatures.

R4863:1

The more the Lord's jewels come together, the more opportunities there will be for friction, and the greater necessity there will be that all be thoroughly imbedded in and covered with the holy Spirit to prevent friction. R4995:6

One of the most beautiful experiences of the Christian. Whoever finds he has full love and sympathy for all the brethren, has a specially strong Scriptural proof that he is a new creature--passed from death unto life.

R5346:5; Q155:6

A true loyalty to God includes a love for all those whom he has recognized by the begetting of the holy Spirit, and is a part of our loyalty to him and to the Captain of our Salvation. R4863:1

The measure of our love for the Lord will be indicated by our love for the brethren, the fellow-members of his Body. F468, 137; NS79:4

If you love the Lord you must love all those whom he loves and has chosen.

We all belong to the Lord and every member of the Lord's family must be loyal to every other member of his family. Q450:4

The willingness and desire to be broken for the good of others is the result of our first feeding upon our Lord's broken body and receiving of his spirit, mind, disposition, love. R2292:3

Who are the brethren? If by their fruits we shall know them, there are not many brethren of this kind in the world. SM705:1

If we lose our love for the brethren it is not a favorable sign. Q450:4

The test is whether or not we love all the brethren because they are his--because our Heavenly Father loves them. CR166:5,3

One of the highest tests of character development. CR447:1

As our sympathies grow and go out toward the whole world of mankind, they must grow especially toward the Lord, and, consequently, especially also toward those whom he recognizes. F468, 137; NS79:3

Special brotherly love among the saints, as distinguished from our benevolent sympathy for the world. R1254:5

We will do them no injury, we will speak no evil respecting them unless of absolute necessity; and we will not even surmise evil in respect to their words and deeds. R5348:4

In proportion as we can come into harmony with the divine principles, we shall be at peace one with another, joyfully assisting each other toward the Kingdom. R5348:4

All the exercisings of our energies for others are merely so many ways in which our own sanctification may be accomplished. As iron sharpeneth iron, so our energies on behalf of others bring blessings to ourselves. F137

Any lack of fellowship with all who love the Lord and are consecrated to him should be considered as a sure sign of a spiritual decline, and should be correspondingly opposed with all our energy. R2241:4

The apostles, and many in humble stations followed closely in the Master's footsteps; and all the way down through the centuries, and today, in all denominations and outside of them--have this general character likeness; but they are few. SM705:1; R1309:2, 811:2

The appreciation of the true relationship between the elder and the class should help the elders to cultivate meekness, gentleness, patience, brotherly kindness, long-suffering, love. R5347:4

In their endeavor to measure up to the divine standard, some are in danger of erring in an opposite direction--of manifesting a brotherly love where it should be withheld, and that in the interest of the brother. R3033:3

Whoever then does not love the brethren cannot be sure that he has passed from the death condition to the free condition of mind and heart. SM704:2

Whoever has any other sentiment than love to any of the brethren surely lacks proof, or demonstration, along this line of his relationship to God as a new creature. R5346:6, 4863:1

Whosoever -- Applies to the Christian. R4728:3, 5151:4; NS745:3

Crucial words! Let us not lose their import, their value, let us test our hearts, our standing with the Lord, by our love or our lack of love for the brethren. SM705:T

Hateth his brother -- Hatred would be murder for the new creation. R3928:6, 5151:4

The new creature cannot deliberately entertain a feeling of hatred toward a brother--it would mean the spirit or disposition of murder, and thus the reverse of the Lord's Spirit. R3928:6

We can see that that spirit in a Christian which would content itself with hating, instead of killing, a brother, would be a very evil condition. R4728:3

Let us fear any approximation of a feeling of hatred, anger or malice against a brother in the Lord or against anybody. R3930:5; OV281:T

What any of God's agents do, according to God's estimate, is what they intend to do, and not what they accomplish. R423:6*

"Whosoever is angry with his brother without a cause shall be in danger of the judgment." (Matt. 5:22) R4226:4, 3595:4, 2444:6, 2249:2; HG582:5

Is a murderer -- In the Lord's sight, hatred is murder. R5123:1, 5151:4, 2777:4, 2710:6, 2444:6

By this standard every slanderer is a murderer. R3595:4, 2444:6

The spirit or disposition of murder is the spirit or disposition of the Adversary, who was the first murderer. R3928:5

Alas, how many are guilty along these lines. How many murderers and thieves in the Church! A thorough renovation in many is needed. "Let none of you suffer as a murderer." (1 Pet. 4:15) NS580:4

Many who outwardly claim to be governed by the law of love seem to have a morbid craving to speak evil one to another. This is the spirit of murder.

R2460:1

One may hate his brother though he outwardly violates no law and is esteemed among men. Yet such a one is a murderer at heart, restrained from outward violence by fear of the consequences. R1655:4

Thou shalt do no murder would be violated by anyone's becoming angry and manifesting in any degree an injurious or murderous spirit. R5027:5; HG582:5; OV281:T

Envy is closely related to and apt to be followed by malice, hatred and strife, which under some circumstances mean murder, according to our Lord's interpretation. R2249:2, 5151:4

To render evil for evil; to assassinate our neighbor, our brother--to kill his influence, his reputation, etc. R4226:4; SM220:4

Whatever elements of the spirit of murder may still lurk in our flesh must be determinedly warred against. R5151:5

Fear of sectarian fences, gates and bars is seizing some whom the Bible denotes as "hypocrites" (Isa. 33:14). Wild, lest their hypocrisy should be revealed to the public, these murder a Christian brother. HG557:6

They that preach the golden rule and profess to believe that everybody who breaks it is going to everlasting torture, do they forget that their course is, in the sight of our Lord, really murder? R5172:4

Hath eternal life -- No one of a murderous condition of heart, seeking to do evil to a brother, could possibly be of a suitable character to be a joint-heir with his Master in the Kingdom. SM221:1; R3930:4; NS745:4
For willful and deliberate hatred toward a brother to be engendered in the heart would seem to mean the perishing of the spirit of love there, and if so would mean the second death. R3930:4

This would not signify that one who had been a murderer might not, by a sound conversion and by faithfulness in the School of Christ, become a member of the Kingdom class. NS745:3

Hereby -- The Apostle caps the climax of the subject. SM705:T

Perceive -- Discern. R2648:3

The first blessing that comes to us, as the eyes of our understanding open and we come to some knowledge of the divine character and love. R2648:3

"Hereby we know love." (Diaglott) R2442:4; SM705:T

The love -- The higher type of love. R2648:3

Of God -- Not in any manuscript. R735:5, 1329:3*

Italicized words in the Bible indicate that such words are not in the original Greek, but have been supplied by the translators. R735:5*

Laid down his life -- Greek, psuche, soul, being. E338

"He poured out his soul unto death; He made his soul an offering for sin."

(Isa. 53:12, 10) E338

The giving of his life as the purchase price for ours. R2343:5, 128:1*

He bore the infirmities and cares and griefs of others. R4138:3

Not merely for his friends, but even for his enemies. R5562:1

God required and accepted the death of Christ as man's ransom sacrifice.

E450

For us -- "On our behalf." (Diaglott) R2442:4

And we -- Who have received the begetting of the holy Spirit and have grown to some extent in the knowledge of him. R2330:5

Ought -- Also. R4540:6, 4138:4

Following the example of our illustrious Redeemer and glorified Head.

After we have perceived the love of God, the effect upon the good-ground heart is that it decides it could do nothing less in return and thus willingly lays down life itself in God's service. R2648:3

"Love as brethren" ought to love. (1 Pet. 3:8) HG447:5

The brethren could not demand this of us, nor we of them; but we should all do so gladly, as we have opportunity. R5644:4

Lay down our lives -- Greek, psuche, souls, beings. E338

Our human lives. R4692:4

This is our Lord's new commandment to us. R4475:5, 4501:6

What a brotherhood is thus implied! Where else could we hope to find such love. F468; NS79:5

In small affairs of service, temporal or spiritual, the spiritual being the higher and therefore the more important. F469

In preaching the Gospel, building one another up in the most holy faith, and in doing good to all. F137

We are to have a love which will gladly lay down the life purchased for us by the death of Jesus. This life is laid down as a sacrifice with our Lord and Head. R5644:2, 2722:6, 2518:4

Suffer for one another. "if we suffer, we shall also reign with him." (2

Tim. 2:12) HG230:1

We lay down our lives in service for the brethren, and this sacrifice is acceptable because the merit of Christ is imputed to us, making us reckonedly perfect before God. R5644:1

Classes should seek to avoid captiousness and faultfinding. They should esteem the spirit of the Lord, the knowledge of the truth and talents for its presentation, and should gladly help one another to opportunities for development in grace, knowledge and utterance. R5921:3

Forbearance, one with another, a willingness to wash one another's feet, symbolically, and to esteem each other for all Christ-like qualities, should be cultivated. R5921:4

Voluntarily; willingly. R2457:1, 2751:6, 2518:4

Every member of the Melchizedek priesthood must sacrifice his life in the interest of the order. SM10:1; R5947:5; Q10:2

Self-sacrifice even unto death. R4568:4, 4540:6

Be ready to die for a brother, to seek to win him, not to cast him off nor excommunicate him. R4209:1

Not literally, but day by day, and opportunity by opportunity. R2751:6, 5642:4, 5127:6, 4128:5, 2807:5; F137

All who have the Spirit of the Lord, which Dorcas had, and which she so nobly exemplified, will surely find opportunities some way or other in the service of the household of faith. R2988:1

Let us make this a matter of personal study and of practical application to our own hearts, minds, thoughts, words, actions. R5948:5, 2649:5

After the example of Jesus. OV231:3; R5664:5, 2772:6

Jesus' followers are to emulate his example and spirit and from similar motives of generosity and kindness are to be burden-bearers, helpers, self-sacrificers. R4138:3

As he became obedient unto death, so ought we. R328:3*

The laying down of life frequently means the laying down of health and strength; self-denial in the interests of others. SM329:1

We should not merely refrain from robbing our neighbor, but be ever ready to share with him what we had. HG582:6

If the thought of the intimate relationship between the Head and the members could be always fresh before our minds, how often we would improve the opportunity of assisting in bearing fellow-members burdens. R2824:2

We begin laying down life by laying down luxuries and worldly advantages and end the service with the actual death of our human self. R942:3

Willing to sacrifice the comforts and advantages which, to the natural man, go to make up the sum of earthly life and happiness. R2751:6

Willing to lay down time, influence, or money for their assistance.

R4526:4, 2807:5; SM329:1

Although a grand attainment was achieved when the love of the brethren reached the point of willingness to lay down our lives, yet it is not the full attainment of the "mark" for which we are running. R2754:6; NS417:4

The spirit of Christ will be the spirit of service. It will be a zeal, a warmth, an energy, prompting us to serve in the Church--be consumed as the Master was--in the service of his Church, which is his Body. R5250:2, 4524:4, 2988:2

Our love for the Lord, and for the brethren, will increasingly fill our hearts as we grow in grace, knowledge and obedience to the divine Word and example. R5127:6; HG447:5

Fight a good fight against sin in themselves, to defend others, to help others likewise to overcome sin. NS61:4

With a warm strong love in our hearts there will be no room for any selfish or envious thoughts, words or deeds. How blessed would all gatherings of the brethren be if such a spirit pervaded all of them. R2518:4

Even with good resolutions and intentions, we would still be in danger unless we observe to the full the Lord's direction as to how love should deal with the brethren if in our judgment they have committed any fault. NS566:1

We should gladly let our light shine and render every other assistance, even though it test our willingness to lay down our lives for our brethren in Babylon. R2507:4, 2457:1

"That ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service." (Rom. 12:1) R2659:4, 2456:3, 2292:3

"We fill up that which is behind of the afflictions of Christ for his body's sake (service), the church." (Col. 1:24) R4128:5, 2787:2, 2442:4, 128:1*; F468, 633; SM144:T; NS79:4

This does not mean that we could do sacrifice for the Church's sin. R4492:3; F468; NS79:5

If this is the love standard, how sorely some will soon be disappointed in respect to the Lord's will if they have ignored this requirement. SM222:3

For the brethren -- In their service; the service for the world belongs chiefly to the Millennium. F468; R5726:5; CR475:2; NS79:5

For the fellow-sheep. R2442:4

In serving them. R4492:2

In copying the Lord Jesus. CR274:2

In seeking to assist the brethren out of difficulty and to bring them nearer to the Lord and to his standards. R5562:1

The mission of the Church is not to rule or judge the world now, but to "lay down our lives for the brethren." R2415:3

It is indispensable to those who have reached the mark of perfect love that they shall keep actively engaged in the service of the Lord, laying down their lives for the brethren. R2755:5; NS417:4

This world's good -- Interests, affairs. R2649:2

The Apostle intimates differences in financial condition. R2932:4

Have need -- The Lord's work and the Lord's poor are permitted by him to be in need sometimes, in order to furnish opportunities to test those who have means entrusted to them. R2102:3

He who is unfaithful as a steward of earthly wealth need scarcely expect to be entrusted with spiritual riches. R2102:3

Such a lack of love--such a restraint of assistance from a brother in need, would imply that the love of God either did not dwell in such an one, or that it was but slightly developed--far from being perfected. R2649:2

Shutteth up -- An indication that he lacked the spirit of the Head, the spirit of love. R4358:5

Not love in word -- These words intimate that some do love merely in word--feigned words and smooth speeches. R4480:4, 1845:2

If we merely say that we love one another and yet pursue a steady course of self-seeking, wherein is the love manifest? R5116:3, 2011:4

Neither in tongue -- Merely. R1845:2

Had the apostles loved the Lord with their mouths, or professedly only, and not acted in harmony with their profession, we know they would have been acceptable as members of the Body of Christ. R941:6

But in deed -- The sincerity or truthfulness of our love is evidenced by our deeds. R4480:4

The quality of love is not merely a form of loving, kind words and smiles, but it goes deeply into our natures and includes our deeds and our heart sentiments. R4444:5

This willingness to sacrifice in the interests of the brethren will prove each one of us either loyal, faithful to our covenant, or unfaithful. R5948:5

Not merely to love one another and to serve one another in word, in profession, in title. R2343:5

And in truth -- Sincerely. R1845:2

1 John 3:19

Of the truth -- He whose life is entirely given up to God and whose aim is to do God's will, and honor him, is supremely happy. R943:5

Assure our hearts -- Let us put away every feeling of condemnation as respects the sins which God has freely forgiven. HG454:6; NS617:6

Let us set our affections, aims, purposes, zeal, on the things that are before, and make haste towards them, with full assurance of faith in him who promised them. HG454:6; NS617:6

1 John 3:20

Heart condemn us -- If our course as new creatures is condemned by our own conscience it would also be condemned by God. R5425:1, 2671:2
Whoever would make progress in drawing near to God must seek continually to have a "conscience void of offense toward God and man," (Acts 24:16)--a conscience that is clear. R2671:2
If we have not been living faithfully to the extent of our ability, then our hearts will condemn us, and what our heart condemns in us, God will also condemn. OV422:6

1 John 3:21

Condemn us not -- Do I use my time, strength, influence, and all that I have, sacrificially, to the best of my ability, not counting my life dear to myself? R5227:2; Q361:6
Have we confidence -- If we are studying to know and to do God's will, are having trials and difficulties in the pathway and are being rightly exercised thereby, we may count ourselves as his faithful people. R5227:5; Q361:6
Thus we have confidence, in accordance with the divinely appointed conditions. OV422:6

1 John 3:22

His commandments -- The Jewish Law cannot here be referred to, for, "By the deeds of the Law shall no flesh be justified in his sight." (Rom. 3:20) R976:4, 1730:6

Is his commandment -- The commands which we keep, are not those given at Sinai. R976:4, 1731:1
Love one another -- Special brotherly love among the saints, as distinguished from our benevolent sympathy for the world. R1254:5

1 John 3:24

Keepeth his commandments -- The commandments under which we are placed, are not grievous and impossible, as the Jewish Law was to them under it; for his yoke is easy to all who have his Spirit. R976:4, 1731:1

1 John 4

1 John 4:1

Every spirit -- Mind or theory. R651:6
Influence--doctrine. R371:2, 651:6
Every doctrine amongst men. This has no reference to spirit beings.
R2180:1,4; E295
Believe not every dream, but test the dream--whether it be of God or not.
R3144:4
We are warned against those who claim to see the Lord in the secret chamber--against all spirit-mediums. R1947:1
But try -- Test, prove. Not by their outward appearance and claims, but by the Word of God. E187; R371:2
Receive nothing with blank, unquestioning minds. F232; R1524:4
Every one presenting himself as a teacher and claiming to be a servant of the truth, is to be tried, tested, as to whether he is preaching truth or error. The Word of God is to be the standard. E295
To prove the testimony. F232; R1524:4
It is a duty to decide whether the doctrine is Scriptural or unscriptural.
R651:6
The Apostle places the responsibility where God placed it--on the ecclesia. F278
We advocate no general rejection of healings and miracles as being Satanic; but a careful scrutiny of every person or system seeking to establish itself by miracles. Test them and deal with them accordingly.
F638
Give no support to that false caution which never fully believes anything, and is never grounded. R651:6
"If any speak not according to this Word it is because there is no light in them" (Isa. 8:20); and "from such turn away." (2 Tim. 3:5) F278
The spirits -- Teachings and teachers. F278
The teachings, the doctrines. R5913:5, 1947:1, 651:6; E295, 297
The doctrines that present themselves to us, claiming to be of the spirit of truth. E187
Of God -- Whether they be holy or evil, of God or of the Evil One--the Spirit of truth or the spirit of error. E295; R2180:4
Of God and the holy Spirit, or of Satan and the spirit of antichrist.
E297; F638

1 John 4:2

Christ is come -- "Has come."--Goodwin's Greek Grammar. E298; R1993:6*
Greek, eleeluthota. R149:1*; E297
Greek, erkomai, came. R144:1, 909:2

Erchomai is the root word from which eleluthota is derived. E297

The word eleluthota is the accusative, singular, masculine, of the second perfect participle of the verb erchomai, having the same relation to this verb that any other perfect participle has to its verb. R1993:6*; E298 The context proves beyond peradventure that an occurrence of the past is referred to. (Verses 14 and 15) E298; R1993:6, 909:2, 148:6*, 144:1

In the flesh -- He "was made flesh." (John 1:14) E297

Is of God -- Tending in the right direction. E296

1 John 4:3

Every spirit -- Theory, doctrine. R980:4, 981:5

That confesseth not -- Which denies. E296

The test which will prove whether or not any faith is well founded--on the Rock--the true and only basis of faith--"Other foundation can no man lay than that which is laid, Jesus Christ." (1 Cor. 3:11) R981:5

Jesus Christ -- Jesus the Lord. R980:4

The world does not confess Jesus to be "Lord." and few of the professed Christian systems are ready to confess that Jesus came in flesh. R980:4 It is claimed by many that, in our Lord Jesus' case, he was really and truly the Father, Jehovah, who thus for a time appeared in flesh, but that he himself was not flesh. R980:4

Is come -- This was the only thing necessary to combat in that day.

People believed that Jesus had lived, but denied his being the Christ, as the same class of anti-Christ do today who deny that "Jesus is the Son of God." R144:4

John is not discussing the second coming of Jesus, but is endeavoring to prove his having come once. R144:1

In the flesh -- Became flesh (holy, undefiled) in order to pay the price or penalty against us--death. R981:2

The affirmation or denial of Messiahs having come in the flesh was and still is a sure test--the ransom test stated in one of its forms: every doctrine that denies it is an active opponent of the truth. E296, 299

All who believe that Christ is a man since his resurrection and that he will come a second time as a man, are thereby denying the ransom. E299

Is not of God -- By this test all so-called "Orthodox" doctrines are condemned, because none believe that our Lord literally came in the flesh --"Was made flesh." (John 1:14) R980:6

The theory of Universalists, Unitarians, Swedenborgians, Spiritists, etc., is opposed to Jesus being "made flesh." R980:6

Is that spirit -- The theory. R980:4, 981:5

Disposition; influence. E187, 188

Of antichrist -- Against Christ. E296; R371:2, 143:2

This word occurs five times, and only in John's epistles; and applies to anything or any person opposing Christ. R143:2

Not a sinful individual, but an organized body--the counterfeit nominal system, the "Man of Sin." (2 Thes. 2:3) R980:2

Never applied to the world, but always to professed Christians who have turned aside from the truth, and by becoming advocates of error, are in Christ's name opposing him, his followers, and his doctrines. R980:1
"Anti" means more than against, it contains the double thought of instead and against. R980:1

This doctrine or spirit of antichrist known as that of the trinity, is so firmly entrenched in the hearts of many, that they prefer to deny that Christ came in flesh and gave himself a ransom. R981:4; E297

Even now already -- John recognized the tendency or spirit of antichrist in his day. Though the system had not organized, some were already going out from them because not of them, denying Jesus "in flesh." R981:4; E297
Many of God's children have been blinded, and while not anti or opposed to Christ at heart, have been beguiled by Satan's falsities, promulgated even in the Apostle's days and brought to a climax in Papacy. R981:5

Greater is he -- The Lord of hosts is with us. His promises, as well as his providences, are walls of salvation and protection on every hand. R1653:5

Opposition of evil can work only good to "the elect," those who are called according to God's purpose. "No weapon that is formed against you shall prosper." (Isa. 54:17) R1956:2

Charmed with the prospect of being joint-heirs with Christ, these are not daunted by the trials and difficulties of the way. Fear not, "I have overcome the world." (John 16:33) HG652:2

That is in you -- With you--for you. R5488:6

The power tendered to all who earnestly undertake the work of ruling one's spirit is none other than the almighty arm of God. R5488:6

From the moment of our positive resistance of temptation and positive standing up for the Lord and his cause, we become stronger in the Lord and in the power of his might. R4814:1

In the world -- The powers of the world, flesh and devil are closely allied, and therefore, he who plans for conquest and an established reign thereafter, must seek alliance with another and stronger power. R5488:6

Not merely flesh and blood, but principalities and powers and wicked spirits in high positions of power. (Eph. 6:12) R4813:6

All they that be against you. R5488:6, 4814:1, 1956:2, 1653:5

Are of the world -- Are really of the world, though professing otherwise. R980:1

They of the world -- According to the spirit of the world. R980:1

1 John 4:6

Heareth us -- Obeys our instructions, our teachings. E284

The spiritually minded would receive the Lord's counsel through his mouthpieces--the apostles. R1822:2

The spirit of truth -- The spirit of God, the Spirit of holiness, is a spirit of joy and peace; it leads to faith in God's promises. The Spirit of truth leads to activity and energy in the divine cause. E199
God is true and righteous, hence the spirit of God is called the "spirit of truth." R370:5

The spirit of error -- Erroneous doctrines; not a person. E187
Leads to unbelief, credulity, superstition and believing things which God has not spoken and which are unreasonable; a "spirit of slumber." (Rom. 11:8) E199

Satan is recognized as the chief or prince of evil during the present time, and his influence or spirit is exercised in his servants. R370:6
Or the influence which error exerts. R370:6

1 John 4:7

Let us love -- The final test of character is love--in deed and in truth. R4524:4

Every one that loveth -- Is love then not important? Think of these things, meditate on them, grow in love. R32:1*

Is born of God -- Greek, genao. When the active agent with which it is associated is male, it should be translated begotten. A278; R837:1

1 John 4:8

Knoweth not God -- There is a kind of knowledge that cannot be gained from books, but comes by experiences as a fruit of the indwelling Spirit of God. R78:5

We cannot know God without loving him and those who bear his likeness, for we are taught of God to love one another. R493:4*

For God is love -- In the Scriptures the word love is used to express the complete whole of the grand and glorious qualities which make up the perfection of Jehovah. God is the personification of love. R5124:1; NS524:4
Love also is the special characteristic of our Redeemer. R4460:5

Shown in that he made provision, not only that believers might be saved, but also that all might hear in order to believe. A104; OV225:T; HG343:6
This is the grand expression of the Bible--the keynote of Christianity. It is the foundation of the great plan of creation and redemption, and the underlying principle in the structure of the Word of God. R9:2*

God is love, our Lord Jesus is love; and when the Church is perfect, each member of the Body will also be love. R5124:1

When man is restored to the image of God, man also will be a living expression of love. R2607:4

Shown in the glorious doctrine of the restitution of all things. R659:4*, 447:4*

The very highest of God's attributes--in the sense that it implies something more than justice. SM432:3; R5978:4, 5172:1, CR446:3
God's Spirit must partake of all the qualities which go to make up love. R5094:3

God is the very personification of love, yet he has been provoked at times. Lack of ability to have just indignation would imply lack of morals and of harmony with God. R5124:6

A person who is indifferent to matters of right and wrong is indifferent to the character of God, who is in opposition to all forms of iniquity. R5125:1

As it is impossible to fully describe God in his greatness, so it seems impossible to fully describe all that would be comprehended in the word love. R5265:5

This great principle controls in the hearts of the Lord's people, despite the weaknesses of the flesh, which prevent its full expression. R5124:1
Without which none will get the prize of the high calling. R5172:1
Our Father does not expect us to develop perfection of love in the flesh. R5124:2

God was just when he condemned the race of Adam. In due time, he provided the Redeemer--this was love. SM433:T

This feature of his character is not clearly exhibited in the Old Testament scriptures. R5275:3

Love is always kind--cannot willfully injure another--it makes us very patient with those with whom we are associated; it is anxious to throw the mantle of charity over everything that seems to be wrong. R5124:3,6, 5125:2
In proportion as love controls our minds and hearts, we shall feel sympathy for those who are in iniquity. Love is patient and tries to find extenuating circumstances and conditions. R5125:2, 1845:2

God is the very personification of sympathy and love. R5417:1
First through providing the Savior, then making provision for the Church. SM433:1

Love represents the full standard of the golden rule and the full character of God. R5308:6

This is the standard for all whom he will acknowledge as his children on either the heavenly or the earthly plane of perfect existence. R4479:2

A thought peculiar to the teachings of the Bible--the heathen religions seem to recognize nothing of this kind. R5275:3

To grow in this grace of love of God necessarily implies a growth also in love toward mankind; and especially toward those who are in sympathy and harmony with righteousness. R2757:2

The degree of love, the strength of love, can be measured by the ease with which we can be aroused, to impatience or anger. R5185:2

The fear of future torment is the principal incentive held out to induce men to come to God. R659:4*, 447:4*

1 John 4:9

In this -- Few realize the great act of justice accomplished in the sentencing of father Adam and his race to death; and few appreciate the death of Christ as the full offset for Adam's sin, the full ransom.

R2713:5, 496:1; CR209:3; NS17:1

By meeting for man the penalty inflicted by justice (death) love forever releases mankind from the Adamic curse. R685:6, 10:1*; NS17:1

Because of the suffering which it cost him to thus sacrifice the dearest treasure of his heart. R1833:6

Was manifested -- Although it had existed all along. E451

The Redeemer provided a redemption coextensive with the fall and with the condemnation. R3321:2, 2713:5

The first blessing that comes to us, as the eyes of our understanding open and we come to some knowledge of the divine character and love, is that we realize the higher type of love--the love of God. R2648:3

When we believe the "good news" of our justification, it causes us joy and peace to realize that we may now come to God. R199:5

God had revealed his justice and his power, but his love was never manifested before. R3658:4, 3321:2, 2225:3, 2120:6, 2070:5; HG298:5

When love had ransomed man, and was ready to reveal itself by restoring mankind to harmony with God, wisdom postponed it that an interlude might occur to select the Church to ultimately enhance love's glory. We are living in the day when power begins to act, in harmony with wisdom, justice and love, in crushing out sin and evil and legally removing the penalty of sin and dominion of evil, cancelled through the ransom paid by Jesus. R1681:4

Give the full weight to the word manifest. The angels never had an illustration of God's mercy, but his justice, in their case of condemning in darkness. The first illustration was the same that came to mankind. Q564

The love of God -- God never fully manifested his love and mercy to the world until our Lord's first advent. R5299:5, 1681:4; E451; NS510:4

When Christ came and suffered and died, the just for the unjust, the beautiful, divine quality, love, was made manifest. R2120:5

God's love has been manifested only once, namely, in the ransom. God has loved the world always; but his love has been veiled, not manifested, except by this one act. R864:1

His great love and pity is seen the more clearly as we mount it upon the background of unbending justice, which could in no wise clear the guilty, even though pitied and loved. R504:1, 1328:2*, 685:6, 387:2; NS17:1, 863:2

God's love began to be revealed eighteen hundred years ago, but not seeing all of the plan, few rightly appreciate the love. HG298:5; NS462:5

For over four thousand years only the severity, the justice, of the divine character was manifested. R3321:2, 2120:5, 1681:2; NS462:5, 863:3
The wisdom of the Lord's plan will not be appreciated until the blessings come to all the billions which justice condemned, and which loved redeemed. God's power will be seen later in the Millennial Day. HG298:6; R2120:5

Toward us -- God's love has not yet been manifested to the world in general--only to a small number as yet, and it is seen by them only with the eye of faith. R3862:2

God sent -- To be our redemption price. R2713:5 Only begotten Son -- The Logos was the only direct creation of the Father. E88; R1609:3

"He was in the beginning (of creation) with God." (John 1:2) R1609:3

Jesus was God's Son before he came into the world, and, as God's Son, he was given a mission in the world to perform. E88

The belief that Jesus, the Son of Man, was also the Christ, the Son of the living God, lies at the very foundation of Christianity--on it the Church was to be built. R944:4*

We might live -- Opening up a way by which God could still be just yet the justifier of sinners who believe in Jesus as their ransom. R496:1

Through him -- The Son. R9:6*

Herein is love -- Love provided the ransom. R324:5, 1059:1, 709:3

He loved us -- God's special love and provision for his saints as distinguished from the world. R1254:5

Love begets love. If we would open another's heart, we have to lay bare our own. God acts upon this principle; and God manifest in flesh was an embodiment of it. R1322:5

The knowledge of the mercy and love of God should draw our hearts to him and incline us to love him in return, and to seek to do those things which would please him. HG451:3; NS615:3

He loved us before we loved him. When we were without strength, when there was no arm to save. R31:3*

It was a responsive love that came into your heart. CR463:5

Contrary to the thought of Orthodoxy that God is an angry Father. R405:3*, 290:2*, 9:2*

Sent his Son -- As the Great King God gave a great gift, because of mankind's great need. Nothing less would have availed for our relief, and manifested the opulence of the divine mercy and love. NS609:4

This gift has been more or less appreciated by mankind and is celebrated by the Christmas festivities of Christendom with more or less sympathetic intelligence. NS609:3

The propitiation -- Greek, hilasmos, satisfaction. E442; T124; R4982:2, 2225:4, 1256:3, 881:1, 864:2, 641:1, 563:3

The definition of hilasmos by able Greek scholars is: "What appeases, or propitiates." R420:3, 641:1

Satisfaction or appeasement. R1681:4, 864:2

Covering. R709:3

The death of "the man Christ Jesus" was our ransom, or corresponding price by which a satisfaction of the divine law was effected. R1256:3, 10:1*

By his paying our penalty we might be released from death--have a right to life--to a resurrection. R563:3

The atonement is based upon the sacrifice made by the High Priest, who "offered up himself." The Church's share in the atonement is a reckoned one. The merit in God's sight as the ransom lay in the sacrifice which our Lord Jesus offered. R2052:2

Love one another -- Special brotherly love among the saints, as distinguished from our benevolent sympathy for the world. R1254:5

1 John 4:12

Hath seen God -- Means that no man ever saw the person of God. In the Old Testament it speaks how that at various times he was seen, but that was through a representative (an angel). Q360:1,2

Love one another -- There should be something about the character of the Lord's people which would demonstrate on all occasions that they possess true love for one another. R4849:3

The love required of members of the Body of Christ is a love resulting from mutual relationship to the Lord--quite different from the human or animal love, such as the members of a family have for one another. R4849:3

We should love all of the brethren all of the time, and overlook their frailties and imperfections, forgiving one another as God, for Christ's sake, overlooks our blemishes. R4849:6

Where fervent love rules in the heart it implies that the heart is fully submitted to the Lord, and that means that nine-tenths of the battle is already won. R4850:4

"Love one another as I have loved you." (John 15:12) To do this would be far more than to do no injury to another. It would be laying down our lives for one another. This is far beyond any requirement of the Law. R4850:2

It is an evidence that God dwelleth in us. Love for the brethren--for those who have the Spirit of God, especially, but in a general way at least a sympathetic love for all mankind. R2649:2

If we have not love in our heart for the brethren, and the love of gentleness and benevolence toward all men, and even toward the brute creation, we have not the spirit in making necessary sacrifices. R4850:3

We are to press on and make our sacrifice, if possible, larger every way to the Lord and the brethren. R4850:5

God dwelleth -- It is an evidence that God dwelleth in us. R2649:2

Hereby know we that we dwell in him and he in us, because he hath given us of his spirit. R32:1*

And -- And that. R2649:2

Love is perfected -- No one can be of the "elect" class unless this love be perfected in him. Although not gaining a full control of the flesh, he must reach the place where he will be perfect in intention. R4850:1

As we learn to love one another the love of God is being perfected in us. R4849:6

1 John 4:13

Him -- God. R5536:6

Of his Spirit -- It is from the Father and by the Son. R5537:1

His love. R1164:1

To be the Saviour -- "Savior" signifies "lifegiver." CR321:1

Our Lord Jesus acts as the representative of the Father in the work of salvation. E35

Of the world -- Jesus is not the Savior merely of the Church. R5108:3

Those who believe that there will be a resurrection of the dead, both of the just and of the unjust, speak of the whole world in exactly the same way that they speak of those who have slept in Christ. R5108:3

But in the awakening, those of the world who are asleep in Jesus will have the earthly nature, and those who have slept in Christ will have the higher nature. R5108:4

The Son of God -- People believed that Jesus had lived, but denied his being the Christ, the Sent of God; as the same class of anti-Christ's do today who deny that Jesus is the Son of God. R144:4

God dwelleth in him -- The provisions of God's grace are not only those of the future; we are actually being transformed today, by this love of the Father. CR474:3

1 John 4:16

Love that God hath -- God's special love and provision for his saints as distinguished from the world. R1254:5

God is love -- Greek, agape, true, disinterested character love. R2807:4

It is the very essence of God's character; it particularly represents his personality. R5668:5

God is the very personification of sympathy and love. R5417:1

Since God himself is love, he can do nothing that can be derogatory or opposed to love. R2328:1

The fact that God sent his only begotten Son--is proof of his love beyond all question. R880:6

The more clearly we grasp the plan of which the cross, the ransom, is the center; the more truly we see light in God's light, for this is the only manifestation or proof of God's love yet given to the world. R881:1

This does not militate against the other statements that God is just, wise and powerful. But this quality of love best of all represents the divine being. R5210:5,6, 2328:1, 880:3-6

By faith we see proofs of his love and care where others see just the opposite; we walk by faith and not by sight. R881:1

"God is love," and since he was without beginning, so love was without beginning; because it is his character, his disposition; and as he endureth forever, so love will endure forever. R3151:6

The Bible statement that God is love, and also its teaching that he is wise, just and almighty is very generally accepted by Christian people. R880:2

Dwelleth in love -- Greek, agape. R2807:5

We dwell in the love and favor and in the spirit or disposition of God; and his spirit or disposition dwells in us. R3251:6

The divine arrangement is that love shall be the rule among God's creatures. R5138:3

The object of all instruction and discipline on God's part is to bring us to the character likeness to himself. R2807:5

In proportion as we develop strength of character as new creatures, this quality of love increases. R5417:2, 5094:3

"Love is the fulfilling of the law." (Rom. 13:10) R5348:4; NS564:3

Dwelleth in God -- Is fully in accord with God, and hence in the condition pleasing to the Father. SM281:1

The Lord specially delights to see us cultivate his own spirit of love and kindness and generosity. R5369:6, 3831:4

No man can love his neighbor in this Scriptural sense, until he has first loved his God to such a degree as to be not only willing but anxious to do those things which are pleasing in his sight. R4662:3

"He that dwelleth in the secret place of the Most High shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty." (Psa. 91:1) NS564:3

And God in him -- By his Spirit dwelleth in him. R5348:4

The development of God's characteristics in our hearts and characters is our highest possible attainment in the present life. NS564:3

The Father took up his abode in Jesus from the time of his baptism, and qualified him to make known the divine plan. R5291:6

Love made perfect -- Completed. R1956:4

Love to be made perfect in us. R5901:6*

Nothing but the love described in 1 Corinthians 13 will fit us to deal with the fallen race. R5901:6*

God's love is not discouraged with the deepest moral degradation, but follows the welfare of the sinner with an unchilled devotion, though he hates the sin; and we are to be "filled with all the fullness of God."

(Eph. 3:19) R5901:6*

Day of -- The harvest, the end of this age. R2430:3

Judgment -- Greek, krisis, This word includes the thought of trial culminating in a decision that is final, irrevocable. R2430:2

As he is -- As Christ was despised and rejected of men. R2789:3

Ostracized, misunderstood, reprov'd and slandered. R5426:3, 5189:3

An outcast. NS819:1

The Master of the house was called Beelzebub and seditious, and an enemy of law and order, against Caesar's government. etc. R2789:3; NS816:3

As God is. R1956:4

So are we -- So are we to become. R5901:6*

Living embodiments and representatives of love. R1956:4

Christ's fleshly representatives now, and if faithful, his joint-heirs hereafter. R2881:1, 2789:3

The Head having been manifested in the flesh, seen of men, testified of angels, etc. all the members of his Body should likewise be manifested in the flesh. R3192:6 Jesus went about doing good. We should make application of this principle to ourselves. R5375:6

We are to walk in his footsteps. R3805:1

All the sufferings of Christ are sacrificial. The sufferings of the Head are the sufferings of the Body, and the sufferings of the Body are the sufferings of The Christ as a whole. R4547:5, 5215:3, 3192:6, 713:1

The members of his Body would be similarly misrepresented, slandered, maligned, despised, rejected by the popular religionists of Christendom. R2789:5; NS816:3

These oppositions from the world, the flesh, and the devil are a part of the chiseling, polishing, testing and proving of the Lord's people, to determine who are worthy a share in the Kingdom. R2789:5

The duties and privileges of this Royal Priesthood are now a sacrificing service; by and by a reigning, restoring and teaching service. R4542:6, 3805:1, 713:1

As Jesus was rendering obedience day by day, so are we rendering obedience day by day. R4922:2

Jesus was the great light which came into the world, and his followers were to be lights and candles also. R4558:5

From this standpoint, the first advent of the Christ in the flesh has been a gradual one, covering a period of nearly nineteen centuries. R3192:6

The world knew not our Captain, and likewise knows not his real soldiers of the cross. R1864:1

"The world knoweth us not, even as it knew him not," (1 John 3:1) but our duty is the same; his message is that we shall let our light shine before men. R3484:3

We are not to allow the troubles of life to distress us as they distress other people. R5670:6

In this world -- As God is love and is so manifested to all his creatures, so ought we to be love, and thus to shine as lights in the world. R1956:4

1 John 4:18

No fear in love -- There is no dread in love. We do not dread that which we love. R4841:1

The Adversary would seem to take advantage of our fallen condition of sin and cause us to fear our Heavenly Father, because whoever we fear we keep away from. Q270:6

Perfect love -- The test of character approved of God, is love--perfect love for God, for the brethren, yea, also for our enemies. R4208:3

The perfecting of love is a gradual matter. R4051:2

The Lord gradually makes known his "secret," which illumines, transforms, and strengthens us and develops in us his spirit of perfect love. NS397:3

Our love for God grows in proportion as we perceive that he loves mankind and has made provision for them whereby they may have an opportunity for everlasting life. Q450:7, 271:1; E255; NS301:4

No one can have this perfect love until first he has the perfect message--the true Gospel--"good tidings of great joy which shall be unto all people." NS301:6

A very scarce commodity even amongst the saints. R2289:5

Casteth out fear -- Dread to offend. R5390:3

Abnormal fear and superstitious dread. R2210:3

All fear. R1151:4*

After we have come to love God perfectly, all fear in the sense of dread is cast out. R5245:3, 4796:3; Q450:7, 271:2

Those who have the fear of the Lord and who are granted an understanding and appreciation of his secret, gradually lose all fear for man. NS397:3

Those who have the "spirit of fear" are helped to counteract it by the "Spirit of truth," the "Spirit of love," if they receive it. E255

Perfect love casts out all servile fear of our Heavenly Father, for we love and trust him. R5296:4

The best antidote for the fears taught by the precepts of men is love for God and an intimate acquaintance with him. NS301:4

Not the fear of displeasing God. Proper fear (reverence) must never be cast out. The more we have of reverential love, the more of the proper fear we shall have. R5245:3; Q271:2, 450:8

As we gradually come to a clear knowledge of God and of the principles by which he regulates the universe, we lose this improper fear; and in its stead comes a love for God and a realization that he has love for us.

Q450:7; R5245:3, 4841:5, 4796:3, 3770:5, 2210:3

Love inspired by a true knowledge of God and begotten of his spirit delivers from the fear of man in proportion as it abounds in us. R5977:6; NS301:5

We find ourselves possessed, not of a spirit of bondage, but we receive a spirit of adoption whereby we cry "Abba, Father." (Rom. 8:15) R1151:4*

The Apostle in this text does not intimate that all hearts have fear; but that if any heart has fear, perfect love will cast it out--as the knowledge and love increase, the fear diminishes. R4841:1

Perfect love will cast out dread and slavish fear but it will cultivate, stimulate and increase our reverence for the Lord. R2986:6, 4051:2

This principle should operate between husband and wife; parents and children--and should fear to wound or offend the other. R5245:4; Q271:2, 451:1

"The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom." (Prov. 9:10) This fear of the Lord--the reverence of the Lord increases as the child of God comes to know his Maker; but it is a gradual process. R4841:1, 2986:6; NS300:2

"A book of remembrance was written before the Lord for them that feared him." (Mal. 3:16) Christ "was heard in that he feared." (Heb. 5:7) "He that feareth God and worketh righteousness is accepted with him." (Acts 10:35) R2289:6

"Fear not: I am thy shield, and thine exceeding great reward." (Gen. 15:1) R1906:1

If the Master feared, as in the Garden of Gethsemane, so should his followers. Let us fear respecting ourselves lest in any degree we should come short. R4841:4; NS300:3

How difficult it is to believe two opposite suggestions; that "God loved us while we were yet sinners," (Rom. 5:8) and yet made a place called hell, large enough to receive the entire race of Adam for torturing.

NS301:5

Fear -- A mental condition which is begotten of uncertainty. It is natural to avoid whomsoever we fear. R5245:3; Q270:6, 450:6

Timidity--a servile fear or dread of the Lord, or of Satan, fallen angels, or men, and what they might do to us. R4379:1

Fear of God due to lack of knowledge of him and his principles. Q271:1

Fear is not a good motive to obedience. The unfaithful servant who hid his lord's money said, "I feared thee." (Luke 19:21) R21:4*

Fear may have to do with the beginning of a change of heart, but it certainly cannot carry the conversion to completion. The results of fear are imperfect. R3735:4

Greater knowledge of God and his character will dispel this kind of fear. R4796:3

There is a proper and improper fear toward God. One is reasonable, the other illogical; one helpful, the other injurious; one is the beginning of wisdom; the other the beginning of folly, irrational anguish. NS300:2
All who have the Nicodemus disposition should seek to overcome it and get their hearts filled with the love of God and his truth that it will make them free from bondage to sectarianism and fear of man. R2421:3

Hath torment -- Or trouble. SM332:1*

Greek, kolasin; restraint, improperly rendered "torment." R1040:1, 2608:1

The heathen have a dread of God which amounts to torment. R5304:2

The heathen have devilish doctrines mingled with dread of God; and all the worldly who have knowledge of God, Jews and Christians, have fear also--dread. R4841:4

All heathen religions teach torment after death for the great bulk of the human family. NS301:2

Satan would try to give us, through his various theories, a dread or fear of God, and of torture. Q270:6; NS300:4, 301:2

Some Christians are paralyzed for life by the monomania of fear. The cure for a foolish fear is faith and a forced obedience of duty. R632:2*

We love him -- The effect of God's love upon the good-ground heart is that it decides that it could do nothing less than love similarly in return, and thus be willing to lay down life itself in God's service. R2648:3

Not that we first loved God, but that his love attracted and developed ours. R2648:3 God's love known--"shed abroad in our hearts" (Rom. 5:5)--produces love to him in return. As God's love shows itself in his works, so will our love show itself in our works. R21:4*

To know God, we must know Christ, for God was in Christ reconciling the world unto himself. (2 Cor. 5:19) R42:3*

It is not possible for a child to love a father in whose word he has no confidence. Nor could God recognize as children those who do not love him. R556:1*

Because -- Because we believe. R556:1*

He first loved us -- The love we see reflected in his great plan for the uplifting of our race. CR474:3

A sense of justice told us that since God had so loved us as to provide for us so great salvation, it would be as little as we could do--it would be our duty to love and serve him in return. R2754:4

The beginning of our experience as Christians--that attracted us to him. R2754:3

God himself is the one who has the attraction. It is the love of God, the love of Christ, that binds us to the magnet of truth. OV402:6

One of the prominent features of God's plan by which his love is manifested is Christ's death. R42:3*

An appreciation of God's love to us "while we were yet sinners," (Rom. 5:8) must be an important cause--not only of turning men to God, but also of keeping our hearts in the way of righteousness. R42:3*

His love was first; not created, nor purchased, but original, self-moved and inexhaustible. It can be known only by its fruits. R42:3*

An imperfect idea of the fruit of God's love must cause an imperfect idea of the love itself, and the effect produced on our hearts and lives must correspond. R42:3*

1 John 4:20

I love God -- The Lord especially delights to see us cultivate his own spirit of love and kindness and generosity. R5369:6

Those who have reached the mark of perfect love must keep actively engaged in the service of the Lord, laying down their lives for the brethren, as an assurance that he loves God. R2755:5

While God should be first in our hearts and affections, nevertheless our love for God is more difficult to measure than is our love for man. R3862:5

Loveth not -- Brotherly love in the Church is an indication of its godliness. R2228:1

Love to God alone is not the full manifestation of this grace; nor can there be a sincere love for God, without a corresponding love to man. R2155:5

If our hearts do not attain to the standard of love for our neighbors as for ourselves, the Apostle assures us that we may seriously doubt that we have any love for God that would be acceptable to him. R3994:1

His brother -- If we do not love the brethren so as to be able to have fellowship and spiritual pleasure with them, it would be an indication that we are not wholly in harmony and fellowship with God. R5938:3

They are mistaken who say, I long to be with the Lord and to enjoy his blessing and fellowship, yet meantime neglect opportunities to meet with the brethren, and do not enjoy their company and fellowship. F309

To our Lord and his Word we must be true at all hazards.

Then comes love for the brethren--because they are his and have his Spirit, because they are seeking to walk in his footsteps. SM259:1

We should have love one toward the other, by having one mind, or purpose, or will, as a Church--the Lord's will; sympathizing with and consoling one another, having the proper fellowship as Body members. R5810:4

The Scriptures place the love of the brethren as one of the evidences of our having been begotten of the Spirit, and of our being in touch with the Master. R2330:2

Some are in danger of erring in an opposite direction--of manifesting a brotherly love where it should be withheld, and that in the interest of the brother. R3033:3

Whom he hath seen -- The brethren who have God's Spirit and whom we have seen with the natural sight? F376

Our Lord is represented by his members in the flesh and we see that love for the brethren means love for the Lord; hence this is one of the great tests of our relationship to him and to the Father. R3777:1

Simple brotherly kindness toward a brother-man will the better enable you to love supremely the righteous God whom you have not seen. R1767:6

We may expect that the temptation of this hour will be considerably along the line of abiding in God's love. This in turn will imply a love for the brethren. R4253:3

How can he love God -- How can he know that he would love God. R5369:6

Be wholly in harmony and fellowship with God. R5938:3

The measure of the love which fills our hearts will find expression toward our fellow-creatures who have need of our sympathy and attention, and if we show ourselves deficient here it will imply a deficiency of our love for our Creator. R3805:5; OV210:1

If our best energies are spent on money-making or in some other selfish channel, how dwelleth the love of God in us? SM268:T

He hath not seen -- Except with the eye of faith. F376

1 John 4:21

Love his brother -- If the Father loves him and the Saviour loves him, then we too should love him. R5726:6

Special brotherly love among the saints, as distinguished from our benevolent sympathy for the world. R1254:5

To grow in this grace of love to God necessarily implies a growth also in love toward mankind; and especially toward those who are in sympathy and harmony with righteousness. R2757:2

1 John 5

1 John 5:1

Whosoever believeth -- The consecrated class. R2630:1, 2629:4

It is proper for all of the Lord's people to accept each other as new creatures in Christ. R5958:2

The new creature in Christ is a jewel of infinite value. R664:5*, 416:4*

Is born of God -- Is begotten of God. A278; R2629:5, 837:1

The same Greek word as that rendered "begotten" later in this verse. R2629:5, 837:1

If the Heavenly Father recognizes anyone as a son, it signifies that there is a nobility of character there, whether we be able to see these things in the outward conduct or not. God reads the heart. R5958:2

The Apostle is discussing the condition of a believer who has not only been justified by faith, but who is acting upon that faith and the Lord's call, and has presented himself a living sacrifice. R2629:4, 2630:1

Although the Apostle does not particularize the three steps of knowledge, faith and consecration in this verse, he implies them in verses 3 and 4.

R2629:6

Our justification is not our begetting to a new nature, but, as the word itself signifies, a making right of our old natures. R2629:5

That loveth -- To grow in this grace of love to God necessarily implies a growth also in love toward mankind; and especially toward those who are in sympathy and harmony with righteousness. R2757:2

Him that begat -- Our Heavenly Father. R5958:2, 4052:2

It is safe to say that when God is associated with the matter he is always regarded as masculine; hence gennaō, when used thus, should be rendered beget or begotten. R837:1; A278

Loveth him also -- How frequently the dear brethren of the Lord seriously try and vex each other, and fail to provoke to love and good works--inciting rather to strife! R5921:1

The tendency of the mutual love of the brethren is to meet frequently and, personally or through the printed or written page, to speak to each other.

R2406:2

That is begotten -- To have the spirit of the Master we must love all those who are begotten of God. Q450:4; R1252:2*, 664:5*, 416:4*

He who loveth the Father must love the Son also, who is the Father's express image and who has manifested to us in his own flesh the glorious character of the Father. R4052:2

All who belong to the Church of Christ have the spirit of love at the time of their spirit-begetting, and if progress be made in preparation for the Kingdom, that spirit of love will increase and abound more. R5921:1

"Love of the brethren" will be a marked quality in all his servant sons.

R2406:2, 1254:5

As each one loves more and more the spirit of the Master, we will be found to more and more love each one; until we all get perfected beyond the veil when our love for each other will be absolutely complete. Q450:2

1 John 5:2

Love the children -- Special brotherly love among the saints, as distinguished from our benevolent sympathy for the world. R1254:5

If we love God supremely. R244:3

When we love God -- We come to love God by becoming acquainted with him, his spirit, his mind--as we see it manifested in Christ, through the apostles and those entirely consecrated to him now; and through the plan in his Word. R244:3

Love to him is not a gift to be prayed for, and not a thing which is given to us, but a thing which we ourselves must develop. R244:3

The basis of all love for any person or thing is knowledge. R244:3
Through Jesus we are permitted to partake of the spirit or mind of the Father, and that spirit is the spirit of love. R244:2
This does not say we know that we love God because we love his children, but almost the reverse. We love the children because we love the Father.
R244:2
Keep -- Practice. (Diaglott) R244:5
His commandments -- An evidence that we are in the race. Q155:6

1 John 5:3

This is the love -- It proves or demonstrates our love of God. R3021:1, 2648:6
We keep -- Our obedience to the heavenly wisdom constitute the proof of our love to God. Thus also is proved our love of righteousness. R2093:3
To him and to the brethren. R3021:2
His commandments -- His law is love. The Lord's requirement is that with our hearts we serve this law of God, and with our flesh we shall do to the best of our ability. R3546:6
Not the Ten Commandments, but more or less according to the standpoint of expression. They are less in the sense of requirements on our flesh, more as respects the requirements on our hearts. R3546:6
And -- And to us. R759:5*
His commandments -- We delight therein--because they are right, good, proper. R3021:2, 2648:6
They are the expression of the most exalted virtue, the noblest benevolence, the purest love, and all the beauties of holiness. R2093:3
Are not grievous -- Burdensome. (Diaglott) R244:6
It is one thing to keep the divine commands or to seek to do so, all the while feeling more or less of restraint, lack of liberty, compulsion, duty, etc., it is another thing to obey joyfully. R3021:2, 3546:6, 245:1
If the doing of the will of God be unpleasant to us, if the sacrifice of earthly things--wealth, influence, pleasures--is not a privilege and a joy, it must be because we lack the love of God. R245:1
He who finds the Lord's commandments grievous has thus an evidence that he is not in heart-harmony with them, that he has not made a full consecration of himself to the Lord. R2648:6; E248
The consecrated class seek to do this willingly. R2630:1
So that we rejoice to sacrifice in doing God's will. R759:5*
"I delight to do thy will." (Psa. 40:8) R4201:5, 245:1; E248
"Joy to find in every station something still to do or bear"--a pleasure to sacrifice earthly comforts or pleasures whenever God's will thus indicates. R244:6
This will be the evidence to us that we love God and that we are loved by him; being sealed and impressed more and more by his Spirit, the spirit of truth. R4201:5

If fear, and not love actuate us, our service will be drudgery. R244:6

1 John 5:4

Born of God -- Begotten of God. E237; R837:1, 374:4

Greek, gennao; God being associated with the action, it should be rendered begotten. R837:1

The victory -- The conquering power. R1719:2

The faith that in all conditions is able to look up to the Lord with absolute confidence in his goodness and faithfulness, and to realize that eventually all things will work together for good to us. R2627:4, 778:5*, 628:6*

Overcoming is gaining some victory over besetting weaknesses as well as over trespasses--not of ourselves, but by God's grace and the assistance of the great Advocate. R5103:1

You cannot have the grace and the power without the faith. R2108:3

Learn to apply this victory, and so it is thine, be strong in him and the power of his might. Thy defeat, through the wisdom and love of thy God, may be ordered to advance the victory. R778:4*

That overcometh -- To overcome requires energy, force of character, perseverance and steadfast, patient endurance to the very end of the present life. R1719:3

The thought of conflict is contained in this expression. No one can be an overcomer of the world who is in sympathy and affiliation with it and its general spirit of selfishness, pride, ambition, etc. E237

You are not to overcome the world by flattery, nor by joining in its follies, nor are you to overcome by teaching a Sunday School class, or joining a sectarian Church. R374:4; E238

To overcome indicates that you are not in harmony with the world, its spirit, and its methods. R374:4; E237

"To him that overcometh will I grant to sit with me in my throne, even as I also overcame, and am set down with my Father in his throne." (Rev. 3:21) What an incentive and inspiration to noble and heroic effort! R1719:2

May all the consecrated duly appreciate their high calling, and strive to make their calling and election sure. R1586:4

The world -- The whole world is against us in this battle; it is taking its own course, ignoring God, leaning to its own understanding and pursuing its own way--its spirit, its popular methods, its ambitions, hopes and aims are all at variance with the elect Church of God. R1719:3,5

We are to exercise a definite faith in the things that God has promised, and give no heed to the seductive vagaries of Satan, our fellow men, or of our own imagination. R5244:1

It is faith in the promises of God's Word that enables us to live separate from the world and its ideas and schemes. NS132:4

Only as we have faith in God and his Word could we possibly renounce the world, its ambitions and pleasures, and turn our backs to these, to gain the glories and honors which God has promised to those who love him.

NS415:5

As we view our Lord in Gethsemane under a trial so crucial, and mark how the hand of Jehovah upheld him, let it strengthen the faith of all who are endeavoring to walk in his footsteps, to whom he says, "Be of good cheer, I have overcome the world." (John 16:33) R1801:6

During this age, while the world is under the Prince of this world, Satan, and in antagonism to righteousness and the righteous. R2304:2, 778:1*

Even our faith -- The only power which can sufficiently energize our whole being and nerve to patient endurance of tribulation, even to the end. R1719:3

During the present time of darkness as respects the fulfillment of the divine plan, when Satan is the prince of this world, our Lord puts the premium on faith. "According to thy faith be it unto thee." (Matt. 9:29)

F113

Unless faith grows and develops we will lack the power to be an overcomer. F689

A faith well founded in the Word of God, examined, proved, and deeply rooted in heart as well as in head. R1719:6, 5432:4

Not merely for the knowledge we enjoy above the world in things pertaining to God, but especially because of the influence which this knowledge will exercise upon all hopes and aims and conduct. F315

By such full, implicit confidence in his teaching and training as will keep us continually as earnest, diligent pupils under his guidance and instruction. R1967:2

The foundation of all our noblest endeavors will lie along the lines of confidence in God. This confidence is faith. Without faith it is impossible to please God. R5243:6

The very center and life of which faith is the holy Spirit of love to the Lord and to them that are his, and sympathetically for the world. R4919:1, 2205:1

Nothing that we have to offer to the Lord would be more acceptable in his sight than faith--in him, his power, love and promises; without which we cannot make development and be overcomers. R2654:1; F315

The shield of faith is indispensable to protection from the fiery darts of the Adversary--skepticism, Higher Criticism, Evolution and demonology. F657

The Christian who has not the shield of faith, and a large one, is continually at a disadvantage before the Adversary, and all the hosts of evil. R5425:6, 2642:6

It is our privilege to pray to the Lord to increase our faith and to increase it ourselves by learning what are the divine promises and claiming them as our own. R2642:6

Faith is God's standard; whoever has the proper standard must have works to correspond. God's favorites of the Bible have all been men of faith.

R5243:3, 1720:4, 778:1*

Faith in the Lord's wisdom and in his help in every time of need is necessary to us in order that we may be thoroughly obedient to him. R4904:5

The exercise of faith, and the obedience which flows therefrom will enable us to come off conquerors and "more than conquerors." (Rom. 8:37) R4904:6

Faith must grasp the exceeding great and precious promises of God and appreciate their value; and also lay hold on the power of God and find grace to help in every time of need. R1859:5, 2073:5

If we neglect the throne of grace, during temptations, it is a sign that we are lacking faith, and are in that respect not fit for the Kingdom, because all who are inheritors of the Kingdom must have faith. NS228:1

Faith enables us to gain the victory over the spirit of the world, and to be separate, sanctified to God, for service here and hereafter. R5245:4, 2195:4, 1719:6

Faith is not merely belief or knowledge, but is knowledge applied, assimilated, appropriated--made a part of our habit of thought, a basis for our actions and a spur to all our energies. R1719:3

Faith, to be a conquering power in us, must go deeper than the head; it must go into the heart, and thus permeate and energize the whole being, bringing not only the outward conduct but every thought into subjection to Christ. R1720:1

It will be to such as thus overcome in spirit, in faith, that the Lord will give the final word of his mouth--"Well done good and faithful servant, enter thou into the joys of thy Lord." (Matt. 25:21) R4897:6, 3060:4

All of our services to the Lord are valuable chiefly as proofs of our faith in his promises. R2425:4

Faith cannot live without manifesting itself. R2425:4

Faith is the overcoming power which all must have who would run successfully the race for the prize of our high calling, and be overcomers. R1719:3

Let it be the governor and inspiration of our lives--a living faith which purges and purifies and strengthens to diligence and patience to the end of the narrow way to life. R1720:4

Faith, which is now difficult and therefore highly rewarded, will by and by be the most easy and only reasonable thing; and while it will be required, being easy it will not be specially rewarded as now. R2195:4

A mere intellectual assent to the truth of God, which does not lead to activity in his service, is not faith, and can never overcome the world nor secure the prize of our high calling. R1720:4

Such a faith is not nervously looking about for something new, and always probing the vain philosophies of men to see how skillfully they can withstand the Word of the Lord. R1720:1

"We walk by faith, not by sight." (2 Cor. 5:7) F689; R374:4

"Without faith it is impossible to please God." (Heb. 11:6) F147, 315; E658, 689; R2654:1, 2642:6, 2425:4; NS228:1

He that came -- To be the Redeemer of mankind. R1411:2

Not by water only -- Not by consecration only. R1411:2

He came by baptism into water, the symbol of his full consecration even unto death. R1411:2

By water and blood -- By both typical and literal baptism into death. R1411:2

The actual fulfilling of his consecration vow, even unto death, the shedding of his blood. R1411:2

It was his consecration to the cross; his baptism in water was a symbol of his baptism into death, and because it was a symbol it became a pledge that he would die, in obedience to the Father's will. R197:5*

Spirit that beareth witness -- The Spirit of God bore witness after the water baptism that this was his well beloved Son, (Matt. 3:17); again after his baptism into death, in raising him from the dead and highly exalting him. R1411:2

There are three -- The Spirit, the water and the blood. R1411:3

In the type the anointing oil mingled with the blood of consecration was sprinkled over the priests. R73:5

That bear record -- The succeeding words of this verse and the first nine words of the next verse are spurious; they are not in any manuscript of earlier date than the seventh century and not in the Revised Version; 112 of the oldest manuscripts do not give them; King James translators had only eight manuscripts, none antedating the tenth century, whereas we now have 700, two of which date from 350 AD. E56-58; R5748:4, 714:3, 278:4; CR245:5; SM494:1, 603:1

These spurious words are the foundation for the teaching of the catechism that "These three are one God, the same in substance, equal in power and glory." E166; R767:3

The word "trinity" is not found in the Bible. This, the only text in the Bible which seems in any way to suggest a trinity, is acknowledged even by trinitarians themselves to be a forgery, incorporated into the text about the fifth century. R5748:4, 5352:1, 1411:2, 560:2*, 369:2; OV114:6; Q846:4 The doctrine of the trinity is totally opposed to Scripture, and has not even one reasonable text to support it when this well-known interpolation is discarded and when John 1:1 is properly understood. R5993:5, 505:2; F202; Q847:2

Because there was no Scripture, one was manufactured in the seventh century by adding these words. OV114:6; R2817:5, 802:5*; E56; CR245:5; Q716:3; HG661:2

We believe that very few interpolations have been made intentionally, except this one; being a bold and notable exception. Others were generally the result of accident--copying of a marginal comment. R1210:2, 560:2*; E56
This interpolation was introduced by Papacy during the tenth century. R207:3

Some very ancient manuscripts found within the last fifty years show that a few verses are really no part of the Bible, but were added by unknown parties somewhere between the fifth and tenth centuries. R1536:6

The sense is complete without the interpolated words and the teaching in perfect harmony with the context, which would not be the case were the interpolated words admitted. R1411:2, 767:3; E57; CR245:6; Q716:3; SM494:3

In heaven -- Who is bearing record in heaven that Jesus is the Son of God? The Father, the Son and the holy Spirit bearing record in heaven that Jesus is the Son of God? What do they need it for? It is ridiculous! Q716:3

Witness -- Record. R73:5

The spirit -- The testimony of the Spirit at his consecration. R1411:3

The oil representing the Spirit. R73:5

And the water -- Symbolic baptism in water. R1411:3

Water is the symbol of the Word "washing of water by the Word." (Eph. 5:26) R73:5

And the blood -- The blood representing the price of our peace. R73:5

The testimony of the Spirit at his resurrection. R1411:3

Agree in one -- Agree in one testimony. Q716:3; R767:3, 197:3*, 73:5

The testimony concerning God's Son. R197:3*

The three in the type bear harmonious testimony that the consecrated ones are accepted in the Beloved. R73:5

1 John 5:9

Witness of God -- As the Son is the general expression or revelation of the Father, we should expect this important testimony of the three witnesses to have reference to the revelation of God's love for the world. R197:3*

It is well for man that it is God's testimony. This puts its credibility beyond a doubt, and makes certain that it will reach every one for whom it was intended. R690:5*

The basis of faith is the testimony of God himself. R1328:6*

It originated in God, it was given in the power of the holy Spirit, and its words were uttered by Christ, the apostles, and prophets. It varies as to time, manner, agent, and accompaniment, but it never varies as to origin. R690:5*

Is greater -- Let us not be more wise, more loving, or more just than the only living and true God who dwells in a light which no can approach unto, and whose mind is communicated to us through his Word. R1598:4 Love, wisdom and justice could never agree to let a willful sinner live to mar the peace of the holy; nor could they consent that they should be kept alive, with their wills under divine restraints to all eternity. R1598:4

He that believeth -- The testimony on which faith rests is not man's, it is God's own. R1329:1*

God gave of his Son -- "A ransom for all, to be testified in due time." (1 Tim. 2:6) R690:1*

To us -- Believers. R142:4; HG222:4

Eternal life -- Now by faith and hope, and by and by actually, "when he who is our life shall appear." (Col. 3:14) E386; R1878:4

Immortality is a glorious prize to be sought for and to be obtained only by the elect of God through Jesus. It is not inherent in all men. R560:4*, 142:4

Life is in his Son -- The testimony of God is that Christ is the life of the world. R1329:1*

1 John 5:12

He -- At present only those few who have accepted Christ in the real sense of the word. Q446:2

He who believes with the heart--not merely one with an intellectual appreciation of the fact that Christ is the Son of God and who has come into relationship to him. R4840:2

Those who have accepted Christ, and have received of his atoning merit, and come out from under the Adamic death condemnation. R5931:2; F106 That hath the Son -- Have come into vital relationship with the Savior.

R5354:2, 2931:3

Now is the opportunity for coming into relationship with him as his Bride and joint-heir. R3927:1

He is our Advocate through whom we must come to the Father. R4840:6

No man can come unto the Father except by him. R1273:4

To have the Son, to abide in him, means not to abide willfully and willingly in sin, to have the Lord's deliverance from sin and his deliverance unto everlasting life. NS234:4

All of Adam's posterity will have an opportunity to accept Jesus, either as his brethren at the present time, or as his children in the next age. R4819:2

The divine plan is so arranged that none can obtain everlasting life except through a personal relationship to Christ, and the exercise of faith in his redeeming blood, and obedience to his counsels. R5354:2

Only believers can have life now, the beginning of that life which will be perfected in the resurrection. R5608:5

Jesus is God's appointed channel by which the world may obtain reconciliation, restitution, life everlasting. NS96:3

Hath life -- A right or privilege or grant of life as God's gift. E386; R1878:3

Believers are begotten to newness of life, have the new life begun in them, in the sense that their wills are accepted of God as beginnings of the new creatures which they shall be in the first resurrection. F161; R4840:2

The everlasting life provided is already considered theirs while they abide under the robe of Christ's righteousness. R5931:2

Imputed to him at the present time. R4840:2

Reckonedly, already. R1854:2

Perfect life. R1878:3

Only those coming into Christ, and through him, begotten of truth--surely nothing in this text teaches that all will be kept alive everlastingly.

R1219:2, 1437:1

The blessing of life in its full, everlasting, complete sense, is coming to "all in Christ" and to none others. R3927:1, 1592:4

In the resurrection change such will, in the fullest sense, have life.

R4840:2; F161

There can be no rescue from death without a rescue from sin, and there can be no rescue from sin without a rescue from death. Under the divine arrangement they stand as cause and effect. NS234:4

This text applies now, primarily. It will apply in the Millennial age, gradually, as men shall come to a knowledge of the truth. R4840:6

Eternal life is a gift of God through Jesus Christ our Lord, to be given only to the believing and obedient. R3066:1, 1882:4

Throughout the Millennial age whoever would have life must get it through the Life-giver, who will give it under the terms of the New Covenant.

R5293:1, 4840:5

Hath not life -- Shall not see life. (John 3:36) E386; R4819:2, 2059:4, 1878:3, 1592:4, 1219:2; Q328:T; SM315:T

But continues under the sentence of death. F106; R4840:3, 2993:1, 2841:2, 2059:4

But the wrath of God--the curse--abideth on him. HG357:2; Q328:T

Hath no right to or promise of life. R1219:2

Immortal life. R279:3

Unbelievers are referred to as still dead, because of having no union with the Life-giver. F697

Those who refuse the appointed channel, Jesus, their portion will be second death, without hope of recovery. NS96:3

Jesus will not let them have life, but they will not suffer in misery, or torment. CR293:1; R2841:2, 1085:6

If he hath not life, how could he have torment? HG222:4

1 John 5:13

That ye may know -- May be taught. E284

1 John 5:14

Confidence -- Pray, having faith in God. R5380:2*

According to his will -- It is evidently impossible, "seeing through a glass darkly" (1 Cor. 13:12) to always "ask according to his will." Our imperfect prayers now have to be revised by our Advocate. R469:5*

If -- Referring to a class during the Gospel age. R382:6, 253:2

The Apostle addressed these words to the Church. NS242:5

Those covered with the merit of Christ's righteousness, consecrated to the Lord's service even unto death. These have the full assurance of eternal life, if they continue faithfully. SM771:2

His brother -- All those whom we have reason to believe are fellow-members in the Body of Christ. R4625:3

Sin a sin -- Going away from God--be overtaken in a fault and difficulty, which may lead to coldness and estrangement from the Lord. We should do all in our power for his assistance. R4625:3

Sins of weakness and of ignorance, traceable to our fallen nature, which we have received by heredity. R2658:2

Not unto death -- Missteps and stumblings which may occur in the path of any through weakness of the flesh--sins which may be repented of, reformed from, and forgiven. R4908:5, 4830:5, 3260:3, 1962:2

Which may be forgiven, and out of which the transgressor may come with valuable lessons, which will be helpful to him in future conflicts and triumphs. R3260:3

If a sickness was a judgment or discipline for sin, we should expect that when the sin had been confessed and truly repented of, the Lord would remove the chastisement and raise up the penitent son from the affliction, either partially or wholly. R2008:4

He shall ask -- We should pray for such an one--in the attitude of intercession and sympathy. R4625:3, 4626:1

The divine intention in suggesting that we should pray might be that it would aid in developing our sympathy for the various members of the Body. R4625:3

Let us bear in mind this privilege and duty of intercessory prayer; and for our encouragement let us remember God's dealings with his faithful ones of old. R1842:5

Illustrated in Moses' prayer on behalf of erring Israel and God's answer to that prayer. (Num. 14:15-33) R1842:6

If we neglect our interest in the fellow-members, it is our loss. R4626:2

This is different from praying for the world. R4625:3

If there were no members present to pray for a disaffected brother, the great Head himself would probably find some means of advocating the interests of the member. R4625:6

Give him life -- Bring him back to the life standing. R4626:1

Preserve his life. If he were in danger of going down into second death, the faithful prayer would lead to a recovery. R4626:1

Seems to correspond with the saving of the spirit in the day of the Lord, (1 Cor. 5:5) as relating to the Great Company. R4626:1

In what sense the Lord permits us to be advocates one for another is not clear, but our advocacy of each other would seemingly be offered more particularly to the Head of the Body than to the Father. R4625:6

There is a sin -- A positive doing of something which is evil. R5451:3
Something very specific. R4626:2

Kind of sin. R3083:5

A death sin or mortal sin. R1249:1, 1983:3

An individual sin. R383:1

A hopeless condition. R4872:5

Unforgivable sins. R723:4

Wilful, intentional sin against clear knowledge. R1250:1, 5440:2; HG305:6; NS162:3; Q638:2; SM772:1 Deliberate, willful sin; against the holy Spirit. R5453:1, 3132:1, 2612:2, 1699:1; F166; NS244:1

Against a clear knowledge of the right and wrong of the matter. R1250:1, 2612:2

The result of persistence in that which in the beginning was clearly recognized as wrong, but which, through self-will persisted in, subsequently became a gross deception. F166

The matter comes on gradually, little by little, until the heart is completely turned away from the Lord. SM772:1

This sin is one, though it may be committed in a variety of ways. A wrong course adopted intentionally, with a full desire to have it so. R1250:1

Eventually manifesting itself outwardly, either in a denial of the atonement or by gross immoralities. F302

The sin unto death should be looked for to approach us in one of two forms. The first is described in Heb. 6:4-9, a moral retrogression; and the second in Heb. 10:26-32, a doctrinal retrogression. SM773:1
This could be committed only by those who have tasted of divine grace. R2286:6; SM775:T

Only those who have been brought to a knowledge of God and his good Word and have received the holy Spirit--in a word, saints, are the only ones who could commit it. R253:2, 1250:2, 383:1; SM775:T

Going back on the blood of the covenant wherewith he was once sanctified. (Heb. 10:29) R4626:1, 138:1*, 44:1; NS162:3; Q653:1

Not simply backsliding, but open apostasy and rejection of Jesus' work of ransom and purchase. R253:2, 44:1

Such a sin would be that of presuming upon the love of God to bring us salvation, even though we should willfully refuse it through the channel which he has appointed--the precious blood of Christ, shed for our redemption. R4835:2, 1296:4

If a wrong course were persisted in, the new will would become so weakened and the flesh so strong that there would be a gradual dying of the new will; and finally it would cease to exist. R4830:2

There is a degree of willful sin, against full light and ability that God will never forgive. R1694:1, 381:3; Q653:1

A little deflection in our attitude toward the Lord, on some point seemingly not so important, may lead farther off, eventually to alienation from the Lord. SM776:1

Let us not only be on guard against the great sins, but let us remember that it is the little deflections from the divine Word that lead astray.

The least deflections are very sure to bring us into trouble. SM778:1

By losing the divine will and voluntarily accepting the will of the flesh again, the new creature could commit the sin unto death. If the will sins it has ceased to be a new will, for the new will never sins. R4830:4

Taking on the vicious qualities: backbiting, slander, anger, malice, strife, etc. would indicate a loss of the Spirit of the Lord. R4626:3

If you have lost the Lord's Spirit you will be loveless towards those of his people with whom you come in contact. R4626:5

Recoverable only up to the point where their hearts go wrong. R4626:2

A sin for which no adequate excuse can be found. R2612:2

A matter of willfulness and a turning again to the beggarly elements of the world, from which we once escaped. R4626:2

"Every sin and blasphemy shall be forgiven unto them; but a blasphemy against the holy Spirit shall not be forgiven." (Matt. 12:31, 32) NS244:1

Typically, it may be found that the jots and tittles of Israelitish history, as well as of the Law and prophets, have a meaning and point to something. R138:4*

Let us take heed to all the jots and tittles of the Master's Word; the exhortations and instructions given us by himself and the apostles. He who is faithful in the little things will be faithful in the great. SM778:1

Murderers, thieves and blackguards of the world, nor even the world in general, are subjects of this death. They are not on trial yet. SM770:2, 775:T; R1962:2

The Apostle is not referring to the Adamic sin and death, for it passed on all. R382:6

Unto death -- The second death. T40; R5264:2, 5100:5, 4830:5, 4345:5, 2759:4, 2658:2, 2612:2, 1250:6, 912:1, 383:1, 381:3, 44:2; HG222:3; Q212:6, 653:1; SM515:1

Destruction, contrary to the Universalist theory. R3083:5, 4345:5

There is no hope of a resurrection from it. R381:3, 5100:5, 4830:5, 44:2; HG334:6

The new creature is dead. R5452:1, 5440:2

Wilful, deliberate, intentional sin unto second death. Q653:1, 212:6; R5264:2, 4830:5, 2658:2, 1250:2, 383:1; NS162:3

A consecrated child of God could not die the Adamic death. His death would be either the sacrificial death or second death. If he should turn away from God, then it would be the second death. R5264:2; Q212:6

The Church is on trial now for either life or death, and there is no future opportunity. R4400:6

Only by intelligent neglect and refusal of the terms and assistances can they cut themselves off from the Lord and from everlasting life. SM772:T
They need not be hoped for, nor prayed for, because it will be impossible to renew them again to repentance. R1250:1

Only those justified who have received divine favor and knowledge, are on trial for life or death everlasting. SM772:T

It behooves us to be on the alert for the beginnings of evil in our hearts, which might ultimately lead on to the complete alienation, which would mean second death. SM772:1; R1250:6

Mortal sin; there is no hope of recovery; it is unto death, second, death, destruction. It is not covered by the ransom because it is not in any sense traceable to Adam's transgression and its consequences. R1250:1,6, 723:4

By far the smallest number, we believe, come under the class as having committed wilful sin; unmitigated by ignorance or weakness. R1250:4

It would not be to God's glory nor in the interests of his faithful ones or others for him to admit to eternal life conditions any deficient in love. R4401:1

Typified in one of Aaron's four son's. T40

The conduct of one could not send another into the second death without his cooperation; but whatever influence we have may be used for either the assistance or the injury of another. R4831:1

From our present viewpoint it will not surprise us if the number going into the second death will be a considerable one. It is a high standard which God will require for life eternal at any time and on any plane.

R4400:3

Whoever will die the second death will die for his own sins and not through inherited imperfections. R2759:4, 1249:5

No provision is made for sin or sinners beyond the Millennium. R4400:6. 1249:6

Real death, not just sleep. HG14:4

Everlasting destruction, not eternal torment. HG305:6, 334:6

I do not say -- It will be useless to pray or to hope for those who commit the sin unto death. F165; Q653:1

A waste of time for Christians to agonize and labor for such. R4626:3

Because "It is impossible to renew them again unto repentance." (Heb. 6:4-6) "There remaineth no more sacrifice for sins." (Heb. 10:26) R3260:3, 4835:2, 4078:6, 2738:5*, 2707:1, 2658:2, 1699:1, 1698:3, 1249:1, 723:3, 383:1; F302; T40; HG14:5; NS162:3

To pray for it would be to oppose God's expressed will, which we have no right to do. R912:1, 2612:2, 1983:3, 1249:1,4

It -- Greek, ekeinos; also rendered "that," "those," and "he." R2001:2; E172, 204

To ask its forgiveness. R1249:1,4

Those who go so far as to commit it need not be hoped for, nor prayed for. R1250:1

The "holy brethren" should be able to discern cases in which willful sin has been committed, so that they will not pray for such, yet there is great room for patient forbearance and generous judgment in such cases. R1250:4

All unrighteousness -- All imperfection. R2284:6

Selfishness is unrighteousness. R5307:1

The divine law stands whether we are able to keep it or not; and every violation of the divine law is a sin, in one sense. R5750:3, 1249:2

God's law makes no allowance for sin, but condemns it. SM304:1

God is not the author of sin. R870:6 According to the Scriptures it is sinful for the Lord's people to injure one another in word, act or thought. R5750:6

Is sin -- A sin is that which is more or less willfully and intentionally committed. R5750:2

In proportion as he willfully violates the divine law, in that proportion he shall suffer stripes. R5750:6, 5751:1, 2658:2, 1250:1

There is a -- Kind of. R3083:5

Sin not unto death -- A trespass is a sin committed without intention.

Violations of God's law which are the result of our unavoidable weaknesses are not culpable sins, and hence not in the same category with sins more or less willful. R5750:2

Due to weakness, physical or moral. R1250:1

Venial sin. One which may be forgiven. R1249:1, 1983:3, 1250:6

One that may be repented of and reformed from--for which forgiveness and reconciliation may be prayed for, and expected. R1249:1, 1250:6

This should be our attitude toward God: "Gracious Heavenly Father, we cannot do perfectly. We pray thee, forgive our trespasses, as we forgive those who trespass against us." R5750:6

In the case of trespasses, which are unavoidable, instead of doing injury, these serve to show what points of character are weak and need to be strengthened. R5751:1 Any one begotten of God could not, so long as he is in possession of the holy Spirit, commit a sin with full intention. R5751:1

While every intentional sin against the holy Spirit must have a punishment, yet the punishment will not be the second death unless the knowledge, the sin, be a full, complete one. R5751:5

To whatever extent they are willful, they must be punished. R1249:6

We know that whosoever -- New creatures. R2721:3, 5491:5; Q141:5

Is born of God -- Begotten of God. A196, 278; E235; R5938:5, 5742:2, 4830:2, 4810:6, 4252:3, 3281:5, 2235:5, 2003:6, 1697:6, 1250:6, 837:1, 374:3

Greek, gennao; refers to the beginning and not the completion of our change of nature. R2440:3

To receive the beginning of a new life, a new nature. R5742:5

New creatures. R4830:2

It is not the flesh that is begotten by the holy Spirit, but a new mind, a new will. SM392:1

It is starting a new life. The one receiving it gains a supernatural illumination. Thereafter he is a changed person, a new person, a new creature. He is now in Christ Jesus. R5742:3

Begotten of the spirit of holiness and truth. R5938:5, 2440:4

Those who have experienced a change of nature, who were first begotten according to the flesh, as children of Adam, and who have been begotten again--begotten of God. R5742:2

Sinneth not -- Willfully. E461; R5742:6, 4810:6, 4252:3, 3281:5, 2440:3, 1698:2

Does not practice sin. (Diaglott) R5491:6

Willingly--does not approve of nor take pleasure in sin. R2440:3

Could not have any sympathy with sin so as to willfully, knowingly and intentionally engage therein. R5938:5, 2235:5

Could not give himself over to sin--to do so would signify that he had lost the holy Spirit, and had become unholy again. R5742:6

Meaning willful sin, intentional sin; sins that are not merely shortcomings and faults, inherited from our ancestors. R5938:5, 2235:5; E235, 461

Sin in its full or absolute sense, deliberate sin. R5938:5, 2235:5

It is not the new creature that sins. R5903:4

The slightest sympathy with sin would cause the child of God to depart to that extent from the center of purity. R5743:1

Such do not sin willfully, intentionally, and other imperfections are not reckoned sins to such. R1250:6

Such may be overtaken in a fault, may err in judgment, be overpowered by the old nature, but will never sin willfully. R374:3

This text is not a guarantee of eternal salvation to those begotten of the holy Spirit, nor a guarantee of salvation from trials, temptations, difficulties, etc., but the begotten ones are under divine supervision.

R4252:3

"The righteousness of the law is fulfilled in us who walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit." (Rom. 8:4) R2440:4, 2721:3

This text does not teach that the new nature, cannot corrupt, cannot die; that a convert cannot fall from grace. R1698:1

Is begotten of God -- The Heavenly Father is the begetter in the regeneration of the Church, the Bride of Christ. E143

Greek, gennao. When used in connection with God, it +should always be rendered beget or begotten. R837:1; A278

We are begotten through the truth--the Gospel. R836:3

Only those begotten of the Father have his Spirit, which is the Spirit of the Son. R5133:3

There are three steps which correspond to the natural generation; begetting; quickening into activity, zeal and labor; and birth into full spirit-power. R836:3

Keepeth himself -- By keeping very close to God, and watching our actions, our companionship and our conduct. R5743:4

Picturing to our mental eyes a charmed circle within which God's people may come; not a fence, but merely a line of light which can easily be overstepped. Inside is the Lord's favor; and he as the Head is the center.

R5148:4, 5743:1

The Lord himself is the great center of righteousness, purity, truth. All who are on the side of righteousness, purity, truth, will shun sin, will have no fellowship with it. R5742:6

We should conquer ourselves; and control this body which is of the fallen race. R5923:6

From yielding to temptation. R4252:6

Watch our actions, our companionship, our conduct; abide "in the secret place of the Most High" (Psa. 91:1); "Make straight paths for our feet." (Heb. 12:13) R5743:4

The Spirit of God operating in the sons of God always makes for righteousness and hates sin. R5440:2

By resisting the devil and not allowing his seductive arguments to have weight with us. We have the sure word of prophecy. If we love the Word of the Lord, we shall seek to be guided by it. R5184:3

In proportion as we are near the Lord, we are under divine protection. R5743:4

Each consecrated child of God may see the way of escape which God has provided and may use the same and thus be in line with the Lord's provision and amongst the shielded ones, the very elect. R4253:2

The assurance that we are now in the time of special testing should put us on guard; and we should watch and pray lest we enter into temptation.

R2003:6

He will keep constantly on guard, watching himself, just as a watchman guards the castle of the house. He watches all the doors, all the avenues of access. R5742:6

"Keep yourselves in the love of God" (Jude 21) was never a more necessary command than at present; and we may expect that the temptation of this hour will be considerably along the line of abiding in God's love. This in turn will imply a love for the brethren. R4253:3, 1889:5

"Abide in him," "Abstain from all appearance of evil," "Take heed to yourselves," "Forget the things that are behind," "Mortify your flesh," and earthy desires and ambitions. Keep close to the Master. R5148:5

Our Lord Jesus, the first begotten of the Spirit, will keep all the younger brethren begotten of the Spirit, keep them from the injury which Satan would otherwise do them. R4252:3

The Church has been beset by the great Adversary and had fiery trials, but have also had the protection of him that was begotten of God, the Lord Jesus, who is keeping the faithful from the power of the Adversary. R4253:1

And that wicked one -- Satan, whose very existence is now denied by many. F609

The Adversary. R4870:4

The Evil One. R4252:6

Satan is represented as a wily foe. R5743:1, 1889:2, 1684:6

The Adversary is ever ready to drag us into the darkness of sin, doubt and despair. R5148:5

In proportion as we waver in our loyalty, we come nearer to the Adversary. R5743:4

The new creatures are to keep themselves from the wicked one. R4830:2, 5923:6

We are not to suppose that every trial or difficulty which besets us is of the devil, but rather to remember the Apostle's words, "But every man is tempted, when he is drawn away of his own desires and enticed." (James 1:14) R4810:6

In order to deceive the child of light, Satan transforms himself into an angel (messenger) of light; for well he knows that he would not deceive them if he were to present himself as a representative of sin. R5184:2

All who so love sin and willfully do it and approve it after they have a knowledge of the truth, are children of darkness, who love darkness and who thus show that they have the spirit or disposition of Satan. R5938:6, 2235:5

The evil day with which this age shall end will have the severest trials ever known to God's people, and they will have the greatest need known for the armor of truth and righteousness. R4253:1

Toucheth him not -- Catcheth them not. R2161:1, 1697:6

Does not injure. R5742:6, 4252:6

To ensnare us mentally, morally or otherwise. CR441:2

The Little Flock are so heartily opposed to sin and so earnest about the keeping of their garment unspotted that the Adversary gets no hold on them. R2161:1, 4870:4, 1799:6

The Adversary can never touch our real selves as new creatures, save by our own unfaithfulness. R5540:4,2, 5742:6, 4252:6, 1799:6; Q649:1

We are to keep near to the Lord, near to the truth, that thus the Adversary touch us not. CR441:2; R5148:5

We are not to enter into a personal combat with the devil. We are no match for him. But we are to resist him. R5923:6, 5184:3

In the midst of temptations of the Adversary the Lord provides such protection, defense, and assistance, as is not only necessary for us to come off victors but to keep us from yielding to temptation. R4252:6

We pray, "Abandon us not in temptation, but deliver us from the evil one"--suffer him not to touch, injure, overthrow, or destroy us. R4252:6

Any sympathy with what is not in fullest harmony with the mind of the Lord would carry us closer to the place of danger; and we would be in danger of being caught by the great Adversary and his demon host. R5743:1, 5148:5

Outside our charmed circle are the powers of evil. These are sometimes allowed to touch our earthly interests and temporal affairs, but the demon influence is not permitted to really touch the new creature. R5148:5

The mortal body is counted as being dead, and his mind, his will is reckoned as the new creature adopted into the family of God. From this standpoint we can say of the new creature that he is holy. R5035:3

The Little Flock will not fall under the pestilences and arrows of Spiritism, Higher Criticism, Christian Science, etc. "Because thou hast made the Lord thy Refuge, no plague shall come nigh thy dwelling." (Psa. 91:9) SM289:2

Satan can have no power over God's people, except by divine permission, and in such cases all things which he permits will work for their good, if they abide faithful to their covenant with him in Christ. R1684:6, 4660:5, 2721:3

While obedient to the Lord, we are entirely safe--but the slightest yielding of the will, as through curiosity, is dangerous. R5355:1

For any one who may be touched by the Adversary and temporarily ensnared, God is full of loving-kindness and his mercy endureth forever for all those who desire to live in harmony with him. R5148:5

One might endanger himself without actually sinning. His heart might still be true to the Lord, yet he might be touched by sin by being involved with others in some way. R5743:4

While the Lord is abundantly able to work miracles for the protection of his faithful followers, and for their deliverance from the Evil One; he usually uses human instrumentalities. R4252:6

The Lord's special provision for keeping us from the power of the Evil One is the present truth, which he has supplied largely through the Watch Tower publications. R4253:3

The whole world -- They are still children of wrath. SM334:T, 348:1; R3458:1

Satan does not need to make attacks on the world. He attacks only those who have escaped from his thralldom and who have new hopes and aspirations, and those who are trying to get free from him. R5896:4

If our Redeemer had made an application of his merit for the world when he ascended, it would have taken away the sin of the world; but he did not do this. R5621:3; CR490:6

Lieth in -- Lies under. (Diaglott) E610

Under control of. R1684:6

Ever since Adam fell. R5167:2, 5093:1, 1316:1

Still lieth. This declaration was made not before, but during, the Gospel age. SM240:1

After six thousand years it is still true. NS768:2

The world is still not redeemed in a judicial sense. Q375:3

Wickedness -- In the wicked one. R5896:4, 5621:3, 5352:5, 5299:5, 5167:2, 5115:2, 5093:1, 4832:2, 4574:4, 4546:2, 3365:6, 97:5; NS88:1, 548:4; OV152:1; SM240:1

In the Evil One. (Revised Version) CR490:6

In darkness. R4987:6

Under Satan's influence; under the powers of darkness. SM240:1; R5352:5; T90

So strong are the powers of the prince of darkness influencing the minds of the world. R5352:5

Under the curse, the sentence. Reconciliation has yet reached merely believers. R3708:6

Man is fallen, and has lost much that he once possessed; Satan is now his master and prince. R1685:2

The standing of all in God's sight is that of children of the devil. "Ye are of your father the devil." (John 8:44) R1005:6, 761:2

Slaves of sin and death. R5299:5

The Church alone has escaped the condemnation upon the world. SM348:T; OV152:1; R5769:6, 5621:3, 4546:2

Because our Lord did not apply the merit of his sacrifice to unbelievers. R4310:4, 5079:1, 4546:2

Only a few are yet free from condemnation. The wrath or condemnation of God abideth on all others, and will end in final destruction, if not removed, either in this age or the next. R606:3, 5115:2; NS548:4

By nature mankind are all children of wrath. (Eph. 5:19) They cannot fall any further down. R5093:1, 5079:1, 3365:6

The world of mankind will not be children of wrath after the application of our Lord's merit. Q445:T, 375:3; R5079:1, 4832:2

Jesus, the appointed Mediator between God and men, has not yet taken up his work for them. R4574:4, 4832:2; Q375:3

Satan has the power of death--including disease--subject, no doubt, to some divine regulations; but just what his limitations are we may not clearly distinguish. R1684:6

The devil has men in such a condition that they cannot think of God as being good. R5769:6

"The god of this world hath blinded the minds of them that believe not." (2 Cor. 4:4) R4901:3; T90; CR424:2; NS548:4

"Darkness covers the earth--gross darkness the heathen." (Isa. 60:2) SM240:1; T90; NS88:1, 768:2

1 John 5:21

Yourselves from idols -- Permit no person or thing to supplant God himself in your affections and reverence. E284

Only God is worthy to be enthroned in our hearts; only principles of righteousness and truth are worthy to control our lives; only incentives which his wisdom and goodness present are worthy of our ambition and effort. Everything that is short of this partakes of the spirit of idolatry. R1836:4

Not by loving husband, wife, child, parent, brother or sister less, but by loving the Lord more. R3863:1

Some idolize husband, wife or child; some wealth; some worship fame; others set up selfishness as their idol; and some worship a sect, a party, a faction. R3386:5, 5298:5, 1836:1

Allowing such to take the place in our hearts which properly belongs to the Lord only. R3386:5

In many respects the idol of self is the most horrible one of all, the meanest looking. Some serve self, minister to self, comfort self, please self etc., instead of God. R3386:6

The tendency to formulate and reverence the creeds instead of the Bible has been manifest ever since the first one was made--the Nicene Creed--AD 325. R5298:5

Idolatry is not the blind reverential adoration of a superior dignity or power or moral worth; but it is willful and sinful devotion to degrading self-gratification. R1835:6

Idolatry is the synonym of evil; it precludes the recognition of the one true God, whose purity and holiness are directly adverse to the spirit of idolatry. Paul gives an apt description of it in Rom. 1:21-32. R1835:6
The making of images, and allowing them to divert and absorb our worship of God is one of the greatest trials and tests which come to spiritual Israelites. The love of money and of the things which money can procure leads into idolatry. R5298:4

The sin of idolatry is most prominently set forth in the Jewish Law, the very first commandment being, "Thou shalt have no other gods before me--for I, the Lord thy God, am a jealous God." (Exod. 20:3, 5) R1836:1
Before we judge Israel harshly let us see to it that no semblance of the same sin lies at our own door. R1836:1

All covetousness is idolatry. "Ye cannot serve God and mammon." (Matt. 6:24) The sin of covetousness, the worship of mammon, the idolatry of money, is the great sin of Christendom, the antitype of fleshly Israel. R1836:1

Moses' return from Mt. Sinai corresponds to the second coming of Christ; marking the idolatrous worship of the golden calf as corresponding to the present worship of mammon on the part of Christendom. R1836:4

2 John

General

This epistle was written to a private individual. What is true of one individual, however, would be true of a number of individuals in the Church of Christ, since we are members of the body. QB41:3

2 John 1

2 John 1:1

The elder -- John was an Apostle, but to be such he must be recognized as an elder in the Church. F244

Unto the elect lady -- A letter from John to a private individual. What is true of one individual, however, would be true of a number of individuals in the Church of Christ, since we are members of the one Body. Q41:3

2 John 1:6

After his commandments -- "As many as walk according to this rule, peace be on them, and mercy, and upon the Israel of God." (Gal. 6:16) R1589:5

2 John 1:7

Are entered -- Went forth. (Diaglott) R1994:1*

Is come -- Greek, erchomia. R909:4

Greek, erchomenon. R1993:6*

Did come. (Diaglott) R909:1*, 1993:6*; E299

Not "is coming." R143:6, 149:1

The construction of the Greek signifies a past coming. R909:4

A "coming in the flesh" already in the past, and having no reference whatever to a future event. R909:5, 293:4*, 148:3*

The context proves beyond peradventure that an occurrence of the past is referred to. E298

In the flesh -- Infidels in common with Jews deny that Jesus came in the flesh. In the early days of the Church before false christs and false systems had come in, it was more easy to define a Christian than now.

R143:6

Antichrist -- The counterfeit nominal system, the "Man of Sin"--an organized body. No reference to a sinful individual. R980:2

See comments on 1 John 4:1-3.

A full reward -- The high calling, joint-heirship, the Kingdom, the divine nature. R4079:4

Only the "more than conquerors," will gain the prize. The faithful are but a Little Flock, heirs of the Kingdom, joint-heirs with their Redeemer.

R4078:3, 4079:1; SM261:1

It is proper that every child of God should look to it that he win the great prize, that he be not one of those merely "saved so as by fire."

(1 Cor. 3:15) NS506:1

It is in great mercy that the Lord will deal with the Great Company. These will be saved with the lesser salvation--on the spirit plane, but not as partakers of the divine nature, nor joint-heirs with Christ. R4079:1, 5949:6

Those who do all they have covenanted to do receive the full reward.

R5949:6

2 John 1:9

Transgresseth -- Whoever commits wilful sin unto death it will surely become manifest outwardly--by their lips, if they are doctrinal transgressions, or by their immoralities if they have turned to walk after the flesh. F302

Abideth in -- One cannot be in Christ without being in his doctrine. R811:4*

Doctrine of Christ -- That the Son of man came to give himself a ransom for all. R3142:6, 5948:5, 1482:5*, 1453:4 Teachings of the Bible. R5052:6 The word of God and the doctrine of Christ are identical. R811:4

The Father -- The world may not call God Father, but we "have received the spirit of adoption whereby we cry Abba, Father." (Rom. 8:15) R520:6

The Son -- Who are made nigh by the blood of Christ and have made a covenant of self-sacrifice. R520:6

2 John 1:10

Come any unto you -- A man, or a paper, professing to be a teacher. R1453:4

As a would-be teacher of the flock. R3142:6

Among those whom we bid God-speed as faithful brethren in Christ, it is our duty to judge as to whether they are still faithful when the magnet of truth makes their judgments so manifest in this day of the Lord. R1362:5

Bring not -- Bring any other doctrine. R753:6

Not pointing to Christ as the door to the sheepfold, but trying to teach men how to climb up some other way. R3200:4

Those who wrest (twist) the Scriptures and thus turn the truth of God into a lie. R1575:3

This doctrine -- The confession that Christ came into the world in the flesh to redeem our race, etc. R3035:1

To discern between truth and error, we ought to know what we believe and why we believe it, then be bold and uncompromising in declaring it.

R3200:5 Those who have real and sincere faith in God are willing to take him at his word; and with these the first principles of the doctrine should long ago have been established. R3200:4, 3034:6

Not referring to slight differences of understanding, but radical differences, all of which may be quickly proved by the test of the ransom doctrine. R5949:1, 3034:6, 1860:6

A false gospel. R2675:3

Doctrinal disorders are among the chief. R1575:3

There is generally less danger from immoral persons who desire fellowship than from those who become doctrinally corrupted. R1453:5

Receive him not -- These should be considered and treated as of the world; not to be numbered among our friends, for the friendship of such is enmity against God. R5949:2, 1861:1

For those whom we recognize as being doctrinally astray from the foundation principles of Christ very drastic measures are appropriate--a proper showing of our disfellowship with the false doctrines taught.

R3035:1

A proper protection so that our influence shall not be in any manner or degree used to uphold the denial of the fundamentals of the Gospel. R3035:1

It is an ignoble, compromising spirit that is unwilling to forego the friendship of those who oppose the Lord by opposing the truth. R3200:4

Those who would affiliate with those who commit wilful sin unto death, would be accounted as taking their places as enemies of God and as partaking of the evil deeds or doctrines, as the case might be. F302

Not referring to those who never knew the truth, but those who have known it and have been blessed by it, and who have afterward turned away from it. R1589:4

"Have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather reprove them." (Eph. 5:11) R1320:5, 1482:5*, 1453:5, 753:6

Into your house -- Be careful not to entertain, not to assist. R2675:3, 5949:2, 1861:1

Neither bid him -- Nor his work. R5949:2, 1861:1

We are to love righteousness and hate iniquity and oppose it, even to the extent of refusing to fellowship with those who continue not in the doctrine of Christ. R1254:5, 753:6

God speed -- Some who have neglected the plain statement of God's Word on this subject have suffered spiritually for their disobedience. R5949:2, 1861:1

Or in any way encourage or approve, any person or journal which denies that we were "reconciled to God by the death of his Son," (Rom. 5:10) who gave himself a ransom for all. R735:6, 1453:2

Except we judge of one's course by his fidelity or infidelity to the truth, we shall be endorsing error quite as often as truth. R1362:5

Biddeth him God speed -- To encourage or assist. R1712:3, 735:6

Or who even indirectly helps to spread the "damnable heresy" (2 Pet. 2:1) that we were not bought by the Lord. R3142:6, 2675:3

When we meet false, seductive teaching, we must without strife and to the best of our ability unmask it and be careful neither in word nor deed to wish it God speed. R3185:3, 3035:1, 1320:5

To claim a generosity and benevolence beyond that expressed in the Word of God, is to assume superiority to God, and is very un-Christlike. R764:5

Is partaker -- To endorse one who is pursuing the path of darkness is to add our influence, in some measure, at least, to the error and in opposition to the truth, and we thus become partaker of the evil deeds.

R1362:5

He who sympathizes with the evil doer whom God condemns, is partaker of his evil deeds. R764:5, 1712:3

It is the duty of under-shepherds to protect the flock from deceptive wolves, as well as to feed them meat in due season. R3142:6, 1712:3, 1589:2
Deeds -- Work of him who publicly and openly does so. R3142:6

3 John

3 John 1

3 John 1:2

In health -- In this day of general awakening and independent thinking, many are coming to realize the wonderful power of the mind over the body. SM322:1, 332:1, 335:T

Let us hearken to the voice from heaven, saying "Look unto me, and be ye saved." (Isa. 45:22) Spiritual Israel enjoys God's favor during the Gospel age, and is promised spiritual health, wealth and prosperity. SM329:T
"Cleanse yourselves from all filthiness of the flesh and the spirit (mind)" (2 Cor. 7:1). Purity of thought, word and deed are inculcated by the words of Jesus and the apostles. SM335:1

Perfect love filling our hearts will cast out fear and selfishness. Our whole bodies may be full of light and be refreshed, reinvigorated and strengthened. SM337:1

In proportion as we allow the peace of God to rule in our hearts we shall be refreshed, reinvigorated in mind and in body. SM338:T

In proportion as we by faith grasp the promises and daily strive to maintain our relationship with the Father and the Son, our faces will show joy, peace, patience, love--written in the lineaments of our faces. SM338:1
"Be of good courage and he shall strengthen thine heart." (Psa. 31:24) "As our days, so shall our strength be." (Deut. 33:25) "Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid." (John 14:27) SM333:1

To those who take a position of full consecration of heart, mind, body, talents, everything to the Lord, the Scriptures give valuable assurances which should strengthen every fiber of the human body. SM340:1

A rock foundation is presented in the Word of God for those who have the proper faith and can claim the promises. SM333:2

Undoubtedly a poisonous effect upon the system is engendered by thinking about sinful or injurious things of any kind. The Body and mind are both strengthened by thinking about things noble, good and pure. (Phil. 4:8)
SM338:1

We are not to place too high an estimate upon the present life and health. We are to be content with such things as we have, and to allow all of life's experiences to bring us more and more of the peace of God. SM339:1 In many false teachings the reward of health is sought from purely selfish motives. Health is frequently secured as a reward for systematic falsification--as in Christian Science, etc. SM326:2, 322:1

As thy soul prospereth -- In laying down our lives in the Lord's service we shall find rest and peace of mind which comes through believing and will be a favorable influence as respects our physical health, peace, joy, blessing. SM339:1

SM335:1

We have a better foundation of reason and logic built upon the redemption sacrifice of Christ and the blessings which God's Word assures us flow from it. SM330:1, 336:T

The cleansing, purifying, transforming work is in the heart, and if we get the heart right the effect will be proportionate cleansing and purifying of the flesh. SM335:1, 337:T

"As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he." (Prov. 23:7) If our hearts condemn us not, we have peace with God. SM339:2

3 John 1:7

Taking nothing -- The traveling "elders" in the early church all seem to have strenuously avoided asking or receiving anything from those whom they were seeking to win to Christ. R1822:4

3 John 1:8

To receive such -- The apostles desired that the truth take such hold upon them that they would take pleasure in giving for the spread of the truth. R1822:4

In introducing brethren to the churches, force and authority are ignored, while the liberty of all is respected; entreatingly giving the reasons why those commended should be held in esteem. R1822:2

Fellowhelpers -- But the caution was sometimes given that the spiritually minded would receive the Lord's counsel through his mouthpieces, the apostles. R1822:2

Diotrephes -- Some of the elders became self-seekers, and spoke evil of the apostles, yet were not anathematized: the church was merely cautioned as to how to judge, and another more suitable brother was suggested, not appointed; indicating that full liberty was accorded to each congregation. R1822:2

Us -- The apostles. R552:4

Remember his deeds -- Of Diotrephes. R552:4

Prating -- Speaking. R552:5

Casteth them out -- Having gained influence over the church in that place, Diotrephes cast out those who received the apostles. R552:5

Evil -- John warned the church against the evil influence of Diotrephes. R552:5

3 John 1:12

Demetrius -- Quite possibly the same person who led the riot at Ephesus (Acts 19:38) and afterwards became an active Christian; as he was an active opposer of Christianity and a supporter of Diana. R3159:3

3 John 1:14

Friends salute thee -- Whenever there was opportunity the churches in one place were prompt to send Christian greetings and benedictions to those in other places; and all were in line with the basis of "one Lord, one faith, and one baptism." (Eph. 4:5) R1895:4

Jude

Jude 1

Jude 1:1

Jude -- Thaddeus. (Matt. 10:3) R3044:2

Jude 1:3

The common salvation -- The salvation from sin, from death, from human imperfection to human perfection; full restitution and life eternal. R4398:1

A general salvation for the world of mankind, as distinct from the special salvation of the elect. NS392:5, 395:4, 653:1; R611:5

A different salvation from the salvation for the Church, the Body of Christ. R5063:6, 742:1, 611:5

The general salvation to human life and its privileges. R611:5

Jesus' death for the world entitles all to life, the life lost in Adam. R327:6*

This salvation comes in advance to the Church. The advantages of restitution are imputed to them on account of their faith. R4398:2, 611:2; Q619:2

This salvation is once for all (only once) "delivered to the saints." R352:4*

Earnestly contend -- With gentleness, long-suffering, patience, brotherly-kindness, love; not anger, hatred, malice or strife. R5057:4, 5056:6, 4803:5

Not in a biting and devouring manner. (Gal. 5:15) R3858:3, 3752:4

In a spirit of love; the spirit of Christ. R2804:1, 3031:4, 397:2

For the truth against error, but not against the brethren. R3752:4

Not to be captious or contentious over non-essentials; to make mountains out of trifles. R4803:5, 4008:3

One might be contentious for some pet theory of his own, rather than for those principles of righteousness which the Bible inculcates. R5057:4

Man-made differences should be ignored, and only those doctrines which the Scriptures clearly and distinctly set forth are to be insisted upon and contended for. HG750:3

Pride is a part of selfishness; therefore in contending for his own ideas one might be cultivating pride. R5057:4

Not from motives of self-glorification, but from love for the truth, the Lord, the brethren. R4803:5

Against the selfish human and devilish arrangements which prevail at the present time. R5057:4

Especially since Satan is on the alert continually to take our faith from us, or to turn or twist it to our loss or injury. R4527:4, 4534:1

Sometimes Satan's arts seem to be employed to get those who are trying to live godly into contention with each other by making unimportant things seem important. R5117:2

Fight earnestly. R3274:3

While striving to maintain unity of spirit in the bonds of peace (Eph. 4:3), yet never sacrificing truth for either unity or peace. R397:2

For the faith -- Faith in the Redeemer's sacrifice, in our justification, in the glorious promises of God's Word, in the Lord and the brethren. R4527:4, 5557:3, 5057:1, 4533:6

In the divine plan, in the Redeemer, in the efficacy of his death, etc.

These matters are positively stated in the Bible--not left to deduction, as in the case of chronology and all matters based upon chronology. R5348:5

Of which the Atonement, the Ransom, is the center or hub. F630; R4008:3, 2532:4

In Christ Jesus, the Deliverer of mankind from the power of sin and death.
R5557:3

Faith that God will use the seed of Abraham to bless all humanity. R5245:4

The faith that has confidence in God, has led to a consecration even unto death; that would not take back the sacrifice, but which delights to see it consuming, hoping thereby to share in the glory that shall follow.

R2770:6

Which cannot subsist or increase unless knowledge shall increase, based upon the divine revelation, and coming into harmony with the Almighty, so as to be able to apply the promises and to recognize that they belong to the individual. R4731:3

Which illuminates the hearts of all the humble. R1421:2

Composes the household of faith. (Gal. 6:10) SM636:1

Which is the spiritual walls of Zion. R4778:4

By pointing out the snares of the adversaries of the truth, by calling attention boldly and fearlessly to every pitfall and placing the light of truth over it. R1128:1

"The high [heavenly] calling, which is of God in Christ Jesus." (Phil. 3:14) "Looking unto Jesus, the author and finisher of our faith." (Heb. 12:2) CR424:6

"Precious faith." (2 Pet. 1:1) R2137:1

"Building up yourselves on your most holy faith." (verse 20) SM127:2

"I delivered unto you first of all, that which I also received, how that Christ died for our sins, according to the Scriptures, and that he was buried; and that he rose again the third day." (1 Cor. 15:3, 4) R1572:2

Paul condemns those who taught that the resurrection was past already and overthrew the faith of some. (2 Tim. 2:16-18) R119:5*

It cannot be expected that everyone will love us and speak well of us because of our stand. R5657:2*

Certain doctrines are all-important to true union among true Christians. D173; R4008:3

The apostles foretold of the falling away of the church from the faith. HG655:5

Nothing is plainer than that our sectarian divisions arose from our neglect and loss of "the faith once delivered unto the saints." OV284:2

Many theological teachers today are denying the Bible and advancing strong arguments in favor of Higher Criticism, Evolution, etc., thus growing worse and worse in repudiating the faith once delivered. Q853:2; NS816:1

Let us discriminate between the errors of the "Dark Ages," which have come down to us in the various creeds of Christendom, and the truth of God's Word, which to some extent was intermingled with the errors. HG420:3

Not Higher Criticism, Evolution, Christian Science, Theosophy and other Bible-denying theories. E62; R4778:2, 2137:1

A word of encouragement to those who are struggling against philosophies and science so-called respecting Evolution through human conceptions of salvation contradictory to the Bible. HG420:2

A heart-quality of trust in the Lord, acquired through the knowledge of God and acquaintance with him. R4731:3

This means more than intellectual and even heart (saving) faith in God and in Christ. CR424:3*

The life of Christ--the life principle taken in, lived (eaten), and manifested in loving labors and sacrifices for the good of others--is the beginning of a higher life, the pledge of immortality. R327:6*

Unto the saints -- The truly consecrated among professing Christians. R1139:1

For the Church only. CR424:5*

Jude 1:4

Are certain men -- The Grecian philosophers. E286

Into lasciviousness -- Self-exaltation, taking advantage of the spread of truth to add to their own influence and apparent wisdom, and introducing their own false teaching. R552:5

The only Lord -- Greek, despotes, sovereign. E70

Jude 1:5

Ye once knew this -- But from which they were in danger of being turned aside. R552:5

Afterward -- Literally, the second time, thus illustrating the second death. R1450:1*

That believed not -- Everlasting life through Jesus Christ is only to those who obey him. R1265:4

Jude 1:6

And the angels -- All the angels were exposed to a peculiar temptation in connection with fallen mankind. They were subjected to a great test as to their obedience. R5429:5, 5706:3

Angels who previously had been holy and obedient, became transgressors. F620; R4976:1

The "spirits in prison" which were disobedient in the days of Noah, preached to by Christ's death and resurrection. R4068:5; HG727:6

For 4,400 years the fallen angels have been exiles from God. R5160:5; SM118:2

These fallen angels are the demons or devils, the evil spirits, lying spirits, seducing spirits. R2171:3, 4577:3, 4521:2, 4068:3, 3771:3; SM196:1, 198:2

Angels of darkness, wicked spirits. (Eph. 6:12) R2843:6

We should not be surprised if some of them have repented. R5019:5, 5043:5, 4880:3; Q20:T; SM196:1, 98:1

Which kept not their -- They assumed human bodies for sensual reasons; to live as men and bring forth a new race. (Gen. 6:1-4) R5622:5, 4976:1, 2843:5; E104; SM97:1

Degraded their nature. R777:2; SM97:1

Preferred to live on the earthly, animal plane. R4682:2, 5019:1, 3934:4, 2843:5; OV17:4

First estate -- In which they were created, the spirit or angelic condition. SM195:3, 547:1; R4682:2, 3934:4, 2171:4

Of purity and sinlessness. R254:2, 2843:6, 892:6

Fell from their holy estate. R5706:3

But left their -- They left their own proper condition of living and nature that they might live on a lower plane; live in sin. SM196:T, 97:T; R5115:6, 5019:1, 2843:5

In violation of the divine arrangement. R5115:6; SM97:1

"Which sometime were disobedient." (1 Pet. 3:20) R4976:1

Misused human bodies which they had been privileged to assume for benefitting and assisting mankind. R3934:4

God foreknew, foresaw, this fall, as he did Adam's. R2843:6

The test of their faith was much greater than is ours. R5116:1

Thus God tested the faith of the holy angels. R5115:6

Own habitation -- Condition as spirit beings. R5160:1, 2171:4, 1679:2, 1678:2; PD17/26

Their own nature. R2843:6

He hath reserved -- Confined; isolated from fellowship with God and the holy angels, and hindered from having intercourse with mankind as previously. SM98:T; R5043:4, 4682:2, 2843:6; Q17:T

Consigning them to Tartarus, the atmosphere of this earth, mistranslated hell in our Common Version. (2 Pet. 2:4) SM97:3, 195:1; R5043:5, 2646:4, 254:2; Q19:5

Cast them down to tartaroo; literally, the lower atmosphere; hence the devil is called "the prince of the power of the air." (2 Pet. 2:4; Eph.

2:2) HG30:2 Because of their violation of God's covenant. R5162:2

Restrained at the time of the flood. R4521:2

A penalty of restraint instead of death sentence, as in the case of man; thus manifesting God's "much diversified wisdom." (Eph. 3:10--Diaglott) E413; R1670:4; Q20:1

When these fallen angels break loose from their restraints it will result in the whirlwind or four winds let loose upon the earth. Q737:2

In everlasting chains -- Having their liberties restrained, no longer permitted to materialize and thus to associate with humanity. R5043:5, 4068:2, 777:4; SM118:2; Q17:T

Which have, since the flood, hindered them from materializing in human form, and obliged them, if they would have anything to do with humanity, to do so secretly or through agents, mediums, witches, etc. R4068:2

Age-lasting chains of restraint, forbidding them to appear as men. This power has not been forbidden to the holy angels. R1678:2

The "spirits in prison" which were disobedient in the days of Noah, preached to by Christ's death and resurrection. R4068:5; HG727:6
Restrained in darkness and kept from using their powers. Q20:1, 671:1
Isolated from the Lord and the holy angels, these fallen angels are since known as demons, or devils; and are cooperating with Satan "the prince of devils" (Matt. 9:34) as mischief workers amongst men. F620; HG752:2; SM97:1
Restricted as respects their powers of fellowship with the holy angels and being no longer privileged to appear as men, they still seek human fellowship, endeavoring to gain possession of human beings. NS805:3

Under darkness -- Not permitted to exercise their powers in the light.

R2171:4, 4976:2; PD17/26; Q671:T, 20:1

The darkness of the night. Q804:3

The first and foremost condition of all their manifestations. They cannot endure the full glare of a tallow candle, even though placed in the farther corner of the room. HG30:2

It is possible that some of these limitations may ere long be removed, gradually. R2171:4, 266:5, 3490:2; Q671:T

Some limitations as to darkness may gradually be removed to allow them to work deceptions or "lying wonders" in the daylight--as they are now attempting to do--more than ever has been known since the flood. HG725:2

Unto -- Until. R2171:4, 1679:3, 266:5; Q464:2; SM196:1

This would seem to imply that Satan will have no part in the judgment of the great day. R5019:2

"Until" seems to imply that when we reach that time, then the restrictions are broken, and materialization may again be possible. Q464:2; R3490:2, 2171:4, 266:5; PD17/26; SM118:2

Through spirit-mediums (who know not that they are mediums of the fallen angels), the demons are now telling that shortly they will have power to materialize, as of old. SM118:2; R4070:4, 3490:2, 1643:1, 266:5

That they do now materialize, and appear in the actual likeness of the person they choose to represent, is placed beyond all reasonable doubt by the testimony of numerous and creditable eye witnesses. HG30:3; R4069:4; SM119:1

The demons will have considerable to do with stirring up the great "time of trouble" (Dan. 12:1) with which Messiah's Kingdom will be established. R5059:1, 4070:4; Q22:3; SM198:2; PD17/26

The judgment -- Greek, krisis, trial. R1679:2, 4069:1

Decision time. R4070:5

In the sense of trial, and not sentence. Q22:3, 17:T; R4879:3, 4069:1

This trial, or judging, or testing, will be along the line probably of their previous trial or testing. (Gen. 6:1-5) Q16:6; R4070:4

They needed not to be purchased before they could be judged or tried, because they had not been sentenced to death and are not in death.

R1853:6, 1680:4, 4069:2

We may assume that some, having witnessed the manifestation of God's love in sending Jesus, have fully repented, ceased their deception of humanity, and are hoping for some leniency in the judgment. R4068:3

In the immediate present and within the next few years. R4070:4, 5576:6, 5429:5; SM548:1; Q22:3

"God spared not the angels that sinned, but . . . reserved unto judgment."

(2 Pet. 2:4) R2171:4, 1679:2; F620; PD17/26

"Do ye not know that the saints . . . shall judge angels?" (1 Cor. 6:2, 3)

R4068:5, 4879:3, 1679:3; Q19:4, 672:T

It is possible that the saints on this side of the veil may have something to do with their judging; reproving, exposing, condemning them. R4070:5

Of the great day -- The Millennial day, when we may expect them to work lying wonders in the daylight. R2171:4, 3727:1, 1679:2

The seventh day, the great day of Messiah; of the Kingdom of Messiah, the Sabbath day. R4879:3

The day of Christ, the thousand-year day; at this very time we find evidences that these fallen spirits are obtaining more liberty. R4976:5, 4069:3, 3727:1, 3490:2

Refers to the present time before the judgment of the Millennial day. We surmise that as they are getting loose now, they imagine that God is not able to hold them. Q22:3

The day for which mankind is also waiting for its trial. R1679:2

The permission for them to find and use means of materialization and communication with mankind will furnish the special trial and testing of the fallen angels. It will prove which of them are sorry for sin and at heart now loyal to God, and which are otherwise. It will be within the period of man's day of trouble. R4070:4

Jude 1:7

Sodom -- "I [God] took away them as I saw good." (Ezek. 16:50) R1270:4

After strange flesh -- God deprecates any mixture or blending of nature. R1678:4

For an example -- Both of his vengeance and of his mercy. R1618:2

For the restraint of those who should afterward live ungodly. (2 Pet. 2:6) R1779:2, 1270:5

An illustration of those who would suffer everlasting destruction or second death. R4070:3, 5351:2, 1857:3, 1860:2

As a type. R5948:3, 1860:2

Of eternal -- Fire whose effects were eternal. Q262:4

Greek, aionios; age-lasting. R1618:2

Even the Sodomites, who are held up as an example of wickedness, and as suffering the vengeance of the eternal fire, are to share in the restitution. HG17:3

Fire -- A symbol of destruction. R1618:2

Utter destruction, not eternal torment. R3947:2

Everlasting destruction or second death. R4070:3

Jude 1:8

Speak evil of dignities -- Of those whom God has honored and "set" in the Body. (2 Pet. 2:10) F166

Jude 1:9

Yet Michael -- Signifies "who as God," or one representing God. C62; R490:5

Chief messenger; one in superior control. R490:1,4

Christ. B145; D414; R490:5

The Captain of our salvation. D548

The archangel -- Signifies chief messenger. R490:1

One in superior control. R490:4

With the devil -- Whose very existence is now being denied by many. F609

Disputed about -- Satan desired to have the corpse to use it for the further misleading of the people, who might carry it as a mummy--which might become a temptation to idolatry. R5054:4; Q807:T

The body -- The mysterious disposition of which typifies the disposal of our Lord's fleshly body. B130; R2478:6

Moses -- Jesus and the Church unitedly constitute the antitypical, or greater Moses. Their inheritance is heavenly; hence, the type should not show an earthly grave. Q807:T

That God did miraculously hide the body of Moses we are assured here. B130

The appearance of Moses at the Transfiguration (Matt. 17:3) was not a reality, but a "vision" (Matt. 17:9); Moses here represented the earthly phase of Christ's Millennial Kingdom. R1761:2

Durst not bring against him -- As Michael, we are not to judge Satan nor to revile him. R5267:1, 2309:3

Our Lord acknowledged him to be the prince of this world. (John 14:30) R5847:6

The Lord rebuke thee -- We are to let the Lord rebuke present institutions in his own time and manner. F608

We are not permitted to pass sentence or inflict penalty. R3939:1

Instead of attempting to take vengeance upon our adversaries, we should commit our way and theirs to the Lord's keeping. He will know how to make proper allowances for head and heart. R4488:3

Jude 1:10

These speak evil -- Should grievous wolves, back-biters, slanderers and contentious persons attend any meetings of truth people, they should be treated so Scripturally as to make them ill at ease at these love feasts.

R4461:4

We are not to expect that the consecrated, faithful followers should be exempt from all intrusions of false prophets, false teachers, false brethren, and wolves in sheep's clothing. R1663:6*

As brute beasts -- All not willing to recognize and obey the King of Glory are to be destroyed as "natural brute beasts." (2 Pet. 2:12) R5847:4
The new creature once died to sin, and to have it revive means a return to wallowing in the mire--ready to be taken and destroyed as a brute beast. Q507:8

Jude 1:11

Woe unto them -- Those once among the elect who commit willful sin. F166
Picturing Ishmael, Esau, natural Israel, and the "tares" of the Gospel Church. R2778:3

The spirit of pride, sectarianism, ambition, are the leading features of the wrong course, which will develop a bad fruitage. It will produce false, persecuting brethren, heady, high-minded. SM223:2

In the way of Cain -- The sin of Cain was hatred of his brother--murder. R3044:2

The error of Balaam -- The error of Balaam was love of reward; he was willing to do evil for it. R3044:2

Forsaking the ways of righteousness for earthly gain. Peter's words (2 Pet. 2:10-22) imply that this class will be found principally among the teachers of the Church, and chiefly in the end of this age. F166
Representing ministers of the nominal church who teach falsehood for earthly gain. F166; R2204:6

Thus confirming the account of Balaam in spite of the teachings of modern theologians. A61

Gainsaying of Core -- The gainsaying of Core was his rebellion against divinely instituted arrangements. (Num. 16:1-3) R3044:4, 4047:2
Korah, "not holding the head." (Col. 2:19) F120; C200; R2461:2, 3613:5
"Not afraid to speak evil of dignities." (2 Pet. 2:10) F166
A demonstration of lack of faith. R4047:1

Jude 1:12

These are spots -- The "grievous wolves" (Acts 20:29), "backbiters" (Rom. 1:30), "slanderers" (1 Tim. 3:11), and "contentious" (Rom. 2:8). R4461:4

Those who turn willfully and deliberately back to the will of the flesh. R5486:2

Feasts of charity -- Not a "supper" to commemorate the Lord's death, but an ordinary lunch; a "love feast" observed in thankfulness and joy. R1014:2
All who partook in the common meals with the early Church were not brethren indeed. R1014:2

Twice dead -- If the Christian sins willfully, the seed of the new nature is dead. Nothing would then await him but the second death; for he had been lifted out of the first, or Adamic death. To die again would mean he had come under the penalty of God's law a second time. R5742:5, 4855:1, 4843:1, 4830:3, 4656:1, 4626:3; Q507:8, 658:5

A person in this condition will surely manifest the spirit of Satan--anger, malice, hatred, envy, strife. R4606:1, 4626:3

Those who sin willfully, after a knowledge of the truth, after tasting of the Word of God, after partaking of the holy Spirit, then falling away.

(Heb. 6:4-6, 10:26) R5641:2, 1056:2

Those who die the second death (Rev. 20:6, 21:8), having done "despite to the spirit of grace." (Heb. 10:29) R4634:6, 5641:2, 1056:2; OV152:6

Ceased to have any relationship with God. R4656:1

Spoken of one who, once begotten of the holy Spirit, has willingly, intentionally adopted the old life of sin. One for whom there would be no more sacrifice for sin. (Heb. 10:26) R4830:3

If one begotten of the spirit lose the spirit, become dead to spiritual things, then he is "twice dead." R4855:1, 4626:3; Q658:5

Therefore, gradually passing into outer darkness, he will see no more than a nominal church-goer or any worldly person. R4606:1

This would mean that, the fleshly will having revived, the spirit-begotten new will had died. R5486:2, 4843:1, 4656:1; Q507:8

Two classes are described as "twice dead." One is a class who repudiate the covenant of sacrifice and turn back to the ways of the world. Another is those who renounce the Redeemer, the merit of his sacrifice. R4872:5

Plucked up by the roots -- Cast forth as rejected branches. (John 15:6) R1056:2

Belonging to the thorn and brier family, and not to the vine. (Heb. 6:8) R4592:3

Taken and destroyed as a brute beast. (2 Pet. 2:12) Q507:8; R4843:4; OV145:4

Jude 1:13

Raging waves of the sea -- Masses of mankind not under religious restraint. R333:1

When all mankind are brought under God's Kingdom, there shall be "no more sea." (Rev. 21:1) R333:1

Wandering stars -- Those who depart from the truth, and become "heady," false teachers, "vainly puffed up," aspiring to be considered authorities in the same sense as the apostles. (2 Tim. 3:4; 2 Cor. 11:13; Rev. 2:2) D594

God ordained only "twelve stars" as lights for his Church. (Rev. 12:1) D594

The blackness of darkness -- What is left for those who have gone clear back on their covenant, and for those who return to sin. R5270:2
The reward for those who will not hear with ears unstopped, and not see with eyes opened in the kingdom arrangement. NS386:4

Jude 1:14

And Enoch also -- Was used as a divine mouthpiece. R4939:2, 4386:4, 3417:3

Vaguely foretelling the gospel. E384

Enoch not only prophesied but believed, and it stamped his entire character and made him separate from the world. R4386:5

A prophecy of restitution, qualifying Enoch as one of God's holy prophets referred to in Acts 3:19-21. HG337:4

The seventh from Adam -- Seven in the Scriptures is recognized as a perfect number and indicative of perfection. Enoch would represent that perfect man, or man in his future state when he will not die. Q262:T
Enoch seems to be a type of the perfect Adam; possibly a hint that man's restoration to perfection would be in the seventh thousand year day. R108:6

Behold -- Observation will show. R631:4

The Lord cometh -- Messiah cometh. R4881:4, SM89:1

Greek, eelthe, came; prophetic, like Isa. 9:6. R149:1*

The first intimation of what God might do in the future. R5083:1

We find this longing for and hoping for and waiting for the coming King in the writings of all the apostles. R2926:1

For nearly eighteen centuries God was silent, giving no word, no message of hope except the glimmer which came from Enoch's prophecy. SM89:1; R5768:3, 5083:1

The revelation made by Enoch was not a sufficient basis for offering hope to mankind, nor for telling them to repent. (There is no basis upon which to command a man to repent unless something is offered him as a reward for repentance.) R5083:1

With ten thousands -- Myriads. R5608:2, 5442:1, 4939:2, 4881:4; SM89:1

If the sufferings were of the whole Body, so is the glory; we suffer with him that we may be also glorified together. When Christ appears in glory we are with him. R579:5

The theory advanced by the "Plymoth Brethren" that Jesus would divide the second advent into two parts, first to gather his saints (unseen by the world), and afterward to with them judge the world in righteousness (visible to human sight), is a misleading theory. R631:5

There is only one second coming. He comes to do a variety of work, and shall not leave it, nor return until he hath accomplished to put down all power and authority. R631:5

Of his saints -- Greek, hagios, never translated angel. R263:2, 19:2

The risen saints already here and engaged in the great harvest work. C302
Holy ones. R4881:4; SM89:1

Saint means God-seed (Hebrew, eloh-heem yeh-rag), and in both Hebrew and Greek means the "holy ones," those begotten by the Spirit and born of God; viz. Christ and his Bride. HG23:5

"The Lord, my God, shall come, and all the saints with thee." (Zech. 14:5)
C302; R263:2, 19:3

Jude 1:15

To execute judgment upon all -- Intimating that one day righteousness would be established in the earth. R5608:2, 3417:3; SM208:4

To establish justice and righteousness in the earth, to bless the people.

(Gen. 22:18) R4881:4, 4939:2, 3417:3

It will be a time when punishments and rewards shall be meted out. R5442:2

The great day of judgment, which is to end the Gospel age and inaugurate the Millennium. R5442:1

The nations of earth and all the various elements which form society as at present organized-- political, financial and ecclesiastical, etc.--are now before the bar of judgment, and are being found wanting. R5442:3

Those who are now being dealt with by the Lord will, if faithful, be with the Lord the judges of the world in the next age. (1 Cor. 6:2) R5442:2

Of all their ungodly deeds -- The Scriptures tell us that the judgments will be graded according to the light previously had and sinned against.

R5442:3

Every evildoer shall then be dealt with and receive punishment for his evil intent, and stripes for his correction. R5442:2

Jude 1:16

Great swelling words -- Saying, "We must conquer the world! This is the way the Kingdom must be set up!" R5676:6

In admiration -- Men-pleasers, because of their self-seeking. F166

Jude 1:18

Walk after their own ungodly lusts -- Those who once enjoyed the light of present truth and who have left it seem thereafter more deficient of decency, reasonableness, honesty, than do worldly people. R4540:4

Jude 1:19

Who separate themselves -- From the truth and its spirit. R1589:1

Jesus' followers are instructed to commune together in Heb. 10:25: "Not forsaking the assembling of yourselves together." R2243:2, 4830:3

Sensual -- Minding earthly things, and gratifying the ambitions and tastes of the old nature. R1589:1

Jude 1:20

Building up -- The chief mission of the Church has been her own development. The witnessing to the truth, letting the light shine, reproving the world is a secondary mission. E294
"Edifying one another." (1 Thess. 5:11) "Inciting one another to love and to good works." (Heb. 10:24) F311; R4830:3
The purpose of our meetings. R317:4 The privilege of being laborers in the Church of Christ until we all come to the full stature of a man in the Anointed One. (Eph. 4:13) R4666:2, 4474:6
Preparing one another as members of the Body of the Mediator, the Body of Christ. (Eph. 4:12) R4474:6
Be sympathetic and helpful; not stumbling each other, not confounding one another, but helping one another. (Rom. 14:21) CR335:2
His people should not be unnecessarily burdensome to each other, but each should feel a responsibility in respect to others and gladly lend a helping hand. R4854:4
The foot member must minister to the hand, and the hand to the foot, and all, by a mutual and vital union of spirit with the Head, are to build each other up. R458:2
Provide spiritual nourishment to strengthen those whose new natures or minds may for a time lie dormant. R4830:3
Part of our service we perform to our great Head at the present time is service to his Body. R4435:4
Assisting one another to put on the wedding garment. R2707:6
Our Lord had no such fellowship as the Lord has provided us, but surely would have taken advantage of it if he had. R2243:2
Arranging meetings to attract the worldly, either by music or other features, would frustrate their purpose. F311
There is absolutely no place for worldly workers in conjunction with this great work of God now in progress. R4894:5
Yourselves -- Each other. R5098:2, 4253:3
Praying in the Holy Ghost -- With a holy spirit; a spirit of loyalty and devotion to God. R1589:1

Jude 1:21

Keep yourselves -- The sanctified in Christ Jesus. R4660:2
The keeping is with you. God will never force your will. God is not now seeking those who need to be compelled. R5725:5; CR474:3
"Keep thy heart with all diligence." (Prov. 4:23) R1562:3, 4660:2, 4639:6
In watchfulness and prayer and zeal. R4850:4, 1799:4
Love for the Lord, for the truth and for righteousness must inspire us. R1799:4

The Lord is seeking for his Bride such as love him supremely, and he permits Satan to promulgate seductive doctrines to be successful in deceiving all but this special class. R1480:4*

Those who are begotten of the holy Spirit have the responsibility of keeping themselves in that holy condition of heart. R4660:5

Those who have experienced an entrance into God's grace must preserve themselves in this position. R4660:2

Each one, in order to be kept, must be fully consecrated and must abide on the Rock. R1480:4*

Was never a more necessary command to the followers of Jesus than at present. R4253:3

By daily asking for divine wisdom and supervision, seeking to live accordingly, and making reckonings and balancings of the things done and undone. R5958:4, 5440:1

By keeping ourselves clean (1 John 1:9); our daily trespasses are to be acknowledged, and forgiveness sought and obtained. R5440:1

By daily and hourly obedience to and love for the principles of righteousness. R3021:6, 4850:6

Keeping the heart constantly submissive to the Lord's will only. R1563:4, 3021:6

To those who thus obediently abide in God's love, the lights and the shades of life, its storms and its calms, its sorrows and its joys, are all blessings and helps onward and upward. R2239:6

The only safety against Satan's "signs and lying wonders and all deceivableness of unrighteousness." (2 Thess. 2:9, 10) R1889:2

This clearly sets forth that this special love of God can be lost in part, or eventually wholly. If any walks after the flesh and not after the spirit, such will proportionately lose the love of God. R3033:6

Those in the school of Christ who refuse to progress in it toward perfection (in the love of God), may assuredly expect that sooner or later their knowledge of the divine plan will slip from them. R2649:5

To the extent that we shall neglect the divine Counsellor's instructions, we shall surely fail of the blessings. R2239:3

In the love of God -- While he causes the pressure of all things to deeply engrave it upon us. R2330:4

The love that is unmerited, sacrificing, wholly different from anything known to fallen humanity. R2648:3

We cannot keep ourselves in this love unless we have gotten into it. R2648:2

We need to be directed into it through the divine Word, and to grow or develop in it. (2 Thess. 3:5) R2648:2

To come into it will be made possible for the natural man through a process of restitution in the Millennial age. R2648:6

God's special love and provision for his saints is distinguished from the world. (1 John 3:1) R1254:5, 2648:2

Those who have passed from the condition of the world into this special love of God, become his children by adoption. R5276:2, 1563:4
The new mind in accord with the love of God is received only by the holy Spirit, which follows the step of consecration to the Lord. R2648:5
By striving to do always those things that are pleasing to God. R4850:5
By seeking to practice in the daily affairs of life the principles of his love. R2649:5
By conquering selfishness, in all its ramifications. R2330:5
The exceeding great and precious promises must be studied, earnestly, that we may have them constitute in us "the power of God" for good, keeping us in the knowledge of the Lord and, through obedience, in his love. R3021:5
Attained by obedience to the call of this age, to present our bodies living sacrifices, holy and acceptable to God. (Rom. 12:1) R2648:6, 2649:5
Permitting the love of the brethren to so fill our hearts that we may be glad to "lay down our lives for the brethren." (1 John 3:16) R2649:5, 4254:1
Permitting a love for mankind in general, and even extending to the brute creation under our care. R2649:2
"This is [proof of our possession of] the love of God, that we keep his commandments," and do not find them grievous. (1 John 5:3) R2648:6
He who finds God's commandments grievous has thus an evidence that he is not in heart-harmony with them, in the "love of God." R2648:6
Selfishness is the surest cause of separation from the love of God; manifested in slackness, carelessness, jealousy, anger, hatred, strife. R4850:5, 2330:4
We may expect that the temptation of this hour will be considerably along that line of abiding in God's love. R4253:3
The Lord's testing of us will be along the line of heart devotion. R4639:6, 1799:4
Also means keeping their hearts in the love with all the dear brethren, the members of Christ, and with all mankind in a sympathetic sense, yea, with their enemies also. NS564:6
In proportion as the old creature triumphs, the new creature will fall; and thus we will gradually cease to be in the love of God. R4850:5, 1563:4

Jude 1:22

And of some -- Some we may recognize as being merely entrapped of the Adversary, either in sin or in false doctrine. R3035:1

Have compassion -- When we see a brother walking contrary to the Lord's instruction, while praying for him, we are to use our best judgment as to how to help him. R1860:3

Our part must always be to be ready at all times to help such back--because we know not the willful rejectors from those merely deceived and ensnared. R883:1

Making a difference -- According to natural obligations and spiritual development. R3233:5, 1860:3

According to the circumstances of the case. R1860:3

In so doing we are following the example of our Heavenly Father; for we have just noted that only by walking after the spirit can any of us keep ourselves in the love of God. R3034:3

In proportion as we find the brethren to be copies of our Lord in heart, motive, intention, in loving zeal for righteousness and truth; thus following the Lord's example, who specially loved John because John was specially lovable. The Lord does not wish us to give the same treatment to those who walk disorderly or after the flesh as to those who walk after the spirit. R3034:2

It is as much our duty to withdraw fellowship from those who are unworthy of it as it is our duty to grant fellowship, and that with fervency, to those whom we see to be walking in the footsteps of Jesus. R3034:4

The obligation of distinguishing between brethren that are to be esteemed and those to be warned appertains not merely to conduct but also to doctrinal matters, the fundamental doctrines of Christ. R3034:6

Jude 1:23

Pulling them out -- Away from the influence and snares of the Adversary. R2770:6

By reminding them of the Rock Christ Jesus, and by throwing them the rope of divine promises. R5948:6

We may be obliged to speak very plainly to them; tear open and expose before their eyes the sores of their immoral course, showing them the grossness of the sin or error in which they are involved. R3035:2

Perhaps in strong language, if we realize that nothing short of this has availed to arouse them from their lethargy. R3035:2, 4327:1

Some should be dealt with energetically. R1860:3

Of the fire -- The consuming fire of God's just indignation. A320

The second death. R3035:2

Hating even -- Those who hate sin and who take the matter to the Lord in prayer, endeavoring to right any wrong they may have committed. R2962:1

The garment -- The imputed garment of Christ's righteousness. R2961:6, 2782:6

Spotted by the flesh -- Through receiving of the spirit of the world. R2782:6

Shortcomings of every kind are reckoned as stains or spots; marks of fleshly weakness. R2961:6

Can occur from association with a church that lives in adulterous union with the world. R46:4

This class, failing to keep their robes unspotted, failing to go to the Lord in prayer with every discovery of trespass, get their robes sadly bedraggled through contact with the world. HG358:4

Jude 1:24

Unto him -- Jesus. R388:4

Keep you from falling -- Stumbling. R1458:2

Present you -- In the end of the Gospel age. R916:4

At the beginning of the Millennial reign. Q106:2

Our heavenly Lord will introduce us to the Father. CR39:1

Faultless -- Actually perfect. R916:4

Then, to be presented before him faultless will signify that the great Judge will approve us, even as he approves all the holy angels. R4513:5

Now, during the sacrificing period, to fall into the hands of our great Judge would mean to fall out of the hands of our Redeemer and Advocate, and to insure condemnation to the second death. R4513:5

Having earnestly cultivated the fruits of the Spirit. R5460:5

As illustrated in the art of the paper-maker in transforming dirty rags into white paper. F193, 194

So long as our hopes, aims and objects of life are centered in heavenly things, we need fear no evil, present or future, for the Lord will be with us, and ultimately present us blameless. R2480:2

Jude 1:25

God our Saviour -- The Almighty Jehovah himself is the Savior, the Author of the great plan of salvation. E33

Revelation

General

The book of Revelation was written at a time when severe persecution was upon the infant Church --near the close of the first century, probably AD 93-96, in the reign of the Emperor Domitian, though some date it nearly thirty years earlier, in the reign of Nero. No matter--in either case it was written at a time of special peril. R3568:3 It was written some sixty years after Pentecost, and twenty-six years after Jerusalem's destruction. A90

See the Diaglott footnote to Revelation 1:1 regarding the manuscripts on this book. R366:4*

John, at the time of the trance vision was a prisoner, exiled to the Isle of Patmos, a penal colony of those days--an island almost uninhabitable, rocky, barren. The crime for which he suffered this banishment was his faithfulness as a mouthpiece of the Lord. At the time he must have been between sixty and ninety years of age, supposing that none of our Lord's disciples were younger than himself at the beginning of his ministry.

R3568:6, 3569:1

St. John was naturally loving, gentle and meek; and that very disposition would make it difficult for him to sever the many ties of human friendship which such dispositions always draw about them. Yet he was faithful to his Master, regardless of the human ties. R1041:4

Note the simplicity of the Apostle's introduction to this most wonderful book. He did not write the title of the book as it appears in our Bibles--"The Revelation of St. John the Divine"--On the contrary, John claims no credit for the revelation. This simplicity common to all the apostles commends them to us as men of humble minds--the very kind we should expect our Lord to use as special servants and messengers to his people. Instead of adding loud and boastful titles to his name, we find John introducing himself as "Your Brother," as the companion of all saints in tribulation. R2826:2,3, 1598:3

The book of Revelation is a prophecy, and not a literal epistle. HG97:1 It abounds in symbols or signs, and these are the rule, and the literal--when unavoidable--is the exception. R490:3* The signs and symbols, are evidently designed to barricade its mysteries from all except a certain class, the saints, and from them also until the time was due for the secrets to be revealed. Note the words, "Blessed is he that readeth, and they that hear (understand) the words of this prophecy." The very reading of it will bring a blessing, and, as its mysteries gradually dissolve, the understanding thereof will bring still additional blessing.

Its name, Revelation, signifies the uncovering, and implies something hidden. OV6:4 God seems to have given the book of Revelation with the intent of covering up great and important truths, not only because these were not due to be understood, but because he designs to keep certain features of his Plan from the world. SM232:1 Nor has that book ever been, until now, all that its name implies--an unfolding, a Revelation. So far as the early Church was concerned, probably none understood any part of the book. Even John, who saw the visions, was probably ignorant of the significance of what he saw. During the Christian age, some of the saints sought to understand the Church's future by examining this symbolic book, and doubtless all who read and understand even a part of its teachings were blessed as promised. The book kept opening up to such, and in the days of the Reformation was an important aid to Luther. Thus gradually God opens up his truth and reveals the exceeding riches of his grace; and consequently much more light is due now than at any previous time in the Church's history. A27, 28

The first three chapters refer to seven different epochs in the church's history, and suggest nothing to the effect that the church is now reigning, but, quite to the contrary, that it will be a suffering church down to the very last. All the intervening chapters between the third and the twentieth deal with conflicts between good and evil, and evidently cover the entire period of this Gospel age; yet in all of these presentations the evil is shown to be triumphant, and the people of the saints of the Most High God are worn out and cry from under the altar, etc. It is the conclusion of this book of symbols, from the eighteenth to the twenty-second chapters, that the close of this Gospel age and the inauguration of the Millennial age is pictured, and the triumph of the Lord and of his saints is shown. One would think that, even with no knowledge of the symbols of Revelation, no thinking Christian should have any difficulty in realizing that the book portrays trouble for the church throughout this Gospel age and the triumphant Millennial reign at its close. R3570:3,6

A book of pen-pictures of events and of periods of earth's history--from Christ's first advent onward--usually in groups of seven succeeding stages; several of the groups running more or less synchronous, or parallel in time, with each other. R336:1*, 490:6* Comparison of the beginning of the Bible with the end. R462:1

As we proceed to set forth our understanding of the symbols of the Revelation, we wish to state most emphatically that we are saying nothing whatever against godly Christians anywhere, at any time, whether in any church or out of any church. We have nothing to say respecting people. We discuss principles, doctrines, always; individuals, never. God has not commissioned us to discuss people; it is ours to discuss his Word. Dv; OV270:2

Revelation 1:1

The Revelation -- The name signifies uncovering, and implies something hidden. OV7:T; A27

A special revelation of things not previously understood. A27

The Apocalypse is a symbolic prophecy. It tells of things not as they may happen to come to pass--but accurately--as they shall surely come to pass. R726:4

John represented a class who see with the eyes of their understanding the visions and revelations which John saw in symbols in a trance. R3568:6, 2826:1

The book is full of signs and symbols, evidently designed to barricade its mysteries from all except the saints, and from them also until the time was due for the secrets to be revealed. OV6:4; R5992:2

John, in vision, was carried down through this Christian age and its changing scenes of church and state to the end of the present evil world. A70

All Christian people credit the book of Revelation to the Lord, as St. John does. Div; OV270:2

Learned professors of Christendom deny the revelation our Lord has made through his apostles. R3486:6

Hypnotists would say that such visions and revelations are an ordinary occurrence and may be had by anyone who put himself into a cataleptic sleep or trance. R2033:2

Of Jesus Christ -- Our risen Lord. R726:4

John claims no credit for the revelation. R2826:2, 1598:3; OV270:2

God gave unto him -- Because Jesus proved worthy to know it. E37

Shew unto his servants -- God does not reveal them to us by his Spirit in the same manner as he revealed them to the Lord Jesus. R5055:1

Our Lord Jesus has promised us that whatsoever the Father shall make known to him, he in turn will make known to us. R2434:3

The messages given us in the book of Revelation are as truly the Savior's messages as those uttered during his earthly ministry. R3568:3

What Paul saw (2 Cor. 12:2-4) were doubtless the same things which John afterward saw, and was permitted to express to the Church in symbols, which may only be understood as they become due. A70

The Lord tells of restitution, showing John and the Church through his visions the Paradise restored and sin and its curse or penalty removed. R866:3

Not addressed to the world, but to the Lord's people, justified and consecrated. R1944:2

The Church, through the visions to John. R866:3

Shortly come to pass -- Of things then future. R1371:6

The larger proportion of John's vision related not to the Millennial day, but to the intervening time. R2826:1

These words, true when our Lord uttered them, are no less true now, 1800 years later. From the human standpoint 1800 years is a dreadfully long period, but not so from the divine. NS31:3

And signified it -- Sign-ified it. B203

Told it in signs and symbols, which are the rule, the literal being the exception used only when unavoidable. R5992:2, 490:3*, 390:4*; B203

His servant John -- Who in some measure typified the last living members of the Little Flock; a class who see with the eyes of their understanding the visions and revelations John saw in symbols in a trance. R3568:6

Remarkable modesty, as with all the apostles, commends them and their words to our attention. R2826:3

Jesus received a wonderful revelation from the Father relative to coming events, and true to his Body, he sent and signified it to John who thus stood as the "eye" of the Church. R364:6

Even John, who saw the visions, was probably ignorant of the significance of what he saw. A27

Revelation 1:2

The word of God -- The Scriptures claim to be the Word of God, though their authority by no means depends upon the finding of that expression in the Scriptures. R1584:3

Revelation 1:3

He that readeth -- The very reading of it will bring a blessing. A27; R2827:5; OV7:T;

Even though they do not understand. R2827:5

And -- A special blessing. R2827:5

They that hear -- Understand; even if only in part. A27; R1214:4; OV7:T

The greater blessing of understanding is being realized by larger and larger numbers. R1214:4

As its mysteries gradually dissolve, the understanding thereof will bring still additional blessing. OV7:T

This prophecy -- Which was an important aid to Luther in deciding that Papacy is the Antichrist. A28

And keep -- Conform their lives to the things that are written therein. R2827:5

Revelation 1:4

Seven churches -- Representing completeness. R5992:2

Perfection or completeness. R370:6, 529:4*

Symbolizing seven successive stages in the history of the Christian Church. R5992:2, 4870:2, 3569:2, 3650:6, 2826:4, 490:6*, 177:1; T115; Q754:2

The first three chapters of Revelation contain particular specifications and general admonitions, not only for the local churches therein mentioned, but for all "overcomers." They apply not only to the different epochs in the history of the Church as a whole, but to different classes in any one epoch in the history of the Church. R4870:2, 529:4*

Any number of the living Church assembled together in any place may properly be called the Church of that place. R1893:5

Each is a general period, which laps over the one on the other; and not necessarily with a particular instant of beginning and a particular instant of closing. R5718:1

It will be a suffering Church down to the very last. R3570:3

Revelation 1:5

The first begotten -- The firstborn. "The beginning of the creation."

(Rev. 3:14) E136, 87; F18; R5991:3

Of the new creation. R371:3

The first born; the victor Jesus, the Lord of life and glory. E136

Of the dead -- Although some before him were temporarily awakened, they lapsed again into death. Our Lord was the first to experience a resurrection to perfection and eternal life; a resurrection in the full sense of the word. R5991:3; HG136:1; NS282:6

While the death of Christ was the greatest event in history, his resurrection from death readily holds second place. R3563:1; NS175:1

He did come to life from the dead. A third "birth." Q374:6

"The firstfruits." (1 Cor. 15:20) "The first that should rise from the dead." (Acts 26:23) "The fore-runner." (Heb. 6:20) HG136:2; NS783:1

In direct antagonism to the creeds of Christendom. R5991:3

Prince of the kings -- He has been highly exalted and is declared now to be prince or ruler of the kings of the earth. R2866:1

That loved us -- Christ's special love for his Church, clearly distinguished from the world. R1254:5

In his own blood -- "Thou hast redeemed us to God by thy blood." (Rev. 5:9) E446

"The blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin." (1 John 1:7) E445

"It is the blood that maketh an atonement." (Lev. 17:11) R1298:6*

"He hath redeemed us by his blood" (by his death). R1230:4

Redemption is "through the blood." (Eph. 1:7) R1298:6*

Revelation 1:6

Us -- Exclaimed by the glorified overcoming Church. R652:6

Kings and priests -- The present mission of the Church is to prepare to be kings and priests in the next age. R5822:2, 4372:2, 3294:2, 2750:2, 2238:2, 1910:2, 1750:2

Not of human ordination, but by divine acceptance as members of the Body of our great High Priest. R1101:1

The "High Priest of our profession (order);" (Heb. 3:1) "A Royal Priesthood;" (1 Pet. 2:9) "After (like) the order of Melchizedec." (Heb. 7:21) R1101:1; CR452:5

The work of a priest is one of intercession and of instruction in righteousness. The fact the offices of king and priest will exist logically implies that there will be subjects to rule and learners to teach. R404:3*, 12:2*; CR452:5

This Royal Priesthood is to be God's agency during the Millennial age for bringing blessings to the world of mankind. R2879:5; Q796:2

Reigning priests, having the order of royalty and the order of priesthood combined. CR452:5

As kings we will be endued with power to control the world. R2879:6

These "very elect" kings and priest will be fully qualified to exercise their power in moderation--with new minds which are now being developed, disciplined and brought to the standard of perfect love, which is full of pity, compassion, brotherly kindness and harmony. R2879:6

The Little Flock will be the world's instructors and judges--"Kings and Priests unto God." R2247:3, 1941:1

As overcomers be granted a place in the glorified priesthood of the incoming Millennial age. R1138:4

To fit us for such an exalted and responsible position we require a peculiar training, and we feel warranted in claiming that the trials, temptations and discipline of this present life are for that very purpose. R405:1*, 12:3*

We shall rule as kings even with a rod of iron, but the grand object will be to humble the nations and so fit them for the reception of truth.

R404:6*, 12:2*

Revelation 1:7

Cometh -- Greek, erketai. R149:1*

With clouds -- The clouds of the time of trouble. B138; R5992:1, 5269:5, 1796:6

A dark day. "For then shall be great tribulation, such as was not since the beginning of the world to this time, no, nor ever shall be." (Matt. 24:21) R5269:2

The Millennial morning will be specially cloudy. R1073:5

And -- In due time. B153

Every eye -- All mankind. R5269:2

Shall -- Ultimately. R5992:1

See him -- Greek, horao, discern him, recognize his presence, power and authority. B138, 153; R5992:1

Greek, optomai, signifying attend, as in Matt. 27:4, 24, or recognize, as in Acts 7:2, 30; John 11:40 and Luke 3:6. R140:3

With the eyes of their understanding. R5269:2, 5992:1, 5762:1, 5485:6; CR467:6; OV57:4; SM425:1

A blind man says "I see now"--meaning that he sees with his intellectual sight. R5269:4

This scripture does not refer to natural human sight because the Lord said in John 14:19, "Yet a little while, and the world seeth me no more." Then, referring to his faithful followers who are to be changed into the spirit condition, he added, "But ye shall see me." R5269:1, 5992:1, 5485:6; OV57:3; Q499:3

"The people that walked in darkness have seen a great light." (Isa. 9:2)

The world of mankind at that time recognize the presence of the Lord and his Kingdom established. R1746:3

The revelation of Messiah in flaming fire (trouble) will open the eyes of the world. SM425:2

Not until high noon will every eye be able to perceive that he is present; and when "every eye" sees him every one will be holy, "without which no man shall see (horao) the Lord. (Heb. 12:14) R555:5*

Christ's presence and his righteous authority will be recognized in both the punishments and the blessings which will flow to mankind from his reign. R5992:1

The world will learn that the fire of God's anger does not burn against sinners for whom Christ died, but merely against their sins. SM425:3

They also -- The Jews. SM425:2

Shall wail -- At the time of our Lord's second advent the world will be far from converted to God. R5991:6; A90

Mankind, not loving his appearing, will see Christ drawing nearer in judgment and hence there will be mourning. OV222:3; A90; R5269:5; SM421:2

Because of him -- Instead of being converted to God at the time he comes. R5992:1; HG341:6

It teaches that all on earth will not love his appearing. A90; HG341:6; OV222:3

His manifestation of power, the breaking in pieces of things of this present order of affairs, will cause the great time of trouble. R4602:2

Revelation 1:8

I am -- Jesus' own words. CR247:2

Alpha and Omega -- The first and last letters of the Greek alphabet. CR247:2

The Hebrew word for "me" in Zech. 12:10 here referred to consists of the first and last letters of the Hebrew alphabet, Aleph Tay. R1948:4*

He was the first and only begotten and by him all the divine purpose is to be accomplished. R919:3, 716:5*

Beginning with creation we have seen him as the Alpha of the plan, and faith looks into the revealed future and beholds him as the Omega. R422:6

Beginning and the ending -- The first and last of the direct creation of God. R1514:6, 5748:1, 1278:3, 1060:4, 1005:3; CR290:1, 247:2; Q358:2; HG297:1, 661:6

God made just one being and never made any more. CR290:1, 247:4; Q358:2

As Jehovah's agent, Jesus is the beginning and finisher of the wondrous plan, though not its author. R1060:4, 446:5*, 333:4

See comment on Rev. 3:14

Which was -- Referring to Jesus' pre-existence. R1161:5, 446:5*

To come -- Greek, Erkommenas. R149:1*

The Almighty -- "All power is given unto me in heaven and in earth." (Matt. 28:18) Christ has been all-mighty only since his resurrection. The Father gave him the power. R1515:1, 422:5

Revelation 1:9

I John -- Typifying in some degree the last living members of the Little Flock. "If I will that he tarry till I come, what is that to thee?" (John 21:22, 23) R3568:6

At the time he must have been between sixty and ninety years of age. R3569:1

Am your brother -- So far from being puffed up by this privilege, John humbly reminds us that the vision was from God and he was simply a companion in tribulation. R1598:3

He does not refer to himself as the "Reverent Saint John, Doctor of Divinity." R2826:2

And companion -- The brother of all fellow disciples, sharers of the same sufferings, and prospectively of the same glory. R2826:3

The place of exile was made glorious with the presence of the Lord and manifestations of his grace, not only to his faithful Apostle, but also to all the Church through him. R1598:3

In the kingdom -- The embryo Kingdom of heaven. "The Kingdom of heaven suffereth violence, and the violent take it by force." (Matt. 11:12) R1598:3

Was in the isle -- A prisoner, exiled to the isle. R3568:6

Banished to the lonely and sterile isle. R1598:3

Possibly symbolizing the ostracism, complete isolation and imprisonment of the Church. R3569:1

Is called Patmos -- A penal island, almost uninhabitable, rocky, barren, where convicts were worked in the quarrying of marble. R3568:6, 2826:3
The little island in the Mediterranean Sea. R2826:3

For the word of God -- Seclusion had been forced upon him as a penalty for faithfulness. R1598:6, 3569:1, 2826:3 His faithfulness in believing and teaching the Word of God. R1598:3

Revelation 1:10

In the Spirit -- In a trance. R2826:1

John was specially filled with the holy Spirit of love and adoration and joy in God as to be mentally lifted above his surroundings and out of the thoughts and feelings of the old nature. R1598:3

Being in the proper attitude of mind and heart--"a broken and emptied vessel," fit for the Master's use--the chosen and honored instrument.

R1599:1

In times of tribulation the Lord's presence and comfort are most precious to his saints, and they begin to learn what it means to live "in the spirit"--above the world, and hence to a great extent unaffected by its conditions. R1598:6

To understand and appreciate spiritual things we must have become new creatures in Christ Jesus. R3569:2

On the Lord's day -- John saw this vision on the first day of the week. Our Lord revealed himself and certain great instructions to the Church through John, honoring this day. R2826:1

The earliest record found in Scripture of the use of this name for the first day of the week. R1727:4, 1598:3, 1446:6

The day of his resurrection, our Sunday. R1727:4, 3569:1, 2826:1

The day on which all the promises of God's Word received life and our hopes through Christ were quickened. R3569:1

A reference to the Millennial age, the day of Christ. R3569:1, 2826:1

We are living in the early dawn of this day of Christ. R3569:2

Behind me -- From some unseen source. R1599:1

We, who now are having the realities, find that the message, which reveals the wonderful things of the divine character and plan, is behind us.

R3569:2

Signifying that the things to be revealed had already commenced, some features going clear back to the time of our Lord's earthly ministry.

R2826:4

As of a trumpet -- Indicative of an important proclamation. R1599:1

Revelation 1:11

I am Alpha -- These words and the next succeeding seven words are not found in the oldest Greek manuscripts. R3569:2, 2826:4

The first and the last -- Of divine creation. The first and only begotten Son of Jehovah. R5351:6, 4098:1, 1599:1, 1514:6

All subsequent creations were by and through Christ as Jehovah's honored agent. R4098:1, 5351:6

The seven churches -- Representing the seven stages of development or epochs in the history of the one true Church. Q754:2; T115; R5992:2, 4870:2, 3650:6, 3569:2, 2826:4, 2521:6, 490:6*, 177:1; HG96:6

We are not to think of the different epochs represented in the messages to the various churches as being exact periods, rather each to be a general period, which laps over the one on the other. R5718:1

Covering the period between the first advent and the second coming of Christ. R5992:2

The complete nominal Gospel church of the entire age. R1599:1

Which are in -- Ancient manuscripts omit the words "churches which are in Asia." R2826:4

Asia -- The word means "muddy" or "boggy," indicating the general nature of the Church's path throughout her earthly career. R336:2*

While the messages given to the seven churches were doubtless applicable to them, they properly have a still wider application to the entire Gospel Church, the number seven representing completeness. R5992:2, 2826:4, 1599:1; HG97:1

To think otherwise would be to attach more importance to those seven comparatively small churches of Asia Minor than they would seem to have deserved, and an ignoring of other more numerous and influential churches. R3569:3; HG96:3

The Roman province of Asia was a part of that district which we now call Asia Minor, and embraced only the southwest half of the peninsula. R336:1*

The seven cities then existing still remain (some in ruins) until the present. It seems evident that these cities were chosen from a peculiarity in their names which fitted God's purpose. R336:1*; HG96:6

Revelation 1:12

And I turned -- So also we turn and look toward the past to see the fulfillment of the various features of the divine plan and to hear and understand the message given to his people by the risen Lord. R3569:2

The voice that spake -- As if saying, Remember who it is that speaks. R336:1*

Seven golden candlesticks -- Symbolizing the Lord's nominal people of this Gospel age, including his "members." R3569:4

Each of the seven churches is represented by a separate candlestick, or lamp. R2521:6, 3650:6, 3569:4, 2827:2

Representing the one Church, whose seven stages of development were symbolized by the seven congregations of Asia Minor, also by the golden candlestick in the "Holy." T115, 116; R2827:2, 1599:1, 490:6*; Q754:2

The divine institution of the Church is for the enlightening of the world, gold being a symbol of the divine nature. R1599:2

In this verse and onward is a description of the appearance of the glorified Savior and his surroundings, some feature of which seems to be peculiarly fitted to each church. R336:1*

Revelation 1:13

And in the midst -- Caring for them, trimming the wicks, seeing to the supply of oil, etc., representing the Lord's directing, criticizing, judging and protecting care over all the interests of his Church throughout the age. R3569:3, 2827:1

Candlesticks -- Or lampstands. R3569:4, 3650:6, 2826:4, 336:2*

The lampstand represents the nominal church of Christ, rather than the true. R3569:4

Representing the whole Gospel church. HG97:1

Representing the seven phases of the church. R1599:2

The union and the separateness are merely as we view the matter from two different standpoints. R2827:2

The same candlestick as in the Tabernacle and Temple but the parts are separated--the union, the relationship between them being supplied by our Redeemer, the antitypical High Priest. R3569:4, 2827:2, 1599:2, 1491:1

One like unto -- Some one or more of the features of this description seem to be peculiarly appropriate to each of the successive stages of the church. R5992:2

The Son of man -- Like "a" son of man, like a priest, as implied by the clothes described. R3569:3, 5992:2, 2826:4, 1599:1

What John saw in vision was not understood by him to be the Lord's glorious body, but a symbolical representation of it. R3569:2, 2826:5

Not really the Lord, but a vision, an appearance. R1599:2

Clothed -- An inspired conception of the present glory and majesty of Jesus Christ; glorious in retinue, in person, in position, in power and authority. R1323:3

Some one or more of the features of this description would seem to be peculiarly appropriate to each of the successive stages of the church; and in each case he who sends the message is thus described. R5992:3

Possibly representing the fact that the glory was manifested in Jesus' own person, in his own ministry and in that of his twelve apostles. R3569:5

With a garment -- A long, full flowing robe such as was worn by kings and priests; not the dress of the common people. R1599:2

Down to the foot -- After the death of the apostles, the body of truth was almost completely veiled throughout the eighteen centuries intervening until now, when the feet members are illuminated by it. R3569:5

Girt about the paps -- Not about the loins as one about to toil or run, but about the paps of one in the repose and dignity of sovereignty. R1599:4

Revelation 1:14

Hairs were white -- Indicating both age and purity. R1599:4

Corresponding to the Ancient of Days of Daniel's vision (Dan. 7:9, 13, 22) and symbolic of venerableness of knowledge, experience, wisdom. R2826:5; HG62:1

As white as snow -- Representing splendor and purity. R3569:5

His eyes -- Symbolizing that our Master is all-seeing and omniscient. R3569:5

The contemplation of his glance should of itself purge and purify our hearts to the extent of ability to put far from us everything which would have his disapproval. R3569:5

As a flame of fire -- Acute discernment. R1599:4

Representing penetrating intelligence. Tells us that he is not deceived by outward forms or ceremonies, but reads every thought and intent of the heart. R3569:5, 2826:5

Revelation 1:15

And his feet -- Representing the living members of the Body all down through the age, who serve in the sense of carrying forward, financially and otherwise, the Lord's work. R2827:1

Like unto fine brass -- Polished and glowing, indicating power. R1599:4

The feet members will be illuminated by the truth and shine forth--not like the Head, but as polished brass. R3569:2 Refined copper. Those whom the Lord would use in his service must, in their conduct and dealings with the world, be refined, purified, clean. "Be ye clean that bear the vessels of the Lord." (Isa. 52:11) R2827:1

In a furnace -- Representing the refining process by fiery trials to each and all the members of the Body. (1 Pet. 4:12) R2827:1

So bright that you can scarcely look at it. R18:4, 261:6

Of many waters -- Signifying peoples, nations and languages, (Rev.

17:15) and that thus our Lord, present with his Church, would speak to her and through her by many tongues, in many languages. R2826:6

Indicating the universality of his authority and power. R1599:4

In his right hand -- Under his guidance, protection and care. R3570:4
Showing that the teaching power and authority are vested in Christ, the Head of the Church, and that human teachers are only instruments in his hands. R1599:4

Seven stars -- The angels, or messengers, or special servants of the Church in each epoch. R2826:6, 3570:4

Bearers of heavenly light, spiritual enlightenment or instruction. R3570:4

Out of his mouth -- His words in his Church are to be as the Sword of the Spirit, discerning the thoughts and intents of the heart, (Heb. 4:12) dividing and classifying his people, and separating from his elect every impure thing. R2826:5

Two-edged sword -- The Word of God, cutting against sin in every direction, as much when found in his most earnest followers as when found elsewhere. R3570:5

None need to attempt to pluck out the mote from his brother's eye without getting rid of the beam in his own eye. R3570:5

This should thoroughly convince us that this description of our Lord is symbolic. R3570:4

Symbolizes the mission of his truth and its final victory. The Sword of the Spirit--the Word of God. R1599:4

See comments on Rev. 2:12

As the sun shineth -- Jesus glorified, transfigured, radiant like the sun. R3794:4, 2289:1; F677

His spiritual glory manifested. R1995:3, 261:6, 119:6, 18:4; F677; HG28:6, 35:3, 51:6

Marking the glory and power and blessing of his presence and Kingdom. R1599:4

The glory of our blessed Lord is of the same kind as that of the Most High. He has been glorified with the glory of God. R1283:4

Revelation 1:17

Fell at his feet -- The vision had an overpowering effect upon the Apostle's physical frame, and from excitement and fear, he fell. R1599:4
When we once get a glimpse of the glories of the divine character through the divine plan, we fall before him, humbled to the dust, realizing that we are imperfect and unworthy of his favor and blessing. R3569:6

As dead -- So great was the splendor, John fell as dead, just as Daniel fell prostrated in the presence of the mighty one, and Saul of Tarsus fell before the majesty displayed to him. R3569:6, 1599:4, 261:6, 18:4

What John saw was merely a mental vision, while that which Paul saw was a very literal light which permanently injured his eyes. R2826:5

John may be considered as a representative of the Lord's consecrated ones, who in his presence feel their own deadness, having been symbolically beheaded (Rev. 20:4); losing their own wills and accepting the will of the Lord instead. R2827:2-4

Hand -- His power. R2827:4

Fear not -- We cannot come into close sympathy with our Lord until we learn to have confidence in him as the one who loved us and bought us with his precious blood. (Rev. 1:5) R3570:1

Only those who are as dead, beheaded for Christ, can fully receive this message appreciatively. From these fear is cast out. R2827:4

First and the last -- The only begotten. E93; R1904:5, 1599:4

Of Jehovah's direct creation. R1904:5, 1514:6; E93; SM491:2

We must recognize him as the one who was dead, was raised from the dead, is alive forevermore, and has power over death. R3570:1

See comments on Rev. 3:14

Revelation 1:18

I am he -- The Redeemer of the race--Jesus. R194:2

The "Messenger of the covenant, whom ye delight in." (Mal. 3:1) R1233:2

Originally he was on the spirit plane. Later as a man he lived; he died.

At his resurrection he was made alive on the spirit plane, but the identity, the personality is the same. R5065:4, 4588:1

Speaking of his own resurrection. R5612:4

That liveth -- With force these words tell us he is dead no longer, and that our faith may recognize the fact that he arose from the dead. R4587:3

He does not say, "I am he who lived always and who never died." R2794:6

And was dead -- "He hath poured out his soul unto death." (Isa. 53:12) made "his soul an offering for sin." (Isa. 53:10) R2827:4

Jesus really died for our sins, the just for the unjust. R4587:3, 5065:4, 4174:3, 3570:2; NS175:4 Not merely apparently dead, but really so. NS5:5, 175:3; R2827:4

In the same sense exactly that Adam was dead. R4174:2, 4587:3

He gave his life as the offset to Father Adam's life. R5706:4, 4174:2; NS96:3

The death of Jesus did not redeem the world, but constituted a ransom price for the world whenever it might be applied. R4587:6

The humanity which he took for the suffering of death, and which he accordingly laid down in death, remains a sacrifice forever. R1264:4*

Here the risen Lord identifies himself with the crucified one. R1263:2*

When he died and his identity was completely lost to himself for three days, it still existed in the memory of God; when God transferred it to an actual, glorious, divine body, Jesus recognized himself again. R1264:1*

On the truth, that Christ died for our sins according to the Scriptures, hangs the whole argument respecting our justification from original sin. NS175:4

It was not the new creature that was dead, it was the old creature. Q369:3

Not a dead Saviour. NS175:4 Alive for evermore -- He was the first one who descended to the tomb, (Eph. 4:9, 10) and was raised from the dead, and who has ascended far above every name that is named. (Eph. 1:20, 21; Phil. 2:9) R5612:5, 3563:3

"Christ both died and rose and revived, that he might be Lord (controller) both of the dead and living." (Rom. 14:9) NS533:6

"Death hath no more dominion over him." (Rom. 6:9) R3570:1

Our Lord assures us that he dies no more. NS178:6

The ego, the identity, of the blessed Son of God still existed in the book of God's remembrance and in due time was raised to life again. R1264:5*

Upon the death and resurrection of Jesus hang the resurrection hope of the Church and the world. R4588:1

Had the Father not raised him from the dead, it would have implied some unfaithfulness, some failure on our Lord's part. R4588:1

The keys -- The power and authority to unlock and open the graves and release the prisoners. E378; R3570:2, 3436:4, 2827:4, 1599:4, 504:3*; CR426:2; HG556:5, 735:1; NS5:1, 35:5, 139:2, 800:2

Symbol of right, authority, and power. R816:3, 62:4*, 43:6*; NS196:2

Power to open. R485:3

The keys are in good hands! They are rightfully his, who has bought all 20 billion of the prisoners. SM32:T

By virtue of the ransom which he gave for all. R816:3

When Christ came out of hell, he brought the keys with him. HG556:5, 735:1

"To bring out the prisoners from the prison, and them that sit in darkness out of the prison house." (Isa. 42:7) SM611:2; OV363:5

How glad we are to know that the keys of the great prison are in the hands of one who "so loved the world." (John 3:16) NS585:6

By virtue of his death and resurrection. Q784:T

He has the power to call forth the dead and that in due time he will exercise this power. NS96:2; F335; NS196:2

Neither death nor hades is an insurmountable barrier, because Christ holds the key of both, and will liberate every captive in due time. R1283:3

Of hell -- Greek, hades, oblivion, the grave, the tomb, the great prison-house of death. E378; R5706:4, 2827:4, 2600:6, 1599:4, 1283:3, 422:5, 418:6, 417:4, 194:2, 165:2, 163:6, 62:4*; HG384:1; NS5:1; SM32:T
There the dead are spoken of as "prisoners of hope." (Zech. 9:12) HG384:2; R2601:1; NS585:2

They "sleep in the dust of the earth." (Dan. 12:2) NS800:5

"Till the heavens be no more (symbol of the present rule of Satan, the prince of the power of the air' (Eph. 2:2)--heavens) they shall not awake nor be raised out of their sleep." (Job 4:12) R194:2

The dead are not in bliss, neither in torment, but dead, needing an awakening. NS119:1; R2827:5

And of death -- Jesus has the key of the great prison-house of death. R3948:5, 3436:4, 541:3*; F335

In its every degree, so that it is his privilege to raise up so many as will obey him out of the degradation and imperfection of this dying condition. R2827:4

Revelation 1:19

Write -- A command to write the vision of the things past, present and future, that the Church may ponder its deeply significant symbolisms. R1599:5

The book of Revelation is a prophecy and not a literal epistle. HG97:1

Revelation 1:20

In my right hand -- Under the Master's guidance, protection and care. R3570:4

The teaching power and authority are vested in Christ, the head of the Church, and the human teachers are only instruments in his hands, and accountable to him. R1599:4

In his favor, as well as in his power. R3570:2, 2826:6

During the Ephesus period of the Church. R5992:3, 491:1*

The messengers of the churches--St. Paul, St. Peter, St. John, etc.--were so powerfully led and kept in the grasp of our Lord Jesus during this epoch that we accept their teachings as his, believing that their words were really his words. R5992:3, 491:1*

The messengers of that first church, Matthew, Peter, James, John and Paul, who were to be messengers to all the churches, were so held in the grasp of Christ that they could not waver or deviate. R336:2*

If the servant for any cause or in any manner seemed to be an unsuitable one another might take his place, and be the star or messenger of the church of that epoch. R2826:6

Seven -- Representing completeness. R3650:6, 2827:2, 1491:1

Golden candlesticks -- Or lampstands. R3650:6, 1491:1

Representing all the true saints or light bearers in all the various phases of the nominal church development. R1491:1

The lamp light is the earthly light, representing good works, obedience, etc. of those who nominally constitute the Lord's Church in the world. R3570:4

Similar to those in Zech. 4, but separated from one another and representing the seven stages or epochs of the church. R3650:6

See comments on Rev. 1:11, 12

Seven stars -- The star light is the heavenly light, the spiritual enlightenment or instruction. R3570:4

Are the angels -- Messengers, representatives. R3613:2, 3570:2

Indicating that the appropriate message for each epoch in the Church's experience would be sent by the Lord through a particular star or messenger whom he would particularly commission as his representative. R3570:4, 2826:6

Seven churches -- Representative of the seven epochs of the one Church's experience.

Revelation 2

Revelation 2:1

Unto the angel -- The appropriate message for each time or epoch in the Church's experience would be sent by the Lord through a particular star or messenger whom he would particularly commission as his representative. R3570:4

One representative to whom the Lord would specially address himself, and through whom he would specially instruct the Church. R2826:6

The chosen elders of the Church, who specially represent the Lord, the Head. F272

The Lord addressed his messengers through their representative elders messengers or servants. R1893:2

Minister. R1087:5*

The messengers of the first church--Matthew, Peter, James, John and Paul. R336:2*

See comments on Rev. 1:20.

Church of Ephesus -- Meaning first, desirable. Ephesus covers the period during the lives of the apostles. R5992:3, 4870:2, 3569:2, 491:1*; HG97:2
The first phase of the church reached to about the death of John, the last of the apostles. HG97:3

Any number of the living church assembled together in any place may properly be called the church of that place. R1893:5

The capital or chief city of the province of Asia, from which the laws, proclamations, etc., would go forth--Ephesus fitly represents the first period of the church of Christ and his apostles. R336:2*

Holdeth the seven stars -- The messengers of the churches--St. Paul, St. Peter, St. John, etc.--were so powerfully led and kept in the grasp of the Lord, that we accept their teachings as his. R5992:3, 491:2*, 336:2*

Who walketh in the midst -- The supervision of the glorious Head over the Body--his Church. F401

Seven -- Perfect or complete number. R529:4*. 3650:6

Golden candlesticks -- Or lampstands. R3650:6, 1491:1

The Church of the first-born. R529:4*

Representing all the true saints or light bearers in all the various phases of the nominal church development. R1491:1

Similar to those in Zech. 4, but separated from one another and representing the seven stages or epochs of the church. R3650:6, 2521:6, 1491:1

Each of the seven churches or the seven epochs of the history of the church, is represented by a separate candlestick or lamp. R2521:6

Revelation 2:2

I know thy works -- It was characteristic of this period that "they forsook all and followed him." (Luke 5:11) They took joyfully the spoiling of their goods. They sold what they had and gave to those in want.

R5992:3, 491:2*

Compare with the account given by Paul of their labors, their patience, stripes, power of discerning spirits, etc. HG97:5

Labour -- Toil. R336:4*

Thou hast tried them -- To the first church (and to her only) was given the supernatural power of discerning of spirits. (1 Cor. 12:10) R336:4*

Say they are apostles -- Self-styled "Apostolic Bishops." R5765:2, 5544:1
Bishops claimed to be successors of the apostles, and spoke claiming the same divine authority; calling great church councils and deciding what was and was not orthodox. R5002:6, 5831:3; SM133:T, 462:T, 552:1, 672:1; OV22:3
Claiming that they are the only ones who have the right to give authority to any to preach. OV411:1; SM671:2

Beginning some time before the year 325 AD this doctrine of apostolic succession had been growing. SM672:1; OV411:3

The exaltation of false apostles, false prophets, apostolic succession was contrary to the divine arrangement. R5003:1, 5347:2; D594; OV396:1

But are false teachers, "vainly puffed up." (Col. 2:18) D594

The voice of God to and through the Church came only through "the twelve apostles of the Lamb." SM462:T; HG736:4

And are not -- They never have been able to convey any of the miraculous gifts. R5831:6

Some of the ministers of Satan are thought to be ministers of God. R5259:1

The twelve apostles selected by Jesus (St. Paul taking the place of Judas) were to be the only foundations of the Christian church. R5751:6, 5829:1; OV396:1, 410:1, 412:1; SM670:1, 673:T

There is just one class in the world today and for centuries past who have been claiming to be apostles, and who are not. OV410:1; SM670:1

Hast found them liars -- Jesus says that those who make claims of being apostles when they are not are lying. OV410:3; R5347:2; SM671:1

Apostolic succession is a grievous error. R5940:2, 5544:1 Our Roman Catholic, Church of England, and Greek Catholic friends have made a very serious blunder in claiming to have Apostolic Bishops. OV410:2; R5829:1; SM670:3

It is not uncharitable to say this, for we are to speak the Lord's Word. OV411:T; SM671:1

The gift of discernment of spirits, as in the cases of Ananias and Sapphira (Acts 5:1), Simon (Acts 8:1) and Elymas (Acts 13:8), belonged only to the early church. R336:4*

The Ephesus stage of the church is commended for its faithful, patient labor and for its discernment of truth and true teachers. (Acts 20:28-30; 1 Cor. 11:19) R5992:3, 491:1*

Revelation 2:3

Fainted -- Greek, kamno, as in "The prayer of faith shall save the sick." (James 5:15)--the weary and weak in faith. R4099:2*

Revelation 2:4

Left thy first love -- And became subject to ambitious leaders, finally drifting into the great system of error called "Babylon." R984:2

There was a love for Jesus, God, and the great plan of salvation manifested in the days of Jesus and the apostles, for a little while during the first century, and gradually much of that love and zeal became less and less. Q102:4

Some at first found the truth of God very precious and sweet, but finally persecution arose and opposition, and they found out how much it would cost, and some have lost their first love. Q102:4

Whoever is not rendering some service to our King, has at the very most the "lukewarm" love that is offensive to the Master. (Rev. 3:16) R2497:4; Q102:4

Revelation 2:5

I will come -- Our Lord's own words for it that he is supervising and correcting his Church now. R2431:2

Do the first works -- To repent and turn humbly to God and to heed his instruction. R1528:5

To commence over again by a full surrender of themselves to the Lord, that he may sacrifice them. R2020:3

Remove thy candlestick -- "The light of a candle shall shine no more at all in thee." (Rev. 18:23) R590:6*

Even that highly exalted church at last lost its first love, and God removed their candlestick, to the second and lower condition. The power of miracles passed away. HG97:5

Revelation 2:6

Nicolaitans -- Those who lord it over the Lord's heritage. (1 Pet. 5:3)

The word Nicolans means "A conqueror or lord of the people." R336:5*

Nicholans in Greek, has the same meaning as Balaam in Hebrew. R336:5*

Hath an ear -- To hear. R2414:4

A humble heart of obedience. OV309:1

The ear of faith is the special favor of God to those of a meek, honest heart, desiring truth and righteousness. R4557:2; NS743:6

We want to be wise in this matter and merely seek for those who desire the truth. CR344:1

The world's ears are dull of hearing, "deaf." The Church's mission is not to these. R2414:4, 336:5*

As salvation reaches now those who "have an ear to hear," so it will be in the Millennial age, reach all--for the deaf ears will be unstopped. R1265:4

Let him hear -- Receive the testimony of prophetic truths. B16

Jesus often used these words, to show that some messages are not sent for all. R336:5*

That overcometh -- During the Gospel age. R2832:2, 5992:5

There is an individual and personal friendship between the Lord and the overcomers now in this life, and the promise of pleasure and honor that shall be eternal. (Psa. 16:11) R5113:4, 5993:2

We must remember his words that only "overcomers" can share with him in the Kingdom. Q787:2

To eat -- Though often deprived of the bread of this present life, they not only had the Living Bread (John 6:51) but had the promise of the tree of life. R5992:5, 491:2*

As Eve shared the loss of the first dominion, and access to the tree of life was barred, so the Church will share the gaining of that dominion (Micah 4:8), and with Christ, will eat of the tree of life. R4018:6*

The tree of life -- All the trees in Eden were trees of life, but one in the midst of the Garden was then a forbidden tree, the disobedient eating of which brought death upon Adam and all his race. R5992:5, 2832:1
The overcomers of the Gospel age shall have full liberty to partake of that tree under most blessed and satisfactory conditions, when the knowledge will be of benefit to them under divine approval. R5992:5, 2832:1
A grove or "woods" or orchard seems to be the thought of the original. R2840:3

Evidently a reference to Jesus Christ, harmonizing with his statement in John 6:55 "My flesh is meat indeed, and my blood is drink indeed." R480:5*

The paradise of God -- Paradise, or the Garden of the Lord, not only represents the earthly condition which will be restored, but it also applies in a figurative sense to the glorious heavenly position which God has for the Church. HG435:6

The glorious estate of the future. D648; F669; R1794:1

Identifying with the first paradise of Eden. R2832:1

An antitype of the Garden of Eden. HG399:5

The earth shall be the Paradise of God, and God's Tabernacle shall again be with men. NS535:6

The garden of Eden was the paradise lost, and on a larger and grander scale it shall in due time be restored by him whose sacrifice purchased it as well as mankind. R2788:3, 1794:1; F669; HG399:5

Revelation 2:8

The angel -- See comments on Rev. 2:1

Church in Smyrna -- Meaning "bitter" (Myrrh and Marah are kindred words); referring to the period of most bitter Pagan persecution under Roman Emperors from Nero to Diocletian, reaching to about 325 AD when Constantine declared in favor of Christianity. R5992:3,5, 351:2*

Means a "sweet odor," and represents the Church in the first persecution under the Roman emperors, before the corruption and "falling away" of which Paul speaks, began. HG97:2

The second stage of the church from the beginning of the second century to the conversion of Constantine in AD 312. HG97:3

First and the last -- The only direct creation of God. E93; R5992:6, 5748:1, 1904:5, 1278:3, 1005:3; SM491:2

The only begotten Son. (John 1:14) E93; R5748:1, 1005:3

As if he said: "Fear not, my faithful ones; I was before all these persecutors; I shall be when they are forgotten; I shall take care of you. Fear not to follow in my footsteps. R351:3*

See comments on Rev. 1:8 and 3:14.

Was dead -- From the time of his crucifixion, until the time of his resuscitation, Jesus was not in any sense alive during that interim period of about thirty-eight hours. R2476:5

And is alive -- In itself a message of comfort and hope to the suffering martyrs. R351:3*

Revelation 2:9

And poverty -- This is an interjection with an emphasis. It is as if he said. You poor? No, no; you are looking at the things which are seen. R351:3*

But thou art rich -- Look up; the kingdom of heaven is yours. R351:3*
Upon whom death and persecution and poverty had come. Persecution always purifies the true child of God. HG97:5

Say they are Jews -- Spiritual Israelites. R2443:1, 5964:6
Not literal Jews, but "Israelites indeed." HG97:6

The synagogue of Satan -- Where ministers teach theories of Evolution and other errors. R2106:2

Those who claimed to be the favorites of the gods, and to whom applies the true symbolic and appropriate name by which they should afterwards be known--Satan, Devil, etc. R351:6*

Behold the devil -- Pagan Rome, which has been the most devilish of all earthly governments when viewed in the light of its bloody persecutions. R5992:6, 491:2*, 351:6*; A258

Much of the persecution of the children of light (1 Thes. 5:5) must be ascribed to Satan and his hosts. SM549:2

The great Adversary, Satan, whose very existence is now being denied by many. F609

Into prison -- Thus the Lord informed his faithful servants of this period that theirs would be a time of great persecution. R5992:6

That ye may be tried -- Some of the most sublime pictures of Christian endurance were enacted during the Smyrna period. R5992:6, 491:2*

Tribulation ten days -- Symbolic days, referring to the last and most severe persecution under the Roman emperors, that in the reign of Diocletian, AD 303-313. R5992:6, 491:2*, 351:6*, 306:3

A quotation from Wilson's Outline of History. R351:6*

Be thou -- Each one of the Church class. R5824:3, 5069:4

The Bride class. R5069:4

The Gospel Church--called, chosen, and faithful. R3327:4, 306:2

This thrilling exhortation is given to those who have entered into a special contract with the Lord. R5913:3

Faithful -- Full of faith. R5914:1

Never neglecting his work to strive for the transient joys and prizes which the world offers. C225; R1113:4

Loyal and obedient to God. CR158:4; R5914:1; NS62:5

A faithful servant is one who demonstrates himself worthy of his master's confidence, one who can always be relied upon. R5914:1

All the followers of Jesus must obey him, must follow his directions. R5473:4

Holding fast the faith that first led to consecration, through evil report and good report. (2 Cor. 6:8) R5914:1, 5858:6

Our justification comes to us as a reward of faith, regardless of works, but our glorification will follow only as a reward for faithfulness.

R5090:5

The wheat class must be ready to lay down their lives as the price of their fidelity to the Lord. Their consecration is sure to lead to consecration to death, which ultimately finishes in literal death. R2778:4

Full submission to the divine will. R5495:6

Faithful to the Lord, which includes faithfulness to the brethren, the truth, to righteousness in every sense of the word. R3973:6

Seeking to glorify God in our bodies and spirits which are his. (1 Cor. 6:20) R5090:5

Proving whether we love God or self best; if our confidence in him is such that we will lay aside everything else to win the great prize, the crown of life. R5914:1

That glorious work of the future shall be done only by those who have proved themselves wholly loyal to God. R5461:4

The Church is now on trial or judgment and the faithful shall be rewarded. Q794:4

They have the assurance of attaining a share in his glory, honor and immortality if they are but faithful--even unto death. SM275:T, 668:1; F444; R2647:3; NS451:5; OV308:3

Unto death -- "Ye shall die like men." (Psalm 82:7) F444

The kings who will reign with him will not be crowned nor reign as kings in this life. A284

A faithfulness which would persist until the sacrifice is finished in death. R5914:4, 5858:6, 3211:6; OV194:3

The obedience of the Church is the extreme of obedience. R5844:6

Victory through death. R5495:6

In some instances may come early; in others, it may come late. R5173:6

The heavenly things are to be attained only by those who sacrifice earthly things. R4902:4

A struggle, a battle, must go on continually to the end of the course. OV182:1

Until the Master shall say, "It is enough. Come up higher." R5063:3

This faithfulness must be tried, tested, proven, clear down to the end of life's journey. R3973:6; F445

The Lord whom we serve is able and willing to open the prison-doors and bring us forth in the first resurrection to a share in the glory, honor and immortality of his own Kingdom. R3973:6; F445

To those who continue faithful and obedient, the final moment of crisis is at death, even as with the Master, "faithful unto death." R669:6

Victor-kings through dying. R5495:4

St. Stephen's climax of victory--the loving spirit in which he received death. R5858:5, 2108:3

Our consecration to the Lord is not to October 1914, nor to any other time except that mentioned by the Savior. R5336:5

It is not a sacrifice for a day or a year. R3685:5

All who would be accepted as followers of the cross must follow the Captain's example if they would have the great prize. R3273:1, 3281:4

This does not mean merely to die as a consequence of consecration to the Lord. R5914:2

A crown of life -- "The crown of life which the Lord hath promised to them that love him." (James 1:12) "Henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness." (2 Tim. 4:8) "When the chief Shepherd shall appear ye shall receive a crown of glory that fadeth not away." (1 Pet. 5:4) R3211:6

Life on the highest plane; inherent life; eternal, everlasting life; immortality. R3211:6, 5992:6, 5914:4, 5608:6, 4668:6

Take heed that no man take thy crown. (Rev. 3:11) E490

The Father has offered a reward so high that such obedience has become the standard par excellence throughout the universe. R5844:6

Jesus will succor all his followers who obey him and guide them to the heavenly Kingdom. R5473:4

He assured them and us that he will furnish trials and assistances and that if faithful to the end, we shall have a "crown of life." PD66/78

Given to the "more than conquerors." A crown of superior life. R5914:4, 5608:6

The future inheritance of faith. R3518:5

The invitation of the present time, to suffer with Jesus that we may reign with him, implies the attainment of membership in his Body. R5913:6

To those who in loyalty of heart meet all the reasonable requirements of the Lord. R5702:6

The "King's own" are called to victory and not to defeat. NS62:1

"Let us so run that we may obtain." The goal is near! (1 Cor. 9:24) R5914:4

Given to those referred to in Matt. 25:21, 23. R5914:1

Those who forfeit their crown are numbered among God's enemies or the Great Company. R2942:5

The Great Company will stand before the throne, with palm branches in their hands, instead of sitting in the throne, wearing crowns. SM362:T; R5533:4, 4871:1

He that hath an ear -- A humble heart of obedience. OV309:1

The ear of faith is the special favor of God to those of a meek, honest heart, desiring truth and righteousness. R4557:2 The world's ears are dull of hearing, "deaf." The Church's mission is not to these, but to those who desire the truth. R2414:4, 336:5*; CR344:1

Let him hear -- Receive the testimony of prophetic truths. B16

Jesus often used these words, to show that some messages are not sent for all. R336:5

Churches -- All the churches of the second phase of the seven stages. HG97:6

He that overcometh -- Those, who during this age follow in the footsteps of the Forerunner. (Heb. 6:20) R649:2

He that conquers. (Rotherham) The overcomers of the world. R649:5

There is an individual and personal friendship between the Lord and the overcomers now in this life. R5113:4

The promise of pleasure and honor that shall be eternal. (Psa. 16:11) R5993:2

Not be hurt of -- In no wise shall be injured in consequence of. (Rotherham) R649:2, 514:5

The true children of God were suffering death at this stage of the church, but are encouraged that they shall not be hurt of the second death. HG97:6 All others than the class of overcomers of the Gospel Church will be greatly injured by the second death. R649:5

The second death -- He who in this present age having died with, or in Adam, is awakened of the Spirit and consecrates himself to death with Christ (this would be his legal death), is not hurt of it. R528:1*, 514:5 Every scripture where the second death is mentioned refers to a class of willful sinners, who, in spite of knowledge and ability, love sin and hate righteousness, except this one; which hastens to assure us that though this class will suffer death aside from the Adamic, and therefore, the second, they will not be injured in consequence. R649:5

The present is the judgment day of all who stand on trial for life, with the alternative of second death before them. R1391:6

Notwithstanding discipline and experience, if any still choose to live after the flesh, the Apostle's warning is that such shall die (Rom. 8:13) and he refers to the second death. R1699:5,6

Satan and all who affiliate or sympathize with him and his evil course shall be everlastingly destroyed. F459; NS73:5

Second death is not mentioned until the last part of the Bible is reached, thousands of years after the first death is recorded. Before there was the second death, there was the second sin, the "sin unto death." (1 John 5:16) R1478:1*

The angel -- See comments on Rev. 2:1

Church in Pergamos -- Meaning "earthly elevation." Referring to a period in which the nominal church was growing popular and Papacy had its rise. R5992:6,3, 491:2*

Means "elevated," and refers to the phase of the Church at and after the conversion of Constantine, when the self-exaltation, corruption and falling away began. HG97:2

The church of this period was exceedingly exalted, but only from an earthly point of view; she was "exalted in the earth." R359:1*

The third phase of the church during the falling away, and prior to the fleeing into the wilderness, near the beginning of the sixth century.

HG97:3

The time of Constantine's conversion, when the power of the empire was made subservient to the church, and Christianity could begin to assume the dignity of civil power. HG97:6

A celebrated city of the Roman province of Asia. Here parchment was first perfected. It had a library of 200,000 volumes; also a famous temple of Esculapius, the mythological deity who presided over medicine. R359:1*

Dating from the time Constantine professedly embraced Christianity, which being thus popularized, soon became the nominal religion of the people.

R359:1*

Persecution had ceased, the policy of the Emperor became the policy of both priests and people. The nominal Christian church soon filled with the popular time-serving crowd. R359:1*

All the vile doctrines that have saturated the papal church, and that still permeate Protestantism had at least their origin in this period.

R359:3*

The name given to the citadel of Troy. R359:1*

Quotations from Mosheim on this period. R359:2*

Saith he -- The speaker is Christ himself. R359:3*

It seems as if the little company of faithful ones were earnestly looking amid all the noise and strife for their Leader, when suddenly he shouts, Attention company! R359:3*

The sharp sword -- The Word of God, the Truth. (Eph. 6:17; Heb. 4:12)

This weapon is formed both for offensive and defensive warfare. While one edge is presented toward the enemy, there is another toward him who wields it. R359:3*

Christ has given it to the Church to be used in his service: woe to him who handles it unskillfully. R359:3*

As if the faithful ones, looking for their leader amidst the strife, when suddenly he appears and shouts, attention! R359:3*

With two edges -- Greek, two-mouthed. R5992:6, 491:2*

This weapon is formed both for offensive and defensive warfare. R359:3*

While one edge is presented toward the enemy, there is another toward him who wields it; a warning to those who handle this spiritual weapon unskillfully. R359:3*

See comments on Rev. 1:16

Revelation 2:13

I know thy works -- They were many. The faithful of this period were very zealous and were hard workers against much opposition. R359:4*

Satan's seat -- The home and stronghold of Paganism, which, in course of time, with a change of little else than name and names was re-christened Papacy. R359:4*

The seat of the "dragon," called "the devil and Satan" (Rev. 12:9); the seat of the empire. HG98:1

How appropriate is this, when addressed to the Christian church of that day; and how meaningless it would be, if applied to the little church in the village of Pergamos, in Asia, where the "dragon" never had its seat. HG98:1

Holdest fast my name -- The endearing name of our "Father," R359:5*

The fidelity of the faithful is more particularly noted because of their adverse surroundings. R359:4*

The nominal church was split in two, chiefly over the question of image-worship; the idolaters ranging under the bishop of Rome, who received the name of Pope, while the image-breakers, as they were called, formed the Greek Church under the Patriarch (chief father) of Constantinople. R359:4*

Not denied my faith -- True Christians were tested and proved by the introduction of pagan and papal ideas. R5992:6, 491:2*, 359:2*

At this time there were many teachers and more controversy than ever before. Light was darkened by words, and truth with sophistry. R359:4*

Antipas -- Anti [against] papas [father or the pope]; one who protests against the pope. The true followers of the Master denounced the attempt to disobey the direct command of Jesus, "Call no man Father." (Matt. 23:9) 5993:2, 491:3*, 359:5*

Would evidently mean "against the father," or "opposed to the Pope or Patriarch"; as we use the name anti-christ, the opponent of Christ. R359:5*

Who was slain -- They received persecution. R5993:2, 491:3*

Revelation 2:14

Doctrine of Balaam -- Pagan priests sought to bend their ideas to fit the new religion. Thus gradually the church was led into error, evil practices, and away from God. R5993:1, 491:2*

The blasphemous doctrine of eternal torment, and the endless existence of sin and sinners; also the fiction of the short line from the death-bed to heaven, and kindred fancies, have always been a "stumbling block" to the church. R359:6*

The homage given to pagan rites, ceremonies, festivals, etc., Christianized (?) such as prayers to the dead, sacred places, days, and persons; union with earthly powers and with those who do such things would be Baal-am service. R359:6*

Some in the ministry are willing to preach doctrines which they do not believe (respecting eternal torment, etc.) for the sake of salary and the maintenance of their positions and friendship of wealthy Balaks. R2204:6; F166

At this time, the doctrine of three Gods was invented. R359:2*

Numbers 22 and onward tells the story of Balaam. R359:5*

Who taught Balac -- Balaam had been a prophet of God (Num. 23:24), but he instructed King Balak how to tempt Israel to sin. R5993:1, 491:3*, 359:5*

Cast a stumblingblock -- The harlotry and false worship would be on a higher plane than that which stumbled natural Israel, even as everything in this Christian dispensation is anti-typical. R5323:5

Before the children of Israel -- Spiritual Israel. R2204:6

To commit fornication -- Pagan priests taught the church to indulge in spiritual fornication. R5993:1, 491:3*

Revelation 2:15

Of the Nicolaitans -- Nicholas means a conqueror of the people; a lord. R359:6*, 491:3*

The theory of lordship or headship in the church. The strife as to who should be greatest existed amongst many of the patriarchs--fathers--of the prominent churches. R5993:1, 491:3*, 359:4*

In the church of Rome the laity are as much the subjects of the Pope, both in spiritual and temporal things, as any of earth's conquerors ever dreamed of demanding. R359:6*

The patriarchs of Jerusalem, Antioch, Constantinople and Rome were the most prominent. The first two dropped out of the conflict, but the strife continued for several hundred years between Constantinople and Rome. R5993:1, 491:3*, 359:4*

Noticed in the Ephesus message, developed in the Pergamos age--a burden to the church ever since. R359:6*

The "reverent" fathers who profess a superior sanctity, privilege and authority for the exposition of God's Word. R359:5* Nicholans in Greek, has the same meaning as Balaam in Hebrew. R336:5*

Which thing I hate -- Those whom God makes leaders will be the last to boast of it. R336:5*

Revelation 2:16

Come unto thee -- To his own; in a sense delivered them out of Babylon, bearing them up on eagles' wings (Rev. 12:14; Exod. 19:4) into the wilderness. R360:1*

Notice "thee" and "them." The words are evidently used like "you" and "them" in 1 Thes. 5:1-4. The Lord speaks directly to his Church as "thou" or "you," but of the world as "they" or "them." R359:6*

Fight against them -- The world, Babylon, to whom he comes with the sword, by which they are cut into two--The Roman and Greek churches. R359:6*, 360:1*

He that hath an ear -- A humble heart of obedience. OV309:1

The world's ears are dull of hearing, "deaf." The Church's mission is not to these, but to those who desire the truth. R2414:4, 336:5*; CR344:1
The ear of faith is the special favor of God to those of a meek, honest heart, desiring truth and righteousness. R4557:2

Jesus often used these words, to show that some messages are not for all. R336:5

To him that overcometh -- There is an individual and personal friendship between the Lord and the overcomers now in this life. R5113:4

In this stage of the development of the church those who sought to be popular received the emoluments of the church; but the promise to the overcomers is that of pleasure and honor that shall be eternal. R5993:2, 491:4*

The hidden manna -- Immortality, typified by the golden pot of manna in the Ark of the Covenant. T122, 123; R4012:1, 360:1*

Being incorruptible, represents the grace of God in the Church of the firstborn, the Little Flock, which shall enjoy the incorruptible life. R4012:1; T123

Typifies spiritual food, the Word of God; and also refers to the living Word, the true Bread of Life. (John 6:47-51) R360:1*

Only these who come with sincere hearts to taste and see for themselves what good things are found on the table of the Lord can ever know. Their's is the "hidden manna." R1957:6

A pledge to the Pergamos Church that he who watched over literal Israel in their journeyings would care for them in the weary march that was about to begin. R360:1*

A promise in the face of desolation and death, of a life that should be hid--from all the power of persecution--with Christ, in God. R360:1*

A white stone -- The seal of the holy Spirit in the heart. E247

The sealing of the holy Spirit by which the Lord identifies the overcomers. R5113:4

Signifying a precious token of the Lord's love. R5113:2, 5863:1 1820:6

The emblem of authority, the color indicating the purity of the reign. "A scepter of righteousness is the scepter of thy kingdom." (Heb. 1:8) R360:4*

In ancient times a white stone was divided into halves, and the production of the stone would insure friendly aid. Thus the divided stone became a mark of identification. R5113:1

A new name written -- The name of the Bridegroom. R5863:1, 5113:2, 1820:6

The name of Christ. R2571:5

The name of our beloved, King of kings, and Lord of lords. R360:4*

The name assumed by our Lord on taking unto him his great power and beginning his reign--a name now revealed to the members of his Body since the reign has begun. R360:4*

Henceforth to be ours; "a people for his name." (Acts 15:14) R1820:6, 5863:1

Expressive of the new character. R2571:5

The Great King of kings' secret between himself and the individual. R5113:4

No man knoweth -- "The natural man receiveth not the things of the spirit of God, for they are foolishness unto him; neither can he know them." (1 Cor. 2:14) R1820:6

Except as others may see the fruits of holy Spirit in the daily lives. E247

Saving he -- The overcomers are not to be recognized merely as a class, but each will have the personal favor of the Lord. R5113:4

There is an individual and personal friendship between the Lord and the overcomers--the antitypical white stone--the sealing of the holy Spirit.

R5113:4

That receiveth it -- In the resurrection, we shall have complete knowledge of the name by which we shall be known to the Lord. R5113:5

No person knows our new name except they that receive it; for it is, "The Lord our righteousness." R238:5*

Revelation 2:18

The angel -- See comments on Rev. 2:1

Church in Thyatira -- Meaning, "the sweet perfume of sacrifice."

Referring to the period of Papal persecution in which the virgin Church was enduring hardships in the wilderness while the apostate church sat on the throne of her royal paramour. R5993:2, 491:4*, 388:3*

Meaning "sweet savor of labor." Applies to the first part of the period during which the Church was said to be in the wilderness; the time also in which the Papacy was in power. R388:3*

Means "sacrificed," and refers to that phase of the Church when the "woman fled into the wilderness," where she was to be fed of God. HG97:2

Represents the Church in its sacrifice of life and property. HG97:4

This Church has to forsake all and flee into the wilderness. HG98:1

When the true Church, purified by persecution, relieved of its ordinary load of lazy dead-heads and untrammelled by the class who always choose the popular side, was fully harnessed and faithfully laboring in the Lord's work. R388:3*

Many evidently had more zeal than knowledge, but they were faithful to the light they had. R388:3*

The space of time during which the true Church was in the wilderness, and the apostate church sat as a queen and lived deliciously with the kings of the earth. (Rev. 18:7) R5992:3, 491:1*, 389:3*

Saith the Son of God -- A more emphatic declaration of who the speaker is than in any previous message was necessary because a usurper had arisen. R388:3*

Our Lord here announces himself as speaking through his written Word--his only authorized authority. R388:6*

Eyes like unto a flame -- Expressive of their piercing brightness. R388:6*

To watch over his faithful ones as they wandered through the dark valleys or hid in the darker caves of earth. R5993:2, 491:4*

He can follow them in all their desolate wandering, no matter how wild and dreary the mountain passes may be. HG98:1

Despised and persecuted for the truth, it was a cheering thought to know that their exalted Head "seeth not as man seeth." (1 Sam. 16:7) R388:6*

Feet are like fine brass -- This metal was perhaps the most useful and enduring known to the ancients. As if saying, "Fear not in all your terrible journey of 1260 years in the wilderness, lo! I am with you; we shall walk together." R388:6*

To walk by the side of his Church as they scaled the rugged mountains or wandered footsore and weary, seeking a place to plant the seeds of truth. R5993:2, 491:4*

This description is very like that of the spiritual being seen by Daniel. (10:6) R388:6*

See comments on Rev. 1:14, 15.

Revelation 2:19

I know thy works -- At such a crisis, works, feeding the hungry and clothing the naked, would be a prominent virtue. HG98:2

Similar language to that used in addressing Ephesus, with the apparent recognition that works of Thyatira were even more abundant. R389:1*

More than the first -- A generous praise, and shows the Lord's appreciation of the faithful labors of the true Church of this period. R389:1*

An apparent recognition that the works of Thyatira were even more abundant than those of Ephesus. R389:1*

Revelation 2:20

That woman Jezebel -- Type of the enemy of the saints. B256; R557:4; OV326:2

Symbolical of the persecutor of the Church. R3794:4; HG69:4

Symbolically representing the great harlot, Babylon. OV268:3

The apostate church of Rome. B256; R389:2*

Representing a great religious system of this Gospel age which did violence to the truth. R5751:2, 5741:6, 4730:4

Type of a corrupt church inculcating false doctrines amongst the Lord's nominal church. R4741:1

The antitypical Herodias, (Matt. 14:3, 4; Mark 18:19) is adulterously allied to the kingdoms of this world while nominally espoused to Christ.

R3325:3, 5751:2

Representing a false Christian church system married to earthly governments. R5751:2

The idolatrous wife of king Ahab (1 Kings 19:14) from whom Elijah fled for his life into the wilderness. R5993:2, 4741:1, 3794:4, 3326:6, 491:4*, 389:2*; B256; OV326:2

Clearly the drunken woman from whom the church fled. HG98:2

The protector of the priests of Baal. R5993:2, 5751:3, 491:4*, 389:2*

If we are inclined to feel or speak strongly of the wicked course of Jezebel, as we should, let us not forget that somewhat similar practices prevail in our day. R4741:6

Calleth herself -- Greek, heautou, as in "Shall not speak of himself."

(John 16:13) E171

To teach -- The description of Jezebel in this message exactly fits the teaching of Rome. R389:3*

Seduce my servants -- From the proper course of Christian living. R4730:4

In their great troubles, many of those who had fled were seduced back by offers of life, property and position, in the earlier days of their flight. HG98:2

So successful has been the seduction that Protestants generally would rather associate with an immoral member of an orthodox church, or a member of the body of anti-Christ, than a faithful and consistent Christian.

R389:4*

Commit fornication -- In that Christendom lives with the world; worshiping houses and lands, banks, stocks and bonds, name and fame.

R4811:5

Churches are continually typified in the Scriptures by women, so the teaching alluded to is the following and union with some of the daughters of Babylon. R389:4*

Sacrificed unto idols -- How could the Pagan ideas taught by the Papacy, and clung to by Protestantism, be better described? R389:3*

Revelation 2:21

I gave her space -- Greek, chronos, time, 360 years, ending in the spring of 1878. Luther's 95 theses were placed on the doors of the church in Wittenberg Oct. 31, 1517. Dating the beginning of this "time" from the spring of 1518, allowing the intervening months for the light to spread, 360 years bring us to the spring of 1878. R491:4*, 389:4*

To the time when our Lord said to the nominal Gospel church, as shown by the parallels, "Your house is left unto you desolate." R389:5*, 491:4*

Her time for repentance has been since the light of the Reformation dawned upon her. R491:4*, 389:4*

Fornication -- Worldly affiliation. C164

The temptation before spiritual Israel, which was illustrated in fleshly Israel, is of a more insidious kind--any illicit fellowship with the world. R2300:1

Union with some of the daughters of Babylon; the various creed-bound sects which still hold captive the spiritual Zion. R389:4*

Revelation 2:22

A bed -- Sleep, stupor. R491:5*

Great tribulation -- The great tribulation. R491:5*

Their deeds -- "Her works," rendered by oldest manuscripts and other best authorities. R389:4*

Her children -- Daughters, the churches of today. R491:5*

Rome endeavored to kill Thyatira's children with literal death; and the Lord cheers them by the assurance that the reverse would finally take place. R389:5*

Antitype of the 450 priests of Baal whom Jezebel fed and whom Elijah destroyed. (1 Kings 18:19, 20) R389:5*

With death -- Spiritual death is what ails the churches of today. R491:5*, 389:5*

According to your works -- The changed condition of things will reveal to "all the churches" who it is that is doing the sifting work. R389:5*

Revelation 2:24

The depths of Satan -- Manifested in modern Christian Science, etc.

R2189:1

There are apparently certain ideas which "they" call deep things of God which our Lord calls by the proper name: "deep things of Satan." R389:6*

None other burden -- The message began by commending them for their "works" and "service." R390:1*

Revelation 2:25

Hold fast -- Patiently carry this burden, holding fast what they have.

R390:1*

Revelation 2:26

He that overcometh -- That overcometh love of self, popularity, worldly prosperity, human theories and systems. D268; HG718:5

The victory is only to those who overcome the old creature, the old will.

R5778:2

Those who overcome the weaknesses and besetments of their own fallen flesh, the allurements of their environment and the wiles of the

Adversary. OV356:3

Those that become the Royal Priesthood and inherit immortality. R5371:3

The promise of pleasure and favor that shall be eternal. (Psa. 16:11)

R5993:2

The Lord has promised the crown of glory and the heavenly blessings.

R2752:3

The promise to the faithful sheep of the Gospel age. NS182:3

The glorified Church will be associated with Christ in this work. NS552:5;

OV308:3; PD93/108

There is an individual and personal friendship between the Lord and the overcomers now in this life. R5113:4

Will I give power -- Authority. R390:1*

During the world's judgment the overcomers of this Gospel age will be with the Lord in his Millennial throne. (Rev. 3:21) R4084:4, 1163:6; SM346:3

Participants in the Millennial Kingdom glory and its dominion of earth for the uplifting of mankind. CR81:1; R2063:5; HG669:3; OV190:2, 379:5

In no sense was the Kingdom set up at Pentecost in any but its embryo or preparatory form. HG368:4

The characteristic of the Thyatira period was the reign of the false church. R491:5*

Over the nations -- The Gentiles. OV379:5

The overcoming Church would have a share in the work at the time of the establishment of the Kingdom and the overthrow of Gentile power. D624, 12;

R507:2; HG669:3; NS683:2

There will be contention amongst the nations--war. NS58:5
Not merely a present work of grace in the heart. A285
Countless millions can be saved in the age to come. R858:2

Revelation 2:27

He shall rule them -- The nations. D518, 636; NS217:6, 552:5
At Christ's second coming. NS552:5; SM716:2
For their blessing and uplift out of sin and selfishness. R4799:2, 5377:4
The execution of vengeance (chastisement) upon the earth. HG31:2; NS217:6
"He must reign till he hath put all enemies under his feet." "At the name of Jesus every knee should bow; and every tongue should confess." (1 Cor. 15:25; Phil. 2:10, 11) R1057:1
Rome was in the height of her glory, claiming to be the kingdom of God; that Christ's reign had begun--through the Pope. She literally ruled the nations with a rod of iron, dashing in pieces whom she could. R390:1*
With a rod of iron -- God's Kingdom will be established by force. D518, 429, 636; R1057:2
When the dominion of the world will be assumed. Civ
Outward obedience will be compulsory. D636; R1163:6
Inflexible justice. OV324:1; NS27:4
Willful opponents of righteousness will be destroyed. D643; R5286:6, 3141:2
The socialism of the Millennium will not be voluntary, but enforced. R3141:2
The force will not in the slightest sense interfere with man's God-like quality of free will. R1057:2 The perverse and obstinate will be roughly handled if they attempt resistance. R1057:1
"Judgment will I lay to the line and righteousness to the plummet." (Isa. 28:17) A303; C371; D637
When the Church is gathered to Christ, he will begin the rule of the iron rod which shall break the world's vaunted institutions as potter's vessels. R2462:6
Christ's Millennial work will not consist simply in drawing men's hearts by love through a knowledge of the truth, it will be more than that: it will be a ruling with an iron rod with unbending justice. R1057:1, 1423:2, 1248:2, 1149:4*; SM57:1
Regulations will be far more exacting than those of any previous government, and the liberties of the people will be restricted to a degree that will be galling indeed to many now clamoring for an increase of liberty. A302
The rule will be felt by many to be a severe one, breaking up all their former habits and customs, as well as present institutions founded upon false habits and ideas of liberty. A302
Many and severe will be the stripes which a present life of self-indulgence and gratification will naturally demand and receive under Christ's reign. A303

When the iron rod has accomplished the work of destruction, then will the hand that smote be turned to heal. A256

Though the power and rod will still remain throughout the Millennial age, their use will probably be unnecessary. D637

The type (in a sense) of the iron rule was signified before the eyes of the faithful; making even their terrible persecution a reminder of the glory and power they were called to inherit. R390:4*

Vessels of a potter -- The seats of popes, cardinals, bishops, kings, princes, financial magnates, etc., created by the Adversary. SM716:2

In the time of trouble the Lord will dash the kingdoms of this world to pieces, as pottery is shattered before the blows of an iron rod. R1563:6; SM57:1, 716:2; NS27:4

All nations, not only heathen but civilized, will be found in violent opposition to the Heavenly Kingdom, and hence all together they will be crushed. SM442:T

Christ's title "Prince of Peace," will not apply to him at the beginning of his reign, when he will be breaking in pieces every human system out of accord with the divine standards. R5136:4

The coming of the King of earth means much of trouble and a general overturning of the kingdoms of this world. It means the breaking in pieces of the kingdoms of earth as a potter's vessel. R1692:4

Shall they -- The Gentile governments, empires, nations. B77, 100; D12, 624; NS683:2

The great systems of selfishness which are to fall and rise no more. SM58:1
At the time of Christ's second advent and the establishment of his Kingdom. SM716:2

Broken to shivers -- This smiting and breaking properly belongs to the Day of Vengeance. D637

The "dashing" of the present social system to pieces in a great time of trouble and anarchy, preparatory to the establishment of the Kingdom of righteousness. D296, 12

Mankind will not heed (Psa. 2:9-12), and shall be dashed to pieces. R713:4, 30:6*; HG13:3; NS857:4

The higher than human government will come to men through a baptism of bloody trouble--the breaking of present imperfect systems. R1424:4

The great Redeemer will utterly dash in pieces all the existing institutions that seem so great and so wonderful, but are vessels of the Adversary potter. SM717:1; R3467:3, 507:2

The kingdoms of this world which at the advent of Christ's Kingdom shall be utterly unfit for his service, and utterly out of harmony with the principles of righteousness. R2691:6

Immanuel will exercise divine power in the closing of the Gentile Times. R3467:3

"This honor have all his saints,--to execute the judgments written." (Psa. 149:9) R2975:5, 155:4*; B100; PD93/108

Revelation 2:28

The morning star -- The false church claimed infallibility, that she alone could interpret the Scriptures; but to the faithful is promised not only the light before the day, but the same proof of the time of night and of the dawning. R491:5*

They would have the "Morning Star" very early in the morning of the resurrection, while it is yet dark to the world at large. R91:1*

Revelation 2:29

He that hath an ear -- The ear of faith is the special favor of God to those of a meek, honest heart, desiring truth and righteousness. R4557:2

Churches -- All the churches of that age. HG98:2

Revelation 3

Revelation 3:1

Unto the angel -- The messenger through whom the Lord would especially instruct the Church. R3570:4

The Lord addressed his messengers through their representative elders, messengers or servants. R1893:2

See comments on Rev. 2:1

Church in Sardis -- Meaning, "that which remains," as if it signified a useless remnant, something out of which life or virtue has gone. Sardis includes a short interval just before the Reformation. R5993:3, 5992:3, 491:1,6*; HG97:2

The little remnant, after its almost complete extermination. HG97:4

The epoch of the general church symbolized by Sardis. R4870:3

The church just prior to the great Reformation of the sixteenth century, at a time when true piety had been almost exterminated. HG97:2

The line of demarcation of the fourth and fifth church, to the Reformation, is not clearly drawn, the change from the one to the other being a gradual work. HG97:3

He that hath -- He who held all the churches in his hand was their protector. HG98:3

Seven Spirits of God -- Representing perfection or completeness. R370:6, 529:4*

"And there were seven lamps of fire burning before the throne, which are the seven spirits of God." (Rev. 4:5) R529:4*

Channels through which God is about to manifest his power; the Church of the first-born. R529:4*

Livest, and art dead -- The nominal church during this period had the appearance of being what it was not, having a form of godliness without its power. R5993:3, 491:6*

The Sardian stone found near Sardis, is of a blood color sometimes covered with a thin layer of white; the look of purity but flesh-color below the surface. R491:6*

Revelation 3:2

Things which remain -- Sardis was the remains of the true Church which had been driven into the wilderness. R5993:3, 491:6*

Ready to die -- When persecution began to subside, her zeal also abated. Persecution has always developed the vigor of the Church. R5993:3, 491:6*
So long without the light, the Bible hardly ever seen, living almost entirely by tradition and memory of what the Christian church should be, no wonder they were almost spiritually dead. HG98:3

To a Church almost extinct, how comforting to feel he who held all the churches in his hand was their protection. HG98:3

I have not -- The Revised Version translates the remainder of this verse, "I have found no works of thine fulfilled before my God." R492:1*
Our Lord's own words for it that he is supervising and correcting his Church now. R2431:2; F402

Revelation 3:3

Remember therefore how -- God's Word is spiritual food. He who continually feasts upon it will grow vigorous, healthy and powerful. R492:1*

Hast received and heard -- He who neglects the spiritual food must be weak, sickly, a spiritual dwarf, powerless to discern "the signs of the times," ignorant of what the Lord is doing. R492:1*

And hold fast -- Their love and understanding of the Scriptures had evidently decreased. R492:1*

Repent -- In this church there was a wrong condition of things, a defilement. Trespasses committed had not been repented of and forgiveness sought from the Lord. R4870:3

Evidently the majority of the people of Sardis were of the Great Company class and needed to "be zealous and repent"; for they were not in a condition to receive the greatest blessing possible for them. R4870:5

If therefore -- If perchance, then, thou mayest not watch. (Rotherham) R492:1*

I will come -- Greek, heko, signifying "to have come, be here," not future tense, but present. R591:4*

I will have come. (Rotherham) R492:1*

On thee -- Many having the Sardis characteristics are living today. R5993:3, 492:1*

As a thief -- Stealthily, silently. R492:1*

Stealthy; only to those who are watching is the approach of a thief known. R5993:3, 492:1*

A fatal warning to such as have the Sardis characteristics. R5993:3, 492:1*

Seven times his coming is so described. R5993:3, 492:1*

Not know what hour -- Nowise mayest thou get to know during what kind of hour I shall have come upon thee. (Rotherham) R492:1*

Our Lord will be present, but invisible and unknown, except to the watchers, for some years after his arrival. His presence will be recognized by the sleepers only as the noise of spoiling the strong man's house gradually increases. R5993:3, 492:1*

Revelation 3:4

A few names -- A church almost extinct. HG98:3

A Little Flock who are pure all the way through. R492:4*

Evidently the majority in Sardis were of the Great Company class and needed to "be zealous and repent." (Rev. 3:19) R4870:5

Have not defiled -- The faithful overcomers watch and keep their garments clean. R4870:4

We are provided with a spot remover in the sacrifice of Christ. R2783:1, 4870:5

They have kept their garments unspotted from the world, not being willing to permit sin to contaminate them and separate them from the Lord.

R2161:1, 4870:4

They are so heartily opposed to sin and so earnest about keeping their garments unspotted that the Adversary gets no hold upon them. R4870:4

It would be a miracle if we should never come so closely in contact with evil as to spot our garment or wrinkle it. R2782:6

Christ's blood cleanses us from all unintentional blemishes, spots upon our garments. Whoever does not thus keep himself cleansed will not be an overcomer. (1 John 1:7) R4870:3

The Great Company do not keep their garments with sufficient care, and as a result they lose all the rewards promised the overcomers. R2161:2

Those who have not cared for their garments and kept them white must be put through severe experiences shown in symbol as washing their robes in a great tribulation. R2161:2

No one will gain the prize of the "high calling" (Phil. 3:14), if he does not keep his garments undefiled from the flesh. R4870:3

Their garments -- Christ's righteousness; when given to us is clean and white, representing the absolute purity and spotlessness of our Lord's holiness. R2160:1

It would be a miracle if we should never come so closely in contact with evil as to spot our garment or wrinkle it. R2782:6

They shall walk -- Those who follow the Lord in the narrow way of discipline and trial. R5500:1, 5459:4, 2258:4

Those who walked close to the Lord, who were not driven from him by any of the arts and wiles of the Adversary. R5459:4

These are the ones who are pleasing in the Lord's sight. R4616:1

With me in white -- In white robes. R2159:3

Spotless white. They are what they appear to be. R492:4*

How few of the consecrated have so great a love for purity, so great a desire to keep the garment unspotted from the world, and thereafter to guard the robe more zealously than ever. R2160:4

All who do not thus walk are unworthy and shall not be joint-heirs in his Kingdom. R2160:4

Not only white plumes, as knights of the Temple, but white raiment.

CR457:3, 361:2

They are worthy -- To be joint-heirs in the Kingdom. R1574:1

To share the throne and glory of the great overcomer, Jesus. R832:2, 4576:5

Although when drawn by the Father to the Son they were sinners, they are accounted worthy to share in the "resurrection of life," (John 5:29)

having already passed their judgment in the present life. R4493:3, 1854:5

We are to understand this worthiness and fitness is by God's grace, through Christ, a transformation work. NS745:2

Revelation 3:5

He that overcometh -- Who conquers in himself the spirit of the world.

R1113:4; C225

The love of self, of popularity, of worldly prosperity, as well as love for man-made creeds and theories. R4870:5

Those who have the spirit to overcome, the desire to overcome and who manifest righteousness of heart. R5377:2

Those who maintain a position in God's family. R5377:4

The elect class, who will receive the highest glory, honor and blessing from the Lord, must demonstrate their loyalty by overcoming. R5668:3

It is not sufficient that there shall be an overcoming of the will at the beginning of the Christian career, but subsequently there must be trials and testings endured, and these must be met in an overcoming manner.

R5668:3

Our overcoming consists not in perfect works, but in a perfect heart or will. R962:5

Only the faithful who take up their cross daily and follow Christ are worthy of him. R827:3

Implies that the individual has at the end of the trial, the end of the race-course, an overcoming degree of righteousness. R5669:1, 5377:2

Including the Great Company. They also overcome. R5105:2; Q309:1

We may not be sure whether or not the Great Company is included. R5377:5

The Great Company had their names written in the Lamb's book of life, but they were not overcomers in the truest sense. They did not stand faithful.

R5669:2

Not all the consecrated, probationary members shall be of the real Body of Christ, but only the overcomers. R962:4

They are "dead with him," (2 Tim. 2:11) and hence could not willingly practise sin. R4870:4

How few there be who have always lived up to this high standard. R4870:5

The same shall be -- Shall thus be clothed. R2159:6

In the resurrection. R2159:3

In white raiment -- Actual righteousness. R5377:3

The righteousness in the future state will be personal righteousness or holiness. In the resurrection, joint-heirs will be granted new, perfect, spiritual bodies, free from sin and impurity of every kind. R2159:3

The new body of actual purity. We shall "be clothed upon with our house which is from heaven." (2 Cor. 5:2) R5669:2

At the resurrection we shall receive that body of inherent purity, without blemish, without spot. R5669:3

The glorified Church is represented, not as taking off the robe of righteousness, but continuing to walk in white raiment, but our righteousness will be our own. R5377:3

"The fine linen is the righteousness of saints." (Rev. 19:8) R2159:6

Our garment will be changed from one of imputed perfection, our justification by faith, to that which represents actual perfection. R5669:2

Under the symbol of white raiment the Lord throughout his Word represents the righteousness of those whom the Lord accepts as his people. R2159:3

Referring to the present time, before passing the veil. Q522:4

Blot out his name -- The condition upon which it will not be blotted out will be faithfulness to the end of the race. R1458:4, 5669:4, 1908:3, 1699:3, 1264:2*, 827:3

But some names will be blotted out because of unfaithfulness, to be replaced by others. C364; R3212:1, 2570:2, 2540:5, 1893:4, 1113:4, 694:6

Erased from amongst the names of the "elect" Church. R2160:4

All were just as free to leave the church as to come into its gatherings; and when any "drew back" or proved unworthy, their names were "blotted out" in the heavenly records only. R1420:6

The names of the Great Company may remain, but those who go into the second death will surely have their names blotted out. R5669:5, 5377:5

Not one whose name is blotted out of the book of life shall stand; and not one whose name remains shall fall. R745:2

They are so heartily opposed to sin and so earnest about keeping their garments unspotted that the Adversary gets no hold upon them. R4870:4

Having been once cleansed and having our name written in the book of life is no guarantee that we shall always retain this position. R492:4*

The book of life -- A special book in which the names of all the overcomers of this Gospel age are written. R5377:4

The number of the elect, the family of God, the Bride class, the consecrated ones. F165; R5377:4

Represents the original divine purpose; God's intention to have a Church.
R2540:5

"Which is written in heaven." (Heb. 12:23) C222; HG315:6

The special book of life now open and appertaining to the Gospel age.
R5377:3

The Lord himself keeps the Church books--the records of our names and the individual accounts of each member. R1893:4, 1420:6, 694:3; Q537:3

When you made a full consecration to the Lord, your name was "written in heaven" in the "book of life." R694:3, 5669:3, 5532:3, 5377:4, 3212:1

The book of God's remembrance. Q537:3

The heavenly records. R1421:1

God's mind is the great book of life in which the names of the consecrated ones are all written in a special list as worthy of lasting life. R1264:2*

Including the Great Company. Q309:1

Signifying friendship, love and blessing. God keeps a permanent record of his friends, but no record of his enemies. NS69:1, 68:5

The Lord accepts and sets apart as holy, writing their names in the Lamb's book of life. F123

If faithful he will not blot our names out of the book of life and will not apportion our crowns to others. NS188:1

The names of those who have "made a covenant by sacrifice" are written in the book in advance of being actually tested. R5669:3

The Bible mentions two books of life--this one, appertaining to the present time, and the other to the Millennial age. (Rev. 20:12) R5377:3

Not upon earthly church rolls. HG315:6

Confess his name -- Those especially confessed, introduced, are the Bride class only. R5377:6

As his fellow overcomer and joint-heir. R942:2

The overcomers will have such characters that the Lord will not be ashamed of them. They have walked in his footsteps and have overcome. R5669:4

If we fail to overcome, then our names will not be confessed, but will be blotted out. Q522:4

Before my Father -- The overcomers will have such characters that the Lord will not be ashamed of them. R5669:4

Although we have been begotten of God, we have never been introduced to him, in his actual presence. R5377:5

Angels -- Messengers. R942:2

Revelation 3:6

He that hath an ear -- The ear of faith is the special favor of God to those of a meek, honest heart, desiring truth and righteousness. R4557:2

The Church's mission is not to the blind and deaf. R2414:4

To the angel -- When our Lord would revive his work and bring to an end the dark ages, he went into the stronghold of idolatry and called one out like Abraham. Luther came out of Rome. R492:4*

See comment on Rev. 2:1 Of the church -- We are not to think of the different epochs represented in the messages to the various churches as being exact periods, but are to understand each to be a general period, which laps over the one on the other. R5718:1

This stage of the church's history evidently began at the Reformation and there are many still living who possess the characteristics described.

R5993:4, 504:2*

The proud and boastful churches of today are persecuting and would fain "wipe out" those still living of the Philadelphian band. R504:5*

In Philadelphia -- Meaning "brotherly love." R5993:4; HG97:2

Love of a brother. R504:2*

Referring to the period from the Reformation until recent times. R5992:3, 491:1*

Refers to the Reformation Church from the days of Luther to the beginning of the "time of the end," or 1798. HG97:3

The period which closed somewhere about the time when the harvest of this age began. R5718:1

He that is true -- A time of separation of the true from the false, and a new start in the way of truth. R5993:4, 504:3*

The key of David -- The key of prophecy. B24

The keys were lent to Peter to open the doors to both Jew and Gentile. But Peter fell asleep and the Master holds the keys. He it is who shall unlock the gates of hades and death. No "successor of Peter" can. R504:2*

He it is who shall unlock the gates of death and shall free the long bound captives. R504:3*

The door into Christ's Kingdom will not be shut until the last member of the chosen and faithful Church has entered into its glory. R1525:2

He that openeth -- The great combination time-lock in the morning of the great day of restitution. B24

It was the Lord who opened the door into his Church, Peter being the agent chosen to do the work in his name. (Matt. 16:19) R1525:2

And shutteth -- When all the virgins have been tested by this present truth, the door of opportunity will be shut. It is the door to the marriage feast. C195, 225

No man openeth -- He who speaks has not given his prerogatives to fallible men. R504:3*

When the Reformation began, Rome claimed to be the only holy and true; to have the sure mercies of David, the throne of the kingdom of the Lord; with power to bind or loose; to open or shut the gates of heaven; to be the only synagogue; the only true recipient of the favor and love of God; to be the city of God; the only one having a right to bear his name.
R504:2*

Revelation 3:8

I know thy works -- There is considerable similarity between the work begun on Pentecost and that of Luther and his friends. R5993:4, 504:3*
A brief mention, but emphatic, and carries with it the encouragement which follows. R504:3*

An open door -- The Reformation was, in a sense, the beginning of a new era, a dawning of light where all had been darkness. It was the beginning of a mighty work. R5993:4, 504:3*

No man can shut it -- The door of the Reformation was opened, and no man could shut it. The Bible began to be put into the hands of the people, and that woman Jezebel could not stop it. HG98:4

No doubt all the powers of Satan and his human allies were exerted to close the door then opened. R5993:4, 504:3*

A little strength -- Compared with the enemies' mighty host. R5993:4, 504:3*

Hast kept my word -- The little band of Reformers knew they had the truth and fully trusted the Giver. R5993:4, 504:3*

Luther's declaration at the Diet at Worms, as he stood alone before the princes of Germany and the stern emperor Charles V., are worthy of a Paul. "Unless I can be convinced by Scriptures... Here I stand." R504:3*

Revelation 3:9

Synagogue of Satan -- Some of the ministers of Satan are thought to be ministers of God. R5259:1

Those belonging to antichrist. HG97:6

The true symbolic and appropriate name. R351:5*

Say they are Jews -- The opposers of the truth who claim to be the church of God. R504:5*

Spiritual Israelites. R2443:1, 5964:6

Those belonging to Christ. HG97:6

Our Lord recognized this same distinction between natural and true Israelites. R2443:1

Worship before thy feet -- Long before the end of that phase of the church, the synagogue of Satan had indeed been compelled to bow at the feet of the Reformation Church. HG98:4

I have loved thee -- Christ's special love for his Church, clearly distinguished from the world. R1254:5

Who does not know that the reformers down even to this side of the days of John Wesley were earnest and devoted servants of God? HG98:4

Revelation 3:10

Because thou hast kept -- Because of their faithfulness. R5651:5

Word of my patience -- The word of my endurance. (Rotherham) R504:6*

The patience which my Word inculcates. R2790:6

Patient endurance is the Lord's Word or teaching. R4910:4

The persistent, patient faith of the true saints of God. R5718:2

The period of faithfulness to the Lord's Word seems to have been one of some length. R5718:1

For a long time God's Word was lightly esteemed. The transition from a poor understanding to a better understanding of it came on gradually.

R5718:1

Greek, hupomone, cheerful, constant endurance. An element of character, and not merely a temporary condition of restraint of feeling or action.

R2791:1

Such a development of heart and character as manifests itself in an endurance of wrong or affliction with contentment, without rebellion of will, with full acquiescence in the divine wisdom and love. R2791:1

It is eminently proper that the Lord should demand of those who will be joint-heirs in the Kingdom, their loyalty to the extent of joyful willingness to suffer on behalf of right--to endure patiently. R2791:4

The work of the Miller movement was a sort of separation, as between those who kept the Word of God with patience and those who lost their faith in his Word. R5718:2

Because of a lack of knowledge of the divine plan there is a growing disposition toward impatience, non-endurance, amongst the professed followers of Christ. R2792:5

Whatever condition would be acceptable and pleasing to the Lord as respected the Philadelphia epoch would also be in respect to ourselves and all others of his people during this age. R2790:1

Will keep thee -- The Philadelphia Church, which had patiently passed through so severe a trial of their faith, would not be subjected to the later test. R5718:2

Some of the Church of that epoch would live over into the present period and would not be subjected to the special trials of this hour. Probably they would not be counted in as of the harvest period. R5718:5

Those who walk circumspectly in the footsteps of Jesus R4706:6

The faithful ones will be kept from the power of this great trial. R504:6*

Such as have learned the lessons of God's Word along the lines of moderation of thought, rest of heart in the Lord, patient waiting for his time and way, and assisted by the Vow to careful self-inspection and government daily. R5250:4

Those who worship the Lord in the beauty of holiness, and do not idolize either dead or living men or creeds. R4706:6

Those who have been disciplined, and have been wholly consecrated, and are in a crucified condition when this trial comes, will be far above its power. (See Psa. 91:7; Luke 21:34-36) R504:6*, 4208:3

Whoever is of the proper character will be aided of the Lord to victory. R3719:1

The Philadelphia church was not exempt from all trials and temptations. They had the common or general trials, but were spared the certain special trials to come upon the world. R2792:3

Though we of the Laodicean period are not spared from this hour of temptation, we have a counterbalancing blessing as a result of living in the time of our Lord's parousia. R5651:5, 2792:3

Hour of temptation -- Hour of trial. R504:6*

Testing. R2775:4

The closing time of the Gospel age. R5981:1, 5268:5, 2775:4, 2453:4

Not upon the Philadelphia church, but upon those who came after them; the Laodicean church. R5718:2, 4253:2, 4208:2

The special trials of the harvest time, due to the prevalence of Evolution theories, Higher Criticism, Christian Science, Hypnotism, New Thought, Mind Cures, and other works of darkness. R5098:2, 5718:3, 4264:1, 3909:5, 3760:5, 2836:1, 2792:6

Its trials and besetments will be various and some of them subtle; so deceptive that all not thoroughly rooted and grounded in the truth will be carried away from the sure foundation--the ransom. R2792:6

We have come to this "evil day" and the urgent message to us is "Put on the whole armor of God!" (Eph. 6:11) R5678:4, 5981:1, 5184:4

As our Lord's efforts for the apostles increased as they neared the special hour of their temptation, so we may be sure that it is also with respect to his Church today when the last members of the Body are approaching the crucial hour. R4167:5, 2793:4

The principal tests will be faith and love. R4475:4

A stumblingblock permitted for the testing of our faith. R3719:1

One of the final and most searching tests of the brethren, will be, love for the brethren. R2453:4

No doubt there are many and more severe trials just before us. Perhaps Satan will be granted yet more liberty to buffet us, as the night draws on. R1653:5

While the severest testings will follow the giving of life to the consolidated image, in the near future, the testing has already commenced with many. R2496:1

If ever patient endurance was necessary, it is necessary now. Only those possessing it will be able to stand in this evil day. R2792:4, 5651:5

"Every man's hand shall be against his neighbor," (Zech. 14:13)--is that condition to be expected in the Church? We are of the opinion that this is just what we are to expect. R4208:4

Are we of the very elect? The Lord will decide this matter according to the manner in which we decide when under the test. R4208:6

The evil day with which this age will end will have the severest trials ever known to God's people, and they will have the greatest need ever known for the armor of truth. R4253:1

We are down very close to the hour of temptation, when the evil one will be permitted to bring extraordinary trials to bear upon the world and the nominal church. R4253:3 We are expecting wonderful developments along all "occult" and "black art" and spiritist lines during the next few years.

R4163:5

Satan and the fallen angels are being granted extraordinary power to tempt God's people to cut loose from all moderation in a frenzy of error on one subject or another, with one person or another. R4514:6

A great intervention from fallen angels as they get more liberty and privileges, having been restrained for over 4,000 years. Q18

The fallen angels may be permitted to have a way that they can seemingly materialize. Q17

The Adversary will be wroth, and do all in his power to tempt and to try those who dwell on the face of the whole earth. NS563:6

The Scriptures assure us that the great hour of trial coming upon the whole world must begin with the Church. R4583:3

As the Lord gave the Adversary permission against Job, so Satan will gain special power and liberty in the hour of temptation. R4227:6, 4391:1

The Adversary's endeavor is to poison our minds, with impurity, anger, malice, envy, hatred and other works of the flesh. R4584:1 The powers of evil would make combativeness a chief virtue. R4803:5

Petty questions respecting authority and methods are causing distractions and contentions; it makes some bitter. R4899:1

This hour of temptation has not yet reached its greatest intensity, but we believe it is near. R5652:4

There never was a time when more strength of character and more courage were needed than just now. R5707:4

At no time in the Church's history has our great Adversary been so active in diverting attention from the truth with false doctrines and irrelevant questions as at present. R5970:1, 3199:1

Watch and pray lest ye enter into temptation is especially applicable. R2883:6

A crisis is upon the Bible students; and the sooner it is discerned, the more successfully it may be passed. It may mean divisions; though there was never a time when the rank and file of Bible students possessed such a spirit of meekness, gentleness, patience, love, intelligence, faith, joy, as now. R5981:2, 5982:3,5, 4899:1

Much of the difficulty and danger to the Church seems to lie at the door of the elders and deacons--not all, but a small minority of them. R5981:2

The V.D.M. questions formulated to help mark out such as have a reasonable knowledge of the divine Word, and whose ministries, therefore, it might be hoped would be profitable and not injurious. R5982:6

The spirit of selfishness and ambition which is already operating among the nations and driving them insanely to war for commercial supremacy, is the spirit which will increase more and more, and will involve everybody, everywhere. R5981:1

This spirit is seen in the strikes, etc., of our own land--everybody anxious to serve self, and willing to fight for honors, privileges, positions etc. R5981:1

The same selfish, ambitious spirit is leading on to anarchy in the Church. We foresee a time of trouble for the world upon this score, and a time of trouble also for the Church. R5981:6

It is inexcusable for the Church to continue under the domination of ambitious men (and sometimes ambitious women). This is the time to set the house of the Lord in order. R5981:6

Although a time of trial, it is to those who can discern the Lord's presence, etc., a precious and favored time correspondingly. R713:1, 3719:1

All who are putting their trust in him shall have opportunities for putting on the whole armor of God. R5184:4, 4253:1

We know that we are living in the evil day, in which this age will be merged into the new dispensation. R5268:5

Otherwise called the great "time of trouble," the characteristics of which are delineated in 2 Tim. 3:1-5. R2793:1; SM117:2

The soldiers of the cross must be more alert than ever. R4391:1

See 2 Thes. 2:9-12. R2793:2

Upon all the world -- The trials of this evil day do not end with the Church, though they begin there. R5718:4

The temptation, the trial, is going out amongst the people of every nation, especially to all parts of Christendom. R5718:4

We are already in it and it forms part of the testing of our endurance. R2792:3

In the severe experiences through which many have passed, they have been led to doubt the very existence of God. Not knowing God's great plan, people will lose all confidence in a supreme government. R5718:4

In this period of testing and shaking all church systems will go completely to pieces. Babylon will fall. R5718:4

Is now upon the world, and a still greater stress is coming. OV429:5; R4899:1, 3929:3

It means discontent, bitterness, evil-surmising, hatred, strife, robbery, murder. It is this spirit which is about to wreck society. R4899:1

Not only upon the world, but also upon the Church. R4253:1, 5981:1

In some respects this trial hour begins with us, the Church. R4899:1

The special trials begin with the leaders in the Church and progresses more and more amongst those who have been called out of darkness into God's marvelous light. R4473:6

It must not surprise us if the hour of temptation comes with special force against the consecrated, or "house of God." (1 Pet. 4:17) R4191:1, 4899:6, 4253:1, 2793:4

We cannot pray for the Lord not to permit the trials of faith and patient endurance; for the very elect must be a tried people. R2793:5

Peculiarly upon the very elect, and especially upon the elders. R3943:6

Deceiving if it were possible the "very elect." R4167:6

We perceive that it must be something in the air, as it were, that would affect everybody. The temptation is a thing spreading itself gradually in every direction. R5981:1

To try them -- "The fire shall try every man's work of what sort it is."

A stumbling stone is permitted for the testing of our faith and patience and loyalty. R3719:1

The doctrine of another way of salvation than by the cross of Christ is the trial that is to come upon the whole of so-called Christendom. R3826:2

When their pride is humbled, they will learn who were the chosen, and come and render obeisance at their feet. R504:6*

Revelation 3:11

I come quickly -- Be of good courage. It will not be long until I will come to receive you to myself. R5532:5

Numbers have believed for many years that we have been living in the "quickly" time; but failing to recognize the manner of his coming and the condition of his presence, they still look for Christ. R504:6*

Let those who cling to the fleshly, fear lest, while still looking for him in an earthly condition, he may come as the thief cometh, silently, and in a spiritual, unseen, body, and in his distribution of rewards, give the crown to another. R505:1*, 492:4*

Hold that fast -- "Be thou faithful unto death and I will give thee a crown of life." (Rev. 2:10) E490

Do not let slip from you the blessed relationship entered into when the Master made you acceptable through your covenant to be dead with him. R5532:5

All to which his word testifies as truth. R1206:2

There is an appropriateness in all of the Lord's counsel at any time. So we now may find instruction in this text. R5532:1

Which thou hast -- The crown which has been apportioned to you. F123, 165; Q306:4

This addresses not the world, not the nominal church, but the true Church. R5532:3

That no man take -- The crowns are limited, and there are some who will lose theirs to those more faithful. C225; F95; R5532:5, 5045:6, 4842:5, 3212:1, 3199:2, 1280:2, 952:6, 732:2, 694:6; NS482:1; Q151:T, 230:1

Do not allow it to pass to another. R5532:5

If any come short of their privileges and prove unworthy of the inheritance, there are others who will fill their places. R5970:1, 5045:6, 953:1

The fact that the consecrations of so many have been accepted since 1878 seems to imply that there has been a considerable vacancy in the list of the elect, and it is gradually filling up. R5168:6

From 1881 until the door shall fully close is a period of "sifting" as respects all who are already in divine favor. R4842:5, 5169:1, 5168:3, 2901:5; F95; Q150:6

Each one who now comes fully into the light of present truth implies that some other one once sealed and accepted of the Lord has failed to keep his covenant and is being rejected, and his crown given to another. R2307:4
After granted to you it still remains that if you are moved from the mark, pressed aside by difficulties, you are not standing the test, and will not be worthy of being an "overcomer." Q51:T

For every one who leaves the ransom and the light of present truth, another more earnest and zealous comes forward. R1746:4, 1860:6

Take the crowns of those who deny or ignore the precious blood of the covenant. R1860:6

We are not to waste sympathy upon those who depart. R1860:6

Professions of creeds not believed and a form of godliness without its power seem on every hand to tell us that many must be living hypocritically and subject, therefore, to divine judgment. R5850:6

The Lord will determine the matter of unworthiness for the crowns. R3212:1
As each is put out as unworthy, his former place becomes vacant and his crown released. R5168:6

The true Church is kept pure by the great Head of the Church, himself, blotting out the names of any who fall away. R694:6

Those who lose their crowns are numbered either among God's enemies or among those whom the Son will deliver, "so as by fire," (1 Cor. 3:15) in the "Great Company." R2942:5, 5533:1, 5168:6

"Every branch in me that beareth not fruit he taketh away. (John 15:2)
R732:2

The Church is to be composed of a definite, fixed number. R5532:5

Thy crown -- When once the Body of Christ is complete, there will be no additions; in the type, none could fill the office of High Priest if he had a superfluous finger or toe. T127

Every crown will have a crown wearer. CR461:1

The crown is yours now, by virtue of the arrangement with your Advocate, and your covenant of sacrifice. R5532:5

A crown was apportioned to each of us as soon as we made our covenant with God. CR460:6; R5532:5, 3212:1; Q306:4

Hold fast your crown. R5532:5

The "crown of life" is laid up for overcomers. R878:6

If any come short of their privileges and prove unworthy of the rich inheritance, there are others who will quickly fill their places. R3199:2

Revelation 3:12

Him that overcometh -- The more than conquerors, the Little Flock.

R4654:5

The high calling is everywhere classed as a reward of merit intended only for overcomers. R4493:3

Will I make a pillar -- Not simply an unimportant part, but a vital one, which cannot be removed while the structure exists. R5993:4, 505:1*

Jesus is the "master builder." R172:3

His faithful followers shall be living members and pillars. R2367:5, 1813:3

Exaltation in influence. R465:4*

During the Philadelphian period, especially the first and last phases, the faithful have either been obliged to come out of the nominal temple or have been cast out for their straight testimony. R5993:4, 505:1*

In the temple -- The true Church, The Christ. B209; C239; F128; T70

The true and eternal Temple. R5993:5, 505:1*

The Church glorified; the heavenly Jerusalem. R638:5*

Name of my God -- "The Lord knoweth them that are his," (2 Tim. 2:19) and in due time will fully and eternally acknowledge them. R5993:5, 505:1*

New Jerusalem -- The Kingdom of God. A296; R1352:5

The new spiritual government of the Millennial age. R2832:4, 2647:3

God will dwell in this glorious city or government; it will be his Temple.

R2832:5

A picture of the glorified Church--the Bride. R238:1*; E42

My new name -- The name of the glorified Christ. E42

As Jesus was our Lord's name and he became the Christ, the Messiah, so all who become members of his Body come under his new name, and are recognized of the Lord and may be recognized of each other as members of The Christ.

R3970:5

"This is the name wherewith she shall be called, The Righteousness of Jehovah." (Jer. 33:16) The name of the Bridegroom is given to his Bride.

During the Church's trial state their names were cast out as evil. They were branded as infidels and heretics. They were not recognized as citizens of the heavenly country, as Christians. R5993:5, 505:1*

Suggesting a change in Christ's official position and title in the coming age. R237:3*

"God did at first visit the Gentiles, to take out of them a people for his name." (Acts 15:14) R237:6*, 255:6, 4:5

Revelation 3:13

He that hath an ear -- The ear of faith is the special favor of God to those of a meek, honest heart, desiring truth and righteousness. R4557:2

Revelation 3:14

And unto the angel -- The appropriate message for each appropriate time or epoch in the Church's experience would be sent by the Lord through a particular star or messenger whom he would particularly commission as his representative. R3570:4, 2826:6

The same one referred to in Luke 12:42. R4211:6*

Of the church -- This message is particularly sent to those who profess his name, but deny the truth which he himself here presents. R5993:5, 2763:1; HG24:3

Babylon being cast off, her rapid decline and fall are vividly presented in verses 14 to 21. R177:1

Of the Laodiceans -- Meaning, "a tried or judged people." R5993:5, 505:2*
Meaning "justice for the people." R110:2

Means "judgment," and refers to the Church of the "time of the end," which includes the sounding of the seventh trumpet, with its advent proclamation, its time of trouble and day of wrath, the rewards, and destruction of those who destroy the earth. HG97:3

From the beginning of the nineteenth century to the setting up of the Kingdom of God, or glorification of the Church; and would appear to reach to the end of the sounding of the seventh trumpet. HG97:4

The church upon whom the hour of trial is coming; the one that is to be weighed in the balance and found wanting; the generation who are to stumble, as did the generation of Jews, who saw the first advent. HG98:5
The description shows that they were tried and found wanting. R5993:5, 505:2*

The last stage of the great nominal Gospel church of wheat and tares. D41

The nominal church of today. R5992:3, 491:1*

The church in the end of the Gospel age. R4870:2, 5651:5

This message is sent particularly to those who profess Christ's name, but deny the truth which he himself here presents. R5993:5

To every stage of the church, except the last, the Master has some word of commendation, but in this Laodicean stage he finds nothing to commend. R457:3*

This period in which we live has covered a considerable time, but is nearly ended now, we think. R5718:1, 1371:6; Q754:2

Corresponding to the time of Jewish phariseism and setting forth the state of the Protestant nations at the Lord's return. R1295:1*

The Amen -- This is the word so often translated "verily" in the gospels, and used by our Lord as a solemn prefix to some important announcement. R505:2

True witness -- Implying that the last stage of the gospel house is not a faithful witness for the truth. R718:4

The nominal churches have not been true witnesses and were given up by Jesus. R328:1*

The beginning -- "The only begotten." (John 1:18) R1609:3, 3474:3; 2773:3, 1247:2; NS438:2, 812:5
"The first-born of all creation." (Col. 1:15) E86; F18; R1278:3, 803:1; HG292:3, 622:6; SM483:2, 491:4, 659:T
Our Lord Jesus. R4928:6, 3474:3
Referring to his own origin. E87
The great Messiah. SM483:2
The very beginning of divine operation was the Logos. R5351:3, 5239:1
Born before all creation. R1005:3, 421:3; OV22:2
Before angels as well as before man. R1060:4
In every sense having the preeminence over all others. R1514:6, 1060:4; E87
He was sinless, perfect on the spirit plane--next to the Heavenly Father. R5078:2; Q377:2
The one who had known God's character longer, more fully and more intimately than any other being. R1125:3
Not only the Alpha (beginning) but the Omega (ending); not only the first, but the last of Jehovah's direct creation. R1904:5, 5064:1, 5992:6, 1599:1, 1514:6, 446:5*; PD54/67
His creation was more directly and specially the Father's work than that of any other creature or son of God--man or angel. R1005:3
Hence there was a time when God was alone. R5748:4, 5351:3; SM483:2
Before he became flesh Jesus had an existence. R4964:2, 1161:5, 315:6*; Q746:3
As Jehovah's agent he is the beginner and finisher of the wondrous plan. R1060:4
God did not continue to create things himself, but he told his "first-born" what to do and he did it. R1063:6*
Jehovah's Logos, his Only Begotten Son. R2408:5, 3861:5
The one first created. HG272:3
He was both the first created and the first or highest in rank of the angels. As Archangel, he was pre-eminent over all and the life-giver to "all creation." R1063:6*, 1060:4, 417:6, 164:2
He has been the agent of Jehovah in all that has since been done. R369:5
The only being directly created by Jehovah. R5748:1, 1060:4
The Lord became the "only begotten son of God" at the time of his creation. Q746:3
This message is sent particularly to those who profess Christ's name but deny the truth he here himself presents. R505:2*
The creation of God -- Our Lord Jesus was not only the beginning, but also the active agent of the Father in all his creative work. R4964:2, 5748:1, 5239:1, 4098:1, 2199:5
The superintendent of the various affairs connected with the creation of the earth and its inhabitants. R3921:4
The very first and chief of all God's creatures. R1642:1, 417:6, 280:1
Selected as the one who shall redeem humanity. R164:2, 417:6

In acknowledging the supremacy of the Father as his Creator, Jesus shows his opposition to the man-made dogma of the trinity. R718:4, 5993:5, 2773:3, 1904:5, 803:1, 802:6, 505:2*
Unitarians deny our Lord had an existence before his conception in Mary. R505:2*

Revelation 3:15

I know thy works -- The works are greater far than the faith. R177:1
The nominal church of today as our Lord sees her. R5993:5, 5992:3, 505:3*
Verses 15-17 are an exact pen picture of the last phase of the Gospel church. R457:2*

Neither cold -- Making no pretense whatever to be exponents of God's truth. R457:3*

In one sense she is not cold, having much zeal, but not according to knowledge. (Isa. 26:16-18) She has organized her armies, developed her machinery and multiplied her stores. R5993:5, 4811:6, 505:3*

But yet the enemy does not fall before her. She claims that her principal object is to convert sinners, to bring forth spiritual children. R5993:6, 505:3*

Nor hot -- Full of warm loving devotion to God. R457:2*

I would thou wert -- Jesus prefers open hostility to half-heartedness. R718:4

A man who is wishy-washy, who does not know what he is doing does not accomplish much of anything. The Lord likes men to be hot or cold. If after counting the cost of service you decide to serve mammon, selfishness, then try to be a millionaire. R5313:4

Revelation 3:16

So then -- In the spring of AD 1878, corresponding to AD 33 when nominal fleshly Israel was cast off. B235, 246; C180; R1971:3, 474:6, 304:2, 177:2, 133:6

In 1878 Babylon was formally rejected. R4842:3, 474:6, 328:1*, 304:2, 224:3, 124:3; Q150:5

Because thou -- The nominal church systems. B235, C167; R5911:6, 822:4*, 505:3*

Art lukewarm -- Indifferent in the service of the Lord; Christians in name only and not heart-devoted followers of the Lord. Q754:2; R822:4*
Some of God's children get cold and listless--the condition of which the Master declares his abhorrence. R1081:2, 1414:3

All persecution has ceased and the denominations are entertained by scholarly dissertations, fine oratory and flowery essays that lull the people to soft repose, and a general condition of apathy. OV418:2
The most undesirable and most dangerous condition. R457:2*

Neither for sin nor against sin. Failures in every sense of the word. God wants positive characters and others will not be approved or accepted.

R1985:1

Those who develop positive characters are overcomers. The undecided are far from having the spirit of the Kingdom class. R1653:1

Let us be on guard lest in any manner or to any degree such a lukewarmness should come over us. R4417:4

The love of many will cool. R710:6

Some of the Lord's servants in mystic Babylon are handicapped by reason of having received honors and robes, and are more or less inclined to hide and cover the message now due. HG519:4

Whoever is not rendering some service to our King in the present time has at the most the "lukewarm" love that is offensive to the Master. R2497:4

The missionary zeal of the church of Philadelphia, which at one time inflamed the whole mass of reformed Christianity, subsided into lukewarmness--phariseeism--the happy medium between impiety and pietism.

R1295:1*

Neither cold -- Making no pretensions whatever to be exponents of his truth. R457:3*

Nor hot -- Full of warm and loving devotion to God. R457:2*

I will spue thee -- "If God spared not the natural branches, take heed lest he also spare not thee." (Rom. 11:21) C180

God is calling his people out of Babylon, and the work is nearly completed. He has spewed the nominal systems out of his mouth. R5911:6, 349:1, 248:5, 171:6*

Wholly cast Laodicea into divine disfavor with scorn. R1295:4*, 4417:4

The nominal church incites disgust and is cast out as a hateful thing. R505:3*

Babylon is no longer the Lord's mouthpiece, but already spewed out of his mouth. R2554:4

There is no remedy, these systems must die. The disorder comes from within. R498:5

The fall of Babylon. (Rev. 18:2-4) R2982:1

Truth will come through other channels. R224:4

The Lord will not fight against Laodicea as against Pergamos and Thyatira. He will not judge her like Sardis; but he will wholly cast her off with scorn, and leave her to her wallowing in the mire. R1295:4*

Out of my mouth -- Rejected from being any longer the Lord's medium in communicating his message to the world. NS44:1

No longer a mouthpiece, nor in any degree recognized by him. B235; C167; R1577:6, 822:4*, 712:5, 505:3*, 474:6, 304:2, 224:4, 46:2; Q754:2

She has been his mouthpiece, and through her he has spoken to the world, but it shall be no longer. R177:2

To be no longer his mouthpiece forever. R1577:6

I will no longer use you to give expression to my word. R718:4

God has raised up a new mouthpiece. He sheds increasing light to a little flock who are willing to receive it and spread it abroad without fear.

R505:4*

All who would be the mouthpieces of the Lord, and speak forth his Word, should do so without stipulation of compensation. R2497:6

"The voice of the Bridegroom and the Bride shall be heard no more at all in thee." (Rev. 18:23) R177:2

Revelation 3:17

Because thou -- The nominal church in our day. A287; R4811:6, 2763:1, 177:4; HG413:6; NS635:1,4

The Lord addresses the nominal system of the present time. HG413:6
Christianity as a whole today. NS773:1

The Laodicean period of the church's history is upon us. The nominalism of our day is fully portrayed by our Lord's words. NS781:5

Isaiah 56:10, 11, describes the last stage of the Gospel house and evidently now fulfilling in the demoralized condition of the nominal church and in her culpable negligence and willful ignorance of the character of God, and the plan of redemption. R717:3, 718:4

I am rich -- This is our Lord's charge against the present state of the church, so rich in earthly advantages, so rich in spiritual privileges, so self-satisfied. R4417:4

They think they are rich in a spiritual sense. HG24:3

They look with pride upon their numbers, and count them by millions;

Laodiceans look upon their material prosperity, and their numbers of wealthy people and count their money and donations by millions. R2763:1, 4811:5, 1911:3

Having trust in armies, and navies, soldiers and guns, aeroplanes and dynamite. R4811:5

These are riches of the kind which our Lord declares are no evidence of his favor during the Gospel age. R2763:1

The only riches which God can recognize are those which he promised to, and bestows upon, his people in this present time. R2763:2

Nominal Christendom has been disposed to boast of its riches in scholarship, property, intelligence, influence, and high moral standing.

R4314:4

In supposed world-converting machinery as well as temporally prosperous. R1439:2

The one thing it has coveted is the healing power, and now it is grasping this, to the increase of its pride and boastfulness; bringing itself more fully under the powers of darkness. R4314:4, 712:6

While the nominal church is still seemingly in power, while the old glory still hangs about her; while it is still honorable and respectable to be a church member. R5993:6, 506:1*

The church of this present century has done many wonderful things--through Bible societies they have scattered the Word of God far and wide; but the earnest personal piety of the reformers has almost disappeared. HG98:5 I have all the spiritual light that exists in the world. "Much goods laid up for many years." (Luke 12:19) "I sit a queen, and am no widow, and shall see no sorrow." (Rev. 18:7) R505:4*; D41

The mission of The Christ is to preach the gospel to the meek, the poor in spirit. R2580:1

Increased with goods -- Spiritual as well as temporal, in their own estimation. R1440:6, 317:3

Never was there so much wealth invested in church buildings, equipments, choirs and ministers' salaries. R1911:3

Have need of nothing -- I have all the truth, I am Orthodox, Evangelical, I need nothing more. R718:5

In their own estimation, they are whole and need no physician. R1440:6

Not so much the vast moneyed wealth and the well organized machinery of the Church, as their satisfied feeling that they have truth enough; and that the first principles of the gospel of Christ are sufficient. HG98:6

The trump of God is sounding, and instead of the church being satisfied to go back to a few of the first principles for the sake of unity, they should be advancing in light and truth. HG98:6

Babylon boasts of fine churches, high steeples, eloquent preachers, wealthy members, splendid music, large salaries and worldly popularity. R177:2, 45:4; NS815:1

And knowest not -- "Return unto me and I will return unto you, saith the Lord of Hosts, but ye say, Wherein shall we return." (Mal. 3:7) R1440:6

The sickly hue which now appears is the smoke illuminated by the piercing rays from the handwriting "Mene, mene, tekel, upharsin." (Dan. 5:25-29) R5993:6, 505:4*; D42

She is not aware of her true condition. R718:5

Their fear of God is not the result of the study of his Word, but is taught by the precept of men. Alas, how pitiable this condition! Yet they are ignorant of it. R589:2

Thou art wretched -- Her misery and wretchedness is caused by her blindness and unnatural alliance with the world by which she is being overcome. R718:4

The serious charge against Christendom is that she has lost her God. R4811:5

Truly the nominal systems of today have become Babylon, confusion. R5911:6

Had the Reformation work been continued, Zion would not now be in her present deplorable condition. R183:5

If the heathen world were converted to the same measure of civilization and Christianity as is possessed by so-called Christendom, it would still be in a wretched plight. R4140:3

And poor -- Outwardly, the church is rich; spiritually she is poor. R4778:2; D41

Even though she spends millions annually upon her own literature and institutions. R1593:5

They are sick, full of wounds, and bruises and putrefying sores. R1440:6

Possessing little of the truth and the spirit of the truth. R2763:2

Lacking the true riches of divine grace, the gold of the divine nature. R2297:2

"My people perish for lack of knowledge," says the Lord. Yet the leaders of all denominations teach them to boast. R4613:3

And blind -- "Cannot see afar off." (2 Pet. 1:9) Cannot see the length and breadth and height and depth of the divine plan. Cannot see the high calling of the Church or restitution for the world. R2297:1

The god of this world hath blinded her perceptions of God's character and plan. R2763:2

Blind to the presence of the Lord. R1577:6, 505:5*

Stumbling over present truths. R177:2

A misapprehension of the true riches. HG414:1

She cannot recognize her own picture, condition and location. (Rev. 18:7) R505:4*

Theosophy--a theory appealing to a goodly number of the cultured and aesthetic--comes forward as one of the newest and most polished forms of religious thought. R5801:1, 1643:4

Nearly all of the nominal churches are full of the blind. They do not realize their condition nor come to the Master to receive sight. R2730:3

And naked -- The chief ones have lost faith in the ransom, the only covering of our nakedness which the filthy rags of our own righteousness will not cover. R2297:2

Stripped of the robe of Christ's righteousness by the clergy, in the name of Higher Criticism and Evolution. R2763:2, 2693:3, 2297:2, 2168:5

Thou art the wretched, and miserable, and poor, and blind, and naked one. (Var. Rend.) R718:4, 505:4*

Having scanty garments that scarce hide the shame of their nakedness. R591:3*

A condition of affairs in Christendom which was revealed at the World's Parliament of religions. D210

Revelation 3:18

I counsel thee -- Whenever a new trial is presented to the Christ, if he will but call to mind this precept of the Lord, it will stimulate courage, nerve to patient endurance and quicken to self-sacrifice. R1944:4

Who hath ears to hear should hear the counsel, and also heed the command now due. "Come out of her my people, that ye be not partakers of her sins, and that ye receive not of her plagues." (Rev. 18:4) R822:4*, 505:5*, 457:4*, 317:3, 310:4* During the 3-1/2 years from 1874 the proclamation of Jesus, the present Bridegroom, was made to the church as a whole. R224:3, 177:1

Buy of me -- At the cost of self-sacrifice. D42; R1944:2

This treasure can be purchased only at the cost of entire consecration or sacrifice of all that we have to Christ. R1944:2

At the cost of faithful and constant submission to the discipline of the Lord in the fiery trials which are necessary to consume our dross and refine our gold. R1944:2

At the expense of reputation and worldly interests. R457:4*; HG413:5

Some in Babylon are inclined to hide the message now due to her; they are bound by the chain of gold around their necks. R2498:1

Gold -- The true heavenly riches, the divine nature. D42; R2763:4, 1944:2; HG413:5

Divine truth. R1371:6

Divine treasure. R457:4*

The wisdom that cometh from above. R505:6*, 1656:3

Not until we lay hold upon the precious promises of joint-heirship with Christ, leading to self-sacrifice unto death, is there any of the gold of the divine nature in us. R1944:2

Tried -- It is necessary that the gold be cast into the crucible for refining; faithful and constant submission to the discipline of the Lord. R1944:2

The Lord's people cannot hope to be made meet for the glorious inheritance without the refining processes of fiery trial. R1944:3

How can it be tried without the crucible and the flame? How otherwise can the dross be eliminated? R1944:5

Let the dross be consumed, and see to it, beloved, that in the heat of the flame you remove not the "living sacrifice" from the altar. R1944:5

In every trial the Lord watches to see what influences control our actions, whether they be influences of present advantage or worldly policy, or personal friendship, etc., or whether we are controlled by the naked principles of truth and righteousness. R1944:5

Truth that will stand the test of all opposition. R310:4*

Fire -- Of experience. NS149:5

Of faith. R1295:4

White raiment -- The robe of Christ's imputed righteousness, which so many are now discarding. D42; R2763:4, 1656:3, 1295:4*, 505:6*, 457:4*; HG414:1; Q283:4

Garments of divine favor. NS149:5 Justification. HG413:5

That faith which justifies. R1371:6

Justification by an intelligent faith in Christ as the Redeemer. R457:4*

That the shame of her nakedness may not appear. R1295:4*

Anoint thine eyes -- Eyes of understanding. D611; R3185:3, 834:4, 653:3*

The true Church must keep pace with the advancing light, or be left in darkness. HG98:4

With eyesalve -- The eye-salve of meekness, consecration and submission to the divine will. B189; D42

The eye-salve of present truth must be bought by the individual who desires to use it; it cannot be bought by one for another. CR11:5; R5633:6, 1593:5, 834:4; NS400:4

The eye-salve of simplicity and sincerity, which will remove the films of prejudice and duplicity. R1372:1

The spirit of humility and teachableness. R457:4*

Humility. R653:3*

Of the pure Word of God. R1011:5

The Spirit's help in the understanding of the Word. R505:6*

To understand present privileges and labors. R3185:3

To see clearly the things that make for peace and the things to come--the riches of grace, the knowledge which has not entered into the heart of the natural man. HG413:6

See the glories of the situation of the true espoused of the Lord, that we may make our calling and election sure, as well as be burning and shining lights in the world. HG414:1

The little time between now and the great time of trouble is for selecting out the Lord's people, applying to them the eye-salve of truth and informing them where they must wash. R3521:4

The watchers amongst the Adventists as well as in other denominations are getting the eyes of their understanding opened by the anointing of the promised eye-salve. R2978:2

And not only are the prophetic evidences of the Lord's presence now more full, complete and numerous, but the signs of the times everywhere about us showing the harvest work in progress, are much more apparent and convincing to those whose eyes are anointed. C238

None seem to need it more than the nominal Christian churches. R1467:1, 1401:1

Illustrated in Jesus healing the blind man. (John 9:6) R3520:1, 1400:6

These words are not addressed to the world, but to the Lord's people, justified and consecrated. R1944:1, 2026:6

The cost of eye-salve is the spirit of self-sacrifice--the willingness to make a full consecration of ourselves to the Lord. CR11:5; NS400:4

He offers her a collyrium that she may open her eyes to her wretched state. R1295:4*

That thou mayest see -- And be healed. D42

The spiritually lame and blind may be blessed by the healing touch of the Lord. R1795:5

Revelation 3:19

As many as I love -- As many as are honest and at heart loyal to God. R1372:1

It is not an unusual thing for the Lord to permit trials and difficulties to come upon his faithful much more severe than those which fall to the lot of the world. SM271:T

That which the Spirit said through John we believe is the same Spirit which prompts us to repeat the same things, and though plain and straight, they are in love. R591:3*

I rebuke -- Reproach, disgrace, put to shame, dishonor. R505:6*

And chasten -- Train or educate like a child or youth. R505:6*

Here we have our Lord's own words for it that he is supervising and correcting his Church now. R2431:2; F402

See comments on Rev. 3:10--Hour of temptation.

Repent -- God speaks of the church as a whole, including in the appellation the baser adherents as well as the fully consecrated. R4653:3

God is not willing that any should perish, but that they should come to repentance. (2 Pet. 3:9) R198:5*

Revelation 3:20

Stand at the door -- He could not do this if he were not present. R506:1*

Unknown to the Laodicean church, our Lord has returned. He has stood at the door and knocked. R5993:6, 457:4*

It is not at the door of the sinner's heart the Lord stands knocking, but at the hearts of the true Israelites. R177:4

His second presence in glory and power, but invisible to men. SM499:4

And knock -- The presence and knock began in the fall of 1874, and still continues. R87:4

The Lord offers himself to the "Israelites indeed." NS781:5

By oral or printed evidence that the time prophecies are fulfilled. The servants are not to know in advance, but are to know at the time of arrival, and that without seeing. R3354:6, 5566:1, 4092:4

Knocking gently with the prophecies to arouse the virgins, but not to arouse the world. R2978:4

The Lord is speaking now to some of his faithful ones through his Word which tells us of his presence, through the signs which mark the incoming of the new dispensation. R4092:4

This knocking began in 1875 and still continues. "And ye yourselves like unto men that wait for their Lord, that when he cometh and knocketh they may open unto him immediately." (Luke 12:36) R3355:2, 87:4

Unheeded by the self-conscious, but really blind and miserable Laodicea. R1577:6

We have heard the knock and already on this side the veil we have entered in and are getting some of the food and refreshment. CR33:4

If any man -- In this great system so completely joined to the world and overcome by "the abundance of her delicacies." (Rev. 18:3) R457:4*

This is an individual matter now. R457:4*, 224:4, 177:4, 87:3; NS43:6, 633:1

This serving by the Master should be understood to be an individual work and not merely a collective service and feast. R3355:2, 2978:4, 224:4

The man who never hears the "knock" is evidently not counted worthy to hear it. But those who hear are just as evidently not compelled to respond and to accept the present, knocking King. R2978:4

Few will ever hear his voice when he stands at the door and knocks to invite his guests to the bridal supper. R1295:4*

Hear my voice -- Knock. R2983:5, 3355:2, 2978:4

Had the Laodicean church been awake, they would have heard. R5993:6, 506:1*

The prophecies which announce him as present. R177:4

Inaudible to natural ears, and heard only by the ears of the understanding, the hearing of faith. R2978:4

Our Lord clearly foretold that he would come as a thief; but he did not tell at what hour. R5993:6, 506:1*

Blessed are our eyes, that now they see, our ears that now they hear, that we may know Messiah. R5075:5

Only the pure in heart, the thoroughly sincere and honest, are in the position to hear. R3415:5

There is nothing here said about being deaf. If they had been awake they surely would have heard. R506:1*

Rap, rap, rap. Awake; let me come in. Do they hear? Canticles 5:3 gives the answer. R506:1*

And open the door -- Open his heart and receive the things in a consecrated attitude of mind. R5566:1

I will come in -- The Lord will gird himself as a servant and come forth and serve. R5566:1

If the hearing one open the door, I will come in. R2978:5

Sup with him -- Feed him with the heavenly food and give him strength for the trials and burnings of the day in which we are living. NS44:1

The feast of "meat in due season," "things new and old," which the Master promised to provide at that time. (Luke 12:42; Matt. 13:52) R2978:5, 515:4, 191:4, 177:5, 149:4, 126:4

This refers to what we enjoy in the present life. CR317:1

What a blessed feasting on the truth we have enjoyed. R177:4, 149:4

Given only to those living in the Laodicean period of the church. R149:4*

Revelation 3:21

To him -- To each one. R1946:2, 1284:1*

Of the sanctuary class. C190

The first-born of the heavenly family. R132:6

That overcometh -- That overcometh love of self, popularity, worldly prosperity, human theories and systems. D268; HG718:4

The world and its spirit. R2461:6, 2154:2

Rendering a cheerful and willing sacrifice, even unto death. R772:2*

This strife and victory belong, first of all, in our own hearts and minds, and secondarily, in battling against public evils. R5662:5, 5778:2, 5439:4
If we would reign with Christ, we must prove our worthiness by tests of loyalty to God, faith in his Word, zeal for the truth, of patient endurance, of reproach and persecution, even unto death. R4925:3 772:2*
Those who willingly endure tribulations for righteousness' sake. R4637:1, 5439:4

To overcome requires energy, force of character, perseverance and steadfast, patient endurance to the very end of the present life. R1719:3
The faithful and true under adverse influence. R5651:5, 4925:3; T89; OV184:7

Reaching the goal of perfect love. NS417:1

By being faithful in all stewardship of the mysteries of God. R1034:5
Not all believers, nor even the majority; but a Little Flock. R281:1; NS396:1; OV189:5

The grand outcome and fixity of the matter is in the future. R5393:6, 3570:3; A91

Before the marriage, Christ appears as King, and inspects the guests, and selects the overcomers. R343:5

"This is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith. R1719:2, 1720:4

"I do count all things but loss and dross that I may win Christ and be found in him," a member of the glorious body of the anointed one beyond the veil. HG230:1

With the flare up of Christianity's apparent prosperity all not joining in will be esteemed as enemies. R5063:3

Will I grant -- To give the reward after the terms have been complied with will not be grace, but justice. R5073:4

A blessed and inspiring promise to cheer the Bride. R5863:1; A222, 255; SM490:2

To sit with me -- There can be no Kingdom until the King comes. A288; HG663:3

All the Church will be associated with him in his great Messianic Kingdom. R4965:1, 5830:1, 4912:5, 1719:2, 269:4, 255:6, 4:4; CR491:1; HG663:3

To share his Kingdom honors and glorious work of uplifting humanity. SM143:1, 182:T; R5418:4, OV379:5, 418:3; HG368:6, 416:1, 438:3, 513:4; NS541:5, 677:4, 767:3

When his Kingdom shall be established in power and great glory. R1351:6
As kings and priests unto God. R1262:3

The reward promised to overcomers. HG341:2

The promise to the faithful sheep of this Gospel age. NS182:3, 767:3

All of this sanctified class shall be granted a share in his putting down sin, overthrowing death and raising up humanity. HG666:5

The soldiers of the cross who demonstrate their loyalty to their Master by sacrifice are assured that they will be highly exalted. NS455:3

"The Bride," the Lamb's wife, having attested her loyalty to principles of righteousness by suffering with her Master in the present time, she shall be counted worthy to share with him the honors of his throne. NS477:1; R4576:5, 623:6*; HG230:1

If they would thus suffer with him for righteousness' sake, their reward would be to sit with him in his throne. SM451:2

The Great Company will stand before the throne instead of sitting on the throne. SM362:T, 288:1

In my throne -- Christ reigns for the purpose of converting the world.

A91, 222; R3570:3, 858:2, 531:5; HG342:1

In his Millennial throne. R4084:4, 2647:3, 1771:3

The Messianic throne. Q192:2

In the regeneration. R623:6*

The Lord's faithful Little Flock, having received immortality and the divine nature, seated with Christ in his throne, shall reign a thousand years; uplifting all of the families of the earth. R5802:4, 255:6, 4:4; OV223:1; SM145:T

The saints shall judge the world, in conjunction with their Lord. R4084:4, 2765:3; HG149:3

The faithful overcomers of this age live and reign with Christ a thousand years. R1488:6, 531:6; A91; HG342:1

The Kingdom which is to fulfill all the gracious promises which God made to Abraham. R5170:6, 4453:2

The spiritual heavenly Kingdom inherited by Jesus and shared by his Bride. R269:4, 5608:6, 2732:5

As new creatures we shall, if faithful to the end of our course, be perfected in the first resurrection. R5550:5, 4784:1

To have power over the nations to break them. R155:4*; HG669:2

The promise of our glorified Lord. R1351:6

Share his glory and power. R332:2

Exaltation in position. R465:4*

The Kingdom is not merely a work of grace in the heart. A285

Those who in the midst of universal apathy have persevered in love to the end will receive the highest honor of all the faithful. R1295:4*

Christ does not always sit on the Father's throne; he has one of his own. He will occupy it, and those who have followed him shall share it with him. R506:4*

Even as I also -- "As the Father hath appointed unto me a kingdom, so I appoint also unto you a kingdom." (Luke 22:29) E38

This does not apply to the Great Company who overcome under compulsion. Those who overcome, even as he overcame, are the ones to be in the throne. Q289:4; R4871:4

And am set down -- Waiting for the time when he would make his own throne, establish the Millennial Kingdom. R5830:1, 506:4*

The reward for his faithfulness. OV307:2; R1360:4

Father in his throne -- The throne of the universe. NS202:1

The throne of universal dominion and glory and power. Highly exalted above even his pre-human condition. R1252:2*

A partaker of Jehovah's own divine nature. R1252:2*

The thousand years of the Millennial reign will constitute but a beginning of the exercise of the glory, honor and immortality of the new creation.

F69

Revelation 3:22

He that hath an ear -- A disposition to hearken to and heed the word of the Lord. D41

All in Babylon must come out of her, to be of the Bride class. R2513:4

The ear of faith is the special favor of God to those of a meek, honest heart, desiring truth and righteousness. R4557:2

Only a few, a Little Flock, can see the truth amid the surrounding darkness. R806:1

Revelation 4

Revelation 4:1

After this -- After the events of the preceding chapter. R528:6*

I looked -- John, personally, symbolizes the beloved disciples--the faithful in the Church who are alive at the time required by the events described. R528:3*

A door was opened -- The entrance to the third heaven. (2 Cor. 12:2) R529:2*

In heaven -- The third heaven, the new heavens, under the rule of Christ and his saints. R529:1*

Of a trumpet -- The seventh trumpet. R529:2*

Come up -- We are "caught up" in the spirit of our minds, and see spiritual things from an exalted position. R529:1*

Every new truth received and cherished has been a stepping-stone upward. R529:2*

Things which must be hereafter -- Rev. 20:11-15 is a recapitulation of the whole scene from this setting of the judgment. HG42:4

Revelation 4:2

A throne -- "The throne of God and of the Lamb." (Rev. 22:3) R156:3*

The throne of God is not a material one, but refers to his supreme authority and rulership. A92

Was set in heaven -- The throne of the heavenly city is established first. R156:3*

At the time of the establishment of the throne, or rather perhaps the exaltation of the Little Flock, or those who are ready for it. R156:6*
The throne is first established, and it becomes the nucleus around which the Church will gather, until all that fear God's name are made up as jewels for his Kingdom. R82:1*

And one sat -- This is the Father, the "Ancient of days." (Dan. 7:9)
R529:3*

Revelation 4:3

Like a jasper -- Supposed to mean a diamond, described as most precious and "clear as crystal" (Rev. 21:11; 22:1); being the most brilliant of all gems it fittingly symbolizes the glory of God. R529:3*

A sardine stone -- A red colored stone, symbolizing God's love. R529:3*

A rainbow -- The "token" of a covenant. (Gen. 9:12-17) R529:3*

An emerald -- Probably symbolizes freshness and vigor. R529:3*

Revelation 4:4

Four and twenty elders -- Personifications of the testimonies of twenty-four prophets who foretold things pertaining to the Kingdom of God. R529:4*

Being symbolic, they cannot be individual saints; nor the Church of the firstborn, as they appear under another symbol. R529:3*

In white raiment -- Denoting purity. R529:4*

Crowns of gold -- Symbolizing their divine authority. R529:4*

Revelation 4:5

The throne -- Of God. R529:4*

Lightnings -- See comments on Psalms 97:4. And thunderings -- Judgments. R168:5*

The thunderings and lightnings are making all the earth to tremble as did Israel at Mt. Sinai. (Exodus 19:1-25) R5900:1

And voices -- The mutterings of the tempest which is already gathering over the Church and the world. R529:4*

Lamps of fire -- Channels through which God is about to manifest his power. R529:4*

The Church of the first-born. R529:4*

The seven congregations (Rev. 1:20). The Church complete. The Little Flock. R170:2,4*

Like fire, as all spirit beings are described in Scripture. (Ezek. 1:13,14; Dan. 7:9) R2350:1

Which are the seven -- Perfect or complete. T47, 115; R529:4*

Revelation 4:6

Before the throne -- Authority, rulership. A92

Notice, these are before the throne--not on it, as in Rev. 15. This is likely the position referred to in Luke 20:36. R168:5*

The position of the Great Multitude who are protected from the plagues. (Rev. 7:9-15) R156:4*

Place of the Great Company. R81:6*

A sea -- The unfettered, irreligious masses of the people. R529:5*

Of glass -- The internal forces that control the irreligious masses of the people are as clear as crystal from the standpoint of those who are walking in the light. R529:5*

Like unto crystal -- It is not mingled with fire as in Rev. 15:2. R156:4*

Four beasts -- Cherubim or living ones. R529:5*

These strange creatures are first brought to view in Gen. 3:24, where they appear with flaming swords. They are next seen at each end of the Mercy Seat on the Ark. (Exod. 25:18) R529:5

Personifying the attributes of God--power, wisdom, justice and love. R529:6*

Revelation 4:8

Holy, holy, holy -- Thus it will be when the night of sin and death are past and the glorious Millennial morning shall have ushered into the world the light of the Sun of Righteousness, the knowledge of the glory of God shall fill the whole earth. (Isa. 6:3) NS463:2

Revelation 4:10

Fall down -- John hears the cherubim "give glory" (vs. 9), and immediately the twenty four elders fall down before him. R530:5

Revelation 4:11

Thou art worthy -- When we can hear the power, wisdom, justice, and love of God, then indeed his twenty four witnesses ring out his praise as never before. R530:5

Created all things -- All things, both good and evil, exist by his permission. R530:5*

That our Lord Jesus existed prior to his incarnation, and in a more exalted nature and condition, is clearly stated in Scripture. R1673:3

For thy pleasure -- The pleasure of dispensing his blessings and exercising the attributes of his glorious being. A118

He created them in his own likeness--with the same mental and moral attributes, so that he might have communion and fellowship with them as sons, and they with him as a Father. R1833:1

Ultimately. R530:5*

The great architect of the universe and author of all life, first counted the cost, and reckoned that all should culminate to his honor and glory.

R421:2, 338:1

God endowed his intelligent creature with this element of character (gratitude), being responsive to his own goodness, institutes a delightful fellowship with himself, which is the chief end of human existence. R2031:3

"I have created him for my glory." (Isa. 43:7) Man's true peace can be found only in harmony with his Creator. R1840:3

Revelation 5

Revelation 5:1

In the right hand -- The divine purpose was originally known only to Jehovah himself. HG461:5; SM495:2

In his own divine power and keeping. E36; SM488:2; OV7:1

Of him -- The Heavenly Father, the Ancient of Days, Jehovah. E36; R2208:5, 2156:1; SM488:2; OV7:1

Sat on the throne -- Of his glory, the heavenly throne. E36; R2208:5
Seat of divine power and authority for the universe, with angels as ministering spirits. SM488:2

A book -- The divine plan. E36; R4451:1, 3103:2, 2208:5; OV7:1

The book in this case seems symbolically not to represent the Bible, but the divine plan with its times and seasons. R5943:1, 4305:5

God had the plan, with its times and seasons, before the Bible was written. R5943:1, 4305:5

His plan for human redemption. R2156:1

The plan and purpose of God as written in the Law and the prophets.

R530:3* A scroll containing a record of all that is happening now, and all that will occur throughout the Millennial age. R4451:2

Written within -- Securely sealed and not intended for anyone to read. CR45:3

A part of the plan was written on the outside of the scroll, and a part was written on the inside. The things that were sealed were not proper to be understood by our Redeemer until he had received the all-power, after his resurrection. R5943:5

On the backside -- Or outside. 530:3*

Those in favor with God might read the outside. CR45:3

The writing on the outside is the bare promise of salvation through the seed of the woman. R3103:2

The writing on the outside is the promised redemption through the blood of Christ. R3103:3

Sealed -- Revealed to no one. R4451:1, 2208:5; SM488:2,3

Daniel tells us that the prophecies relating to the time of the end were closed up. (Dan. 12:4, 9) R5055:2

When Ezekiel and John are said to have received the scroll, or book, it was open (Rev. 10:2, Ezek. 2:10). But at the standpoint of this view, it had not yet been opened. R530:3*

God had caused the divine program to be symbolized in the Law and to some extent to be described by the prophets. But still it was a hidden mystery. SM488:2

With seven seals -- Nothing could be known of the wonderful scheme for human restitution until the Son of God had redeemed us from death. R3103:2
Representing the complete secrecy of the divine purposes. SM488:2, 495:2
The times and seasons were kept in the Father's own power. CR53:3; R4305:5
God's people could not know the date of the second advent until these were broken. D605

The seven seals belong to this time of trouble, the time in which Christ is conquering the nations, and are as yet in the future. HG81:2

Revelation 5:2

A strong angel -- Probably symbolizing the Law, which, from the time of its deliverance through Moses, had been proclaiming as unworthy all who sought to overcome by it. R530:3*

Who is worthy -- The scroll, representing the divine plan, was kept in God's own power until some one should be proved worthy to know it, and become its executor. E36, 37; SM489:T

The inquiry compassed the period of 4000 years, from the giving of the promise that the seed of the woman would bruise the serpent's head, to the resurrection of Jesus. R5943:4, 2156:1

Having consecrated to fulfill all things written in the book, Jesus was fully prepared for his every experience. Up to that time no one had been found who could open the book. R5065:1

To open the book -- To have committed to his care the execution of the great divine plan. R2208:5, 4451:2, 2156:1; CR53:2; OV7:1

To be granted the custody of the scroll. OV7:1

Our Lord was given all the knowledge in the divine plan. R5065:1

Loose the seals -- To know its mysteries. OV7:1

Revelation 5:3

In heaven -- Even our dear Redeemer in his previous condition was not entrusted with the scroll. R4641:1; CR95:2

Nor in earth -- Representing the condition of things prior to the first advent. R2156:1

Until our Lord was slain, until he had given his life as man's redemption price, there was no being in all the universe worthy to be the executor of the divine purpose. R4451:2

To look thereon -- Jehovah had already said to Abraham that he would bless the world, but had not revealed how it was to be done. R5054:6

And I -- Representing the faithful. R530:3*

Wept much -- Had great grief that the wise and gracious program of the Almighty must remain unfulfilled. OV7:1; R2208:6, 2156:1

It seemed to John too bad that God should have some great, wonderful purposes which might come to naught because no one was worthy to be the divine executor in respect to the plan. R4451:2

Because of the obscurity and want of knowledge in regard to the plan. R530:3*

No man was found worthy -- No one was to be the recipient of God's great plan, to reveal it. R5054:6

Even our Lord Jesus, prior to the finishing of his sacrifice, did not know all about the Father's plans, and times and seasons. (Mark 13:32) R2156:1

Revelation 5:5

One of the elders

Jacob, who made the prophecy on his death-bed when blessing his sons. R530:5*

Behold the Lion -- Symbolically referring to our Lord's strength and majesty. R4114:1

Our Lord Jesus, the strong one, the highly exalted spiritual creature, the Lord of glory. B86; R5548:6, 5055:1, 4750:5, 3103:2

Pope Leo XIII applied this title to himself. B316

Of the tribe -- From the tribe. B86

The Root -- He did not have this title in his position as Logos. It was as the Son of Mary that he was the Lion of the Tribe of Judah, the Root of David. R5943:5

Life giver and Father to all the race of Adam. E144

The life giver, the restorer. R809:5

Hath prevailed -- Hath overcome, so as to be accepted and declared worthy. R2156:1, 2208:6; SM490:1

By this we understand that he was not born with the right to open the book but that he acquired it. R5055:1

Although his prevailing would not be completed until Calvary, the surrender of his will was complete at his consecration, and it was accepted as the sacrifice of his all. R4641:2

By his death he redeemed a condemned world of mankind, and merited the Father's confidence that to him might be entrusted every feature of the divine program. R4451:3

To open the book -- It is not due for any believers to understand any of the deep things written in that book until they have come to the place of consecration. R5055:1

Loose the seven seals -- Carry out and make manifest the grand designs of infinite love. R3103:2

And display it to view. R3103:2

Since his glorification the Lamb has been braking the seven seals and thus opening the divine plans before men and angels. R2156:4

Revelation 5:6

As it had been slain -- Speaking of our Lord Jesus during the 3-1/2 years, beginning at the time of his consecration. R5943:5, 5080:6; SM490:1
Jesus was not this newly-slain Lamb at his death when he had finished his course, but at his consecration when he began his course. R5080:6

Our Lord could not know the completeness of the divine plan until he had demonstrated his worthiness by obedience unto death. R3716:3, 2156:1

It was the Lord's plan that our dear Redeemer should be tried, tested and proven worthy. It was the Father's plan that our Lord fulfilled in his obedience even unto death, even the death of the cross. SM782:T, 489:2

The giving of our Lord's life as man's redemption price. R4451:2

Having seven horns -- Perfect or complete power. T42, 47, 115

Seven eyes -- The seven channels through which God is about to manifest his power--the Church of the first-born. R529:4*

Revelation 5:7

And took the book -- The scroll of divine purpose was still sealed and in the hand of Jehovah, up to the time that the Lamb had been slain. R4437:6, 3716:3

Then to him was the scroll or book of the divine plan entrusted in its every detail. R3716:3

He received the divine plan into his care, with the authority and power to execute all its provisions. R5080:6, 4451:3, 2156:2; HG462:1

"God also highly exalted him." (Phil 2:7-9) He commissioned him to execute all the divine purposes; and to him he handed over the scroll with the privilege of opening its seals and comprehending its message. SM489:2

The time when the scroll was delivered to him, was the time of his consecration. R5080:6, 4641:2; HG461:6

The divine plan as a whole was made known to him, after his resurrection. R5943:5

After his demonstration of faithfulness at Calvary and his ascension to glory. R4305:5

Revelation 5:8

And when -- After Christ's resurrection and ascension to the right hand of the Father. R2156:2, 5943:5, 4305:5; OV7:2

He had taken the book -- Having already fulfilled an important part of the plan by redeeming the world with his own precious blood. R2208:6

Before the Lamb -- "At the name of Jesus every knee should bow, of things in heaven and things in earth." (Phil. 2:10) R2209:1

"That all men should honor the Son, even as they honor the Father." (John 5:23) R2209:1

Full of odours -- The incense of old, which typified the prayers of the saints, was composed of a rare mixture of spices, giving forth a peculiarly sweet odor. R5692:5

Prayers of saints -- The prayers of God's people rise before him as a sweet perfume. R5692:5

And they sung -- The united voice of the heavenly host. OV7:2

This song is sung before the first seal is opened, after Matt. 24:14 is fulfilled. HG81:2,3

Thou art worthy -- When he had made his consecration as the Lamb of God, giving up and devoting his life without reserve to do the Father's will.

R4641:1; CR95:2

To take the book -- At the moment of our Lord's consecration and death as the Lamb, the moment of his begetting and anointing, the scroll was handed to him by the Great Eternal One. R4641:2; CR95:3

Not until he had passed the last test, had endured "to the end," did he receive the wonderful scroll which "the angels desired to look into." (1 Pet. 1:12) R530:6*

After his resurrection and ascension the scroll was given into his hands to be opened. R5943:5

To open the seals -- Not until Jesus appeared and received the anointing of the holy Spirit at his baptism did the divine plan begin to be unfolded. HG461:5,6

To him was given the scroll with full authority to read, to understand and to fulfill its glorious prophecies, which specially related to the blessing of our race. HG462:1

Ten days after our Lord ascended, the holy Spirit was given, which at once began to unfold the truth to the Church. R530:6*

The opening of the seals has progressed during all the Gospel age. R5943:6
Thus opening the divine plan before men and angels--the mystery of God is about finished. R2156:4; PD92/107

To disclose one after another of the various features connected with the divine purpose. When the last seal was broken, the "mystery of God" (Rev. 10:7) was fully disclosed. R2209:1, 2156:4; PD92/107

And hast redeemed -- Greek, agorazo; acquired at the forum. E429, 446, 447

The work of redemption by one Savior anointed of Jehovah. R866:5

Us -- Oldest manuscript, with evident propriety, omits this word since the angels were not redeemed. R2156:2

By thy blood -- He "washed us from our sins in his own blood." (Rev. 1:5) E446; R652:6

His blood became the basis for the forgiveness of our sins, made peace for us, opened up the way to reconciliation. "It is the blood [sacrificed life] that maketh atonement for the soul." (Lev. 17:11) R1230:3

By his death--by the sacrifice or loss of his life. R1230:4

His blood bought us; purchased us; justified us; washed us; sanctified us; saves us; (1 Pet. 1:2; Acts 20:28; Rom. 5:9; Rev. 1:5; Heb. 13:12; Acts 4:12. R416:6*

Revelation 5:10

And hast made us -- Made them, the Body of Christ, the Royal Priesthood. HG520:6; D425, 618; E478; R4974:2, 530:6*, 184:4

The Kingdom is to be given to the Seed of Abraham. Christ and his elect Church, his Bride, are to constitute the kings and priests. R4140:3

The Little Flock selected under the trying ordeal of sacrifice during the Gospel age to become spiritual beings. R443:1; A60

Whose experience with and victory over sin will well fit and prepare them to be patient and helpful toward the world. E478

Those who share in the first resurrection. PD39/50; Q518:6; SM140:1

Kings and priests -- This double office was typified by Melchisedec, who was a priest upon a throne. PD39/50; T26; R4140:3, 184:4; SM140:1

The Christ of glory, Jesus the Head and the Church the Body, will be the enthroned Priest. SM600:1

These shall be priests to teach, as well as kings to reign. R331:5, 545:4, 200:1

As kings they will rule the world in righteousness, enforcing and establishing order and justice and truth; as priests they will teach the people. HG299:4 As joint-heirs with Jesus Christ, our Lord, in the Kingdom and glory of which Solomon's was but a type. R2060:4

Christ is selecting his Church to be his co-workers as the "Royal Priesthood" to do the work of instructing and judging. R3637:2, 2247:3; D618; HG33:1,2

"A Royal Priesthood"--a reigning priesthood. (1 Peter 2:9) R2935:5, 12:1*; HG51:6; PD39/50

This "peculiar people," this "holy kingdom" or nation all of whom are "royal" priests, has a great work to do when established in the Kingdom power. R2128:6, 2276:3

The entire company of Jehovah's anointed--The Christ--will be kings, and their head and captain, Jesus, is "King of kings." (Rev. 19:16) R354:5; SM140:1, 600:1

The work of a priest is one of intercession and instruction in righteousness and logically implies subjects. R404:3*, 12:2* A kingdom and priesthood. R3103:2

"The kingdom and dominion, and the greatness of the kingdom under the whole heaven, shall be given to the people of the saints of the most High." (Dan. 7:27) HG27:6

And we -- "And they." CR21:4; R530:6*

Reign on the earth -- Over the world of mankind, who will have been awakened from the tomb. Q819:T

The "called, chosen and faithful" ones are to be joint-heirs with Christ; they are to reign over the earth for a thousand years. R1493:5

"And shall reign with him a thousand years." (Rev. 20:6) C128; D625; R2304:1, 1351:6

Christ and the Church will reign as kings and priests to bless all the families of the earth. R3348:5, 2833:5, 2416:4, 1771:3

The promised Seed of Abraham is to have entrusted to it the great work of blessing all the families of the earth. R2128:6, 2276:3, 1493:5; HG513:5

When the election of the spiritual seed of Abraham shall be accomplished, this Gospel age will end. Then will begin the Messianic age, in which Christ and the Church shall reign in spirit power. PD58/70

Who shall reign on the earth during the Millennial age, to bind Satan's power and to open the eyes of those whom he has so long blinded and deceived. R1771:3

Doing a good and powerful work on the spirit plane. R5182:1, 2128:6

The kings (saints) shall bring the glory and honor of themselves into the city. (Rev. 21:24) R334:2

In spirit power. PD58/70

The elect enter into these joys and blessings, not at death, but in the resurrection. CR21:4

The peace and joy and blessing which the world needs and craves cannot come until the elect Church, whose Head is Christ Jesus, shall be given the Kingdom, the dominion of earth. R2520:6

This reigning is positively affirmed to be after the resurrection. (Rev. 20:4) HG13:6

With The Christ will be various agencies. The Great Company will undoubtedly be associated with them. Then there will be earthly agents, the faithful Ancient Worthies. R5182:1

Voice of many angels -- By the Father's own arrangement, the proclamation was made throughout the heavenly hosts. E37

The acclaim of the heavenly ones. R5847:2

Evidently the angels and all other spirit beings, of which there are myriads upon myriads, are interested observers of the events transpiring upon this little globe of ours. Q744:1

Revelation 5:12

Worthy is the Lamb -- God decided to prove or test his well-beloved Son in a manner that would prove to all his intelligent creatures, what they all now recognize in the new song. R3280:6

By faithfulness he perfected himself on the divine plane--that is, he proved himself worthy according to the Covenant. R5090:5, 5067:3

Because of his fidelity to the Father and to the principles of the Father's government. E120

Because of his humility and obedience unto death. E394, 395, 37; R5943:5, 4970:2; OV7:2

He was received into glory, the divine nature. R5847:2

It is now God's will that all "should honor the Son even as they honor the Father." (John 5:23) R2156:2

From that time on, every feature of the divine program would be under his supervision. R4451:3

He had only begun to execute the divine purpose in the organization of his Church. OV7:3

Revelation 5:13

And every creature -- At the close of the Messianic reign for the restoration of the Adamic race, all willful sinners shall have been destroyed. R5927:6, 5183:2, 5116:6, 5048:3; NS272:5, 523:5

Ultimately, when the plans of the great potter shall be fully accomplished, every creature in heaven and earth shall be heard ascribing praise. SM713:1

With all sin eliminated, all imperfections gone and all the willfully wicked destroyed, then will God's will be done on earth, even as it is done in heaven. SM427:1; NS519:5; OV271:3

Ultimately all evil shall be destroyed. R5211:5, 4538:4; NS523:5

Ultimately the Lord will have a clean universe. SM147:1, 427:1; R4538:4; NS645:6; PD96/110

As the tidings that the Church has finished her course spread to earth through the established earthly phase of the Kingdom, all creatures in heaven and earth will be rejoicing together. R1821:3; OV271:3

Every member of Adam's race shall, through Christ, be granted a full opportunity for return to the relationship of the sons of God. R3836:5

Eventually all shall learn righteousness and hate iniquity. SM486:1

Thus the Lord will gather together all the faithful, both in heaven and in earth, under the headship of Christ. R5058:5

In heaven -- The Church, the Great Company, the angels, the cherubim and seraphim. SM231:2

Any sorrows that come to us may be overcome; so that eventually we may be of the mighty host giving praise and honor to him. NS721:1

Under the earth -- Those now in the tomb. SM231:2

Blessing and honour -- So glorious will be the condition of humanity at the close of Messiah's Kingdom that nothing ever dreamed will compare with it. Dvii

"The earth shall be full of the knowledge of the Lord, as the waters cover the sea. R3848:5

When God's will is done on earth as it is done in heaven. HG149:1; NS523:5

All intelligent creatures will perceive and exclaim from the heart his goodness and worthiness of all praise. R5429:3, 5183:2, 5116:6

No discordant note shall be heard throughout the universe of God. R3836:5

Nothing shall mar the harmony of the universe. NS645:6

Every knee shall bow and every tongue confess (Phil. 2:10, 11), and his Kingdom shall be without an opponent "from the river unto the ends of the earth." (Psa. 72:8) R5183:2, 3848:5; SM713:1; HG244:1, 595:6; NS766:6

Be unto him -- Jehovah. E38; R1211:1*

No wonder indeed that there should be a jubilation in heaven and in earth when all of Jehovah's intelligent creatures shall thus behold the lengths, heights and breadths and depths, not only of God's love, but also of his justice and wisdom and power. F51

"Just and true are thy ways, thou King of the ages." (Rev. 15:3, margin) F52

It is appropriate that those of us who have been blessed with the opening of the eyes of our understanding should begin our rejoicing and praising God at once. NS528:4

Upon the throne -- Of the universe. E38

And unto the Lamb -- Thenceforth all men shall honor the exalted Son even as they honor the Father who highly exalted him. (John 5:23) E38

Both the Father and the Son are recognized, the Father, as always, being given the first place in praise and honor. E38

For ever and ever -- Thus the time will come when "There shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain; for the former things are passed away. And he that sat upon the throne said, Behold, I make all things new." (Rev. 21:4-5) NS645:6, 646:1, 519:5, 523:5; OV192:3; PD96/110; SM786:1

Four beasts -- See comments on Rev. 4:6, 8.

Four and twenty elders -- See comments on Rev. 4:4

Revelation 6

Revelation 6:1

The Lamb -- The newly slain Lamb. R5080:6

Four beasts -- See comments on Rev. 4:6, 8.

Revelation 6:2

Behold, a white horse -- The events of the opening of the first seal, are identical with those of Rev. 19 which occur after the marriage of the Lamb. HG81:5

Revelation 6:8

And Hell -- Greek, hades, oblivion. E378; R2600:4

Symbol of destruction or the grave. R2600:4

Revelation 6:9

Souls of them -- The martyrs of the past. R5462:6, 4015:6

And they cried -- A symbolical picture of justice, long deferred, crying for vengeance. R4036:5, 5462:6, 5240:2,4, 4651:6, 4015:6

The fears and sufferings of the Lord's people and their trials and difficulties ascend to the Lord in prayer and call to divine justice for vengeance, recompense, punishments, without any word from his people to this effect. R4347:2

How long -- Reason assures that it cannot be the divine purpose to forever permit the victory of sin and death. SM185:T

O Lord -- Greek, despotes, sovereign or autocrat. E70

Avenge our blood -- The Lord has an accurate system of bookkeeping. Q299:T

There are many sins, many injustices of the past, as well of the present, which are still unaccounted for to justice. R4428:5

There is a great back-account of retribution owing to the rest of the world which will be fully squared in the awful trouble with which this age will end. R4273:6; 5874:3,4; NS486:2

All the remaining accounts of the world will be squared during the great time of trouble just before us. R5874:4, 5462:6, 4273:6; OV346:1

There seems to be a special charge of justice against whoever is culpable, or responsible for the death or persecution of the saints. R4651:6, 4652:1

That Day of Vengeance is about at the door of Christendom. R5240:2

Justice is merely waiting for the full number of those persecuted for righteousness' sake to be completed, and then the punishment will come. R4428:5

On them -- The living generation will in a measure become responsible for the transgressions of the past as well as for their own, and be permitted to fill up a measure of the retribution represented in this time of trouble and its seven last plagues. NS486:2

All the blood of God's holy ones, from the beginning of this Gospel age, will be required of the present generation. R4015:6, 5462:6

For willful sin there will be satisfaction rendered through the great time of trouble. R5240:2; Q299:T

It seems that the legal expiation of these sins must be accomplished by the scapegoat class. R5463:2, 5874:2,3

The Great Company, failing to sacrifice during the acceptable time, will be permitted to share a considerable measure of that trouble coming upon the world. R4428:5, 4016:4

The cry of justice will be satisfied in connection with the death of these innocent persons of the Great Company class in the time of trouble. In this way the vengeance will be met. R4652:5,2

They will be permitted to share in this time of trouble to the extent of laying down their lives, because if they do not die, they cannot have a share in the spiritual blessings. Q299:T

Revelation 6:11

Rest yet for a little season -- The answer was not that their blood should never be avenged, but that a time would intervene because others, their brethren, would suffer in like manner. NS486:2

Wait a little season, the vengeance will come. OV346:2

Should be killed -- The faithful minister of the Gospel is persecuted. Thus are the prophets prohibited, "killed" and "beheaded" who do not shun to declare the truth, the whole counsel of God, today. R2282:4

Should be fulfilled -- When all of this class shall have experienced their share of the sufferings of Christ. OV346:2

A great earthquake -- Revolution. R2334:4; A336; D528

And the sun -- Symbolically, the Gospel light, the truth, and thus Christ Jesus. D590

Became black -- Literally in the dark day of May 19, 1780, which extended over 320,000 square miles. D587

Symbolically, by denial that we were bought with the precious blood, and by substituting the theory of Evolution. D592

And the moon -- Symbolically, the light of the Mosaic Law. D590

Became as blood -- By claims that the typical sacrifices were bloody and barbaric. D592

Revelation 6:13

And the stars -- Symbolically, the false stars, wandering stars, vainly aspiring to be considered of equal authority with the "Twelve stars," (Rev. 12:1), the inspired apostles. D591, 593

Fell unto the earth -- Literally, the meteoric shower of Nov. 13, 1833, covering 11 million square miles. D588
Symbolically, the false stars make a great display in coming down from spiritual things to the Christian-citizenship-politics level. D595
Untimely figs -- The first, crude, untimely growth. R4844:1*

Revelation 6:14

And the heaven -- Religious societies. R1705:5
The nominal church, the ecclesiastical heavens. D552; A318; R1947:6, 1766:2; HG316:5
The powers of the heavens (ecclesiastical powers) are being shaken. (Matt. 24:29) R1947:6

Certainly not the literal heavens, separated by millions of miles of space in which there is nothing to roll away. B169

Departed as a scroll -- Not in one great roll, but in two separate divisions or parts. R1705:5; D552

Protestantism and Catholicism will never unite in one system. The coming Protestant federation will be distinct from Catholicism and that, while treating each other with respect, the two will really be in opposition as the two sides of a scroll down to the time of their mutual and sudden collapse. (Isa. 34:4) R2061:6, 1705:5

The coming union will not be an amalgamation but a federation. R1766:5
The heavens of ecclesiasticism rolling together, uniting for mutual protection or strength, will eventually be destroyed by the social conflagration of that great Day of the Lord. NS200:2

Is rolled together -- The way is preparing for the rolling together of the heaven--Protestant and Roman Catholic--in the near future. (Matt. 24:29; Isa. 34:4; Volume IV, Chapter 12) R2309:4; 2047:1

As their confusion increases, Catholicism and Protestantism roll together for self-protection. D258; R5349:4

They believe that in union there is strength. R1947:6

The extremes of the ecclesiastical heavens, Catholic and Protestant, will be drawn together. R4698:6

Papacy and Protestantism, as the two distinct ends of the scroll are even now rapidly approaching each other. D552, 551, 258, 267; R1766:2, 1705:5

All not disposed to unite with either side of the scroll are likely to be classed as "infidels," not only by unionists, but also by the worldly.
R1766:2

And every mountain -- Kingdom. A318; D45; R511:4, 716:2*, 268:6
Republican government. R511:3, 716:2*; D45

Were moved -- The time of falling of kingdoms. R268:6, 26:6

Revelation 6:15

Hid themselves -- The powers of earth will seek to make alliances with one another for self-protection, and to hide themselves from the sure-coming storm. R592:6; SM738:1

Dens and in the rocks -- The fortresses of society--insurance companies, beneficial societies, Free Masonry, Odd Fellowship, Trade Unions, Guilds, Trusts, and all societies secular and ecclesiastical. B139; D45; R621:5, 268:6, 26:3; SM738:1

Secret orders. HG612:1; SM738:1

By seeking protection and cover of social organizations. NS200:2

Of the mountains -- Governments of earth. B139; R716:2*, 621:5, 511:4; HG612:1

To the mountains -- Kingdoms. A318; D45; R1963:4, 592:6, 268:6, 26:3

And rocks -- The rocks of society are its social organizations, each of which seeks to protect its own membership. R5577:3, 592:6, 268:6; B139; CR291:4

Fall on us -- Greek, epi, over or about, to cover and protect us, not to destroy us. The common view that wicked men will get enough faith to pray for mountains to fall is absurd. B139; R5577:3, 268:6, 26:3; SM738:1

The tendency of all as the storm approaches will be to seek cover, protection, under the great mountains (kingdoms) and in the rocks of society (beneficial orders). R1963:4

The great, the rich and no less the poor are already seeking shelter from the darkening storm of trouble which all see is gathering. B139

To hide them from the wrath of the Lamb. HG83:2

Revelation 6:17

Day of his wrath -- A period of time during which the Gospel and Millennial ages lap. R409:1, 25:3

The way in which the change of dispensation will be effected. R1814:2

A natural consequence of the transfer of authority and rulership from the devil to Christ. R409:3, 592:2 The great day of trouble coming--"the Day of Jehovah." R2935:6

"The day of the Lord is darkness and not light." (Amos 5:18) R592:2 "And the nations were angry, and thy wrath is come." (Rev. 11:18) R592:2

"I will overthrow the throne of kingdoms, and I will destroy the strength of the kingdoms of the heathen (nations)." (Hag. 2:22) R592:2

"A day of trouble and distress, a day of wasteness and desolation, a day of darkness and gloominess." (Zeph. 1:15) R409:4

In which the world will have an illustration of its own money-mad condition. R4522:2

God's wrath will continue to its completion-- anarchy. R5567:4

Is come -- Those who could not see the Lord's presence from the Scriptures will learn of it from the transpiring events. R621:5

We are in the testing time, when (in the Church) every man's faith and works are to be tested "so as by fire." (1 Cor. 3:15) R2453:2

Who shall be able -- "Who may abide the day of his coming and who shall stand when he appeareth." (Mal. 3:2) R3865:2

"He that hath clean hands and a pure heart." (Psa. 24:4) "The very elect," (Matt. 24:24), will not be deceived. D582; R3719:2

The holy--the sanctified in Christ Jesus. R5268:5

Those whose habitation is the Lord. (Psa. 91:9) R4304:2

None but the faithful, because the Lord will purposely make the test so severe as to sift out all others. R1280:1

"A thousand shall fall at thy side." (Psa. 91:7) R3198:6

The inspection will be so crucial as to test all of the saints. R3865:2

To stand -- The hour of temptation which shall come upon the whole world. SM117:2

See comments on Rev. 3:10.

Revelation 7

Revelation 7:1

Four angels -- Agents. R1912:2

Holding -- God's hand of restraint. R5470:1, 5496:4

Miraculously hindering. R2334:4

Preventing the conflict. R683:6

The present war (World War I) has been held back for 40 years, to favor Bible study. R5765:3, 5753:2,4

God has been holding the peoples of earth more or less under restraint.

Otherwise they would have destroyed themselves long ago. CR494:6; OV433:1

The winds of war are being held, under the Lord's direction, until the Harvest Message shall have sealed all of God's saints. R1619:2

The great time of trouble is held in check by divine power until the completion of the harvest work. R4822:6

That they shall not blow upon the earth to its injury until all of God's elect Church shall have been sealed in their foreheads. R5496:4, 4880:5, 1912:2, 1279:2; SM187:3

When the restraint is withdrawn they will rush together, and the result will be a whirlwind. R5470:1

The letting loose suddenly of the fallen angels will account well for the suddenness of the coming trouble. R4823:1; Q738:T

A great cataclysm, which will result in the complete overthrow of the social order in anarchy. R5470:1

God is now letting loose the winds of strife. He is letting the nations take their own course, in order to prove to themselves and to others that they are not what they claim to be. CR494:5; OV432:6, 433:1

The four winds -- The violent winds of war. R1279:2, 2334:4
Of trouble. R4739:5*

These symbolic winds represent strife, anarchy, the great time of trouble which is held in check by divine power until the completion of the harvest work--the sealing of the living members of the elect class with present truth. R4822:6, 5496:4; CR494:5; OV432:6; Q737:3

The winds of violence, which will shortly be loosed, and which will produce the terrific "storm," are being held back until the sealing of God's servants in their foreheads shall have been accomplished. SM187:3, 188:T

The great storm of trouble which in the close of this age will suddenly burst upon the whole world of mankind. R5058:6; C211

The great storm of trouble in which Babylon the Great will be cast into the midst of the sea. R5058:6

The present European war is the letting loose of the four winds of heaven--winds of strife. R5753:2

The winds represent the war; the earthquake of Elijah's vision represents a great social revolution, which will follow the great war. R5753:2

Increasing unrest from increasing knowledge and liberty. R1691:1

Which will produce the great whirlwind trouble. C225; R5058:6, 4880:5, 4822:6; Q737:3

Corresponding to the typical whirlwind by which Elijah, prototype of the Church, was taken away. R4822:6

Symbolized by a fire. R5058:6, 5863:6

The powers of the air--the fallen angels, who have been under the control of Satan. R5470:1, 5318:4, 4880:6, 4822:6; SM187:3; Q737:3, 623:4

The fallen angels will have wonderful power, such as they have never had since the days of the flood, and will use it in a very malevolent manner. R4880:4

Winds also represent false doctrines. (Eph. 4:14) R4822:6; Q623:4, 737:3

Representing completeness, as the four corners of the earth. Q737:3

That the wind -- Blowing winds seem to be used in Scripture as a symbol for wars. R2334:4

Should not blow -- The wind has not yet been allowed to blow, the great storm which they willingly would brew has not yet been allowed to come to pass, and will not be allowed to come to pass until the 144,000 shall have been sealed in their foreheads. Q738:T

On the earth -- Organized society, government, restraint. A318; R4880:6, 4822:6

To its injury. R5496:4

When these winds of war shall be let loose, it will mean a cataclysm of warfare which shall divide kingdoms. R2334:4

Nor on the sea -- The restless, turbulent, dissatisfied, disorganized masses of mankind. A318; R4880:6, 4822:6

On any tree -- The trees represent the household of faith. R4823:1

Revelation 7:2

And I saw -- In the present harvest time. C211

Having the seal -- The present truth. C211; R4880:5

To whom it was given to hurt the earth -- The evil spirits will do all the evil that is in their power, and this will constitute the trial of all the fallen angels--the lifting of the restraints to see whether they will go contrary to the divine will. R4880:6,4

Revelation 7:3

Hurt not the earth -- Until the 144,000 are all gathered out of Babylon. R2160:6

The evil angels would long ago have done injury to the symbolical earth, sea and trees, had it not been for the restraint of divine power. R4822:6

The great trouble will begin just as soon as the faithful are all gathered and sealed. R1279:3, 4822:6, 2443:1, 1619:2

He will have to do with the permission of the terrible trouble. R5470:1

Till we -- Those in perfect harmony with God are to be his servants. R4880:5

Those on this side the veil have an important work, to gather together the elect and to seal them in the forehead (intellectually) with the knowledge of the truth. C303

The same angels or messengers as are referred to by our Lord in Matt. 24:31. R1279:2

Each sealed one becomes a sealer of others as soon as he himself is sealed. R1279:3; C211

Each should ask himself--what am I doing to assist in sealing others since I received the intellectual sealing of the knowledge of the truth? R1423:2

This work of helping to bring others to the knowledge of God's character and plan. Q87:T

Until the appointed time. R5496:4

All of these will have been "sealed in their foreheads" before the great time of trouble shall come upon the world. R2443:1

Between the time when Babylon is cast off, falls from favor (1878), and the time when the plagues come upon her, the Lord's people are all to be gathered out of Babylon. C165

Just as soon as the sealing of the saints is completed, just as soon as this age shall be completed, then these four angels who are holding the four winds, will let them loose. R4880:5, 519:5*

When this occurs we shall understand it to be the shutting of the door of opportunity to membership in the elect Church. (Matt. 25:10) R1448:4
Have sealed -- With the truth. R5496:4, 4880:5

A mental comprehension of the truth will be the mark or seal which will separate and distinguish the servants of God. C165; B169; R4880:5

With the impress of the spirit of the truth as well as the word of truth. R2160:6

With a clear appreciation of "the mystery of God." (Rev. 10:7) R1279:2

The harvest work--the sealing of the living members of the elect class with present truth. R4822:6

The sealing and the gathering of Matt. 24:31 refer to the same thing. R1279:2

Assisted God's people in Bible study. R5753:1

God prepares his faithful ones by granting increased knowledge of his will and plan. R1221:1

Giving, or impressing, intellectually. Q87:T

The present favorable time, with its liberties and advantages, is divinely arranged in order to the sealing of the true servants of God in their foreheads (intellectually, with the truth). B264, R969:5

An intellectual comprehension of truth; sufficient to sustain them before the conflict becomes general. R949:3

Until the elect shall all have been recognized of God and identified and completed. Q738:T

Servants of our God -- In the conclusion of this Gospel age, God will grant some intellectual mark upon his servants that no others will have. R4880:5

The ripe wheat being gathered for the heavenly garner. SM187:4

The Zion class will be distinct and separate from others, and their advantages will consist largely in the divine wisdom and knowledge granted them. R1470:5

The sealing is performed only upon the consecrated. R1279:3

In their foreheads -- Intellectually. R5883:2, 5496:4, 1677:4, 1619:2, 1470:5, 1221:1; Q731:5

A clear intellectual knowledge of present truth. R5715:6, 5496:4, 1943:6; B235

Given an intellectual appreciation of the time, presence, etc., which will comfort and shield them, and be a mark, seal or evidence of their sonship. B169, 264; C225, 303; R5883:2, 4880:5, 1448:4, 1279:2, 683:6

Implies an intellectual appreciation of heavenly things, and is intimately associated with the harvest work. SM187:4

So they may pass through much of the trouble with a happiness based upon this knowledge. R1470:5

Revelation 7:4

I heard the number -- God elected the number and predestinated what must be their characteristics if they would make their calling and election sure. E395; R1879:4

Like Gideon's band, this 144,000 is to be a picked and choice company. R1280:2

Them which were sealed -- "These are they which follow the Lamb, whithersoever he goeth." (Rev. 14:4) R5371:3

An hundred and forty and four thousand -- He ordained that a certain specific number should be chosen from amongst men to be his joint-heirs in the Kingdom. The definite, fixed number of the elect is 144,000. F179; R5532:6, 3086:5, 3026:1

If there are so many of the consecrated and faithful now living, it is a large proportion of the full number to be made up during the 1900 years of the Gospel age, an average of about 76 per year. R1280:2

We wonder that so many as 144,000 could be found in the past 19 centuries. R2782:2

A comparative estimate of the election. R2942:3-6

Those taken from the Gentiles were the wild olive branches grafted into the good olive tree, making up the number which lacked. R5964:6

The Little Flock (Luke 12:32), to whom it will be the Father's good pleasure to give the Millennial Kingdom. R5231:5

These are the faithful remnant of natural Israel and the faithful remnant from the Gentile Church. R5548:6; Q756:2

These are saved to the heavenly conditions, while mankind at large will have the opportunity for everlasting life as human beings. Q630:T

See comment on Gen. 15:13.

Of all the tribes -- God originally arranged for the full number of the elect to be taken from natural Israel. The plan was laid out on the Israelitish basis. R5231:6, 5532:6, 4732:6, 3528:2, 3026:1; Q628:2

The full number were not found in natural Israel. R5371:5; NS359:1

From one standpoint the twelve tribes of natural Israel typified the twelve tribes of spiritual Israel. CR85:1; NS359:1

The Gentiles are invited to fill up the deficiency in the elect number, and will be divided amongst the twelve tribes, though according to what rule of distinction the Scriptures do not show. R3586:4, 5532:6, 5231:6, 3586:4, 3528:3, 2783:2, 2473:6; Q628:2, 629:1; NS359:1,2

Since these tribes had different standings, as shown in the prophecies made respecting them, so there is seemingly quite a possibility that there will be twelve different stations or ranks among the saints. R4654:3

Who constitute the Royal Priesthood. R3086:5

Children of Israel -- Those of the Jewish nation who maintained their relationship with God were transferred from natural Israel and became the nucleus of spiritual Israel. R4654:2, 3802:6; Q606:3

Those taken from among the Gentiles were the wild olive branches grafted into the good olive tree making up the number which lacked to complete the Body of Christ. R5964:6, 5532:6, 2442:6, 2443:1; Q607:T

Revelation 7:5

Tribe of Juda -- There is a bare possibility that since our Lord is the "Lion of the Tribe of Judah," (Rev. 5:5), there may be some special gradation suggested in this tribe. R4654:3

Revelation 7:6

Tribe of Manasses -- As one of the tribes of Israel was cut off and Manasseh substituted, so amongst Jesus' apostles Judas is dropped and a successor appointed. R5002:3

A great multitude -- Larger than the wise virgin class. R5656:2

Of "the household of faith." (Gal. 6:10) R132:6

The mass of the Great Company belong to the closing end of the Gospel age.

It has existed throughout the age; we suggest that the majority being here may be spoken of as though it were the whole. R3445:6; T68, 69

Who do not prove sufficiently zealous to be counted with Jesus as "more than conquerors," who, nevertheless will prove not unfaithful in their final test. R4998:1; Q604:T,1

Those loyal, but not promptly obedient, children of God, overcharged, with zeal not according to knowledge, and more or less contaminated with the spirit of the world. D578; C364

This Great Company fails to maintain its place in the elect, because of insufficient zeal for the Lord, the Truth and the brethren--because they are partly "overcharged with the cares of this life." (Luke 21:34)

Nevertheless they are loyal to the Redeemer and have not denied his name or his work. F169; R5532:6

Their love and zeal are not such as impel them to perform the sacrificing they covenanted to do. They fail to put, or keep, their sacrifices on the altar. They fail to overcome. F127, 93; Q604:1

For a summary of Scriptures bearing upon this class see especially R4079:4

"Every branch in me that beareth not fruit he taketh away." (John 15:2) T69

They lose their first love in a measure. SM636:2

They are not overcomers of the world. R2962:1, 2287:5, 397:2; SM636:2

Have remained as children. R281:2

Whose loyalty will be tested under stress, through tribulation, when forced to the decision. R5138:1, 4654:4, 4401:1, 3868:1; NS642:6

Who will have life on the spirit plane. R5138:1, 2067:4

They will have everlasting life as angels have it, but will lose the prize of immortality. A214; R281:4

Who will come to spiritual conditions, but through great tribulation. R428:4, 355:6

I know of no scriptures which teach that any but the Little Flock or Bride company, and the company who come out of the great tribulation, will ever be given spiritual bodies. R37:6

They belong to the Church of the first-born, all of whom must be born before the after-borns, the world, can be brought forth. R5138:4, 5022:3

The foolish virgin class. R5656:2, 4654:5, 2161:3, 2160:3; Q833:5

Antitypical Levites, associates and servants of the Royal Priesthood. They will receive directions from the priesthood and will be teachers of the people. R5418:6, 5066:5, 4757:5, 4579:1, 4537:4; CR80:5; SM636:2, 637:T

The scapegoat class of Lev. 16, who must suffer destruction of the flesh. R4652:1, 5138:1, 4273:3, 4035:4, 3868:2

Elisha would seem in the first part of his experience, accompanying Elijah and serving him and yet being separate from him, to represent the Great Multitude. R3429:2, 4757:5, 3416:4

The silver class of Mal. 3:3. R3865:1, 5442:4

Typified by Rahab. R4054:2

Typified by certain grains which cling closely to the chaff. R576:2

Typified by Benjamin. R184:6, 5231:5

All the Mediator class will ascend to the Kingdom. In the type this was shown by Moses going up alone into a mountain. Joshua, his servant, who subsequently joined him, may be here representative of the Great Company class. NS363:4

No man could number -- Whose number no man knows. R5924:5, 5865:5, 5772:1, 5533:1, 5371:6, 5232:1, 3802:6, 3416:6; CR80:5; OV189:5

A large number of consecrated people of God. We do not know their number. R4654:3

Either not numbered or beyond numeration or both, or whose number is known to no man. R3026:1, 2942:2

They are not of an ordained or fixed number as is the Bride class.

R5924:5, 5865:5, 5533:1, 5371:6, 4035:5, 2161:1

Not predestinated or foreordained as to number. R5232:1, 4654:3, 3802:6, 2942:2; OV189:5

An undetermined number. R2384:4

A great company, an innumerable company. R5533:1

The Great Company, a number which no man could compute. R5371:6

None were called to this position, but, "Ye were all called in one hope of your calling" (Eph. 4:4). R2732:6, 5924:6, 2161:1, 772:1*

Stood before the throne -- Not seated with Jesus in the throne as his Bride and joint-heir. A214; F93; R5371:6, 5232:1, 4693:4; CR39:4; SM362:T

The Great Company will not be in the throne, but serve before the throne.
R4967:1, 3834:5

Instead of being members of the Temple class, they will be servants in the Temple. R5197:6

Theirs is a position of glory and honor before the throne, as those who are subject. John sees them as victors with palm branches, servants of the Temple. R5865:5, 5493:2, 5408:1, 4967:1

They attain to a lower station than the divine. Evidently they attain that station through stress rather than through the voluntary walking in the footsteps of Jesus. R4665:3, 2942:2; T70

Though a Great Company shall reach spiritual conditions, yet only a Little Flock of overcomers will be accounted worthy to share the divine nature by becoming the Bride of Christ. R649:5

White robes -- They wear the Bridegroom's robe (justification) in the present life. In the future life, they will attain perfection on their own account. R4998:1, 5669:6; Q604:1

Palms in their hands -- They do come off victors in the end. F93
Indicating victory over sin and all evil. R5023:2, 5924:5, 5533:4, 5408:1, 4871:1, 4665:3, 4654:4, 2783:2, 2161:4; CR253:4; Q436:2; SM727:T
Not crowns of glory. R5232:1, 5408:1, 5197:6, 5066:5, 4967:1, 4654:5, 4389:2, 2287:5, 2161:4, 828:4

Elders -- See comments on Rev. 4:4.

Four beasts -- See comments on Rev. 4:6-8.

Revelation 7:14

These are they -- These have their robes greatly spotted by contact with the world, the flesh and the Devil--by unfaithfulness or by carelessness, worldliness. R2160:5, 4967:2

Partially filled with the spirit of the world, and not accounted overcomers of the world. R3164:5, 2962:1

They are not rendering themselves a living sacrifice to God. They have respect to men's opinions, traditions and plans, and fail to fully submit themselves to the will and plan of the Lord. R1649:3

Tribulation saints, not matured sheep, "lambs." (Isa. 34:6) D17; R5411:5, 5407:6, 4967:2

Who have avoided standing up for the truth for fear of the death, shame, contempt of those around them. CR153:5

Who shrink from becoming a "speckled bird," a target for this world's sneers. R132:1

Who through fear (Heb. 2:15), hesitated and kept back the sacrifice.
R828:4, 1150:4

Who obey grudgingly, reluctantly, with slow and halting step, with much complaining and frequent lookings back, holding back, loving the world, and driven forward mainly by the scourge of tribulation and fear. R772:6*

These show that they have the spirit of truth, though not in overcoming measure--not in the measure of sacrificers, "priests." R2384:1, 1699:5

These will fail, not by rejecting Christ, but because of insufficiency of zeal--because not rightly exercised by the instructions given them in the school of Christ. NS603:3, 371:6

Not sufficiently diligent and careful respecting the divine promises.

R3748:6, 3154:2

Measurably intoxicated by the spirit of Babylon, the spirit of the world.

R1649:2, 3055:4

Lacking proper fervency to hold their lives constantly up to the point of self sacrifice. R1669:2, 3445:3, 1008:6

These suffer because of Christ, involuntarily, whereas, the "overcomers" suffer with Christ, voluntarily. R2161:5

Loving father or mother, houses or lands, or something else, to such an extent that they fail to keep their covenant of sacrifice. R2481:1,

2763:6, 2732:5 They are continuing in the course of life in which they were before making their covenant to the Lord. R2481:1

These have a faith structure largely composed of error, which will be consumed. R3748:6

They follow the voice of conscience less carefully, and with less appreciation of how much depends upon their following it. R3777:6

The "foolish virgin" class are probably in very large number all around us--there are some of these in Babylon. R5134:4, 5411:6

Probably the majority of this "Great Company" of tribulation saints are living today. R2161:4

The majority of whom are still in the nominal Church. R498:3, 281:2

Only those with tender consciences will keep their garments unspotted. R5197:5

Some will see and hear and obey when the Lord's power is manifest in the overturning of all false systems, who have not the overcoming strength now. R633:5

Those who can be guided only by continual scourging are not of the overcoming class, and will not be accounted worthy to be of the Lord's Bride. Not of the class that are guided by his eye. (Psa. 32:8; 73:24)

E234 Through an insufficiency in the matter of zeal, and a lack of stamina, because of their unfavorable environment in Babylon. R5411:5

Those who do not prove sufficiently zealous to be counted in with Jesus as "more than conquerors." (Rom. 8:37) R4998:1, 3868:1, 3416:6, 3055:5

These are seeking to be followers of Christ and followers of Mammon, seeking to please the Lord and to please the world, having some of the Lord's spirit and some of the spirit of the world. R5411:5, 1470:1

While they may attain to a good position on the spirit plane, they have lost the great pre-eminent prize of joint-heirship with the Lord. R5102:5, 4999:1; A240

Who lose the reward to which the faithful attain. R593:5

Who will eventually attain to the position of antitypical Levites.

R5411:4, 5408:1, 4967:1, 4616:1, 3429:2; CR485:6; OV189:5

The virgins, her companions, who follow her (the Bride) (Psa. 45:14)

R36:1, 5865:3,4, 5023:2, 3869:2, 3865:1, 3834:5, 2764:4, 828:4, 428:4, 343:6; HG379:1; Q436:2; SM326:T, 727:1

They shall be brought into the King's blessings, but they follow the queen. R354:2

Companions of the Bride, spiritual beings. R458:1

The servant class. R5411:4, 397:2

Honored servants of the glorified Bride class. R5439:4, 5411:4

These will be the guests at the great supper, and after the marriage is accomplished, they shall enjoy the feast with the Royal Family. (Rev. 19:9) R343:6, 3834:5, 593:5, 172:6

Who are typified by Lot. R2858:1

Represented by silver. R3865:1; HG752:5

The silver class who will be dealt with by the great Messenger of the Covenant. R5442:4,5

Which came out of -- Greek, after or through. R36:1, 281:2

A class developed under, and out of, the great tribulation. R1638:2

Those knocking too late. (Matt. 25:11) R290:4

Conquerors in the sense that they will finally get the victory. Q522:1; R5439:4

Those who reverence human theories and systems more than the Word of the Lord, will not come out until Babylon falls and they come through the "great tribulation." D268; HG718:5

Chastened and tested and made fit for a good place in the Father's house. R2764:4

Those who come, through faithfulness in tribulation, to be honored servants in the Kingdom. R2736:4; SM326:T

Great tribulation -- For failing to live up to their covenant of complete sacrifice. R5850:5, 5442:5 "But he himself shall be saved; yet so as by fire." (1 Cor. 3:12, 15) R3748:6; NS506:1, 371:6

The Lord's rod of affliction is brought to bear upon them, until the dross is separated, so that the precious element may be saved. R1669:2

If these do not learn the lesson and make the sacrifice they will ultimately be forced by divine providences to the point of decision. But such as need to be forced are not to be counted amongst the overcomers, the elect, the Little Flock. R2384:4, 1150:4

Accomplishing for them "the destruction of the flesh that the spirit may be saved in the day of the Lord Jesus." (1 Cor. 5:5) T69; R5874:2, 5442:5, 5102:4

Their love of fleshly things, worldly ambition--will be entirely burned out by the time of trouble. R1699:5

They will have special and severe testings, which will demonstrate their character definitely. R4654:4, 2783:2

These, surely, we cannot expect to see shielded from the very trouble which the Lord declares they need; and which in special mercy he will inflict for their perfecting. R2020:5

With a view to effecting in them a proper penitence for sin and a proper appreciation of the divine standard of truth and righteousness. R4035:6, 5439:4

He will bring them to such a place of experience as will test them and compel them either to renounce their loyalty to him or to seal that loyalty with their lives. R2732:5

The tribulations which characterize the end of this age will thoroughly awaken the careless ones. R5916:3, 5850:5, 36:1

It is great tribulation because he looks at the things that are behind, and weighs their value in the scales of the world. R772:2*

They will have suffered more than the elect, if the mental conditions are taken into consideration. R2732:6, 2161:3

They suffered more tribulation than if they had been faithful. R1008:6

Joy and rejoicing are properly lacking in the sufferings for correction and for unfaithfulness to the covenant of self-sacrificers; the destruction of the flesh is therefore doubly painful. R1699:5

While the Little Flock suffered with Christ and through great tribulation entered the Kingdom, the Great Company will suffer great tribulation, yet not enter the Kingdom class, because not found worthy. CR39:3; SM514:2

During this Gospel age, some probably suffered martyrdom when put to the final test. R5411:6

At the end of this age, apparently just after the Church will all be gathered. R5916:3; Q289:6

They need to go and buy the oil--the wisdom, the understanding of the divine Word. R4693:1

Extreme trouble of a physical kind upon the world in which the Great Company will suffer death--not as sacrifices, but as the "scapegoat." R2020:5

They will suffer for the sins of others--the accumulated sins of this age against light and knowledge will be required of these who, in the light of truth, have still held back from the voluntary sacrifice to which they devoted themselves. R4274:1

This foolish virgin class will share with the world in a great time of trouble, which will then come to every nation. R4693:4

The time of trouble is properly for hypocrites. The Great Company are not hypocrites, but will have their portion with the hypocrites. R4655:1

We think there is room in the Scriptures to suppose that there have been some of this Great Tribulation class all through the ages. Q290:T

Washed their robes -- Which had become sadly spotted and soiled by contact with the world. R2160:5, 5442:4, 5232:2, 4998:1, 3802:6, 35:6; Q604:1

Because they allowed spots to accumulate. R5924:5, 5669:6, 5197:5; SM726:1
Their white raiment becomes spotted and soiled, bedraggled by contact with the earth. R5669:5; SM726:1; NS358:4

Who are defiled by contact with Babylon, but who come out of Babylon, and thus wash their robes from the world spots. R151:1*

These were not sufficiently alert to keep their garments unspotted from the world. NS372:6

Lacking the intense love and zeal of the overcomers, they do not keep their garments with sufficient care. R2161:2, 5411:6

Their robes became spotted and quite unfit for the marriage ceremony. R5197:5

There would be no need of washing the entire robe unless the entire robe were spotted. R4616:1

Those whose robes need washing must do it for themselves, either now or during the time of trouble. R163:4

Such will be obliged to go through the great time of trouble and wash their robes. Q650T

Passed through fiery experiences, disciplines, for their correction, for their purification. SM726:1; R5669:6; NS358:5

Learning lessons which will be valuable to them to all eternity. R2962:1

In their sufferings they will learn to appreciate as never before their relationship to the Lamb of God and to his atoning merit, and by faith will be permitted to apply the same to their own cleansing. R4036:6, 5533:1, 5463:2, 4870:6

Their robes will not be taken from them. R5669:6

They must in the end be faithful; else they will not have any part or lot with Christ in his work. R5533:1

They will do what they failed to do at the proper time. R5197:5

Proved their loyalty under discipline and stress, having failed to prove it by voluntary obedience unto sacrifice. Q604:1; R4998:1

Made them white -- The difference between the Little Flock and the Great Company is not in the degree of purity finally attained, but in the manner of obtaining it. R1669:2; CR253:3

The robe given to each saint is at first pure and spotless--Christ's righteousness. R772:6*

Blood of the Lamb -- The basis for forgiveness of our sins; the way to reconciliation. R1230:3

Penances and sufferings would not cleanse the robes, the efficacy for cleansing is in the blood. R2161:2, 4870:6

Revelation 7:15

Therefore are they -- On these, God has various blessings to bestow in proportion to their obedience, loyalty and faith. R5408:1

As a result they will be granted the palm branches and the place before the throne, to serve God in his Temple. R4655:1, 5408:1

This Great Company at last will receive a great blessing, even though it will not be so grandly glorious as that which the Lord will give to the Little Flock. R4274:1, 281:4

They will have a blessed portion, but far less glorious than that to which they were called. R5916:4

Before the throne -- Not in the throne with the Little Flock, the elect. D578; F127; T70; R5772:1, 4654:5; Q24:3; SM288:1

Not rulers, but honorable servants of the ruling class. R5916:3

They are not called to this position; they get it as of the Lord's grace. R3154:1, 2732:6, 2161:2

And serve him -- In and through the Church. R5232:2

As the Levites were set apart to serve the Tabernacle, the Great Company class will be the servant class on the spirit plane. R4655:4; OV189:5

Day and night -- Continually. F127

In his temple -- The Church. F127; R5232:2, 4654:5, 828:4, 36:1

But not of it. T70; R4871:4, 4693:4, 4654:5, 828:4

In or through or by means of the Temple, which is the Body of Christ. R828:4, 773:1*

Dwell among them -- Associate them with himself and his glorified Bride in the spiritual condition and its services. F127

Revelation 7:16

Hunger no more -- They will not have life in themselves, but will still be dependent upon God's provision for the sustenance of life. E403

Revelation 7:17

Midst of the throne -- In exalted power. R633:5

Shall feed them, and shall lead them -- The Lamb feeds them with truth, and leads them (some quickly, others more slowly), bringing, finally, as many as will be led, to the heavenly condition. R35:6

These, though "castaways," as regards the prize (1 Cor. 9:27), are nevertheless objects of the Lord's love; for they are friends of righteousness and not of sin. T69

Fountains of waters -- Truth. C65; R1363:3, 564:2

The Bride is to have within her "a well of water springing up," (John 4:14), while the rest of mankind may come to the fountain to drink. R252:4

Wipe away all tears -- Not merely from the faces of the saints of this Gospel age. Ultimately every knee must bow and every tongue confess to the glory of God. (Phil. 2:10, 11) NS222:4

Revelation 8

Revelation 8:1

Opened the seventh seal -- The scroll is open to all who follow the Lamb; and the mystery is about finished. (Rev. 10:9) R2156:4; A87
In the days of the voice of the seventh angel. R2209:1

Silence -- Synchronizing with Psa. 46 where, after the desolations God makes in the earth by which war is made to cease, he says, "Be still and know that I am God." HG82:3

Half an hour -- A prophetic hour is fifteen days. Hence "about the space of half an hour" might be seven days. HG82:3

Revelation 8:2

Seven trumpets -- Representing seven great periods of time and their events. B148

To shadow forth the events by which the dominion of the last of the four Gentile kingdoms was to be broken, overthrown and finally destroyed. HG76:3
The events under the first six trumpets refer to humanity's doings, while the seventh refers specially to the Lord's work, and covers the "Day of the Lord." (1 Thes. 5:2) B148

Under the first four trumpets, the scourges were brought upon the two western parts of the empire. Under the fifth and sixth, the dominion of Rome at the east, at Constantinople, was subverted. Under the seventh, great Babylon will go down to rise no more. HG77:1

Much incense -- As, on the Day of Atonement, Aaron burned the incense in the Holy place before the Lord, so Christ entered into heaven itself with the sweet incense of his perfect obedience, and his sacrifice was therefore acceptable to God on our behalf. R1836:6

The willing services of the priests; their praises, their willing obedience--all things whatsoever they do to the glory of God. T120

Offer it with -- Nothing was said about offering the incense the second time. Since we do not go into the Holy as individuals, but as members of the Body, we are safe in saying that we are, "in Christ, a sweet savor to God." R4922:3; Q342:6

The prayers -- The prayers of priests of God are effectual. Our Lord Jesus kept the incense burning continually, and could say, "I know that thou hearest me always." (John 11:42) T120
Long prayers made to be heard of men, "have their reward" (Matt. 6:5), and never reach that golden censer before the throne. HG52:2

Of all the saints -- "For we are unto God a sweet savor of Christ." (2 Cor. 2:15) R4922:4; Q343:T

Our sacrifice would avail nothing were it not for Christ's sacrifice and the sweet odor of his personal merit ascending to God with our prayers for a share in his meritorious covering. R1836:6

Upon the golden altar -- The Priest standing at the incense altar and crumbling the incense on the fire in the top of the altar would cause the sweet perfume of the incense to enter the presence of Jehovah beyond the veil. R5961:3*

Before the throne -- Those who offer incense acceptable to God come very close to their Father--close up to the "veil" which separates from the Most Holy. T120

Revelation 8:6

The seven trumpets -- We, in common with almost all expositors, recognize that the seven trumpets are symbolical. R2992:5
Begin with the first trumpet and the first plague (Rev. 16:1); and compare them from the first to the seventh. HG84:4

Revelation 8:7

First angel -- Fulfilled by the events under Alaric, the Gothic chief, who commenced these scourges on the empire, and styled himself, "the scourge of God." HG77:1

Hail -- The formation and discharge of such hail implies a dense, dark cloud, and much electrical disturbance. Thunder and lightning would not be absent. R3344:4*

The third part -- After Constantine the sovereignty was divided into three parts; hence the frequent use of the terms, "a third part of men," etc., alluding to the third part of the empire which was under the scourge. HG76:6

The trumpets are confined to a third, while the plagues, which are to be universal, are to be poured out upon all the prophetic earth instead of a third part. HG77:1

You may multiply the scourge of the corresponding plague by three. For where a third part of men were slain, tormented, etc., under a trumpet, the plague is upon all. HG84:4

Revelation 8:8

The second angel -- Brought about by Genseric, whose attacks were mainly from the shores of Africa, and on the water. HG77:2

Revelation 8:9

Life -- Greek, psuche, soul, being. E338

Revelation 8:10

The third angel -- Under Attila, who first attacked the empire in its eastern possessions, and then suddenly, like a falling star, invades the west. HG77:2

Revelation 8:12

Was smitten -- A third part of the empire was extinguished. HG77:2

Revelation 8:13

A loud voice -- Noise, shout, voices, trumpets, etc., connected with the coming of Christ, and the closing work of the Gospel, are events, not literal noise, or metallic trumpets as under the Law. HG25:6

Woe, woe, woe -- The remaining trumpets, the fifth, sixth and seventh, are called woe trumpets. HG77:2

Revelation 9

Revelation 9:1

The fifth angel -- Under the Saracens. HG77:2

When Othman first invaded the Roman empire, July 27, AD 1299, ending in July 1449, and the independence of the eastern possession of the empire virtually passed away. Constantinople fell two years later, in AD 1451. HG77:3

Revelation 9:2

The air -- The Greek word here is used symbolically to represent government or controlling power over the earth. R152:6

Revelation 9:5

Not kill -- This being a symbol, is political, not literal death. HG77:3

Tormented -- During this 150 years, the Saracens murdered, robbed and taxed the people, while the government at Constantinople was too weak to give protection. HG77:4

Five months -- Five months is five times thirty, or 150 days--in symbolic time, 150 years. HG77:4

Seek death -- The people earnestly desired political death, that their own government might be abolished. HG77:4

Revelation 9:13

The sixth angel -- Under the Mohammedans. HG77:2

Euphrates -- The people supporting the system of Babylon. Q720:4
The restraint of the Christian nations, the waters of the Euphrates, "the waters on which the harlot"--mystic Babylon--"sitteth," was to be let loose, or taken off from the Mohammedans so that the sixth trumpet or downfall of Constantinople and the east, might be accomplished HG77:5

Revelation 9:15

An hour, and a day -- 391 years, 15 days, commencing July 27, 1449, ending August 11, 1840. HG78:1

In August 1840 the combined Ally fleet knocked at the door of the Sultan at Constantinople. On that very day, the independence of the Turkish empire virtually ended. HG78:2

To slay -- Not torment merely, but death, political death. HG77:6

Revelation 9:20

Worship devils -- Evil spirits, operating along the line of man's natural and religious instincts, have diverted his worship from God, sometimes directly to themselves, and sometimes to four-footed beasts. R3068:3

Revelation 10

Revelation 10:2

A little book -- The message concerning Michael's Kingdom. C89
The book signifies the plan and purpose of God as written in the Law and the prophets. R530:3*
Open -- Unsealed prophecies--"shut up the words, and seal the book even to the time of the end." (Dan. 12:4) HG79:2
Gradually opening from 1829 onward. C89
It was sealed perfectly (with seven seals) until Christ began to open it. R530:3*

Revelation 10:4

Seal up -- Make secret, render secure against intrusion. E246

Revelation 10:6

Time no longer -- This Gospel time or age. R194:4
Many are the "times and seasons which God hath put in his own power" (Acts 1:7) and no doubt each of these will end as its work is accomplished. Many have so ended already. R194:3

Revelation 10:7

In the days -- Years. HG79:4
Seventh angel -- Many of the sweetest notes of the glad tidings of restitution are reserved until now, during the sounding of the seventh trumpet. R757:2, 287:2
We are now living in the days of the seventh angel. R368:3; B148
During which the first resurrection and change of the living saints comes. R194:4, 152:3
The seventh trumpet covers the entire period of the Millennial reign of Christ, as indicated by the events which are to transpire under it. (Rev. 11:15, 18) B149
The sixth trumpet ended Aug. 11, 1840. Since then we have been living under the "seventh trumpet," or "last trump," or "trump of God," which continues until the kingdoms of this world, by a great time of trouble, become the kingdoms of our Lord. R368:5, 194:4, 152:6; HG79:3
Begin to sound -- In the forefront of his sounding. R368:2 Greek, mello. In other cases it is rendered "will," "should" or "shall." Hence: "when he will or shall sound." HG79:5
Mystery of God -- Both God's plan and his Church are called a "mystery." Neither is comprehended by the world. R194:4, 5928:1, 1427:4; A87

Kept secret from the foundation of the world. R757:2, 1427:4, 287:2;
OV6:T; SM152:2

The mystery has been in operation from the beginning of the world and is still a mystery so far as the world is concerned. It will continue to be a mystery until the end of the present dispensation. CR10:5; NS399:1

The only exception will be the revelation of the mystery granted to the saints--those fully consecrated to the Lord. CR10:5; NS399:1

Many features of the Divine Plan are now hidden in mystery. NS588:1;
OV230:3

God kept these matters a "mystery," a "secret," because this was wise, so as not to interfere with the purposes out-working. CR406:1

Which is "Christ in you the hope of glory" (Col. 1:27)--your membership in the Body of Christ, your share with him in present sufferings and future glory. R4495:5, 368:2

The mystery is that the Church, as well as the Lord, and in association with him, will be the world's great restorer--Regenerator. CR406:1; R3192:4

The peculiar relationship between the Gospel Church and its Head and Lord is not intended to be understood by the world or by the nominal Christian nor by even the true Christian who is not in a proper attitude of heart and fully consecrated to the Lord. R3192:4

Evidently the gospel: the taking out of a people to become sons by the mysterious process of being begotten and born of the Spirit. HG79:5

Mystery is used in the same sense as the word church. Thus the true and false churches are called, "The mystery of God," and "The mystery of iniquity." (Col. 1:27; 2 Thes. 2:7) R368:6

The Messiah, composed of many members, of which the Lord Jesus was the Head. HG275:1; NS142:2

"To make all see what [are the conditions of] fellowship of the mystery." (Eph. 3:3-6, 9) R369:4

The mystery class began with Pentecost. There was no mystery class before that. The Church is this mystery class. The world knoweth not what God is doing. HG178:6

Be finished -- When the Church is exalted, the mystery both of the Church and God's plan will be finished. R194:4; A87

The secret, hidden plan will have sought out the full, complete number of the members of the Body of Christ, and hence it, the Body of Christ, will be finished. A87; CR415:5; OV7:4

The plan will cease to be a mystery, because there will be no further object in perpetuating its secrecy. A87

Some of the mysteries of God were due to be understood at once, and some more gradually down through the age, but the great unfolding of the divine mystery we are told was reserved until the close of the Gospel age.

R2208:2; OV6:T

While the unfolding of the mystery of God commenced in the days of the apostles, it will not be finished until the end of this Gospel age. R368:3

Not until the days of the voice or sounding of the seventh trumpet--in the end or close of this Gospel age and the dawn of the Millennial age.

R4452:5, 368:3; CR361:4; OV6:T

Not until the last seal was broken, did the scroll fly wide open, permitting the "mystery of God" to be fully disclosed. (Rev. 5:1) R2209:1, 2156:4

The due time for revealing to the Church the divine plan respecting its participation with Christ in the blessing of all the families of the earth--"meat in due season." R2490:2

During the trump of God, God will finish the mystery by letting his saints come to a full appreciation of his glorious plans. (Col. 1:27) R368:5

The due time has come for the mystery to be finished. R1867:3, 2156:4, 1279:2

We are now living in the time when the "mystery" is ending and the righteous dealings of God, from the Scriptural standpoint, may be clearly seen. But these revelations are not meant for the world in general, but merely for "the elect." NS588:1; OV230:3

Daily and hourly the saints of God are being searched out and sealed "in their foreheads" [intellectually] with a clear appreciation of the "mystery of God" which has been kept secret in part hitherto. R1279:2

As the mystery and cloud of error and evil begins to roll away, we get a glimpse of our Father's loving plans. R255:4

The "wise" of his people may understand. (Dan. 12:10) CR406:1

Therefore God has provided for his people's instruction and use the orderly presentations of Millennial Dawn to point out to them his plan of the ages, and the duties and privileges of this "harvest" time. R1867:3; 1536:1*

Very shortly now, this mystery of God, this company of divinely-begotten ones, will be "finished"--completed. R369:1; A87; OV7:3

Then, no longer the mystery, we shall be Jehovah's agents in blessing all the families of the earth. R369:4

Revelation 10:9

Thy belly bitter -- After partaking of truths, you must expect to encounter bitter opposition from your old nature and your former friends. R426:4, 530:4*

The after effects are always more or less a blending of the bitterness of persecution with the sweetness. C89

Signifies the pleasurable but often painful labor of serving it to others that they may find it easily and eat it. R1867:6

It is indeed a severe trial to come out boldly and acknowledge former errors and advocate the truth in the face of so much organized opposition as we find today. R950:6

Having been digested, it leads to self-denial, crucifixion, death. R530:5*

The bitterness which followed needs no explanation to such as know the bitterness of the disappointment of the 10th day of the 7th month of 1844. HG79:3

Sweet as honey -- The experience of all who receive these truths--wondrous sweetness; Oh, the blessedness. C89
Great rejoicing in the strong meat of God's Word. R426:4
Receive the truth gladly, if you would have its full sweetness and strength. R951:1
To those who love the appearing of our Lord. HG79:2

Revelation 10:10

And I -- John represented the "wise" of the "holy people." (Dan. 12:10, 7) C89

Ate it up -- He who will not eat of a full table will be empty and starved, as truly as though there were no food. E225
The proper attitude of the Church is to be active in eating the food already received and in using the strength derived from it. She is not to leave the table bountifully spread to pray for more. R1867:5
"Thy words were found, and I did eat them; and thy word was unto me the joy and rejoicing of my heart." (Jer. 15:16) HG79:2

Prophesy again -- Now being fulfilled in this midnight cry and harvest message. HG79:3
These two messages are also given in Matt. 25. The first: the virgins go forth to meet the Bridegroom (verses 1 to 5); the last from verses 6 to 12. The one was to end in the bitterness of disappointment, the other in success. HG79:3

Revelation 11

Revelation 11:1

A reed -- The Golden Rule. NS589:6
Golden Rod. CR449:2
Measure -- The Lord is measuring us with his law of love; and we are being measured to see to what extent we are of the right dimensions and properly in harmony with the arrangement of the Lord's plan. CR449:4
The temple of God -- You and I are that Temple. CR449:2
Alford holds that the naos tou Theou is here to be taken symbolically, meaning "the church of the elect servants of God." R638:5*

Revelation 11:2

Forty and two months -- From 539 AD, when ecclesiastical power attained persecuting ability, and ended 1799 AD. R5742:1

1,260 days, three and a half times or years. Beginning in 539 AD, and ending in 1798 AD, at the time when Napoleon Bonaparte took the Pope of Rome prisoner to Paris. R5751:3, 5741:6, 4741:2, 389:2*; NS29:2

The long period of time when the true Church was eclipsed by the success of Babylon marked a time of great spiritual drouth. R5741:6, 5751:3, 4741:2, 557:3; B256

In another sense from the Council of Nice and the Nicean creed 325 AD to 1585 AD when the Bible was neglected. R5742:1

Revelation 11:3

Two witnesses -- The Old and New Testaments. C122; D268; R5718:1, 5628:6, 5565:2, 529:4*; HG22:2

Faithfully they have borne their testimony to every nation. D258

The two Covenants, the one graven on stone and the other on the fleshly tables of the heart, the Old and the New Covenant, or Testament. HG78:4

The Scriptures do claim to be the Word of God, though their authority by no means depends upon the finding of that expression in the Scriptures.

R1584:3

In sackcloth -- In the sackcloth of the dead languages. C122, 50; R5718:1, 244:4*

Kept from the people by legal enactments, and under the veil of a dead language. HG78:6

Revelation 11:4

Two olive trees -- The Old and the New Testaments, the old and the new Covenants. D652; R2521:5, 1491:1

Two candlesticks -- Compare Zech. 4:1-14. R2521:6

Revelation 11:6

Rain not -- As during Elijah's hiding in the wilderness there was no rain, so in the Church's experiences there was a spiritual drouth for 1260 years ending in 1798. R5751:3

Revelation 11:7

The beast -- The infancy of the Commune developed under such monsters as Dupont and Robespierre. HG22:1

Ascendeth out -- Meaning only a freedom from religious restraint. HG22:2

Make war -- During the French Revolution of 1793 to 1796. HG22:2

Kill them -- In the terrible scenes of the French Revolution, the closing part of the woe under the Sixth Trumpet. HG78:3
By legal enactment, abolished by law. HG78:6

Revelation 11:8

The great city -- Babylon. D608
Called Sodom -- Lot's wife, after starting to flee as directed, "looked back," coveting the things behind. So it is with some now fleeing from Babylon. D608

Revelation 11:9

Three days and an half -- For 3 years, during that greatly infidel revolution which swept over Europe at the close of the 18th century. HG78:6

They ascended -- After 1799. R5565:2
The Old and New Testaments were lifted up in the sight of the people. R5565:2
Between 1803 and 1813 many of our great Bible Societies were organized. The printing of the Bible in every language in a cheap form was commenced. R5565:3, 5752:5; C50, 51
Up to heaven -- To a position of great influence and dignity never before enjoyed. R5565:2
The place of honor and power. R5718:1
The place of honor and authority in the church. R529:4*
The Bible societies have made the Bible a living reality among "all peoples, and tongues, and nations, and languages." HG78:6

Revelation 11:13

Tenth part -- Babylon is represented as being divided into ten different wards, each of which represents one of the kingdoms of Christendom, and which corresponds to the ten horns of the symbolic "beast." SM405:4
France, one of the "ten." HG79:1
Of men -- "Of men's names" (Margin). All titles, both in church and state, were reduced to the one common name of "citizen." HG79:1

Revelation 11:15

Seventh angel sounded -- The great High Priest himself blows the Trumpet. NS435:1
The proclamation and the time of trouble together constitute the trump of God. HG81:4

"The Last Trumpet," "The Trump of God" is as much symbolic as were its predecessors. Its fulfillment extends through a period of 1,000 years.

The seventh trump of John, and the last trump of Paul, are one and the same. One begins with "great voices," and the other with a "shout." One is called "the trump of God," and the other the trump which introduces the events of the day of the Lord. HG80:6

Called the Trump of God, probably because during its period of time God exercises his great power over the nations. R368:5

Possibly because introducing the special judgments of God connected with the setting up of his kingdom. R263:4, 19:4

Corresponding to Paul's "shout" and "trumpet." (1 Thes. 4:16) R668:1

That trumpet is now [1915] sounding. R5632:2, 529:2*

We are living in the days of the voice of the seventh angel. PT356:1*

Its beginning, we understand, was in 1878, and its termination will be a thousand years future from that date. R2992:6

We understand it began in 1875, and will continue for a thousand years. NS58:5

It began in 1874 and will continue to sound, to be a proclamation of Jubilee, to all for a thousand years. NS434:6; D601

The Sixth Trumpet ended Aug. 11, 1840. Since then we have been living under the "Seventh Trumpet," which continues until 1914. R368:5, 152:6; HG79:3, 80:2

Aug. 11, 1840 is the end of "hour, and a day, and a month, and a year" of Rev. 9:15. HG78:1

In August 1840, the combined fleets of the Allies knocked at the door of the Sultan at Constantinople. On that very day, the independence of the Turkish empire virtually ended. HG76:2

It covers the entire period of the Millennial reign of Christ, as indicated by the events which are to transpire under it. B149

We are now living under the sounding of the Seventh Trumpet, during which the resurrection of the Church is due. R845:2*, 194:4, 152:6

With the beginning of this Trumpet began the "harvest" and the reaping and separating. D601

Christian people in general understand that five of these Trumpets have already "sounded" and are in the past--we would say six. R2992:5

It covers "the great Day of his Wrath"--the time of judgment upon the kingdoms of this world--the pouring out of the "seven vials" of his wrath.

R263:4

The completion of the Church is obtained under the sounding of the Seventh Trumpet. R256:3

It is the time of the Lord's presence and reign; the time for gathering the Church, both from the grave and from among the living; for the overthrow of the powers that be, and establishing the new power; then the awakening and judging of the nations. R845:3*

These events do not all succeed each other, requiring that one can be finished before the other can begin, but several parts of the work progress simultaneously. R845:3*

The events it introduces are visible to the eyes of the understanding of such as have had their eyes anointed with the eye-salve of truth (Rev. 3:18), and whose senses are exercised by reason of use. (Heb. 5:14) R834:4

If the seventh trump were to make a sound on the air, it would be out of harmony with the other six of the series. R580:1, 263:4; D601

The seventh trump is divided into two parts. In the first the closing message of the gospel was to be given; while the woe, the time of trouble, angry nations, the resurrection and rewards, belong to the latter part.

The effect of the Trumpet on those who hear it varies. NS434:6

Great voices -- The archangel [Michael] is connected with the trump of God, and the "voice of the archangel" is of the same character as the voices of the other. HG81:1

The living members of the Church are evidently the active agents of the Lord's service. R2994:2

The volumes of Millennial Dawn have to some extent been such voices, announcing the Kingdom; also the tracts. R2994:2

Saying -- That proclamation has been sounding for the last 38 years [1878]. HG79:1

Kingdoms of this world -- God, during the present evil world, not only permits Satan to be its prince, but also permits the earthly governments of his appointing, leaving his Church and all men for a time under their control. R362:5

The powers that be today are styled Christ's kingdom, "Christendom," but they are really "kingdoms of this world." R4956:2, 5715:5; OV359:3

Kingdoms of the Gentiles. R4795:3, 5489:3, 4799:3; SM418:1

The most civilized of the kingdoms are no more than what the Scriptures term "kingdoms of this world," more or less under the power or dominion of the prince of this world, Satan. NS663:6

No nation on the face of the earth can now be said to have God's special fatherly providence over it; for there is no nation even claiming to be the sons of God. R1561:6

God's word denounces all the governments of earth as selfish, oppressive, and beastly, and recognizes only one kingdom as being of God's appointment--the kingdom soon to be established in all the earth. R318:6

Satan is the prince of the this world. These kingdoms of this world, therefore, are under Satan's princship. R5853:6; A68; CR426:2; OV193:1, 342:2

Though the United States' government is undoubtedly the best on earth today, its machinery is generally used for the benefit of the comparatively few, and actual justice is seldom realized. R1096:2*

Are become -- The time has come. The kingdoms of this world belong to our Lord and his Christ. HG79:1

Greek, ginomia. The true rendering is "the kingdoms of this world shall be, or are to become, the kingdoms of our Lord." HG79:4

Soon [1912]. R4956:5

The time is nigh at hand for the setting up of Christ's Kingdom. NS691:5; R5489:5

Soon Satan's power must wane. When, in God's plan, evil has served its designed purposes, the Lord will take to himself his great power and reign. R254:6; A75

Satan must first be bound, restrained and deposed before Christ's reign of righteousness and peace can be established. A69

By "breaking in pieces," throwing down, the kingdoms of this world.

R409:3, 268:5, 26:1 The trouble of the nations during the "Day of the Lord" is a natural consequence of this transfer of authority. R409:3, 592:2, 26:1

The transfer of kingdoms will be accomplished by a great time of trouble. A68

He awaits the Father's appointed time--the limit of the Gentile Times--before he will take his great power and begin his glorious reign.

B87

The gathering to Armageddon would immediately precede Messiah's taking to himself his great power and beginning his reign. Dxy; OV276:1; SM238:1

The year AD 1878, being the parallel of his assuming power and authority in the type, clearly marks the time for the actual assuming of power as King of kings, by our present Lord. B239

As soon as the harvest of the Gospel age shall have been garnered, "the kingdoms of this world" shall, during a great time of trouble, "become the kingdoms of our Lord and of his Christ." R5097:3

After the great time of trouble, when the "Times of the Gentiles" will have been fulfilled, due to be accomplished by the year 1915. R3113:3

The Scriptures identify this "great time of trouble" with Messiah taking to himself his Kingdom power and beginning his reign. OV321:3, 324:1

The "Times of the Gentiles" are nearly at an end and the time of Messiah's theocratic government is at hand. NS849:6; R5489:5

It is not until about the close of the Seventh Trumpet's sounding that the kingdoms of earth become the kingdoms of our Lord and his anointed (Body--Church.) R318:6

He has taken to himself his great power and his reign is commenced, consequently we may soon expect the wrath and anger of the nations. R287:5

Thus he becomes "governor among the nations." (Psa. 22:8) HG15:6

The period of time during which the present dominion of Satan shall become the Kingdom of God's dear Son, will be a specially evil day, in which all the children of light shall be crucially tested. R5097:5

"I will overthrow the throne of kingdoms, and I will destroy the strength of the kingdom of the nations." (Hag. 2:22) R592:3

First they must be brought to submission by chastisement, and then we read that all people, nations and languages shall serve him. (Dan. 7:14, 27)

R592:3

Papacy claims that when the kingdoms of earth accepted Papacy's overruling authority this Scripture was fulfilled. R305:2

The kingdoms -- The "nation" of Isa. 9:3. R2550:3

Of our Lord -- Declaring the Lord's presence at the time when the events mentioned transpire. B149

It is in that Kingdom only that the saints have their citizenship; it alone they recognize, and for it pray: "Thy kingdom come." R318:6

"One like the Son of man came in the clouds of heaven, and there was given him dominion, and glory and a kingdom." (Dan. 7:14) HG12:6

"Ask of me and I will give thee the heathen for thine inheritance, and the uttermost parts of the earth for thy possession; and thou shalt break them with a rod of iron." (Psa. 2:8) HG13:3

Of his Christ -- His Body, his anointed, the Church. R532:3, 318:6, 5:1; A75

"The saints of the Most High shall take the kingdom (dominion) and possess the kingdom forever." (Dan. 7:18) R26:1

Papacy claims that the anointed are the line of Popes. R305:2

For ever and ever -- That is, being associated with the Father, Christ (and we in him) shall always belong to the reigning and ruling power.

R419:1, 165:3

But in the especial sense of ruling over and subduing earth, the reign is limited to the period of time necessary to the restoring of all earth's people and affairs. R419:1

Revelation 11:17

Lord God Almighty -- Represented in Christ--"All things are of the Father, and all things are by the Son"--his honored representative. D622

Thou -- As the representative of Jehovah. NS22:1

Hast taken -- Now [1915]. R5715:6, 757:5; OV386:4

Soon [1914]. R5458:5, 2761:4

The Kingdom reign begins before Babylon falls. D623

We still wait for the completion of the Church when, the due time having come, he "shall take unto himself his great power and reign." R2935:3, 1771:3, 1685:5

Exalted to the right hand of divine favor he waits only for the Father's time to take to himself his great power and reign. SM732:1

The reign begins before the time of trouble and before the resurrection of the saints and prophets, and continues for a thousand years. D622

The manner of taking this power will be by truth binding error. R331:2

Light and knowledge will so increase that all forms of error and evil will be finally dispelled by "the bright shining of the present one." (2 Thes.

This taking of control is described by Jesus in a parable (Mark 3:27); and again in Rev. 20:2. R255:1

"At that time shall Michael

[Christ]

stand up [assume control]...and there shall be a time of trouble such as never was since there was a nation." (Dan. 12:1) D579

Thy great power -- Infallible laws will be rigorously enforced. R1163:6
When the elect company is selected, and exalted to power with Christ their Head, they shall break in pieces the shackles by which Satan has so long oppressed the world. R820:6; OV49:3

"All power is given to me in heaven and in earth." (Matt. 28:18) R1352:2

Hast reigned -- Although Christ was 1800 years ago declared worthy to become King, he has not yet taken office in the full sense of the word, but is waiting for the completion of the Church. R5715:5

The time is come for Messiah to take the dominion of earth and to overthrow the oppressors and corrupters of earth. R817:4; OV386:4

Jesus took the office of King in 1878. R3823:3

Christ has come. He has entered upon his reign. R529:2*

He has come at last, and a few armed and liberated by his truth have recognized him and are assembling to his standard. R438:2

Even though the Kingdom may be considered as begun from the time that the King began the exercise of his great power in 1878; it will not be "set up" until the last member of the Kingdom has been changed. R5193:1, 2272:4, 1290:5

When we are complete he shall take to himself his great power and reign. R419:1, 5034:5, 532:3, 165:3

Christ will reign during the Millennium. We all know that Christ has not reigned yet. If Christ was reigning now we would not have the great systems of evil in the earth. Q805:1

"Yet I [Jehovah] have established my King upon Zion, my holy mountain [kingdom]." (Psa. 2:6) R1385:3

Revelation 11:18

Nations were angry -- Proof of the fact that the Day of the Lord will be a great day of trouble and of destruction to every form of evil. A324

It naturally makes both people and rulers angry to intimate that the Devil is the prince of these governments. R319:1

Terrible indeed will it be to those, to find their organizations crumbling and their laws and creeds torn to shreds and their "standards" and "authorities" losing power, being cast off and disregarded. R247:6

In the present [1915] disturbance of Europe. R5715:6

In this war and the terrible Armageddon which will follow it. SM412:3

The nations are angry now! They act as if they were bereft of common sense. R5632:2

As a consequence of the reign begun. D623

Because its social, financial, political and religious conditions and arrangements will not square with the Lord's line and plummet of righteousness. R2992:6

The very work which our Lord is to do at the beginning of his reign will be to correct the wrongs then prevailing. R5573:6

Note the same results in the "standing up" of Michael, the archangel, in Dan. 12:1. R668:1, 490:6

While not saying that there will be war amongst the nations, it seems to give color to the thought that there will be a contention--war. NS58:5

The kingdoms of this world become our Lord's only by conquest. HG80:1

The earth will be far from being a blessed condition at our Lord's second advent. R5573:6

Therefore not the conversion of the world through preaching the gospel. If converted, they would not be thus hostile. R532:3, 256:3, 5:2; A94; B101; HG13:3, 80:1, 149:5, 342:5, 669:3; Q852:2

At the Lord's second coming the world will be unconverted. R5052:6; Q753:2

The nations will not have been healed when Christ takes the Kingdom. R477:2

The anger of the nations at the time of the second advent will not necessarily be against the Lord; but rather the spirit of selfishness, which will break forth as a consuming fire. Q753:2

Thy wrath is come -- A national judgment and wrath upon the nations. R2993:4

The time of the pouring out of the "seven vials" of God's wrath. R580:1

A day of wrath unmixed with mercy; a time when men will call and God will not answer. HG84:1

Following that "Day of Wrath" shall come the promised blessing. R2935:3

The time of the dead -- The object of the establishment of the Kingdom. R2993:1

The whole human family which came under the divine sentence of death. R2993:1

The whole dead world will be dealt with during the thousand years of Christ's reign. R5567:5

They should be judged -- That they should have their trial for life or for death everlasting. R2993:3

If they have not already been judged, why should they be dead? R2993:1

They cannot be judged without his words, and the vast majority have not thus far been enabled to hear their Redeemer's wonderful words of life.

R2993:2

This will not be the time for the judgment of the Church, for that takes place in the present age. R2993:3

The Church are the first to receive their judgment, the decision in their case. For the world God has appointed a thousand-year day. (Acts 17:31; 2 Pet. 3:8) R5563:6

Full recompenses, either rewards or punishments, are not to be expected before the resurrection. R1881:4; HG334:1

Therefore those who have "fallen asleep" have not already gone to their reward. HG347:4

Receive their proper rewards and punishments and be righteously dealt with. R5567:5

Give reward -- Implies their resurrection, since they could not be rewarded while dead. R845:3

The reward is "eternal life" to them who seek for it "by patient continuance in well-doing." (Rom. 2:7) R10:5*

The time of "reward" of all that fear God's name is identical with the Day of Wrath. The Seventh Trumpet includes both and extends to 1914. R116:1*

The closing work of the Gospel age, or antitypical Atonement Day. R159:5*

The prophets -- The Ancient Worthies. R5563:6, 2993:4

The time when the prophets and others will be rewarded will be at the return of our Lord Jesus. R4142:5*, 1881:5; HG334:2

"Every man in his own order." (1 Cor. 15:23) R180:6*, 81:5*

The order of prophets are first mentioned in the order of giving rewards. R172:2

The whole Church--prophets, saints, and them that fear his name, small and great. R58:4*

It does not follow that, because mentioned or raised first, that the prophets would be in the first resurrection. R227:2

To the saints -- All the faithful in Christ Jesus. R2993:4

All the holy ones. R5563:6

This change, or resurrection, will take place in the close of this Gospel age, at or during the sounding the last Trumpet--the Seventh Trumpet. R1260:4

Since the resurrection of the Church must occur some time during the "harvest" period, we reasonably infer that in the spring of 1878 all the "overcomers" were raised spirit beings. C234

During the Gospel dispensation, and by the spirit of Christ, the members of the Body are being prepared, and during the sounding of the Seventh Trumpet they will all be rewarded. R22:6*

Them that fear thy name -- The world of mankind. They will be judged, have the decision passed upon them, according to the way in which they will conduct themselves under the Millennial conditions. R5563:6

Showing the reward of all who will come into harmony with the Lord during the thousand years. R5567:6, 2993:4, 2935:3

All the children of Adam, bought with the precious blood of Christ, are to be justified from their condemnation and set at liberty. SM616:1

All the sheep class during the Millennium. Q652:T

It is evident that not one kernel of true wheat will be left out of the Kingdom. R116:6*

Small and great -- In the widest sense, the Kingdom will gradually include all subjects who obey its laws, while all others will be destroyed. D643

All Christians, whatever their grade of development, are thus included. Some occupy a position with Christ in his throne, while many serve him before the throne. R56:6*

Destroy them -- If they shall reject instruction and cling to sin and injustice, they shall be adjudged worthy of the second death. R2993:3 Because (1) all such will always be more or less discontented and unhappy; (2) because they would mar the joy of those who love peace and righteousness; and (3) because God has promised a clean world. R3083:6 The time for the destruction of all evil will be in the future. Q651:1 This verse contains so much that a thousand years will be required for its fulfillment. R5564:1 Destroy Babylon. R159:5*

Which destroy -- Which corrupt. R5567:6, 5564:1, 3083:6, 2993:4; D623; F398

The willful sinners, destroying from amongst the people all who will not hear his voice, putting down all sin and all insubordination. F398

Those that give forth a corrupting influence and that refuse to come into harmony with righteousness during the thousand years will be destroyed from amongst the people. R5567:6

Everything that pertains to "the body of sin." (Rom. 6:6) Q652:T

Revelation 11:19

Temple of God -- The Church glorified, the heavenly Jerusalem. R638:5*

Testament -- This word in the original Greek is the same as the word covenant. PT356:2*

There were lightnings -- The voices, and lightnings, and thunder, and earthquake, and hail, at the ending of the Seventh Trumpet and last plague are clearly the same. HG83:6

After the sounding of the Seventh Trumpet some specially clear and open views would be granted of God's glorious Temple, and in connection with this there would also be some illumination upon that. PT356:3*

One issue of the Watch Tower would have one flash, and the next issue would have another flash. PT356:4*

Lightning naturally has three effects: (1) it enlightens or illuminates the way for some; (2) it brings death and disaster to some; (3) it frightens others. PT356:4*

And voices -- Following the flashes of light there were discussions by the brethren. PT357:1*

And thunderings -- Thunderings give us the idea of rumblings in heavenly places--dissatisfaction and fault-finding. PT357:2*

An earthquake -- We find in many places an earthquake-like shaking going on over the subject of the covenants. PT357:3*

The special light upon the covenants and the various experiences therewith were to be a preparation for a great out-pouring of truth. PT357:4*

And great hail -- "Stones of congelation"; probably not meteoric stones, but great hail of frozen water. R3344:3*

Just as rain is a symbol of truth, so hail conveys the thought of hard, condensed truth. PT357:4*

Revelation 12

Revelation 12:1

And there appeared -- As chapters 12, 13 and 17 contain repeated descriptions of the false kingdom--anti-Christ--so chapters 20 to 22 contain eight portraits of the true Kingdom. R330:2

The picture begins prior to Papacy's development. R306:2

The woman was seen about 308 AD, in the "Smyrna" stage, as described in Rev. 2:8-10. R306:3

In heaven -- Place of control or rulership in spiritual control. R306:2; A318; D591

A woman -- The early Church. D591

The Gospel Church. R55:2, 306:2; OV410:1

Clothed with -- Resplendent in the full, clear light of the unclouded Gospel. D591

The Gospel Church covered with the precious promises of God and the glorious light of truth. R306:2, 55:2

The sun -- The light of this Gospel age. R2833:6; D544

The Gospel. OV410:2; R499:4; SM670:2

The Church of Christ has a special enlightenment in the Gospel. HG418:2

Symbol of Christ's Kingdom. R5191:3, 2270:6, 1289:3

The moon -- The Jewish system, the Mosaic Law. HG418:3; OV410:2; SM670:2

The moon signifies the typically reflected light of the Gospel in the Law and the prophets of the previous dispensation. R2833:6, 306:2, 55:2; D544

It was light, but not the real; only reflected light. R55:2

As the sun is a symbol of Christ's Kingdom, so the moon symbolized Israel as a nation. The 12, and sometimes 13, lunations symbolize the tribes of that nation. R5191:3, 2270:6, 1289:3

As the moon symbolized "the Law," so the sun symbolizes the Gospel light.

The former was but a shadow or reflection of the latter. R499:4

The moon symbolized the Law Covenant as the sun symbolizes the Gospel or New Covenant. R2124:2, 5002:6

Under her feet -- The Law which supports her is nevertheless not the source of her light. D591; OV410:2

Not under the Law (moon) but under Grace (sunlight); yet she was supported by the teachings of the Law and rested on the foundation of the apostles and prophets. R306:2, 55:2

A crown -- Appointed by God to be the circle, the crown, of the Church. CR125:2

Twelve stars -- The twelve apostles as special lights of the Church.

R3570:2, 306:2, 55:2; D544, 591; OV396:1

Her divinely appointed and inspired teachers. OV410:1; SM670:1

The twelve apostles, the twelve stars to guide the Church, and the twelve foundation stones of the New Jerusalem. (Rev. 21:14) R5742:1; CR78:2

Teachers, especially the apostles. R1757:6

One being chosen in place of one of the original, Judas, who was lost, so that the twelve might be maintained. NS657:5; R5741:6; OV410:1

The twelve apostles have no successors. There are but "twelve apostles of the Lamb," "twelve stars," "twelve foundations" of the Church glorified, the New Jerusalem. (John 6:70; Rev. 21:14) E207; R5002:6; NS657:5;

OV159:4, 410:3; SM670:2

If God ordained only twelve stars as lights for his Church, it is a great mistake for popes and bishops to regard themselves as successors of the apostles--stars also. D594; OV247:4

Revelation 12:2

Travailing in birth -- The favor of Rome came by the conversion of Constantine, AD 313. There the labor pangs of tribulation ceased, and Papacy was born. R306:3

Pained to be delivered -- Persecuted and reviled. R306:4, 55:2

Revelation 12:3

Another wonder -- Continued persecutions caused some to relax their vigilance for the truth, and a spirit or desire to please and get into favor with the persecuting "dragon" came over some. R306:3

In heaven -- Symbolizing the place of control or rulership. Both woman and dragon are said to be in heaven--the woman, or church, in spiritual control--the dragon, or empire, in political control. R306:2

Great red dragon -- The Pagan Roman Empire. R306:2, 44:3

In chapter 12 its characteristics as a purely civil power; in chapter 13 as a compound of "church and state" and in chapter 17 as a dual power with church and state, "woman" and "beast" kept distinct. HG20:4

The same as the "beast" in Rev. 17:3 and the "dragon" in Rev. 20:1. HG76:3

Seven heads -- Rome's successive and distinct forms of government.

R306:2, 55:2

First, Consular, BC 30; Second, Imperial, BC 27; Third, Gothic, AD 476;

Fourth, Papacy, AD 538; Fifth, Republic, AD 1798; Sixth, Restored Papacy, AD 1870; Seventh, Victor Emanuel. HG20:3

Ten horns -- Divisions of power. Mentioned to identify Rome as the same beast, or government, described by Daniel and elsewhere in Revelation.

R306:2, 55:2

Revelation 12:4

Drew the third part -- The continued persecutions created a desire to get into favor with the persecuting dragon and some of the "bright ones" in the church became his followers, or servants. R306:3, 55:2

In hopes of having favor with the empire and escaping persecution. R55:2

Stars of heaven -- The bright ones, or ministers and teachers in the church. R55:2

Cast them to the earth -- Degraded by becoming followers of the dragon. R306:3

As a result, they lose their position as stars in the true Church. R55:2

Revelation 12:5

She brought forth -- Her anxiety and desire produced a pre-mature birth--"The Man of Sin." R306:4, 55:2

A man child -- Not yet the "Man of Sin," in the same sense that a child is not a man; but it was the beginning of what resulted in Papacy--"The Man of Sin." R306:3

AD 314--at first a weak child. R306:4, 55:2

Rule all nations -- Some so rejoiced at the favors of Rome that they fancied that in this way God would give them the kingdom of the world promised. R306:4

Millions were brought into the church from Paganism. But the change was mostly in name, for the pagan priests became Christian priests, and pagan holidays came to be called by Christian names. R306:3

Accomplished within 300 years. R306:4, 55:3

When the Lord is reigning with his saints. R1149:4 Caught up unto God -- Exalted to the position and titles, homage and praise of the true "seed," so that "he as God sat in the temple (church) of God showing himself that he is God." (2 Thes. 2:4) R306:4, 55:2

Revelation 12:6

The woman -- The true Church. B329; R5741:6

Into the wilderness -- In the case of the third Elijah, the Church in the flesh, the woman Jezebel is mentioned by name (Rev. 2:20); and her pernicious work, the flight of the Church into the wilderness, and her return from the wilderness condition since the Reformation times are all known. R3326:6; B256

The true Church is the Church in the wilderness, separate from the world, and under the divine protection and guidance. R1841:6

See comments on verse 14.

Days -- A day representing a year. HG49:3

Revelation 12:7

War in heaven -- A conflict or controversy between the two elements--the church and the empire--when this son of the church attempted to take the ruling position. R306:4, 55:3

Michael and his angels -- Not the same Michael referred to in Dan. 12:1, which is a literal statement. It would be out of order to have a real Michael fight a symbolic dragon. R306:5, 55:3

The Papacy and its supporters. R306:5, 55:3

Meaning, "Who as God"; in close accord with Paul's description--"He as God sitteth in the temple of God." (2 Thes. 2:4) R306:5, 55:3

The dragon -- Pagan rulers, etc. R306:5, 55:2; B288

The great dragon -- Pagan Roman Empire. R306:2,5, 55:2, 44:3

The same as in Rev. 20:1. HG23:4

Cast out -- The conflict between Papal and Pagan power resulted in the gradual overthrow of the latter. R306:5, 55:3

This casting down of the dragon or civil power, continued for several hundred years, until about AD 752 when Pepin asked the sanction of the Pope to ascend the throne of France. R306:4, 55:3

That old serpent -- "In that day the Lord with his sore and great and strong sword shall punish Leviathan, the piercing serpent, even Leviathan, that crooked serpent, and he shall slay the dragon that is in the midst of the sea." (Isa. 27:1) R171:6

Confirming the story of the fall. A61

The Devil -- An appropriate name--for Rome, when viewed in the light of its bloody persecutions, certainly has been the most devilish of all earthly governments. A258

Not merely the person of the Adversary, but all the system of things of which he has stood as representative. Here, a great religious system.

R4609:3

The Roman Empire. R44:3

Satan's invisible kingdom has acted largely through the visible city and government of Rome, and by the same law of correspondence the Roman empire, the beast with seven heads and ten horns, is called "the Devil and Satan." R56:5*

Which deceiveth -- He blinds the minds of unbelievers by hiding the light of the gospel of Christ in presenting his own version of the truth. R5849:2

Revelation 12:10

A loud voice -- A great proclamation. R306:5, 55:4

The kingdom of our God -- Papacy claimed that when it assumed control that "the kingdom of God and the power of his anointed" had come to the world. R306:5, 55:4

Him -- Satan the accuser. R1293:2*

Their lives -- Greek, psuche; souls, beings. E338

Revelation 12:12

Therefore rejoice -- Let Papacy and all connected therewith rejoice.
R306:6, 55:4

Woe to the inhabitants -- As the Church had once been persecuted when Paganism reigned, so now when she reigns she makes the Pagans and heretics suffer. This Papacy claims as the Millennial reign. R306:6, 55:4

The devil is come down -- This part of the Revelation is in the past.
Q646:7

Because he knoweth -- Therefore the foe is growing more subtle and more intangible, but not the less real. R479:3*

Revelation 12:13

When the dragon -- The dragon has various heads. Here it has taken on its fifth head--Papacy. It was the same Rome under a new rulership, or head, and the same power which had previously persecuted the Church--the empire and its army. R306:6, 55:4

Hereafter the dragon represents the empire or military power under the control of its ecclesiastical head. R306:6, 55:4

Persecuted the woman -- In contrast, it says of another woman, "the whole that sitteth upon many waters:" "And I saw the woman drunken with the blood of the saints, and with the blood of the martyrs of Jesus."
(Rev. 17:1-6) R471:6

The woman -- The true Church. B329; R5751:5, 5741:6

Two wings -- The same as the two witnesses elsewhere mentioned: the Word of God, Old and New Testament Scriptures. R307:2, 55:5

Which now showed the true Church from which the Papacy had sprung her true condition--on earth instead of, as at first, above the earth, with the moon under her feet. R55:5

Fly into the wilderness -- Literally, "the place deserted." R55:5
Into solitude, an outcast because of her fidelity to the truth. B329;
R5628:2

Apparently she went into the wilderness condition of her own accord, voluntarily. R5628:2

The scapegoat went into the wilderness, but not voluntarily. R5628:2

A period of ostracism, separation, but not necessarily persecution. R5628:3

Separate from the world and from Babylon--"without the camp" (city).

R307:1, 5628:2

A condition of harmony with God, not with the world. R55:5

The wilderness represents disrespect--an outcast condition, while city represents the reverse --popularity, honor, respect, dominion, kingdom.

R307:1

In other words, she has been in disfavor, ignored and, to the worldly wise, unknown. HG411:6

Out of public view--through the long period of the Dark Ages no history of the true Church was written, just as no such history or record of her can be written today. SM123:2

The Lord's people can be in this condition even while surrounded by all the affairs of the world. R5628:2

One must get out of Babylon into a separate or wilderness condition to get a good view of the harlot or her daughters. (Rev. 17:3, 5) R307:3

Because of the power of Papacy, which, in Revelation, is likened to the woman Jezebel who persecuted Elijah. R3293:2

As Elijah fled from Jezebel and Ahab into the wilderness, to a place prepared of God, where he was nourished. R557:3

See comments on verse 6.

Her place -- The [nominal] church left the wilderness and wandered off toward the world's city, and joined with them, thus leaving "her place."

R307:1

The Lord will take the Church out of the "wilderness" into the "city" condition--the New Jerusalem. (Rev. 21:2) R307:1

She is nourished -- Miraculously sustained of the Lord. R5741:6, 5751:5

God knew all the strong ones and fed them, and they became so strong as to be willing to seal their faith with their blood. Millions were put to death by Papacy. R307:2

Time, and times, and half a time -- Elsewhere styled forty-two months, or 1260 days. (Rev. 11:2, 3; 13:5) R5741:6, 5751:5, 4741:2, 3408:4, 389:2*; B91; C64; HG50:2; Q846:2

The 3-1/2 years of Elijah's experiences while hiding in the wilderness from Queen Jezebel corresponded to the 1260 years of the true Church in the wilderness condition. R5857:4, 5751:3

The long period of time when the true Church was eclipsed by the success of Babylon marked the time of great spiritual drouth. R5741:6, 5751:3, 4741:2, 557:3; PD46/56

From 538 AD to 1798 AD. R4741:2; PD46/56

Some Bible scholars have applied this period as beginning in 539 AD and ending in 1798 AD, at the time when Napoleon Bonaparte took the Pope of Rome prisoner to Paris. R5751:3, 5742:1, 307:2, 55:5

May also apply from 325 AD with the formulation of the first great creed, the Nicene, to 1585 AD, when the Reformation began. R5742:1

The great drouth that prevailed throughout Christendom from the year 300 until the time of the Reformation. R3408:4

The drouth really began about 539 AD. R3408:3

Greek, kairos; signifying a fixed time. B78

Revelation 12:15

The serpent -- Satan. R360:1*; C65

The dragon--empire, under its Papal head. R307:2

Cast out -- Truth would issue forth from evil agencies, and with an evil intent. C65

Water as a flood -- Water represents truth, and the symbol preserves its meaning even though it is said to issue from the mouth of the dragon or serpent. C65

The French Revolution was instigated by many stern truths regarding priest-craft and king-craft, and regarding the individual rights and liberties of all--"The Rights of Man." C65

Marking both the end of Papal power and the beginning of the Lord's "Day of Preparation" or "Time of the End." C67

People--army. R307:2, 55:5

After the woman -- Its real object, from Satan's standpoint, was to overwhelm the "woman" (the protesting Church of God). C65

Revelation 12:16

The earth -- The Roman earth. C67

Society, order-loving people. C66; R307:2

Helped -- Spared the Church of God from being overwhelmed. D67

The French Revolution, during which the Catholic priests suffered terribly. This was a picture on a small scale of the approaching great cataclysm. R5750:2

As Elijah was fed by ravens and by the widow. (1 Kings 17:5, 9) R557:3; B256

Swallowed up the flood -- The flood of truth which spread over France--arraigning Papacy and its priest-craft, and monarchy and its parasitic aristocracy was swallowed up, or absorbed, by the people of Europe generally. C66

When the rulers of Europe formed "The Holy Alliance" to suppress the liberties of the people and perpetuate their own thrones, it was too late to fetter the people. D67

The army formerly used in conquest was used in hunting down "dissenters." Had it not been that frequent troubles from other sources (earth) demanded attention, the army might have exterminated the true Church. R307:2, 55:5

Remnant of her seed -- Who joined not in the apostasy. R306:6, 55:4

Revelation 13

Revelation 13:1

The sea -- The general masses of mankind, not under religious restraint. R318:3, 63:3

A beast -- Papacy. It corresponds to the "man child" of the preceding chapter. R318:3

In some respects, Papacy was a new government, or beast, distinct from the old Roman Empire; and in others, it was a horn or power among others out of that empire. B305 A beast represents a government. The ten-horned beast represents the Papal government, which for a time ruled over all Europe, then the Roman Empire. R5349:1, 1409:4, 497:5

Its character is described as "That Wicked One," "The Man of Sin," "The Mystery of Iniquity," "The Antichrist," "The Son of Perdition" and "The Abomination of Desolation." B271, 276; R2174:5

God has measurably confined his prophetic utterances to the system which was the seat of the beast--the Church of Rome and her daughters; omitting others such as: Confucianism, Buddhism, Mohammedanism and the Greek Church. R366:2

Out of the sea -- A government which came up from among the irreligious masses. In other words, the Roman Empire passed under a new rulership--the leopard beast. R318:3, 63:3

Seven heads -- Governments. HG21:4

(1) Consular Rome--BC 30; (2) Imperial Rome--BC 17; (3) Gothic--AD 476; (4) Papacy--AD 538; (5) Republic--AD 1798; (6) Restored Papacy--AD 1800; (7) Victor Emmanuel--AD 1870. HG20:6

Ten horns -- The great "city," Babylon, is divided into ten different wards, each of which represents one of the kingdoms of Christendom. (Compare Rev. 11:13; Dan. 2:41; 7:7) SM405:4

Ten powers which gave to the beast their support, strength, and protection. R63:5

Kingdoms. R318:5

Revelation 13:2

And the beast -- Ecclesiastical empire. R318:5

The Papal system. Dvi; R2495:6; OV270:8; SM234:2

It has certain qualities which resemble the first three beasts of Dan. 7--the lion, bear and leopard--described as representing Babylon, Persia and Greece. R318:3

This new beast would combine certain leading characteristics of the preceding empires and unite them in the power of the last--the Roman. R318:3

The same as that mentioned in Rev. 16:13. Dvi; OV270:8; SM234:2

Like unto a leopard -- The leopard, the third beast of Daniel--Grecia--was the center of learning, piety and wisdom. So Papacy based its claim on being the center of learning, piety and wisdom. R318:5
Other peculiarities of the leopard are its activity, vigilance and secretiveness. So with Papacy. R318:5

A leopard is spotted irregularly, so too Papacy's policy varies in various parts of the earth. R318:5

Illustrating its spotted, or varied character. R994:3

Or, mottled government. In one place it is liberal, almost white in its professions; in another quarter it is black, corrupt, degrading, brutal; and in still other places it has various neutral and tawny shades. R2538:6
Papacy is the most crafty and guileful institution on earth.

Chameleon-like it adapts itself to its surroundings, flourishing on ignorance and superstition in some countries or posing as the friends of education in the U.S. R2308:4

Roman Catholicism seems to adapt itself to every circumstance. It is black in one place, white in another, and grey in another, just as the civilization of the people will permit. R994:1

Its spots showing mixture, or church and empire combined. R63:3

The full liberty of the church of Rome would mean the liberty of the leopard beast, and as of yore would mean no personal liberty, but a great destruction amongst the true sheep and lambs of the true Shepherd. R2047:4

The church of Rome consists only of the clergy--the Pope, the "father" and all bishops, priests, monks, etc.--"brothers." R318:6

Feet of a bear -- The bear's feet suggest persistency. Like the bear empire, Medo-Persia, besieging for years; so Papacy moves cautiously and gets possession of kingdoms by strategy rather than by battle. R318:4

A bear hugs its prey to death with its paws. R318:4

Mouth of a lion -- Babylon, celebrated for its splendor and pride--the lion, the king or ruler of all beasts--so Papacy had a mouth claiming to be the kingdom over all kingdoms by divine right. R318:3

The dragon -- The Roman empire. R44:3

Civil power, pagan Rome. The same which Daniel saw in vision called the "fourth beast dreadful and terrible." (Dan. 7:7) R318:3, 63:3

Purely civil power. Dv; OV270:7

Gave him his power -- For a time it became the only representative of that dominion. R318:5

And his seat -- Pontifex Maximus--Chief Priest or Greatest Religious Ruler--is the title claimed by and given to the pontiffs or popes of the Roman empire from this time. B288

Revelation 13:3

Wounded to death -- In the Reformation work when Luther, Zwingli and others opposed the teachings of Papacy, Scripturally identifying them as the "Mystery of Iniquity," "Anti-Christ" and "The Man of Sin." R319:5, 63:5 By the "Sword of the Spirit" in the hands of the early Protestants. R994:6 Various small German principedoms were found on the side of the Reformers. Soon Belgium, Holland, Norway, Sweden, Switzerland and others withdrew all allegiance to the Pope. R319:5

Deadly wound -- Since the Reformation Papacy has been slain with the Sword of the Spirit, the Word of God. R3082:2

Was healed -- By the after course of the Reformation. C50

Papacy's wound began to heal from the time the Reformation church united to worldly empires, for how could the Reformers any longer use the Sword of the Spirit against Papacy as a church-state organization when they themselves were the same? R64:1, 319:6; C112

Wondered -- The various kingdoms (horns) soon learned that their hold of power was strengthened, rather than weakened, by allegiance to Papacy. R318:5

After the beast -- The people respected the beast because of its peculiarities--leopard body and lion mouth. R318:5

Revelation 13:4

They worshipped the dragon -- They respected the civil power all the more, because it had so honored ecclesiastical authority. R318:5 The people honored both the empire and the ecclesiastical or church power, finally concluding that the beast, ecclesiastical power, was stronger. R63:3

Paganism. R63:3; B288

Which -- Because. R63:3

Who is able -- Who would be able to withstand the withering curse of Papacy, the spiritual empire? R319:1

To make war -- To contend. R63:3

Revelation 13:5

A mouth -- Lion-like, strong--terrible utterances. R319:1 The mouth of Antichrist is one of its leading characteristics. B305

Speaking great things -- Every title which the Scriptures apply to the true Christ, and every prophecy describing his future Kingdom and its glory has been applied by the popes to themselves and their kingdom. R1093:6

A detailed list of titles claimed by the Papacy. B307

Making boastful claims. Therefore it should not surprise us that God should ordain as part of its reward that it should eat its own words--"bite their tongues." (Rev. 16:10, 11) R509:6

Power was given -- Authority. R319:1

Permission to execute and put to death saints of God, whom it called "heretics." R319:1, 63:3 Forty and two months -- AD 538 to 1798. R63:3

Forty-two months--1260 days--3-1/2 times, or years. (Rev. 11:1, 3; 12:6, 14; 13:5) B91; C64; R5751:3, 5741:6, 4741:2, 319:2; HG50:2; Q846:2

AD 1799, marked by Napoleon's Egyptian campaign, sealed and defined the limits of Papal dominion over the nations. C50

Its time for speaking is not limited; it still speaks. But not so its time for acting; it had power to act forty and two months. R63:3

Some scholars have applied this period as beginning in 539 AD and ending in 1798 AD when Napoleon Bonaparte took the Pope of Rome prisoner to Paris. R5751:3, 4741:2, 63:3; PD46/56

1798--there the delusion that none could successfully war or contend with Papacy was shown. R319:2

The dread of the Beast has not been so great since, and the various horns (kingdoms) which once defended, have made war with the woman. The dominion has been taken away. R319:2

That long period of time when the true Church was eclipsed by the success of Babylon marked the time of great spiritual drouth. R5741:6, 4741:2

Pictured by the time of Jezebel's persecution, when Elijah hid in the wilderness and there was no rain for 1260 days. PD46/56

See comments on Rev. 12:6, 14.

Revelation 13:6

In blasphemy -- Blasphemy is applicable to any indignity offered to God. Bouwier defines it thus: "Blasphemy is to attribute to God that which is contrary to his nature, and does not belong to him--and to deny what does." B306

Among the blasphemous pretensions of Antichrist should be remembered several of its doctrines, particularly the doctrine of the Mass. B318

Against God -- The beast power was a slur upon God and upon the true coming Kingdom. R319:2

Blaspheme his name -- In the thousand numerous edicts, bulls and decretals issued in his name, by the long line of those who claimed, as vicegerents, to represent his Son. B306

And his tabernacle -- The true Church, blasphemed by the false system which claimed to take its place, claiming its faithful were the true and only tabernacle or church of God. B306

Revelation 13:7

Make war with the saints -- A detailed historical documentation of the persecutions of true Christians by the Papacy. B328-353

Power was given him -- Four stages in the increase of power, and four corresponding stages in the fall from power outlined. B355, 356

Over all kindreds -- Papacy's authority as a spiritual empire or "kingdom of God" was generally acknowledged. R319:2

Revelation 13:8

Are not -- Some names are to be blotted out. Unfaithfulness on our part would cause our names to be blotted out of this book. NS69:2

All except the overcomers hastened to unite themselves with and to worship the beast and have it enroll their names on its books. R319:2

Written -- Our names are figuratively written in the book of life from the moment we exercise the proper obedient faith in Christ and make our consecration. NS69:2

It does not say when the names would be written in the Lamb's book of life. R2540:4

Book of life -- The church of Christ is not an earthly organization with names upon sectarian rolls of membership, but instead is a heavenly union and communion "whose names are written in heaven." R2547:4, 2545:3, 1309:2, 319:2

The book of life now open is merely for the overcomers of this present time. With the end of this age this book of life will be permanently closed. NS69:4

The "book of remembrance." (Mal. 3:16, 17) NS69:2

Of the Lamb -- This book of life record is one of the consequences of our Lord's death. R2540:4

Slain -- As the redemption price. Q781:2, 801:2

Taking the place in death of the condemned race. HG120:4

Christ dying for us was Jehovah's original plan, and that before sin entered. His wisdom and love provided, and beheld in the distance "the Lamb of God." R788:3

In the counsel of God. R875:3*

In the divine purpose and arrangement--though only now being made manifest to the Church, and shortly to the world. NS437:1

From the foundation -- The whole matter had been divinely arranged from before the creation of man. Everything pertaining to that slain Lamb was foreknown by the Father. R5421:6, 5150:1, 875:3

In the divine purpose, the ransom-price was provided from before the foundation of the world. In another sense, when the contract was made between Jehovah and the Logos; and in another sense, when Jesus reached full human perfection at age 30. Q568:4; R5880:2, 5641:4, 4463:5
The entire transaction was aside from humanity. Our heavenly Father planned it all from before the creation of the world. NS623:4
God's plans from the very first recognized the corrupting and degrading tendency of sin, and provided (in purpose of mind) the Lamb of God. Q781:2, 801:2
God perceived all of our distressed conditions before he created us, and even then planned a remedy. NS650:6

Revelation 13:9

Let him hear -- Only those whose ears had been circumcised, who had the hearing of faith--to respect God and his Word--would be able to receive the foregoing statements concerning those who were deceived by Papacy. R319:3

Revelation 13:10

Leadeth into captivity -- "If any one is for captivity." R319:3

The Papal system was one of bondage. R319:3

Go into captivity -- By consenting to Papacy's dominion. R319:3

All who acknowledge Papacy's claims must of necessity render implicit obedience, as unto God. R319:3

With the sword -- Some asserted that Papacy was a usurpation. Such used the "Sword of the Spirit." (Eph. 3:19) R319:3

Killed with the sword -- Such were put to death by Papacy. R319:4

The patience -- Patient endurance. R319:3

This was a severe test of true saintship. Would they join the usurper's ranks or remain to the true King and wait for the Kingdom which he promised to establish? R319:4

Revelation 13:11

Another beast -- A similar ecclesiastical or church power to the preceding one. R319:4, 63:4

The church-nation of Great Britain and Ireland. It also is a government which combines Christianity and civil power. R5349:1

It is not a beast until it unites with the empires. R63:5, 320:2

The church of England. R4196:3; Dx; OV272:7 About 1531 the church in England threw off her allegiance to Rome and became a separate ecclesiastical government. R319:6

In the year 1200 England became subject to the Pope. In 1531, owing to a dispute between her king, Henry VIII, and the Pope, England withdrew from allegiance to Papacy. R320:2

In 1534 all payments made to the apostolic chamber, and dispensations were abolished; and monasteries were subjected to royal government. R320:3

A historian says: "Convocation declared that the Pope had no more authority in England than any other bishop." R320:3

Henceforth "the civil magistrate was supreme within the English dominions over church as well as state." R320:3

Not Mohammedanism, R319:5

Coming up -- "Ascending," coming gradually. R319:5

Out of the earth -- Springing up among a professedly religious people. R319:5

The people who had been obedient to Papacy. R63:5, 319:5

Two horns -- The church of England and Ireland. R3531:3, 5349:1, 320:2

In 1537 the Irish Parliament in Dublin passed "the act of supremacy" declaring Henry VIII as supreme head of the church and prohibiting intercourse with the court of Rome. R320:5

From 1538 to 1871--333 years--the title of the church was "The Church of England and Ireland." R320:6

On Jan. 1, 1871, by action of parliament and the consent of the Queen, the Irish church was disestablished, or that horn cast off. R320:6

It would be not at all remarkable if the second horn, England, would be separated from this beast--if the church were to be separated from the state in England. R320:6

The powers of England and Germany. R63:5

The two Napoleonic dynasties. HG93:2

Like a lamb -- Not intended to do injury. R5349:1

Not the fierce, aggressive character of the leopard. R63:5, 320:6

It used its horns only as means of defense and protection. R63:5

The two Napoleonic dynasties came up in each case as republics, and soon changed into imperial governments. HG94:4

Spake as a dragon -- It does not say "the," but "a" dragon, meaning simply that its utterances resembled those of a purely civil (dragon) power; in its words there would be little to denote it as an ecclesiastical government. R320:6, 63:6

The dragon represents purely civil power and the government of Great Britain, though nominally religious, speaks, or governs as a dragon, or purely civil power. R5349:1

Exerciseth all the power -- The church of England claimed all the powers and authority which Papacy claimed. R321:1

The King James Version was authorized to be read by "the mighty King James, the head of the church of England and Ireland." R321:3

Although the two-horned beast claimed less, its greater humility did not operate against it. R63:6

Of the first beast -- Papacy. R320:6, 3531:3

Following exactly the example of Papacy in blending civil with ecclesiastical powers, and also making the same person, Henry VIII, and his successors, head of all power. R319:6

The "Great Seal of England" depicts the Queen holding in her hand a globe surmounted by a cross, declaring her as head of the church universal. The exact image you see in the hands of the Pope in many pictures. R320:4

Before him -- Or, "in his presence;" showing that the second does not take the place of the first beast, but that they exist contemporaneously. R320:6, 63:6

Worship -- Respect. R321:1

By putting down the infidel reign of terror, and restoring the Papal religion. HG94:5

The first beast -- Protestant denominations will be unified and, though separate, yet be brought into cooperation with Papacy. D581

When Protestants justified their own church and empire organization they virtually caused all, Papists and Protestants, to worship, respect and honor the Papal church. R64:1

By establishing a similar system, devoid of some of the grosser Papal errors, it attracted the attention of all to those errors as being the only possible fault of Papacy. R321:1

Was healed -- Instead of progressing with the cleansing, the reformers gave attention to organizing themselves, and to revamping many of the old Papal dogmas, at first so loudly condemned. C111

Papacy's wound began to heal from the time the Reformation church united to worldly empires, for how could the Reformers any longer use the Sword of the Spirit against Papacy as a church-state organization when they themselves were the same? R64:1, 319:6; C112

By the after course of the Reformation. C50

Revelation 13:13

Doeth great wonders -- Miracles to deceive, yet professing a pious intention, are plainly spoken of as being done in the last days. (Matt. 24:24; 2 Thes. 2:9) R617:6*

Satan is now operating to produce a Protestant "image of the beast" with life, which will cooperate with the chief anti-Christ, Papacy. In combination with these will be the powers of darkness--Spiritism, Christian Science, Theosophy, Hypnotism, etc. R2174:5

Maketh fire -- Judgments and punishments. R64:1, 321:2

That is, to punish in the name of the Lord, those who in any sense of the word it shall consider to be its opponents. R5349:4

From heaven -- Both beasts are now in "heaven," or in authority. R64:1, 321:2

This government, like Papacy, claimed heavenly power. Its denunciations were regarded as being from heaven, judgments or fire being called down upon offenders. R321:2

Revelation 13:14

And deceiveth -- Into supposing that the new combination will be God's instrumentality for doing the work predicted of Messiah--and that it is thus his representative. D581

By the pretentious claims of divine right and appointment. R64:2

Them that dwell on the earth -- Not "the earth" itself. R64:1

We make a distinction between the earth and those who dwell on it. The earth symbolizes those supporting the beast. "Those dwelling on it" are independent Christians who do not support either of these systems. R321:2, 64:2

Saying to them -- By example. R321:3, 64:3

A detailed explanation of how "Apostolic Succession," by example, encouraged others to protect the "authority" of those who would preach from the pulpits. R321:4, 64:2

They required an organized government of the clergy over the common people, like to Papacy in form, in fact, an "image of that beast." R64:3

Its design is to increase the power and authority of Protestantism, just as the formation of the leopard beast was the result of a desire to increase the power and authority of Papacy. R64:4

One of the stated objects of the Evangelical Alliance, we believe the principal one, was to "Promote between the different Evangelical denominations an effective cooperation in the efforts to repel common enemies and dangers." R321:5

That they should -- The Sinaitic manuscript adds the word "also" in this verse--"That they also should make an image." R64:4

Make an image -- A very exact representation of the beast. Dviii; R4689:6, 64:5; OV271:5

Organized sectarian Protestantism. R497:2; OV234:2

Church Federation. R3873:4

The Protestant Federation of Churches. Dviii; R4689:6; OV271:5

Another name for the "false prophet." Dvii; OV271:5; SM234:2

A federation on the plan of the union of the several states in the United States of America. This is really a revival of "The Evangelical Alliance," but it will include the Episcopal church and thus get "life." R3601:3, 4523:2

Church Federation sessions open Nov. 15, 1905. All the large Christian denominations are to participate. The object will be to find a basis of cooperation. R3672:4

The image was formed in 1846 AD In that year, the Protestant denominations, especially in the United States, allied themselves as the "Evangelical Alliance." R5349:2, 4523:2, 3873:4, 3390:1, 2092:6, 1845:6, 1474:2, 1409:4, 321:5; Dx

In London, Aug. 19, 1846, there assembled representatives of all the leading protestant denominations of Europe and America, who there organized under the name "Evangelical Alliance." R64:4

The U.S. branch came later. R1845:2

Perceiving that individual Bible study would lead to individual creeds, and to prevent what seemed to them a loss of power, they planned a union of Protestants in a system call the Evangelical Alliance. Dix; OV272:5

The alliance endeavored to establish a standard of orthodoxy. This attempted authority, or power, constituted it an image of the Papal beast, or government. R5349:2

The Evangelical Alliance, while claiming to have unified the sects, is really a truce between them by which they agree not to war against each other, but to unite in opposing any views which conflict with their main points of agreement. R693:6

It was at a convention of the Protestant Episcopal church of the United States that the proposition for a Protestant Union or Confederacy was first extended to other Protestant denominations. R1870:2

Recognition of the church of England as a sister church of Rome must fail because Revelation points out a federation of Protestants as the "image," clearly distinguishing between the "image" and the original "beast"--Papacy--while showing they will be considerably in fellowship. R2046:3

Baptists have as little error as any of the sects. In the days of Bunyan they were very near the apostolic arrangement for the Church. But it has drifted into the popular sectarian channel, and is now as much a member of the "image" as any other sect. R607:5

The "image of the beast" is yet to hold a very prominent place in the coming "time of trouble." HG94:4

From 1800 to 1870 Papacy was again a head of Rome. This restored Papacy, however, was but an image of its former self; and in the prophecy, is called "the image of the beast." HG20:6

The first Napoleon did say to the thirty-five cardinals met in Venice in 1800 to restore the Papacy. They elected a new Pope, under whom they reorganized. HG93:5

Papal dominion was taken away in 1798. Shortly afterward, Papacy was restored, but in a new character. HG93:2

The second horn, or second Napoleonic dynasty, supported the image and gave it life by keeping its troops in Rome until September 1870. HG93:5

The consolidation of Protestant systems, as an institution. R2495:6

To the beast -- Papacy. R321:3, 4523:3

By their action they were following Papacy's tactics, and in that alliance they did make the image of the beast. R321:5

They saw the power of the Papal argument, that it is the church, and that all others are heretical. In this sense it was a copy, or image, of the Papal institution. R5349:2

It would prove its likeness to the original Papal system, which is imaged by violent suppressions of the truth and persecution of its defenders.

R3873:4, 1474:2

The image or likeness of this organization to the "beast" consists in its doctrines, and in its general policy. R1409:4

As Papacy established the priesthood over the church, so Protestantism has established almost the same. R322:1, 65:1

Doctrinally and practically, Protestantism has been drawing closer and closer every year to the parent system. They so closely resemble the original that few points of difference are discernible, either by themselves or by the world. R595:6

They achieved and obtained the same result sought and obtained by Papacy at the inception of its organization, though brought about in a different manner. R694:1

How much the image resembles the Papal beast may be judged from the fact that the Papacy acknowledged the Image by the Pope sending "greetings" to the 1879 meeting of the Evangelical Alliance. R321:5

The proposal to have the chief executive of the United States preside at the meeting for proposed federation is significant of the close political alliance which will result. R3601:5

Parallels to King Nebuchadnezzar and his image are presented in Revelation as "the beast and his image." R2495:5

By a sword -- The sword is the Word of God, and Papacy received such a wound during the Reformation. R63:5

The "Sword of the Spirit." R319:6

Revelation 13:15

He had power -- The two-horned beast. R322:2, 3698:1, 2495:6; Dx

The vitality of the image is to come from the church of England. R5349:3

Which is not a party to the Evangelical Alliance. Dx; OV272:7

Give life -- Before the image could do any particular harm it must receive life from the two-horned beast. Dx; OV272:7

Energy--the effect of apostolic succession. R3698:1, 3390:1, 322:3; Dxi; SM239:2

The Image could not accomplish its purpose because it did not know how to operate. The denominations were united only in name, but worked against each other. Outside denominations claimed them unauthorized. Dxi

As a result the image had no power to act; it was trodden upon; and to get vitality--life--it would need apostolic succession as a basis for operation. Dxi; OV273:1

The Scriptures intimate that the church of England will become intimate and will give it apostolic authority to preach. Dix; OV273:2

"Apostolic succession" was vested in the Roman church and also in the English church on account of its being at first a secession from Papacy, rather than a reformation. R322:2

The Evangelic Alliance of 1842 was the start of it. It would be in full bloom when the Episcopal body should associate and lend the dignity of its claimed "apostolic ordination." R3697:2

The "Evangelical Alliance" took its start in the union movement and the formation of the image. It is probable that it will also play an important role in connection with its receiving life. R2092:6

It has been merely an image without life or power for now more than sixty years. R5349:2

The False Prophet is another name of the vitalized product of the Evangelical Alliance, which has taken the form of Church Federation. Dx; OV273:3

The giving of life and authority to the image of the beast or "False Prophet" is not far distant [1892]. R1467:5, 1356:1

It will become as active as the beast. R5349:2

By apostolic succession and supposed "authority." R1870:3, 2495:6; SM239:2
John Wesley would not sanction the giving of the "sacrament" by any except those ordained by the holy hands of an Episcopal bishop. Up to 1784 Methodists could only partake of the sacraments from Episcopal ministers. R322:2

Quite probably the clergy of other Protestant denominations will be recognized by the Episcopal system, probably by the Episcopal clergy in some manner imparting the apostolic succession. R4109:2

A proposal suggested that the blessing of apostolic succession could be imparted without any acknowledgement of receiving the boon, opening the way for a reuniting of Protestants of all denominations with the Episcopal system. R4285:6

A few years ago [1913] the Episcopal church took an important step toward vitalizing the Church Federation by giving recognition to the ministers of the denominations represented in the Evangelical Alliance. R5349:3

By opening Episcopal pulpits to other Orthodox Protestant ministers it tacitly acknowledged their ordination, and thus gave them sanction, acknowledgment, validity, life. R4196:6

This may be all, but we are inclined to expect more. We anticipate a reordination of the Federation ministers by the Episcopal church, or some other way for the Episcopal church to recognize these ministers without reordination. R5349:3

We are looking yearly for its final knot to be tied in some manner that will include other Protestant denominations, the Episcopal church, and a working agreement with the Papacy. R2554:2

By some pact or union amongst so-called Protestant denominations, with a sympathetic alliance and cooperation with the Church of Rome. R3390:1

The spark of life to the organic union begun in the Evangelical Alliance will come from the Episcopal church, which claims divine authority through apostolic succession. R3390:1

The Episcopal church is quite ready to confer this spark of authority and vitality, and we expect in a few years that Protestants will be willing in some form to accept the so-called apostolic ordination. R3390:1

The English and German churches each claim, as the Papal has always done, that theirs is the church founded by the apostles and that their ministers have apostolic succession. R64:5

Undoubtedly Church Federation is already a force, but we are to expect a still more for formal organization, and the vitalizing of the same through affiliation with the Episcopal system. R4540:2

Quite probably there will be a change of name of the Alliance about the time that the church of England joins it and gives it "life," power, vitality; so that thereafter Protestants will act with Papacy and assume a general supervision of the government and morals of the world. R1845:4

The prestige of Protestantism as a whole will be greatly augmented, though we think the term Protestantism will probably be dropped entirely as a concession to the church of Rome, to secure its favor. R1355:6

Various denominations were urging that it was far better for the different denominations to exist. Now that sentiment has all gradually given way, and they are unifying. R5329:2

Not until vitalized will the image of the beast have power to speak, to command, to enforce its edicts. R4540:2, 1356:1; Dxi

We may expect that the Federation of Churches will exercise a power in the world such as has not been since the days of Papal supremacy. R5601:3

The fact that the "two-horned beast" is not mentioned in the final struggle signifies that that system (the state church of England and Ireland) would pass out of existence as a "beast," or church and state combination. R834:2

The two-horned beast apparently loses its personality when it gives life to the image by becoming a member of the federation. R5349:5

If this be not accomplished by 1910, or evidently be very near to accomplishment at that time, we shall feel a measure of disappointment. R3390:1

The Napoleonic dynasty gave that image life; restored the Papacy to Rome and maintained it there, a mere image, as a stroke of policy, to appease the Catholic world. HG93:5

When the two-horned beast could no longer give it life, the image fell and ceased to be a head or government of Rome. HG93:5

Greek, pneuma. E174

Unto the image -- The united sects--Evangelical Alliance. R64:5

Speak -- To speak with authority to the civil powers, which authority will be used for the oppression and suppression of all that is opposed to them. R1356:1

And cause -- The result of the mechanical union will be antagonistic to the Lord's plan--unfavorable to the development of the Little Flock of saints. R1818:1

Actively suppressing liberty, and exerted powerfully against the spread of truths now being published by us. This will be but the final lifting up of the great millstone, preparatory to its being violently and quickly destroyed. R2554:2

What the Sanhedrin did in determining to oppose Jesus, the federation of churches will probably do in the way of opposing "Present Truth"--after the federation shall have become thoroughly organized and vitalized.

R4162:3

Their mistake was in too much self-confidence. The mistake which will be made by the Sanhedrin of our day will be along similar lines. R4162:3

No doubt the motives are excellent; but experience, as well as Scripture, teaches us that such power will be used dictatorially when once obtained.

R1845:5

As would not -- As in the time of Elijah, now there are doubtless 7000 or more who neither worship the Papal "beast" nor the Protestant "image."

R290:6

The fall of Babylon from steadfastness on even the first principles of the doctrines of Christ is awakening the Lord's people and calling them to come out of her. R2513:4

Worship -- Reverence. R1409:4, 1474:2

Image worship is hindering hundreds from seeing the beauties of the Word of God. R65:5

This is to be the great test or trial upon professing Christians in the end of this age, and is even now in progress. R2495:6

Shown in type in Dan. 3:18. R323:5

Image -- The Protestant Church Federation will be the outcome as soon as it receives the vitalizing breath. R5349:3

Of the beast -- Or, "or the beast." R1409:4

Should be killed -- Not necessarily physically; it may be killing in a social sense--cutting off their influence, etc. R1409:4

There are two kinds of symbolic death--political and ecclesiastical. HG94:1

Cut off as a heretic, no longer recognized as a Christian. R64:6, 322:3

The church creed is the rule, not the Word of God. If this is not sufficient, they must have a sort of church trial and excommunicate him ["kill him"]. R322:2

All who will not bow to the decrees of the Evangelical Alliance shall be exposed as heretics, shunned and cast out by all who are orthodox. R322:3

A cartoon in the Ram's Horn, entitled "The Modern Stephen," represents a faithful minister fallen in the street, surrounded by stones labeled,

Hate, Revenge, Persecution, Malice, Scandal and Ridicule. R2282:4

We expect this trouble before 1914. But it will not be the world's trouble. It will be a trouble peculiar to the Lord's consecrated ones.

R3437:1

Typified by the fiery furnace of Dan. 3:20-25. R323:6, 2495:5

Like Demetrius the silversmith (Acts 19:21-34), these oppose the truth, and go so far as public sentiment and civil government will permit in opposing the truth and those who serve it, and in inciting opposition among the masses. R2207:6

The prosperity of the Federated Protestant "image" will for a little time be so pronounced and its arrogance become so great that the sympathy of the masses will be entirely alienated and turned into bitterness. R4690:3

The Scriptures, in portraying the success of the Evangelical Alliance, show that the results will be a religious oppression and tyranny similar to that of Papacy. R1948:1

Revelation 13:16

He causeth all -- Causing the masses of the church to mark or name themselves so as to indicate a support of their claims and systems. R513:5

Commanding the people in the name of God to obey its behests, and threatening them with both temporal and spiritual punishments for any resistance. R1474:2

When the image will get life, and with it power, and when its power, like that of the Papacy when in power, it will be used against the liberties of God's truth and of the people. R1948:1

Threatening, commanding, in the name of heaven. R5601:3

The Federation is not yet so well organized that it can do very much persecuting. R5329:4

Small -- Humble. R322:4

A mark -- The Reformers were not known as Rev. or D.D., but as John Knox, Martin Luther, etc. These had their marks of God's approval, and as a result their ministry was wonderfully blest. R321:6, 65:2

The daughters have adhered so closely to the general plans, precepts and methods of the "mother" in their housekeeping that you can readily distinguish her "marks" throughout. R595:5

Another mark is the ordination of apostolic succession. R65:1

Another mark received by nearly all is sprinkling instead of baptism. R65:4

Its stamp of approval, or orthodox or evangelical "marks." R1845:5

A mark is a seal or sign of allegiance. R64:6

In their right hand -- The right hand of cooperation. R5349:4

A giving of some assistance and influence to the principles of image organization. R322:5

Giving able support with their might, power and means. R64:6, 322:5 In their foreheads -- The forehead of public confession. R5349:4, 322:5, 64:6

Revelation 13:17

No man might -- Fulfilled when, because of union, the Alliance will be able to say: "We have apostolic authority to preach. Let no one speak unless he has our sanction." Dx; OV273:2

The time is hastening on when a religious, social, political and financial "boycott" will be waged against all who will refuse to worship either the "beast" or his Protestant "image." R1766:4

Prohibiting or forbidding the free exchange of truth to those who do not recognize these systems. R513:5

May not this statement mean still more and imply that a time will come in the last days in which sound doctrine will not be endured at all. B259; R968:3

It would not be surprising if a "strong government" would some day replace this Republic and one common standard of religious belief be deemed expedient, to teach outside of which will be treated and punished as a political offense. B263

Laws may be expected gradually curtailing personal liberty under the plea of necessity, eventuating in the formulation of some "simple law of religion" thus implementing church and state in governing the United States of America. B361

Though those who say a "confederacy," a union, will succeed and cause a night to come, wherein no man can work (John 9:4) except those who worship the beast or his image, yet the truth will eventually triumph. R1002:6

Buy or sell -- Trade in the truth. B259; R968:3, 513:5, 65:5

In the spiritual marts. R5349:4, 1845:5, 322:5; Dxi; OV273:2

In the common marts or synagogues. R968:3

None may have the right to teach or preach or baptize or administer the emblems of our Lord's death. R322:5

Yet we manage to do considerable trading outside--among the people. R968:3

The fully consecrated have learned that magnificent temples are no more necessary to the preaching of the gospel now than they were in the days of the apostles. B259

One common standard of religious belief may be promulgated, to teach outside of which will be punished as a political offence. B263

As shown in the final experiences of Elijah and John the Baptist. B264; R968:4

Had the mark -- He must have a theological examination to see whether he bears all the marks and reverences the authority of the image. R65:6

Of the beast -- The declaration that all must worship either the beast or his image implies an agreement between the original Papal beast and the Protestant image. R1474:2

The image will not be antagonistic to the beast, but sympathetic and cause that all shall be in harmony either with Catholicism, or with the Protestant system. R5349:3

Or the number -- Many denominations. R65:6

All who bear the characteristics of the number--that is, free to the extent that these have no influence over their actions, professions or thoughts. R497:2

Revelation 13:18

Here is wisdom -- Though I thought I had a correct analysis of the symbols of the chapter, yet I could not claim it to be wisdom, since I could not interpret the number. R322:6

Him that hath understanding -- Of the foregoing symbol, let him prove it by a proper application of the following number. R322:6

Number of the beast -- Representing the title of Papacy. There are three Latin words inscribed on the Pope's crown, Vicarius Felii Dei, the Vicarious Son of God, an illegitimate title. Q37:2

Number of a man -- Or, reckoned after a human manner. R322:6

Six hundred threescore and six -- Several of the names of the beast and image contain exactly 18 letters, or three sixes, which written numerically, form the number 666. R355:2, 323:2

A detailed reasoning for interpreting the number in the English language, along with a number of names of the Romish and English churches containing 18 letters. R323:1

Since Greek numerals for six hundred, sixty and six are used in the oldest manuscripts it would not be proper to set forth six plus six plus six. R323:6*

Revelation 14

Revelation 14:1

A lamb -- Christ. R155:5*

On the mount Zion -- Sinai was the Mount of God in the legal and typical dispensation. Zion is the Mount of God in the Gospel age and onward; and we learn, too, that it is an heavenly and an earthly mountain. R155:5*

With him -- As Moses and Aaron met in the mount. R170:4*, 168:5*

These went up to meet Christ, their brother, in Zion--the Mountain and City of God. (Heb. 12:22, Diaglott) R155:5*

An hundred forty and four thousand -- God ordained that a certain specific number should be chosen from amongst men to be joint-heirs in the Kingdom. F179

The called, chosen and faithful. (Rev. 17:14) A295

The whole number of the elect company. CR156:3

The elect Church--the very elect, the saintly few, the Little Flock.

R5231:5, 5493:2

The twelve tribes of spiritual Israel, whose entire number was to be 144,000--twelve thousand from each tribe. R5964:6

The faithful remnant of natural Israel, who were gathered at the beginning of this Gospel age, and the faithful remnant from the Gentile Church of this age. R5548:6, 5964:6; Q756:2

The Priesthood would have been completely made up from the twelve tribes of Israel had there been a sufficient number of faithful obedient ones to make up the predestinated number of 144,000. Q756:2

When the message was proclaimed by the twelve Apostles, approximately 16,000 Jews became footstep followers. But this number was short of the 144,000. Hence, in due time, the privilege was extended to one nation after another. SM175:T

The complete Church. Hence, the resurrected saints as well as the changed living saints. R170:3* Numbered and limited--a Little Flock--the very reverse of innumerable. It is another class altogether that is described as "a great multitude which no man could number." (Rev. 7:9) R3026:1

The inhabitants of a spiritual mountain will themselves be spiritual. R155:5*

If the whole world were to keep the Law they would not belong to the spiritual seed, for God wants only 144,000. R5837:1

If all the Jews living in Jesus' day had loved God and had made a full consecration, God might have increased the number of the elect. R5837:5, 5640:6

In their foreheads -- Their advantage is largely in the divine wisdom and knowledge granted them because of their obedience to their consecration. Sealed intellectually, that they may not be in darkness with the world. R1470:5

With their harps -- The symbolic harp symbolizes the Word of God, which is the source and accompaniment of this song. NS634:5

"By the rivers of Babylon, there we sat down; yea, we wept, when we remembered Zion. We hanged our harps upon the willows in the midst thereof." (Psa. 137:1-3) NS634:1

Like those on the sea of glass. R170:3*, 168:5*

Revelation 14:3

And they sung -- Declared before men the lengths and breadths and heights and depths of the goodness and grace of the divine plan. R2570:1

All who receive this "new song" into good and honest hearts are prompt to give utterance to it; and are singing it daily, as they find opportunity, to those who have ears to hear. R2432:5

The song sung is after they are seen on Mount Zion with the Lamb, and this is in harmony with the type. After Moses and Aaron met in the Mount, Aaron did his work. R170:5*

"How shall we sing the Lord's song in a strange land?" (Psa. 137:4) NS634:2

Here and there, in a very humble manner, the saints did hum the song of Zion, though ultimately many of its joyful notes were lost, forgotten.

NS634:2

As it were -- It is not a new song, for it is the "Song of Moses and the Lamb." (Rev. 15:3) It is the old, old story of the "Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world." (John 1:29) NS634:2

A new song -- A new theme, a new message has been received into the heart and it is so happifying that it continually overflows through the lips--the Scriptures' joyful message, harmonious, metrical. NS633:3

"He giveth songs in the night." (Job 35:10) NS635:2

Before the throne -- Before the exaltation to the glory of power. R170:5*, 168:5*

Not on it. This is likely the position referred to in Luke 21:36, viz. "that ye may be accounted worthy to escape." R168:5*

No man -- It is necessary to be somewhat of an "overcomer" of the world ere any would have the courage to sing this song. R2570:1

Only the "saints," and not the worldly. NS634:4

How is it possible for those who are under the delusions of error to honor God in their hearts or to sing this song? NS635:2

The new song can be appreciated and sung only from the standpoint of "The Divine Plan of the Ages." NS635:3

We need not imply that those able to sing the song could not fall from their steadfastness and become castaways, and lose the privilege of singing it. R2570:2

Whoever leaves the way of humble faith and consecrated obedience, loses his power to sing "the song of Moses and the Lamb" harmoniously, properly. R2432:5

The Great Company, not being overcomers, cannot be of the Bride or sit with him on the throne of his highly exalted dominion. R828:4

"But the people that do know their God [his character and plan] shall be valiant and do exploits." (Dan. 11:32) R2570:1

Could learn -- Clearly and harmoniously. R2432:5

But the -- Such as are "taught of God"--only such as have been called to the high calling, and have accepted the call, and are in the way of obedience. R2432:5

Redeemed -- Greek, agorazo. The thought is that of public purchase. E430

Revelation 14:4

Not defiled -- As his Bride, we are to be separate from the world, pure in heart, undefiled by wrong union with Babylon. R3031:4

Whoever, for social, financial or other mercenary reasons, holds to that which he sees is built upon a wrong principle, and upholds wrong theories, is defiling his conscience. R3600:2

Not that one is necessarily defiled by having become a member of the Methodist or other churches. There are saintly and pure people in all those churches. They are in her, but not of her. Q63:1

Some are in Babylon and not of Babylon, just the same as the children of Israel were carried captive into Babylon, but they were not Babylonians.

Q63:1

The blame comes to the person who, after seeing the real facts of the case, stands in and indorses these systems and upholds them--then his whole conscience is defiled. Q65:T

The point where defilement begins is after the light of truth has opened the eyes of understanding to see the difference between the Church and human organizations. R3600:1

Those who fail to lift up heart and pen and voice and every talent possessed on the Lord's side of the question, will not be reckoned among the overcomers. R1257:4

With women -- Churches. Only corrupt churches would defile. R155:5*
No reference to the female sex, but it refers to the ecclesiastical women mentioned in Revelation. Q61:4

Earthly systems, in contrast to the heavenly system. Q64:1

They are virgins -- The Church is a virgin Church, not united to the world at all. The early Church, in leaving Christ as the prospective Bridegroom, and becoming united with the nation of Rome, constituted an illicit union. Q61:4; SM406:2

Compare Rev. 21:9. R454:4

Follow the Lamb -- As Moses and Aaron went together in their work. R155:5*

Whithersoever he goeth -- Whithersoever he leadeth. NS554:1

Through evil as well as good report--those who follow his teachings and example. R2418:5; SM346:2

Full discipleship. NS592:2

Laying down their lives, not instantly, but daily, hourly, throughout life, seeking to spend and be spent in the service of the Lord, his cause, the truth, the brethren, the Church. NS236:4

Who put far away everything akin to wrath, anger, evil speaking and bitterness. R5765:6

They must not faint before they reach the end of the journey. R5914:1

Some, especially in civilized lands, still maintain a partial ear and partial appreciation of righteousness, though they have not the full hearing of faith. NS14:1

The firstfruits -- An "elect" sample. NS787:1

The Church of Christ. R5640:6, 4645:3, 170:3*

Implying that ultimately there will be others of God's family later born--after-fruits. R5870:1, 5640:6, 4702:4, 4645:3, 2490:2, 33:6*

This implies an after-fruit much more numerous. R4702:4

As in the type, after the firstfruits were taken out, the field of grain was not destroyed, but harvested. The chaff was thrown away in both cases.

R33:6*

The completion of the specially elect Church will therefore be but the beginning, and not the ending, of the great plan of salvation which God had purposed. R2490:2

The Church's resurrection means, indirectly, the uplifting of mankind, the opening of the grave to every member of the human family. R4645:3

The King and priest company are the first ripe, and therefore the throne of the heavenly city is established first. R156:3*

Israel is not first in this sense, but is to be the firstfruits unto God of the nations. R1405:5*

Overcomers. R170:3*

"If the firstfruits be holy, the lump is also holy." (Rom. 11:16) R33:6*

Revelation 14:5

Without fault -- They did not walk perfectly, without a blemish; but they were careful to keep their garments by going often to the Lord. R5924:4

Revelation 14:6

Another angel -- Partly fulfilled by colporteurs and their work. CR63:5

Of heaven -- In the Church. R474:5, 304:1

The ecclesiastical powers. CR340:2

The everlasting gospel -- The restitution from Adam's sin was the good news to Abraham, to us of the Gospel age, and is to be good news to the whole world in the Millennial age. R217:3

The message which God has sent us, preaching peace and life by the blood of the cross, to every one that believeth. R924:3

Together with the judgments, the everlasting Gospel will be preached. R60:5*

To preach -- It is already being sounded forth, and must, during the Millennial age now dawning, reach every nation. R924:3

During the coming age. R217:3

Revelation 14:7

Saying -- After the exaltation of the Little Flock, and contemporary with the judgment scene. R155:6*

This language seems to be addressed to the Great Multitude who, at the time the Little Flock are exalted, are found in adulterous union with the world, and therefore defiled with corrupt churches. R155:6*

Proclaiming to all Christians--the Great Company and the world, during the three plagues which precede the "seven last." R172:4

The object of this message and the attending judgments is to cause the downfall of Babylon by producing a complete separation between Christians and the world with whom they have been united. R156:1*

As the people of Israel were separated from the people of Pharaoh by the three first plagues, while Aaron was a prophet and they believed his words; so here God's people will come out of Babylon by this proclamation made manifest by the veiled saints. R171:5*

Fear God -- Never did the Israelites serve the Egyptians more slavishly than is the nominal church serving the world. R156:1*

The hour -- Not only the age-lasting good news (Gospel) but also the time element. R474:5

We are in this hour of judgment. HG488:5

His judgment -- Greek, krisis. Question and answer analyzing this word with related Greek words. R2425-2426

This overthrow of the kingdoms by the strong hand of judgment is what will break the proud spirit of the nations. R60:5*

Is come -- That the "harvest," or time of trial (judgment) commenced with 1874, and would last for forty years. R474:5, 304:1

Revelation 14:8

Babylon is fallen -- Babylon is the religious element of the fourth empire, Papal Rome. It embraces all the church-state organizations of the Christian nations. HG90:2

Unhealed Babylon is now sentenced to destruction. The whole system--a system of systems--is rejected. C156

Babylon means confusion, mixture and improper relationship. Q63:1; C153; R5092:3

Babylon--the confused, mixed condition of worldly-mindedness and lukewarm Christianity. R474:6, 304:2, 171:5*

Because of the confusion they are called Babylon. R156:1*

Mother and daughters. NS377:2

It was in the spring of 1879 that, through the parallels, we saw that the nominal Gospel church was rejected and spewed out in 1878. R474:6, 304:1; Q150:5

Evidently now being fulfilled in the demoralized condition of the nominal church, and in her culpable negligence and willful ignorance of the character of God, and the plan of redemption. R717:3

In contrast with Jerusalem, Babylon's unrighteous character is described, and its violent and sudden overthrow predicted. R1352:5

Compare Jer. 51:7-9. R1371:6, 436:5

Is fallen -- She is falling, but not fallen. When the civil power refuses any longer to carry the church, Babylon will have fallen. The fall of Babylon and the "division of that great city" is one and the same. HG90:3

The wine -- False doctrine. R3112:6

Antichrist "intoxicated with the blood of the saints and martyrs of Jesus," and with its phenomenal success, continuing to intoxicate and deceive the nations. (Rev. 17:6) C104

Intoxicating errors which have misled the so-called Christian world.
R3104:3; C156

Intoxicated with the spirit of the world, or of Babylon. R3055:4
Fornication -- Any illicit fellowship with the world on the part of those who have betrothed themselves to be God's consecrated people.
R2300:1; C164

Union between church and state constituted figuratively the Roman Catholic, German, English and other national churches a harlot system, living not in pure conformity with her vow to the Lord. Q62:T

Fornication here means the union of church and state, and the fall of Babylon is the dissolution of that union. In other words, it is "the woman" being thrown from the beast. HG90:3

Revelation 14:9

And the third -- As with the preceding two, so with this third message, it could not have been more accurately fulfilled than it was by repeating truth due to the Lord's children. R475:1, 304:3

Beast and his image -- The beast and his image represent great religious systems which already exist, and have millions of devotees among Christian peoples. HG305:3; Q225:5

The image will yet, by closer federation of smaller religious systems, become much more influential and arbitrary. HG305:3

Showing the nominal church in the colors which the Word of God paints it.
R475:1, 304:2

Receive his mark -- See comments on Rev. 13:16.

Revelation 14:10

The same shall drink -- All who remain in her will be subject to torment and vexation as long as they are worshipping creeds and doctrines and organizations of men. R475:1, 304:2

Tormented -- That system is to have torment, and it is to collapse--not the people. Q226:T

Fire and brimstone -- Fire and brimstone signify destruction. The fumes of brimstone are destructive to life. It is frequently used as a disinfectant. The mention of it here is positive proof of utter destruction. R487:1*

If a literal worshipping of a beast and image were meant, few in civilized lands are liable to the penalty. If the beast and his image are symbols, so also are the torments, smoke, fire and brimstone. R2609:6, 1040:5

Revelation 14:11

Smoke of their torment -- The confusion already existing in and among these systems and individuals is well symbolized by smoke, which will become more and more dense. R487:4*

Anything annoying is tormenting. Individuals with a desire to cling to the "traditions of elders" are today annoyed by unfolding truth. R487:4*

For ever and ever -- The remembrance of Babylon's distress will never be forgotten. R475:1, 304:2

All those who are finally brought out of those systems will forever remember how the systems--(beast, etc.) were tormented. R487:4*

Revelation 14:12

The patience -- Possibly some may live on, far into the dark night of trouble--though our expectation is to the contrary. C212

Revelation 14:13

Blessed -- Uniformly throughout the Bible, except in this one instance, death is represented as a dreadful disaster. R474:3, 303:3; C240

It was in the fall of 1881 that, for the first time, we were able to read understandingly these words. R475:2, 304:4

Because they may now be "clothed upon with their house which is from heaven." (2 Cor. 5:2) R344:5

The dead -- Those dead to the world--crucified with Christ--"Ye are dead and your life is hid with Christ in God." (Col. 3:3) R474:5, 2982:5, 303:6; Q760:2, 764:4

Reckoned dead, but alive as new creatures in Christ. Q760:2; R2982:5, 2123:2; C241

Faithful ones who die during the presence of the Lord. R6015:2*

As one by one the number beyond the veil increases and the members this side correspondingly decrease, this great privilege looms larger and larger before our mental vision. R5930:3

Along with verse 4, misapplied by some ministers to honor those who died in fighting for their country. R5755:1

Which die -- Not fall "asleep," but be "changed" in the moment of death, resurrected as part of the blessed and holy first resurrection. D622 There are three kinds of death mentioned in the Scriptures--the Adamic death; the sacrificial death, or death of Christ; and the second death. Q764:3

All who become sacrifices must die. R514:6

There is a sacrificial death, and they die daily (1 Cor. 15:31) until they have finished the dying process in actual death. Q760:2, 764:4

"Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his saints." (Psa. 116:15) R2290:6

The Lord Jesus died, not as a convict, but as a sacrifice for the sin of the world. Q764:4

Each member of the Body of Christ must finish his sacrifice in actual death. C241

The human must be entirely sacrificed before the divine is perfected. R304:6

Sanctified believers, when they die, are not counted as dying in Adam.

They are reckoned as dying with Christ, their Redeemer. R1454:4

It is a dying daily to the spirit, hopes, aims and ambitions of the world which control other men and women. R2123:2

In the Lord -- It will not henceforth be a blessing to all mankind, but only to those "in the Lord." For all others death will continue to be an enemy until its final destruction. R474:4, 303:6

From henceforth -- The application is limited by the word

"henceforth"--not always, but henceforth death may be a blessing. R303:6

Marking a particular time--1878--before which it would not be a blessing to die, but after which it would be a blessing. R5566:4, 4914:5, 2982:4, 2154:1, 475:4, 344:5; Q117:1

The seven preceding verses give three specific messages which must be proclaimed in the church, which, we believe, have been in process from 1874 to 1881. R474:5, 304:1

The proclamations of Rev. 14:6-11 having been given; Paul's mystery, "we shall not all sleep," is now due. R328:5*

"Behold, I shew you a mystery; We shall not all sleep, but we shall all be changed, In a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, at the last trump."

(1 Cor. 15:51, 52) R5566:5, 4914:5, 2982:4, 475:4, 328:5*

1878 marked the time for the beginning of the glorification. The "change" is to occur at the moment of dying, to all the living members from that date through the harvest period. R3823:2, 1379:5

Since 1878 those of the church now alive need not sleep even a moment; but in the instant of dying are changed to spiritual beings. R665:6, 2982:4, 558:1, 515:1, 475:2, 344:5, 304:4; Q760:2

From the time of the beginning of the reaping of the "harvest" of this age by the crowned reaper (the spring of 1878). R2982:3

The favored time of the Lord's presence. R474:3

The time of the Lord's second presence for the setting up of his kingdom. R3314:1

Rest from their labours -- Toil and weariness. R3314:1, 2982:4, 2154:4, 665:1; C238

The labor and toil incident to the mortal body--the frail "earthen vessel." R475:4, 304:5

Meantime it is ours to press on with renewed zeal until the work be done and we at last receive the crown. R6018:2*

Their labors shall cease, but their work shall continue. R845:6*

Their works -- Instead of the Kingdom waiting for the living members to finish their course, the Kingdom work began at once, and the living ones on this side of the veil are privileged to engage in Kingdom work before their "change." D622

As soon as they are changed, they are with the Lord, and like him are present but unseen, and engaged with him in the present work. R631:4
Their work will not cease with this change; for all those who shall be counted worthy of the change to glory will be already enlisted in the service of the Kingdom on this side the veil. C238

We are not Scripturally informed what is the character of the work of the Church beyond the veil, but we may be certain that it in some way pertains to the "harvesting of the wheat" and the binding of the "tares." R3314:4

Follow them -- Follow with them. (Diaglott) R631:4, 474:3

Their death will not interrupt their works, which will continue under more glorious and more favorable conditions. R2982:4, 475:4, 304:5

That is, they will continue their work untrammelled by earthly hindrance. R631:4

Without interruption or hindrance. R665:1

Beyond the veil R3314:4

It is now the privilege of the saints to be ushered into the presence of the Lord as soon as the earthly body is laid down. R702:4*

Our labors are not in vain in the Lord. R845:6*

Beyond the veil of the flesh the anointed company will enter into the glorious reign prefigured by the reign of Solomon. R1901:6

When Dorcas was dying she was surrounded by the Lord's people. And when she was restored to life, these were there to bid her welcome. How suggestive this thought! R1451:4

Revelation 14:14

Upon the cloud -- "In like manner" as he departed (Acts 1:11), unknown alike to the world and the lukewarm, or Laodicean Church. R773:2*

The Son of man -- The Lord of the harvest. R1362:1

The harvest of the Gospel age, like that of the Jewish age, is under the supervision of the chief reaper, our Lord Jesus, who must then be present. A238

As the harvest of the first advent did not begin until Christ came, so this harvest begins with Christ's personal presence. HG71:1

His glorious presence as a reaper of his ripening harvest. R547:4

Recognition of the harvest work in actual process is proof of the Lord's presence. B150

Our Lord came for his Bride in 1874, and has an unseen work as Reaper of the firstfruits of this Gospel age, separating wheat and tares, and gathering the living into a condition of readiness for their change. R152:6

To the Jewish house Jesus presented himself in three characters--as Bridegroom, Reaper and King. To the Christian house he presents himself in the same three characters. B238; R2982:3

A golden crown -- 1878 clearly marks the time for the actual assuming power as King of kings by our present, invisible Lord--the time of his taking to himself his great power to reign. (Rev. 11:17, 18) B239
Identifying himself with the prophecy of Dan. 7:13. E151

Divine authority. R1362:1

Immediately after taking the crown in the Spring of 1878, our Lord gathered to himself those of his saints who slept, awaiting the time for the establishment of the Kingdom. R2982:5

Christ comes as King before the end of the harvest. R116:2*

In his hand -- In his power. R1362:1

A sharp sickle -- The Reaper of the harvest of the Gospel age. E151

That which tried fleshly Israel in the beginning of their age was the truth then presented to them. The truth then due was the sickle. So also is the harvest of this age. A238

The sickle of Present Truth, the clear unfolding of the Word of God, which is "sharper than any two-edged sword." (Heb. 4:12) R1362:2, 547:4; NS94:1

Revelation 14:15

The temple -- The 144,000 being the firstfruits to the spiritual life, are God's Temple in heaven. R155:6*

Thrust in thy sickle -- The thrusting in of the sickle of truth and the gathering in of the ripe grain has been progressing since October, 1914, as never before. Ci

He is sending forth such "laborers" into this harvest as he sent forth into the harvest of the Jewish age--his consecrated and faithful disciples, bearing the harvest message. R1362:2

The sickle of truth the Lord is now thrusting here, there, everywhere, for the purpose of gathering, not the tares, but the wheat. (See Psa. 50:5; Mal. 3:17) NS94:1

Truth, like a magnet, gathers to itself all who have an infinity for it.

Thrust it in wherever you will. It will invariably accomplish its work of finding the loyal and faithful. R1362:2

Beginning the work of reaping the harvest of this age. R2982:3

The harvest will go on without outward demonstration, the chief and under-reapers being present but unseen. R264:2, 20:2

An invisible work by invisible, because spiritual, beings--Jesus, the chief reaper and angels the under-reapers, quietly and invisibly separating wheat from tares. R189:4

We are in the harvest of this age, and the errors must fall before the "sharp sickle" of truth, which the Lord is now thrusting in. R1002:6

The time is come -- Due to begin in 1874. R189:4; HG71:3

Compare Jer. 51:33. R1371:6

The harvest -- The harvest work will occupy forty years for its full accomplishment, ending with AD 1914. B150

The Jewish age ended with a harvest in which Jesus in the flesh was the reaper, the disciples being the assistant reapers. Our age is also to end with a harvest of the spiritual house in which Jesus, a spiritual body, is the reaper; while the angels, also invisible spiritual bodies, are the assistants. R175:4

Greek, Therismos, reaping harvest. R223:1*

Revelation 14:16

Thrust in his sickle -- The first work of our Lord in the harvest of this age will be to separate the true from the false. Wheat will be separated from tares, ripe wheat from unripe, etc. A238

Now separating the true from the false, the matured from the immature wheat. R547:4

Revelation 14:17

Another angel -- Before "we who are alive and remain" are taken, the "vine of the earth" is gathered, to be cast into the winepress of wrath--"Gather ye first the tares, and bind them in bundles to burn." (1 Thes. 4:15; Matt. 13:30) HG71:3

Also having -- There would be two harvests--a gathering of the fruit of the true Vine, and subsequently a gathering of the clusters of the "vine of the earth." R2464:6

Two harvests, or two parts of one harvest, are shown. R264:2, 230:4, 20:2

First of all, it is a harvest of the saints. Secondly, it is a time for the world to reap its whirlwind harvest. B171

Both of these ripenings will be completed in a period of forty years, ending with the year AD 1915. B171

The first seven years of gathering the "first fruits of the wheat" and a succeeding period of 33 years harvesting the "vine of the earth." The first a time of favor, the latter a "time of trouble." R230:4

Speaking of the two harvests: first for the Little Flock; and afterward for the Great Multitude. R223:1*

Revelation 14:18

Thrust in -- The "ten thousand" (Psa. 91:7), the Great Company, will be partakers with Babylon in her sins and have part in her great fall. R4926:4

And gather -- At the second coming of the Master. R5505:5

The law of cause and effect is nowhere more prominently marked than on the pages of history. Seeds of past sowing must of necessity germinate, develop and bring forth fruitage; and a harvest at some time is therefore inevitable. D51

Love is not the controlling motive amongst men. Selfishness is the controlling principle, and is bearing its own bitter fruit and ripening rapidly for this great vintage. D311

Joel 3:18 and onward refers to the same harvest, though perhaps first to the Jewish harvest. R223:1*; NS59:1

The clusters -- The matured fruits of the false vine--Babylon. D51
There is a difference between the fruits of the true vine and the fruits of the vine of the earth. The branches of the vine of the earth bear fruitage which has the form of godliness without its real spirit or power. NS377:1

How different are these fruits than the kind commended by the Apostle and produced by the holy Spirit of the Lord operating in the heart, transforming the mind and cleansing and sanctifying words, thoughts and deeds. NS377:2

The iniquitous clusters. D18

The fruitage of the True Vine is Love, and is precious to the Father; but the fruitage of the vine of the earth is selfishness in various forms. F207

The vine of the earth -- Nominal Christendom. NS59:1; R3104:5
Sectarianism, with its various branches--which in the end of this age will appear in a confederate form as the one great vine of the earth. NS376:5
A false church, not of the Father's planting, which shall be rooted up. F207

The Lord never authorized the formation of denominational systems. They are of the "vine of the earth" for they are of earthly, or human, origin. Q810:3

The false vine which has misappropriated the name Christian and Christ's Kingdom. D18

The great and prosperous human institutions which are more or less duplicating the Lord's Kingdom all over the world. OV126:3

The vine of the earth has spread its branches in every direction. It glories in numbers, boasting 400,000,000 Christians, many of these, alas, in prisons and penitentiaries. NS377:2; R3544:3

A counterfeit of the true vine. (John 15:1) R3544:2, 2464:6; NS59:1

As the true Vine represents the true Church, so the vine of the earth represents a false church, an untrue, ungentle one. R2464:6, 3544:2

The fruitage is manifested in boastfulness, pride, show--a form of godliness without the power thereof. R5505:5

Not composed of murderous thugs, but composed of very intelligent, refined, cultivated people, unwittingly representing the "prince of this world" in that they are propagating false doctrines and misrepresenting the Lord and his cause. NS377:3

Fully ripe -- See Joel 3:9-16. R3327:5

Gathered the vine -- Though branches of the true Vine may be in the different denominations, the earthly institutions themselves the Scriptures designate "the vine of the earth." R4873:1

Cast it -- The fruitage. R4873:1

The great winepress -- We are now fast nearing the latter end of the harvest period, when the burning of the tares and the gathering and treading of the fully ripe clusters of the "vine of the earth" are due. D51
The treading of the winepress is the last feature of harvest work. The reaping and gathering is all done first. D18

It pictures to our minds the last features of the great time of trouble which shall involve all nations. D18, 51; F207

The time of trouble with which this age will close. F207; R5055:5, 3544:3, 264:2

The great time of anarchy with which this age will close and the new dispensation be ushered in. NS377:3

By that time the true vine will have been glorified. R3544:4, 2464:6

Revelation 15

Revelation 15:1

And I saw -- This chapter is part of the message of the "seventh trump," during which the first resurrection and change of the living saints occurs. R194:4

Seven last plagues -- Not a particular disease, as the black plague or cholera; but trouble--death, famine, revolution, distress, overthrow. These distresses will be both physical and mental. R5697:6

The pain from these will consist largely of mental chagrin, the disappointment of sectarian hopes and plans, and the wounding of sectarian pride. R1573:4

They all belong under the latter half of the seventh trumpet, the "time of trouble," and are therefore future. HG83:2

Necessary, not only for Babylon's destruction, but also for the purification and separation of the hitherto unripe wheat remaining in her. C196

The closing act in the drama of this age. R497:1

The vials are followed by the symbolic pictures of the new age--new heaven and earth, binding of Satan, and reign of Christ. R497:1

The plagues upon Egypt were intended in some measure to foreshadow the plagues with which this Gospel age will end--the first three and "the seven last plagues." F175

The land of Goshen was spared from the last seven plagues on Egypt. R2911:3
As Pharaoh and his people received a retributive punishment for every evil they had inflicted upon the Israelites, so the great troubles which will come upon "the powers that be" at the present time will, in some degree, be a retributive requirement. R2911:4

Pharaoh would not listen until Egypt was smitten with the tenth plague. Then he urged them to go. When the last plague has been poured out, as a vial of divine wrath, "the powers that be" will realize that it is useless to fight against God. R2911:4

Implies that others preceded them, as in the type. R155:4*

In them -- Not in one of them, but in the seven. HG83:2

Is filled up -- Completed. R140:6

The wrath of God -- It is Egypt, the chaff of the Jewish nation, the tares of the Gospel Church, Babylon, that each, in turn, receive the uttermost wrath, or wrath without mixture. R151:2*

The wrath of the Lamb and the gospel of grace cannot be mixed; hence, until the day of salvation under the gospel shall end, the day of wrath cannot begin. HG83:2

Therefore the seven last plagues cannot be poured out after "the day of wrath" is ended. R116:2*

Revelation 15:2

As it were -- The real "sea of glass like unto crystal" is before the throne (Rev. 4:6) and is not mingled with fire. R156:4*, 170:2*

The people protected in Goshen [the great multitude] were, "as it were," saved, but not actually saved from Egypt until after the plagues, when the Lord brought them out that they might serve him. R156:4*, 81:6*

It cannot be the Great Company because this group has gotten the victory over the Beast and his Image. R130:2

A sea -- The unfettered, irreligious masses of the people. R529:5*, 497:2, 130:3

Of glass -- Washed or separated state. R156:2*, 151:5*

From our standpoint it is transparent. We are enabled to see clearly the forces that control the masses, what they are about to do, and why they do it. R529:5*, 130:3

Mingled with fire -- Judgments, or trouble. R497:3, 130:3

We can see that the fire is "already kindled," ready to break out, a wild, unquenchable whirlwind of flame, when the due time comes. The whole matter is clear as crystal. R529:5*

The whole symbol means, the people in trouble, under the judgments of God. R497:3, 168:4*

We believe that this fire (trouble) has been mingling or coming among the people since 1873. R130:3

And them -- The very elect, the saintly few, the Little Flock. R5231:5, 140:6; HG82:1

Gotten the victory -- None will "stand" except the elect. All others are to fall more or less, though some will subsequently be rescued from the catastrophe; "saved so as by fire." (1 Cor. 3:15) R3941:6; HG403:2; SM568:T One third, or possibly one half, of an estimated 21,500 of the Lord's people still in Babylon may yet prove themselves "overcomers." [1902] R2942:6

Free from Papacy and from organized sectarian Protestantism to the extent that these have no influence over their actions, professions or thoughts. R497:2, 130:3

Over the beast -- Papacy. R497:2; Dvii

Over his image -- Organized sectarian Protestantism. R497:2; Dvii

The Image was formed by the organization of the "Evangelical Alliance" in 1846. Thus the overcomers of this "Image" could not occupy this position of favor prior to that date. R497:2

The "Image of the Beast" is yet to hold a very prominent place in the coming "time of trouble." HG94:4

Over his mark -- Omit. R130:2

Over the number of his name -- Over all who bear the characteristics of Papacy and Protestantism's number--that is, free to the extent that these have no influence over their actions, professions or thoughts. R497:2

Stand on -- Before the seven last plagues are fulfilled. HG82:1

Above the troubled people are the overcomers--calm, serene, untroubled. R497:3

After the saints are delivered. HG94:2

Sea of glass -- Their standing is by faith. To the eye of faith all is transparent as glass. R497:3

Company of changed saints--before the throne, not on the throne. R168:4*

Harp of God -- The Scriptures of the Old and New Testaments. F233; R1524:6; NS634:5

The Bible. Its many strings or chords are the Law, Prophets, Psalms, Gospels, etc. R497:5

The Word of God. R172:4

Many Christians have the harp, but few have it so strung and tuned that they can bring forth harmony enough to accompany the "song of Moses and the Lamb." R497:5

Revelation 15:3

And they -- The overcomers. R3078:3

The immortalized Bride. HG16:5

Only those who have learned to play upon the harp of God, who have all its strings attuned to perfect harmony. R5441:6, 926:4

Here is a company gathered out who foretell what the nations are going to do. HG83:3

It is the feet, or last part, who sing the restitution song of Moses and the Lamb. (Isa. 52:7) R498:1, 288:1

Who see God's plan. R541:5*

Sing -- Intelligently. R3177:5

Let us sing with the spirit and understanding this wondrous, glad new song. R5441:6

The overcomers not only have the harp and know how to sing this song of restitution, but they do sing it. R497:6

A song symbolizes a beautiful and harmonious expression. R497:3

The song of restitution. R130:3, 172:4

This is the song which none but the overcomers can sing at the present time, but by and by, when the glory of the Lord shall have filled the Temple, all peoples shall learn that song. R3283:4

The angelic sons of God "shouted for joy" (Job 38:7) in the dawn of earth's creative week. F51

With the rosy view of the future which the Bible so surely gives, darkness and clouds, sorrows and tears for the immediate present cannot daunt us. R5799:5

How shall the captive daughters of Zion sing the Lord's song in a strange land? (Psa. 137:1-6) R497:6

The song is sung before the pouring out of the vials. (See verse 6) R140:6

The scene is after the dead in Christ are raised and the living changed; and though all can sing the same song, they could remain invisible, and yet we might be visible. R170:3*

Song of Moses -- The message of blessing typified by the writings of Moses and by all the ceremonies of the Law. R2569:6

Because Moses was the type of Christ and in all the sacrifices of the Law he typified or foreshadowed the sacrifice of Christ. NS634:5

Clearly taught in the Law of Moses, which was "a shadow of the good things to come." (Heb. 10:1) C237

Moses composed a hymn of praise in which the people joined, while Moses' sister Miriam and the singing women prepared a response to various parts of the hymn of praise. (Ex. 15:1-20) R3998:6

This song of deliverance will be sung by mankind in general during the Millennial age, but we sing it now, because we have gotten the victory over the world (Egypt). R140:6

The song of Moses (Deut. 32) was evidently not merely for Israel, but prophetic. R3078:2

If it was appropriate that the Israelites give glory to God for their deliverance from Egypt, it is much more appropriate that spiritual Israel recognize the still greater deliverance from the power of Satan and the thralldom of sin. R3998:6

This song can now be sung by us who can exercise faith in the Lord, but it is not its complete fulfillment: that will be attained when all the people of God shall have been found--at the end of the Millennial age. R3999:1

Song of the Lamb -- In the clearer revelations contained in the writings of the New Testament. C237

The good tidings announced in connection with our Lord's birth, and throughout his own ministry; and the testimony of all the apostles respecting the Lamb of God and the great work to be accomplished by him. R2569:6

The song of Moses and the Lamb--the preaching of these overcomers is in perfect accord with the Law and the Gospel. R497:3

Saying -- Very few can sing this first note of the song, and fewer yet can sing it to its close. R497:3

Great and marvellous -- Though we lament the evils which incur the retribution, yet we realize its necessity and justice, and have learned also the ends of mercy to be attained eventually by this very means. D526

Thy works -- Plans. R926:4 Man's condemnation, redemption and restitution. R2713:1

Just -- Truly, God's ways are equal--for the spiritual and for the human natures. OV130:1

We see the justice to the permission of the anarchy, and read therein the divine law of retribution. D526

We can sing of the righteousness and justice of God's dealings with the nations, since we have come to see how he permitted evil and death. R497:3

The righteousness and justice, and love of God's dealing, can only be seen by looking at the work of the next, as well as that of present and past ages. R497:4

The more advanced our conceptions of righteousness, truth, holiness, purity, the more we are enabled to appreciate the divine view of sin. R3729:4

As Aaron and his two remaining sons were forbidden to make lamentation for their brethren, so all faithful priests will recognize the justice of divine decisions, and will bow to them in humble submission. T40

God's throne is based or established upon justice. "Righteousness and justice are the foundation of thy throne." (Psa. 89:14) T124

"As for God, his way is perfect"; it is just and merciful and benevolent and wise and practicable, and sure of a glorious termination. (Psa. 18:30, 31) R3337:5

It is noteworthy that the Levites who sang at the dedication of the Temple did not sing of divine wrath never ending, but of divine mercy forever. (Psa. 136) R3283:4

And true -- The righteousness of God, appealing to our faith as reasonable, and furnishing us a firm foundation for faith and trust in all his future dealings--those revealed to faith and those unseen as yet. R926:4

Are thy ways -- Including the slaughter of the Amorites, Amalekites, Hittites, Jebusites, etc. R130:5

Thou King -- "King of nations"--what the pope would be if he could be. R1002:3

Of saints -- Of nations. (Margin) D526; R2603:6, 1002:3, 130:2
Of nations. (Diaglott) R497:3

[The Greek word] ethnon means nations; not saints, as in the Authorized Version. R76:3*

Revelation 15:4

Who shall not fear -- Venerate thee. R2603:6

When, in the coming age, his wonderful goodness is manifested. R497:4

Truly ours is a great God, worthy of worship, obedience and love. Only the foolish can say in their hearts, "There is no God." (Psa. 53:1) PD96/110

We would be inclined to believe that every one should praise his love everlastingly, were it not that the Scripture clearly discloses a second death and tells of some who will be accounted worthy of it. R497:4

And glorify -- In his wonderful program for dealing with sinners, angelic and human, God chose the very best way, the one most profitable to angels and to men, the one which most redounds to his own ultimate glory and honor. R5430:5

Art holy -- Thou art entirely holy. R2603:6

Since thou alone art bountiful. R497:4; 76:3*; F52 All nations -- Not representatives of all nations living before the Millennium, but every nation for whom Christ died is to have a share in the blessing accruing through the great Redeemer's sacrifice. NS352:6

Even Sodom, a nation long since destroyed, shall come and worship. (Ezek. 16:48-63) R497:5, 331:5, 130:6

No wonder there should be jubilation in heaven and in earth when all of Jehovah's intelligent creatures behold, not only God's love, but also his justice, wisdom and power. F51

The word all in the English language and its equivalent pas in the Greek may be used either to refer to all mankind, or all of a certain specified class. R838:2

And worship -- When the Kingdom is the Lord's and he is the governor among the nations. R492:6

For -- When. NS634:4; OV130:1, 170:1

"When the judgments of the Lord are abroad in the earth the inhabitants of the world will learn righteousness." (Isa. 26:9) SM701:1

Thy judgments -- Greek, dikaioma, meaning righteousness. It is so rendered in most cases in the New Testament. The Hebrew mish-paht has precisely the same meaning and is used in Psa. 112:5--"He will guide his affairs with discretion." (Margin, judgment.) HG16:6

The Greek word rendered judgments is not krisis nor krima, which are rightly rendered judgment; but dikaionomata, properly rendered righteous acts. R76:3*

Thy dealings. NS523:3

Righteous dealings. R3283:4, 5799:5, 2603:6, 497:5, 130:2, 76:3*; F52

The righteous dealings of God will bring a sure penalty to every one in proportion to the degree of knowledge and willfulness, but it will bring a just, and not an unjust penalty, and it will be remedial. OV170:1

We have found a "hell," sheol [Hebrew] and hades [Greek], to which all our race were condemned on account of Adam's sin. We find another "hell," Gehenna [Greek], as the final penalty upon all who, after being redeemed, yet choose death. R2603:6

The only exception to the final salvation of all is in the case of those who sin willfully after they have come to the knowledge of the truth. R99:2*

Are made manifest -- In due time all will be able to see that God's dealings with humanity have been righteous dealings. NS579:5

The whole world shall come to recognize his justice and his righteous dealings in every particular. NS523:2 As yet the ways of the Lord are in darkness, except to the few enlightened by the Scriptures, but by and by his righteous dealings will be manifested to all. NS452:5, 588:1, 635:1; OV230:4

We can make it manifest to all who are not so blinded by traditions of men that the Word of God is made to them of none effect. R131:1

His righteous acts are made manifest, for the great mass of the Gospel Church were taught that the majority of nations were "turned into hell." R76:6*

Together with the judgments, the everlasting gospel will be preached. R60:5*

Revelation 15:6

Seven angels -- Since it is the saints who are "to execute the judgments written" (Psa. 149:9) we interpret these seven angels to mean the living saints; active agents of the entire anointed company. R498:1

Came out -- Symbolizing the coming of the overcomers out of the nominal church. R498:1

The temple -- The Temple is the Church: "know ye not that ye are the temple of God." (1 Cor. 3:16) HG83:3

The nominal church. R498:1, 511:1

White linen -- These have kept their wedding garments. They are robed in the righteousness of Christ--"justified by his blood." R498:1

The righteous acts by the saints. R76:5*

Golden -- Representing divinity. R498:1

Girdles -- They are the servants of God, the girdles representing a servant. R498:1

Revelation 15:8

Was filled -- When the last of the "living stones" shall have been made ready in the first resurrection, the Temple shall be filled with his glory, and be the meeting place between God and man throughout the Millennium. R5822:2, 1750:1

The living stones must all be ready before the Temple is completed, and it must be completed before "the glory of the Lord" fills it. (2 Chron. 5:1-13) R172:2

The Temple is filled with glory just before the pouring out of the seven plagues, and that is when the Church is called the Bride--when glorified. (Rev. 21:9-11) R169:5*

With smoke -- When all the overcomers have come out, the Temple (nominal church) will be so full of smoke (confusion and darkness) that no man would care to go into it. R498:1

All who remain in it become so blinded by it, that they cannot see the glory of God either as displayed in his Word or its fulfillment in passing events. R498:2

At the voice of the cherubim the door posts of the Temple move, and the house is filled with smoke. (Isa. 6:4; Ezek. 10:4) R530:5*

From the glory -- That is, the glorious harmony and beauty of truth as presented by the overcoming class, shows the deformity and confusion of man-made creeds. R498:1

No man was able -- "And there shall be no man in the tabernacle of the congregation when he goeth in to make an atonement in the holy place." (Lev. 16:17) R159:5*

The temple -- Symbolizes the nominal church. R498:1, 511:1

Till the seven plagues -- Certainly implies that when the Day of Wrath is passed, the door will be again opened, so that men can enter. This teaches probation after resurrection. HG83:5

The Little Flock are evidently changed before the plagues are poured out as they have some work to do in connection with their execution. R275:6

The world will know the commotion of the apokalupsis of the King in the pouring out of the plagues--when the judgments of the Lord shall be abroad in the earth. R2957:1

The nominal church will be in this confusion until the seven plagues are poured out. During that time the Babylon, or confusion element, will be destroyed, and the cleansed Temple of truth be again opened to receive justified believers. R498:2

During the first three plagues, Satan will manifest great power. But when the Church is glorified, just before the seven plagues, Satan can no longer stand. By the time they are all poured out he will be completely bound. R171:4*

Revelation 16

Revelation 16:1

The temple -- The nominal church. R498:1

The Temple is the Church: "Know ye not that ye are the temple of God." (1 Cor. 3:16) HG83:3

Seven angels -- The living saints, they being the representatives or active agents of the entire anointed company. R498:1

Some, at least, of the Little Flock take part in pouring out the seven last plagues. R687:4

Go your ways -- When the nominal systems find any who will not be fettered and bound by man-made creeds they thrust such out, saying, Go, then, do your worst. "Go your ways." R498:2

Boastfully replying on internal strength. R511:1

Vials of the wrath -- These evils, called plagues or bowls of wrath, are designed to rid the world of every form of evil and wrong. R498:3

Begin with the first trumpet (Rev. 8:7) and the first plague, and compare them from the first to the seventh. Now multiply the scourge by three, for where a third part were affected under a trumpet, the plague is upon all. HG84:4

These plagues are really blessings in disguise, just as an amputation is a blessing, though a trying ordeal of suffering, to those who require it. R498:3

These judgments on the world, like the chastisement of his saints, are for their eventual good; and good is to result. HG19:4

The deliverance of typical Israel from Egypt illustrates the deliverance of all who desire to be God's servants; after the plagues utterly destroy all the systems born of sin. R1657:3; A336

As the plagues upon Egypt had a hardening effect as soon as removed, so the temporary relief from the pains of this Day of the Lord will tend to harden some. A336

The wrath of the Lamb and the gospel of grace cannot be mixed. Hence, until the day of salvation under the gospel shall end, the day of wrath cannot begin. HG83:2

They all belong under the latter half of the seventh trumpet, the "time of trouble," and are therefore future. HG83:2

"Are the vials of wrath now being poured out?" I have nothing to say about that! [1916] Q627:5

See comments on Rev. 15:1

Revelation 16:2

The first went -- The first six plagues will be upon the nominal church, Babylon. The results will be to "gather," or array the people and their rulers against each other. R377:3

Upon the earth -- Land. All people under religious restraint of whatever name or order. Land or earth as a symbol represents settled, organized religious society. R498:3

It is upon this class that the trouble first comes. R498:3

Noisome -- Evil. R498:3

Grievous sore -- Malignant ulcer. (Diaglott) R498:3

A running sore; a cancer in its worst stages; a cankerous sore which eats, corrupts and destroys. R498:4

It arises from within itself; it is a constitutional disorder, caused by the errors inherited and retained from the "Mother of harlots and abominations." (Rev. 17:5) R498:4

Already these disorders have broken out, and though the canker is carefully concealed, the bad odor and distress are noticeable. R498:5

The men which had -- The great mass of non-overcoming and nominal Christians. R498:3

The mark -- Characteristics. R498:3

Of the beast -- Papacy. R498:3

Which worshipped -- The ulcer is not upon those worshipping the Beast, but on those worshipping the Image and having the marks, or characteristics, of the Beast, Papacy. R498:4

His image -- Protestantism. R498:3

Revelation 16:3

The second -- One plague or evil goes on increasingly after a second and third are added, until in the end, the entire seven forms of evil will be operating simultaneously. R498:6

The sea -- Symbolizing the irreligious masses of mankind--those not under religious restraint. R498:5

The blood -- Blood in a living creature is full of vitality, but the blood of a dead person is the very reverse. R498:5

Of a dead man -- After death, the blood rapidly begins to separate into two parts--a watery liquid called serum and a more solid substance termed clot. Immediately the clot begins to putrefy and corrupt. R498:5

Among the irreligious masses have been numbered noble specimens of humanity. Commingling with the masses, they imparted a life principle and vitality. R498:5

Every living soul -- Every active element of virtue and benevolence. R498:6

Died -- In other words, remove the element which advises prudence, morality and right-doing, from the counsels of the restless masses and the result will quickly be a grand reign of anarchy in the name of communism. R498:6

For example, In England, Mr. Gladstone and others attempted to provide some relief for the Irish oppression, but had to disown all fellowship and sympathy with the dynamite and assassination policy of hot-headed leaders among the masses. R498:6

The rivers -- Channels through which water (truth) has flowed, the various sects or denominations. R499:1

Fountains of waters -- Symbolizing the founders and schools of the various systems--the place or men in whom these channels had their start or beginning. R499:1

Running waters symbolize truth. R499:1

Became blood -- A river of blood could only symbolize loathsomeness and death. R499:1

In a similar literal plague upon Egypt, the people dug wells for water. So here, independent thinkers are digging for themselves, for purer waters than the regular channels afford. R499:2

Revelation 16:5

The angel of the waters -- The messenger of the real truth. R499:2

Thou art righteous -- If divine wisdom says that this is the best manner for giving mankind the needed lessons preparatory to the introduction of the Kingdom, all of God's consecrated ones will say, "Amen!" SM701:1

And shalt be -- The bountiful one. R499:1

Revelation 16:6

For they have shed -- The direct cause of the trouble. R499:2

Blood of saints -- The life of the saints is truth, God's word. "The testimony of Jesus is the spirit of prophecy." R499:2

Blood in a person is life. To pour it out is to waste it. To waste the life-principle of saints and prophets would be to waste the words and testimony of Jesus. R499:2

They are worthy -- It is just retribution. R499:4

Revelation 16:7

Out of the altar -- I heard the altar. R499:3

The altar represents the class of prophets and saints whose testimonies for truth were sealed with their lives. R499:3

Say -- Not audibly, but in that figurative way in which Abel's blood is said to have cried out. R499:3

True and righteous -- When Christians shall find out what was the real difficulty, why they missed the great prize of this Gospel age and fell into this snare, they will surely be ready to acknowledge divine justice. NS129:4

Patience and forbearance will attract to the Lord all who will be worthy of life everlasting, and they will be prepared to utter these sentiments in respects to the destruction of others. F712

With the rosy view of the future which the Bible so surely gives, darkness and clouds, sorrows and tears for the immediate present cannot daunt us. R5799:5

Alas! How is it possible for those who are under the delusions of error to honor God in their hearts and to sing this song? NS635:2

Revelation 16:8

The sun -- As the moon symbolized "the Law," so the sun symbolized the Gospel light. The former was but a shadow or reflection of the latter. R499:4

Truth on every subject: truth relative to the rights and authority of kings; truth relative to the rights both of capital and labor; truth relative to the claimed superiority of the clergy. R499:5

That which is a plague to others is a wondrous boon to those who are out of Babylon and humbly enjoying the leadings of God's Spirit from one fountain direct--the Word of God. R499:6

Him -- It. (Rotherham) R499:4

To scorch -- Or troubled by the increase of life, and none more so than religious lords. R499:5

It is the increase of light--knowledge--which is causing independence of thought and action among all classes of society. R499:4

"The light of the sun shall be sevenfold, as the light of seven days, in the day that the Lord bindeth up the breach of his people." (Isa. 30:26) R499:6

Men -- Mankind in general and upon representative leaders of men in particular. R499:4

Revelation 16:9

Blasphemed -- Not profane swearing, but rather a misstatement of character. For instance, Jesus was accused of "blasphemy" because he said he was the Son of God. (John 10:33) R499:6

Repented not -- Reformed not. R499:4

The seven last plagues do not come on those that repent, come out of Babylon, and wash their robes. R151:3*

Revelation 16:10

The seat -- Throne. R509:3

Of the beast -- Picturing the trouble coming upon Papacy; not so much upon the masses of Romanists, as upon those in authority, its rulers--the throne power--their clergy. R509:3

Papacy's walls are higher, its claims stronger and of longer standing than those of the Protestant system. Therefore she the longer escapes the increasing light and the consequent trouble. R509:3

Darkness -- Representing the perplexity rapidly coming over the hierarchy of the Church of Rome. R939:4

Uncertainty--absence of former unity and harmony. R509:3

Gnawed their tongues -- Chewed their words. R2631:4

The tongues of Papacy are its decrees and utterances, past and future. To bite, then, in pain, implies contradiction and denial of former utterances. R509:3

As an illustration, we note Papacy's humiliating concessions and contradiction of her former teachings in her present recognition of the Protestant governments of Europe. R509:6

Representing the painful controversies and contradictions one of another by those who act as Papacy's tongues. R939:4, 1167:3

To call in question the testimony and records of writers long regarded by Catholics as sacred is how the gnawing of tongues in pain begins. R939:5

For pain -- The biting is occasioned by the pain and humbled condition in which Papacy finds herself. She has lost all temporal power. R509:6

Revelation 16:11

And blasphemed -- Continued to slander, misrepresent. R2631:4, 509:3

And their sores -- Omitted by the Sinaitic manuscript. R509:3

Of their deeds -- Omitted by the Sinaitic manuscript. R509:3

Revelation 16:12

River Euphrates -- People, on which Babylon is built. R718:6

The waters of this great river represent the people who, by their influence and money, support Papacy--from which Babylon the Great draws her revenues. R510:1

The waters which thou sawest are "peoples and multitudes and nations and tongues." (Rev. 17:15) R510:1, 2498:4; Q30:1, 720:4

The waters of that river signify revenues from all nations. SM410:1

Literal Babylon was built upon the river Euphrates. Its wealth, supplies and sustenance came largely from this source. It had immense walls and strong gates over the river. R509:6; PD51/62

The sixth plague is upon Babylon, the mother. While the other systems have channels or rivers, her system is built upon the "great river." R510:1

Not the generally accepted interpretation that it refers to the Mohammedans, for the Ottoman empire is referred to under the sixth trumpet as "the four angels bound in the great river Euphrates."HG88:6

Dried up -- Calling our attention to the typical Babylon when Cyrus' army turned aside the river into a new channel, leaving the old channel dry and enabling him to march his army under the gates. R4699:4, 2498:4, 509:6, 45:1; CR165:3; HG89:3, 520:6; PD51/62; Q720:4

While these events were occurring, the princes of Babylon, corresponding to the notables of Christendom, were holding high carnival, rejoicing in their security, boasting of the strength of their walls, the impregnability of their gates and the sureness of their waters. SM410:3
Mystic Babylon sits upon, is supported by, many waters (peoples, nations), and its fall is predicted, through the turning aside of its supporters and sustainers, the people. B209; Q30:1

The turning aside of the "waters" would represent the alienation of the people, and the alienation of the people would be indicated by their withholding of financial support. R4699:4

Implies a cessation of the revenues of Babylon, a decline in the contributions which heretofore have made her wealthy. SM410:1

The "drying up" will probably require many years for its accomplishment. R510:1

Germany is being overwhelmed with a deluge of infidelity, unparalleled in its entire history. R5449:4

Calculations showing worship attendance in Berlin at only 2% show that the great river Euphrates (people), on which Babylon is built, is being dried up--"a large falling off." R718:6

Waters also represent truth. The truth will be turned aside and no longer flow through Babylon--the voice of the Bridegroom and the voice of the Bride shall no longer be heard in her. (Rev. 18:23) Q720:4

As the typical Cyrus encouraged the Jews to return from Babylonian captivity, so the antitypical, our Lord, will see also to Israel's opportunity to return to the land of Abraham. R4699:5

Compare Jer. 50:38. R1371:6

Kings -- The kings of Christ's Kingdom, who are also priests--the Body of Christ, the Royal Priesthood. R2498:4, 510:3; HG520:6; PD51/62

Of the east -- From the sunrising. R2498:4, 509:6

They come, not to the Sunrising, but from the sunrising. They come bringing light with them. R510:3

The name Cyrus signifies "the sun." In his name he reminds us of the prophecy of Christ--"The Sun of righteousness shall arise with healing in his beams." (Mal. 4:2) R2498:4, 510:3

Not of the north. HG90:1

Revelation 16:13

Three -- The harmonious teaching in which these can all unite is the dogmas of "the divine right of kings," "the authority of the clergy," and the claim that mankind is bound to submit to these and be controlled by them. R510:4

Unclean spirits -- Impure, erroneous teaching. R510:4; SM233:2

The spirit is a doctrine, an unclean doctrine, a false doctrine. Each of these systems will utter the same things. Dxii; OV273:4

The divine authority of the church, and the divine right of kings, aside from the church, will not be permitted to conflict. SM235:2; R510:5

Satan will be forced to appear "as an angel of light" in order to perpetuate the delusions wherewith he has so long deceived the whole world--putting light for darkness, and darkness for light. R3119:6

Like frogs -- Croaking from pulpits and platforms, and through the religious and secular press. Dxii; OV274:T

The three most prominent characteristics of a frog are pomposity, an air of superior wisdom and knowledge, and a continual croaking. Dxii; R510:5; OV273:6; SM235:T

The spirit of all will be boastful; an air of superior knowledge and wisdom will be assumed; all will foretell dire results to follow any failure to obey their counsels. Dxiii; OV273:6

Indicating that when these systems give forth these unclean spirits it will be with boastfulness, an attempt to overawe with dignity and with continual allusions to disasters which must attend any change of present arrangements. R510:5

We are not to think that these frog spirits, or doctrines, are all bad, but rather that they are doctrines of bombast and pomposity. Dxiii; OV274:1
Doctrines of demons. SM234:1

The various sectaries have built little mud dams along the stream of truth, claiming that they had secured all the truth, so that what should have been a well of life became a veritable frog pond. R243:6*

Come out of the mouth -- The utterances of the combined power of church and state. Dxi; OV273:4

The dragon -- Civil government, especially that which once constituted civil Rome. R510:4; Dvii; OV271:4

Practically all Bible exegetes agree that this dragon represents purely civil power. Dvi; OV270:7; SM234:2

The monarchical element. HG20:5, 90:1

Political parties all declare, "If any change should come, it will mean terrible disaster!" Dxii; OV274:3

The direct cause of the drying will be the relationship existing between Papacy and the kingdoms of earth. R510:2

When present tendencies have produced a closer affiliation of religion and state, it will lead the masses to throw off the yoke of the church as well as the state, since both will be leagued against their cherished ideas of liberty and equality. R510:2

To illustrate, a famous orator in the Irish troubles, Charles O'Brien said, "The Irish people will neither be ruled by Rome nor Westminster." R510:3

And out of the mouth -- From the civil power, from the Catholic Church and from the Federation of Protestant Churches will go forth the same teachings. Dxii; OV273:6; SM235:1

These classes influence and encourage each other with this impure doctrine of Satan. R510:6

Were it not for this harmony, each of these classes of kings would have felt the weakness of their claims, but in their union they find strength and hope for retaining their hold upon the people. R510:6

The beast -- Papacy. R510:4

The same beast that is mentioned in Rev. 13:2, where it is described as resembling a leopard--spotted. It refers to the Papal system as a whole. Dvi; OV270:8; SM234:2

That on which the woman sat. HG90:1

The Catholic Church says, "Do not look behind! Do not question anything about the Church!" Dxiii; OV274:2

The Beast and Prophet are symbols of false systems which will be cast into a great consuming trouble in the close of this Gospel age. R1040:5

The false prophet -- The religious element. HG20:5

Another name for the system elsewhere called "the Image of the Beast"--a very exact representation of the Beast, which we understand to mean the Protestant Federation of Churches. Dvii; OV271:4; SM234:2

Protestantism says, "We are great, we are wise, we know a great deal. Keep quiet! No one will then know that you know nothing." Dxiii; OV274:2

To prevent individual Bible study which seemed to them a loss of power, religious leaders planned a union of Protestants in a system called the Evangelical Alliance. Then and there they made an Image of the Beast. Dix; OV272:5

Another representation of the Image--the vitalized product of the Evangelical Alliance, which has taken the form of Church Federation. Dxi; OV273:3

A new symbol. It takes the place of both the "two-horned beast" and "the Image of the Beast," and represents all systems teaching error--"orthodox" as well as many considered heterodox. R510:4

Revelation 16:14

The spirits of devils -- Doctrines of devils--the devil's theory relative to present evil governments. R510:5

The spirit of revolution and anarchism in the world is generating a boiling, seething, condition of affairs. Q769:3

Working miracles -- Working signs. R510:5

They will give evidences and seemingly plausible reasons for the rights of kings and clergy; chief among these will doubtless be God's appointment of kings and priests over fleshly Israel. R510:5

Miracles to deceive, yet professing a pious intention. R617:6

Spiritualism has not yet reached the climax of its power. Its powers are to increase wonderfully. R266:4

Unto the kings -- Not only kings, but princes, generals, also those termed financial kings and merchant princes, and the great one among religious teachers. R510:6

To gather them -- The croaking of the frog spirits, or doctrines, will gather the kings and princes, financial, political, religious and industrial into one great army. Dxii; OV274:6; SM235:3

Ecclesiastical kings and princes will be gathered in solid phalanx--Protestant and Catholic. Political kings, financial kings and merchant princes will join the same side. Dxii; OV274:4; SM233:3

The nations of the earth are already gathered together, associated by the modern methods of communication--cables, wireless telegraphs, railways and steamship lines. Q769:3

The gathering of the armies is plainly visible from the standpoint of God's Word. B101

They do not realize, however, that they are coming to Armageddon. Dxiv; OV274:4

To the battle -- The general conflict between priest and people, rulers and ruled, capital and labor. R377:6

Organized capital on the one hand and organized labor on the other are the two forces arrayed against each other in deadly conflict. Q849:T

For forty years the Armageddon forces have been mustering for both sides of the conflict. Dxviii; OV276:3; SM239:1

In proportion as men have aided error and wrong, they have been battling against the new Ruler; and in proportion as their tongues, pens and hands were used to support the right and truth on any subject, they have been fighting on the Lord's side. B141

To end in AD 1915, with the complete overthrow of earth's present rulership. This battle has already commenced. B101

The lines of battle are daily becoming more distinctly marked.

Nevertheless Armageddon cannot yet be fought. Gentile Times have still two years to run. [Written in 1912] The Image of the Beast must yet receive life--power. It must be transformed from a mere mechanism to a living force. Dxviii; OV276:3

Armageddon cannot precede the vivifying of the Image, but must follow--perhaps a year after. Dxviii; OV276:4; SM239:2

Prophecy requires an evidently larger number of wealthy Hebrews to be in Israel before the Armageddon crisis. "Jacob's trouble" in the Holy Land will come at the very close of Armageddon. Dxviii; OV276:5; SM239:2 This battle is the seventh plague, and is a result of the six plagues which precede it. R377:3

To war, the conflict between right and wrong. R510:6

The Millennium is preceded by the most terrible judgments on the nations; but, in consequence of these judgments, the people are turned to a pure worship. HG18:5

Typified by Gideon's battle. NS240:6

God Almighty -- The omnipotent God. R510:6

Revelation 16:15

Behold -- The fifteenth verse is abruptly thrown in as a parenthesis. R510:6

The position of this declaration, thrown in disconnectedly, is significant. It teaches that our Lord will be present before the impure teaching begins to gather them to their destruction. R511:1

I come -- At the time when this evil doctrine will apparently be uniting all upon the side of law and order, our Lord will be present, but secretly and unknown except to the watching ones. R510:6; NS8:3, 34:4

He comes more than once. At the first advent--"Behold, thy king cometh."

At his second advent: "The Bridegroom came" and he comes when he "returns from the wedding." He comes for his saints, and he comes with his saints.

HG84:5

As a thief -- He will be present unseen, doing a work of which the world for a time will be unaware. His arrival, therefore, must be in a quiet manner, unobserved, and entirely unknown to the world. B143; R579:3 Such endorsements for truth as miracle-working power, so necessary in the Jewish harvest to the confirmation of truth, would be out of harmony with the thief-like presence and mission of the Lord here. R1742:6

This coming as a thief extends over the whole period from his coming until the judgments on Babylon are complete. R151:5

Is he -- Any one of the Church who complies with the conditions. R3811:2*, 430:6*

The other class [Great Company] are recommended, even under the sixth plague, to watch and keep their garments, lest they walk naked. HG82:1

That watcheth -- Those believers who are taking heed to the sure word of prophecy, as to a light in a dark place, shall, because of its light, not be in darkness that that day should overtake them as a thief. R579:3

And keepeth -- The danger of losing it is implied in this statement, made after six of the seven last plagues are poured out. No man is absolutely above danger of falling until he is immortal. R151:5

His garments -- The robe signifies that share of Christ's merit which has been freely appropriated to us by him with the Father's consent.

R2782:6

Since our sins were laid upon Jesus, and we by faith accept him as our Redeemer, his righteousness has been laid upon us. His righteousness is our glorious dress. R431:5*

Revelation 16:16

He -- The Lord of hosts himself mustereth the hosts of the battle. D528
God will be represented by the great Messiah. He will be on the side of the masses. "At that time shall Michael stand up"--assume authority. (Dan. 12:1) SM236:3

Gathered them together -- The turmoil of speech and the conflict between classes are hurrying us toward the vortex of the great Armageddon. R5448:6
Warring political factions, militant suffragettes, socialists, nihilists, anarchists, labor organizations, capitalistic combinations, the ecclesiastical system, all in opposition to each and all; are rushing headlong to Armageddon. Q769:2

Armageddon -- Symbolizing the great controversy between truth and error, right and wrong, God and mammon. Dii

Armageddon means mount of destruction; and this describes what will be the result of their doctrine. R510:6; Dii, xiii; OV268:2; 275:2; Q769:2; SM236:3

Signifies the Hill of Megiddo, which occupied a very marked position on the southern edge of the Plain of Esdraelon, and commanded an important pass into the hill country. Dii; OV268:2

Megiddo was the great battle-ground of Palestine. Many famous Old Testament battles were fought there: Gideon vs. Midian, King Saul vs. the Philistines, King Josiah vs. Pharaoh Necho; and there Ahab and Jezebel lived, Jezebel there meeting a horrible death. Di; OV268:2; Q769:2

The present great war in Europe is the beginning of the Armageddon of the Scriptures. SM676:2

The Boston Globe quotes Theodore Roosevelt as saying, "With unflinching heart and undimmed eye, we stand at Armageddon and we battle for the Lord." R5062:4

It is pure speculation to attempt to say just when it will begin. R5527:4

We are not to expect any gathering of the people literally to the Hill of Megiddo. Dii; OV268:4

The Scriptures abound with allusions to Armageddon. Our Lord calls it "great tribulation." (Matt. 24:21); Daniel describes it as "a time of trouble." (Dan. 12:1) OV269:2

Revelation 16:17

The seventh angel -- Seven is the symbol of completeness. This seventh plague completes the trouble coming, and will result in the complete unveiling of Satan's systems and the binding or destruction of his power or influence. R511:1

Into the air -- The Greek word here used for "air" is used symbolically to represent government or controlling power over the earth. (See Eph. 2:2; 1 Thes. 4:17; Rev. 9:2) R152:6

The temple -- The Temple of God. (Sinaitic manuscript.) R511:1
When last we saw the Temple, or the nominal church, it was filling with smoke and casting out the faithful messengers of truth. R511:1
The Temple class, the second company, are "saved so as by fire." R511:2

From the throne -- Not in the Sinaitic manuscript. R511:1

It is done -- "It has been done." (Leeser) R511:1

The nominal church is now convinced of the truths uttered by the faithful messengers whom, in ignorance and pride, it cast out. R511:1

Revelation 16:18

Voices -- Proclamations and general discussion of subjects by those being enlightened. R511:2

The voices, lightnings, thunders and earthquake and hail at the ending of the seventh trumpet (Rev. 11:18, 19), and also during the seventh and last plague are clearly the same. HG83:6

And thunders -- Tumults accompanying the increased enlightenment. R511:2

And lightnings -- Diffusion of knowledge. R511:2

A great earthquake -- Symbolic of revolution. R6014:4, 5754:6, 5715:3, 5554:3; SM319:2

A revolution that will involve all the civilized nations. R5567:1

A great revolution which will overthrow everything that is not of the Lord's establishment and approval. SM319:2; OV286:6

A revolution and strife which will involve whatever may still remain of the home governments of the various peoples, and complete the universal insurrection and anarchy. D557

This is the great revolution in which every mountain and hill (the high ones) should be brought low, and the valleys (humble ones) be exalted, bringing all humanity to a common level as a preparation for the righteous reign of the Lord's Anointed. R511:3

It will be a revolution which will affect all the governments of the world, socially, politically, financially and ecclesiastically. R3414:3

The destruction will be accomplished by an outbreak of jealousy, revolution and anarchy amongst the various elements composing the great mixed army. D556

Armageddon itself will be the mighty "Earthquake." R5735:3

The earthquake of 1 Kings 19:11, 12. R2334:4

It is not until the last of the "seven last plagues" that the great earthquake (revolution) occurs, in which every mountain (kingdom) will disappear. A336

A great war amongst the nations of Christendom is expected--a war which will sap Christendom financially, and will awaken the lower classes to grasp through socialism what they esteem to be their rights. Possibly civil war and ultimately anarchy will thus be precipitated. NS58:4

After the present great time of trouble, but before anarchy. R6014:4, 5950:3, 5715:3, 5554:3, 3414:3; OV386:6

Severe though these revolutionary experiences will be to the world they are not sufficient to prepare men to hear the voice of God. That will also require the "fire from heaven." R2334:5

Following the revolution socialism may loom up, but will be short-lived and develop into anarchy. R5567:1

Anarchy will result when socialism fails. SM237:3

Socialism is a revolution based upon the increase of knowledge, even though much of its reasoning is fallacious and much of its work likely to be terribly injurious. R5516:2

The present strife in Europe may possibly be forcefully depicted in some of the prophecies. [A number of prophecies cited.] R5735:4 For years Europe has been trembling with occasional violent revolutionary shocks; but now it is preparing for the great shock, the "great earthquake."

R5516:2

The screws of superstition are being gradually loosened--preparatory to the great, great, political, social, financial and religious "earthquake."

R2870:5

The collapse of spiritual Babylon leads on to this great revolution-earthquake. R5950:3

In conjunction with this social revolution, the Bible indicates that Churchianity will for a time be greatly exalted as the hoped-for power by which the revolution may be offset and stopped. During that time the true Church will be in hard times. R5554:3

Free speech, free mails, and other liberties will be ruthlessly shut off on the plea of necessity. The safety-valve will be sat upon until the great social explosion, the social revolution. Dxv; OV275:1; SM236:1

The "triumphal reign" will be short. It will not be left to disintegrate.

Its fall will be sudden. It will be utterly destroyed by the "great earthquake." R2091:5

As credit depreciates and gold becomes more scarce, the price of commodities will advance, wages in Europe will be forced upward, with accompanying labor troubles, leading on to this earthquake. R5715:3

The logical result of discouraged peoples realizing the meaning of national debts and the collapse of financial institutions which that will involve. R5754:5

Trouble in the Colorado mines and more recent strikes are only premonitory rumblings which, with many other disturbances of like nature, presage the coming storm. R5735:4

So complex and peculiar will be the conflict of this Day of Vengeance that no one symbol could describe it. Many forceful symbols are used, such as battle, earthquake, fire, storm, tempest and flood. D527

Such as was not -- Because it will be worldwide and not a local disturbance, as were the previous seasons of destruction. Q849:T
Christ and his Bride will hinder the strife of men from going to the extreme, but it will not be stopped until the present order shall have been wholly dissolved. R5735:3

We are in only the beginning of the great trouble and overthrow. The whole present order will go up in a mighty conflagration. R5735:4

Revelation 16:19

The great city -- Representing the united three elements which attempt in union to rule over or control the world. R511:3

The fourth empire. HG20:5, 90:1

Was divided -- Their union and power will continue for a while, but they will again separate. R511:3

When the civil power refuses any longer to carry the church, Babylon will have fallen. The fall of Babylon and the "division of that great city" is one and the same. HG90:3

A division now being consummated. HG20:5

This is how the waters are to be dried up--by a triune struggle among themselves. HG90:1

Into three parts -- The utter overthrow of the triple alliance between the Beast (Papacy), the False Prophet (other religious systems teaching error) and the dragon (civil power.) R511:3

The monarchial, religious and republican elements of Europe. HG20:5

The cities -- The city. (Sinaitic) R511:5

Babylon -- Though the kingdoms shall fall, the religious element of the union shall not escape. R511:3

Which now proudly calls itself Christendom (Christ's Kingdom). R1357:3, 3647:3

Since the Apocalypse was written centuries after literal Babylon was laid in ruins, it is clear that the special reference of all the prophets is to something of which the ancient literal Babylon was an illustration. D22

Came in remembrance -- Into judgment; already in progress as evidenced by the revision of hitherto unquestioned creeds and the unsparing criticism of the secular press. Babylon is recognized as a self-contradictory mouthpiece of God. R3647:3

The fall of literal Babylon, while it was sudden, and while it made a great commotion amongst the nations, lacks much of filling to the full the prophetic picture. R2498:3

While the broadest application of this language is, of course, to Papacy, it also involves all who are in any degree in confederation or sympathy with her. All such will be sharers in her plagues. D38

And suddenly, in one hour, her fall will occur. (Rev. 18:10) SM127:1

Of the fierceness -- Signifying that the fiercest of the trouble--the wine or extract of the wrath--will be upon the Babylon systems more than upon the political systems. R511:3

Of his wrath -- The great systems, religious, social and civil, that now unitedly constitute Christendom, shall go into oblivion, destruction.

R1896:4, 5565:1

Revelation 16:20

Every island -- Symbolizing Republican governments--organizations of people slightly above the "sea" level. R511:3

While kingdoms (mountains) give place to republics (islands), so the islands shall also in due time flee away. R511:4

Fled away -- The spirit of liberty will overleap all bounds and order, and end in anarchy. R511:4

Mountains were not found -- The republics are swept away after kingdoms have all been overturned. R511:5

Revelation 16:21

Upon men -- In a similar plague which literally came upon Egypt, it injured only those Egyptians who had not respect to the words of Jehovah. (Ex. 9:19-21) R511:5

A great hail -- Hail is solidified water--truth delivered in such a way as to be dangerously destructive to things with which it comes in contact. R511:5, 3344:3*

Compared to the hail used by the Lord on Joshua's "long day." (Josh. 10:8) R3344:3*

"And the hail shall sweep away the refuge of lies and the waters (truth) shall overflow the hiding place." (Isa. 28:17) R511:5

Not that the hail comes last. Something must be mentioned last. These various things will occur, or be in progress, at once--voices, thunderings, hail and lightning. R511:6 This is hinted at in the fact that these same events, mentioned under the seventh seal and seventh trumpet, are mentioned indiscriminately as one event. R511:6

Out of heaven -- Spiritual powers, but not any longer corrupt and vitiated spiritual powers, for these have passed away. This is the new "heavens." R511:6

Weight of a talent -- About the weight of a man, sufficient to break down everything before it. R511:5

The smallest Greek talent was fifty-seven pounds, avoirdupois weight. R3344:3*

Revelation 17

Revelation 17:1

And there came -- The 17th chapter, by its synchronical connection with almost all the other predictions of the Apocalypse, furnishes a most valuable clue to the meaning and application of the whole series of visions. R471:3

The vision of the 17th chapter is from the time perspective of the "judgment," AD 1870; while the explanation is given from the time perspective of the prophecy, AD 96. Without recognizing these two standpoints, all is confusion. HG22:3

The visions of the 17th and 12th chapters of Revelation are not disconnected, but a pair--a pair associated, not by likeness, but by contrast. R472:2

In Rev. 12 Rome is characterized as a purely civil power; in chapter 13 as a compound of "church and state" and in chapter 17 as a dual power, with church and state kept distinct. HG20:4

When Luther discovered how fully Papacy filled the picture given by Paul in 2 Thes. 2:3-8, and in the symbols of Rev. 17, he felt justified by that knowledge in publicly denouncing that system. R402:1, 310:2; Dviii
The various prophecies of Isaiah, Jeremiah, Daniel and the Apocalypse concerning Babylon are all in full accord, and manifestly refer to the same city. D22

Compare Jer. 51:13. R1371:6

Compare Isa. 13:1-15 with this chapter, the latter part of Isa. 13 evidently referring only to literal Babylon. R2372:5 Compare the first five verses of chapter 17 with Rev. 21:9-11. Q842:5

The judgment -- During the existence of the sixth head, or from 1800 to 1870, the "judgment" has been executed on the "woman." HG21:1

The judgment of Babylon, Christendom, social and ecclesiastical, is another sign that the Judge has come, and is reckoning first of all with those to whom as stewards he has committed his goods. D599

"But the judgment shall sit, and they shall take away its dominion, to consume, and to destroy it unto the end." (Dan. 7:26) HG21:1

The great whore -- She neglected her heavenly Bridegroom. R5478:1

Disloyal to her engagement, and therefore no longer worthy to be the Bride of Messiah. R5092:1

In contrast, the Bride is represented as a chaste virgin, espoused to Christ. R472:2; SM406:2

A detailed comparison with "the Bride, the Lamb's wife" drawn from contrasting texts in Rev. 12 and 21. R471:6

See comments on Rev. 17:5.

Sitteth upon -- Representing an established reign, or kingdom, or dominion, extending over "peoples, and multitudes, and nations, and tongues." (Verse 15) R283:5*

Many waters -- Literal Babylon was built upon the river Euphrates, which materially contributed to its wealth and resources. Its overthrow was accomplished by the turning aside of those waters. B209; R45:1; CR165:1; HG89:3, 520:5
Compare Jer. 51:13. R436:5, 2498:3

Revelation 17:2

Kings of the earth -- It is claimed that the kingdoms of Europe were transferred from Satan to Christ, and became "Christian nations." A270

Committed fornication -- The union of church and state. The fall of Babylon is the dissolution of that union--"the woman" being thrown from "the beast." HG90:3

Seems to imply as its symbolical significance any illicit fellowship with the world on the part of those who have betrothed themselves to be God's consecrated people. R2300:1

The inhabitants of the earth -- Non-professors being rather less intoxicated than professing Christians. R3049:3

Have been made drunk -- With her erroneous doctrines, intimidating them by teaching that eternal torment awaited all who resisted their claims. A268; R507:3

The stimulating power is not the power of a sound mind, but the delusion of a false doctrine; as the Prophet declares, they are "drunken," but not with wine. (Isa. 29:9-13) R2904:5

A man having delirium tremens sees snakes and lizards. In our bewildered, intoxicated condition we have seen visions of flames, and of devils with tails and pitchforks. OV416:2

So that they "err in vision, they stumble in judgment." NS506:6

So strong is the power of this intoxication that the inconsistencies of such theories are not discerned by those intoxicated. SM408:2

The teachers of Christendom are represented as being confused, confounded, and disposed to vomit forth the various creeds and theories of the Dark Ages which have produced their intoxication. SM107:2

As error spread and the spirit of ambition gradually superseded the spirit of humility, the church, as conditions favored her advancement, organized itself as the Papal hierarchy. R5910:6, 5374:2

She succeeded in convincing, for the time, the whole world of the truthfulness of her false claims. R507:5

The drunken stupor of error which led us to think of our Creator as a great devil, who from the beginning has plotted for the creation to spend an eternity in torture. SM551:1

The nations are still drunk today. Very few know how to reason on religious matters even yet. OV416:2; R5340:5

But the nations are gradually sobering up. SM407:1

Wine of her fornication -- Wine of false doctrine. R5474:5, 5092:1, 4925:2, 3247:2, 3112:6, 3104:2, 3049:3; SM407:1, 409:3

Her incontinency and unfaithfulness to him. R2904:5

Not necessarily that every doctrine presented by Papacy was false and intoxicating; rather, that a stupefying potion was put into the wine already in the cup. SM407:2

The stupefying potion may be some of the doctrines--that God's Kingdom has already been set up, that the papal throne is the throne of Christ, etc.

SM407:2

The belief that the promised Millennial reign of Christ had come, and that Christ the King was represented by her popes, who reigned over the kings of the earth as his vicegerents. A268

It is claimed that the kingdoms of Europe were transferred from Satan to Christ, and became "Christian nations." A270

Thus it comes that the kingdoms of Europe today claim to be Christian kingdoms, and announce that sovereigns reign "by the grace of God," i.e., through appointment of either Papacy or some of the Protestant sects. A268

God never approved of calling these kingdoms by the name of Christ.

Deceived by the church nominal, these nations are sailing under false colors, claiming to be what they are not. A269

The church systems of today are thoroughly permeated with all manner of pagan doctrines--immortality of the soul, a trinity of Gods, torment after death, reincarnation, communion of the living with the dead. R5911:6

Not literal alcoholic intoxication, but the intoxication of error, of false doctrine, of human schemes and plans, the spirit of man and of the Adversary in contradistinction to the spirit, the teaching of the Lord.

R3104:2, 4287:3, 5474:5

Producing an intoxication along religious lines, hindering people from discerning and comprehending the divine Word, character and plan. R2904:5

The intoxication produced by imbibing the spirit of the world, the wine of Babylon. R1896:2

Churchianity's social revelry, intoxication with the spirit of this world and of false doctrine. R3247:2

It is this false doctrine which will constitute the frog spirit that soon will croak, preparatory to Armageddon. SM239:T

Ecumenicism is a proof of the decline of vital godliness and love of the truth; and an evidence that the spirit of that noble movement, The Great Reformation, is dead. D266

The wine of Churchianity confuses those who use it, beclouds their minds, addles their judgment and brings the people into captivity to false doctrine and false teachers. R2904:5

As prosperity led the way to the intoxication of pride, so the prosperity of Christendom during the past century has led up to great boasting, pride and self-consciousness. R4287:3 The Church are scattered here and there throughout the sects, whose Babylonish, worldly, fleshly spirit troubles them, but whose wine of false doctrine deceives them. R3112:6
The drink mixed by the apostate woman, the Mother of Harlots. OV416:2
The basis of the alliance of Papacy with civil power was the doctrine that the second coming of Christ as the Messiah to rule the world for a thousand years was thus fulfilled. PD79/91

Revelation 17:3

Carried me away -- From AD 96 down to where "the judgment" was to be executed, between 1800 and 1870, during the existence of the sixth head. HG21:2

Into the wilderness -- One must get out of Babylon into the separate or wilderness condition before they can get a good view of the harlot or her daughters. R307:3; D27

In contrast, the Bride sojourns in solitude in the wilderness, while this woman "reigns in the wilderness" over peoples, and nations, and kindreds, and tongues. R472:2

A woman -- A false woman--an apostate church. R5092:1, 472:6
The papal church. R206:6*

Sit upon -- A symbolic statement of her control of the power of Rome. R5092:1

That is, supported by and controlling the world. R45:2; HG64:4

The people of Rome and Italy submitted to the supremacy of the papal church from AD 538 to 1798. Prior to 538 the Roman church never held supremacy, since the Goths, who were Arians, and opposed to Catholicism, occupied the peninsula of Italy. HG65:1 When the civil power in Italy embraced the party of the emperor, who was fighting for the Catholic church, they renounced Arianism, and supported the church of Rome. HG65:2

Some thought to improve on God's plan, and, instead of suffering, to get the church into a position of favor with the world. By a combination with earthly powers they succeeded. A268

Prior to the year 800, Papacy was rising, supported by the Roman "Beast" (people) and by its "horns" (powers). B354

No other church was ever carried by the great Roman empire. HG64:3

The papal church could not have been placed in power, set up on the Beast, before she had an existence, before she was prepared for that step by the completeness of the falling away, or apostasy from Christ. R206:6*

When the civil power refuses any longer to carry the church, Babylon will have fallen. HG90:3

A scarlet coloured beast -- The Roman empire, or civil power, while under the dominion of Papacy, although held in abeyance by the church, had a separate existence. The dragon element is maintained in the symbol to the end. HG20:5

The International, or republican, element represents "the body of the beast," or "the peoples, and multitudes, and nations, and tongues," on which the woman sat. HG20:5

In contrast, the Bride belongs to the Lamb, who loves her as a Bridegroom. R472:1

The dragon of Rev. 12. R306:6, 55:4

Of blasphemy -- The Bishop of Rome claimed to represent our Lord Jesus to the church and to the world. R5911:1

Seven heads -- Governments. HG64:3

First, Consular, starting with Anthony in BC 30; Second, Imperial, from August Caesar in BC 27; Third, Gothic, from the Gothic occupation of Rome in AD 4786; Fourth, Papacy, from 538 to 1798--1260 years; Fifth, the Republic in 1798; Sixth, Restored Papacy as the "Image" of the Beast from 1800; Seventh, Victor Emanuel, from September 1870. HG20:3

The fifth head is Papacy. R306:6, 55:4

Ten horns -- Divisions. HG64:3

Divided into ten parts. HG22:5

Revelation 17:4

And the woman -- The mother system of Babylon; the ecclesiastical systems. SM407:1, 408:3

Compare Jer. 51:7-9. C156; R1371:6, 436:5

Compare Jer. 51:1, 6, 8, 9, 45. D43

Arrayed in purple -- In contrast, the Bride is clothed with fine linen--righteousness. R472:1

Scarlet colour -- Protestants, willing to conciliate Rome in almost every way, retract the statements of the past, that the church of Rome is the scarlet woman, or the Antichrist. They even apologize for their name Protestant and are ashamed of it. R1775:3, 1488:2

Decked with gold -- The policy of the church of Rome is thoroughly selfish. She squeezes large sums from the rich, but craftily remembers that pennies from the poorest amount in the aggregate to more than the larger sums from the fewer wealthy. R1765:2

Having a golden cup -- The golden cup represents the Bible, the divine standard, or authority. It was misused when the wine of false doctrine was put into it--when the Bible was claimed as authority for various erroneous teachings. SM407:1; R472:6

The cup suggests that the unfaithful church had once been the receptacle of divine truth--"Babylon hath been a golden cup in the Lord's hands." (Jer. 51:7) R5092:1, 5910:6

In the type, the golden vessels of the Temple were carried away and profaned by literal Babylon. In the antitype, the precious, divine (golden) truths, pertaining to the service of the true Temple, the Church, were far removed from their proper places, perverted and misapplied by mystic Babylon. B208; CR165:3

She mingled in her "cup" a stupefying potion that has intoxicated the world; even the Lord's saints were bewildered. R5478:1

We are gradually emerging from its intoxicating effects. The hobgoblins that we saw when we were under its influence are disappearing, and sanity is returning to us. R5099:5

Compare Jer. 51:7. R436:5

Full of abominations -- A cup of false doctrines, misrepresentations and misunderstandings of the divine teaching. Q664:T; R5633:2, 5099:5, 4287:3; SM107:1

The poisonous draught was mixed which was poured into the "golden cup" of truth, and held out to the world by the apostate "woman," the professed church of God. R5910:6

And filthiness -- Greek, kai; full of abomination "for" the filthiness of their fornication. R472:6

Her fornication -- Without a blush for their shame, and, in fact ignorance of the fact that it condemns them. R472:6

Revelation 17:5

Upon her forehead -- Prominently marked. D23

MYSTERY -- The Apocalypse is a book of mysteries; things are represented by signs; realities are veiled. It would have been inconsistent with this style to have written Rome on the harlot's brow. R472:5

The symbol seen by John was suggestive of something widely different from itself; so the name with which the symbol was stamped was also widely different, though mysteriously similar. R472:5

BABYLON THE GREAT -- Babylon is the religious element of the fourth empire--Papal Rome. HG90:2

Her influence as a sacerdotal empire, full of inconsistency and confusion, is symbolically represented under the name Babylon. D26

The great confusion. R718:2

The name is applied not only to the typical woman, Papacy, and her mystical daughters, the Protestant denominations, but also to the great city, Mystic Babylon--the governmental features--the religious authority to govern and control the kingdoms of the earth. SM408:4, 121:2; R510:1; Q720:4

In its widest sense, as symbolized by the Babylonian empire, representing Christendom. In its more restricted sense, as symbolized by the ancient city of Babylon, picturing the nominal Christian church. D26

Since the kingdoms of the civilized world are dominated by the great ecclesiastical systems, they link themselves in with great Babylon, and become part of it. Typically, the name applied not only to the city, but also to the whole empire. D27

Which now proudly calls itself Christendom, Christ's kingdom. R1357:3

The term Babylon seems to signify a concentration of the various errors in apostate church systems, personified in Revelation as mother and daughters. R5478:1

The name Babylon is emblazoned on the brow of every sectarian system the world over. R472:6

A system which should last long, exert a subtle and extensive influence, and be guilty of exceeding iniquity and cruelty. R471:3; SM124:3

The harlot and Babylon are one; as the Bride and the heavenly Jerusalem are one. R472:1

THE MOTHER OF HARLOTS -- A harlot, in Bible language, means a church, the bride of Christ, married to the world, or a union of church and state.

HG64:3; R143:3

Harlotry, confusion--the mixing of world systems with that which should be true, pure to the Lord alone. NS294:5

The true Church is symbolized by a woman, a virgin; and the false systems by harlots, unfaithful to their espousals, and associating with the world.

HG413:2; NS294:5; SM406:3

Suggesting a mother church, and daughter churches which are said to closely resemble the mother, and bear the family name. R5092:1; D35; CR165:5; SM405:1

Thus intimating that the whole brood is illegitimate in every sense of the word. R5478:1

The union of the woman (church) with the beast (empire) constitutes the spiritual harlotry of which she is guilty. R472:6; CR165:5

Though in a great measure the world has withdrawn from the churches, the union still exists, and the Scriptures seem to point out that, in the time of trouble, the nominal churches will be on the side of the kings of the earth, and united to them. B261

A fallen woman, prostituting her virgin purity, both of doctrine and character, to suit the world ideas. In return she received a present dominion. D26

The church lost her virginity and became united to an earthly husband, the Roman Empire. Dviii; OV271:5

A famous picture in Italy shows the Pope and Emperor side by side. On one side are cardinals, bishops, etc., in order of rank; on the other side generals, soldiers, down to common people. Thus the union of church and state was recognized. Dviii; PD79/91

Some claim this as a public acknowledgment of the marriage of the professed Virgin of Christ to civil power. PD79/91

Following the example of the mother's unlawful union with the world, the Protestant sects were also termed harlots. R507:5

Protestant churches have left the mother's house to set up on their own account. NS294:5

Some of her daughters have followed very closely in her footsteps, in mixing church and state. Such are "The Church of England" and other state churches. Such would other daughters be also, if they could find empires willing to support them. R472:6

Her daughters, the ecclesiastical systems that are the offspring of the parent system, are likewise represented as being babes, both embryonic and new-born. Q842:5

While they separated from the Mother system and denounced her, nevertheless they held doctrinally to many of her intoxicating errors. SM407:3

It was their lust for power, name and influence, to do a great work, and have many children, that led these daughters of Rome to follow the example of their mother. R319:6

Protestants of every name and order are doing homage to what they are pleased to call the mother church. Union is the watchword today throughout the length and breadth of Christendom. R1488:2

Protestantism, as it exists today, is not the result of the Great Reformation, but of its decline; and it now partakes to a large degree of the disposition and character of the Church of Rome. D28; SM406:1

Papacy was "Babylon the Great," but in the time of "harvest" the Lord calls the entire system Babylon. R323:5

God has measurably confined his prophetic utterances which apply to religious systems to that system which was given the seat of the Beast (Rev. 13:2)--the church of Rome and her daughters. R366:2

Both Romanists and Protestants now freely own the relationship of mother and daughters. D28

In Pittsburgh a Presbyterian minister said, "Wince as you will, you must admit that this [the Catholic church] is the Mother church." R5092:1, 743:6
The daughter recognizes the mother, and the mother the daughter, and the whole world is witness to the family resemblance; but the mother dare not acknowledge the daughter for fear of incriminating herself; for she and all the other daughters are illegitimate. R2046:6

False churches or anti-Christian religious systems are symbolized by wicked women. Q851:2

Papacy, in claiming the title, Holy Mother Church never seems to consider its incompatibility with her profession to be the only true church --a virgin, espoused to Christ. D29; R743:6; SM406:2

From the mother the daughter got the idea of eternal hell--eternal torment, trinity, human immortality; all that is bad, not excepting the putting of the decrees of their sects instead of the Bible. R743:6, 4731:6
In the time of trouble approaching, the churches, professedly virgins of Christ, will be united to the kings of the earth; and the true church, like John the Baptist, will be unpopular and restrained of liberty for opposing and condemning this error. R968:6

We may expect that Protestants, carried away with admiration for the head of Antichrist, may surely come into fuller harmony with the "mother system" than has ever before existed between them. R3228:4

They will not return to her, however, but will unite themselves and more independently follow her deceitful policy. R1764:4

The true Church is a virgin, and the church of Rome poses as the true, virgin church of Christ. Compare Rev. 17:5 with 2 Cor. 11:2; Eph. 5:27.

R2047:1

In Scriptural symbolism, the word does not mean an immoral person. Dviii; OV271:5

A title with 18 letters--6+6+6. R323:2

Compare 1 Cor. 6:15, 16. R721:5

AND ABOMINATIONS -- She was not only an abomination, but "the abomination that maketh desolate," and when the woman took her seat "on the beast," the abomination was "set up." (Dan. 12:11) HG64:4

The entire abomination system being one, and of the same spirit, is referred to by Jesus, Daniel and Paul as "Babylon the Great," "The Mystery of Iniquity," and the "Abomination of the earth." (2 Thes. 2:7; Dan. 12:11) R711:1

Drunken with -- The great organized false church persecuted the dissenters, who protested against her errors, until she was intoxicated with her success, and deceived all nations, and gained their support.

R984:3

Intoxicated with its phenomenal success and continuing to intoxicate and deceive the nations. C104

Not that those who have upheld and are upholding the various sections of Babylon have an evil intention; they are thoroughly "drunk" with their own erroneous theories. CR165:6

Blood of the saints -- The early Church was persecuted by civil Rome.

When papal Rome got control, all who refused to approve her abominations were persecuted by her (Jezebel) directly, or indirectly by the civil powers to which she was wedded (Ahab). D584

Papacy, as the antitypical Jezebel, accomplished her desires in propagating her system and destroying the prophets of the Lord. R3408:3

Thousands, yes, millions were put to death by Papacy. R307:2

In contrast, the Bride is persecuted, pressed hard by the dragon, driven into the wilderness, and well-nigh overwhelmed. R472:2

This long persecution ended, practically, in 1776, and actually, in 1799, when the pope and his authority were humiliated before the world. D584

In the Notes of the Rhemish [Catholic] translation it reads: "But the blood of Protestants is not called the blood of saints, no more than the blood of thieves or man-killers." B320

Blood of the martyrs -- As Israel and Judah went into captivity to literal Babylon, so spiritual Israel would have drastic experiences in a captivity to mystic or symbolic Babylon. CR164:3

Revelation 17:8

The beast -- The fourth empire. HG21:3

The beast that ascended out of the bottomless pit and made war on "my two witnesses"--the Old and the New Testament--during the French Revolution was the infancy of the same Commune now to be fully organized. HG22:1
The Commune came to the surface in only one of the ten divisions of the empire at that time, and was soon driven back; while now it is to become a universal scourge. HG22:2

Was -- As a civil power, or beast. HG21:3

And is not -- For under the Papacy it had become an ecclesiastical organization. HG21:3

Shall ascend -- That is, throw off the control of the church. HG76:2

Meaning only a freedom from religious restraint. HG22:2

Out of -- Just as the "dragon" or nations now controlled by the Devil are to throw off, or be let loose from the control of Christ at the end of the thousand years. HG76:2

The bottomless pit -- When the church element got the power, and the "woman" was seated on the "Beast," that beast was said to be "in the bottomless pit." HG76:2

As the dragon, the civil power of the nations, has been in the "bottomless pit" under the antichrist, so the nations are to be subdued under the real Christ. HG76:4

Shall wonder -- At the partial development of this headless monster, when the streets of Paris ran with gore; the blood of her rich, her noble, and her beautiful; men looked on with wonder. How much shall they wonder at the full reality? HG22:6

Not written -- Other records speak of blotting out the names of such as prove unfaithful to their consecration. (Rev. 3:5) R2540:2

Book of life -- Reads as though it had been intended as a reiteration of Rev. 13:8 with the portion "of the Lamb slain" inadvertently omitted. R2540:4

The book would represent the original divine purpose--God's intention to have a Church. R2540:5

From the foundation -- The book covenanting life to an elect number was prepared from the foundation of the world. The names in it have been written as the individuals have made consecration of themselves. R2540:4
God's plans have from the very first recognized the corrupting and degrading tendency of sin, and provided for them. Q781:2, 801:2

Revelation 17:9

Seven mountains -- Rome was seated on seven hills. Her common name with the classic writers of St. John's age is "the seven-hilled city. The medals and coins of the day represent Rome as a woman sitting on seven hills. R472:4

The "seven-hilled" city, thus fixing the locality of the seat of the woman as being the same as the seat of the dragon. (Rev. 13:2) HG21:3

Symbolizing governments, or heads of the empire. HG21:4

The woman sitteth -- The woman is in some way identified with Rome. She must represent a church--the church of Rome. R472:5

If the woman is identified with Rome, why is her name Babylon? The name Babylon, applied by the Spirit to the church of Rome, expresses her character, for Babylon means mixture, confusion. (See Lev. 18:23) R472:6, 45:2

Literally true. She is also said, in symbol, to sit upon many waters (verse 1) and upon the Beast (verse 3) which, in verse 15, is explained to be "peoples, and multitudes, and nations, and tongues." HG21:4

Revelation 17:10

Five are fallen -- The Consular, Imperial, Gothic, Papal and Republic. HG21:5

One is -- The sixth. HG21:3

Restored Papacy, or the "Image of the Beast." HG21:5

The other -- The seventh. HG21:3

The present [1896] Italian government is the seventh head of the "beast" which has continued a "short space," represented in the present monarch and his father Victor Immanuel. R2062:6

A short space -- Today more than 150 million Catholics wait and long for the overthrow of Victor Emanuel's empire, vainly hoping for the restoration to Rome of papal sovereignty. HG21:5

Revelation 17:11

The beast -- The nations on which the woman sat compose the body of the beast, and are already taking on a separate existence as the Internations, or peoples of all nations. HG21:6

The eighth -- The eighth condition will be the Beast without a head--either a republic or anarchy. If a republic, we shall shortly expect anarchy, "perdition." R2062:6? HG21:6

The republican third of the empire, when fully developed, is to be a headless monster, or the "Beast," after its last "head" is fallen. HG20:5
The state of chaos and reign of terror which deluged France in blood under the Commune and Dupont, Robespierre and their class, is only a faint picture of the fully developed commune, or headless monster. HG22:1

Perdition -- Anarchy. R2062:6
The end is reached. HG22:2

Revelation 17:12

Ten kings -- Babylon is represented as being divided into ten different wards, each representing a kingdom of Christendom. SM405:4
Babylon with her ten wards includes practically all of Europe. SM406:1
Which thou sawest -- From when he saw the vision, looking back from 1870, hence in the past. HG22:3

Are -- Looking to the future from AD 96 when the explanation was given. HG22:3

As yet -- In the year 96 AD, the empire had not been divided. HG22:3

One hour -- Greek, hora; a little season. Thus rendered in Philemon 15: "He therefore departed for a season." HG22:4

It was but a very short time after the empire was fully divided into its parts, before the "ten kings" did become of one mind. HG22:4

Revelation 17:13

Have one mind -- That is, they all became Catholic. HG22:4

Give their power -- Papacy, for many centuries, had no power, only what was delegated to her by the "ten kings," the divisions of the empire. HG65:3

Revelation 17:14

These -- Ten kings. HG80:1

Shall make war -- Christian people feel bound to champion the present falling kingdoms of so-called Christendom. Thus their sympathies are often forced to the side of oppression, rather than to the side of right and freedom. A270

The kingdoms of this world become our Lord's only by conquest. HG80:1
Whatever the nature of this "war," it is certainly opposition by the kings of the earth towards Christ. In no way can such language be construed so as to mean gospel conversion. HG13:2, 80:1

Shall overcome them -- Thus the nations will be "bound for a thousand years" under the real Christ, as the dragon has been, in a very limited sense, under the antichrist. HG23:4

Lord of lords -- Attesting that the one referred to by the same title in 1 Tim. 4:14-16, "who only hath immortality" is our Lord Jesus. R2747:6
Comparisons which show dignity and honor pertaining to Christ are never understood to be comparisons with Jehovah. (See 1 Cor. 15:27, 28) R2747:6

King of kings -- To the Jewish house Jesus presented himself in three characters--as Bridegroom (John 3:29), Reaper (John 4:35) and King (Matt. 21:5, 9, 4). To the Christian house he presents himself in the same three characters. (2 Cor. 11:2; Rev. 14:14, 15) B238

They -- The very elect. R4253:2

That are with him -- Christ, like Gideon, is called of God to lead a Little Flock of "called and faithful and chosen" ones forth to the conquest of the hosts of sin. R4083:2, 1876:4 And share his glory; and with him judge the world--granting trial to every member of Adam's race to return to full harmony with God. R3587:3, 1669:3, 1170:4

Joint-heirs with Christ, to reign with him over the earth for a thousand years. R1493:5

The new heavens--Christ and his elect Church. OV27:3

These will, with Christ their Lord and Head, be God's agents, missionaries, kings and priests to instruct and uplift humanity during the Millennial age. NS582:6

Those close to him, his "regular army" are few--a Little Flock, all rich in faith. But he has an immense army of "irregulars"--Communists, Infidels, Socialists, Anarchists, Nihilists. R817:3

Their part in the fray is to oppose false doctrines, and to slay with the sword of the truth. R774:6

Are called -- Invited to share the Kingdom with their Redeemer. NS627:2

Consequently their aspiration was not an unlawful one, but grateful acceptance of the grandest favor of God. R875:2*, 613:4

While sinners are called to repentance, only justified believers are called of God to the high calling. R4078:2

Those called through the gospel message, through the Bible and tracts and hymns and Christian lives everywhere, are many. NS654:5

Although "many are called, few are chosen." (Matt. 22:14) HG83:4

Called and faithful and chosen according to his purpose. (Rom. 8:28) C232

And chosen -- Elect--the same word in Greek. R3587:3

Accepted. C210; R1142:1

Through sanctification of the Spirit and belief of the truth. R442:6

The call is true; the determination of God to select and exalt a Church is unchangeable; but who will be of this chosen class is conditional. A195

All who receive the call do not appreciate it. Some fail to make their calling and election sure, and therefore of the many called only a few are chosen. R613:4

Only such called ones as accept the call by making a full consecration of themselves belong to this "chosen" class. R4078:3

If our hearts have responded and if, subsequently, we have been begotten of the holy Spirit, we have a mark of being not only called, but chosen.

NS654:6

Being faithful to the call insures our position among the chosen. R270:5, 134:6

And faithful -- Even unto death. C210

To the conditions of the call. A195; R875:2*

"Called, chosen, faithful." These are our Lord's words and in his own order. NS446:4

Not only "called" but "faithful and chosen." NS371:1

Even of those who hear and come, all are not worthy. A195

It is not sufficient that we have been called of the Lord; it is not sufficient that we have accepted that call and been accepted of the Lord as his chosen ones. It is necessary that beyond this we shall develop character. NS446:4

Only such as are developed and tested, and by the test proved faithful, will ever be owned and recognized as the Bride and joint-heir of the Lamb.

C210; R5048:1

Not all who reach this chosen place will prove faithful and win the crown. R4078:3

"Called, chosen, faithful" describes the attitude of those pupils in the school of Christ who graduate with the highest honors. NS372:4

The branches of the true olive tree are the truly and fully consecrated and faithful ones of this Gospel age, whose names are "written in heaven"--the Bride of the Lamb. C187

Let us be very ambitious to increase our capacity that we may thereby increase our service and sacrifice. R672:4

Revelation 17:15

And he saith -- Compare Jer. 51:13. R1371:6, 436:5? HG520:5

The waters -- Water is a symbol of truth, but also symbolizes revenues from outside peoples and kingdoms--the peoples and nations supporting Mystic Babylon by contributions and offerings. SM409:3; R510:1

Thus defining the "great river" of the sixth plague. (Rev. 16:12) R510:1

As the drying up of the literal Euphrates was the immediate cause of the fall of ancient Babylon, so the drying up of the waters of mystic Euphrates is the prelude to the fall of "Mystery, Babylon the Great."

HG89:3, 520:5; PD51/62; OV720:4

The river represents people and wealth. PD51/62

The whore -- See comments on Rev. 17:5.

Are -- Are a symbol of. R3568:2

Peoples -- In Bible symbolic language, water represents truth, and it also represents peoples. R5846:2

As the agitated waters, in the case of Jonah, find a parallel in the lawless mob, which clamored for Christ's death. R3568:3*

And nations -- Not over one people or nation alone; her rule is catholic, or general. SM409:3

Horns -- Kingdoms. R319:2

Hate the whore -- Who is so blind so as not to see its present fulfillment. HG22:4

Make her desolate -- In 1798 the delusion that none could successfully war or contend with Papacy was shown, when Napoleon in defiance of the curse, took Pope Pius VI a prisoner to Paris where he died. R319:2
They have taken away her dominion and confiscated her property. HG21:1; R319:2

In contrast, the Bride goes in with the Lamb to the marriage supper, amid the glad hallelujahs of heaven. R472:2

Eat her flesh -- Since 1800 Papacy has been cast off from temporal authority over kings and peoples, and has been torn and pillaged by those who formerly gave it support. B355

One result of the French Revolution was the confiscation of the immense wealth of the Roman Catholic Church; a lesser revolution in Italy similarly degraded papal power and confiscated much of the Papacy's property; now Spain seems to be headed to do the same. R2307:1
Still she says, "I sit a queen, and am no widow" (Rev. 18:7), loudly boasting of her right to rule the nations, and claims that her former power will soon be regained. D38

Revelation 17:17

The words of God -- The 1260 years. HG22:5

Revelation 17:18

That great city -- Mystic Babylon. R5628:3

Represented for 1260 years by papal Rome, the city is the fourth empire. HG90:1

That great organization, or rather, union of diverse organizations, which the Scriptures term "Babylon"--the great development of the "Mystery of Iniquity." R634:2*

It embraces all the church-state organizations of the Christian nations. HG90:2

Which reigneth -- There was but one great city which, in John's day, reigned over the kings of the earth--Rome. R472:4

Papacy is noted as "The Man of Sin" who seduced many of Jesus' virgin church with the delusion that the kingdoms of this world had become the kingdom of God, and that the time to suffer with Christ was over, and the time to reign begun. R143:3; A268

Her titles show how thoroughly she reigned. She was styled "the royal Rome;" "the mistress of the world;" "the queen of nations." R472:4

How great is Papacy's triumph at the present hour, as she seems to see what she considers the little season of Satan's power drawing to a close, and herself rising again to glory and power. R1002:2

Revelation 18

Revelation 18:2

Babylon the great -- Not the literal city of Babylon, but the symbolic city. R5478:1, 2372:2; D22

We should not apply this term to individuals, but to great systems.

Similarly, not to any sect or party, but to the general conglomeration of systems and denominations. SM424:1

The extravagant language used throughout the prophecies in respect to the fall of Babylon was made extravagant because the divine testimony had reference to mystic Babylon. R2372:5

Babylon is the religious element of the fourth empire--Papal Rome. It embraces all the church-state organizations of the Christian nations.

HG90:2

Both Papal and Protestant systems. R5092:2

The word "Babylon" signifies "confusion," and is used in reference to mixing the things of God and of men. R5730:1, 5564:6, 5406:5, 5092:3, 45:1; Q63:1, 351:2

So named because her many errors of doctrine, mixed with a few elements of divine truth, make great confusion, and the mixed company brought together by the mixed truths and errors. Since they will hold the errors at a sacrifice of truth, the latter is made void, and often worse than meaningless. C181; R5911:6

Originally "Babylon" signified "Gate of God." But the word came subsequently to have the meaning of confusion, mixture. R5092:3

Confusion--the confusion of sectarianism. R1364:1

Confusion by reason of opposing and jarring creeds, discord prevails among them. R1011:5*

The confused, mixed condition of worldly-mindedness and lukewarm Christianity. R474:6, 317:3*, 310:4*, 304:2

These systems are so numerous, and their theories so diverse and confused, that the general term of "Babylon" (confusion) is applied to them as a general or family name. R2845:3; D35; NS44:1; Q63:1

Proudly calling itself Christendom (Christ's kingdom). R1357:3

Early churches were merely "associations," rather than "organizations," bound and fettered by creeds and traditions. R984:1

The term Babylon seems to signify a concentration of the various errors in apostate church systems, personified in Revelation, as mother and daughters. R5478:1; NS11:6

Catholics declare that Protestants are this Babylonish system, and Protestants claim that Catholics are this Babylonish system. Both are right! CR165:5; HG522:2

As the mother was called "Babylon," the daughters--so like their mother--bear also the family name. R5092:1, 986:4, 472:6; CR165:5; HG522:3

The "Disciples" professedly hold the Bible as the only standard for faith and practice. However few practice what they all theoretically profess.

While they have no written creed, they generally have an unwritten creed which is even more positive and arbitrary. R2338:6, 1578:2

The professed church of Christ being married to worldly governments God calls Babylon. R5730:2

These great systems calling themselves his churches are without authority of God, without Scriptural recognition. They are merely human institutions. Only the saintly ones in them are recognized of God as his people. R5564:6

The spirit of Babylon manifests itself in the Protestant churches in another way. They pander to the worldly spirit. They take note of the rich, thus recognizing money above spirituality. R5730:3

The Jewish clerical class--Priests, Scribes and Pharisees--represented the system as a whole; and our Lord so recognized them. C168

Jesus rarely rebuked the people for failure to receive him, but repeatedly held responsible the "blind leaders" who would neither enter into the Kingdom themselves, nor permit the people to do so. C168

Is fallen, is fallen -- From divine favor. NS44:2; R4842:3, 2553:2, 438:4; SM125:2

Rejected of the Lord. R3963:3

Cast off and disowned because of intoxication. R1444:2

No longer recognized of God. R438:4

From the divine standpoint. SM125:2

She has been spewed out of his mouth. R5478:2

From her exalted position of control and respect with the world, to one of ignominy and contempt. R45:6

The fall will not be instantaneous. It will have a beginning and will gather momentum as it falls until it is dashed to pieces. R45:6

Babylon had long misrepresented the truth and the true Church, which to a large extent was in her and in her daughter systems, but her sentence of rejection was reserved until the time of "harvest." R1577:6

Not the outward collapse of "Churchianity"; but that nominal "Christendom" has fallen from divine favor, just as the fall of natural Judaism from divine favor meant not the collapse at that moment of that religio-political system. R2553:1

The collapse of Judaism came 37 years later in AD 69-70. During that interim "Israelites indeed" were called out by the voice of the Gospel dispensation. So now the collapse of nominal Christianity, in 1914 AD, though fallen from favor in 1878, provides an interim to call out the Little Flock of overcomers. R2553:2, 46:1; C152, 165

In the harvest of the Jewish dispensation as now, all sects were rejected, and the "Israelites indeed" were called out of all, into freedom. C159

The reason for not attempting to purify the nominal system is that no amount of cleansing would make the consecrated mass of "Christendom" suitable to the Lord's work. C159

The rejection of the nominal church and the call to his people to "Come out of her," we understand to be symbolically styled the fall of Babylon, and the spewing out of Laodicea. (Rev. 3:16) R2982:1

She is now falling, but not fallen. HG90:3

The fall, plagues, destruction, etc., foretold to come upon mystic Babylon, were foreshadowed in the great trouble and national destruction which came upon fleshly Israel, and which ended with the complete overthrow of that nation in AD 70. C153

When the civil power refuses any longer to carry the church, Babylon will have fallen. The fall of Babylon and the "division of that great city" is one and the same. HG90:3

While only the few realize the fallen-from-grace condition of Babylon in the present, none will be ignorant of her collapse when it comes. R2553:2 Full of worldlings, many of them moral and respectable, but unregenerate, unconverted-- ignorant of the principles of Christianity and inclined to regard the few "saints" as fanatics. R3403:3

The fallen ones will think they are rising higher and higher--getting rid of error, blind to the fact that with the errors and superstitions they are getting rid also of the truths and faith which alone constituted them Christians in God's sight. R2451:1

Babylon literal fell because, when tried in the balances by the Lord, she was found wanting: mystic Babylon falls for a similar reason. R2498:5

The contrast between the many gradual reform movements and this final separation should be clearly discerned: they were permitted attempts to reform Babylon, while this recognizes her as beyond all hope of reform. C156

We need not hope at all to turn the tide. One man or a thousand or a million would be powerless to turn the tide of Babylon today. She is fallen; therefore forsake her! (Jer. 51:6-9) R5696:6

Babylon is falling and no power can stay her from utter destruction. R849:6 It would be useless to attempt to prop an institution which God has doomed to destruction. R457:5

She might have been healed once (Jer. 8:18-22), but now, like her prototype Israel, she is given up--left desolate. The ax is now at the very root of the tree, and its complete fall is at hand. R731:4; C187

It will be especially difficult for Christian people who are seeking to convert the world. R5456:4

It would be useless to prosecute the matter, as the increased knowledge and opportunities and blessings are seen to bring more of worldliness, selfishness and corruption. R3452:3

We perceive the impossibility of putting the new wine which the Master is now providing into the old wine skins of sectarianism. R2592:5; C160

The Babylonish church has the outward body, or form of religion, but not the inward spirit of vital piety; consequently the Babylonish church is spiritually dead. R174:2*

But how loath are her inmates to leave their old and comfortable home.

"Woe unto them that are at ease in Zion." (Amos 6:1) R228:5

Really worse than heathendom, which are more excusable because of grosser darkness and denser blindness. R3610:5

Indicating that at one time Babylon was not fallen from divine favor.

Notwithstanding her mixed character, she was not entirely cast off from God's favor until the harvest time of separation. C156

Compare Jer. 51:7-9. R1371:6, 436:5; C156; CR165:2; HG520:5

Christ is a stone of stumbling and rock of offense to both the houses of Israel. (Isa. 8:14) R862:5

The nominal church stumbles and falls. R213:5

Habitation of devils -- The most execrable of society seek and wear the garb of Christian profession and ceremonialism, in some of the various quarters (sects) of Babylon. C162

A majority of even the most brutal criminals executed die in the Roman Catholic communion. C162

At social worldly men are enticed to associate with the church. Soon, feeling he is as good as the others, he becomes a member. As a bell sheep, he soon entices others likewise to join. Thus Babylon becomes a habitation of devils. R45:5

The various sectaries along the stream of truth have built little mud dams, claiming that they had secured it all, they covered it carefully from the light. Thus, what should have been to them a well of life has become a veritable frog pond. (Rev. 16:13) R243:6*

Compare Jer. 51:37. R1371:6, 436:5; CR165:2; HG520:5

Foul spirit -- Every impure principle and doctrine, somehow and somewhere, finds representation in her. C162

Cage -- A "cage" which holds securely not only the Lord's meek and gentle doves, but also many unclean and hateful birds. C162

Jews have perceived that nominal Christendom is confused in doctrines and practices. OV71:3

Implying that these unclean birds are considered very desirable to be held on to by nominal Christianity. R5050:1

Every unclean -- Babylon has contained both the best and the worst, both the cream and the dregs, of the population of the civilized world. C162

Thousands have been brought into the various nominal churches whose hearts remain unchanged, and hypocrites of every shade also find a home there.

R1357:5

Hateful bird -- The birds represented the wicked one and his agents, ever ready to take away the seed of truth and to work adversely as respects the Gospel program. (Matt. 13:4, 19) R5406:5, 5050:1, 2634:6
Representatives of the Devil, hypocrites, wolves in sheep's clothing.

R45:6, 275:5

Remember the policy of Rome--"she changes not"; "instruments of cruelty are in her habitation." R2147:2*

A report of criminals in England and Wales illustrates the proportion of unclean and hateful birds in and out of Babylon. C162

Revelation 18:3

All nations -- Inhabitants of the earth. R2904:6

The intimation is that the whole civilized world will be so intoxicated with the false teaching of Babylon as to be completely under her influence. CR165:4; HG522:2

Have drunk -- Babylon made all the peoples drunk. C164

Signifying that fellowship with false doctrines has permeated, influenced, bewildered the world in general. NS745:5

The nations were drunk (stupefied), they lost their senses in drinking the mixed wine (doctrine, false and true mixed) given them by the apostate church. B348; HG543:6

So that they "err in vision, they stumble in judgment." (Isa. 28:7) NS506:6

Some are so stupidly asleep, so thoroughly intoxicated with the wine of Babylon, we have no hope of influencing them. SM294:1

Antichrist, intoxicated with the blood of the saints and martyrs of Jesus and with its phenomenal success continues to intoxicate and deceive the nations. C104

Hence they err in vision, they cannot see the riches of divine grace; the nightmare of eternal torment is vividly before their minds; and they stumble in judgment. R3962:6

The Great Judge will most severely arraign those who, for the sake of money and popularity, have dealt out the intoxicating errors. He will have greater compassion upon their dupes. R3320:5

As the lords of Babylon were made drunk by wine which they drank from the golden vessels captured from the Temple at Jerusalem, so mystic Babylon is said to make all nations drunk with the wine of her doctrine. CR165:3; HG521:6

Of the wine -- Spirit, influence. C164

Creed-intoxication, the wine of false doctrine. R5474:5; HG543:6; NS764:3

The intoxication of error, false doctrines and theories. R4287:3, 3963:3; C160

Intoxication with the spirit of this world, and of false doctrines.

R3247:2, 3055:4, 1896:2, 1357:5

Mixed wine of "wrath"--mixing horrible and distorting errors with a little truth. R922:3

The wine of Churchianity confuses those who use it, and beclouds their minds. It addles their judgment and brings the people into captivity to false doctrines and false teachers. R2904:6

Taking away reason and blinding the eyes of men to the truth. R922:3

Christian professors now are drowsy with the wine of Babylon's false doctrine, and are not sufficiently interested and active in the service of truth. R1467:4

The Church is scattered here and there throughout the sects, whose Babylonish, worldly, fleshly spirit troubles them, but whose wine of false doctrine deceives them. R3112:6

The drunkards of Ephraim (Isa. 28:1-7; 29:9-12) represent the intoxication of Christendom. R3104:2; NS506:6

Not literal alcoholic intoxication, but the intoxication of error, of false doctrine, of human schemes and plans, the spirit of man and of the Adversary in contradistinction to the spirit and teaching of the Lord.

R3104:2

Fornication -- Worldly affiliation. C164

Harlotry, confusion, the mixing of world systems with that which should be true, pure, loyal to the Lord alone. NS294:5

The union of the woman (church) with the Beast (empire) constitutes the spiritual harlotry of which she is guilty. R472:6

Her incontinency and unfaithfulness to him. R2904:6

Symbolically signifying any illicit fellowship with the world on the part of those who have betrothed themselves to be God's consecrated people.

R2300:1

The union of church and state. The fall of Babylon is the dissolution of that union--"the woman" being thrown from "the Beast." (Rev. 17:3) HG90:3

Revelation 18:4

And I heard -- The Lord is still mindful of his true saints in Babylon.

R4200:2

We do not think all have yet heard. Hence, there must be some Christians still in Babylon, partakers of her sins, but confused because of ignorance, lack of knowledge. R5478:5

Those who cannot see the errors of Babylon are not of the called ones.

R5092:3

Not to those who are still blind in Babylon, therefore not the first message to be given out at the present time. R3884:4

Voice -- The voice of God, the voice of conscience, of enlightenment.

R5173:1

Not an audible voice--he merely calls us by the principles of righteousness. R3884:2

An imperative command. The magnet of truth is gathering out the Jewels and the reproaches of the world and the nominal church are fitting them for the Master's use. R472:6

The voice of God, crying not from the "City Babylon the Great," not from the citadel of Christendom; but from the wilderness, from those who are more or less separated. NS852:4

Calling out by the voice of the Truth--by the exposing of Babylon's errors. NS294:6; R3884:4, 3452:4

The voice is Present Truth--a presentation of the doctrines of the Scriptures, with their times and seasons. R5478:6

The times and seasons of God's plan, now made plain, show we are now living in the time foretold, when these systems of error are to be rejected. This is God's voice to "come out of her." R5478:3

The Shepherd's voice. R3113:1

The Lord sends messages through under-shepherds, never recognized by the great systems, but merely for those who had an ear to hear and the right condition of heart to appreciate the message. R4200:2

Our present Lord, King, Bridegroom. R2693:4

We are not ashamed to be the Lord's mouthpieces in this timely but unpopular message; and what timely truth has not been unpopular? R986:5

Raised up in every direction. R375:4

Perhaps the radical blindness of their leaders may help some of the "wheat" class yet in Babylon to realize the situation, and to hasten their separation as those loyal to God. R1959:6

This is the midnight cry itself, and it appeals to all "the wise," wherever they are domiciled, to go out to meet their coming Lord. (Matt. 25:1) R1295:1*

From heaven -- It is the Lord who calls his people out of Babylon.

R5478:6, 986:4

Since it is the Lord who calls his people out of Babylon, we cannot doubt that, whatever may be his agencies for giving the call, all truly his people will hear it. C161

Wherever they may be (within or outside of human organizations), "the Lord knoweth them that are his," (2 Tim. 2:19) and calleth and leadeth forth his own sheep. R2047:4

Never urge anyone to come out of Babylon. If they have "ears to hear," God's voice tells them plainly to take this step, and gives the reason why they should do so. R5092:4

No one should be urged to come out of Babylon. If he does not come out joyfully, "with singing," let him stay. (Isa. 48:20) R3643:4

We urge none to withdraw from Babylon. We point out that each must confess with his mouth. He cannot suppress truth and continue spiritual progress.

It is only a question of time when such will realize that loyalty to God will call him out of Babylon. R3653:1

It is not our thought that we should avoid doing our duty in the proclamation of the truth, but that we should avoid arousing unnecessary antagonism. R5479:1

The voice, the teaching of Present Truth, is outside her walls; and whoever has an ear for the truth, must come outside of sectarianism before he can be filled. R2592:6

The third angel's message. HG90:6

Come out of her -- In the same breath that it declares that Babylon is fallen, is fallen--from divine favor, rejected; there comes additionally the message, "Come out of her, my people." NS24:1

New Creatures, begotten of the Lord, are more or less closely connected with the institutions of Babylon until now, when the point of deliverance has been reached. F656

It was not due time to bring the matter to their attention until the harvest time of separation would come. NS294:6

We have come to the turning point, now we are in the separating time. The Lord no longer says, "Let both grow together," (Matt. 13:30) but "Come out of her, my people." R3884:4

This advice was not always applicable; not until mystic Babylon's fall under divine condemnation, which prophecy shows was in 1878 AD. R1577:5, 475:1, 375:4, 304:2, 224:4; B240; C156; Q550:T

This general call to stand in personal relationship to God through Christ belongs to the end of the age, before the judgments come upon Babylon. SM423:4

The rejection of Babylon (Christendom), in 1878, was the rejection of the mass of professors--the "host," as it is termed by Daniel, to distinguish it from the sanctuary class. C180

This cannot mean a physical emigration from the midst of the nations of Christendom. The idea is a separation from all the binding yokes of Christendom--to have no part nor lot in her civil, social or religious organizations. D44

Stand with God, even if that should seem to imply standing alone. The Lord knoweth them that are his, and he has more than seven thousand who bow not to sectarianism. R1383:3

Stand free from all slandering of the Almighty God and his gracious provisions. Stand for the Bible, the Truth, the God of love and wisdom, justice and power. OV347:7

Withdraw in order to be more free in your conscience toward God and man, and that you may most fully fellowship all who are heartily the Lord's people--not only such in one congregation and denomination, but in all others as well. R1579:4

For those who would obey this command, there is but one place of refuge; and that is, not in a new sect and bondage, but in "The secret place of the Most High"--the place or condition of entire consecration. (Psa. 91:1) D43

As at his first advent he gathered the Israelites indeed out of the fleshly house, so now will he gather the same class out of the nominal spiritual house. R3113:1, 1702:4

It is in vain that some attempt to make a plea that their sect is an exception to the general character of Babylon, and that, therefore, the Lord cannot be calling upon them to withdraw from it formally and publicly, as they once joined it. C181

If there are tares among the wheat, much depends upon which is the majority. If wheat preponderates, the tares will no longer care to stay. If the majority are tares, as nine-tenths or more generally are, the wheat will find their liberty so restricted that they cannot let there light shine in that congregation. C183

Our duty then is plain. Deliver your loving testimony to the goodness and wisdom of the Lord's great plan of the ages, and, wisely and meekly giving your reasons, publicly withdraw from them. C184

While they remain in those systems of error, endeavoring to support and defend them, they are prejudiced and blinded against God's truth, wherever it conflicts with their creeds. R1364:1

If you remain you must submit to its fetters. Your very presence binds your influence to its systems. You dare not declare the whole counsel of God, lest it condemn them and call you out from among them. R457:5

The true Church does not want her own theories, her own plans of salvation, her own schemes, her own methods; but desires rather that which God has provided as her daily portion. HG413:4

The feeling of uneasiness and insecurity if not bound by the chains of some sect, is begotten of the false idea, first promulgated by Papacy, that membership in an earthly organization is essential to everlasting life. C186

Do you advise us to disconnect ourselves from the church? I advise you to be separate from the world. If the church with which you are connected lives in adulterous union with the world, you must. R46:4

There must be a separation of true wheat from tare imitations, first in spirit, and afterward actually. R1702:4

It is not enough that we come out in spirit, while personally we remain there, giving it our influence and support. R457:5

As the first work of our Lord in the typical "harvest" was to reject the nominal house of Israel, so in the present harvest the first work of our King is the rejection of the nominal Gospel house of sons. R2982:1

The Lord and the apostles could go into the synagogues and teach the people there, for a time, but as they shunned not to declare the whole counsel of God, they soon found little and finally no opportunity to teach the people in the synagogues. R986:5

God bids his people to separate themselves from all sin and sinful conditions. Our forefathers did not hear this voice, did not see this condition of sin, for the voice had not then spoken. R5478:3

The Lord's true people are to stand free from this bondage to error and worldliness, and set a good example to others also. Then they are to wait for the Lord's further instructions. R5696:6

Instead of unions in cliques, societies and denominations, bound tighter and tighter to prevent disintegration, each individual Christian must stand free from all human alliance, that he may be most completely united to Christ. R1969:1

The Lord is by Present Truth and its influence calling to his people to separate themselves, to turn away (2 Tim. 3:5) from others who are not really his people, who have merely the form of godliness, but not its power. R2461:5

Your light is under a bushel, and will go out, unless you give it more liberty. R1578:3

So long as you have opportunities to hear others and to express yourself, you may conclude that you are in a safe place. R1578:4

A safe way to judge whether your present associations are part of Babylon is this: If there is no meeting of the congregation at which, by calling up a passage of Scripture for discussion you, with others, can present your views of God's Word, there is something wrong. R1578:3

But do not abuse your congregation's hospitality. (1) Choose wisely a subject that will strengthen, not strangle, your hearers; (2) pray that, as a servant of the truth, you may be "a workman that needeth not to be ashamed," (2 Tim. 2:15) (3) let nothing be done through strife or vain-glory; (Phil. 2:3) and (4) "speak the truth in love," (Eph. 4:15) while you speak it none the less clearly and forcibly. R1578:4

Let your speech at all times be seasoned with grace, and as ye go, preach--the kingdom of God is at hand. (Col. 4:6) R378:2

Finding no response in the hearts of other members of the assembly, one must submit his conscience in the matter to the majority, and thus become a partaker of their sins. The only proper course under these convictions, would be to step out. R1547:6

The truth lovers will be drawn and attracted to the truth as to a magnet, the others will proportionately not be attracted. Thus the breach will grow wider and wider. NS44:3

The trouble is that in both pulpit and pews the "tares" outnumber the "wheat," the sanctified in Christ Jesus. The Gospel, because it acts upon the heart, controls only the "wheat." R1898:2

He is sending forth his reapers to gather every grain of wheat into his garner. He is finding them in the Baptist, Disciple, Presbyterian, Methodist, Episcopalian, Lutheran, Congregationalist, Roman Catholic and other denominations. F431

Not merely to withdraw from a nominal church, but to stand for truth and righteousness as well. R5092:3

Renounce their allegiance to the human systems, and declare their allegiance only to the one Head and to the one "church which is his body." R2845:3

The louder grow the revelry and irreverence and the scoffing at God's Word by "Higher Critics" and the boasts of Evolution, the louder in the ears of the Lord's true saints will sound this command. R2561:5

It is a delusion to suppose that any can do God service by cooperating with Babylon in any measure, sense or degree. R2693:4

It is time for all who have any moral honesty to show it. R2614:6

Some hinder the harvest work by coming out of Babylon, and then seeking to separate others who have likewise come out. R3884:5

These are liable to two extremes: (1) with too much combativeness they are apt to speak too harshly of those still asleep; or (2) with too little positiveness, they are likely to miss an opportunity for declaring meekly but firmly for the Lord and his Word. R3653:1

Your responsibility is not alone to your minister or congregation, but to the entire denomination. You are obligated in your belief and conduct to them all. If you do not believe as they do, it is your duty to withdraw, and thus set yourself and others right before them all. R1578:5, 849:3

The dissolution of your membership should, if possible, be as public as was your joining. R1578:6

Such a one is not withdrawing from the Church, which is the Body of Christ. R849:3

While coming out of Babylon is one step, and a long one, it is by no means the last one. Preceded by obedience, it will be followed by other tests of standing fast in the liberty wherewith Christ has made us free. C188

We are to come out of the errors and systems of error, but we are not to organize another denomination. The original call was to membership in the Body of Christ. R5092:4

The Church founded by our Lord and the apostles took no sectarian name. R3249:1

While calling them thus to come out of Babylon, he calls them also to come into another place, or condition--"Enter thou into thy chambers and shut thy doors about thee; hide thyself until the indignation be overpast."

(Isa. 26:20) R1788:2

Into joy, peace and liberty in Christ. R378:2

This is a call to associate with Christ, with Messiah. "Gather my saints together unto me." (Psa. 50:5) R5092:4, 375:4

We do not read, Gather together unto Calvin, Luther, Wesley, Paul, Apollos or Peter, but, "Gather together my saints unto me." (Psa. 50:5) SM127:1

"Come unto me"; "take my yoke upon you, and learn of me"; "my yoke is easy and my burden is light, and ye shall find rest to your souls." (Matt.

11:29, 30) C187

Some may hesitate because of uncertainty as to how best inform their congregational associates of the Scriptural reasons for their withdrawal from the nominal system. R3135:3

Many erroneously say to themselves, "I see that present institutions are contrary to the Gospel of Christ, but what can I do? If I now withdraw, it will mean disaster. I cannot go, for necessity is laid upon me." R5647:3, 5431:1

Many err, saying, "I will use my office or influence in Babylon, and then obey the Lord after I have gathered some of the wheat." They forget that obedience is better than even sacrifice. R2553:3

Others say, "I am free from Babylon in spirit, God knows!" But is this right--to be half out and half in Babylon? R2553:3

Others say, "I merely retain my membership in the church for the sake of peace in my family." But is this "overcoming" or being overcome? R2553:5 To decry sectarianism and division, while remaining in Babylon, is to appear as merely a grumbler, and is analogous to a man attempting to throw away his boots while he still wears them. R849:3

Such as are of and who love Babylon, and who are therefore unready to obey the command, "Come out of her," shall be forced to drink the cup of their own mixing. C158

Should your fidelity separate you from every earthly tie, rejoice that it links you closer to the throne of God. R945:5*

This work is nearly completed. R5911:6

We are now in the little season in which the Lord is waiting for the response of those whom he is calling out of Babylon. R3884:2

Those who thus, by overcoming the influence and power of error, prove their love of the truth and loyalty to the Lord, will receive the great reward. R1372:1

It is one thing to gather out of Babylon his people, and quite another thing to gather out of his kingdom the offenders (Matt. 13:41): yet both expressions cover the same events. R2545:2

It is as much a part of this harvest work to gather the tares into "bundles" and "bind" them, as it is to gather the "wheat" into the light and liberty wherewith Christ makes free and safe in his "garner." R2704:6

The remnant of natural Israel, delivered from literal Babylon was a type of the remnant of God's people now about to be delivered from symbolic Babylon. Its fall, at the hand of Cyrus, foreshadowing the fall of mystic Babylon under the antitypical Cyrus, the Captain of our salvation. R2372:6

As Cyrus, who overthrew literal Babylon, made the proclamation which permitted literal Israel to return from captivity, so it is the King of kings who, upon taking his great power, sends this message. R2498:6

"Leave them; they are blind guides; and if the blind lead the blind both will fall into the pit." (Matt. 15:14--Diaglott) Although applied to the Jewish house, also applies to that of which it is a shadow, the Gospel house. R718:3, 4016:1

In accord with the second message of Rev. 14 (verse 8). R475:1, 304:2 "Depart ye, depart ye, go ye out from thence, touch no unclean thing; go ye out of the midst of her; be ye [the Royal Priesthood] clean, that bear the vessels of the Lord." (Isa. 52:11) B240; C187; R3596:3

In a secondary interpretation of the prophecy of the dry bones (Ezek. 37) corresponding to the commotion amongst the dry bones, amongst the Israelites indeed, whose hopes in the Kingdom had perished. R2506:4

This work is represented under various symbolic descriptions: gathering of the wheat from the tares (Matt. 13:30); the gathering of the good fish (Matt. 13:47-49); that gathering of his jewels (Mal. 3:17); the midnight cry (Matt. 25:6) and the gathering of the "elect" from the four winds (Matt. 24:31). D600

As the literal Israelites were invited to leave Babylon the literal and were helped to do so, but only a few responded, so spiritual Israelites are urged to leave mystic Babylon. CR165:3; HG521:6

If the I.B.S.A. can be shown to be a section of Babylon, we all ought to get out of it. Q351:1

"We would have healed Babylon, but she is not healed; forsake her; for her judgment reacheth unto heaven, and is lifted up even to the skies." (Jer. 51:9) D543

"Flee out of Babylon; deliver every man his soul." (Jer. 51:6) SM411:1

My people -- We would not be understood as including all Christians as "Babylonians." The Lord recognizes some in Babylon as true to him, and addresses these. D267; HG718:4

Some are in Babylon and not of Babylon, just the same as the children of Israel were carried captive into Babylon, but they were not Babylonians. Q63:1

Indicates clearly that some of God's true saints have been in Babylon, and that, up to the time of her fall, God did not object to this, and did not call on them to come out. R1577:6; C156

They could not be God's people unless they were spirit-begotten, and they could not come out of her unless they were in her. Q155:2

The Lord's call indicates that we should expect to find many of the Lord's people in, and confused and bewildered by, sectarianism, in Babylon. F206 We believe that there are today thousands who have not bowed the knee to the Baal of our day. D268; HG718:4

We expect to find the Lord's poor in all the various wheat fields, behind all the various creed fences, intermingling with all the various bands of tares. NS11:6; 37:6

In other words, the saints of God are scattered throughout the denominations. R5092:2

This class is described and blessedly comforted in Psalms 91 and 46. D158 Some yet bound in Babylon. R2752:4

Still in Babylon as wheat in the midst of tares. R1357:6, 2506:4, 375:4

Up to the moment of its destruction, or very nearly so, children of God will be found more or less connected with Babylon. R471:5

There was much wheat in the Jewish church when given up, so, too, there is much wheat among the chaff and tares of the Babylon church. R46:4

Hidden for centuries in the great mass of tares of the nominal system, the true Church as represented by its living members is now manifested. R1548:5

The few of his own who still remain in that city doomed to destruction. R317:3*

The favor of the present is not to the nominal church, but to individuals in her, that they may come out and receive the present Lord. R224:4

To leave Christendom, repudiating her temples, her social enchantments, etc., and to brave her denunciations and her various powers of boycott is quite a flight. Few but the "saints" will even think of starting on it.

D573

Consider the number of the professed church (four hundred millions). How many of these would themselves claim to be fully consecrated to the Lord. C159

The ten thousand of Psa. 91:7, the Great Company, will be partakers with Babylon in her sins, and have part in her great fall. R4926:4, 3884:3, 1649:2

Some of the Great Company must see the utter wreck of Great Babylon and receive some measure of her plagues. C364

The Great Company will not come out when this cry is made. It is after Babylon has fallen to pieces that they are liberated from her chains and influences. R275:6, 5656:2; Q549:7

There are true people of God still in this Babylonian system. But the time of separation is here; those yet remaining in Babylon must hasten. R5478:2, 5134:4

If they are in Babylon, their presence there shows that they are not yet well developed; and if they are God's people, they are not enjoying the full strength of the present truth, although spirit-begotten. R5134:4

Only when they behold the wreck of nominal Zion--Christendom, Babylon--will they realize its gross errors and be delivered from them and it. R1649:3

The fall of Babylon means the setting of liberty of those whom God calls "My people." R1969:4

Many will not get free from the shackles of error until the fall of Babylon opens their eyes to the true situation. R2135:3

The fact that some of God's people have been in Babylon all through the age shows us why God had any respect at all for Babylon. R5478:2

For the wheat's sake God's favor extended even to the mixed bunches, or Babylonish systems. C155; SM127:1

Many ministers and many of the more intelligent realize Churchianity is merely a golden calf. Many, like Aaron, reluctantly join in sectarian practices. They should be more courageous if they would be overcomers. R4022:6

The ass knoweth his Master's crib. (Isa. 1:3) But the Lord intimates that the stupid ass could give pointers to some of his people. R4044:2

As in the Jewish age, Jews were compelled to live in Babylon, so today God's people are required to stay in mystical Babylon. Therefore it becomes a difficult matter to flee. R5092:3

Literal Babylon never was Israel, but the Israelites were for a time swallowed up in Babylon; likewise mystic Babylon never was spiritual Israel, though for a long time spiritual Israel has been in captivity to mystic Babylon. R2498:6

The tares never were wheat, and God never proposed to recognize them as such. C165

Compare Jer. 51:6, 45. R1371:6, 436:5; HG520:5

A four-paragraph excerpt from The Three Worlds (1877) suggesting that the term "my people" applies to natural Israel and not to the Church. HG90:6

That ye be not -- This shows that the class who are called out and obey are not partakers of Babylon's sins, but overcomers. R399:4

These words apply not to those who see nothing of what we see, not to those who consider the doctrines of the nominal churches thoroughly satisfactory and Scriptural. NS24:2

The better you understand, the more responsibility you have. If when you see what the truth is and what untruth is, you still remain in Babylon, you will be very culpable. R5478:4

To remain after the eyes of one's understanding are opened would be to bring oneself intelligently and willfully into fellowship with the wrong. NS294:6

If, after one has seen the real character of Babylon and has gotten his bearings in a general way, he then remains, it can be only by compromising the truth. R5478:6

God's true people in Babylon are not to be considered as implicated in her sins of worldliness and ignoring of divine truth, up to the time they shall learn that Babylon is fallen--cast off. C161; NS24:1

Partakers of her sins -- That you may have no fellowship with her sins. D574

False doctrines and antagonism to those now seeking to lift up the standard raised by our Lord and the apostles. NS194:1

Her errors, her false teachings, and the crimes implied in these. R2693:4
Specially the one of rejecting his truth. R457:5

Our Lord's expressed reason for calling us out of Babylon. C181

Her sins are those of conformity to the opinions, ideas, manners and customs of the world irrespective of God's will, and also the rejection of truth to an increasing extent. R945:5*

Those who blindly follow the leading of the intelligent and influential become partakers of their sins and share the same penalty--both together "fall into the ditch." (Matt. 15:14) R1875:1

Implying that God's people will see clearly what constitutes Babylon's sins--errors of doctrine and of life. R1578:1

You are not sharers of her sins until you see this. Born in Babylon, the Lord is not holding you responsible for what you did not understand. R5478:4, 5092:4, 4044:2; Q63:1

A reminder as well as a threat: a reminder that, when in ignorance of the truth, they had no responsibility for the errors, but that now that they see these errors, they are responsible. R1578:1

As responsible as those who formulated those errors, or more so, and will surely and justly partake of the consequences. R1578:1

That ye receive not -- A large number, even of the Lord's people, will share with Babylon the trouble of that hour. CR166:1

Those who love self, popularity, honor of men more than they love the Lord, and who reverence human theories and systems more than the Word of the Lord will not come out until Babylon falls. D268; HG718:5

The classes are to be marked and separated before the plagues come upon rejected, cast off Babylon. C166

When the Master said, "Watch ye, that ye may be accounted worthy to escape all these things coming upon the world," it included the pain of the seven last plagues. R1573:4

Because their obedience in fleeing out as soon as they see Babylon's real condition will prove that they were never in real accord with her sins. R2553:3

The true Church, the "wheat," will all be separated from the "tares" before the binding of the "tares" in bundles, ready for the "fire" (trouble) of this day of vengeance. R2538:1

Those who do not stand aloof will be involved in the disaster. SM411:2

Of her plagues -- Babylon's troubles. SM125:2

The seven last plagues. R189:6, 172:4

Chastisements. R2168:5

Punishments. NS391:2

Overwhelmed in the great tribulation of which the Lord and the prophets forewarn us. (Matt. 24:21; Dan. 12:1) R1983:1; SM411:2

They will probably have a large share in the punishments of the Day of Vengeance. R5092:5

Deserving the "plagues" most thoroughly--as much or more than the "tare" class of Babylonians, because they have greater light. R2553:3

Soon to come in a great time of trouble. R2883:6

The intimation is that as soon as the loyally obedient have been gathered out of Babylon some drastic trouble will come upon her. SM424:T

In the close of this time of trouble, all is corrected by the fall of sectarian systems as well as political governments. R1573:1

Sore troubles, which will result in the overthrow of the present order of things--political, social, financial and religious. R5478:5

If they approve her doctrines, methods, etc., so as to be loathe to leave her, they will prove themselves unworthy of present truth, and deserving of her coming plagues. C161

It will be theirs to mourn that they were unfaithful to the voice of the Lord, that they remained in Babylon contrary to his Word, and that they receive of her plagues--the "seven last plagues." R3643:5

From the vials of wrath which shortly shall be poured upon her. R2372:1

The pain from these will consist largely of mental chagrin, the disappointment of sectarian hopes and plans, and the wounding of sectarian pride. R1573:4, 172:4

The Kingdom reign will begin before "Babylon" falls. Babylon will fall as a result of Kingdom judgments. D623

Telling them that very suddenly a great calamity will come upon this great institution called Christendom, which will entirely demolish this system in every sense of the word. R5565:1

The prosperity of the cause of Christ means the deliverance of his true saints from Babylon. This shall signify eventually the complete fall of Babylon. R3884:2

"For this cause God shall send them strong delusions, that they should believe a lie, that they all might be judged [openly condemned] who believe not the truth, but had pleasure in injustice." (2 Thes. 2:11, 12)
R1766:4

The scapegoat type pictures the sending into the wilderness of isolation and persecution the Great Company, who after consecration were unwilling to go voluntarily "outside the camp." R4016:4

The same interval of time, and the same work to be accomplished in it are also referred to, in symbol, in Rev. 7:3. C165

Revelation 18:5

Reached unto heaven -- Compare Jer. 51:9. R1371:6; C156

Revelation 18:6

As she rewarded you -- Compare Jer. 50:15, 29. R1371:6; HG520:5

Double unto her -- A penalty equivalent to the combined judgments upon all who have despised, rejected and persecuted God's people throughout the age. R1702:5

As a punishment equivalent to all other punishments combined for shedding of righteous blood was exacted of the closing generation of typical Israel, so will it be with the closing generation of the Gospel age.

R1702:4

According to her works -- The horrible decree of Papacy--for torturing of the saints in every conceivable way, executed with such fiendish cruelty by the arm of the state--await the full measure of retribution. D39

Fill to her double -- The cup of divine indignation is now full. The Lord will have pity and patience no longer. R472:6

Revelation 18:7

Glorified herself -- Pride and ambition led to the grasping of worldly power by the early Church. C164

How great is Papacy's triumph at the present hour, as she seems to see what she considers the little season of Satan's power drawing to a close, and herself rising again to glory and power. R1002:2

The marks of apostasy in the Babylonish church include pride, haughtiness, high-mindedness, seeking of worldly power and greatness. R174:3

Lived deliciously -- Upon the wealthy class of this generation shall be visited the penalty due to those thieving Barons of past centuries who kept their dependant neighbors in serfdom and grew rich at the expense of those who reaped their fields. R1423:6

So much torment -- In proportion as she has glorified herself, she shall have trouble and sorrow. R1002:2

She saith -- Only for a little moment shall she seem to succeed. R996:1; Diii

Sit a queen -- While the broadest application of this language is, of course, to Papacy, it also involves all who are in any degree in confederation or sympathy with her. D38

As Queen Jezebel, representing a great religious system of this Gospel age which did great violence to the truth; Ahab representing the worldly governments. R5751:2, 557:2; B256; HG69:4

The church of Rome is losing no opportunity for the display of her mighty power, that Protestants and politicians may take due notice. She is now claiming that she is no widow--but a mighty queen. R4343:3

She loudly boasts of her right to rule the nations, and claims that her former power will soon be regained. D38

We do not expect a complete union between Catholics and Protestants, but a fraternization embracing generally the capitalists, kings and great ones of earth. R996:1

Looking down and covering with reproach the Little Flock of truth seekers who dare to point out the faults of a worldly church. R5993:6

Some thought to improve on God's plan and, instead of suffering, got the church into a reigning position. By a combination with earthly empires, they succeeded, and, as a result, Papacy was exalted and became the "Mistress and Queen of the nations." A268; R507:3, 305:1, 54:3

As literal Babylon ruled over the whole world, so mystic Babylon is represented as ruling the civilized world, and hence the entire world. CR165:3; HG521:6

Am no widow -- Compare Isa. 47:8. D43

Revelation 18:8

In one day -- Suddenly. D39; R2553:2, 1352:6; SM411:2, 424:3

Not that the trouble will come in an hour, or in one day, or in one year.

The intimation is that the catastrophe will be a very sudden one. It will be very sudden if it comes in twelve months. The flood required many days to come, and many days to assuage. R5328:2

We are already living in the day in which Babylon is falling, though the day of her severe plagues and punishments is still future. NS44:2

Prophetic time is a day for a year. R2553:2

Utterly burned -- Babylon, a "conglomerate" composed of "nations," Gentiles, aliens, will inherit nothing but tribulation and destruction.

R2125:5

Fire -- Symbolic fire--destructive calamities. D39

The same symbol of fire is used by St. Peter in referring to the same trouble and destruction. SM424:3

Revelation 18:9

The kings of the earth -- Socialism will never become king of mystic "Babylon." Babylon will be on the side of the chief captains and mighty men. R4144:2

As one section of literal Babylon fell before another, so Revelation predicts it will be with mystic Babylon. CR165:3; HG521:6

Bewail her -- The "children of light" rejoice in it, while those not in the light "weep and lament." R409:2

When Christendom goes down suddenly, the effects will be most serious upon all the more or less dependent nations which are represented as greatly bewailing the fall of that great city Babylon. D73

Thus Babylon will fall before the kingdoms will fall. Q626:4

The fall of Babylon will astonish the entire world, so complete is the illusion that Christendom represents the throne and government of Messiah among men. CR165:6

The judgment of the Lord upon both Christendom and heathendom will be on the strictest lines of equity. D73

The interests of the church and world are so closely linked. The church, both Papal and Protestant, has greatly aided governments in controlling them. Therefore the great, the mighty, and the rich, will weep and lament her fall. R409:2

It will cause pain and distress to all who are worshipping and serving these systems, instead of God; but it will be a blessing in disguise, for thus they will be liberated and brought to a refreshing knowledge of God. R413:5

Though temporary aid may come from establishing a world religion, it will be only a preparatory step which will involve the whole world in the impending doom of Babylon, causing the kings and merchants and traders of the whole earth to mourn and lament. D186

For a short time Church Federation will bring great political influence which will breed ecclesiastical arrogance and persecution--culminating in ruin. CR81:5

Compare Jer. 50:46. R1371:6; HG520:5

See the smoke -- That means that they will not come in to help her. They will perceive that the masses of the people have turned against Churchianity. Q627:T

Revelation 18:10

In one hour -- Suddenly. CR165:3, 271:1; R4690:3; SM127:1, 411:2, 424:3
A very short space of time, not meaning necessarily a literal hour. R5569:2

The forty years of the Gospel age harvest will end October, 1914. The overthrow of "Christendom," so-called, must be expected to immediately follow. B245; CR271:3

Judgment -- Greek, krisis. R2553:2

Revelation 18:11

The merchants -- Symbolic of the clergy. R603:4*

No man buyeth -- Some denominations did not average one new member per church during the past year. The membership completely fails to keep pace with the growth of the population. R341:6

Because of general apathy and indifference of her membership, and the fall off of attendance at her services. R602:1*

The misrepresentation or malrepresentation of God in the horrific dogmatic theology of the Dark Ages is the chief cause of all that is now transpiring within the wall of that "great city Babylon." R602:4*

She makes rich the merchants because of her costliness. R174:6

Revelation 18:14

Find them no more -- Dignified and high-sounding titles, as Reverend and Doctor of Divinity, as such shall all perish with the fall of Babylon, and as such they shall never awake or exist again. R1951:4

Revelation 18:15

Shall stand afar off -- Keeping clear of too close an affiliation with her. Diii

Revelation 18:16

Alas, alas -- They will greatly lament her destruction, realizing that it forebodes their own. Diii

One of the delusions of this time is to persuade the Lord's people that any downfall of Babylon would be sacrilegious and an injury to the cause of Christ. R3884:1

Revelation 18:17

Come to nought -- Go into oblivion, destruction. R1896:4

Revelation 18:18

Of her burning -- The present strife in Europe, depicted in some of the prophecies, is only the beginning of the great trouble and overthrow. The whole present order will go up in a mighty conflagration. R5735:4

Revelation 18:20

And prophets -- The inference is that the resurrection of these holy men of old takes place before Babylon falls. R92:1*

Revelation 18:21

Took up -- Lifted up in order that she may have the greater fall.
R5993:6; D37

The present uplift in influence is but the lifting of the great millstone to make its casting down the more violent. R1002:2

Preceding her collapse. The spirit of trusts abroad in the world, permeating everything, combines denominations, leading to the formation of great religious trusts--a menace to the liberties of the Lord's people, but no injury to their spiritual interests. R3553:2

A stone -- Both literal and mystic Babylon are compared to a stone cast into the water. R45:1

Compare Jer. 51:63, 64. R1371:6, 436:5, 45:1; HG520:5

Cast it -- The ending of the war might bring an armistice, during which the Federation would come into full life and do some of its work; when the "earthquake," running quickly into the "fire," would cause great Babylon to be cast like a millstone into the sea. R5969:3*

The parallel between the Jewish harvest and the present harvest would corroborate the thought that the trouble to the full will be accomplished by October, 1915. R5142:1

Resorting through his deluded servants to use miracles of physical healing illustrates the division in Satan's house, and a house thus divided against itself is sure to fall. D612

This necessity for Satan's playing reformer and good physician is an evidence that the fall is near. F641

Into the sea -- The restless sea of ungovernable peoples. D111; R5349:4
The world on plane R of the Chart of the Ages. R275:6

The "sea" of anarchy will swallow up the false systems prophesied to be fulfilled in the very near future. R5478:2, 5463:1; Dvi

Shortly after Babylon goes down, the great conflagration will reach the whole world. Q627:T; Diii

October 1914 will witness the full end of Babylon, utterly destroyed as a system. R4842:3

Thus -- With all her boasted civil and ecclesiastical power, and with all her assumed dignity, her wealth, her titles, her influence, her honors, and all her vain glory. D111

With violence -- That Babylon's destruction will be sudden, violent and complete is thus forcibly stated. D37; iii

Yet it was to undergo a gradual consuming process as shown by Dan. 7:26:

"But the judgment shall sit, and they shall take away his dominion, to consume and to destroy it unto the end." D37

The collapse will be sudden and awful when it does come. R2553:2

The fall of literal Babylon, while it was sudden, and while it made a great commotion amongst the nations, lacks much of the filling to the full the prophetic picture. R2498:3

The trouble doubtless will be considerable before the final crash, even though that crash come suddenly like the casting of a great millstone into the sea. R5142:1

This same "time of trouble" is spoken of as a "whirlwind,:" the result of letting loose the "four winds of heaven." Again as a "fire" and as a "storm." R5058:6

"The gold contained in the medals, vessels, chains and other objects preserved in the Vatican would make more gold money than the whole of European circulation."--Pittsburgh Dispatch--perhaps having an important bearing on the fate in store for Papacy. R3343:4

Be thrown down -- Egypt represents the world; Babylon, the nominal church and Israel, the whole world in its justified condition. To Israel the blessings are promised, to Egypt the plagues, and to strong Babylon a wonderful, complete and everlasting overthrow. A313

God will never call those overcomers who "are all their lifetime subject to bondage," (Heb. 2:15) even though he shall eventually deliver them by the complete overthrow of Babylon. R694:5

There is a difference between Babylon falling in a judicial sense, by being rejected by the Lord, and the actual falling, as when she goes down like a millstone. Q381:1

Found no more -- The shaking of the heavens, as the Apostle indicates, "signifieth the removing of those things that are shaken, as of things" that are imperfect and of human construction. (Heb. 12:27) R712:1

It will go into oblivion, sheol. E369

Babylon's power is soon to be completely overthrown as precedent to a full deliverance of all who are Israelites indeed and the establishment of the Kingdom. R3624:6, 1352:6

A destroying process as with the first house of Israel when it was rejected, only it stumbled to rise again, while Babylon's destruction is to be complete and forever. R731:4, 177:6

When reading of the utter destruction of Babylon, we are to differentiate between the systems and the individuals connected with those systems. SM424:1

Revelation 18:23

Light of a candle -- Lamp--the Word. R603:4*

The removal of the "candlestick out of his place" has become a necessity. (Rev. 2:5) R590:6*

The stars are falling: some one way, some another. Soon the lights will all be out--not even a candle left. R341:6*

Voice of the bridegroom -- The Lord Jesus. Q720:4; R603:4*

God will use Babylon no more as a channel for the bestowment of his best blessings. R3884:2

Babylon has been his mouthpiece, and through her he has spoken to the world, but it shall be so no longer. R177:2

Her King is not in her, she is spewed out of his mouth. (Jer. 8:22, Young's Translation; Rev. 3:16) R498:5

But we have no intimation in the Scriptures, nor any reason for supposing, that God ever used or recognized the Jewish church-nation, its rulers and representatives, after it was cast off. C181

The turning aside of the literal Euphrates by Cyrus may show the turning aside of popular support from Babylon; or it may show that the truth will be turned aside and no longer flow through Babylon. The consequence of either is the fall of Babylon. Q720:4

The same lesson should be recognized in connection with Babylon. She is "spewed out" of the Lord's mouth; and neither the voice of the Bridegroom nor of the Bride shall be heard in her any more forever. C181

And of the bride -- The Lamb's wife. R603:4*

The Church prospective. Q720:4

The names Bridegroom and Bride were applicable before Babylon's fall, and before the marriage feast. The same is true in Jewish custom. R1388:6

Heard no more -- Clearly showing that previously they had spoken in and through Babylon, the confused class. R1388:6

Babylon will not permit them to be heard. R2592:6

Even amongst the "Protestant" fifteenth of humanity darkness and discord are preferred and the "joyful sound" (Psa. 89:15) is spurned and considered to be the discord that is of the Adversary. R2569:3

The time will come, whether now or at a future time. CR292:4

She is "spewed out" of the Lord's mouth. C181

Revelation 18:24

In her -- Papacy, typified by Jezebel--the civil government, corresponding to King Ahab, the agent in propagating her system and destroying the prophets of the Lord. R3408:3

The blood of prophets -- Prefiguring this system as a cruelly persecuting one. R471:5

Despising and persecuting the true saints of God. R174:6

And of all -- All that fear God's name. R151:3*

Revelation 19

Revelation 19:1

And -- This chapter is part of the message of the "seventh trump," during which the first resurrection and change of living saints occurs. R194:4

After these things -- A view of the Great Company during the trouble, after the Bride company has been taken and the "marriage of the Lamb is come." (Verse 7) R275:6

Babylon's fall as a result of Kingdom judgments will be discerned later by some in her who are represented as getting light and liberty through Christ after her fall. D623

Much people -- The Great Company set free by the fall of Babylon. R5383:2, 275:6

Individuals out of Babylon which arise from among her ashes. R177:6

Revelation 19:2

True and righteous -- It is after Babylon has fallen to pieces, and the Great Company are liberated from her chains and influences, that they come to realize that tares and earthly organizations never were God's church. R275:6

Only then will the people realize their wonderful deliverance, and that her overthrow was by the hand of God. D40

The Great Company never get the victory over the Beast and his Image, and apparently do not recognize their true character until they are overthrown by the judgments of the Day of Wrath. R130:3

In contrast, another class "cast dust on their heads and cried, weeping and wailing, saying: Alas, alas, that great city!" (Rev. 18:16-19) CR165:5

His judgments -- The Kingdom reign will begin before Babylon falls. Babylon will fall as a result of Kingdom judgments. D623

He hath judged -- After Babylon, the harlot church, has been judged. R276:1

The great whore -- While the broadest application of this language is to Papacy, it also involves all who are in any degree in confederation or sympathy with her. D38

Catholics declare that Protestants are this Babylon system. Protestants claim that Catholics are this Babylon system. Both are right! CR165:5

Which did corrupt -- The church systems of today are permeated with all manner of pagan doctrines--immortality of the soul, a trinity of Gods, torment after death, re-incarnation, communion with the dead. R5911:6

Her fornication -- Symbolically signifying any illicit fellowship with the world on the part of those who have betrothed themselves to be God's consecrated people. R2300:1

Church and world united, an improper union called harlotry. R276:1; SM122:1

Revelation 19:3

Her smoke -- The remembrance of the destruction of those systems of deception and error--as smoke continues to ascend after a literal fire testifying that the fire has done its work. R2609:6, 894:1

It is to a symbolic woman and not a literal one that this statement applies. HG305:2

For ever and ever -- Lasting--the lesson will never be forgotten. R2609:6, 894:1

Revelation 19:4

Worshipped God -- Jehovah. R1211:1*

Revelation 19:5

A voice -- While Jesus and the dead saints are shown in the heavenly condition, the living saints, who are not yet changed, are used as his mouthpiece. R328:4*

Out of the throne -- Pyramid w on the Chart of the Ages. R275:6
He that sitteth on the throne sends the message--the invitation to the marriage supper. (Verse 9) R229:2

Ye his servants -- The Great Company. R172:5, 148:2
Is it not significant that the teachings are now to the servants, believing, as we do, that the door is shut to the high calling? R328:4*

Revelation 19:6

And I heard -- Their answer shows that they have reached the condition of complete harmony with God--they can sing "the song of Moses and the Lamb" in harmony in every note. (Rev. 15:3) R172:5

Great multitude -- The Great Company at the time of the fall of Babylon. Q229:2

These, though not of the Bride, are nevertheless beloved of both Bridegroom and Bride. R343:6

The different rewards of these two classes (both spiritual) are also shown by Rev. 7:9, 10, 13-17; Psa. 45:10-15. R428:5

Many. C193

All flesh. A86

Many waters -- We think there is good reason to believe that a considerable number who have made consecration are still in Babylon. R5411:6

At the fall of Babylon they will be fully set free from the timidity which has restrained them, and be glad to acclaim the Bride. R4647:6; CR101:5

Finally delivered from Babylon, with rejoicing. R4079:5*

Awakened from their slumber and separated from Babylon. R5865:4

Alleluia -- We can in advance join with the Great Company in his song.

NS555:4

Reigneth -- The Great Company will be the first to recognize the Kingdom as being established. R148:2

They recognize his reign as having commenced by the overthrow of Babylon the great. R276:1

The struggle will occur just in advance of the time for the establishment of Messiah's Kingdom by its all-powerful King, soon to take unto himself his great power and reign. R5458:5

Revelation 19:7

Let us be glad -- The Great Company. A87; R5865:4, 5383:2, 3416:6; CR101:5; Q290:1

In joyful praise. R343:6

Awakened from their slumber and separated from Babylon, these finally recognize what they have missed; but they thank God that his plan will still be carried out. R5865:4, 5383:2

This is the Benjamin class (the Great Company) rejoicing to know the Joseph class (the Little Flock). It is after the Little Flock is changed and the Great Company is still in a measure of tribulation. Q381:1

Realizing that the Bride is complete, yet they rejoice to see God's great loving plan as it embraces the sin destroyed race, and they are filled with God's praise. R172:6, 148:2

Some get awake and thank the Lord and his faithful. Others are merely angered, thus showing that they are not of the kind the Lord desires as members of the Bride. R2764:1

No doubt greatly dismayed to realize that the Bride is completed, but seemingly the beauty of God's plan which they now begin to discern, quite overcomes their grief. A240; R276:1

They were glad when they found out the true situation, that God had delivered them, and that the institution was a hindrance to God's plan in many respects. Q295:5

Great will be the rejoicing in heaven and in earth at the Church's abundant entrance into the King's palace. C193

All will rejoice in the glorification of the Church, through which blessings will then be flowing to them. A87

And rejoice -- Why should the Great Company rejoice? Because their eyes are really opened. They see Babylon as they never saw her before. They see God's plan as they never saw it before. Q291:T

They rejoice in the fall of Babylon. There is a difference between Babylon falling in a judicial sense, by being rejected by the Lord, and the actual falling, as when she goes down like a millstone. Q381:1; R5383:2

The marriage of the Lamb -- The unifying and full glorification of the entire Body of Christ with the Head. A235

The second Adam and the second Eve become one, and then the glorious work of restitution begins. A98; HG343:3; OV224:1

The plan of redemption cannot reach the world, until the perfection of the second man and his wife. HG99:5

The Bride will be with the Bridegroom when the Kingdom is fully established. HG165:1; OV320:4

An event of the very near future. R3200:6

In Jewish custom a marriage contract was entered into, usually lasting about a year. Then the man would come and receive her to himself, and from that time she was his wife. Q289:3

Under the Jewish custom the espousal brought the woman under the same obligation of chastity as though the marriage had taken place. SM122:T As the consecration of the Lord's people and their begetting of the holy Spirit constitute the betrothal to Christ, so the glorification of the first resurrection will constitute their marriage to him. NS295:1

Translation--to be "changed in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye"--to be "caught up to meet the Lord in the air." (1 Cor. 15:52; 1 Thes.

4:17) This will be our marriage--being made like him and united with him. R88:6; NS719:5; Q300:1

The faithful ones of the Church who had died were raised and were at once received of the Lord. So that portion of the Church is married to the Lord, just as soon as they are received by him. Q300:1

When the last member of the Body shall have finished his course and has been changed into the glory of the Lord the marriage will be consummated. Q462:5

When Christ comes and receives the Church to himself, she will be his wife, just as in the type. There is no ceremony. Q300:T

Church and state union is contrary to the spirit of the Bible. The Church of Christ is not to reign with the prince of the earth, not to be married to them, but to wait for her marriage until the second coming, and be united with him in the first resurrection. PD79/91

Is come -- Greek past tense--is accomplished. R276:1

Has taken place. Q229:2 We do not know how long after their "change" the Bride will be glorified as a company. A235

His wife -- No longer the espoused virgin, but the Bride. A98; OV224:1

The already called-out Bride of Christ. R1349:1, 5400:5

A second Eve, the "wife" of the second Adam. HG15:1

As the wife of the "first man" is the natural mother of the race, so the wife of the "second Adam" is to be the spiritual mother. HG99:3

As a wife shares her husband's honors and name, so the Church bears the name of Christ as members of the Body of Christ. E42

And joint-heir in his Kingdom and in his inheritance in the Abrahamic Covenant. R2122:5, 1702:6

Selected between Christ's first and second advents, as Moses selected his wife between his two advents in Egypt. R1651:6

As in Jewish custom the espoused virgin was called a bride from the time of her contract with the bridegroom, so the espoused virgin Church is called Christ's Bride before the consummation of their union. R1388:6

Shall he not have the right to select his own Bride? May not he and his Father elect whom they will for the Bride of Christ? Her office is not to exalt herself. It is to exalt the Bridegroom. R623:6*

There is no Bride now. Jesus, during the Gospel age, has been preparing a place for the Bride. (John 14:2-4) Q750:2, 838:1

Selected from among the Gentiles, typified by Moses marrying a Gentile wife. R1651:6, 4332:4*

In many parables the believers are represented in the attitude of guests, and not as the Bride. R58:2*

Made herself ready -- Be complete. R827:2, 276:1, 217:5

The Gospel age makes ready the chaste virgin, the faithful Church, for the coming Bridegroom. In the end of the age she is made "ready." A98; OV224:1

Requiring the entire period of the Gospel age. The robe of Christ's righteousness must be painstakingly embroidered according to the pattern set before us, with the fruits and graces of the holy Spirit. NS295:1

The sole object of the gospel is not to convert the world--that work belongs to the Millennial age--but to perfect the second Adam and the second Eve. HG12:2

Not that we could make ourselves ready of ourselves, but that we aid each other in the cultivation of those traits of character which the Lord has stipulated. R845:4, 3937:5; NS295:4

Our influence upon the brethren is of much more importance than our influence upon the world. NS152:1

That we may be in heart (and as nearly as attainable in the flesh also) "without spot or wrinkle or any such thing." (Eph. 5:23) R2429:5

The use of the means provided by her Bridegroom--the putting on of her adornment, the embroidering of her robes, the arrangement of her jewelry presented to her through the Spirit, is left for herself to do. R2202:1

The Bride makes herself ready for union with the Bridegroom by using the means provided by the Bridegroom. R830:4*

In the ante-chamber of special preparation--the light of Present Truth--the guests spend the short time just prior to the marriage feast (the harvest time) in adjusting their robes and giving to themselves and each other the final touches of preparation. C199; R153:1

In the "guest chamber" where they may finish the last touches of personal adornment. Then comes the inspection and casting out of one not having on a wedding garment. R153:1

Each, as he entered the wedding apartments, has become exercised in having his garments without spot or wrinkle before him--our Bridegroom, and our efforts extend to all who enter. R290:1

(1) They must keep their garments unspotted from the world (Jas. 1:27); and (2) must embroider them with fine needlework. SM254:2

The careful setting of the stitches in the embroidering of this wedding garment has been the chief duty and constant occupation of the espoused virgin while waiting for the nuptial feast. R2161:6

By laying aside present weights and hindrances, and shaping affairs to be able to give the entire time in the work of spreading the good tidings and helping the Body. R1302:5

With such a pressing call for every moment of their time, the new creatures have no love for the world to seek to perpetuate its arrangements and institutions. F608

It is vain to hope for future glory if we are not trying to subdue sin now. R830:1*

The Church was not commissioned to conquer the world and to reign as and for Christ during this time. Her commission was to "make herself ready." R4799:2; A98

Let us enter the harvest work of perfecting holiness in ourselves and others of the saints, and preparing for the marriage of the Lamb. R1941:5; OV126:2

The Lord has made it profitable for every member to assist in maintaining and perfecting the one Body, because each is dependent on the other in some measure. R733:5

Only the fellow-members of the one Body can help you, and your assistance is needed to help such, that all may shortly enter into the joys of their Lord. R919:1

Now the individual Christians are called upon to make their calling and election sure. Only incidentally, and not as their chief work, are they to let their light shine before men. R4878:6, 1430:6; F608; T115

The work of the prospective Bride now is to make herself ready--not specially the blessing of the world, which her Lord designs shall be done after she becomes united to him. R1430:6, 1349:1

Though frequently upbraided with the suggestion that they are selfish because they do not join with others in the various political, social, financial and moral reforms of the world. R2415:5, 1564:1

Restitution work will be accomplished by the successors of the Gospel Church--the Church's work being specifically the making of herself ready. R2345:3

It becomes a laudable ambition to serve one another and to build one another up in the most holy faith--to get ready ourselves and to help others of the dear family of God. R5185:2, 5400:5, 2690:4

Have you heard the cry, the knock announcing our Bridegroom's presence? Are you awake? Are you seeing to it that you are clothed with the righteousness of Christ as with a garment? R88:6

When to "the worthy Lamb that was slain" the voices of the multitude ascribe blessing and honor and glory and power, they will also exclaim, "his wife hath made herself ready." R3104:5

And we (the Great Company) are left, and disappointed, nevertheless rejoicing because we see God's plan. Q229:2

Revelation 19:8

To her -- The Bride, the victorious Church. R2159:6

Was granted -- The entire arrangement for her wedding robes, the washing of regeneration (justification) and the water for her feet washing, are all provided through the agency of the Bridegroom. R2201:6

Arrayed in fine linen -- In the resurrection he will grant us ideal bodies and the ideal character embroidered perfectly upon the new robe, which will be ours through grace. R2161:6

In the simple white robe of her Lord's own furnishing, the robe of his righteousness, upon which she will have wrought, with much carefulness, the beautiful adornments of the Christian graces. C193

This company must be the risen dead, for the "fine linen" represents the righteous acts of the saints. (Diaglott) R328:1*

The robe figuratively represents justification, the covering of our blemishes; and it is a wedding garment because it constitutes a basis of our ultimate acceptance by the Lord in the end of this age. SM254:2

As the rich man in the parable of the rich man and Lazarus, there showing Israel, in a typical sense, as a holy (righteous) nation. R2604:2, 1086:6, 1000:2, 284:1

Clean and white -- In contrast: "And the woman was arrayed in purple and scarlet color, and decked with gold and precious stones and pearls, having a golden cup in her hand full of abominations and filthiness of her fornication." (Rev. 17:1-6) R471:6

The righteousness of saints -- Greek, dikaiomata, properly rendered, righteous acts. R76:3*

Their personal purity, completeness and perfection at that time. R2159:6
Righteousness is more than right doing. It is right being, which includes right doing. R76:5*

Not limited to her theology, but it must include her character. It is her righteousness manifested in her life--her loyalty, purity and her fellowship with God. R50:2*

But at the present time the saints have no righteousness of their own. R2159:6

The righteousness to which she is called: "God hath not called us to uncleanness, but to holiness." (1 Thes. 4:7) R50:2*

The garment expresses the effect sought and gained, rather than the means God uses to bring it about. R50:2*

Revelation 19:9

Blessed are they -- After the marriage is accomplished, they shall enjoy the feast with the Royal Family. R343:6, 276:1

Figuratively styled the Bridesmaids, the Great Company class, symbolized by the New Jerusalem. R3867:6, 5865:4, 5415:5

Represented in Rebecca and her damsels, or maids, who accompanied her, when she went to become the bride of Isaac. R4647:6, 101:5

Those originally bidden will not taste of that supper, though divine providence has arranged for another banquet, which through the Kingdom will be spread for all nations. R5415:6

It will be later on, after the intervening time of trouble, that the feast of fat things for the world will be spread out. R3834:5

Which are called -- The Great Company are represented as getting a special message from God. Q296:T

Unto the marriage supper -- A promise written specially for the Great Multitude. R172:6

There is a difference between being at the marriage, and eating of the marriage supper. When the door is shut, the wise virgins go in to the marriage, but the marriage supper does not take place for a little while after that. Q296:T

To share in the glorious blessings and favors of God, which will make their hearts rejoice, and compensate them for all their trials and difficulties in the present time. Q463:1

The feast of rejoicings is postponed until the Great Company shall have "washed their robes and made them white." (Rev. 7:14) R172:6, 88:6

The nuptial feast, in honor of the marriage of the Lamb, after the wife hath made herself ready. R5415:5, 3867:6

A great time of blessing; we don't know what it is. Perhaps, as we feast on God's Word and truth at conventions. It is just a suggestion of something grand beyond power to describe. Q463:T

The great marriage feast is to take place shortly after the glorification of the Church. R3417:1

Invited to come in and partake of the festivities mentioned in Psalm 45. Q229:2, 296:T, 300:1

Ultimately reaching the position next to the Bride. A241; R276:1
In glory. HG752:5

Although specifically the nuptial feast of Christ and the Church, nevertheless the Great Company, the virgins, the Bride's companions, will be invited to share in this nuptial feast. R3834:5

Though never sharers of the Bride's portion. R2764:4

These are the virgin companions who follow the Bride and rejoice in her exaltation, and are honored also, though less highly, by the King. R828:4

A great blessing, even though not so grandly glorious as that which the Lord will give to the Little Flock. R4274:1

There are many such virgins, but not wise--wheat, but not ripe wheat, not ready to be garnered. They are living far below their privileges, and will suffer great loss. R593:5

They can go to that marriage supper only through much tribulation, which will test to the last their full devotion to the Lord. R5865:4

There is really no sitting down to eat or drink, but it is merely a picture of the joyous occasion that will follow. Q296:T
The aroma of the good things coming already reaches us in the anteroom, before we enter the banquet hall. R5415:6

Revelation 19:10

I -- The Apostle John in a measure represented the faithful of the Lord's people in the end of this age. R4200:1

To worship him -- As the more wonderful things of the divine plan are being revealed, some might be in danger of worshipping the angel through whom the enlightenment was sent. R4200:1

How natural is the disposition to worship, to give undue honor to the messengers of truth. R496:3*

Many think it a mark of humility to discard reason and blindly follow others. It is against such "voluntary humility" and worshipping of messengers that Paul warns. (Col. 2:18) R496:6*

Do it not -- Anything in the nature of personal idolatry is rebuked. R4200:1

If there come to any of us a thought of doing homage to the Lord's messengers through whom his blessings have been bestowed upon us, it is proper for him to heed this admonition. R3970:6

There is a tendency in this direction, and a danger to worship the creature, or instrumentality, rather than the Creator who uses the instrumentality. Let us not make that mistake. Q77:4

When Cornelius offered such service to Peter--the leading Apostle--"he took him up, saying, Stand up: I myself also am a man." (Acts 10:26) R144:3*

To what extent should the pilgrims and other brothers preach "Brother Russell"? I say, not at all. Q77:2

Some of the dear brethren seem to find as much about Brother Russell in the Bible as they find about the Lord Jesus, and I think that is a great mistake. I do not find it there. CR125:2

Had Christ not been more than man the same reason would have prevented him from receiving worship. R144:3*

Illustrated by the attitude of the angel which wrestled with Jacob. (Gen. 32:29) R3978:6, 1634:6

Illustrated by the angel announcing Samson's birth to Manoah. (Jud. 13:18) R1634:6

Thy fellowservant -- Who can tell which brother messenger will prove faithful to the end, neither becoming puffed up, discouraged, overcome or weary in well doing. R496:6*

Worship God -- True messengers of God always seek to give the honor unto God, and decline it for themselves. R1634:6

We should recognize every agency God uses, but we are not to recognize any agency of God as being any competition whatever with the Lord or with his divine arrangement. CR125:4

It would be our duty to fully recognize that our blessings come not from any human being but from God, however much he may use human instrumentalities to convey his blessings. R3971:1

Testimony of Jesus -- Concerning Jesus. R496:5*

The spirit -- The import. R496:5*

Revelation 19:11

A white horse -- The events of the first seal are identical: "I saw, and behold, a white horse; and he that sat on him had a bow, and a crown was given unto him; and he went forth conquering and to conquer." (Rev. 6:2) HG81:5

Faithful and True -- The Christ in glory. R5451:4

He is the "faithful and true witness," as John spake of him in addressing the Laodicean church. (Rev. 3:14) R328:1*

The nominal church, not having been true witnesses, were spewed out of his mouth in the spring of 1878 AD. R328:1*

Make war -- Who can give assurance that the multitudes who now compose the marshalled hosts of Christendom will not then constitute the great army that will throw its mighty force against the bulwarks of the present social order. D549

There are also intimations that there may be others beyond the revolting hosts of Christendom who will also form a part of the Lord's great army. D549

Revelation 19:12

Many crowns -- So too, the popes wore the many crowned hat. HG76:5

No man knew -- The nominal churches are in darkness and know not that Jesus has entered on his reign as King; nor do the servants yet know, for they are not of his Body, not reckoned as part of himself. R328:5*

No man [unregenerated] does know, but we [his Body] may know. R328:4*

But he himself -- But we are of him, the members of his Body; his "feet," therefore a part of himself. R328:4*

Revelation 19:13

Dipped in blood -- "Wherefore art thou red in thine apparel, and thy garments like him that treadeth in the winepress?" "I have trampled on them in my fury; and their blood was sprinkled on my garments, and all my raiment have I stained." (Isa. 63:1-3) D18

The Word of God -- The Message, the Logos. The instructions of God may come through his disciples, teachers or evangelists; but they must all be received as emanating from the Father through the Son. Q843:4

"In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with the God, and the Word was a God." (John 1:1) R1060:5, 338:5

"God, who at sundry times and in diverse manners spake in times past unto the fathers by the prophets, hath in these last days spoken unto us by his Son." (Heb. 1:1, 2) Q843:4

He is called the Word in his pre-existent state (John 1:1); while he was in the flesh (John 1:14; 14:6), and here, in his future manifestation as Conqueror. R106:2*, 21:2*

The term Logos, not only applied to the plan existing only in the mind, but also to the expression of that plan--the creation of him who was "the beginning of the creation of God." (Rev. 3:14) R421:3

So we would proclaim no other Word. Our teachings are not the "doctrines of men," but God's Word. R328:4*

Revelation 19:14

The armies -- The living saints, as well as many of the world, are now being used as the Lord's soldiers in overthrowing errors and evils. B101

We merely suggest that the heavenly army may possibly be in two divisions--one on this side of the veil, the other on the other side of the veil. R5451:4

Those close to him, his "regular army" are few--a Little Flock. But he also has an immense army of "irregulars"--the vultures of verse 17. R817:3

The seed--"Heaven's conquering army." The work of the seed must follow the complete development of the seed. R22:6*

In heaven -- If Jesus is now present in the spiritual body, the Church must be also, for both are represented in the same spiritual [heavenly] condition. R328:2*

Followed him -- Their part in the fray is to oppose false doctrines, and to slay with the sword of the truth. R774:6

If any commission be given to the Lord's people to execute judgment this side of the veil it would be so explicit as to leave no room for doubt. R5451:4

Upon white horses -- Pure doctrine. R774:6

Revelation 19:15

Out of his mouth -- The Lord in glorious majesty. R5493:6

The saints being his mouthpiece. R328:4* The rod of Messiah's mouth (Isa. 11:4) signifies the judgments which he has already expressed, and which have very largely gone unheeded by Christendom. R2374:3

A sharp sword -- The Word of God--the truth. R780:4, 1469:6, 328:4*; B101
The sword of the spirit is the Word of God. (Eph. 6:17) The sword of Messiah's mouth will be the message which he will send. SM51:1
The sharp truths and righteous judgment of the Lord. HG270:3
The breath of his lips [the force and spirit of the truth]. (Isa. 11:4; Psa. 98:1) D19; SM51:1

Smite the nations -- The Lord smites to heal, and when his Word cuts to the heart the effect is to destroy the enemy. Unless brought into subjection, nothing will remain but final extinction. R5493:6; HG270:3
In the same sense that the words of the apostle Peter on the day of Pentecost cut his hearers to the heart. (Acts 2:37) HG270:3
He begins the work of blessing the world by smiting down the oppressors--oppressive errors, and those influenced by the spirit of those errors. R817:2

The inauguration of his Kingdom will be followed by the dashing of the present social systems to pieces in a great time of trouble and anarchy, preparatory to the establishment of the Kingdom of righteousness. D296
There will not be only poor, needing assistance and equity, but there will be wicked at the time the Kingdom will be established. R2374:3

The civilized world stands today in a false position: professing to be Christ's Kingdom ruled by his law of love; yet really the kingdom of the prince of this world, Satan, under his law of selfishness. R1519:6

To those who revel in luxury and pleasure now, who enjoy the favor of the world because they partake of its selfish spirit, is coming a time of reckoning. R1735:6

For the purpose of quickly bringing mankind to a realization of the new Millennial conditions, the righteous judge will "render his anger with fury, and his rebuke with flames of fire." (Isa. 66:15, 16) R1469:6

He shall rule them -- When he is reigning with his saints. R1149:4*

Rod of iron -- For temporary service, for man's true development that the race may be brought back to full blessing as kings of earth. R5377:1, 4799:2

The iron rod of Christ's rule must bring down every high thing, and subdue all things unto him. R1735:6

He treadeth the winepress -- The treading of the winepress is the last feature of harvest work. The reaping and gathering is all done first. D18 Into which "the vine of the earth" (the false vine which has misappropriated the name Christian and Christ's Kingdom) is cast when its iniquitous clusters are fully ripe. (Rev. 14:18-20) D18

Revelation 19:16

KING OF KINGS -- Having entered his Kingly office--and moreover, the dead saints are risen, "kings and priests" unto God, so that Jesus is King of heavenly kings. R328:4*

The Times of Restitution will be the thousand years of Messiah's spiritual reign as King of kings and Lord of lords. NS860:5

The "King of kings and Lord of lords, who only hath immortality, dwelling in the light which no man can approach unto." (1 Tim. 6:14-16) R2747:4

Making all things new. R5780:1; NS379:3

So have the popes professed to be. HG76:5

Revelation 19:17

The fowls -- An army of "irregulars" in every kind of uniform--Communists, Infidels, Socialists, Anarchists, Nihilists. R817:3

Communist vultures. R899:6

Come and gather -- Compare Zeph. 1:7-9, 14-18. A315

Revelation 19:18

That ye may eat -- They battle for plunder and get their fill in the overturning of earth's kingdoms. R817:3

Preparatory to the establishment of everlasting peace upon the only firm foundation of righteousness and truth. R817:4

The flesh of kings -- Those in opposition to the kingdom of God, and its scepter of righteousness, impartiality and justice, are being gathered to the great slaughter. R817:4
Mighty men -- The church--both Papal and Protestant--is largely controlled by the influence of governments and wealthy men. It will rapidly become the tool and mouthpiece of these, and they all will go down together, fighting against God and liberty. R356:6

Revelation 19:19

I saw the beast -- There will be a general division of the world into two contending parties. The kings, wealthy and worldly great on one side, and with them the symbolic beast [Papacy] and Protestantism. These unite their efforts, realizing they must stand or fall together. R817:2, 356:6

Kings of the earth -- The rulers, financiers, and all the worldly great men, and the Roman Catholic and Protestant systems, will be together and fall together. R2045:2

And their armies -- Kings, chief captains, rich men and mighty men. R420:4, 166:5, 2045:2

By opposing "progress in religious thought" or changes in the "standards of the sects" a proposed "battalion" of Y.M.C.A. "Bible-oriented" young men will really fight against the progress of light and truth. R780:3

Gathered together -- Clearly showing that in this struggle the Beast [symbol of the Church of Rome] will be found on the side of, and banded with, the "kings of the earth" and their armies. R939:4, 834:1

Since they should uphold the Kingdom of Christ, they feel themselves bound to champion the present falling kingdoms of so-called Christendom. Thus their sympathies are often forced to the side of oppression, rather than to the side of right and freedom. A270

In seeking the favor of the "mighty," Rome will surely lose her hold over the masses. The result will be that the governments will fall and these religious institutions will go into destruction. R834:3

While the people will be struggling for freedom and their God given rights, the nominal churches will unite with the governments which they appointed, to help keep the people in thralldom. R362:4

In the coming struggle the nominal church will take sides with and fall with the earthly empires in their overthrow. R899:5

To make war -- This general conflict between priest and people, rulers and ruled, capital and labor, is the battle or conflict represented by the seventh plague. R377:6

Ignorantly. R780:4

Unconsciously--not recognizing him. R668:5

His army here, as in the overthrow of Jerusalem in AD 70, will know not God, yet will fulfill his purposes. R362:5

Whatever the nature of this "war," it is certainly opposition by the kings of the earth towards Christ. In no way can such language be construed so as to mean gospel conversion. HG13:2

His army -- God is raising up his great army, the masses of the world, to overturn all forms of evil and oppression. R362:5

An earthly army. R420:2, 166:4

The army of the poor and oppressed of every nation. R2045:2

The oppressed who, inspired by justice and right, will be used to some extent as agents to their own liberation from the thralldom of evil and oppression. R420:4, 166:4

While the Little Flock is in a special sense "The King's own," yet in another sense there are many troops and divisions in this great army. R938:5

God's army is now being marshalled and his Church should stand aloof from both the governments that be, and their opposers. R362:5

Revelation 19:20

The beast -- The Beast and the false prophet are the great false systems which have long oppressed and misled nominal Christendom. R2608:6, 1040:5

The monarchial represents the imperial or "dragon" power; the Papacy, the religious element, "the false prophet that wrought miracles" while the international, or republican, element represents the body of the Beast. HG20:5

The false prophet -- Representing in symbol the various sects of Protestantism. R834:2

The fact that the two horned beast is not mentioned signifies that that system [the state church of England and Ireland] would pass out of existence as a beast, or church and state combination. R834:2

The separating of the English church from the government will neither destroy the Beast nor church, but it ceases to be an ecclesiastical government. R834:4

Its government appears among the "kings of the earth" and the English church is represented among the other Protestant systems in the "false prophet." R834:4

Second Adventists have long held the theory that Turkey is the false prophet. We take a totally different view, believing that Turkey has nothing whatever to do with the symbolic false prophet. R1898:4

He deceived them -- Only here and there can any be found who "know the joyful sound"--who can distinguish the heavenly message from those by which Satan has "deceived all that dwell upon the earth." R2569:3

Mark of the beast -- The leading and controlling mark or quality of the beast, we would write in large letters: DOGMATISM AND INTOLERANCE. R50:5*

These both -- The final overthrow of present governments will be at the same time as the fall of ecclesiasticism and will be followed by from five to seven years of socialism and anarchy. R1434:2

Systems of error. R2609:1

Only the Beast and false prophet are cast into the lake of fire. HG13:2

Showing that the whole passage is highly figurative. Q829:2

Cast alive into -- Speedily judged worthy of destruction. R2609:1, 893:2

Lake of fire -- The second death. R2609:1

Gehenna, Valley of Hinnom, figure of the second death, utter destruction. R2601:4, 2608:4, 893:2

A great consuming trouble in the close of this Gospel age. R1040:5

The Book of Revelation abounds in forceful symbols which illustrate the various features of God's plan, and the ultimate destruction of the wicked is no exception. HG751:4*

Burning with brimstone -- Intensifying the symbol of destruction, brimstone being one of the most deadly elements known. It is destructive to all forms of life. R2608:4, 2601:4

Revelation 19:21

Sword -- The Word of God--the truth. R780:4

Revelation 20

Revelation 20:1

An angel -- Messenger; "the Messenger of the Covenant," Christ. R1233:2
Christ, the Strong Messenger. R1736:2

Christ Jesus, and his Body, the Church, is the one in whose hand is the power and authority to control evil. R331:1

Signifying messenger--God will send some messengers with authority and power to subdue evil. Many agencies will doubtless take part--the increase of knowledge probably being one of the strongest. R331:1

Come down -- At his second advent. R1233:2, 4976:1

The Prince of Light has only recently invaded, as it were, the land of the prince of darkness to commence his work. R4610:1

The binding of Satan could not begin until the Angel had come down, 1874; nor indeed, until 1878, the date of the assumption of his power as King. R1233:3

The key -- Representing authority. R331:1

A great chain -- Representing strength. R331:1

The great chain represents restraint. R2645:6; Q620:6

Restraining the evil in general, probably by the institution of laws of righteousness. Q621:T

Truth is the great agency which is eventually to accomplish the complete binding of Satan. R1233:3

To some extent truth has for many centuries obstructed the course of error--truths both of nature and religion--but they never bound Satan and rendered him powerless. R1233:3

Satan's chains of blinding error and misrepresentation shall be removed from the groaning creation, and he himself shall be bound with the great strong chain of truth. R877:4

Not only the truths directly relating to the plan of God, but to these are linked every feature of truth related to human rights and privileges.

R1233:4

Truth binds error, and error binds truth. Like light and darkness, they are constantly opposed to each other. R331:2

May we not to some extent be used of the Lord in the shining forth of the light which will bind the Adversary and restrain the evil? SM106:1

"Whatsoever doth make manifest is light" (Eph. 5:13); and that which makes manifest is a "chain," a restraint upon that which is darkness. R4610:1

We are to distinguish clearly between the restraint of the fallen angels "in chains of darkness" (2 Pet. 2:4), and the binding of Satan, who is the prince of demons. R4976:1

The whole world is getting awake, not necessarily to the light of truth, but getting awake to the chains of darkness which are upon them. R4610:1

Revelation 20:2

And -- Verses 2, 4 and 11 with verses 1, 2, 10 and 11 of chapter 21 show the beginning of the age of judgment, the restraining of blinding errors and misleading systems. R893:1

He laid hold -- The Lord's parable respecting the binding of the "strong man" seems to imply that it will begin in a sudden manner. R4609:3

The victory over the great Adversary is not to be a slow and gradual one, not to be by missions or any power or ours, but the Lord himself shall interpose his power. R3686:6

Eventually his Kingdom shall overthrow the reign of sin and death which has prevailed for six thousand years. R5379:3

On the dragon -- While Satan has been endeavoring to accomplish his own designs, he has really unwittingly been serving a great purpose in the accomplishment of God's plan. R1233:2

These terms not only include Satan himself, but all the evil institutions as well. Q621:T

The Roman Empire is called the dragon and the devil. (See Rev. 12:3, 9; 13:2) R44:3

The dragon of Rev. 12 and the dragon of Rev. 20 are clearly one and the same. HG76:4

That old serpent -- A reference to Eve's beguilement by the serpent. A61

The Devil -- There is a personal Devil, but here the names "Devil" and "Satan" refer not merely to the person of the Adversary, but to all that system of things of which he is the head. (See Rev. 12:7-9) R4609:3

And Satan -- Satan and the evil angels under his captaincy. NS736:3

While this name applies to our personal Adversary, it covers in a general sense all the influences for evil and unrighteousness in the world. SM103:2

Satan here merely means that adverse influence, putting darkness for light, and vice versa. That influence will be completely bound as the light of truth displaces the darkness. Q621:4; E218

Satan is the best representative of evil principles, practices and persons, being the chief and leader in wickedness. R331:1

Bound him -- His every deceptive and misleading influence will be restrained--so that evil shall no longer appear to men to be good, nor good appear undesirable, evil. D519; E218

In that blessed time every evil deed will be restrained that it may not accomplish injury to another. NS736:3

Hindering the further deception of humanity during that period. OV44:2; R2415:5

Here is the secret of why the world cannot hear now, and the assurance of the change which would permit it to hear in due time. NS386:3

As a part of the means for bringing the world back into harmony with God. E217

The first work of the new dispensation. A69; E20; HG538:5; NS614:3; SM130:2

At the very beginning of the Messianic reign. OV192:3

Preparatory to the establishment of Christ's Kingdom and the beginning of "the world to come, wherein dwelleth righteousness." (2 Pet. 3:13) A73
The Millennial age will be introduced by the binding of all evil influences represented by Satan that the world may no longer be deluded by him and his servants, willing or ignorant. R2398:2, 331:1
He will no longer have the power to blind, to deceive, for his deceptions will be exposed by the glorious light of that day. NS555:3
A reign of righteousness presupposes a restraint of unrighteousness. R331:1
Signifying a complete restraint of Satan and all his powers of evil. R2645:6

The fallen angels have not ceased their warfare against the Lamb and those who follow him, nor will they cease until Immanuel shall bind that old Serpent and restrain his influences. HG682:1

"Fallen angels" will have much to do with the bringing about of the great time of trouble with which this Gospel Age will end, before the complete inauguration of Messiah's empire and the binding of Satan. SM198:2
Not only will all possible good influences surround humanity during their thousand-year Day of Judgment, but every evil influence will be bound, restrained. HG685:2

Satan will no longer have control. His yoke of sin, pain, sorrow and death; his rod and staff of affliction and slavery; will be broken, and that forever. R3686:6, 2550:4

During that thousand-year day of Messiah's Kingdom, Satan is to be bound "that he may deceive the nations no more." (Verse 3) R6013:4, 5896:2; SM791:1

After 1914. Q621:T

This restraining is now in operation--inventions, laws, the temperance question, education. People are no longer allowed to be idle. Children are compelled to attend school. R4610:4

The time for the binding of Satan is fixed at the close of the Gospel age, prior to the thousand year reign of Christ. R1233:2, 5378:4

The time for the binding of Satan is not yet, though we believe it is very near. R3941:5, 4350:3, 3772:3; HG402:6; SM567:2

By the time all the plagues are poured out Satan will be completely bound. R171:4*

Is Satan now bound? I do not know. There is a good deal of Satanic power still exercised. If he is bound, I am sure the others are loose. Q623:4

I think I would not lay too much stress on Satan's having been bound in 1874. We have plenty of evidence of the reign of sin going on, whether Satan has suffered any personal defeat or not. Q623:8

The Millennium is "nigh, even at the doors," involving first, the presence and exaltation of the new King (The Christ complete) who will dethrone and bind the former Prince of the power of the air. R362:1

The binding is already commenced. The devil in the church, must be bound first, and truth set free, among those who profess to be children of the light. R331:2

I think Satan's empire is in process of destruction, that every ray of light that shines out on any subject to that extent is Satan's empire every moment being broken; for example, prohibition. Q627:4

I think Satan is being bound. Things mentioned in the Bible as emanating from Satan are being bound every day. For instance, Satan's influence in the liquor traffic is being bound. Q625:4

The Prince of Light has already begun the work of binding the Prince of Darkness. SM103:2

The binding process must go on to a considerable extent before the great time of trouble shall come. The strong man of the house must be bound before his goods can be spoiled. Q626:1

We cannot say positively just what day or hour Satan will be fully bound and Messianic blessings begin to supplant the curse. R5450:2

The collapse of Babylon will indicate that Satan has been quite fully bound. He is working very hard with ecclesiastical systems and false doctrines. Their collapse will mean his binding. Q626:1

After gathering his Bride class the Lord will execute judgments upon Babylon. At that time Satan will be bound. R3784:6

The Bride is joint-heir with him in the glorious Kingdom then to be established for the purpose of binding Satan. R3004:6

The parable of the sheep and the goats (Matt. 25) takes place when Satan is bound and the authority of Christ's Kingdom established. Ere this, the Bride of Christ, will have been seated with him in the throne of spiritual power and will have taken part in executing the judgments of the Day of Wrath. R2606:3

All the besetments are now about us because Satan, the prince of this world, is unbound. R2590:6

We wait for Satan to be bound until he come--until at his coming he changes, glorifies us, setting us up at his Kingdom. [One of eight activities of the Church "till he come."] R3652:6

As his work of deception is favored by ignorance, darkness, so everything that has tended to lift the pall of the Dark Ages has tended to liberate mankind from the snare of Satan's ignorance. SM102:1

A preliminary restraint of evil results from turning on the light of Present Truth. But this is not all. R2646:1

Christ, coming in power, means the restraint of Satan and his power. In another picture, the Sun of Righteousness rising, the darkness of sin, ignorance and prejudice disappear proportionately. NS90:1, 332:4; R5818:4; OV192:3, 341:6

Whatever sets free the light of truth incidentally binds in similar proportions the darkness. To some extent this process has been going on for three centuries, but only in our day is the matter reaching a climax. SM103:3

I suppose as the light increases the Prince of darkness will thus be restrained of his liberties. I do not give this out as an interpretation. The Bible does not tell us how this will be accomplished. Q627:2

The ignorance and superstition, selfishness and crime, which have for centuries marked Satan's reign will gradually draw to a close. NS782:3
It will not be accomplished until the time that the Great Company class is completed. R4610:5

We are to have full confidence in his promises. Injustice will not forever obtain. We do right to pray, "Thy kingdom come," week after week, year after year, century after century. R5020:2; Q539:4

The work is being done by people who do not believe in the true religion. They do not know God aright. The majority of them repudiate the Bible. R4610:4

Influences of the "Higher Critic" class are doing a great deal to restrain the Adversary and his authority over the people. R4610:2

Many intelligent people have not the "true light," but they are exercising an influence antagonistic to the darkness that Satan has heretofore used for the restraint of thought, etc. R4610:1

Doubtless Satan realizes better than we can how the binding or restraining is coming, and is actively maneuvering to avoid it. R3941:5; HG403:1; SM567:2

His rule of unrighteousness and selfishness shall be set aside, supplanted by the laws of him who shall lay justice to the line and righteousness to the plummet. (Isa. 28:17) R2724:5

And destroy his works. R542:2*

The result of the change of dispensation will be a great blessing, yet the time of transfer, while the present prince is being bound and his household driven out of power, will be a time of intense trouble. C341
Satan's seat of government is in Tartarus--the atmosphere. When bound, his place will be vacant for The Christ to occupy as ruler. R5182:1

"No man can enter into a strong man's house and spoil his goods, except he will first bind the strong man, and then he will spoil his house." (Mark. 3:22-27) A68

"In his day (Christ's Millennial reign) the righteous shall flourish," and the "evil-doer shall be cut off." (Psa. 72:7; 37:9) R2406:2

The rulers of the darkness of this world will make a last great effort previous to their binding. R170:3*

Seeing that Satan has wielded an evil influence blinding mankind, will it be any less possible for the Prince of Peace to open the blind eyes without his appearing in the flesh? HG365:6

The binding of Satan is not the giving of health. Q621:4

"No lion shall be there." (Isa. 35:9) Q785:2, 825:3

A thousand years -- During that period of Satan's restraint those whom he now blinds with various doctrines, sophistries, superstitions, etc., will be freed from these, and have the eyes and ears of their understanding opened. R2690:3

The great day of blessing, the great thousand-year day of Messiah's Kingdom, is near at hand --is dawning now. Soon Satan will be bound. R5190:5, 5378:4

The judgment of the world by Christ will cover a period of one thousand years. The world's judgment is not yet in progress. Q794:4
For the same thousand years the work of blessing and restitution will progress. R5818:4, 5057:3

Revelation 20:3

And cast him -- And all his wicked deceptions. R1233:4

The Prince of Light taking from the Prince of darkness the scepter of this world and restraining him for a thousand years. R4109:6

The great King, who is now about to take full control of the world, has full power to bind, restrain Satan, and every evil power and influence. R2646:1

When God's time for the establishment of Christ's Kingdom comes, Satan's kingdom will be brought to naught as effectually as was his former purpose at the time of the flood. R1687:1

Why is he not destroyed at this juncture? Because God has a still further purpose to be served in his continued existence. R1233:5

The bottomless pit -- The word abyss, representing oblivion. R2645:6, 1233:4; SM94:T

Abyss--covered, secret, hidden place. R331:1

Shut him up -- In the end of the struggle, Satan will be fully bound, shut up, sealed. SM105:1

Set a seal -- Sealed it over him. SM94:1

Used in olden times to make secret, to render secure against intrusion. E246

Public and worldwide realization of the causes of their degradation, and the great revolution of public sentiment in favor of the Lord's ways, will constitute the seal. R1233:5

Representing divine care that none shall interfere with God's arrangement, but that it shall all be carried out strictly in accordance with the divine prearrangement. R2645:6

He should deceive -- Lead astray. CR463:6

Some have become so deluded by the sophistries of Satan that they do not believe that there is a God; others believe him to be a great and powerful Adversary; others are confused, knowing not what to believe. E18

The reason why there is so much graft, false doctrine, delusion, ignorance, superstition everywhere is that Satan is the great being who is deceiving the world. Dvi; OV271:2

No longer will darkness be permitted to masquerade as light, and the light slandered as darkness. D519; R5378:4, 5190:5; OV380:5

Too cunning to attempt to deceive the majority into atheism, the great Adversary has adopted the more feasible plan of deceiving them by introducing a false theology. NS522:1

Forcing false doctrines upon the heathen and upon Christians, supporting them by dreams and visions and spirit mediums, personating and speaking for the dead. HG193:2

God is willing to permit this activity because it can now serve a purpose--a sifting work--which must reach and touch every class and condition of professed Christians everywhere. R3941:5

God has permitted Satan to rule as a prince, but has never authorized him.

His power is purely usurpation, based upon these deceptions. SM546:2

The Lord allows Satan to organize various human agencies that some may fall farther and farther from the truth, until finally none will "stand" except the elect. HG403:2; SM567:3

Upon the Church are designed crucial tests of her loyalty. It is for this reason that this call takes place while the majority of mankind are under the Adversary's blinding influences, and he is not yet bound. R2415:1

God's will is not done on earth, his Kingdom has not come to earth as yet. R2253:1

Satan will continue to blind and deceive the masses until our Master takes the Kingdom and restrains Satan. R2799:4, 2550:2

Deception was one of the main things in which he was previously engaged, Henceforth he would be restrained, whether by the light of Present Truth or the light of science, from so doing. R4610:2

While we must oppose error, nevertheless, let us all speak the truth in love, without harshness, without personalities. Our dear brethren are deluded, deceived, not intentionally opposing the truth. CR415:3

Not that popes and cardinals were fraudulent in their claims. We concede them full honesty of intention, charging the error to our great Adversary. HG268:6

Satan will be forced to appear "as an angel of light" (2 Cor. 11:14) in order to perpetuate the delusions wherewith he has so long deceived the whole world--putting light for darkness, and darkness for light. R3119:6, 2504:3; F641

The necessity for his playing reformer and good physician is an evidence that his fall is near. F641

The demons must sham to be "angels of light," teachers of advanced truth and good physicians, both of souls and bodies. R2189:2

Satan's struggles to retain control of mankind will be specially desperate at its close--before he is bound for the thousand years. R2189:2; A69

By deceiving mankind he has usurped the control of their minds. R3719:2

"Doctors of divinity" have long been Satan's deceiving agents. R2898:4

The Adversary has used the nominal church of God as his tool to deceive all that dwell upon the face of the whole earth--to misrepresent the divine character and plan. R3104:5

The name "Christendom" is a delusion. "Satandom" would be the truer title. But our wily Adversary is so crafty that he puts darkness for light and deludes the poor world. R4350:3

Evidently the world will not vote for the reign of Christ and the binding of Satan, and because they are unwilling to cooperate, their help must come in another way--by the fall of present institutions. R3772:6

The masses are not on trial now, as are we who have knowledge, but will have their trial by and by during the Millennial age after Satan has been bound. R2428:6

During the present age the world of mankind is not liable to the second death because Satan is exercising a blinding, deceiving influence upon all except true believers. [One of three reasons given.] R4908:4, 1962:1

Our poor fallen, fellow creatures who oppose us and who oppose righteousness do so because they are under the power of Satan, more or less blinded by his sophistries. R3274:2, 3209:1

We are no longer deluded into the belief that those blinded by Satan will be everlastingly tormented therefor. R1958:4

Only here and there can any be found who "know the joyful sound" (Psa. 89:15)--who can distinguish the heavenly message from the deceiving message of Satan. R2569:3

The nations -- Peoples. R4350:3; SM130:2

Satan is operating through these evil agencies, but these agencies are not willingly being operated upon by Satan. R4610:1

No more -- Not only is Satan to be bound, but a highway is to be cast up, and all the stumbling stones are to be gathered out, and no ravenous beasts of prey (fierce temptations) shall go up thereon. R1055:3

When Satan is bound, there will be no more great counterfeit systems of Christianity, no counterfeit of God's Kingdom, no plausible and misleading presentations of error for truth. R1233:6

His power to deceive and enslave men being completely stopped by the clear knowledge then prevailing. R1233:4

The trial of the world when Satan and evil are bound will be less severe, and the prize for which they will be running will be less glorious than that for which we run. R409:1; A146

Whether Satan and his associates, the fallen angels, will remain associated with the world we do not know, but they will no longer be prince and powers of the air. R2646:1

Some surmise that Satan and his angels will be deported during the Millennial period. Our view is to the contrary. We believe that they will not be deported but remain, powerless to deceive. R2646:1

But the favor then opened to believers will be the earthly paradise restored, not the heavenly Kingdom and the divine nature now held before the Gospel Church. R2220:4

Thank God, the eyes of our understanding have been opened so that we can now see through the deceptions of the Adversary! R4662:3

Should be fulfilled -- Be finished. R4610:2

Until the thousand years of Christ's reign have accomplished their designed work of opening all the blind eyes, and permitting all who will to come back into full fellowship with God. R3158:2

This work of restoration apparently occupies all of the thousand years, since it is called "the times (years) of restitution." (Acts 3:21) R86:6

Be loosed -- To tempt, test, try, prove all those that dwell upon the face of the whole earth. R4999:3, 5253:6, 4986:1, 1234:1; Q186:T; SM106:2, 714:T

Evil influences will be let loose for a season. R4882:1

The Mediator will step from between God and man, and divine tests will be applied to prove, to demonstrate the heart-faithful. R4704:5

Little season -- At the end of the thousand years of Christ's reign the whole world will be turned over to the Father. Satan will then have the power to tempt mankind as he tempted mother Eve. R4986:1, 5253:6, 5182:5, 4903:1, 4882:1, 4704:5, 4575:6; Q423:3

In the end of the thousand years, when Christ has completed his work of restitution the final test must be applied to each individual for continued existence throughout the ages of glory. R1234:1

For a time. SM94:T

Nine years--2874 AD to 2883 AD. R3579:5*

Roman Catholic theory all along has claimed that Napoleon's triumph began this "little season." R1969:4, 1770:2, 1002:2; B354; C57; Dvi; HG270:2; OV271:1

The present period of progress and civilization under Protestant influences being recognized by them as the "little season" in which the devil is loosed in the form of Protestantism. R1770:2, 1002:2, 305:4, 54:4; B354; C57; HG689:4

In old editions of the Douay Bible this explanation is given in the footnote comments on the passage. HG689:4

Starting with the overthrow of Papacy's dominion in 1798 AD. R54:4

Revelation 20:4

I saw thrones -- The thrones of the present dominion of earth will be "cast down," and the dominion transferred to the great Prophet, Priest, King and Judge "whose right it is." (Ezek. 21:27) R2609:1

The thrones are those of earthly kingdoms at the present time. These are all condemned as unfit, and are to be overthrown, to give place to the Kingdom of Christ. R331:3

And they sat upon them -- The position on the throne and the glory are associated (Matt. 25:31-40), hence this takes place when the Temple is glorified. (Rev. 15:8) This harmonizes with the point where Aaron changes his position in the type. R171:4*

The Great Company will stand before the throne, with palm branches in their hands, instead of sitting in the throne, wearing crowns. (Rev. 7:9-17) SM362:T

And judgment -- Rotherham--judicial sentence. The Greek word rendered judgment here is rendered condemnation in Luke 23:40; Jas. 3:1; Jude 4. R331:3

Unto them -- To the saints, with the Lord, in the time of the blessing of the world. HG148:6

The souls -- Persons. R2844:3, 331:3

Beheaded -- All, to be acceptable as members of the figurative Body of Christ, must be will-less, headless. R2845:1; Q190:2 Cut off from church heads. R331:4

The Apostle declared, "I die daily." (1 Cor. 15:31) All who will constitute the elect overcoming Church must die thus. R2416:6

Few of the Lord's apostles were literally beheaded and few of the saints died by decapitation. This is, therefore, a figure of speech. R2844:3

The faithful of today are not literally beheaded, but it is still true that the wicked shoot out arrows at the righteous, "even bitter words." (Psa. 64:3) R2109:6

Neither our Lord nor the apostles were literally beheaded. It signifies that all must suffer earthly disadvantages, and lay down their lives in the service and defense of the truth. R2007:4, 2416:6

Killed, as illustrated in a cartoon, with stones of Hate, Revenge, Persecution, Malice, Scandal and Ridicule. R2282:1

To suppress all literature antagonistic to church-state union is to symbolically be beheaded--like John the Baptist--for pointing out the wrong of the professed bride of Christ being united to the world. R2091:3

Only those who fall as dead before the Lord (Rev. 1:17), who recognize their own nothingness, who lose their own wills, accepting the will of the Lord instead, are ever able to receive his message. R2827:4

Each "soul" (individual) must be beheaded for himself, and must be individually united to Christ, the Head of the Church. R2845:5

We often think of this when we hear well-meaning Christian people say, "I have a mind of my own, I do my own thinking." R2845:1

It is certainly better that one should do his own thinking than that he should let another man or another woman do it for him. R2845:1

The Lord is not the head of human institutions, which call themselves his bodies. R2845:2, 2700:6

Let us ask ourselves: (1) Have I given up my own self-will? (2) If I have, do whom did I give it? (3) Am I ignoring all other contrary heads and authorities to be taught of the Lord? (4) Am I fully content to be thus cut off from others, or am I, so to speak, a double-headed man? (5) Or have I parts of three heads--some of my own head, some of the head of Christ, and some of a sectarian man-made head. R2845:6, 2700:6

In the type the beheading of the underpriests was fully illustrated in the fact that the underpriests were required to wear "bonnets," while the high priest alone was without the bonnet and wore the miter. R2845:3

The Christian way of this Gospel age is not merely the way of morality, temperance, moderation and wisdom; but the "narrow way" of self-denial and self-sacrifice. R2074:4

For the witness of Jesus -- Any one who will "witness for Jesus" as the only Head in the Church. R331:4

"The testimony of Jesus is the spirit of prophecy," and it will be fidelity to this spirit of truth that will work upon us to effect the change from our own wills to the will of Christ. R2845:5

The word of God -- As the only standard of doctrine. R331:4

The Spirit of Christ works in us in conjunction with the Word of God. R2845:5

Had not worshipped -- By coming out of Babylon in harmony with the command, they are but proving themselves overcomers of the "Beast and his Image." R878:5

"To him that overcometh will I grant to sit with me in my throne, even as I also overcame and am set down with my Father in his throne." (Rev. 3:21)

R281:3, 255:6, A91

An important part of the overcoming expected of us is to get free from the binding and blinding influences of these systems. R513:5

We fight not with flesh and blood, but with gigantic systems of error, with spiritual wickedness in exalted positions, against falsities honored by time and wealth and earthly learning. R377:6

The time is hastening on when a religious, social, political and financial "boycott" will be waged against all who will refuse to worship either the "Beast" or his Protestant "Image." R1766:2

All who will not bow to the decrees of the Evangelical Alliance shall be esteemed as heretics, shunned and cast out by all who are orthodox. R322:3

Worship of this symbolic Beast and his Image--powerfully influential religious systems--is to be a great test or trial upon professing Christians in every province of symbolic Babylon in the end of this age. R2495:6

It was to give us the opportunity of overcoming, that God has permitted this great Babylon, anti-Christ system, to gain such influence in the world. R694:5

The very unfavorableness of the arrangement of mechanical Christian union will serve to prove, test and make ready the Lord's people. R1818:1

To these martyrs the sufferings brought polishings of character, testings of faith, divine approval and an increased glory on the spirit plane as members of the Bride of Christ. OV346:3

You and I cannot hope to stem the current and to prevent what is coming--but we can be overcomers and get the victory over these errors. R1138:5

The Great Company do not overcome the Beast, Image and mark, but are subject to their power, until the Beast, etc., is overthrown in the time of trouble already commenced. R152:3

Mr. Karmarkar, a Hindu convert to Protestantism, was the only Protestant at a Christian Endeavor convention who neither feared, sympathized with, or worshipped the Beast. [Comments quoted] D263

One-third, or possibly one-half of those receiving the light of Present Truth since 1881 AD. R2942:6

The beast -- The mother system and her daughters, still blind, are ready still to persecute and behead, though in a more refined manner. D52

Received his mark -- Nor the number of his name. R355:2

And they -- The glorified Church, the Kingdom class. R2833:5

And reigned -- The rulership of earth is handed over to the saints. R701:1

Invisible to the world, these with their Lord and Head will set up the Kingdom of God, the Messianic Kingdom. NS830:4

In the judgment of the world, the saints, whose judgment is successfully completed in this age, take part. R569:4

Their reigning, their power and their control in the world's affairs will not come until they shall have experienced the resurrection change and Messiah's Kingdom shall be fully inaugurated. R5692:2

Not until the elect have been glorified will the ransom-price be formally delivered over to justice. Then Adam and his race will be immediately transferred by the Father to the Son that his Millennial Kingdom may begin. Civ

Since it requires the whole Gospel age to predetermine who shall reign with Christ, it must be manifest that the world's trial-day cannot come until after the Church's judgment is completed. NS423:5

There was a time that we Christians tried to think the Church was reigning now, but we have come to see that we are not reigning at all. We are not intended to reign until the resurrection. CR227:1

The Kingdom cannot come until the Church has been completed. Not until then can "all the families of the earth be blest" with the promised Millennial blessings and opportunities. R1718:4

The great spiritual prize. R4807:3

Our Lord and his Church will be spirit beings, and their rule or dominion will be only through the earthly Kingdom class, their earthly representatives. OV45:2

Upon the ashes of the time of trouble Messiah's Kingdom will be established with full power and glory. PD92/107

"To him that overcometh will I give to sit with me in my throne." (Rev. 3:21) R531:5

"If we suffer with him, we shall also reign with him." (2 Tim. 2:12) R531:6

With Christ -- Joint-heirs in his Kingdom and in his inheritance in the Abrahamic Covenant. R2122:5

"He (the Christ, Head and Body) must reign till he has put all enemies under his feet." (1 Cor. 15:25) R654:6

There can be no Kingdom until the King comes. A288, 345

A thousand years -- To accomplish the complete victory over death and the grave will be the very object of the establishment of the Kingdom, and will require a thousand years. R3175:5

Bible chronology shows that six great thousand-year days beginning with Adam are ended, and that the great seventh day, the thousand years of Christ's reign, began in 1873. Bii

Since there are about 6000 years from the creation to the second coming of Christ, and 1000 years of Christ's presence, it follows that God's day of rest is about 7000 years long. Q759:2

The reign of the saints cannot be properly said to begin before all the "jewels" have been gathered, nor before the Times of the Gentiles end in 1914. R2740:1

Apparently the matter of when the thousand-year period should be reckoned as fully beginning and fully ending will be an open question until the close of the Millennial age. R2739:3

The Millennium is viewed as beginning with the end of the Gentile Times, October 1914. Another Scriptural standpoint takes 1874 AD for the date of the Millennium, as shown by the Jubilee cycles and various other prophecies. [Describing two of four diagrams of the plan of God.] R3460:4* Agreeing with Peter's explanation that a day with the Lord is as a thousand years with men, and a thousand years with men as one day with the Lord. (2 Pet. 3:8) R568:6

This same period is elsewhere called "the day of Christ," the epoch during which The Christ shall hold the sway of earth. OV44:2

Nor is it said that their reign will be no longer than a thousand years.

It will evidently continue long enough after the thousand years to destroy all found unworthy in the final test. R2740:1

How fitting, six days of evil and degradation, and one day of restitution. R763:6

In that thousand years all evil and every enemy of righteousness shall be destroyed--even death [Adamic] the great enemy. R382:4

Refuting the claim that the work of reform will continue in to the ages to follow. R1442:6, 763:6

We know not how many ages may be in "The World to Come," but there is more than one. The first alone is dealt with in Scripture--the Millennial age.

R532:4, 256:6, 22:1:*, 5:4

Millennium, signifying a thousand years, is by common consent used as the name for this period. A73; HG540:3

Papacy claims that when exalted to power it did put down all enemies and that for a thousand years it did reign over the kingdoms of earth--from AD 792 to 1792. R305:3, 54:4; B353; C57; CR493:2; HG270:2; 689:1

From 799 AD to 1799 AD. Dvi; OV271:T

The date for the onset of the Papal Millennium is clearly set in history--the coronation of Charlemagne as Emperor of the West by Pope Leo in AD 800. B354

Pagan Rome ended and Papal Rome began in AD 756. HG689:5

Only such as see in Papacy Satan's counterfeit of the true Christ, and who recognize the true Church and the true reign, can fully appreciate this.

Revelation 20:5

But the -- This brings us to the time when the first resurrection is complete. Then the general resurrection of the dead and dying world will begin. R1106:4

Scholars are agreed that this text is an interpolation. A288; R5079:4, 3487:2, 1537:1, 1236:6*, 501:2, 331:4, 278:2, 207:2, 194:6, 62:5, 33:4; F721; HG320:6; NS355:1; Q201:T, 594:6

Probably crept into the text by accident in the fifth century; at first a marginal comment made by a reader expressive of his thought, later copied into the text by transcribers who failed to distinguish between the text and the comment. R909:2, 501:6, 62:6; A288; HG320:6; NS355:2

It is not found in any manuscripts older than the seventh century. NS355:2

Not found in any Greek manuscript of earlier date than the fifth century.

Nor is it found in the ancient Syriac. R1772:6, 1105:2, 501:3, 278:4

The Syriac-Peshito, the mother tongue of Jesus and the apostles, written in the first or second century and is older than any Greek manuscript extant, also repudiates this clause. R366:4

It is wanting, too, in the Vatican No. 1160, a manuscript of special clearness and harmony with the most ancient ones. R501:3, 366:4; A288; HG320:6

There are but two known copies of the New Testament, in Greek, ante-dating the fifth century--the Sinaitic and Vatican manuscripts--both dated about AD 350. R1108:3

The Sinaitic Codex was probably made AD 331-350. R365:3*

Vatican manuscript 1209 is very accurate, but is no authority here because it is incomplete, lacking Hebrews from 9:15 as well as all of Timothy, Titus, Philemon and Revelation. R1108:5, 366:1

The Alexandrine manuscript, written about AD 450, has the text, and merely omits the words "but" and "again." R365:3*

We regret that the Variorum Bible fails to show that the Sinaitic manuscript does not contain the clause in question. R501:5

Regrettably included in the Revised Version. R248:3

The Diaglott is compared with the Vatican 1209, but for Revelation its author chose the Vatican 1160 of the eleventh century, not the Alexandrine. R366:1

At the time of its translation from the Latin "Vulgate" only eight Greek manuscripts were used, none older than the tenth century. Since then some 660 manuscripts have come to light, including two very ancient ones. R278:3

Not in the Coptic, nor many Greek manuscripts of later date, including such notably exact and careful manuscripts as the Codex Cantabuliensis of the seventh century and the Vatican 1160 of the eleventh century. R1210:1

Prof. Tischendorf, finder of the Sinaitic manuscript, while admitting that this clause is not found in it, thinks its omission accidental, a mere error of the scribe. We cannot agree. R501:3, 366:4

It is claimed that it is found in some of the early "Fathers," but we suggest that these writings of the "Fathers" are more liable to interpolations than the Scriptures. R1210:2

Rev. 22:18, 19 has always more or less deterred men from falsifying the canonical books. We believe few interpolations have been made intentionally, usually by copying a marginal note or comment into the text. R1210:2, 1118:3*

It is just as well not to refer too frequently to interpolations, because people have the idea that you are trying to dodge something. Where the passage fits as well as this does, I prefer to merely explain it. Q201:T
Leaving out these words, the remainder reads more smoothly than with them in. NS355:2

Rest of the dead -- The world at large. A289; R5079:4

Aside from those associated with Christ in the Kingdom at the beginning of the Millennium. R1772:6, 1106:4

Lived not again -- Will not regain the fullness of the life lost. A289; R5079:4

Adam was dying for 930 years. Similarly, when the reverse process shall begin, instead of dying for 930 years, he will be getting more alive for 930 years. Q200:4

Awakening, but not to full restitution to life in the perfect degree. F721
Perfect life without weakness or dying is the only sense in which God recognizes the word life. A289; R3026:3

It will not be until the thousand years are finished, that the race will have fully attained to the complete measure of life lost in Adam. R909:6, 501:6; A289

We all know what it is to be dying until totally dead; let us all learn that it means to reverse this order, when we speak of living until perfectly alive. R1105:6

In view of the full meaning of the word anastasis (resurrection) this clause, even if genuine, would be in harmony with our general teaching. R501:6; A289

The resurrection of humanity will be in process, but will not be complete, until the thousand years are ended. R360:5, 1118:2*

Then, having come to the condition of perfection, having received all that was lost, they will live again in the same sense that Father Adam lived before he transgressed. HG138:6

A true enough statement when life is properly understood to mean their perfection in life and their acceptance to eternal life by the Father at the close of the Millennium. R1772:6, 1106:4

To humanity the Millennial age is not the perfect, but the perfecting age, to be followed by that which is perfect. R331:6

The word life really signifies that perfect state of existence from which death and dying, sickness and pain, and all the elements of death and condemnation are excluded. R1105:3

The Body of Christ will be raised to perfection by a sudden resurrection change. The world in general are to stand trial and to get life step by step as a reward for obedience. R1210:5

We must remember that it is one thing to be legally, or officially dead, and another thing to be actually dead. R5079:4; Q594:6

There is no provision by which the world has a right to life. R5103:2

Mankind will all be awakened from the tomb, but we do not know what proportion of them will get everlasting life. R5103:2

"The wicked shall never see life," in this full sense (Psa. 49:19, 20)

though all the families of the earth shall be awakened and brought to full knowledge before being sentenced as "wicked." R1106:4

Thousand years -- The thousand years of restitution and blessing. A289

It will require the thousand years to build up character. HG148:6

Therefore the Church gets eternal life at least a thousand years before the world will be given the right to everlasting life. R5103:2

Were finished -- They will be made more and more alive, and less and less dead, as the thousand years progress. None will get the resurrection life until they are raised to the condition of perfection. R4989:6, 33:4;

Q200:5 This is -- Omitting the interpolated clause, this immediately follows the words: "They lived and reigned with Christ a thousand years."

R278:5, 194:6, 62:6

Revelation 20:6

Blessed and holy -- The resurrection of the blessed and holy. NS341:5

Showing the holiness, as well as the blessedness of all that reigning company. R331:5; NS395:5

Only this "blessed and holy" class have part in the resurrection of 1 Cor. 15:42-53. R2339:4, 4504:1; CR277:3; HG731:6; NS603:1, 642:5, 768:5

The blessings provided for these are not the earthly portion, but the heavenly portion. NS355:5

Represented by Elijah, the specially holy and specially blessed of the Lord will be caught up to spiritual power and glory. R1132:1

When Dorcas was dying she was surrounded by the loving hands of the Lord's people. And when she was restored to life, they were there to bid her welcome. How suggestive is this thought. R1451:4

He that hath part -- Our participation with our Lord in the glories of the Kingdom is dependent upon our faithfulness here in following him through evil report and through good report. R4966:6, 4677:4; CR130:1; 475:2

All this will come to you and me if we are faithful to doing the Lord's will to the extent of our ability. God never expects anybody to do beyond his ability. R5726:4

It is a grievous mistake to think that the first resurrection is to be attained merely by the doing of kind acts to either the worthy or the unworthy poor. R2700:6

Let us remember that though we are now part of the Church, we may never sit with him on this throne, unless we make our calling and election sure.

R570:5

"Those who have done good" of John 5:28, 29. R3026:3; CR278:4

The resurrection of the "good" includes the Church, Great Company and Ancient Worthies. Q219:2

Open to negroes, as well as to "Jew or Greek, bond or free, male or female." (Gal. 3:28) HG513:5

First resurrection -- Not only first in order of time, but first in the sense of chief. OV215:3; Q16:2

The first resurrection includes our Lord Jesus and all the overcomers of this Gospel age. It is the chief, the highest, the most desirable resurrection. R2051:2, 4823:1

First in importance, chief. R277:3, 205:6

The word in the original strictly means first in order or quality--first-class resurrection. Q219:2

Chief, or most important, resurrection. R5166:5, 5232:5, 5132:5, 4966:6, 4793:3, 4614:3, 1511:2, 1508:3; CR130:1, 227:2; OV346:3

Chief, in that it is a resurrection of perfection of being on the highest of all planes, the divine plane. NS534:3; OV356:4

The Scriptures seem to indicate that there will be several classes in the resurrection. This is one of them. R5166:5, 5017:5; F694

Thus termed because its rewards will be so far superior to the resurrection which will be granted to the remainder of the world. NS235:2

Both the raising of those who sleep in Jesus, and the changing of the living members into new conditions, as well as the resurrection of Jesus, together constitute the first (chief) anastasis. R361:5, 331:4

The first resurrection, in which the Bride only has part with her Lord, is different from the resurrection of the world. R4914:3, 5069:4, 3832:5, 3445:5, 3318:1, 1509:3; Q461:5

The Greek word anastasis here rendered resurrection signifies "a standing or raising up," true in both resurrections--both reach perfection, yet one is human and the other divine perfection. R331:6

The Greek word for "first"--protos--is translated "best" in Luke 15:22 and "chief" in a number of passages. R331:6

Here anastasis has the Greek article, showing emphasis and indicating that the first, or special resurrection, is surely meant. R1512:1, 4793:3

Christ's resurrection. R5711:1, 2194:6

To the perfection of the divine nature with its glory, honor and immortality. R4794:6, 5504:5, 5132:4; HG229:6; OV346:3

"His resurrection," the Christ resurrection, the resurrection to spirit conditions, which came first to our Lord Jesus, and in which all of his Body, his Bride, is to have a share. (Phil. 3:10) R2797:2, 4823:1, 4793:3, 1854:2, 1505:5; NS616:5

Flesh and blood cannot be a part of that Kingdom. Therefore they must all be changed. Q461:5

The overcomers are partakers of his resurrection. R3132:1

Shall the Head of The Christ, be born from the dead, and shall the Body also not be born? NS341:5

The Church will all be born in his spirit-likeness in the first resurrection. NS101:3

The Church is to be raised to the same nature and glory to which her Lord was raised. NS177:6

The first resurrection began with our Lord Jesus and is not yet completed. The faithful Bride shares in his glorious resurrection to the divine nature. R5179:5; HG229:5

This class will receive pre-eminence over all other classes in earth or in heaven. They receive glory, honor and immortality, and are exalted far above angels and granted the divine nature. R5711:1, 5132:4

The elect enter into the joys of glory, honor and immortality, not at death, but in the resurrection. CR21:4

The resurrection process for the Church begins with their consecration, when they are reckoned as dead with Christ, yea, also, as risen with him. HG229:6; NS326:3; SM598:1

Their resurrection and complete change of nature has already begun in them through the begetting of the holy Spirit. NS830:4; SM743:T

The Church class is now reckoned as "passed from death into life" figuratively, but the real passing into life will be at the close of this age, at the second coming of Christ. NS582:6

Represented by the Most Holy of the Tabernacle, beyond both veils--the fleshly mind and the fleshly body--possessing glorious spiritual bodies as well as spiritual minds. T21

The resurrection change will come in the twinkling of an eye and will, in the fullest sense, give life. Now we are looked upon as new creatures, having passed from under the death condemnation. R4840:2

Their salvation will be made actual when they shall share in Christ's resurrection, "the first resurrection." R4715:5

This mortal body is styled a tabernacle, rather than a temple. Our spiritual body will be the temple, but none can enter that perfect temple condition except by a share in the first resurrection. R5504:5

The birth of the new creature. We are not actually spirit beings until the resurrection, though from the time we receive the spirit of adoption we are reckoned as such. A197

The transformation of minds which they now experience through the begetting of the holy Spirit will result in a complete transformation, providing them with spirit bodies. NS768:6

The Church is spoken of as a class, all of whom will enter into glory together, at Christ's second coming, and not separately, as each may die. We shall have part in the one resurrection. R5132:4; CR244:5

Those in the first resurrection will live and reign with Christ a thousand years. Therefore those of the Great Company will have no part whatever in the first resurrection. Q308:4; R5116:6

"The gates of hell (hades [Greek] and sheol [Hebrew]) shall not prevail" against them. (Matt. 16:18) R5693:2

"All who are in the graves shall hear his voice, and shall come forth"--(John 5:25-29)--the Church first. R5612:5

The Church the first fruits. (1 Cor. 15:21-23) R5314:4, 5291:5

After Christ and his Little Flock have thus been resurrected as a first-fruits, the work of resurrecting men shall continue--every man in his own order. R1204:2; HG434:2

The Church of the first-borns pass into life in advance of the world.

PD67/79

The Bride and the Bridegroom must be perfected before the Kingdom can be established. R5069:4, 3175:5

There is also a glory of terrestrial, earthly nature, which is to be attained by natural man in the later resurrection. HG137:6; 299:5

The gathering into the heavenly garner (Matt. 13:30), the change from earthly to heavenly conditions. R5049:4, 4635:6

On the seventh thousand-year day "early in the morning." R2795:2

The Great Company class shall be sharers in a goodly resurrection, although not participants in the first resurrection. R5232:5, 5105:2

The resurrection referred to in Luke 20:33-36. R1509:6

"Power over the nations," or to reign over them, cannot be reasonably applied to the present life, since they who would overcome must do so by death in the service. A285

Represented by plane L on the Chart of the Ages. R5060:5

Death hath no power -- Immortality. R1642:5, 281:3, 194:5

"Neither can they die any more." (Luke 20:36) R194:5, 66:4*

The blotting out of their sins will be in death, because the Church will be awakened in the resurrection perfect. CR186:6

He, who in this present age, having died in Adam, is awakened of the Spirit and consecrates himself to death with Christ (this would be his second legal death) is not hurt of it. R528:1*

Others shall come forth to a resurrection over whom the second death may have power. Whether or not they will ever get altogether free from death will be determined by their conduct. R5612:5

They -- The elect 144,000. Q756:2

In and through the Church will come the blessing of Messiah's Kingdom for a thousand years unto every nation. R5314:6

All sharing in the first resurrection will reign with Christ a thousand years. R5179:5

Shall be priests -- Kings and priests--rulers and instructors. R1872:3, 331:5, 200:1

In typical Israel, the priestly office was kept distinctly separate from the kingly office, but in Christ the two offices combine, illustrated in the double office of Melchisedec. PD39/50

They are both. The two offices will be combined. HG178:6; 446:1

A Royal Priesthood, according to the order of Melchisedec. R405:4*

The priesthood of glory is not the Aaronic, but the Melchisedec priesthood, typifying the glorified Priest, Head and Body. HG263:3
It will be the Kingdom of the saints, in that they as "a Royal Priesthood" (Rev. 5:10) shall reign and judge and bless the world in conjunction with their Lord, Jesus. D618; R5406:3

As the work of a Priest is one of intercession and of instruction in righteousness, this clearly proves that the glorious work of evangelization will go on after the resurrection has taken place. R404:3*, 12:2*

The present mission of the Church is the perfecting of the saints for the future work of service; to prepare to be kings and priests in the next age. R5822:2

Who would be prepared to teach the world meekness, patience, brotherly kindness, long-suffering, love, without first of all developing these qualities of character in himself? NS745:1

Melchizedek represents our Lord, the Head, and the Church, his Body, the Royal Priest of the future. R4504:1

The Christian worthies shall be a Kingdom of Priests, a Royal Priesthood; while the Ancient Worthies shall be made "princes in all the earth." (Psa. 45:16) R5859:3

Kings and Priests unto God who shall reign to bind Satan's power and to open the eyes of those whom he has so long blinded and deceived. R1771:3, 1710:5

The Church, his Bride, with him in glory, and the blessings of the Millennium proceed from them. R5455:4

If we fail to be among the priests now, during the time of consecration, we cannot be of them when these same priests will have the title of King added and will rule and bless the nations. T47

"The anointing which ye have received of him abideth in you." (1 John 2:27) This oil began to reach the Body on the day of Pentecost, and flowed on down through the Gospel age. T38

The Great Company are not priests, but Levites. Q306:2

Of Christ -- Unto him and unto the Father. R4504:1

Reign with him -- To the Royal Priesthood, under Christ as King of kings and Priest of priests, shall be committed the full control of earth. R2490:5

The Body of Christ share in the Messianic reign. PD47/59

To bless the world by a righteous judgment. R2304:1

We shall rule as kings, even with a rod of iron; but the grand object will be to humble the nations, and so fit them for the reception of truth. R404:6*

The "time of trouble such as was not since there was a nation" (Dan. 12:1) will precede and prepare the way for Messiah's glorious rule of a thousand years. R5604:2

United, or married, to their Lord on the heavenly plane, they will be his joint-heirs, a Royal Priesthood, to reign with him a thousand years.

R5263:2

Soon it will be determined who will be of the Kingdom class. HG667:5

A just, wise, paternal government, which will continue wholesome restraints and incentives, while at the same time protecting each class, is suggested nowhere except in the Bible. There it is accurately described and waits only the selection of God's Church. D425

When the election of the spiritual seed of Abraham shall be accomplished, this Gospel age will end. Then will be the Messianic age, in which Christ and the Church shall reign in spirit power. PD58/70

The reign of Christ will be such a thorough reign that all the members of his Body shall have some part in it. If the reign of Christ should begin today, the saints would be with him. Q118:3

The glorified members of the Church have not reigned at any time. Q117:7

Christ will reign during the Millennium, and we all know that Christ has not reigned yet. If Christ were reigning now, we would not have the great systems of evil in the earth. Q805:1

Surely after that first resurrection, the blessing of the world, the times of restitution of all things, will begin! R3832:5

Though the Lord returns in 1874, the Times of the Gentiles do not end until 1914, for he must test the living members of his Church, exalt them and associate them with himself in power. C128

If they will sit in his throne, they must suffer with him. If they suffer with him, they also share his glory. R4964:6

Teaching us to rule ourselves that we may know how to rule others. R405:4*

He is now about to take unto himself his great power, and shall reign until he hath put all enemies in subjection. (1 Cor. 15:25) R1681:5

In a parable, the Lord speaks of ruling over cities. Those who are the Lord's servants in this Gospel age, if they use their talents, shall in due time be associated in his Kingdom for the advancement of the world.

HG147:2

Flesh and blood cannot be a part of that Kingdom. Therefore they must all be changed. R4914:3

The only way in which the Kingdom of God yet exists is in its embryo condition, in its incipient stage of humiliation, in which it often

"suffers violence." R1351:6 In 1915 the Kingdom in its glory of power and righteousness will have come. The true Church will then be exalted to reign with Christ, and they shall reign with him a thousand years. R1908:3

Logically implying that there will be subjects to rule and learners to teach. R404:3*, 12:2*

In the counterfeit, as a pope would represent Christ, so bishops, cardinals, etc. could represent the saints of the first resurrection who share in Christ's Millennial reign. R1135:3

These are to reign on the earth (Rev. 5:10) over the world of mankind.

Q819:T

A thousand years -- The Millennial reign of Messiah, a time of blessing and uplifting mankind. NS733:2

The time when the Church will be reigning with Christ in his Kingdom glory will be the time of the world's regeneration--the Millennium. OV380:1

This will be the thousand years of Messiah's reign, the thousand years of the world's uplift, the thousand years in which Satan will be bound, the thousand years in which knowledge shall fill the whole earth, the thousand years in which the earth shall be brought to the Paradisiac condition.

R4973:5

The period of his second presence and work in the world. NS342:3

Another age of a thousand years is to follow this, and be the Kingdom age.

R2247:3

Chamber's Encyclopedia says: "In the first century of the church, Millenarianism was a widespread belief." R1093:4

Revelation 20:7

And when -- The order of events here are reversed from those given in the parable of the sheep and the goats in Matt. 25:34-46, here dealing with the goat class first. R2304:4

We give these texts less mention because we believe that no one whom we address will be there. R501:2

Are expired -- At the close of Messiah's reign. OV130:5

After the close of the Millennial age. R5776:5

At the end of the Millennium, the perfected race will be without any mediatorial interposition. OV13:3

Hence we see that sorrow and pain and death will still be known until the great Redeemer and Restorer has finished his great work of judging the redeemed world in righteousness. R1073:4

The turning over of everything to the Father (1 Cor. 15:28) will be before this little season. Q423:3

Satan -- That deceiving system (not specified as to kind, but merely called Satan, after its instigator.) R2609:5, 1040:5

Shall be loosed -- See comments on verse 3.

Revelation 20:8

Go out -- At the close of the Millennial age there will be a harvest time for sifting and separating the billions of human beings then living, similar to the present sifting of Babylon in this harvest time and to the sifting work in the Jewish harvest. D644

Then all, armed with complete knowledge and experience, and hence fully able to stand the test, will be tested severely (as was Adam), but individually. E402; R4882:1

Satan's ambition, even then, will lead to an attempt to establish some measure of authority and influence among men. R1687:1

He will soon see a new avenue to the success of his long-cherished ambition, and be inspired with a fresh hope that his original purpose may yet be accomplished. R1687:1

Deceive the nations -- When restored to perfect manhood at the close of the Millennium, the restored race will again have the choice of good or evil before them, and finally. R725:6

How? By God relaxing the rigor of the hitherto iron rule which made obedience to divine law obligatory. R1234:1

As evil will be bound by the infliction of punishment, it will be loosed by allowing evil deeds for a time to go unpunished. R332:1

The deception will not touch the question of right or wrong, but, like Eve's, a deception as to God's ability or willingness to execute the already declared penalty of sin. R1234:4

Eve willed sin, and only fear hindered. The deception merely removed the fear, and left the will free to act. R1234:5

As in the deception of Eve, theirs will not be an interference with their free will, but an aid to the manifestation of their real desires. R1234:6

Even as some now, they may presume upon the love of God or underrate his justice, and acting upon such presumption proceed to carry out their own will regardless of the counsel of the Lord. R1234:6, 893:4, 401:5*

By that time every one will know right from wrong. The test, therefore, will be to determine whether those who know right will practise wrong.

R5240:5, 5116:5, 2609:2

All that love unrighteousness will be deceived by Satan. R5294:1, 4986:1

To demonstrate to what extent the forced obedience of that age shall have rightly affected the hearts of those who experience its blessings.

R2833:2, 1219:1; D520

To demonstrate who are absolutely loyal at heart, and not merely obedient for the sake of policy. PD96/110

That it may be manifested whether their obedience results from a fear of the punishment of evil doing, or from a heart love of God, and a desire to do those things well pleasing to him. R332:1; E402

To test his creatures then thoroughly acquainted with both good and evil and the consequences of each, and to demonstrate to all his justice in destroying all who finally prefer evil. R893:3

A test so searching and thorough as to prove and make manifest the hearts of all to all. R1057:3

So thorough that, though they shall still be free moral agents, God is able to guarantee that thenceforth "there shall be no more sighing, no more crying, no more dying." (Rev. 21:4) OV131:T

By Satan conveying the idea that they can now disobey God with impunity. R1234:2

Mankind will at that time have reached perfection. R5182:6

God wishes those to have eternal life who can stand all kinds of tests and whose loyalty to him will be above the power of temptation. R4903:4

Mankind will then be like Adam. When he was perfect, God permitted him to be tested. And so the world of mankind will be permitted to be tempted by Satan. Q575:2; R4882:1; OV13:3, 305:T

The Lord will prove them, as he did father Adam and mother Eve, to demonstrate whether they are as loyal to him as they should be. R5240:5, 5182:5

True to his diabolical character, the great deceiver is specially busy now among the consecrated, as he will be with the world when loosed for a little season in the end of their judgment day. R401:3*

His object now, as it then will be, is to deceive those running for life, and if possible, to deprive them of it. R401:4*

God does not purpose to receive them everlastingly without a thorough test of their heart-reliance. R5116:5 Doubtless the temptation will again rest upon his old doctrine--that they shall not surely die, even if they do disobey and oppose the will of God. R1687:2, 1234:6, 401:4*

The nations, mankind, typified by Gershom, encamped at the rear of the Tabernacle. F129

The number of whom -- The number of all mankind. But that many will follow Satan's evil example and choose evil and disobedience we need not suppose. R2609:2, 1773:4, 1234:2, 1040:6, 893:3, 883:4; HG233:1; NS464:5; OV130:5

How many will prove unfaithful is not indicated. R4575:6

As the sand of the sea -- Innumerable. OV48:1

The world will then be very populous. R332:1

Revelation 20:9

And they went up -- The outward opposition of those at heart rebellious toward God. R1040:4

Man is not a mere machine, but is possessed of a free will and intelligence. In dealing with man individually, God therefore respects his endowment and acts accordingly. R1233:6

This shows the condition of many of the world at that time. Many of them will become restless. R4882:4

Those in whom the goodness of God has not wrought filial submission, but in whom pride has asserted itself, will be easily deceived. R1687:2

The close of the Millennium will not only find all men fully informed and outwardly obedient, but it will find some who have partially misused their opportunities, whose wills will not be fully submitted to the Lord's will. R2051:5

Not outward perfection merely, but inner perfection will be the test. So, too, Adam was perfect before his trial, but he had not developed a consecrated will fully submitted to the Lord. R1773:2

A conspiracy of self-will against agents of divine authority will be permitted. OV48:1

If, after being perfected, he again becomes defiled by willful sin, he must die, as shown typically by the penalty for touching unclean things. (Lev. 7:19-21) T98

And compassed -- Possibly the temptation will be the desire to take possession of the Kingdom before it is fully turned over to them. R4882:1 In rebelling against the earthly phase of Messiah's Kingdom they are rebelling against the Lord. R5182:6; OV305:3

The obscurity of the question as to when the thousand-year period would fully begin or fully end will have something to do with the final test of loyalty--be an important feature of their testing. R2739:3

They will think that the period of Christ's Mediatorial Kingdom ended before the Lord's time; and some, impatient, will make a demonstration, and demand of the earthly representatives that full dominion be at once restored to perfect men. R2739:6

The rebellious faction of mankind will protest against their faithful princes. We fancy that we hear them say, "It is time that this government was turned over to us." R5182:6, 4882:4

The experience with Satan will be a test of heart-reliance, of loyalty, in that God will apparently not be in control. R5116:5, 4882:1

Camp of the saints -- There will still be a distinction between the camp of the holy ones and mankind in general to show that even when man shall have reached perfection, the Ancient Worthies will still in some sense be separate and apart from the remainder of the perfect race. R4389:5, 4882:4, 3445:2

The term camp implies that theirs is only a temporary condition or arrangement, and that God has some better thing in store for them--the spirit nature. R5182:6, 4389:5

The beloved city -- The New Jerusalem, the Church in glory, not the Church in the flesh. The rebellion incited by Satan will be not only against the earthly princes, but also against The Christ. R5182:6

Fire -- Judgments. R4986:1, 2739:6, 332:1; SM554:3

The fire is a symbol of destruction--everlasting destruction--the second death. R893:5

While the "fire" of this day will burn the "stubble" and "tares" quickly, the same fire of the Lord's anger will continue to burn throughout the entire Millennial age, even down to the end. R2544:1

Down from God -- Indicating a testing and punishing by divine justice. This would not be possible so long as the Mediatorial Kingdom held sway. R5253:6, 4704:5; Q425:T

I presume it will be the Lord Jesus who will have the supervision of the matter, and the destruction of Satan and the others. Q425:T

Throughout the Messianic age the world will be tried by The Christ. Even after passing that test, they will not receive the reward of everlasting life until God shall have proved them. R5080:3

When the Mediatorial work is completed, The Christ will step out from between the world and God, and mankind will be directly in the hands of Jehovah. CR486:1; Q423:3

A perfect man does not need a Mediator, any more than a perfect angel needs a Mediator, or any more than Adam needed a Mediator. Q424:T

The fact that the world is thus to be tried by both The Christ and God confirms the thought that God has a standard of character to be attained by all those who are loyal and obedient to him. R5080:3

The law which Jesus will enforce during the thousand years will be exactly the same law that God will enforce after the thousand years. Q424:T

The Mediatorial Kingdom at an end, the restored ones are tried by justice and the unworthy goats destroyed. R4538:4, 3433:3

Nevertheless, in all these things the Lord Jesus, and the Church, associated with him, will be the Father's agent. Q425:T

During the Millennial reign Christ will restore men to perfection, step by step, as under his judgment they are found worthy; until all shall be tested and the disobedient cut off from life. R1068:4

The glorified Church will not only "judge the world" during the Millennial age, but also judge and try the fallen angels during the same period.

R2646:4

Divine judgment. R5182:6

Devoured them -- No one ever knew of a preserving fire; and as fire never preserves, but always consumes, God uses it as a symbol of utter destruction. R2608:3, 1040:4, 876:1*; NS183:3

As many as are disobedient will be counted to have the spirit of the Adversary, and will be destroyed with him. Q187:T

Any who will not by the close of the Millennial age reach the proper condition will assuredly be amongst those who will die the second death. (See Matt. 25:46) R3605:2, 2739:6

Nothing can be accepted by the Lord as righteous that is in any degree in sympathy with sin. R3605:2, 4986:1; D645; NS70:4, 335:5

In the end of the Millennial age some will be destroyed in the second death because they have not improved the opportunities for such character development as would meet the divine requirements. R5925:4, 2739:6

Those whose wills are not fully submissive to the Lord will be ultimately destroyed, not preserved for torture. SM714:T, 546:1

All the way to the very last all who willfully oppose the Lord shall perish. R2980:2

All the willingly righteous shall have reached perfection, and all the unwilling shall have been destroyed. D654; E30

All who under that reign have not learned to love the right will be counted unworthy of lasting life will be cut off from among the people.

A303

Pride, and every other cause from which haughtiness and oppression could again spring forth will be entirely consumed by the great trouble and the after disciplines of the Millennial age--the last of which is described here. A320

They shall never awake from death to trouble the world again. R2608:6

This destruction is also pictured in the destruction of the goat class in the parable of the sheep and the goats (Matt. 25:31-46) R5925:4, 3528:4; NS183:6

Satan and all those who took the side of self-will. F619; OV305:4; SM546:2; Q425:T

They shall perish with Satan in the second death, as "his angels," messengers or servants. R2608:6, 893:5, 769:5; NS335:5; PD96/110

If they take their stand with Satan they will be destroyed from among the people and have no life rights. Q575:2

But then, unlike the present time, the sin of one will not be permitted to sink others as well as himself, but "the soul that sinneth it shall die." R37:5

He shall be called the "Prince of Peace" (Isa. 9:6) for his entire reign shall further the ends of righteousness and peace, even though to the very end there shall from time to time be destructions of the wicked. R2551:1 None remain to pass beyond into the perfect dispensation except those who, like the angels, having been tested, will be in no danger of falling, and will therefore die no more. (Luke 20:36) R3461:6

If permitted to go beyond into the full liberties of sons of God they would always be liable to sin and its consequences. R2739:6

All who will not conform willingly to the law of love to God and man will be counted enemies against God and against the law of the empire, and no longer coerced, but destroyed. R1057:2

Achan's course (Josh. 14:5-16) represented the rule of the Millennial age, when all who even secretly love evil will be made manifest and will be destroyed. R3091:2

Revelation 20:10

The devil -- Together with his angels, his messengers, all who follow his leading and his course. (Matt. 25:41) F619

Not Satan himself, but an evil system, a devilish power. Q831:2

Angelic spirits or men on his side, are reckoned to be his angels or messengers. HG329:4; 728:4

The system of error at the end of Millennial age, which will then manifest and lead to destruction the "goats." R1040:5

Was cast -- Into the same sort of trouble and destruction in the end of the Millennial age, as the Beast and false prophet systems are now being cast into, in the end of the Gospel age. R2609:5

This work will require the entire Millennium to accomplish. R2608:4

With reference to Satan, nothing is stated in Scripture to indicate a future trial. R696:6

Before their destruction comes they will have had the fullest opportunity to repent. Satan will have had the opportunities of seven thousand years and yet remain incorrigible--ample proof of his being established in sin. R1443:5

When good can no longer be served through his permitted existence. R725:3

Lake of fire -- The book of Revelation, all Christians admit, is a book of symbols. R2608:3, 1040:5, 726:4; NS855:3; Q225:5

More properly, the "abyss of fire and brimstone." NS309:1

Gehenna fire itself is a symbol of destruction, never a figure of preservation. NS309:1

And brimstone -- Intensifying the symbol of destruction. Burning brimstone, one of the most deadly elements known, is destructive to all forms of life. R2608:4, 382:4; NS183:3

Representing extinction of life. No life is proof against the fumes of brimstone. R332:1; NS309:1

Even today, if we were making symbols, we could think of nothing that would more thoroughly represent utter destruction of life and being than the figure which the Lord has here used. NS309:2

Where the beast -- The symbolism of the lake of fire is further shown by the fact that the symbolic Beast and the symbolic false prophet, and death and hell, as well as the Devil and his followers, are destroyed in it. R2608:4

Symbols representing false and beastly systems. If the Beast is not actual, so also with the "lake of fire and brimstone." Q831:2

Symbols of institutions now existing in the world. The same figure referred to in verse 4. HG162:6; Q225:5

The second destruction (or death) begins quite early with the false systems, but it will not reach the world of mankind, as individuals, until they have first had full trial. R2609:1

The systems which in the Gospel age deceived some. R893:6

And false prophet -- Another system of religion--not a man, not men, but a system. Q225:5

The great false systems which have long oppressed and misled nominal Christendom. R2608:6

The organizations or systems of error which together constitute Babylon. R2609:1

Are -- The trouble and judgment into which the Devil and those followers will be cast is of the same sort as that into which the symbolic Beast and false prophet are cast at the end of this Gospel age. R332:1

The Beast and prophet are symbols also of systems which will be cast into a great consuming trouble in the close of this Gospel age. R1040:5

Tormented -- Verse 9 tells of the destruction of the individuals who join with Satan. They are devoured or consumed in fire. This being the case, the torment here cannot refer to these human beings. R2609:5

As long as they last they will be tormented with financial, social and religious, difficulties and pains. Q831:2

If all the wicked are to be cast into a lake of fire, the Lord and the saints throughout all eternity would be doing nothing but hearing the groans of the damned. HG162:5

For ever and ever -- Greek, aionion, i.e., lasting. It will continue as long as they last, until they are utterly consumed. R2609:4, 1040:5; Q831:2
The lessons attendant upon the destruction of the systems of deception and error will be lastingly remembered. R894:1

More properly "unto" the ages of ages, or "until" the perfect ages are due. R332:2

Revelation 20:11

A great white throne -- The throne of justice, mercy and love. R2338:1, 4331:2

The throne of justice and impartiality. R2304:1

Equity; equitable judgment. HG149:1

A full, fair opportunity will be granted to every creature. NS70:1

The reign of righteousness, purity. R381:6, 332:2; E480; HG233:2; NS70:1, 855:3; OV41:4, 256:3

Purity, holiness, righteousness, justice, truth. SM694:3; OV256:3, 312:3

"He shall judge the world in righteousness by that man whom he hath ordained"--Christ and the saints. (Acts 17:31) HG233:2

The Millennial throne--the throne of Christ. R3433:3

Messiah's judgment throne. HG497:5; OV256:3, 311:5, 312:3

The Great white throne speaks blessings only to those who love righteousness and hate iniquity. SM696:1

See. Matt. 25:31. A345

Him that sat on it -- The Christ--primarily Jesus, the Head, but also the overcomers with him--yet all one. R332:2

The earth -- Society, as at present organized, is a series of layers, or strata, or classes, each holding its position by oppressing those below it. R332:3; OV312:3

And the heaven -- Spiritual control. Satan's control will cease, or pass away, gradually, because his binding, as shown by some prophecies, will not be fully accomplished for some 33 years. R332:4

The symbolic heavens and earth represent the old order of things, social and ecclesiastical. NS856:6; SM694:3; OV312:3

Fled away -- Vanish. NS856:6; SM694:3

From before, or at the presence of, this enthroned Christ, all forms of evil, oppression and injustice must flee. R332:2

Not that ecclesiastical, financial and political princes will voluntarily acknowledge that the hour has come for a full surrender to Messiah.

NS856:6; SM694:4

At the establishment of justice and right in the earth, the present (symbolic) heavens and earth flee away, giving place to new heavens (governments) and new earth (society.) R501:4

The ecclesiastical heavens and the social earth of the present will not stand in the presence of that August Tribunal. OV256:3, 312:3

Identifying the throne with the end of this age, and the opening of the Millennial age. OV41:4

As Peter tells us, present institutions shall "pass away with a great noise," and instead the Lord will reveal a new heavens and a new earth. OV41:4

Found no place -- Indicating that they will be driven from one place after another, but can remain nowhere. R332:2

Revelation 20:12

And -- Verses 12 and 13, with 21:3-7, indicate the blessed, favorable trial which all both dead and living (except the Church) will have. R893:2

I saw the dead -- The whole world. R3433:3, 332:5

The judgment will not merely test those living at the time of the establishment of the Kingdom, but will include all the dead. OV312:3

During the thousand years of Christ's reign. R2338:1; OV381:4

Small and great -- High and low--humble and proud. R332:4

God is no respecter of persons. NS857:5; SM694:4

Before God -- This is not in agreement with the reading of the oldest manuscripts, which have "before the throne." R3433:3

The world will be standing on judgment before the throne of Christ throughout the Millennial age in the same sense that the Church has been standing on judgment during this Gospel age. R3433:3

For trial; to determine whether or not they will come into fullest harmony with God. R4331:2

The books -- The books of the Old and New Testament. The Bible will be used in the future. R5804:1, 1903:3, 701:1, 501:4, 381:6; A345; HG149:1; OV41:6, 256:4

Not only the words of the Master and of the apostles of the New Testament, but also the divine message through the prophets of old. NS858:1

The Law and the prophets and the New Testament scriptures. R1753:3

The law of God as embodied in the holy Scriptures. R527:4*

The same law and the same understanding of the divine character that is now presented to you will then be presented to them. God changes not, his plain law changes not. HG233:2

Genesis, Exodus, Matthew, Mark, Luke, etc. R3433:4

"My word shall judge you in the last day"--the Millennial day. HG233:3; NS70:2, 857:6; OV41:5

It is by the Word of the Lord that we are judged, and not by the opinions or precedents of our fellowmen in any capacity. D66 How much we need to study and become familiar with "the books," according to which the judgment both now and then is to be given. R519:5*

Were opened -- Understood fully, clearly, and the great lessons therein taught shall be emphasized. R3433:4, 527:4*, 501:4; OV256:4, 312:4 Referring to the general unsealing of the knowledge of truth in that time, particularly of the books of the Bible. NS70:1

Filling the earth with the knowledge of the Lord. A345

None are now on trial to whom those books are not in some degree opened (understood). R332:6

So that "a wayfaring man, though a fool, shall not err therein." (Isa. 35:8) R501:4, 37:5

Even as the Church is now being judged. R1903:3

Implying that up to that time they were not opened. They are open now to God's people in a large measure, but we do not know these books shall be understood in every detail this side of the veil. R5804:1

The Bible is now a sealed book to the world, understood only by those who are his and by them because revealed to them through his Spirit. R3433:3

Another book -- In contrast with the book of life now opened. This book of life will be complete and no additions made to it after the close of this age, but another book of life will be opened for the world. R3433:5, 701:3, 501:4, 381:6, 333:1; NS70:3, 858:1; OV256:5, 312:4

The new book of life will be for those who will be on trial during the Millennial age. NS858:4

Was opened -- The records of the next age will not be opened until the end of that age, when those worthy of receiving back the dominion of earth, lost by Adam, will receive it. R333:1

The book of life -- A record of those worthy of life everlasting, for recording the names of those who then shall be the Lord's "sheep," or worthy. R701:1, 501:4, 381:6

All pledged to the Lord and his Kingdom of righteousness will have their names written in that book of life. To the very close of the Millennium they will not be blotted out, except through a direct violation of their contract. NS70:3; OV256:5, 312:5 The Bible mentions two books of life--one pertaining to the present time, and the other to the Millennial age. (See Rev. 3:5) R5377:3, 2677:5

And the dead -- The dead world--dead in the sense that God does not recognize them as having right to life, dead in the sense that they have not the Son. HG149:2

Were judged -- The Greek word krino here rendered judged, has the significance of tried or tested. R332:5

Tried, tested, proven, whether they will accept or refuse the perfection and eternal life which divine mercy will then make possible. HG497:5

Not while in the grave, but while on trial before the judgment throne. HG149:2

He who is unjust or unholy according to that law will forever stand so judged by it, until he becomes changed or restored in his nature. R527:4*
Being on as fair and full a trial as Adam, with greater experience, they will be as culpable as he, and as worthy of condemnation to death under the law. R912:6, 3730:1; NS335:3

For a thousand years the whole world of mankind shall be in judgment or trial for eternal life before the great white throne. E469

There could be no judgment without a trial, and there could be no trial without knowledge, hence all must be brought forth from the condition of death to be tried for life. HG514:3

Out of those things -- According to the law written in the book and according to their works. R2338:1; NS858:1

In the books -- The Scriptures--John 12:48. R2677:5, 332:6

The standards of justice for all mankind. NS858:1

According to their works -- Their judgment will be in harmony with the principles already enunciated in the Word of God, and the decision will be "according to their works"--not according to their faith, as it is with us in this Gospel age. R3580:2, 2677:5, 2304:2, 2195:4; F112; HG233:3; NS70:5, 858:4; OV256:4, 312:4; Q402:3

Backed by faith. F113; HG233:4

The great Mediator will accept imperfect works, according to ability; but as they rise up out of degradation, more and more will be required of them. Perfected in the end, absolute perfection of works will be required. NS858:4

By the end of the Millennial age perfect works will be possible to all who remain, and perfect works will be required of them. HG233:4

Revelation 20:13

And the sea -- The masses of mankind not under religious restraint. Mankind will be taken out from that condition and brought under the restraints of the white throne. When all are restrained there will be "no more sea." (Jude 13; James 1:6) R333:1 And death -- Those under sentence of death, who have not yet gone into the tomb. E379

And hell -- Sheol [Hebrew] and hades [Greek]; oblivion. E379

In the margin the translators have explained that the word "hell" means "grave." Reversely, in the margin opposite 1 Cor. 15:55, the translators have explained that "grave" means "hell." The terms are interchangeable, and the meaning is the same. HG735:4*

Delivered up the dead -- "All that are in the graves shall hear the voice of the Son of Man, and shall come forth." (John 5:28, 29) D640

They were judged -- During that age, or day. R333:1

The Millennial age is the day of judgment for the world, as the Gospel age is the day of judgment for the Church. E379; Q402:3

According to their works -- Advancing experience, increasing knowledge, and increasing strength, under the blessings of the Lord's Kingdom, will make possible increasing good works of obedience. R3433:4

The New Covenant has nothing whatever to do with justification by faith. Under it the glorified Christ will grant, not a reckoned restitution, but an actual one, through works which they will be assisted to perform.

R4474:3, 4342:4, 4331:2, 3433:4

A justification of works cooperating with faith. R3605:5

Revelation 20:14

Death -- Those under sentence of death, who have not yet gone into the tomb. E379

Adamic death (which claimed the whole race for the sin of their progenitor) shall be forever swallowed up. R2608:5

The result of the curse that came upon Adam. Q830:2

"Death and hell" is used several times in the Revelation as expressive of the first death. R894:1

The same as that described in the 13th verse. E380

Not the second death, but the Adamic death, which Christ came to destroy by liberating all its subjects. R1592:5, 769:5

And hell -- Greek, hades, the grave. R2608:4, 2601:1, 894:1; Q830:2

Oblivion. E379

Hades [Greek] and sheol [Hebrew]--the dark, secret condition, the grave, which in the present time speaks to us of a hope of future life by God's resurrection power in Christ--shall be no more. R2608:5, 894:1; OV363:2

Hades, the prison, the tomb. R894:1

The tomb will be no more, and the Adamic death will be no more. R333:2

Called a great prison, because those who enter it, though actually extinct, are reckoned as not extinct, but merely confined for a time.

R894:1

The grave is really a symbol of hope; for we would not speak of it as a prison house were it not for our hopes of resurrection. R894:2

Hades is never associated with the second death, because those who go into the second death are in no sense "prisoners of hope;" they are utterly destroyed. R894:4

"The last enemy that shall be destroyed is death." (1 Cor. 15:26) R2601:1, 1592:5, 1443:5

Were cast -- The first death and the hopes of resurrection will pass away, or be utterly destroyed, in the second death. R894:2

The two deaths are not the same--one is cast into and destroyed in the other. R769:5

Merely another way of explaining to us that Adamic death, and the grave connected therewith, will be superseded by the second death. HG497:6

Signifying their destruction, or termination. "There shall be no more death." (Rev. 21:4) Q827:2

When the last one has been delivered from the power of Adamic death and the tomb, then the lake of fire [the judgment] will have destroyed death. R382:1

The destruction of the first death and hades commences with the beginning of the Millennial reign and continues to its close. R894:4

The casting of death and the grave into destruction during the Millennial age is a part of the second destruction which will include every improper, injurious and useless thing. R894:4

When full opportunity is offered to each individual, although Adamic weaknesses shall be upon them, their death will not be counted as being a part of Adamic death, but as being a part of the second death because their failure to make progress will be the result of their own willfulness, and not that of Adam. E380

As in Jericho--trumpets were blown for six days and the city fell on the seventh; so the Bible message has foretold the destruction of evil during the Millennium for six thousand years. R5344:1

Lake of fire -- Referring to fires kept burning in the Valley of Hinnom (Gehenna) for the destruction of offal and the prevention of contagion. Into this fire the carcasses of malicious evildoers might be thrown for destruction. It thus symbolized the second death. R4559:1, 2609:3, 2601:2, 2051:5; HG617:1

The lake of fire is just as symbolical as the beasts are. Jesus explains this particular symbol and says: "The lake of fire is the second death." HG165:3

A symbol of destruction. R4627:3, 2601:1, 894:1

The lake of fire (Gehenna) represents utter destruction, the second death, which shall utterly destroy all evil things. E380

"Prepared for the devil and his angels"--messengers or servants. (Matt. 25:41) R3084:1, 2607:6

It is remarkable in our day, when anti-cruelty sentiments prevail and the cruelties of the Dark Ages are generally condemned, that the creeds still have their votaries who somehow consider that they honor God in ascribing to him a character of cruelty. R3242:5

Not the same as Tartarus. HG725:1

Second death -- Annihilation. Q831:2

In contradistinction to the first or Adamic death, and not to signify that everything which goes into it dies a second time--death, hades, "the beast," and "the false prophet" will never have been destroyed before. R2608:4

The difference between the two deaths is that the latter will know no revocation--there will be no redemption from it and no resurrection. Q831:T; R5057:5, 4999:6, 4965:4; SM554:3

Death is the wages of sin. The first, the wages of Adam's sin; the second death, the wages of their own, and not of Adam's sin. R381:1; NS285:1

Nowhere denominated an enemy, but the friend of God--his servant, to "destroy those who (would) corrupt the earth." (Rev. 11:18) R3175:6, 3175:6

There seems no reasonable question as to whether or not the second death means future life or annihilation. The word death itself stands for the opposite of life. HG356:4

Second death will never be destroyed. R894:4, 381:4

Adamic death is called a "sleep." No such symbol is used in reference to the second death. R2608:5, 381:3

But one full individual trial is provided. But one ransom will ever be given. Christ dieth no more. A242

Without hope. NS858:1; R5057:5; OV42:1

Since "Christ dieth no more" (Rom. 6:9), it follows that not one of such condemned ones can be redeemed or ransomed as Adam was. R912:6, 381:4; A144; HG162:3

Jesus ransomed no one from the second death; the ransom he gave was in settlement of the first or Adamic death only. R763:6

The wages or punishment of sin being death, the hopelessness of any rescue or further redemption from death, makes that death an everlasting punishment. R2304:6, 1180:1

A destruction which will never be terminated by a resurrection.

R1882:4, 528:1*, 276:4; HG334:6

The first death terminates the first life. The second death ends the second life. If no resurrection follows, it becomes as absolute a termination to life as the first death would have been under similar circumstances. R1450:1*

Our first parents had the cheering word from love upon which faith could fasten and hope subsist; but here we search in vain for words from God, for faith and hope. R1450:4*

If there is to be a second, it implies that there has been a first. Not only so, but the second must be like or similar to the first, or it would not be a second. R381:1; NS309:4

The first death is recorded in the first part of the Bible. Second death is not once met with until the last part of the Bible is reached. This fact is highly suggestive. R1478:1*

Before there was any second death there was a second sin; before there was any second sin there was the second judgment; before there was any second judgment there was the second life. R1478:1*

None can come under the sentence of the second death, pictured by Gehenna, until he has first gotten out from under the sentence of the first death, Adamic death. NS309:5

Nowhere is second death applied to symbols or systems. R381:5

If systems die a second death, it would prove that such systems once existed, died, revived, and then died again. R381:5

Revelation 20:15

Whosoever -- Even after a hundred years, they will be but partly developed; but their willful rejection is reckoned the same as though they had reached perfection, and then rebelled against God's laws and arrangements. R1261:6

Not found written -- Those who will not come into harmony with the law of love, which is the opposite of all the works of the Devil, will be counted as servants of sin and of Satan. R4217:5

Such as willfully spurn God's favor when able to avoid it, are fit subjects for destruction--the second death. R912:2

The willfully wicked and not the merely ignorant, mislead, blinded or deceived. HG329:4; 728:4

Including "whosoever loveth and maketh a lie." (Rev. 22:15) R477:4

Proved by a trial to still love sin, notwithstanding all their knowledge and experience with it--it's cost, etc. R1073:4

Accounted as the Lord's opponents. E480; HG233:1; NS335:5

At the close of the Millennium none will be servants of Satan ignorantly or unwillingly, as so many now are. R1040:3 It will require all of the thousand years to demonstrate who are friends of truth and righteousness and who their enemies. R2736:6

No one shall be destroyed who is worthy of life, whose living longer would be a blessing to himself or to others in harmony with righteousness. R893:3

"All the wicked (willfully so) will he (God) destroy." (Psa. 145:20) "The wicked shall be [re]turned (Hebrew, shub, turned back, returned) into hell (Greek, sheol--hence, second death)." (Psa. 9:17) R769:5

In the book of life -- The conditions will be their coming into full harmony with the Kingdom and its laws of love to God and men. R219:4

Were cast into -- God seeketh not to bend the unwilling, but is pleased to receive and help and restore the willing ones. Neither will God destroy the wills of the unwilling and make them mere machines. R1176:3

There is no intimation that God will ever compel any one to accept of the gift of life everlasting. R890:6

The lake of fire -- Symbolic. R912:4

Here, as everywhere, being used as a symbol of destruction, and the symbol being drawn from Gehenna, or Valley of Hinnom. R2601:3

In Gehenna, not torment, but annihilation, was taught. Nothing was tormented in the fire of the valley of Hinnom. HG653:6; OV363:1

The full penalty of God's law. R726:4

That evil may be rooted out and righteousness firmly and lastingly established in and through them that love it. R1108:5

There is absolutely no ground for believing for a probation for any beyond this time. R764:5

If our wayward loved ones are already in the "lake of fire" why do the Scriptures say, "The Lord knoweth how to reserve the unjust unto the day of judgment to be punished." (2 Pet. 2:9) HG347:4

Revelation 21

Revelation 21:1

And I saw -- The fifth [fourth--R501:4] view of the Kingdom (verses 1 through 8) represent the blessedness of the Millennial age. R397:5, 330:3
As Paul was given a glimpse of the next dispensation, or, as he calls it, "the world to come." (2 Cor. 12:2-4) A70; HG539:2

A new heaven -- Heavens are used symbolically as representing ecclesiastical or spiritual powers. Q231:3

Consisting of the new spiritual ruling powers of the future, Christ, and the glorified church, as the present heavens consist of the nominal religious systems which, claiming Christ for their head, in a very large degree bow to Antichrist, the god of this world. R2832:3, 6014:5, 4706:1;C258

The spiritual dominion of Christ. R333:2

This will be the third heavens and third earth, differing from present conditions in that it will be righteous, whereas the present is unrighteous, imperfect. R2832:2; Q231:2

Not a new place of God's throne, but new conditions. Not another planet, but a new social order on this planet. R2832:3; Q231:2

It will be the same physical earth, the same rocks, the same matter will be here, the sky we now have will be here just the same as before the flood. Q231:2

Not new worlds, nor heavens ranged one above another. R2832:2

The third heaven and third earth--the final and perfect ones. R210:3*

A new earth -- The reconstructed condition of society. R333:2

Passed away -- All present institutions are to utterly perish in the great time of trouble with which this age is very shortly to end. R2832:3

The first passed away at the flood. The heavens and earth "which are now," the present order of things, are reserved of God to pass away with a great fire of trouble, revolution, etc. (2 Pet. 3:7) R2832:2

The Mediator will have effected his grand work of destroying sin and bringing in everlasting righteousness. NS359:2

If this were literal, it would be a contradiction of Eccl. 1:4 "the earth abideth forever." R716:1*

Although God's creatures will still be free moral agents, they will have been thoroughly tested. OV131:T

There was -- As a matter of course, there will be no more sea--people unrestrained. R333:2

No more sea -- The sea is a symbol of the masses of people in a restless and unstable anarchistic condition, just as the land represents the social order. R2832:3; D638; Q842:2

No more restless people, no more dissatisfaction, no more anarchists; everything will be reduced to law and order. R2832:4; Q232:T, 842:2

In the time of trouble, the sea and the waves will roar. (Luke 21:5-36) In Psa. 46:1-3, the kingdoms of earth will go down, overwhelmed by the symbolic sea, in an anarchistic storm. Q842:2

We are not wise enough to know whether or not this will have a literal fulfillment. Q842:3

Revelation 21:2

I John saw -- This glorious city will not be visible to the natural eye--neither Christ nor the saints in glory can be seen of men. Only those changed from human to spiritual nature see these matters in the full.

R2832:5

The holy city -- Government of God. R334:2, 2606:3; CR216:3

A "city" signifies a religious government backed by power and influence. D25; R3571:1; CR216:3; Q789:4

In Scripture a city represents a government. For instance, symbolic Babylon is denominated "that great city [government] which ruleth over the kings of the earth." (Rev. 17:18) R2832:4, 2606:3, 2231:1, 1352:5

In contrast, in Rev. 14:8 and 18:21 Babylon's unrighteous character is described, and its sudden and violent overthrow predicted. R1352:5

The symbol represents the established Kingdom of God. Q789:4

The city as a whole comprises all the saints, from our Lord, the Head, down to and including the last member of the Church, which is his Body.

R3570:6, 2231:1

The wilderness symbolizes disrespect, outcast condition. City represents the reverse--popularity, honor, dominion, kingdom. He takes the Church out of the wilderness into the city condition. R307:1

As "a city on a hill" which "cannot be hid;" (Matt. 5:14). This heavenly city "shall be established in the tops of the mountains, and shall be exalted above the hills, and all nations shall flow unto it." (Isa. 2:2)

R421:6, 338:2

This is the stone cut out of the mountains without hands (but by the power of God), and it will then have become a great mountain (Kingdom), filling the whole earth. (Dan. 2:34, 35) R2606:3, 654:5

New Jerusalem -- The Church in glory. R5189:5, 4387:5, 3571:3, 3496:5; CR216:3; OV36:1, 396:1; Q6:T

The Gospel Church in glory and Kingdom power, spiritual and invisible to men, yet all-powerful. C258

The symbol of the new Millennial government, the Church, the Bride united to her Lord. F209; R2832:4

The New Jerusalem and the new heavens are synonymous, signifying the new spiritual ruling power. C258

Stands for or represents in pictorial language the great salvation of all who will come into harmony with God through the merit of Christ's sacrifice. NS841:1

Thus Washington represents the United States government, Paris the French government, Rome the Italian, Berlin the German, London the British, etc.
R3571:1

Coming down -- Its descent to earth marks the fulfillment of that petition of our Lord's prayer which says, "Thy Kingdom come." C258
Our thought is that the Church will be very closely associated with the earth, just as Satan's kingdom is. Satan's seat of government is in Tartarus--the atmosphere. R5182:1

Though invisible to human eyes. R5182:1

It's coming will be gradual, not sudden. C258

Not until all the saints have been fitted and prepared for their places will this city descend to earth in power and come into possession or control the earth. R3571:1; SM441:1

It is already "coming down," coming into control, and as a result we see the preliminary steps leading to the re-establishment of the old Jerusalem. C258

During the time of trouble it will be coming down, and before the end of it, it will have touched the earth. R2606:3, 654:5, 219:3

"The manifestation of the sons of God." (Rom. 8:19) R56:2; SM143:2

From the commencement of the reign of Christ, the Kingdom of God will commence; it will continue to overthrow evil and establish right until, in the end of the time of trouble, it shall touch the earth. R219:3

From God -- It is not earth-born. It is not reared by men. It is spiritual in every sense of the word--of God and not of men. R2832:4
Perhaps it will be necessary for the new creation to be absent from the immediate presence of the Father, and approximate the earth. R5181:6

Out of heaven -- Whether the new creation are afar off, or on the earth, they will ever be of the spirit nature. R5181:6

Prepared -- The entire Gospel age has been the time for the preparation of this New Jerusalem. R3570:6

As a bride -- The Church in glory--beautiful, pure, gorgeous, resplendent. R3570:6, NS291:6

As his espoused, waiting for the marriage, that she may become the Bride. F363, NS291:6

The espoused virgin no more, because she will have passed from her espoused state into the more exalted one of the Bride, married or united to her Lord or Bridegroom. HG409:6

Implies its grandeur and beauty and perfection, as a bride's adornment on such an occasion is particular and elaborate to the last degree. R2832:4

His Church are called to the obtaining of the glory of their Lord, that they may be with him, as his Bride, and be like him, members of his glorious body. R5748:6

Let no one think from the figure that the Lord's intention is that his followers shall lose their personal identity and become merged in one person. NS291:4

Joint-heirs with Christ in his Kingdom of glory and in the work of blessing, judging and uplifting the world. NS340:2, 653:2; R2832:5; OV410:2; SM152:3

Counted as one and treated collectively. R1879:5

"If ye be Christ's (his Bride and joint-heir) then are ye Abraham's seed and heirs according to the (oath-bound) promise." (Gal. 3:29) NS291:3

In contradistinction to the saved of the world of mankind, who will be recognized as the children of Christ, and of whom he will be the "Everlasting Father." R2652:3; OV124:6

As a lesson of divine sovereignty, and in contradiction to all Evolution theories, God elected to call to this place of honor, not angels or cherubs, but some from among redeemed sinners. E395; R1879:4

This same figure is represented in the type of Isaac and Rebecca. F363; NS293:1

Revelation 21:3

Tabernacle -- God's dwelling, the glorified Church. T76; R2832:6
Dwelling. God will dwell in this glorious city. It will be his Temple.
Mankind will approach God as Israel approached the typical Tabernacle and Temple in their religious services. R2832:6

Messiah's Kingdom is called a Tabernacle because it is not to be a permanent or eternal condition of things. CR404:5

With men -- For a thousand years. CR404:5

Dwell with them -- He will pour out his Spirit upon all flesh. NS535:6

Be his people -- Shall become his people. T76

When the work of reconciliation is complete, God will recognize the world of mankind, and place his sanctuary among men. T76

All mankind will be treated from the standpoint of reconciliation, the propitiation price for the sins of the whole world being paid at Calvary. R2832:6

God's sons, earthly sons, as Adam before he sinned was an earthly son. (Luke 3:38; 1 Cor. 15:47, 48) R382:1

God himself -- While the Millennial Kingdom will be the Kingdom of God's dear Son, it will also be the Kingdom of God, because God's dear Son, and his joint-heir, the Church, will be in absolute accord with the Father. R2832:6

Be with them -- God, represented in his Church (The Christ, Head and Body) will dwell with men, mankind, during the Millennium. R2832:6

Revelation 21:4

And God shall -- During and as a result of Messiah's reign of a thousand years. R4980:2

Though it will be Christ and the Church who will be doing it, nevertheless, the Heavenly Father will be recognized as the first cause.

R2833:1, 5214:5

When mankind has been thoroughly submitted to the leveling processes of the great time of trouble, and has been humbled and made teachable by it, then the same wise Judge will turn to bless. R1869:3

God himself. It was God's plan from the very first. The Millennial work is still his. R333:3

Yet he will use agencies--Christ Jesus and his Bride. R333:3

Wipe away -- Through his various agencies and provinces. NS535:6

Implying a gradual work. Man will not be exempt from every weakness and trial and difficulty at the beginning. R2833:1, 333:4; T77

The tears will last so long as their cause--imperfection, pain, and death exists. R333:4

Wiping represents a gradual process, and sins and sorrows, pains and tears, are incidentals and concomitants of the death sentence. NS476:1, 801:5; PD48/59

Day by day the well-doer, walking on the highway of holiness, will be coming nearer to human perfection. HG616:3

All these blessings will result from the establishment of God's residence, or sanctuary, among men. T76

Other accounts show us unmistakably that there will be imperfections and chastisements and stripes throughout the age, while mankind is being lifted up. R2833:2

Christians are still praying for the blessed day of Messiah, for Satan's binding. Then blessings will displace sin, sorrow and pain. PD13/23

From the very beginning God foreknew all, and had planned the redemption of Adam, Eve and their children. To this end Jesus came and "died, the Just for the unjust." (1 Pet. 3:18) PD11/18

All tears -- Instead of groanings they may have joy and peace, through accepting the blessed arrangements of the New Covenant. R2129:4

From their eyes -- The marks of sin, not only in the deeds of mankind, but in the very facial expressions of all, will then be wiped out. NS476:1

Not only of the living world at the time, but also the blessing of the thousands of millions who have gone down into the tomb. NS567:6

There shall be -- In the ages of blessedness to follow the Millennial age. A73

No more death -- Not because the victors of the Millennial age will be crowned with immortality, but because they shall have formed characters in full accord with God and righteousness. E402; R1879:6

God will not awaken them now, because it would be to their disadvantage.

He will keep them in the sleep of death until the Kingdom of righteousness is thoroughly established. CR479:4

So long as divine condemnation, the curse, the sentence of death, rests against the world, it is evident that God is not yet reconciled to the world nor the world to him. R3707:4

The New Covenant provisions are the forgiveness of sins, the renewing of a right heart and a restitution of all that was lost through the original transgression and its curse. R3684:1 When the sufferings of the Body of Christ are ended, then will ensue the great work of filling the world ocean-deep with the knowledge of the Lord, and the blotting out of sins. R2000:3; SM544:1

The great mass of mankind will be brought forth that they may learn the ways of righteousness and in due time be lifted out of sin and death. SM544:1

The deliverance of the groaning creation is to be into the same glorious liberty that the sons of God will then be enjoying. R616:2*

The opening chapters of Genesis give the entrance of the curse of sin and death, and the last chapters of Revelation reveal the success of God's plan. R98:3

Now is the time to suffer and die. It cannot be done in the next age.

This is the age of sin and evil and crucifying; the next will be for glory and restitution. R131:3

Neither sorrow -- Not a stain of sin mars the harmony and peace of a perfect society; not a bitter thought, not an unkind look or word; love, welling up from every heart, meets a kindred response in every other heart, and benevolence marks every act. A192

Those who attain to life everlasting will attain bliss everlasting. There is no provision in God's great plan for an everlasting condition in woe, sorrow or pain or trouble. SM766:2

The result of the thousand years of that reign of righteousness will be the development of mankind as one holy nation or people, whose happiness will be complete and everlasting. R4768:5

How comparatively valueless would all the other features of blessing be, if sickness and pain and imperfection continued. R2580:6

As a consequence of sin and all who love sin being destroyed. NS645:6

His guarantee is that sin and sinners shall not go beyond the Millennium, to endanger the happiness, peace and blessedness of the great eternity beyond. D644; R4400:3

It is merciful on God's part to destroy the incorrigibly wicked because such characters, be they ever so few, would mar the enjoyment of those who do love peace and righteousness. R3083:6; D644

Sickness, sorrow and pain would not be proper for any who are God's people. The prevalence of these conditions attests the fact that God is dealing with the world as criminals under death sentence. OV377:5

The opportunity of manifesting a fullness of zeal for the service of God will not come to the sons of God in the next age. The sacrificing then will be at an end. R5250:5

All traces and marks of sin. R573:6

Sin and evil in their various forms. Q773:4

All the liberties and privileges proper to the sons of God. OV388:4

Any more pain -- The general healing of disease will doubtless be a prominent feature of Messiah's Kingdom--not only the ailments of the flesh, but also sin, disease and imperfection. R4979:5

We may reasonably assume that after perfection is reached there will be no more accidents, just as we have reason to suppose that in heaven there is no necessity for surgeons, doctors, ambulances, etc. R5031:3; Q6:T

Death conditions prevailing in the animal and vegetable world will bring no pain, neither sorrow, nor crying. R2640:6

The former things -- Former conditions. E30

The reign of Satan, sin and death. T76; R4973:2; CR116:2; OV147:1, 192:4, 351:3

The former things of sin and darkness. R3228:3, 4400:3

The former things of Adamic sin and its penalty and blight. R2690:2, 382:1; NS379:4, 519:5

No more sin, and none of the penalties for sin. R4794:1

All the things of sin, and whom have sympathy or love for sin. R2331:4

No sin, and hence none of its results. R769:6

The evil incurred through Adam's transgression. R587:5

Prisons, insane asylums, hospitals, doctors or cemeteries. OV373:3

To make doubly clear and to prove beyond question the end of evil and its train of pain, misery and death. R726:5

This will mean an end of famines, an end of pestilences, an end of storms and floods and droughts. R2076:2

Amongst these will be present misconceptions by which we are inclined to attribute to the lower animals human feelings and sentiments--some even carrying these mistaken notions to flowers. R2640:6

Are passed away -- There shall be no more discontent, no more unhappiness, and God's will shall be done in the Paradise of earth as it is done in heaven itself. NS523:5; R5776:5

Messiah's great work of redemption will obliterate unsatisfactory conditions from the earth. Their abolition will be the result of Jesus' Kingdom work of one thousand years. OV373:3

Put away legally by the "sacrifice of himself (Christ);" and put away in fact by his glorious reign. R587:6

The promise made to Abraham was that in his spiritual seed all mankind would receive the divine blessing--the rolling away of the curse of sin and death. R5273:4, 5531:1

From the very beginning of Messiah's reign, God's blessing will begin to come to the world; but the full blessing will not be here, and the curse not entirely removed until about the end of the Millennium. R5780:1, 5694:6, 4587:2, 2833:2

If there is to be a release from the second death, it must come after the Millennium. This would involve the thought of a continuance of sin, contrary to this promise. R1454:6

The intrusion of sin was not unforeseen by divine wisdom, and its permission for six thousand years has not in any degree altered the original divine purpose. R2397:6

"Transitory" is written upon everything human. SM538:3

Revelation 21:5

He that sat -- Our Redeemer--Jesus, the great King of kings and Lord of lords. R4973:3

The throne -- Of earth's dominion. R2833:3

I make -- Millennial blessings are not coming to the world by a process of Evolution, but as a result of God's lifting the veil from our eyes and permitting us to see what to do and how to do it. OV384:3

Our great inventors acknowledge that their work is not so much the result of personal effort, but rather a kind of inspiration. OV384:4

It is the same respecting Bible study. It came, not by plodding study, but rather as an illumination of the mind by the holy Spirit, for God's due time had come. OV384:4

All things new -- A new heaven or spiritual power will have supervision of earth's affairs, and a new earth or social order will obtain amongst men. CR350:4, 406:1; Q580:2

Regeneration--that glorious moral, social, political, religious and physical change which will be introduced by the Messiah. (Matt. 19:28) Q822:3

It is the work of reconstruction, the time of Jubilee, the time of joy. NS433:4

The making over of mankind and the thorough reconstruction of all the affairs of man will require the entire Jubilee year or Millennial epoch. NS433:5; R5839:1

"I create new heavens and a new earth." (Isa. 65:17) R4411:1*; Q580:1

Some have realized the impending change, and have governed and taught accordingly. Others have invoked still further the powers of ignorance to continue the present order of things. OV386:4

It will mean more than the bringing back to a heart harmony--it will mean the taking away of the stony heart of the flesh. NS433:5

In this new dispensation the proud, the haughty, the unjust, will be much discredited. NS16:4

Not merely rocks and trees, but the great work which our Lord undertook--the regeneration of humanity. R2833:3

Paradise restored--not a garden merely, but the entire earth made beautiful, fruitful, sinless, happy. R5057:5, 4673:6

Paradise, the garden of God, was applicable as a name to the garden of Eden; and the same term is Scripturally applied to the new earth when restitution blessings are brought to perfection. R2832:1; SM130:3

Renew all things. This restitution of earth to its designed perfection typed in Eden delays until the coming of our Master as the King of Glory as soon as the elect Church has been found faithful. CR116:2
A clean world in which the unholy and abominable and all who love and make lies will have no place. R3083:6, 893:2, 382:4
The perfection originally possessed by Adam, which must have been in the man Jesus, will be found in all the restored race in the close of his glorious reign. R573:6
Included in the Lord's prayer--"as it is in heaven"--is the thought that when sin and death have been effaced, the world of mankind will be as happy in God's favor as are the angels now. R5379:4, 2832:4, 2253:1
We are living in the beginning of the New Era. Growing intelligence is bringing emancipation, and shortly the Messianic Kingdom will multiply the blessings and wipe out the curse. PD48/59
This topic of the Kingdom has not had sufficient consideration [in the International Sunday School Lessons], considering its prominence in the Bible--from Genesis to Revelation. R5048:3
We now taste and see that the Lord is good, but the fullness of his favor will be realized when he hath made all things new. R1117:2
Thus the Father committed the work of reconciliation of man to the Son, and will receive it back again under divine jurisdiction, when, through the Son, he shall have made all things new. R2434:6
These words are true -- This asseveration of truthfulness implies that present conditions seem so contrary to all this grand restitution outcome that it cannot be fully believed and trusted, except by those who walk with the Lord. R2833:3

And he said -- The Christ declares at the conclusion of the Millennial age. R2833:4

It is done -- My great contract is accomplished. R2833:4

Alpha and Omega -- The A and the Z. R2833:4, 333:4

The first and last of Jehovah's direct creation. R1278:3, 1060:4; 446:5*

Not only was the Logos the beginning, or Alpha--but he was also the last, the Omega of divine creation, the first and only begotten Son of Jehovah, given an exclusive place. R5351:3

Authentic here, though not found in the oldest Greek manuscripts and properly omitted in the Revised Version of Rev. 1:8. R3569:2

The beginning -- "He was the beginning of the creation of God." (Rev. 3:14) PD54/67

He it is who in all things has the pre-eminence in Jehovah's plan and work. R1278:3

That our Lord had a pre-existence we are most positively assured. R1161:4

And the end -- He is the beginner and finisher of its wondrous plan, though not its author. R1060:4

Him that is athirst -- "The table of the Lord" is spread for every one that is hungering and thirsting after righteousness. R1899:2
They must desire it and this desire must be manifested by obedience to the terms. R2833:4

Water of life -- Everlasting life; the privilege of perpetual existence. R2833:4

The Lord will pour out his Spirit upon all flesh, and the knowledge of the Lord shall cover the earth as the waters cover the great deep. (Isa. 11:9; Hab. 2:14) R4990:3

Revelation 21:7

He that overcometh -- Not the Bride class, selected during the Gospel age, but the sheep class of Matthews 25--during the Millennial age. R2833:5
The salvation made possible by the ransom-sacrifice is a new trial for life everlasting, the results of which are expressed in this and the following verse, as well as in John 3:36. R1598:4

Those who are worthy of the perfect human life then are called overcomers. R333:5

Inherit all things -- "Inherit these things"--the earthly Kingdom, just as the overcomers of this Gospel age inherit spiritual things. R333:5, 2833:5

They are not invited to inherit the Kingdom prepared for us; but they shall inherit the earth, the purchased possession. R2833:5

The spiritual seed of Abraham will not share the earthly inheritance with the fleshly seed. While the fleshly seed will sit, each man, under his own vine and fig tree, the spiritual seed will be reigning with Christ in glory. R4071:3

The Law of Primogeniture--the Church of the first-born is soon to have the entire inheritance, as well the land as the power and dominion, the glory and the honor. R1164:2

Let us call to mind our high calling to become his Bride, and as such to be joined in heirship with him whom God hath appointed to be heir of all things. R422:6

Revelation 21:8

But the fearful -- At the conclusion of the world's coming judgment. A144
The true character of the goat class is portrayed in this verse. R2609:4; A144

Such company would be repulsive to any honest, upright being. R2609:4, 1443:6

Unbelieving -- Those who will not trust God. R2609:4, 893:6

Abominable -- Who, knowing the truth, yet love unrighteousness. R2608:6
Who at heart are. R2609:1

Those who in spirit are. R1391:6

Murderers -- Brother-haters. R2609:4, 893:6

Not that a man who has once been a murderer might not reform and become a saint and an heir of the Kingdom. One murderer, guilty of the murder of Stephen, was Saul, who afterward became an Apostle. R4992:4

Sorcerers -- The instruction to Israel was very explicit, that they should not have any communion with those who work miracles by means of sorcery or incantations. R2172:1; HG726:1

Idolaters -- Such as misappropriate and misuse divine favors, who give to self or any other creature or thing that service and honor which belong to God. R2609:4, 893:6

Liars -- In a word, all who do not love the truth and seek it, and at any cost defend and hold it. R2609:4, 893:6

Shall have their part -- The two classes will have been completely separated--the obedient and the disobedient; those in harmony with the letter and spirit of God's law, and those out of harmony with it. A144 Such as willfully spurn God's favor and cling to sin when able to avoid it, are fit subjects for destruction--the second death. R912:2; OV362:5 That will not be a time for pardoning wicked men, but for pardoning those who desire to forsake their wicked ways and thoughts. R1364:3 Some, even after a hundred years will be but partially developed; but their willful rejection is reckoned as the same as though they had reached perfection, and then rebelled against God's laws. R1261:6

No one shall be destroyed who is worthy of life, whose living would be a blessing to himself or to others in harmony with righteousness. R893:3

None need suppose that God is too loving to cut some off in second death, or that if he did so, he would give them other and yet other chances. This would lead some to take advantage of God's grace and use it as a license for willful sin. R893:4, 382:4

The lake which burneth -- More properly the "abyss of fire and brimstone." NS309:1

Symbolic. R912:4; B153; NS309:1

Greek, gehenna, symbol of utter destruction. R2609:4, 893:3

The city was pictured by Jerusalem, and the "fire" by Gehenna. As the offal of the literal city was put in the Valley of Hinnom for destruction, so all the offal of the Millennial Kingdom will be destroyed, and be kept outside of the Golden Jerusalem. R4992:5, 2601:3; NS309:2, 841:1

As the literal Gehenna was not a place of torment or grief, but represented the utter destruction and hopelessness of those (already dead) cast into it, so must its antitype teach the same lesson. HG304:5

All those rejecting the ministries of reconciliation will have been cut off in the second death. NS359:5

God has determined to "make an end of sin and to bring in everlasting righteousness." (Dan. 9:24) R1364:3

"Everlasting fire prepared for the devil and his angels." (Matt. 25:41) R2607:6

Before their destruction comes the evildoers will have had fullest opportunity to repent. Satan will have had the opportunity of seven thousand years, and yet remain incorrigible, ample proof to all. R1443:6; B153

Being on as fair and full a trial as Adam was, and with greater experience, they will be as culpable as he, and as worthy of condemnation to death under the law. R912:6

The death which will come upon some for willful sins will not be an enemy in God's sight, not an enemy to those in harmony with God who will rejoice to see his will done in cleansing the universe. R1219:4

The trial being ended, the gift of life of which these shall have proved themselves unworthy, shall be taken from them. R2609:4

In the end of that age Satan is to be loosed for a little season for the final testing of mankind, and at its close he and those who follow his spirit and leadership shall be destroyed. R763:6

Then all the remainder he will present before the Father, perfect and unreprouvable. R1601:4

Fire and brimstone -- Fire is always a symbol of destruction, and when brimstone is added in the symbol, the destruction is intensified.

Brimstone is a most destructive agent against life in any form and degree. R912:4, 382:4; NS309:2

Even today, if we were making symbols, we could think of nothing that would more thoroughly, more completely represent utter destruction of life than the figure that the Lord has here used. NS309:2

Second death -- Literal. R912:4

Plainly stating the meaning of the symbol of the lake of fire and brimstone. NS841:4

The term "second death" is specific and cannot refer to a figurative use of the word death. R891:2

When anything is called a "second" it recognizes one, and only one preceding it, of the same kind. R891:2, 381:1

Neither an apple nor a pear would be a second peach; so the second death, like the first, must be a cessation of life or being. R381:1

As the first death terminates the first life, so the second death may terminate the second life. R1324:1

There is a radical difference between the law regulating the first death and that regulating the second. The first comes upon the entire human race, the second death will reach no man independent of his will. R1324:1

The first death must be abrogated or set aside in some manner, before the second death would be possible. R381:1

Before there was any second death there was the second sin; before there was any second sin there was the second judgment; before there was any second judgment there was the second life. R1478:1*

The second death is the second penalty, the result of failure during the second trial of the world, of a class not worthy of a place in the "book of life." R891:3

Every trial must reach a conclusion and have a sentence. The first trial, in Eden, ended with a sentence. The second trial is to have a sentence also. R891:6

Distinguishing it from the first sentence which came upon all men as the result of the first or representative trial. R891:6

The second trial is individually, and not representatively. R892:1, 381:2

If they then willfully sin, they will die for their own sin. (Jer. 31:30; Acts 3:23) R541:5*, 381:2

Death is the wages of sin. The first was the wages of Adam's sin. The second death will be the wages of their own, not Adam's sin. R381:1,2

The first, or Adamic death, is called a sleep because in due time all should be made alive. The second death is not a sleep, because there is no hope of resurrection from it. R381:3

From which there will be no redemption, no resurrection, no recovery. It is everlasting punishment, everlasting destruction--not everlasting torment. NS403:1

The second trial is final. A third trial is never suggested in Scripture; consequently there could not be a third death, and none is mentioned. R892:2; HG356:4

There seems no reasonable question as to whether or not second death means future life or annihilation. The word itself stands for the opposite of life. HG356:4

The first death is recorded in the first part of the Bible, and the second death is never once met with until the last part of the Bible is reached.

This fact is highly suggestive. R1478:1*

Second death will never be destroyed. R381:4

Since "Christ dieth no more," (Rom. 6:9) it follows that none one of such condemned ones can be redeemed or ransomed as Adam was. R912:6, 892:3, 381:4; OV362:5

Second death will receive the incorrigible at the close of the Millennium.

At that time Christ's Kingdom, the thousand year day of judgment, comes to an end. R1454:6, 4794:1; Bx

We make no claims of universal salvation, but distinctly speak of some who will die the second death. CR51:6; HG654:6

The term death signifies destruction, extinction. R891:3

The second destruction (or death) begins quite early in the new judgment--with the systems of error, But it does not reach men as individuals until they have first had full trial. R892:2

Nowhere is second death applied to symbols or systems. If systems are mentioned as dying a second death, it would prove that such systems had once existed, died, revived, and then died again. R381:5

The Bible plainly says that the devil and those following him shall be destroyed. R1648:4

This death is for their own sins, and is everlasting. R333:5

If any, enlightened by the truth, and restored (either actually or reckonedly) to human perfection, "draw back" they, with the unbelievers, will be destroyed. A107; HG344:5

Revelation 21:9

And there came -- The sixth [fifth--R501:4] view of the Kingdom (verses 9 through 27) show the glorified Church more especially. R397:5, 330:3

Full of -- In the Greek the word full is emphatic as if to call our attention to the matter. R113:2

The Temple is filled with glory just before the pouring out of the seven plagues. R169:5*

The seven last plagues -- If you examine closely it shows that we shall be taken up into the Mount or Kingdom before the seven last plagues are poured out on the world. R113:2

See comments on Rev. 15 and 16.

Come hither -- To a yet future standpoint, and see how the Bride will then appear. R1388:6

Let us endeavor to take God's standpoint of observation, to think as he thinks, and to act as he acts. R1211:6*

The bride -- This Bride is to be made up of a class, the elect overcomers of the Gospel age. When completed and glorified, the Bride will be the helpmeet of Christ, and will be to his honor and glory. Q803:1 She will not become the Bride of Christ until, at the time of the Bridegroom's presence, when the marriage of the Lamb shall take place, and the marriage supper shall follow. Q838:2

Let all who claim to be virgins, pure ones, be found of him in peace, seeking first the Kingdom and his righteousness, alert, watching for opportunities, and helping the Bride make herself ready. R5400:5

One of many titles for the Church, including: "joint-heirs," "living stones," "the Royal Priesthood" and "members in particular of the Body of Christ." R1855:1; NS332:1

Signifying the closest possible intimacy and union of these elect ones with the great King of glory. NS379:5

His associates in judging the world. NS393:5; SM15:T

Contrasted, in parallel columns, with the "great whore," Babylon the great of Rev. 17. R471:6

We know of his presence, not as men, recognizing a man, but as new creatures recognizing our Head, our Bridegroom. R454:4

The Lamb's wife -- No longer the espoused virgin. HG409:6; CR216:3

The Church, after her change, after the marriage has taken place. CR216:3; SM15:T

Eternally united to him. NS395:4

The Kingdom cannot come until the royal family is ready to take the throne. Then for a thousand years the restitution privileges will be open to the whole world of mankind. R5919:6

A wife shares her husband's honors and name; just as the Church bears the name of Christ as members of the Body of Christ--the name "Jehovah-Tsidkenu." (Jer. 23:5,6; 33:16) E42

The Scriptures further represent that the glorified Jesus, who is the heavenly Bridegroom, and the glorified Church, who is the heavenly Bride, will figuratively beget children. R4755:3; OV124:6

Jesus will be the Everlasting Father, and the Church will be the mother or caretaker of mankind to uplift, instruct and develop them in the ways of righteousness. R4755:3; OV125:T

Revelation 21:10

Carried me away -- To thus recognize it, we must get away from the world and its standpoint of view. R333:6

In the spirit -- Thus, it is evident that we should "spiritualize" this narrative. John viewed the wonders of this city in a spiritual sense, and not in a literal sense. Q789:4

Mentally. R1211:2*

By and by in person. R333:6

A great and high mountain -- The Church of translation must go up into the great Kingdom--enter into the joys of our Lord and be in his likeness before we can see as we are seen. The Bride can only be seen from the standpoint of the Kingdom. R113:1

Before he could see it, he had to go, in spirit, as high as possible above the earthly level. R333:5

And shewed me -- So we, the antitype, may now see the Kingdom of God coming. R333:5

All cannot see this Kingdom as already on its way to earth--"coming down." R333:6

That great city -- This is given to mark the change of the symbol from a bride to a city; just as elsewhere the figure was shown to change from "wheat" to "the sun." R1388:6

The city as a whole is called the Bride--and yet we see some members higher than others. There are superiors--rulers--in the city, but the city as a whole is a ruling power over the nations. R81:6*

There has been no occasion for the use of such a symbol during the Gospel age, because the Church has not been in ruling power; and when glorified with the Lord the figure of a virgin-bride waiting for full union with the Bridegroom will no longer be appropriate as now. R1388:6

Holy Jerusalem -- The Church in glory. R5002:6, 3570:6

The Sarah covenant is represented in "the exalted Jerusalem" whose offspring and heirs through Christ we already are. This is The government of which Jerusalem the literal was but an imperfect type. R1389:4

The center of God's blessing and instruction to all the families of the earth during the Millennium. R2987:2

See comments on Rev. 21:2.

Revelation 21:11

The glory of God -- Majesty and power. R333:6

Truly she is a glorious Bride--"without spot, or wrinkle, or any such thing." (Eph. 5:27) R1211:1*

The divine nature, of which she was promised to be made partaker with her Lord. R1210:6*

We may by faith behold her glory; but let us not forget that we have not yet proved our worthiness. R1211:2*

A jasper stone -- Supposedly the diamond. Being the most brilliant of all gems, it fittingly symbolizes the glory of God; the light (or source of light) of the New Jerusalem. R529:3*, 333:6

Revelation 21:12

A wall -- The walls are living stones, such as the Apostle Peter describes. (1 Pet. 2:5) R3570:6, 2832:5

Whose walls signify salvation, protection and blessing to all who enter. A295

"Walls of salvation." (Isa. 60:18) Protection and security abide in it. R333:6

Twelve angels -- Messengers. This would seem to teach that Israel will in due time be the messengers to communicate the love and knowledge of the Lord to all creatures. R334:

The twelve gates -- The Ancient Worthies from the various tribes of Israel will be the visible representatives of the heavenly Kingdom in earth, through whose instrumentality the nations may enter into the blessings of the Kingdom. R1353:1

Twelve foundations -- Foundation stones. R4992:5

"Thou art Peter [a stone], and upon this rock [this great truth which you have enunciated] I will build my church." (Matt. 16:18) R3789:2

Peter, petros, rock, signifies a larger stone than lithos, "living stones." All the apostles, as "foundation stones" would have a larger importance than their brethren. F221

Peter and the other apostles represented to us as foundation stones built upon this great truth, that Christ is the Redeemer, the Savior, the Messiah. R3789:2, 2656:6

The words of the apostles would be supervised by divine power. They still speak to us. We need no others. R5280:5

The most we have ever claimed for our own presentations, written or oral, is that they are in line with the words of the apostles, that they harmonize with them. R5280:6

All the faithful in Christ being built upon the foundation of the divine plan, and upon the testimony of these twelve apostles. R2656:6

The foundation which sustains the Church is destined ultimately to sustain the whole world. R1522:1

These foundation stones were not laid on the sand, but upon the sure and steadfast rock, Christ Jesus. (Matt. 7:25-27; 16:16-18; 1 Pet. 2:4-8)

R1522:1

The truth, thus divinely inspired and first announced by the apostles, even they themselves, had they fallen away, could not nullify. R1524:4

Although there were multitudes within the hearing of our Lord's voice, all of whom belonged to the typically consecrated nation, yet our Lord addressed himself specially to the twelve chosen disciples. R2589:1

The apostles occupied a special place in connection with his Kingdom, his Church, assigned to no others. R2820:1

Their decision would bind on earth the things bound in heaven, and loose on earth things loosed in God's sight. PD73/87

The declaration, "Whosoever sins ye remit they are remitted, and whosoever sins ye retain they are retained," (John 20:23; Matt. 18:18) is not applicable to all of the Church, but chiefly to the apostles. R2658:1

The death of James doubtless served to increase the appreciation of the people for the apostles, causing them to give more earnest heed to their teachings, and to realize how greatly the cause of the Lord had been made dependent upon them. R4347:4

While there is an inspiration of all the Lord's servants, yet such an inspiration should be distinguished from the special inspiration of the twelve apostles. R1149:1

If Paul's plain teachings belied the facts just once, it would be sufficient to shake and break all confidence in him as one inspired and infallibly guided, so that we might be sure in building upon the foundations of faith God provided through him. R1793:6

Whose foundations, laid in justice, can never be moved. A295

As foundations, they represent the whole Church. For this reason the terms "ye" and "you" addressed to them refer to the whole Church. R66:6*

Orders, titles, authorities and offices in the Christian church were not organized by the apostles or under their guidance. F203

The salvation walls rest securely on the finished redemption--the completed foundations as expressed by Jesus, the apostles, and prophets.

R333:6

Twelve apostles -- No more, no less. Any others were, as the Apostle Paul suggests, "false apostles." (2 Cor. 11:3) F209; CR216:4; Q812:T; SM461:2, 671:1

"And thou hast tried them that say they are apostles, and are not, and hast found them liars." (Rev. 2:2) SM670:1

The Lord chose but twelve apostles, and said nothing about any successors to them. R4165:1, 1149:1; NS657:5; OV410:2

He not only has never recognized others, but clearly indicates that he never will recognize others in that office. R1149:1

There were only to be twelve apostles, and they are promised [when the Kingdom takes possession of earth] twelve thrones. None but the twelve are to rule over the twelve tribes of Israel. R162:5

About the year 325 AD, the Bishops of the Church, misled by Satan, proclaimed themselves to be successors to the apostles in power and divine authority. SM549:3, 673:1

It is through some very serious blunder that our Roman Catholic, Church of England and Greek Catholic friends have bishops claiming to be apostolic bishops. OV410:3; Q521:2; SM550:T, 670:4

The error of supposing apostolic succession in the Church's bishops was a costly one. It led to many grievous errors. PD72/86; CR268:2

No man or congregation is competent to appoint or elect an Apostle. Q521:3

The Antioch Church did not ordain the Apostle Paul to be an Apostle, but ordained him to be their missionary. He accepted their ordination and rendered reports to them. (Acts 14:26-28) Q521:3

There is no room for any of us today to become apostles. There may not be opportunities for all of us to do great things in the Lord's service but there are opportunities for every one of us to be true yokefellows. R3128:1

The number of the apostles corresponded to the number of the sons of Jacob, the founders of the tribes of Israel. In one sense they stood for the entire Gospel Church, in another for the whole world. R1522:1; B246

The twelve apostles have no successors and need none. They are the "twelve stars," the crown of the Church. (Rev. 12:1) E207; CR78:5

How then could bishops either possess or give apostolic blessings? CR78:5; OV247:4

There is a difference between apostleship and discipleship. There are but "twelve apostles of the Lamb," but the number of disciples is considerably larger. R3308:5

No man or congregation is competent to appoint an apostle. That is a function of divine appointment only. The Lord Jesus appointed only twelve apostles, Paul taking the place of Judas. R5940:4, 5741:6, 732:6, 162:5; PD72/86; Q521:2; SM461:2

Which place the eleven had unauthorizedly conferred upon Matthias before their anointing with the holy Spirit at Pentecost. R1455:4

Assuring us that the courses of Paul and the other eleven apostles were successful ones. R1884:3, 1524:4, 1041:3

"Unlearned men" (Paul being the noted exception)--to demonstrate to all that the truth, as presented, was not of their concoction and elaboration. R2925:3

Revelation 21:16

Foursquare -- A cube, a perfect figure. This is another way of showing its perfection; it is perfect toward God, as well as toward earth. R333:6

Twelve thousand furlongs -- If reduced to miles, it measured 1,500 miles in length, and breadth, and height! Surely no such literal city will ever be established on this little globe of ours. Q790:T

21:18

Pure gold -- A divine institution. R1944:1

Revelation 21:21

Twelve gates -- To show Israel's position as channels, gateways, by which the world may approach to the heavenly government, and through which may come the blessings to mankind. R334:1

One pearl -- When we look at a pearl, we look at an annoyance which has been ennobled. The oyster by itself is of merely nominal value. But the result of the oyster's treatment of its irritation--the pearl--is something "of great price." R1756:2

Pure gold -- Divine untarnishing glory--the glory of God. R333:6
All of its highways are of divine appointment. R1944:1

Revelation 21:22

Are the temple -- The Lord Almighty and the Lamb will always be an inner Temple in the great Temple, which God has provided for the world's blessing during restitution times. R2834:1

The Tabernacle was pitched hither and thither in the "wilderness of sin" and had no continuing place. The Temple was permanently established, not only in Jerusalem, but in the top of the mountain. R172:1

The firmament inlaid with suns is the dome of the real cathedral. The interpreters of nature are the true and only priests. R1969:1*

Revelation 21:23

No need of the sun -- As in Rev. 12:1, the sun signifies the light of this Gospel age. R2833:6, 334:1

Neither of the moon -- The moon signifies the typically reflected light of the Gospel in the Law and the prophets of the previous dispensation. R2833:6

The Gospel reflection--the Mosaic Law. R334:1

Nothing in this statement indicates that the world will not have and need both sunlight and moonlight during the Millennial age and subsequently--"as long as the sun and moon endure." (Psa. 72:5) R2833:6

The glory of God -- The Church will be so filled with the glory of God that from her, as from the Sun of Righteousness, shall proceed the light of the glory of God. (Matt. 13:43; Mal. 4:2) R2833:6

To thus by faith behold afar off the blessed land of rest and peace, all radiant with the glory of the King in his beauty, the heart must be in sympathy with that glory and that beauty of holiness. R2087:6*

Did lighten it -- Now we know in part, and see as through a smoked glass dimly; then, we shall know even as we are known, being made perfect as divine beings, having the glory of God. R334:1

Lamb is the light -- The city was lighted by the Temple; for the Lord God Almighty and the Lamb are the Temple of it, and their glory did lighten the city. R169:6*

Not only will the knowledge of the Lord flow out from the open books but the city (government) will be such as to shed light upon them. R334:2
The Lord Almighty and the Lamb will always be an inner Temple in this great Temple. R2834:1

Revelation 21:24

The nations -- Not that the world during the Millennial age will be divided into nationalities and kingdoms. The word "nations" here signifies peoples. It is intended to show that all peoples, and not merely the people of Israel will be favored with the Kingdom. R2834:1; A296

Of them which are saved -- Not in the old manuscripts. Indeed, it is because they are not saved that they need this special light during the Millennial age. R2834:1, 2231:1, 334:2; A296

After the nations are saved, brought into harmony with God, they will no longer be "nations" (Gentiles, heathen), but parts of the one holy nation, the Kingdom of God. R2231:3

Shall walk -- On the highway of holiness, up to perfection and full harmony with God. A296

The light of it -- The teaching. R1951:1

The light of truth shed abroad from it. R701:1, 501:4

Then this "true light shining in its strength, from the exalted divine Christ--Head and Body, will enlighten every man that cometh into the world." (John 1:9) R421:6, 420:5, 338:5, 166:6

Not until the marriage of the Lamb will the enlightening and blessing of the nations come. R238:4*

"Then shall the righteous shine forth as the sun in the kingdom of their Father." (Matt. 13:43) R124:4, 25:2*

The greater than Solomon will be the light of it. R3285:2

As the light of truth increases darkness (ignorance) must flee away. R430:6*

The nations will still need the symbolic (also the natural) sun and moon. When "the books shall be opened," the pure and full light of the Gospel and Law will shine out and bless mankind. R334:1

Kings of the earth -- The princes or chief ones of earth who will be the chief representatives of the heavenly invisible Kingdom of Christ--Abraham, Isaac, Jacob and all the faithful prophets. R2834:2

All, in proportion as they understand and come into accord with the Kingdom conditions, may quickly reach perfection. Perfected, they will be kings in the sense that Adam was a king, and become more or less associated with the "princes" in the dominion of the earth. R4555:4; A296 Saints. (Rev. 5:10) R334:2

Bring their glory -- Their acknowledgement of the heavenly Kingdom, their rendering of tribute of praise, thanks, worship, and obedience to it as God's agency. R2834:4

The willing and obedient shall then present their homage and riches and spices and odors (prayers and good deeds). R2068:1

The glory and honor of themselves. R334:2

As the Queen of Sheba brought rich treasures to Solomon. R3285:2, 2068:1

And honour -- Not found in the old manuscripts. R2834:1; A296

Into it -- The princes will make known to the people that not in their own names or authority do they rule, but in the name and as representatives of the glorified Christ. R2834:4

Revelation 21:25

Shall not be shut -- Compare with Isa. 26:2. R2338:6, 1951:1, 1352:5

No night there -- The Lamp of Truth, the Word of God, will not be necessary to the world in the new dispensation because "the Sun of Righteousness" shall arise. (Mal. 4:2) NS349:1

See Isa. 60:20, 21. R1900:5

Revelation 21:26

They shall bring -- Each earthly one, as soon as he learns of the goodness and love of God, will seek and be assisted, to approach the New Jerusalem. R219:3

All the people will ascribe honor and praise and majesty and glory to the Lord's Anointed, through whom their redemption and restitution was and is being accomplished. R2834:4

Glory -- The choice, bright, perfected, of the nations. R334:2

And honour -- These words are omitted by the most authentic ancient manuscripts. A296

Into it -- Those improving their opportunities will come into it, or become associated, in the Kingdom of God. R501:4

True civil service reform. None but perfect beings will be allowed to hold office, or be identified with the government. R219:3

Thus this government will at first contain the glory of the spiritual Kings of earth, and afterward, as the Millennial age progresses, the Kingdom will include all of earth's pure and good. R334:2

Revelation 21:27

In no wise enter -- There is no intimation that God will ever compel any one to accept the gift of life everlasting. R890:6

Into it -- Or, become a part of it. R654:5

Any thing that defileth -- Sinful. R219:3

Anything common. R2834:4

The heady, the high-minded, the proud, the self-conscious and self-righteous have no promise of the Kingdom; and cannot inherit it, nor enter into it. R2139:4*

Maketh a lie -- The voice that prophesies smooth things, contrary to the Word of God, is not the voice of the good Shepherd. R1648:4

The dishonest are not now worthy of the truth. By and by they will get honest enough to receive the truth or else be cut off in the second death as those who make and love a lie. R1037:5

Which are written -- If they do not remain faithful, their names will be blotted out of the book of life. If they do, their names will not be blotted out, and they will attain all the glorious things promised. R5669:4

Lamb's book of life -- The Lamb's book of life includes those, and only those, who attain to position of joint-heirship with Christ, whose names are written in heaven during this age. R2834:4; SM555:T

Including the Great Company. All will attain life on the spirit plane whose names are written in the Book of the Lamb. R5105:2; Q309:1

To be distinguished from the book of life of Rev. 20:12, which will include all of Adam's race found worthy of eternal life. NS858:4

Not an earthly roll of membership. R5615:1

Revelation 22

Revelation 22:1

And he shewed me -- Verses 1 through 3 and 17 are the last of seven [six--R501:5] views in Rev. 20 through 22 of the Millennium. R330:6, 397:5, 334:2

A pure river -- It represents beautifully, forcefully, the blessings of refreshment and restitution which will issue forth from the New Jerusalem, the Kingdom of Messiah. R4882:3, 3485:4; D655

The blessed influences that will proceed to humanity from the glorified Christ, Head and Body--from the Kingdom of God's dear Son. R3571:3, 3625:1, 3596:6

Truth will then flow as a mighty river, refreshing and blessing the whole earth. R2424:4, 2508:4, 501:5

When the new dispensation is made available to men, it will be the beginning of the Times of Restitution. (Acts 3:19-21) R3571:2

In the future, in the glorious time of Messiah's Kingdom. R4990:4, 3625:1
Now the prospective members of the Bride class have the Lord's Spirit in them, "a well of water springing up into everlasting life." (John 4:14)

R3410:5, 2575:4, 2508:3

By and by these well-springs brought together in glory with the Lord shall constitute the source of the great river of life. R3410:5, 2508:3, 2424:4, 1703:1, 903:4*, 533:4, 334:4; Q750:2, 823:2

The Bride is to have within her a "well of water (life) springing up," while the rest of mankind may come to the fountain to drink. R252:4

For everyone that is hungering and thirsting. R1899:2

A corresponding testimony of the living waters is found in Zech. 14:8, 9.

D655

The Lord through Ezekiel gives us a picture of the Messianic age, very similar to the one given us in the Book of Revelation, seven hundred years after. R4882:3, 3625:1, 2507:2

We cannot accept the ordinary interpretation of this river as the Gospel.

R3625:1

If we were disposed to accept this as a literal statement we might well do as the old Spanish explorer, Ponce De Leon, did--search for the fountain of perpetual youth. Q823:1

Water -- In Bible symbolic language, water represents truth, and it also represents peoples. R5846:2, 1899:2, 447:2*, 334:4

Of life -- Restitution blessings. D655

Water is used in the Scriptures as a symbol of life. R3485:4

Clear as crystal -- No muddy traditions with false doctrines. No impurity of any kind will be in it. It will be the pure message of the Lord. R3571:1, 2606:4, 654:5; CR216:5; Q823:2

The real "sea of glass like unto crystal" (Rev. 4:6), not mingled with fire, contrasted with Rev. 15:2, "as it were, a sea of glass, mingled with fire." R156:4*

Proceeding -- Flowing out to bless all nations of the world. OV36:1

Out of the throne -- Of the New Jerusalem. OV36:1; R4882:6

The Kingdom. R2424:4

The Little Flock will sit with Christ in his throne, and constitute the Temple of the living God, from which will flow the river of the water of life. NS396:1

The government that will then be established in the world will have as its center of authority the divine law and the divine power. R3571:1, 3596:6

It does not represent the conditions of the present time, but those of the Millennial age. R3496:5

From underneath the throne--not through the throne. It goes outside the city, the Church--going way out to the world. CR216:5; R4882:6

Not yet has the throne been established on the earth. We still pray, "Thy kingdom come," and not until that prayer is answered can the river of water of life flow. R334:4

On the ruins of present institutions the Lord will erect his Temple and Kingdom, through which blessings shall flow as a river of water of life. NS435:1

There is no such river now, and can be none, until the heavenly city descends, because the river must flow from the midst of it, from the throne. R3571:4, 3410:4

Revelation 22:2

Tree of life -- Recalling Paradise from whence Adam was driven on account of sin, and the tree of life in the midst of Eden, from which he was debarred, and from the lack of whose fruit Adam and his race died. R334:3; OV36:1

Twelve manner of trees. CR216:5

Saints. R334:6, 2665:4

Her fruit -- The fruits of the spirit. R3571:4

To sustain life. R334:3, 3625:1

The abundance of instruction and nourishment, mental, moral and physical. R3625:4

Every month -- Fruit adapted to the changing conditions of men as they are brought upward toward perfection--fruit suitable for each changing season, thus restoring man to man's estate. R334:6

Leaves -- Professions, teachings. R334:5

The restitution of that time is pictured in the leaves. R3625:4

Tree -- Wood, or trees, plural--Young's translation. R477:2*

For the healing -- Restitution--the healing of the woes of the groaning creation, its sin and sickness and imperfection. R2508:4, 2575:4

As the nations are not yet healed, and will not have been healed when Christ takes the Kingdom (Rev. 11:15-18), it must be the time after Christ comes to judge the world. R477:2*

Before the nations, the world, will be ready for that blessing from the New Jerusalem, they must pass through a period of very deep humiliation--"A time of trouble." (Matt. 24:21) SM441:2

Suggesting nourishment and healing for the sin-sick and starving world. R3571:2

In the present life, the Lord's people have a ministry of comfort to perform also, toward all whom mourn in Zion--toward all of the Lord's people who are in any tribulation. R2665:4

"The fruit thereof shall be for meat, and the leaves thereof for healing." (Ezek. 47:12) R4882:6

Of the nations -- The heathen. R2424:4; CR216:5

Healing the repentant peoples of earth of all imperfections. D656

Showing that there will then be nations not in health, but capable of being healed. R903:4*

Not the Little Flock, the Church, but the world. Undoubtedly, Israel will be the first of the nations to be blessed, but subsequently all the families of the earth. R3571:5, 2508:4

Revelation 22:3

No more curse -- Either upon man or upon the earth for his sake.

Therefore how appropriate that great physical changes are now occurring--streams breaking forth in the desert, etc. R879:5

God's special sentence against sin and sinners will be entirely removed.

The ground for this was laid in the great sacrifice which our Lord gave at Calvary. NS91:6

When the work of Atonement shall be fully accomplished, and when, as a result, the curse will be completely lifted from man, and from the earth, his dominion. E405

The Adamic death having been destroyed. This, is at a time when, if a man dies it will be for his own sin. R477:2*

There is a curse upon the world now, official and legal. R3571:5

Put away legally by the "sacrifice of himself (Christ);" and put away in fact by his glorious reign. R587:6

The curse will be gradually removed and man gradually released under the blessings of that glorious age. R334:6

The curse will be lifted from all who come into harmony with God through Jesus the Mediator. All who do not avail themselves of this grace will be swallowed up of the second death. E439

Messiah's great work of redemption will obliterate unsatisfactory conditions from the earth. Jesus tells us that their abolition will be the result of his Kingdom work of a thousand years. OV373:3

The one original sin on account of which condemnation of death passed upon all, and on account of which Christ died, and on account of which the curse is to be rolled away from the race. R3803:1

There is no reasonable ground to suppose that divine favor and life everlasting through Christ will ever be obtained by any except those who shall come into the fullest heart-harmony with God. E420

In what more comprehensive language could the Lord declare the end of the reign of sin and death, and the commencement of the reign of righteousness unto life eternal. R3571:5

The knowledge of the Lord shall fill the earth, and all shall know him. R586:3

From the very beginning God foreknew all, and had planned the redemption of Adam, Eve, and their children. PD11/18

The promise made to Abraham was that in his spiritual seed all mankind would receive the divine blessing--the rolling away of the curse of sin and death. R5273:4

Sin and Satan and the spirit of evil shall be forever extinguished. E193

The opening chapters of Genesis give the entrance of the curse of sin and death, and the last chapters of Revelation reveal the success of God's plan and the end of the curse. R98:3*

There is no provision in God's great plan for an everlasting condition in woe, sorrow or pain or trouble. SM766:2

Revelation 22:4

See his face -- To thus by faith behold afar off the blessed land of rest and peace, all radiant with the glory of the King in his beauty, the heart must be in sympathy with that glory and beauty of holiness. R2087:6

In their foreheads -- Sealed in their foreheads, intellectually, that they may not be in darkness with the world. R1470:5

Revelation 22:5

No night there -- It is the joy of the morning--a long, glad day before us; no evening with its lengthening shadows, no night with its chills and darkness. R303:5*

They shall reign -- The nature of this reign will be the same which at creation was bestowed upon father Adam, as it is written in Psa. 8:6, "Thou madest him to have dominion over the works of thy hands." R3572:2
Not the Church, but those whom the Millennial age shall find worthy of life eternal. This is in full accord with Matt. 25:34. R3572:1

The whole world of perfect men will be a world of kings, though doubtless one of their number shall serve particularly as general or representative. R3572:2

For ever and ever -- Unto the age of ages, when the Kingdom shall be delivered to God, even the Father. R334:6

Revelation 22:6

These sayings -- These wonderful promises. R3572:2

Revelation 22:7

Blessed is he -- The Master speaks to all of his Church who have ears to hear. R3572:2

Revelation 22:8

And I John -- John represents the disciples living at the time that the scenes of the Millennial age begin to unfold at the second presence of Jesus. (See John 21:22) R581:6

I fell down -- In the end of this Gospel age, their might be a spirit to do too much honor to the one used of the Lord in communicating to them the divine light now due. R3572:4, 2079:5

So there has been and is a tendency on the part of many to give more than love, respect and honor to the servants of God, who from time to time have been used as his special servants. R2079:5, 582:1

The Apostle Paul assures us that this disposition indicates a measure of carnality, and he inquires, who then, are Paul, Apollos and Peter, but merely God's servants or channels. R2079:6

Likewise there are hundreds of thousands who call themselves by the name of Luther, Calvin, Wesley, Campbell and others, giving more respect to their teachings and writings than to the Word of God. R2079:6

Likewise, today, in the light of Present Truth, no doubt there is need to be on guard against this carnal tendency which had so deleterious an influence as in the past. R2079:6

The angel -- Messenger, representing those of the John class who are used as God's instruments in drawing attention to the coming glory, and causing the John class to see them with the eye of faith. R581:6

Revelation 22:9

Then saith he -- The action and words of the angel show the way in which the true messengers of God will treat such honor. R582:1

Do it not -- Do not worship me, for I am not the author of this plan. R3572:4

We say this to any disposed to worship the humble human instrumentality chosen of God as the channel for the blessing of Present Truth. R1867:3

Br. Russell does not want any worship, he does not want any undue adoration, he does not want any praise. CR125:5

All who are worshiping any church organization should be warned. R65:5
The manly Christian will always discountenance worshipful reverence and flattery; but the less mature will often court and receive it to their own injury. Thus the Apostle counsels choosing elders of established character, rather than a "novice." R1895:3

Fellowservant -- And not thy Lord. R1867:3, 2080:1

The prophets -- All true teachers or mouthpieces of God. R1867:3

And of them -- All servants of God are fellow-servants regardless of the time or extent of their service. R2080:1, 582:4

Worship God -- The water of life and the giver of it, and not the earthen vessels through which it is sent, are to be revered. The earthen vessels have naught whereof to glory. R1867:3

See also comments on Rev. 19:10.

Revelation 22:10

Seal not -- Do not feel that it is necessary to hide the matter. R3572:5
Time is at hand -- The time "for the healing of the nations," and when
"there shall be no more curse." (Verses 2 & 3) R477:2*

At the time the features of the symbolical revelation shall come to be understood and appreciated by the Lord's people, we may know that the time of the completion is near at hand. R3572:5

Revelation 22:11

Let him -- He will not "let" nor consent to endless transgression of his law. R477:1*

Unjust still -- The unrighteous and the filthy simply ignore the message, and are not moved specially by it. R3572:6

He who is unjust or unholy according to the law of God's Word, will forever stand so judged by it, until he becomes changed or restored in his nature. R527:5*

The standard of judgment is God's revealed Word. By it the saints judge themselves. When the righteous rule and the curse is removed, still the same law will be the standard of judgment. R477:5*

Be filthy still -- The revelations of the divine plan are not intended to turn the filthy, to make them righteous, nor will they be inclined contrariwise to turn the righteous to sin. R3572:5

He that is righteous -- Not only those who are saints. There are some who are not saints, who are, nevertheless, righteous persons. R3572:5

Holy still -- He that is judged holy by that law now, will then, in the ages to come, be holy still. R477:5*

Revelation 22:12

Reward is with me -- All the Scriptures point to the fact that our Lord's rewards are to be dispensed at his second coming, but not before.
HG664:3

Scripture testimony clearly and explicitly points to the second advent of Christ, and to the resurrection as, first, the hope of the Church, and, second, the hope of the world. F664

One of many texts corroborative of the view of future rewards and punishments. R2613:6, 723:4

To give every man -- This scripture is rendered meaningless by the acceptance of the theory that each member of the Church at death passed immediately into glory. HG267:6

Revelation 22:13

The beginning -- The first and the last of the creation of God. R1514:3
Of Jehovah's direct creation. R1278:3, 1060:4, 446:5*
Jesus was the first of God's creatures, the only being directly created.
Jehovah did all subsequent creating through the Son. R5748:1
The beginner and finisher of the wondrous plan, though not its author.
R1060:4, 446:5*
"Before Abraham was, I am." (John 8:58) R1161:4

Revelation 22:14

His commandments -- The commands of our Lord, and not the Ten Commandments of Israel's Law Covenant. R1730:6, 976:4
These commandments are not grievous and impossible to obey as were those of the Jewish Law Covenant, for Christ's yoke is easy and his burden is light. R1731:1, 976:4
Through the gates -- The Ancient Worthies from the various tribes of Israel through whose instrumentality the nations may enter into the blessings of the Kingdom. R1353:2
The city -- In symbolic prophecy a city signifies a religious government backed by power and authority. It is the symbol used to represent the established Kingdom of God. Q789:4
Jerusalem, a figure or symbol of the Kingdom of God, the New Jerusalem. R896:4
The Kingdom of our Lord. R477:4*

Revelation 22:15

Without -- In Gehenna, the valley of destruction, an appropriate figure of the second death, the utter extermination of all things abominable and filthy in the close of the Millennial age. R896:4
There is no intimation that God will ever compel any one to accept of the gift of life everlasting. R890:6
Their course persisted in would result in death--the second death. R1660:3, 890:6
Dogs -- A term of disrespect, referring to the wild dogs which roamed the country and were pests, in contrast with house dogs, which were esteemed and petted by the family. R2653:5, 1671:1
There is nothing in the Bible indicating the resurrection of animals. Q818:2
Murderers -- Not that a man who has once been a murderer might not reform and become a saint and an heir of the Kingdom. One murderer, guilty of the murder of St. Stephen, was Saul of Tarsus. R4992:4

And whosoever -- Evildoers for whose permanent reform there would be no hope, because before their sentencing to the second death, the righteous Judge had given every opportunity possible to repent. R1454:6

The "death and hell" element. R477:5*

Maketh a lie -- The dishonest, like the Pharisees of old, say that they see when in their hearts they know they are blind. Not now worthy of the truth, by and by they will get honest enough to receive the truth, or else be cut off in second death, as those who make and love a lie. R1037:5, 1660:3

Revelation 22:16

You -- John. R477:4*

I am -- The glorified Jesus. R944:1*

The root -- He must be both David's Son and David's Lord. He must be both the stem or branch out of David's root, and in some way David must be seen to be a branch or shoot out of Christ as a root. R809:2

The root of David signifies the origin, source of life and development of David. E136

It was by virtue of his sacrifice of his undefiled life that he became the root of David as well as his Lord. E136

Offspring of David -- According to the flesh, our Lord Jesus was, through his mother, the son, the branch, the offshoot or offspring of David. E136; R944:4*, 809:2

Jesus the Christ was the Son of Man, not in the sense of simply being a man, but because he was the son of the man David. R944:1*

Morning star -- Jesus. Stars had weight and meaning to ancients who believed they controlled destinies. R4370:2

It is early, not yet light enough except to the prospective waking, watching Bride, who receives the light of the Morning Star. It will be some time before sunrise. R348:6

He is the Light of the World (John 1:4, 9) and The Sun of Righteousness. (Mal. 4:2) R1063:3*

Revelation 22:17

The Spirit and -- The Spirit clearly refers to Jesus Christ, the Bridegroom. Q838:2

The holy Spirit is the channel of at-one-ment now to the Church, and somewhat similarly it will be the channel of at-one-ment to the world in the coming age. E208

The holy Spirit will cooperate with the glorified Church in the blessing of all the families of the earth. E165; R4883:1

The Spirit is choosing a Bride for Christ during the Gospel age; at the end the marriage is consummated; and during the Millennial age the Spirit and the Bride say come. R137:2*

Bride -- Then glorified. E208; R2575:4; Q838:2

And joint-heir; in contradistinction to the saved of the world of mankind, who will be recognized as the children of Christ. R2652:3

The chaste virgin now espoused to the Son of heaven's King, will be united to the Bridegroom--no longer the virgin, she will be the Bride, the Lamb's wife and joint-heir. R334:5, 3410:4, 533:4, 257:3; A98; HG343:3; OV224:1; Q838:2

How could the Bride give this invitation before she exists? R4883:1, 3571:4, 3496:5, 3410:4, 2508:5, 2424:5, 1906:1; F336; CR216:1; HG337:5; Q750:2

The Bride must be developed before she can join with the Spirit in inviting the world to the blessing which God has in reservation. HG745:3; NS332:6

The glorified Church. The Bride class are now on probation that it may be determined which will eventually be of that class. R4627:6, 1043:6*

The name "Bride" implies a marriage; the Church is already espoused to Christ, but the marriage is promised to take place at the second coming. R4883:1, 4627:6, 1155:6

As in Jewish custom, the espoused virgin was called a Bride from the time of her consent with the Bridegroom, so the espoused virgin Church is called Christ's Bride--before the consummation of their union. R1388:6

Not only will they invite the world, but also it will be their mission to judge, to correct, to discipline the world in righteousness to a knowledge and appreciation of divine mercy. R3917:4

Say -- To all the families of the earth. NS396:1

Mankind in general will not yet have come to a position of acceptance of the Mediator, and will be in the same attitude of today--aliens, strangers, foreigners. None will begin to live until they partake of the water of life. Q60:2

Our work of proclaiming the grand message does not end with this present life. R37:3

The Gospel age, so far from closing the Church's mission, is only a necessary preparation for the great future work. A98

Come -- Inviting all to come and obey Christ and receive eternal life. Q838:2

Mankind in general, who will not yet have come to a position of acceptance of the Mediator, will still be in the attitude of today--aliens, strangers, foreigners. R5428:4

The election of the Church of God will then have been completed, and every creature will come to a knowledge of the truth. R4990:4, 2424:5

It will require all the Millennial age for the delivery of this message to every creature and for them to avail themselves of the privileges. R3571:4

Him that heareth -- The obedient will be privileged to repeat the invitation to others. Q838:2

Whosoever will -- A worldwide invitation. R4882:6

Mine will be a general calling: I will draw all men; it will be a universal opportunity to come unto me. R2759:5

Not merely an elect Little Flock. R1952:4

The completeness of the ransom is the very strongest possible argument for the restitution of all mankind. A157

It is manifest that the expression "whosoever will," does not apply to all at this time, and will not be true until the wedding is consummated. Q838:2

Election now, free grace then. Q788:2, 824:4

Then free grace will be shown in the fullest measure. R546:5, 260:1, 8:5; HG316:3; OV36:1

Wesley's theme and favorite text. However, he did not discern that his beautiful text relates to the blessing of the non-elect during Messiah's reign. PD86/99

There is an exclusiveness about the calling now. The time has not yet come when the water of life shall flow freely, and whosoever will may come.

R4148:1, 3571:2, 3410:5

"Behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people" (Luke 2:10), "in due time." (1 Tim. 2:4-6) R1908:5

All babies, little and big; the foolish, both by nature and by false reasoning; the blind, the lame, the dumb and the deaf. R1043:6*

In close agreement with the lesson of Isa. 55:1-13. R3596:6, 650:1*

It both cases it is only to those who desire the water of life; "everyone that thirsteth" and "whosoever will" may have it. It will not be forced upon any. R1363:3, 5285:1, 650:1*

The only obstruction or limitation to the enjoyment of life then offered will be the will of the hearer. R1324:1*

All who will receive it on his conditions of love and loyalty and obedience to him. R1095:4

For every man--negroes and whites. HG514:5

"Whosoever he wills." And the Lord wills to restore all who shall prove worthy. R1125:4

Let him take -- And, if they will be obedient, to obtain the full measure of divine favor, as represented in the offer of everlasting life. R2061:4

Here begins the world's probation, the world's great judgment day--a thousand years. R2606:4, 654:5

Water of life -- Divine favor. R2260:6

Water is a symbol of truth. The invitation is to accept or partake of the favor of everlasting life through obedience to the truth. R1363:3

Waters of truth and grace. R906:1

The truth uncontaminated with error. HG522:6

The message of truth setting forth the means of blessing. All who accept may have its blessings, but those who do not accept and render obedience to the Lord shall not receive a blessing. Q750:2

God has opened up a fountain for sin and uncleanness. Whosoever will may partake of the blessings and reconciliation with God and thereby attain everlasting life. R5084:1

These glorious favors coming to mankind will all be earthly. R4883:4

Freely -- God's grace is ever free, in the sense of being unmerited, but in the present time it is restricted to certain classes, while in the next age all the world will be invited to share the favors. A96

Revelation 22:18

Shall add -- This warning has more or less deterred men from falsifying the canonical books. We believe very few interpolations into the text of the Bible have been intentional; but most by accident, usually copying a marginal comment into the text. R1210:2

To sanction interpolations, now that we know about them, would be to join with those who wrote them in adding to the Word of God. Q747:4

Revelation 22:20

I come quickly -- We find this longing for and hoping for and waiting for the coming King in the writings of all the apostles. (Jas. 5:7; 1 Pet. 5:4; Jude 14; 2 Tim. 4:8) R2926:1

The book, being symbolical, cannot be understood except as its seals are loosed. When its sayings come to be appreciated it may be recognized as an evidence of the Lord's second advent. R3572:3

Even so, come -- Written some 26 years after the destruction of Jerusalem, proving that the second advent of our Lord was not fulfilled by that event. A90; R531:4; CR493:2

The Apostle John looked with loving longing to the Kingdom and to the second coming of our Lord, and knew nothing about an intermediate Millennial reign. HG274:3, 283:3

Nearly all the scriptures follow the course of addressing the Father in prayer and I think of this one as the only one that is different. Q541:T; CR276:4
